White speaks on foreign policy

Editor's note: Robert White, former ambassador to El Salvador, held a press conference prior to his foreign policy talk at Saint Mary's College on Sunday, March 25th. In his talk, White addressed the following questions regarding El Salvador, which were recorded by Observer reporter Jeff Chepiga.

Bani-Sadr refuses to surrender

REBIUT, Lebanon (AP) — Abolhassan Bani-Sadr, Iran's embattled president, says he has no intention of "surrendering" to his militant, clergy-backed political opposition. He also said Iranian leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini is "not god" and has "limited means" to deal with Iran's political discord.

A telephone interview from Tehran Saturday with the Associated Press' Robert White, who attended Bani-Sadr and military officials in conference, said he had no intention of "surrendering" to his militant, clergy-backed political opposition. He also said Iranian leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini is "not god" and has "limited means" to deal with Iran's political discord.

Q: Should the United States give El Salvador's government military assistance?

A: The political history of El Salvador over the last year and a half is the struggle of the civil war to gain control over the military. The Salvadoran government already received more military assistance than it has been given in terms of twenty years in order to meet the leftist threat. I believe this was a correct decision. Their military warehouses are filled. There is no need for additional military assistance. The signature of the United States towards El Salvador should be economic assistance designed to win the war and to implement programs of this kind.

If you emphasize military assistance, you emphasize a military solution and you strengthen the corrupt elements in the security forces. The point is that the military assistance is not necessary and it does exactly the contrary of what you want to do. It is not a direct link between repression in El Salvador and military assistance.

A: If you abandon the human rights policy, which the Reagan administration as a practical matter has done, then you are in effect saying that it doesn't matter who you kill. Nearly ninety percent of the people killed by the security forces have been killed on murder-suspicion.

Q: How much power does the last have?

A: The last is incapable of winning a war. The only thing the last is capable of is acts of terrorism. The way to counter terrorism is to take away the public support for the left, the social economy and political reforms.

When human rights assistance have the leftist received?

A: Except for the brief period between administrations, military assistance to the left has been very small. Just as you bring all the bricks and the mortar to a building site, unless you have the means to put that building site nothing is going to happen. This is what indeed will happen: the left will win the elections in 1981.

Q & A

Q: Should there be a direct link between the cease-fire in the war between Iran and Iraq could be acceptable, depending on the definition where the fighting is.

A: The signature of the United Nations and the cease-fire are important. The signature of the United Nations and the cease-fire are important.

When asked if Khomeini has been successful in muzzling the political opposition, he said "He is not God and he has limited means to deal with Iran's political discord." He also said that Khomeini's power was "not necessary and it does exactly the contrary of what you want to do." He is not a direct link between repression in Iran and military assistance.

April 1 marks a day of transition in Notre Dame student government, according to a spokesman. S.P. Paul Richelle and company will clear out their desks to make room for the incoming administration of Don Murday. Cynics might like to think this year is the time to take a pen to a few hopeful students regarding the necessity of continuity and development in our student government.

During his campaign last year, Paul Richelle spoke of establishing student government in an effort to enhance the voice of the Notre Dame student body. After winning by a comfortable margin, but before he was scheduled to take office on that magical date, April 1, Richelle began his fight to coordinate student government by reviving the on the Campus Life Council. At this time, the G.L.C. was finishing up a term that saw little accomplishment. One possible reason for this may have been the number of administrators, faculty, and halls recency of the council that failed an attempt to make up the council and its effectiveness. Among these members was Richelle, serving as a representative of the student body as a whole.

Those members who wanted more of the faculty and administration's attention were the third to establish the 15-story external task, which feeds the orbiter's three main engines. Colum was in transit from Earth on a commercial flight. The flight is over a year behind schedule. — AP

The space shuttle came through two final fueling tests in excellent shape-clearing the way for an April 10 lift off for the Columbia's mission to the moon. Shuttle Launch Director George D. Nelson said the decision to launch Columbia could be made next Sunday at 11:30 p.m. EST. Page said an official launch date for the shuttle, which was first announced last fall, is still pending. A scheduled launch review at the Kennedy Space Center by program director of the $8 billion program "we'll look at the 10th as a viable launch date." Page said the final decision would be made after a "hands-on" inspection of the orbiter's external tank, which feeds the orbiter's three main engines. United Mine Workers President Sam Schorn said washdowns stopped in three coal states Sunday from a push for rank and file, agreement with the United States Steel Corporation. The near-term strike was on the books in a number of U.S. steel plants, including those at Magna, Utah, and Birmingham, Alabama. An agreement reached here between the steel companies and the United Steelworkers of America, walked out after being shot twice. He waved for help from the runway and was retrieved by a stretcher. A Thai government spokesman said Indonesia agreed to meet all the demands of the heavily-armed hijackers, but would only consider the one demand — freedom for 64 political prisoners. — AP

Officials have recovered an unannounced Tomahawk missile that burst from the sea and flew to a naval test site in the first submarine land attack test. The cruise missile fired underwater Saturday from the submarine USS Grotzky in the Pacific Missile Test Center range off Point Mugu, 60 miles northwest of Los Angeles, said Navy Lt. Susan Guanting, who flew 500 miles to the Tomahawk Test Range at Trinias Air Force Base in Nevada and made a simulated attack before landing by parachute. In previous tests, the missile had been fired from land-based targets and flown by test was under the direction of the Joint Cruise Missile Project based in Washington. receiving the approval of the BOC, and later the BHC, a revision committee and a body to which his proposal received. Forums were scheduled, where interested students could ask questions regarding the changes in their government. The proposal was practically in the final stages. Nevertheless, Richelle urged students to approve the formation of a referendum held in mid-October. The student body voted yes, and Richelle moved on to the Board of Trustees.

The Board of Trustees executed the effects of Richard's proposal by insisting that the Senate be an advisory body to the student government, and their first meeting was held in late November. The Senate has met since then, but looking back, the concrete accomplishments have been few. “Solidarity” threatens strike and existence of nation

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Independent unionists will test “the courage of conviction, devotion to the human, and with the personal integrity, modesty and humility which have earned him our respect and affection.” Commented President Theodore M. Hesburgh. Whether combating environmental pollution or stifling freedom in Southeast Asia, he has approached such complex issues with keen insight, statesmanlike skill and uncompromising dedication to his ideals.

Muskie posts other Labor Medal winners from the nation’s political leadership. Sunday was last year’s recipient. Speaker of the House Thomas P. (Tip) O’Neill Jr., Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield (1977), diplomat Harry Boutelle Lau (1957), President John F. Kennedy (1961), and the first Catholic presidential candidate, Al Smith (1929) other Labor Medal recipients include William J. Brennan Jr., jurist and associate justice of the U.S. Supreme Court; Donald Day, founder of the Catholic Worker Movement; Sargent Shriver, diplomat and first director of the Peace Corps; actress Helen Hayes; historian Walter John Tracy Ells, labor leader George Meany, and industrialist J. Peter Grace.

Muskie was born March 28, 1914, in Rumford, Maine. He graduated cum laude from Bates College in Lewiston, Maine, in 1936, where he was a Phi Beta Kappa and class president. In 1939 he was graduated from Cornell University Law School, enlisted in the U.S. Navy during World War II, and served in the Atlantic and Pacific theaters.

Muskie was elected to the Maine House of Representatives in 1946, 1948 and 1950, serving as minority leader during his second and third terms. From 1951 to 1952, he was the state director of the Office of Price Stabilization and was Democratic National Committeeman from 1952 to 1956.

Elected governor of Maine in 1954, Muskie served two terms before being elected to the U.S. Senate in 1956. During his 22 years in the Senate, he served on the Foreign Relations Committee, the Governmental Affairs Committee, the Environment and Public Works Committee, and as chairman of the Budget Committee.

In 1968, Muskie was the Democratic nominee for vice president, running unsuccessfully with Hubert Humphrey against Richard Nixon and Spiro Agnew. Muskie was nominated by President Jimmy Carter on April 29, 1980, to be secretary of state following the resignation of Cyrus Vance.

Confirmed by the Senate and sworn in May 8, Muskie was secretary of state until Ronald Reagan defeated Alexander Haig to that position.

The Labor Medal was first given to Cardinal Spellman and American Catholic in 1883 and is traditionally anointed on the Fourth Sunday of Lent (Lenten Sunday in the Catholic liturgical year). The medal is ex officio awarded to Muskie at University commencement exercises May 17, at which President Ronald Reagan will speak.

There’s an endless frontier of need out there, stretching from the Sahara to the Andes to the Atolls of the South Pacific. In 20 years, 80,000 Peace Corps volunteers have traveled to all of them to work with people in over 60 countries. They’ve done everything from helping villagers dig wells and build houses to teaching them languages and skilled trades, to giving advice on farming and health care. Join a phenomenal tradition. The difference is a better world, and a better you.

"I was very impressed with Paul. He ran very well in the highs and had an excellent leg in the mile relay in addition to what he did in the weight events," commented Plane.

"I was also impressed with our people in the 10,000 meters," Plane continued. "Tim Barrand and Tim Novak ran very well and I was especially pleased with Eddie Fils, who leads them. All of them ran well for their first race on the track."

This was the first and only home track meet of the outdoor season for Notre Dame. And though there are some close to South Bend, (three in Michigan, one in Bloomington,) Irish track fans have seen the last of senior stars such as the always impressive Chuck Aragon.

"It bothers me a great deal that we have only one outdoor meet this season. But there are meets like the Drake relays that we run year in and year out and those meets nailed down most of the available dates," said Plane.

"Next year we'll have a lot more meets at home. We'll have our invitational, the state meet, hopefully the CCC (Central Collegiate Championships) and a meet similar to our National Catholic Meet we had in cross country.

"We also plan to have some meets with smaller schools. They're fun meets and they give more people a chance to run."

The next outdoor for the track squad is a three-team, non-scoring meet in Champaign, Ill., with the host Illinois and the University of Chicago Track Club.

Sugar Ray Leonard seems headed for a lightweight showdown with Tommy Hearns in the fall. "We're very close," Mike Tyson. Trainer's attorney, said yesterday, the day after Leonard's one-sided victory over Larry Brown. "It looks real good to me." Trainer said the purses, which would run into the millions of dollars, would be based on percentages. The unbeaten American is scheduled to make the defense of the World Boxing Association heavyweight title against Bruce Sprott April 1. A lightweight title fight will come June 25 in Houston when he will bid for the WBA junior middleweight title against Ayub Kalule. He then plans another World Boxing Council welterweight title defense against undefeated Yildirim in August. Leonard's defense against Banda was his first since he regained the title from Roberto Duran.

The Women's Softball Club of Notre Dame dropped a season-opening doubleheader this weekend at St. Francis College (Fl. Wayne). The Irish dropped the first game, 20-6 and the rain-shortened nightcap, 6-4. Notre Dame freshman Carole Zanaz a had a home run, single and four RBIs in the opener. The team's next game is Sunday in Chicago against George Williams College.

Notre Dame's baseball team swept a doubleheader from Marquette University last weekend, giving the first game, 6-5 and the second, 1-0. Sophomore Bill Mate (1-1) was the winner in the first game, and Jim Montgomery and Rick Blych had two hits and two RBIs. Senior Valenciata scored the seventh inning to win the 3-2 game and then drove in George with the winning run in the ninth. In the nightcap, sophomore pitcher Steve Whittner (1-1) allowed a hit to the first batter but no more after that, striking out five to complete the victory. Once again, Valenciata drove in the winning run.

The Irish lacrosse team swept Michigan Saturday afternoon, 9-8. Freshman attacker Steven Pearls led Notre Dame with three goals and his first point of the season. Pearls' performance on Saturday secured him a spot in the starting lineup for Notre Dame's game at the University of Delaware this Wednesday. The win does not affect Notre Dame's 1-1 season record since it was an exhibition contest. The team's next match is Friday at Carter Field against Ohio Wesleyan in its Midwest Lacrosse Association opener.

Paul McGowan was also honored as one of the 1980-81 Notre Dame swimming team's most improved athletes at the annual awards gathering at Friday's edition of The Observer. It was reported that senior John Williamowski won the honor, when in fact he was shared with McGowan, a sophomore diver.

Bobby Knight, the basketball coach of the NCAA's Indiana Hoosiers, was asked to face a question about the future of his team. Knight explained the incident yesterday and said he had no regrets, no apologies to make. "I'm not doing this," Knight said. "The issue is really the 'Can you tell me, I'm trying to sell Tiger bait, Tiger bait, Tiger bait. Here comes Tiger bait.' to the players," said Knight. "The conversation is turned around and said, 'We really weren't going to sell at all, weren't we?'" The guy turned around and shouted, "'I walked quickly over to him and he asked me why I was saying that. I said, 'I just gave you a compliment and you were sarcastic.' I said, 'I don't want to go back to that.' So I grabbed him and shook him up against the wall and then walked away. And if that means I've done something wrong, so be it." — AP

The Notre Dame-Kentucky basketball game will be played next season on December 29 in Freedom Hall in Louisville, Ky. The match is for the annual show-down game today and may be purchased at $5.00 per person at the ticket office announced. The tickets are $6.00 each, with a limit of two per order, plus a $1 handling charge on each order. The order accepts only certified checks or money orders, which may be mailed to University of Kentucky basketball Ticket Office, Room 3, Memorial Coliseum, Lexington, Ky. 40506.

Confusion abounds as the top inter-hall basketball teams are replaying part of the double-elimination championship tournament this week after the Off Campus team was disqualified for using an ineligible player. A decision was made to allow the team that otherwise would have made the playoffs, to replay the Off Campus basketball playoffs. Last night Grace defeated St. Ed.'s, 50-43. Tonight's "A" in the ACC-PE is Harry Carey clinched his third victory this season by scoring 21 points and setting the win in the game. The second team's bracket contest. The winner of that game will play Grace tomorrow. The teams are scheduled to play on Thursday. Should Howard win, they will be crowned champions. Howard's losses will get a re-match on Thursday, a game that will decide the title once and for all.

veryone on hand. It was a beautiful day," smiled Faust. "Did you see the spring drills? They've got some good players. That's part of the job. But you really proud of them. They don't get in the way, it doesn't work on fundamentals. And then we'll come to a close w ith the period. Notre Dame's football coach. The opening of spring football drills seemed more like a circus than a practice — to everybody but Gerry Faust. That's how they do it.

"Were there a lot of people around today?" the new Irish coach asked after the workout. "As long as they don't get in the way, it doesn't bother me," Faust said.

Word of Faust's open workout session has spread. Notre Dame Institutional track meet on the Carrier all-weather track, brought out an estimated 100 people in bright sunshine. And the enthusiasm seemed to spill over from Faust to everyone on hand.

"We couldn't have asked for a better day to start, said Faust. "I know how we do it. The (players) snapped up coaching tips for the first day! I'm really proud of them.

There's been a lot of talk work, so that's part of the job. But you know, I relax a lot more out here than I do in the office."

Saturday's itinerary did not include relaxation, however. The team had been on film since the last month, so Saturday's drills focused on conditioning and the sprint drills allowed 20 such practices in a 36-day period. Notre Dame's sprint drills, which are held up to the May 2 Blue Gold Game at the Stadium.

"This spring we hope to 'compel three things,'" said Faust. "First, we'd like to set up our offense and defense. Second, we've got to work on fundamentals. And then we want to learn what our players can do.

While it will take the entire spring for Faust to learn the talents of his new 1981 team, there is no reason to feel any time in getting started Saturday. The practice included little contact, but the warning was there to separate the drills.

"Linesmen spent much time working on fundamentals. Defensive backs and linebackers keyed on punt drills. And the offensive backfield and receivers started running through some basic new sets and formations.

"We'll do a lot of throwing and running, but not as much hitting at first," said Faust. "The hitting will come soon with the screenings and games. But you don't want to do too much of that.

"It was really a good first practice. We threw a lot in today, and they picked it up well."

The new Irish coach will not shun the limelight. He has done it with a man-to-man brand of play to one of the lowest scoring leagues in the country. But he knows the importance of sticking with the defense exclusively, and his defense has shown no signs of repetition and simplicity.

My all-time favorite people are Hank Iba and Pete Newell." Knight said. "If I ever played a zone defense, they'd disown me, so I'll hang on to them as friends.

All three of us feel that in our approach to the game, we'd rather work together on defense, the man-to-man, and bend and mold that rather than play with a lot of different defenses.

Knight credits the legendary Iba, former coach at Oklahoma State, and Newell, former University of Southern California coach, with instilling the importance of sticking with the defense exclusively. And he knows that is the Irish way.

"Our team is set up to be able to (in the top 5) in 14 of the 15 events they entered in the 1981 meet. Still Notre Dame was on the list and, of course, Paine said it was predictable.

"We could have scored a lot more if we hadn't had a few people in different events or had some people like Tim Mccord, who helped us in the hurdles this year. In addition to his victory, Twickler placed in the high hurdles and ran a good leg in the mile relay."

"Hurry, hurry, step right up and see the greatest show on earth!"

From the opening exercise to the closing prayer, it seemed more like a circus than what it actually was — merely the opening day of Notre Dame's spring football season. Everywhere you looked you saw people, tele­ vision camera, (people), reporters, (people), little kids, (people), autograph books, (people), people.

Which is not to imply that interest in Fighting Irish gridiron affairs is more or should not be a year-round, 24-hour-a-day business. There have always been, and probably always will be, the not-so-select group of fanatic fans that congregate every time a Notre Dame football player runs a wind sprint.

But Saturday was different. Saturday was more than just a get-together to work out the winter kinks. Saturday was Gerry Faust's debut as head football coach, and word won't do it justice. The excitement generated by that event.

Sports Illustrated was there. So was Dave Diles of ABC, who seemed to think that Faust had nothing better to do than, "just walk this way towards the camera, Ger­ ry. You don't have to say anything. Just walk, and Faust didn't need to say, went out of his way to help out.

"In this OK, Dave! Is this what you want?" he asked Diles modified his approval. If not, Gerry would have done a better job.

"That's the idea that he only posed for network television and national magazines. Everyone a doing father showed a bewildered child as his son. "A picture coach? How about a picture?" Faust smiled. "But you're the best coach I ever saw in my life, and never let an opportunity like this slip by. The most important thing is, get done.

And the amazing thing was, he got all of them done — on time, with a flourish. For while most of the buzzards in attendance lost sight of the purpose of this little gathering, Faust knew exactly why he was there.
