By MICHELE DIETZ
Staff Reporter

No new director for O-C

Off-Campus Housing will not get a full-time director, according to Student Body President Don Murday in his address to the Student Senate last night.
The Campus Life Council passed a student proposal for a full-time Off-Campus Director to the Student Senate last night. See story below. (Photo by John Macou)

Changing face
Chinatown continues to grow

Spector SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Chinatown. It glitters with restaurants and open-air markets, bazaars and jewelry stores, where it's a must to stop for every visitor to San Francisco.

Yet it is also a ghetto, a dark, cramped place of sweatshops and gang violence, where the people who live in fear

This is the changing face of Chinatown. What started as a neighborhood for those who had worked on the gold mines and railroads in the mid-1800s has grown to become the largest community of its kind outside the Orient.

And it's still growing. When the lid was lifted on immigration from China in 1965, 20,000 people per year began to flow into the 40-square-block area bordered by the city's financial district on one side and Italian North Beach on another.

Today the population of Chinatown stands at about 65,000, a mixture of Cantonese-speaking elders and an influx of middle and upper-class immigrants speaking Mandarin.

Ernest Chann, president of the Chinese Historical Society of America, says that for newcomers, Chinatown is a necessary way station on the road to the American dream.

"It's a community in flux. There are immigrants who have just arrived and the language and the ropes and move out," he said.

"But there are also old folks who insist on staying, and you'll see many of them sitting a subculture the few open parks, whiling away their twilight years."

The elderly live in what Chann calls a "subculture."

They only speak Chinese and never venture out of the area, even for a day's vacation. They live and die in Chinatown."

Chinatown itself nearly died before it had a chance to live, said Chann.

Most of its first settlers were men. In 1872, the federal government carried out an act that banned immigration for all but relatives of people who were living in America at that time.

The supply of brides cut off, Chinatown became a bachelor's haven populated with opium dens.

What saved the community was the very event that destroyed it — the great earthquake of 1906. Many records were lost in the fire that swept through the city, freeing Chinese residents to purchase fraudulent identities of people who had lived in Chinatown before 1872.

The tide of immigration resumed. Chinatown took on its modern character in the 1920s, when the first shops and restaurants catering to tourists opened. It remained largely unchanged until 1965, when the wave of immigrants gave it a new face.

"The culture has been diluted in certain ways," Chann said. "For instance, the old Cantonese and not the longer-tenure, closer to Cantonese. The chiv is borrowing elements from the older Chinatown and the market are sometimes in Mandarin, sometimes in Cantonese."

Throughout its history, Chinatown has lived with violence. In the old days it was the Tong Wars. Today it's youth gangs. The violence reached a peak in September 1977, when a fire was set in a hall of bulletins at the Golden Dragon restaurant.

"We're concerned about it. There's always the poten-...
Government statistics released yesterday showed Yugoslav inflation, the worst in Europe, is growing. The Consumer Price Index showed the cost of living at the end of October was up 3.7 percent from the month earlier and 9.26 percent higher than the same time a year ago. The increase appeared to reflect recent price hikes for oil, electricity, bread, eggs, milk, meat, mass transit and rents, statisticians said. Yugoslav inflation hit a rate of 40 percent last year.

AP

Ford Motor Co. of Detroit, is notifying owners of about 18,000 1981 and 1982 F-250 Series light trucks that their trucks' owner's manuals are being revised to correct wheel lug nut torque specifications, the automaker said yesterday. "The wheel lug nuts were properly torqued during vehicle assembly," said Robert H. Trainor, manager of the Service Engineering Office for Ford's Parts and Service Division. But if a wheel has been replaced "worrying the specifications in the owner's guide," he said, the lug nuts could loosen and the wheel could come off. — AP

Yugoslavia's inflation, the worst in Europe, is growing. The Consumer Price Index showed the cost of living at the end of October than the same time a year ago. The increase appeared to reflect transit and rents, statisticians said. Yugoslav inflation hit a rate of 40 percent last year.

A soccer player visiting from Liverpool, England, was in serious condition yesterday after a traffic collision that killed two other members of his college team. Killed in a Saturday collision with a pickup truck were Sleen Malautad, 26, of Kenya and Christain Velozo, 22, of Chile. Patrick Duggan, 20, whose spine was severely injured, may be permanently paralyzed, a spokesman said at Scripps Memorial Hospital. All three were attending United States International University in San Diego on soccer scholarships. A third member of the team was treated for minor injuries and released. — AP

"I have to put my fears to bed." With that explanation, songstress Connie Francis grabbed a microphone yesterday and began rehearsing for her first concert since she was raped at knifepoint and sank into a seven-year slump "that was like hell." She added. Francis, who at 42 still sings with the voice of sweet, sad adolescence. "I'm not going to get through the show without breaking down. But I'm a gutsy girl, and once I've done it there out nothing is going to get to me." — AP

A U.N. team probing alleged use of toxic chemicals by Vietnamese forces has extended its investigation for four days after hearing of new cases among Laotian refugees in northern Thailand, an Interim Ministry spokesman said yesterday. Six tribesmen who escaped from Laos claimed they were attacked with toxic chemicals Thai authorities detained the refugees in Udorn Thani province. 100 miles north of Bangkok, spokesman said. He quoted members of the U.N. team as saying they had recorded testimony by alleged victims of the chemicals but have found no material evidence. The eight-member team was sent here following reports by the U.S. State Department that Vietnamese were using poison weapons in Indochina. The team was supposed to leave Saturday but will instead return to New York today to report to the U.N. General Assembly later this month. — AP

Daniel J. Kevles, professor of history from the California Institute of Technology, will give a lecture at 8 this evening in the Center for Continuing Education. Kevles lecture, "Science: The Development of a Profession," will address the changing role of the scientist in America and attempt to explain how science as a profession has come to be structured as it is today. After the presentation, sophomore members from the South Bend area will discuss what Kevles holds degrees from Princeton University and spent a year at Oxford as National Science Foundation Fellow. His book, "The Physicists: The History of the Scientific Community in Modern America," received the National Historical Society Book Prize in 1979. He is writing a book on the history of genetics, a project funded by the National Endowment for the Humanities and the Charles Warren Center at Harvard University. This lecture is the sixth in a series of eleven sponsored by Notre Dame's history department. The series, "The Professions in American History," is funded by the South Bend Community Foundation. Kevles holds degrees from Princeton University and spent a year at Oxford as National Science Foundation Fellow. His book, "The Physicists: The History of the Scientific Community in Modern America," received the National Historical Society Book Prize in 1979. He is writing a book on the history of genetics, a project funded by the National Endowment for the Humanities and the Charles Warren Center at Harvard University. This lecture is the sixth in a series of eleven sponsored by Notre Dame's history department. The series, "The Professions in American History," is funded by the South Bend Community Foundation. Kevles holds degrees from Princeton University and spent a year at Oxford as National Science Foundation Fellow. His book, "The Physicists: The History of the Scientific Community in Modern America," received the National Historical Society Book Prize in 1979. He is writing a book on the history of genetics, a project funded by the National Endowment for the Humanities and the Charles Warren Center at Harvard University. This lecture is the sixth in a series of eleven sponsored by Notre Dame's history department. The series, "The Professions in American History," is funded by the South Bend Community Foundation.

The Observer

Sunny today and cool. High in the 60's and upper 40's. Clear and cold tonight with a low in the upper 20's or low 30's. Mostly sunny tomorrow with a high in the low and mid 50's. — AP

1:00 p.m. EST this morning, and liftoff is planned for 7:30 a.m. Thursday. Although they were stopped only 31 seconds from blastoff, they took the delay in stride.

The launch is now scheduled for his 44th birthday. Though they were stopped only 31 seconds from blastoff, they took the delay in stride.

AP Photo

SHUTTLE AT READY:

The Space Shuttle Columbia, born shown in launch configuration, was delayed Thursday, to the disappointment of the many people who had expected to watch it rise from its platform on its second voyage. The renewed countdown began at 8 a.m. EST this morning, and liftoff is planned for 7:30 a.m. Thursday.

LIFTOFF ON BIRTHDAY:

Astronaut Richard Truly, right, here pictured with shipmate Joe Engle, was reportedly delighted that the launch is now scheduled for his 44th birthday. Though they were stopped only 31 seconds from blastoff, they took the delay in stride.

AP Photo

CHECKING THE SUIT:

A boiler in a business suit can be embarrassing, but if these suits are not in absolutely perfect condition, tragedy could result. Here, technicians inspect Richard Truly's inflated suit at Kennedy Space Center for holes and other defects.

DELAY EXPLAINED:

This diagram of the auxiliary power unit subsystem in the space shuttle shows the area of concern that caused the delay in the second launch of the Columbia. Filters in the auxiliary power units must be removed and they and the system cleaned. The APUs are located in the rear of the craft.

The Observer

The Observer (ISSN 800-133) is published Monday through Friday and Saturday from September through May. Subscriptions may be purchased during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is published by the students of Notre Dame and St. Mary's College. Back issues may be purchased for $2 per year $15 per semester by writing The Observer, P.O. Box O, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556. The Observer is a member of The Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved. Second class postage paid at Notre Dame, Indiana 46556.
Tuesday, November 10, 1981 — page 3

Courses offered

By BOB VONDERHEIDE

The Community for the International Lay Apostolate composed of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students working on social issues, has compiled a list of social justice classes offered next semester at both Notre Dame and Saint Mary's.

The classes deal with or are offered in the arts and letters, theology, economics, history, sociology, law, and international relations.

The list has been published for about seven years, but this is the first year CIA, the Community for the International Lay Apostolate, has initiated a project.

Nicole Candianio, a member of CIA's education committee, spearheaded the project. Ferrick stressed that the list is as complete as possible, and that some classes may have been left out inadvertently.

Andria Schappell, whose Office for Experiential Learning helped CIA with the list, had it made the class aware of the array of justice classes offered here. One of our main emphases should be education for peace and justice," she added.

The list of social justice classes follows.

Theology:
- 517 Women in the Bible 9TT11

Economics:
- 530 Theology and Liberation 9TT11
- 540 Corporate Consciousness 1TT5

History:
- 541 Medical Ethics 11MWF 2TT12

Law:
- 578 The Unseen 2TT4 McNeill (checkmarked-call 2788)
- 579 Reflections on Service TBA McNeill/Beattie (checkmarked-call 2788)

Sociology:
- 581 War, Law and Ethics: The Legality and Morality of War 10TT12 Yoder (cross-listed with Philo. 249)

International Relations:
- 583 Religion in Latin America 1TT3 Staff (This course does not fulfill University requirement in Theology. Can be taken as elective only)
- 551 Contemporary Moral Issues 1TT3 Mady
- 556 World Justice and The Church 9TT11 Cocolitti

Politics:
- 611 Thomas Morton Seminar

... Chinatown

Through it all, Chinatown remains unique and charming to the tourists who flock there. Once you pass through the Oriental arch at the foot of Grant Avenue, you could be halfway around the world.

... Senate

continued from page 1

We get involved," Pera said.

But when the police do go to the people, as they did in investigating the Golden Dragon massacre, they get little help.

The experience of immigrants in the early years of this century is, as they were detained and sometimes deported has made them very wary of government agencies," Chan said. "Many people in public housing don't apply for welfare even though they qualify. They don't report crimes, they just lock their doors.

Perhaps the biggest problem facing Chinatown today is the proliferation of sweatshops - some 170 at last count - and sweatshops are particularly successful because the sweatshop owners have an advantage over the large corporations in the world marketplace. The sweatshops are not subject to the same regulations as the large corporations, and they are able to pay lower wages to their workers.

The sweatshops are often run by family members, and the work is usually done by women and children. The sweatshops are also often located in basements or garages, and they are often poorly lit and unventilated.

The sweatshops are a threat to the neighborhood because they can cause problems with crime and violence. The sweatshops can also cause problems with health and safety.

People who work in the sweatshops are often paid very low wages, and they work long hours in poor conditions.

As the weather begins to turn colder, those whose pleasure lies in jogging are attempting to get in their last exercises. (Photo by John Macoul)

Press Secretary Brady returns to press room

WASHINGTON (AP) - Press Secretary James S. Brady returned to the White House in a wheelchair yesterday, but his incongruous walk was intact as he helped President Reagan open the refurbished White House press room.

The press secretary, whose left side is partially paralyzed as a result of the bullet that shattered in his brain during the attack on Reagan, appeared remarkably like his old self.

But the impish grin that once seemed permanently affixed to his face has been replaced by an odd melancholy look that belies his actual good cheer.

Turning to Brady, Reagan said, "We're all waiting for the day that you come back for good."

"I am too, Mr. President," Brady said through theKim. "I'll come back," Brady vowed as his wheelchair was being rolled out of the briefing room after the dedication.

INUOVATORS IN PEOPLE PRODUCTS TECHNOLOGY

PANDUIT is a leading multi-national manufacturer of electrical, electronic and mechanical components with facilities located in Southwest suburban Chicago.

If unable to meet with our Company Representative, please mail your resume to:
College Recruiting Coordinator.

LITERATURE AVAILABLE IN THE PLACEMENT OFFICE

An Equal Opportunity Employer.

Tuesday, November 10, 8:00 pm LIBRARY AUDITORIUM

Noire Dame Student Government Third World Concerns PRESENTS

JAMES GRANT
Executive Director of UNICEF

"War on Hunger: Sincere Commitment or Empty Rhetoric"

Tuesday, November 20th

CoMiing: November 20th Interviewing: Mechanical Engineers

PANDUIT

PANDUIT is a leading multi-national manufacturer of electrical, electronic and mechanical components with facilities located in Southwest suburban Chicago.

If unable to meet with our Company Representative, please mail your resume to:
College Recruiting Coordinator.

LITERATURE AVAILABLE IN THE PLACEMENT OFFICE

An Equal Opportunity Employer.

Press Secretary Brady returns to press room
Native American speaks

_by Julianne Jones_

The legal and cultural problems faced by American Indians in modern society were the subject of "American Indians Forgotten Americans in Transition," a movie lecture presentation by Ronald Andrade, executive director of the National Congress of American Indians, delivered yesterday in the AV Theater of the Center for Continuing Education.

As Executive Director of the NCAI, Andrade, a member of the Luiseño tribe of southern California, holds one of the most influential positions in Indian affairs. The NCAI, the largest and oldest organization representing Native Americans, lobbies in Washington, D.C., for the protection of Indian rights. Ninety-nine percent of American tribes are members of the NCAI.

The presentation began with an hour-long movie depicting the activities of another national Indian group, the Native American Rights Fund. NARF provides counseling for land and water rights, discrimination of another national Indian group, the Native American Rights Fund. NARF provides counseling for land and water rights, discrimination.

One of the workshop leaders expressed the frustration of Andrade and the掴tteriation of Indian lands for cheap natural resources. Although only 25% of the 500 North American tribes own resources of any value, large corporations view Indians as "the easiest and cheapest shot" for natural resources. Many tribes are beginning to realize this and take action against it.

Concerning bilingual education, Andrade explained. "We see bilingual education as a way to conserve our culture. Language has to stay or our culture dies." In this modern, political society, bilingual education is a must.

The status of the Native American diaspora Andrade. "We are not essentially human in US belief. We were considered animals at first and I do not think this has changed." Reflecting the Indian concept of the tribes as sovereign states, he said, "We have not really reached the point where the federal government can take our land, or even our culture. Language has to stay or our culture dies." Andrade regards this as a violation of basic human rights, the basic respect between parties implicit in a treaty.

The major problem is that reservation land is not owned by Indians, only held in trust for them by the government, who can take it back whenever it wishes.

During the question and answer period that followed the movie, Andrade explained, "We see bilingual education as a way to conserve our culture. Language has to stay or our culture dies. In this modern, political society, bilingual education is a must."

Concerning bilingual education, Andrade explained. "We see bilingual education as a way to conserve our culture. Language has to stay or our culture dies."

In this modern, political society, bilingual education is a must.

Study uncovers possible treatment

_Columbus, Ohio (AP) — Some West African societies seem to protect themselves against the malaria parasites by eating the food they eat, a Stanford University anthropologist said yesterday._

"The West Africans have an unusually high rate of sickle-cell anemia but live longer than most other victims of the disease. Durham wanted to know why.

"I'd rather be Indian. I'm Indian first," Andrade explained, "We see bilingual education as a way to conserve our culture. Language has to stay or our culture dies." Andrade regards this as a violation of basic human rights, the basic respect between parties implicit in a treaty.

The major problem is that reservation land is not owned by Indians, only held in trust for them by the government, who can take it back whenever it wishes.

During the question and answer period that followed the movie, Andrade explained, "We see bilingual education as a way to conserve our culture. Language has to stay or our culture dies."

In this modern, political society, bilingual education is a must.

Concerning bilingual education, Andrade explained. "We see bilingual education as a way to conserve our culture. Language has to stay or our culture dies."

In this modern, political society, bilingual education is a must.

Concerning bilingual education, Andrade explained. "We see bilingual education as a way to conserve our culture. Language has to stay or our culture dies." Andrade regards this as a violation of basic human rights, the basic respect between parties implicit in a treaty.

The major problem is that reservation land is not owned by Indians, only held in trust for them by the government, who can take it back whenever it wishes.

During the question and answer period that followed the movie, Andrade explained, "We see bilingual education as a way to conserve our culture. Language has to stay or our culture dies."

In this modern, political society, bilingual education is a must.
Students complain about distribution

By MICHAEL WILKINS
News Staff

As the excitement from the last home football game of the season slowly dies away, the link eyes on campus turn hopefully to the upcoming home basketball season.

Last week, the first step in starting that season began with the distribution of season tickets to students for many freshmen for the first time. The first event of the season was an unhappy one: a large number of freshmen students complained about a Washington state law which would allow such closings without a court hearing. The court's affirmance in the Washington case was issued without free speech.

Senior cadet and for best representation come under new legal challenges. Lower federal courts and the school students from having to pay joined by Justices Lewis F. Powell Jr., George C. Marshall Award as the top senior cadet Army ROTC cadet battalion, The commander of Notre Dame's Army ROTC cadet battalion, Gregory Brophy of Fort Dix, N.J. has been named winner of the coveted George C. Marshall Award as the top senior cadet and for best representation come under new legal challenges.

Laws allowing similar closings were struck down in Alabama, California, Georgia, Louisiana and North Carolina, court papers said. The Washington law declares business establishments to be "moral nuisances" if they exhibit "lewd films or publications." It provides for confiscation of all money from sales or admissions, and permits court orders to close the business for as long as one year.

In striking down the law, the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals said, "The ability of a court to close a place temporarily because obscene materials may have been sold, distributed or exhibited on the premises is an impermissible prior restraint." The justices also took these actions: agreed to decide whether the Washington Post should get in formation the State Department says may jeopardize, if published, the safety of two men living in the area. The newspaper filed a Freedom of Information Act lawsuit seeking to find out whether the two Iraqi nationals are naturalized U.S. citizens. Refused to bar penalties for school property vandalized by a cadet lieutenant colonel.

The commander of Notre Dame's Army ROTC cadet battalion, Gregory Brophy of Fort Dix, N.J. has been named winner of the coveted George C. Marshall Award as the top senior cadet and for best representation come under new legal challenges.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nancy Reagan faults parents in drug abuse

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nancy Reagan all but blamed drug addiction on the nation's parents yesterday and adviced them to get tough, even if it means losing your child.

The first lady, embarking on a new anti-drug crusade, labeled addiction "the most democratic illness there is" because it cuts across racial and economic lines.

"I believe parents are the answer to it all," Mrs. Reagan declared during a meeting in the state, during visits with about 40 members of the National Federation of Parents for Drug Free Youth.

"I think for a long time parents weren't involved," the first lady said. "They shifted it to the schools or the police or the government; anybody but themselves, because it took time, it took effort, it's not pleasant."

"Sometimes you run the risk of losing your child for awhile," she added. "You have to be tough and you have to learn to say, too, "It's great to be your child's friend and pal." She said. "But sometimes, you've got to be their parent."

Mrs. Reagan said she has believed for a long time that parents have not been involved in the way they should be. I think that in the final analysis it's the parents who are going to turn this thing around. I think they're the most potent force there is."

The first lady attended the parents at yesterday's meeting how she could help and they suggested she speak out publicly about drug issues and school programs in addition to drug centers.

"We've all in a lot of hot water," she declared. "There's a danger of losing our whole next generation."

Mrs. Reagan said that during her visits to drug treatment centers she was fascinated "to hear these young people talk very freely, very openly, with very little embarrassment, which I expected, about what has happened to them. All of them mentioned the parents."

After talking with the group, Mrs. Reagan said she was now "very, very encouraged about the parents and their involvement."

In recent months, the first lady has held eight private meetings with experts on drug and alcohol abuse and has visited two residential treatment programs.

Mrs. Reagan added to his trophies when he was named winner of the 170-pound division in Notre Dame's charity boxing exhibition, the Bengal Bows.
A WACS, latest example of manipulation

Jenny Fitts

This argument, for two reasons, is a bad one. First, the Reagan administration knows that all such deals must be approved by Congress. The same argument could be used for any deal made by any president, the solution to which would be for Congress to give the president a free hand in making foreign policy — a ridiculous proposition.

Second, this argument was played up and hyped to such an extent that the sale became an issue in itself, detached from any role played by Reagan's foreign policy as a whole. Again, because so much of the praise of the president was invested in the passage, it became a must-win situation for the administration. Specific issues were subordinated to a need to win.

As before, Reagan's persuasive powers were used to their maximum in the milieu of urgency, one in which he seemed to thrive. Reagan succeeded in switching an opposition of 61 "no" votes to a 52-48 Senate victory. Among his concessions (again primarily the result of the fact that the opposition threatened to filibuster) were GOP conservative Roger Jepsen of Iowa and Nebraska Democrat Bob Kerrey on Zorba, both probably翰写ally anti-AWACS.

The administration had played these votes as exemplary of the public's cost-consciousness in policies, I can't help but question the political process at work here. We have a Congress in which members have a Congress in which members;

Supply-siders should go all the way

William Buckley

Robert Heilbroner, the economist, wrote two columns recently proposing that a mortgage, or savings and loan, be purchased at a discount. The savings and loan could then lend that money to others at an interest rate of 10 percent. The discount would be 7 percent. This would clearly be an excellent idea. If the lender is protected against inflation, the interest rate would be reduced by 7 percent. If the lender is not protected against inflation, the interest rate would be reduced by 7 percent.

The result would be that the American economy would be stimulated because there would be less money available to each individual. This would lower the interest rate on existing loans. The result would be a lower cost of living. This would be good for the economy.

The Observer

The Observer is an independent student newspaper of the University of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the opinions of either institution. The Observer is printed as accurately as possible.

P.O. Box Q

P.O. Box Q, Notre Dame, In 46556 (219) 284-8601

Is policy really charity?

Dear Editor:

The annual United Way fund drive is something badly mishandled. Al­beit the United Way is a worthwhile charity, the "encouragement" for students to donate is definitely unwarranted. I am not criticizing the organization or its efforts to fundraise. What I object to is the University's method of promoting United Way.

The word "charity" connotes a desire to give. The message the stu­dents receive from the administration is that they are to donate, and $2 is the suggested donation. Section leaders then come to classes. The amount of money is irrelevant. Such a method of collecting is, however, defeating the entire purpose of the charity. To begin with, if the University administration feels so strongly about United Way, they should save much time and effort by simply tacking on the suggested donation to the tuition bill.

Dear Editor:

Dear Sir,

I am , a student at the University of Notre Dame, and I would like to express my thoughts on the issue of the "charity" campaign. I am writing to you because I believe that the campaign is not effective and is misleading.

First of all, the word "charity" is often associated with a sense of obligation or guilt. When students are asked to donate to United Way, they may feel pressured to give, even if they do not have the financial means to do so. This can lead to a feeling of guilt or shame, which is not the intended effect of a charity campaign.

Furthermore, the amount of money suggested for donation is often too low to make a meaningful impact on the organization's budget. It is important to recognize that United Way relies on donations from individuals, businesses, and foundations to fund its programs. A $2 donation may not seem significant, but it adds up over time.

Lastly, the timing of the campaign is not convenient for all students. Some may not have the funds to donate at this time. The campaign should be held during a time when students are less likely to be financially stressed.

In conclusion, I believe that the "charity" campaign is ineffective and misleading. I would suggest that the University reevaluate its approach to fundraising for United Way.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]
The Observer will accept classifieds Monday through Friday 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. However, classifieds to appear in the next issue must be received by 3 p.m. the business day prior to publication. All classifieds must be prepaid either in person or through the mail.

NOTICES

USED BOOK SHOP HOURS: WED. 1-9, THUR. 1-9, FRI. 1-9, 1314 BUCHANON RD. NILES RENTED ROOMS, JOS. Summary of the 80873. All Rooms, $500-$1200 monthly. Sightseeing trips immediately following. Student tickets are 50 cents and others are $1.50. Will share driving. Call Tara 7060.

LOST ($200/MONTH UTILITIES PAID 287-2143)

VARIOUS CAR LOW dees! I love that jacket.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY STUBBY (THE GUARDIAN) 11-11-81

BABY'S first BIRTHDAY party on Tues. Nov. 10, 1981.

ATTENTION HAMILTON UNIVERSITY STUDENTS!!

BASKETBALL

FOOTBALL

NATIONAL FOOTBALL LEAGUE

NATIONAL HOCKEY LEAGUE

EXHIBITION MATCH SUNDAY, NOV. 29th, 3:00 PM AT THE ARENA.

HOCKEY

Amsterdam (4) 0-1-0

Lacrosse jacket and who sits in

TOO BIG, TOO SHOULDERED. WANT $200 FOR IT. CALL 287-6035 AND ASK FOR JOHN

NOTICE, PLEASE CALL AND LEAVE A MESSAGE

SOUTH LOVE NOT WANTED FOR ANYTHING. EXPENSE $170.00

KINGSTONymores WANTED FOR ANYTHING. EXPENSE $170.00

TICKETS

In the annual intersagames. Dill- tanja's women will play at 7 p.m. and Philips' men will play immediately following. Student tickets are 50 cents and others are $1.50. will include a lecture, demonstrations, and a question and answer period.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes is sponsoring an evening with head basketball coach Digger Phelps. The presentation will be held in the Howard Hall chapel tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. The FCA promotes Christian fellowship among athletes and coaches in the hope that the faith will share the entire community. All are invited to attend. — The Observer

Notre Dame’s Scubs Club will meet tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Loretto Room. Members of the new organization from Aquinas will give a presentation on diving opportunities around the area. All are invited to attend. — The Observer

Mary D. and Digger will unveil their 1981-82 basketball schedules in the annual intersagames. Dill-tanja's women will play at 7 p.m. and Philips' men will play immediately following. Student tickets are 50 cents and others are $1.50. will include a lecture, demonstrations, and a question and answer period.

The Observer

A six-mile run for Notre Dame students, faculty, and staff will be held on Saturday, Nov. 14 at 9:30 a.m. Separate divisions for men and women will be established in each of the following five heats - undergraduate, graduate, and faculty-staff. If you wish to run, you must come to the interhall office (C-2 in the ACC) and complete the insurance and entry forms before Thursday, Nov. 12. The course will be entirely on the Notre Dame campus. — The Observer

Bill Allerhilegen, Notre Dame's strength and conditioning coach, will hold a weight training and conditioning clinic Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Joyce Men's Weight Room. Participants will include a lecture, demonstration, and a question and answer period. — The Observer

Sports Briefs

By The Observer and The Associated Press

Wednesday, November 10, 1981 — page 7

SPORTS

NFDA-Roomer

SUNDAY'S RESULTS

SUNDAY'S RESULTS

THE ARMOR COFFEE SHOP IS OPEN EVERY THANKSGIVING FOR YOUR PERSONAL TREATMENT, OFFERING THE FINEST LIGHT ENTERTAINMENT, FREE POPCORN AND PAT GARLIA'S HOLIDAY CONVERSATION, 8-11 EVERY THURSDAY NIGHT, ZANE BASBMENT

SUNDAY'S RESULTS

For an ad in this Sports Briefs

The Observer

The Observer

Sports Briefs

By The Observer and The Associated Press

Wednesday, November 10, 1981 — page 7

SPORTS
continued from page 9

This week's playoff schedule:

Tonight's games
Zahn v. Morrissey, 6:30 p.m. (Cartier)
Stanhof v. Hanner, 7:30 p.m. (Cartier)

Wednesday's final

winners of Tuesday's matches, 7 p.m. (Cartier)

WOMEN'S FLAG FOOTBALL — While the season is over for most of the teams, Pasquerra West still has three games to play, giving them a chance of qualifying for the playoffs. They are scheduled to finish protracted games against Lawton and Off-Campus probably sometime next Thursday at 9:15 p.m. on Cartier. If needed, they would then be scheduled against Farley. Tuesday's game was postponed earlier in the season. Every one of these games is a must win for P.W. if they hope to qualify for the playoffs. Otherwise, Off-Camps would be the fourth place team and thus win the spot.

These are the stats as of 5

WOMEN'S FLAG FOOTBALL
1. Breen Phillips — 8-0
2. y Paq. East — 6-2
3. y Farley — 5-2

continued from page 10

also hard to believe and bowling Green head coach Alfa.

The general feeling of the players is that the calls were terribly biased.

There is a feeling of bitterness on the team toward the situation, but as senior Sami Kahale puts it, "We know in our hearts that we deserved everything." Said one senior, "We really did not deserve to lose." The players feel that if justice was done, they would have been in the playoffs. But the team feels it was a just decision.

Kahale is determind to do something about the incident. "I will do anything I can within the law to make sure something like this never happens again," says the fifth-year guard. "I think the Bowling Green coach acted unethically. He realize the situation beforehand. Neither the Bowling Green coach nor the referee would discuss the issue with Hunter.

Nonetheless, the season as a whole must be viewed as a huge success. The question mark at the start of the season was the defense. However, the defense turned out very strong this season. "I couldn't be more pleased with our defense this season," praises Hunter. All of our fullbacks played consistently.

continued from page 11

Matt snapped jokingly, then, displaying his rare form that has alternated many a reference over the years.

Knight spoke to the helpless inquisitor as if he were one of Knight's own players.

"How can you ask a question like that?" continued Knight, mocking himself. "I think I have an agreed-upon — he gets New York, and I take Chicago. What kind of stupid bleep Digger's been giving you."

Knight is renowned for his dislike of the news media, having once made the comment that "all of us learn to write in the second grade; some of us go on to do other things."

The highlight of the evening, though, was an appearance by popular prosthodontist Cecil Digger. A constant target of Phelps' abuse. After some tense berating by Phelps, Knight called Digger to the front, put his arm around him, and showed his sympathy: "Cecil, don't let Digger treat you that way," Knight said. "I mean, the way your people (black) have been treated through the years, you don't deserve the bleep Digger's been giving you."

In all, it was an enjoyable evening for a very worthy cause. And Knight had nothing but praise for Notre Dame's efforts in the Landon Turner Fund. "I can't say enough about Notre Dame," he said. "They've put their arm around the player, and have covered the entire Notre Dame campus. Separate a constant target of Phelps' abuse. After some tense berating by Phelps, Knight called Digger to the front, put his arm around him, and showed his sympathy: "Cecil, don't let Digger treat you that way," Knight said. "I mean, the way your people (black) have been treated through the years, you don't deserve the bleep Digger's been giving you."

In all, it was an enjoyable evening for a very worthy cause. And Knight had nothing but praise for Notre Dame's efforts in the Landon Turner Fund. "I can't say enough about Notre Dame," he said. "They've put their arm around the player, and have covered the entire Notre Dame campus. Separate this kind of effort for an athlete at another university, that really shows me something."

continued from page 12

anything, that no matter what I did, it wasn't enough. In high school, it's easy to get overconfident, and my mother saw to it that I didn't get to a point where I would need an extra "nurse." "I wasn't upset that they weren't here to see me Saturday," Tripp con tinues while discussing the subject most dear to him. "They were here last week, but they couldn't make it up this week because my mother had to work — she's a nurse."

Mother saw to it that I didn't get to a point where I would need an extra "nurse." "I wasn't upset that they weren't here to see me Saturday," Tripp continues while discussing the subject most dear to him. "They were here last week, but they couldn't make it up this week because my mother had to work — she's a nurse."

They may not have been in Notre Dame Stadium, but Mom and Dad still took part in Son's biggest thrill.

"When she's not here, she listens to our games on the radio, all of them. She watches us on the Sunday morning replays, too. She said she tried to call after the game. As a matter of fact, I called her not five minutes after she had just tried to call me. They were both pretty thrilled, although the first thing my dad asked was 'Are you all right?'"

"Nothing. Mr. Tripp. Little Timmy (little, huh — he's 6-4) is just fine. Couldn't be finer, actually. You taught him well.

...Tripp

...Turner

continued from page 12

Northwestern University fans celebrate the school's 29th straight football loss on Saturday by tearing down the goal post. See the Bottom Venn page on page 12 (AP Photo)

continued from page 12

Knights scored jokingly, then, displaying his rare form that has alternated many a reference over the years. "I think I have an agreed-upon — he gets New York, and I take Chicago. What kind of stupid bleep Digger's been giving you."

Knight is renowned for his dislike of the news media, having once made the comment that "all of us learn to write in the second grade; some of us go on to do other things."

The highlight of the evening, though, was an appearance by popular prosthodontist Cecil Digger. A constant target of Phelps' abuse. After some tense berating by Phelps, Knight called Digger to the front, put his arm around him, and showed his sympathy: "Cecil, don't let Digger treat you that way," Knight said. "I mean, the way your people (black) have been treated through the years, you don't deserve the bleep Digger's been giving you."

In all, it was an enjoyable evening for a very worthy cause. And Knight had nothing but praise for Notre Dame's efforts in the Landon Turner Fund. "I can't say enough about Notre Dame," he said. "They've put their arm around the player, and have covered the entire Notre Dame campus. Separate

...Soccer

continued from page 10

Kraemer and Sweester are the other two seniors.

Miligan turned in a splendid year in the nets, surrendering only 1.14 goals per game. A consistent goalkeeper is essential to a quality soccer team and the Irish were certainly not lacking in that aspect this past season.

The biggest key to the success of the team had to be the balanced scoring attack. The top five scorers: Kahale, Rob Snyder, O'Malley, Herdegen, and Marcy, combined for a total of 91 goals on the season.

Kahale had 12 goals and 15 assists to lead the team for the season. He ranks second on the all-time scoring list, behind Kevin Lovejoy (1979-80) with 35 goals and 30 assists. O'Malley, with 16 goals and 12 assists, leads the all-time list while sophomore Rob Snyder in fifth after only two years. Kahale also viewed this team as a great success.

"We just had better general skills and better ball control than in the past. We played head-to-head, we just had better general skills and better ball control than in the past. We played head-to-
MEN'S FOOTBALL — This past week's games ended the regular season of the men's football league. Five of the six playoff spots were determined by the final games. Grace won the North Division title by defeating Carrol, 7-0. The sole score of the game came on a 46-yard bomb to Yogi Spence. Adding to the Big Red point total were run downs from quarterback Mike Perri to flankerback Mitch Weisz. Also scoring for Planner was kicker John Zambrano, who kicked his fourth field goal of the season. As stated, Grace finishes first in the North division with a 4-0 record and Planner finishes third with a 2-2 record.

These are the final regular season standings:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>Record</th>
<th>Notes</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1. Grace</td>
<td>4-0</td>
<td>x-clinched division title</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2. Off-Campus</td>
<td>4-1</td>
<td>1-x-clinched playoff spot</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3. Planner</td>
<td>3-2</td>
<td>y-clinched playoff spot</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4. Holy Cross</td>
<td>5-4</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5. Carrol</td>
<td>5-4</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6. Planner</td>
<td>1-7</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7. Grace</td>
<td>4-5</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8. Pangborn</td>
<td>4-5</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9. Howard</td>
<td>4-5</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10. Off-Campus</td>
<td>4-5</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11. St. Ed's</td>
<td>5-4</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12. Pangborn</td>
<td>3-2</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>13. Y-Keean</td>
<td>2-7</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>14. Pangborn</td>
<td>2-7</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>15. Morrissey</td>
<td>1-8</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

This week's playoff schedule:

DIVISION I
- Tomorrow's games
  - Holy Cross v. Morrissey, 7 p.m. (Carrier)
  - Off-Campus v. Keenan, 8:15 p.m. (Carrier)

Sunday's games
- Dillon v. Holy Cross or Morrissey, 1 p.m. (Carrier)
- Grace v. Off-Campus or Keenan, 2:15 p.m. (Carrier)

DIVISION II

See INTERHALL, page 8

Mark Stewart of the Washington Huskies had a message for his mother during the UCLA-Washington game in Los Angeles Saturday. (AP Photo)

Michigan's Smith selected by AP

CHICAGO (AP) — Michigan quarterback Steve Smith has been selected Midwest Player of the Week on offense by The Associated Press for his remarkable performance Saturday.

Smith, a 6-foot, 191-pound sophomore from Grand Blanc, Mich., rallied the Wolverines to a 70-21 victory over Illinois after the Illini had led 21-7.

Smith completed 9 of 15 passes for 224 yards and 3 touchdowns and also rushed for 116 yards and 3 more touchdowns. Even with those statistics, Smith barely edged out Minnesota quarterback Mike Huhnerman for the honor. Huhnerman completed 37 of 67 passes for 444 yards and 5 touchdowns in a 55-51 victory over Ohio State.

Also nominated was Michigan wide receiver Anthony Carter, who caught 6 passes for 154 yards and returned a total of 5 punts and kickoff returns for 146 yards.

A WORLD OF WINE II

This Thurs., Nov. 12 at the Notre Dame A.C.C.

- Only a $5 donation for wine & cheese
- For the benefit of the Muscular Dystrophy Association
- Coordinated by KINGS CELLAR SPIRITS SUPERMARKET

Tickets available at any King's Cellar or at the door.

OVER 180 WINES!!!

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>NORTH</th>
<th>SOUTH</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>W 1 T Pe  PF Pa</td>
<td>B 1 T Pe  PF Pa</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>y-Carrol</td>
<td>2 2 2 2 50 25 57</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>y-Alumni  2 2 2 2 50 25 57</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>y-Tahm  2 2 2 2 50 25 57</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>y-Keenan 2 2 2 2 50 25 57</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>y-Clinched division title</td>
<td>y-Clinched playoff spot</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>y-Clinched playoff spot</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

See INTERHALL, page 8
Irish soccer team ends fifth season

By RICK KRIST
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame soccer team wound up its fifth year of varsity play in style Saturday, as it rolled over Louisville, 4-1. Freshman Richard Heneghen tallied twice to wind up with 11 goals for the season. Junior Mario Manta and senior midfielder Ed O'Malley also scored for the Irish who, in the second half, played what coach Rich Hunter described as "the best we've ever played."

The win was an impressive one, especially coming off the bitter outcome of the Bowling Green game on Thursday. Although the Irish lost, 2-1, Hunter praised the game and there is a glimmer of hope. If the NCAA rules in favor of Notre Dame, a playoff bid is still a possibility.

The controversy surrounding the game concerns Dr. Michael Long, the referee for the contest, who called two penalty kicks against the Irish within one minute of each other, both of which resulted in Bowling Green goals. While this in itself may not seem unusual, there has been a history of conflict between Notre Dame and Bowling Green.

Exactly one minute later, Joe Holtermann was called for a foul while jumping for a header ball. This call was

The first call went against center fullback Jim "Joker" Stevens. "I never touched their man. When I heard the whistle, I thought the call was against Bowling Green," exclaimed Stevens. The referee, when asked what the foul was, said that "Stevens kicked the Bowling Green man. The result: Bowling Green takes a 1-0 lead.

Exactly one minute later, Hunter sent a letter to Bowling Green coach Gary Palmisano explaining the situation and suggesting that Long not be referees will be. Apparently, Pal-

This season. Also, last year against Michigan State, Long gave out a total of five red cards (ejections) in a game which got completely out of hand and turned into a total disaster.

A result of last year's incident, Hunter sent a letter to Great Lakes Regional Chairman Jerry Yeager, of Indiana Univ., explaining the situation and suggesting that Long not be scheduled to do Notre Dame games, in light of the events which had transpired in the past. Hunter also sent a letter to Bowling Green coach Gary Palmisano explaining the situation.

In NCAA soccer, home team coaches have a say as to who the referees will be. Apparently, Palmisano had knowledge of Long's history of conflict with Notre Dame but went ahead with Long as the referee anyway.

The Notre Dame soccer team is wound up its fifth year of varsity play in the Outcom of Hope. If the NCAA rules in favor of Notre Dame, a playoff bid is still a possibility.

By MICHAEL OLENIK
Sports Writer

"All we're trying to do is to promote Christian fellowship through athletics or academics," explains Fronk. "You don't necessarily have to be both an athlete and a student to like what we have to offer.

Already, the FCA has offered two speakers of campus prominence in an open forum setting, and both have worked out well.

Both Irish assistant football coach Tom Lichtenberg and head baseball Coach Larry Gallo have met with interested students to discuss the role of Christianity in sports, and both meetings seemed to have made their mark on those who attended.

Both speakers have done an excellent job of getting across to the students, mostly with just stories, from their lives or their personal views of Christian athletics. We've been very happy with our progress, and we're looking forward to the rest of our forum.

The next speaker in the series will be Irish basketball Coach Digger Phelps, and FCA organizer Rich McLaughlin hopes to have a good turnout in the chapel of Howard Hall this tomorrow night at 8:30 p.m.

"We hope that people will show up to see what he has to say, because he usually can be pretty entertaining," offers McLaughlin. "A good turnout should really help us get on our feet."

This is by no means the first attempt at a FCA organization on the Notre Dame campus, as Fronk in quick to explain. "About eight years ago, there was a rather large FCA movement here on campus. At that time, they did a lot of charitable activities during home football games. I don't know why things died out, but they did, and that's why we're trying to renew interest."

"All we're trying to do is promote Christian fellowship through athletics or academics."

The FCA does attract a suitable number of members, Fronk intends to actively pursue the type of activities that will make the FCA a helpful group in the South Bend community.

"We hope to do some community service work as soon as possible. Hopefully, the Christmas season will give us the opportunity to help the needy of the community, while having a meaningful experience at the same time."

For those who have interest in getting involved with an organization of the FCA's nature and stature, you are urged to attend the following meetings that will transpire this year: Jan. 20 — football coach Steve Orsini at the Faculty Chapel, Feb. 17 — track Coach Ed Kelly at the Dillon Chapel, March 3 — Athletic Director Gene Conger at the Welsh Chapel, and April 7 — hockey Coach Charles "LEFTY" Smith at the Sorin Chapel.

FCA gaining in popularity

By MICHAEL OLENIK
Sports Writer

At a school probably best known for athletics and its Christian roots, the FCA is a relatively small and obscure group that is finally being lead into the campus spotlight.

Dale Fronk, a sophomore from Columbus, Ohio is the president of Notre Dame's FCA and seems to think that this campus is ready for the outreach that such an organization provides.

"All we're trying to do is to promote Christian fellowship through athletics or academics," explains Fronk. "You don't necessarily have to be both an athlete and a student to like what we have to offer.

Already, the FCA has offered two speakers of campus prominence in an open forum setting, and both have worked out well.

Both Irish assistant football coach Tom Lichtenberg and head baseball Coach Larry Gallo have met with interested students to discuss the role of Christianity in sports, and both meetings seemed to have made their mark on those who attended.

Both speakers have done an excellent job of getting across to the students, mostly with just stories, from their lives or their personal views of Christian athletics. We've been very happy with our progress, and we're looking forward to the rest of our forum.

The next speaker in the series will be Irish basketball Coach Digger Phelps, and FCA organizer Rich McLaughlin hopes to have a good turnout in the chapel of Howard Hall this tomorrow night at 8:30 p.m.

"We hope that people will show up to see what he has to say, because he usually can be pretty entertaining," offers McLaughlin. "A good turnout should really help us get on our feet."

This is by no means the first attempt at a FCA organization on the Notre Dame campus, as Fronk in quick to explain. "About eight years ago, there was a rather large FCA movement here on campus. At that time, they did a lot of charitable activities during home football games. I don't know why things died out, but they did, and that's why we're trying to renew interest."

"All we're trying to do is promote Christian fellowship through athletics or academics."

The FCA does attract a suitable number of members, Fronk intends to actively pursue the type of activities that will make the FCA a helpful group in the South Bend community.

"We hope to do some community service work as soon as possible. Hopefully, the Christmas season will give us the opportunity to help the needy of the community, while having a meaningful experience at the same time."

For those who have interest in getting involved with an organization of the FCA's nature and stature, you are urged to attend the following meetings that will transpire this year: Jan. 20 — football coach Steve Orsini at the Faculty Chapel, Feb. 17 — track Coach Ed Kelly at the Dillon Chapel, March 3 — Athletic Director Gene Conger at the Welsh Chapel, and April 7 — hockey Coach Charles "LEFTY" Smith at the Sorin Chapel.

CONVOCATION ON THE THREAT OF NUCLEAR WAR

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 11
12:15 PM Mass for peace, Sacred Heart Church
Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C.,
Celebrant

4:00 PM Convocation—Library Auditorium
Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C.
Comments and introduction

James E. Muller, M.D. (N.D. '65)
Faculty, Harvard Medical School
Founder of International Physicians for the Prevention of Nuclear War
"The Medical Consequences of Nuclear War"

EVERYONE WELCOME

Notre Dame participating with over 140 other campuses
Molarity

* IS THIS THE CAMPUS HALLWAY? OR JUST A SNEAK PEAK AT THE HALLWAY? IT'S HERE! IT'S HERE! OR HEADING TOWARD YOU?

Doonesbury

* IT'S A SPECIAL HOLIDAY FOR ME. I CAN TELL THE HOLIDAY IS GOING TO BE GREAT! LET'S TALK ABOUT IT!

Simon

* WHAT ARE YOU COMING TO THE THEATER FOR? YOU'RE NOT THERE FOR THE THEATER. YOU'RE THERE FOR THE OTHER Thing. CAN YOU HEAR ME?

The Observer Today

Molarity

* IS THIS THE CAMPUS HALLWAY? OR JUST A SNEAK PEAK AT THE HALLWAY? IT'S HERE! IT'S HERE! OR HEADING TOWARD YOU?

Doonesbury

* IT'S A SPECIAL HOLIDAY FOR ME. I CAN TELL THE HOLIDAY IS GOING TO BE GREAT! LET'S TALK ABOUT IT!

Simon

* WHAT ARE YOU COMING TO THE THEATER FOR? YOU'RE NOT THERE FOR THE THEATER. YOU'RE THERE FOR THE OTHER Thing. CAN YOU HEAR ME?

Today

Molarity

* IS THIS THE CAMPUS HALLWAY? OR JUST A SNEAK PEAK AT THE HALLWAY? IT'S HERE! IT'S HERE! OR HEADING TOWARD YOU?

Doonesbury

* IT'S A SPECIAL HOLIDAY FOR ME. I CAN TELL THE HOLIDAY IS GOING TO BE GREAT! LET'S TALK ABOUT IT!

Simon

* WHAT ARE YOU COMING TO THE THEATER FOR? YOU'RE NOT THERE FOR THE THEATER. YOU'RE THERE FOR THE OTHER Thing. CAN YOU HEAR ME?

Today

Molarity

* IS THIS THE CAMPUS HALLWAY? OR JUST A SNEAK PEAK AT THE HALLWAY? IT'S HERE! IT'S HERE! OR HEADING TOWARD YOU?

Doonesbury

* IT'S A SPECIAL HOLIDAY FOR ME. I CAN TELL THE HOLIDAY IS GOING TO BE GREAT! LET'S TALK ABOUT IT!

Simon

* WHAT ARE YOU COMING TO THE THEATER FOR? YOU'RE NOT THERE FOR THE THEATER. YOU'RE THERE FOR THE OTHER Thing. CAN YOU HEAR ME?

Today

Molarity

* IS THIS THE CAMPUS HALLWAY? OR JUST A SNEAK PEAK AT THE HALLWAY? IT'S HERE! IT'S HERE! OR HEADING TOWARD YOU?

Doonesbury

* IT'S A SPECIAL HOLIDAY FOR ME. I CAN TELL THE HOLIDAY IS GOING TO BE GREAT! LET'S TALK ABOUT IT!

Simon

* WHAT ARE YOU COMING TO THE THEATER FOR? YOU'RE NOT THERE FOR THE THEATER. YOU'RE THERE FOR THE OTHER Thing. CAN YOU HEAR ME?

Today

* IS THIS THE CAMPUS HALLWAY? OR JUST A SNEAK PEAK AT THE HALLWAY? IT'S HERE! IT'S HERE! OR HEADING TOWARD YOU?
Tuesday, November 10, 1981 — page 12

Sports

Digger and Bobby put on show

By CHRIS NEEDLES
Sports Writer

It’s ironic that last night’s “Digger and Bobby Show” at the Engineering Auditorium didn’t begin until 10:30. By then, the “family hour” was over and all young ears were safely tuned away to bed.

Two of college basketball’s premier coaches — Bobby Knight, head coach of reigning NCAA champions Indiana University, and Notre Dame’s “Digger” Phelps, a frequent question and answer session before an overflow crowd of nearly 600. Entitle should have such an ablative audience.

The event, co-sponsored by Alumni and St. Edward’s Hall, was held in conjunction with The Observer-Landon Turner Fund, the campus-sponsored fund directed to the spread of miraculous medical expenses accrued by the former IU basketball star who was left paralyzed by a summertime auto accident.

All told, about $800 was raised for the fund last night, including a $50,000 check from the Knight chapter of the Knights of Columbus.

Fittingly, the audience was first checked sport coat, set the tone for the chat, he fielded questions on a airplane window — I figured that’s the way. I stunk. After that I was great.”

The Dyche breaks

Some teams will go long to great lengths to lose ball games. A quality Bottom Ten contender can find any number of ways and means to drop the big game. Take Illinois, for instance. They were about to put the final nail in Michigan’s coffin when they realized that they were one carelessly wound-up drive short of the end zone. And that’s what drove for another score just 18 minutes into the game. Saturday, Tony Eason smartly threw an interception. That’s the difference between winning and losing that day. I was having a six touchdowns to give the Illini a come-from-ahead loss.

“Today, it’s common for some players to get as much as $50,000 to sign, believe it or not. I could easily go out tomorrow, make a few telephone calls to assure me the money to sign a high school star. If you really wanted to. But Digger and I both feel that it’s never a good move. We’ve never felt that it takes away from the game too much.”

“Digger Dame’s sub-par recruiting year. “Well, I knew we were pleased,” he said.

Interpersed among the questions was the expected R-rated banter between Knight and Phelps, both of whom have become important figures in the American and social pages of the American and social life of the court. Notre Dame players delight in showing up in a court and their eyes staring up at a powdery blue, cloudless sky.

Finally, it’s too late to discuss this topic. He was still only a junior in high school when he was left paralyzed. When he was left paralyzed, the crowd walked out of the gym in a cloud of boos.

All told, about $800 was raised for the fund last night, a $50,000 check from the Knight chapter of the Knights of Columbus.

Fittingly, the audience was first checked sport coat, set the tone for the chat, he fielded questions on a airplane window — I figured that’s the way. I stunk. After that I was great.”

Halt declination at 29?

They’re 3-13 and have given up twice as many points as they’ve scored. But they made the playoffs anyway. Rumor has it that Bowie Kain is looking into the CFL’s playoff format.

The Bottom Ten

The week’s rankings:
1.) NotreWorth (0-9) — “Halt declination at 29”
2.) Colorado St. (0-9) — tied for NCAA lead in losses
3.) State of Oregon (2-10) — 10 less than Stanford and Washington
4.) Memphis St. (1-9) — not the same since Elvis died.
5.) Georgia Tech (1-9) — may start tight end at quarterback

The trio.

* UTEP (1-8) — no pot of gold after 5-7 loss to San Antonio
* Rainbows of Hawaii (1-9) — Colt Coach Mike Mc Cormick: “I feel sick”
* Virginia (1-7) — Boo-Hoo for Yahoo
* Texas Tech (1-7-1) — Red Raiders of the East Coast
* Columbus (1-7) — Lions covered before Dartmouth

Also receiving votes:
Eastern Michigan (0-9)
Syracuse (1-6)
Colorado (2-7)
Kansas St. (2-7)
Indiana (2-7)

The bottom ten

Quote of the Week.

“Skip Desjardin.
Rob Simari

Indiana Pacer Forward George McGinnis to rookie Herb Williams after Williams winning game-shooting his first game: “I wish I could have broken in my first game that way. I stunk. After that I was great.”

This reception on Saturday was senior Tim Tripp’s first touchdown ever for the Fighting Irish. (Photo by Tom O’Brien)

Finaly!

Tripp’s hard work pays off

By MARK HANNUKELS
Sports Writer

Despite what the reports said, the stadium wasn’t quite full. Still, it was only a few bobby soxers of reaching to 55.07% capacity.

Chances are, not more than two or three of the multitude heard the cry of joy which came from the very depths of the Notre Dame player who lay, nearly motionless, in the corner of the stadium’s south endzone. His eyes started up at a powdery blue, cloudless sky.

“Finally,” he yelled to no one in particular. Then he stood on the sideline, turned into the waiting embrace of his parents, and walked into the audience. And there reality set in for Tim Tripp.

After four years of classes and practices and films and meetings and games and injuries and more practices and more games and more injuries — it’s a cycle vicious enough to test even the strongest of characters — he finally had a catch that went in a column other than the one marked Rec. This one would go under TD. And certainly, gave the senior native of Dayton, Ohio cause for celebration.

“Yeah, it was a pretty big thrill,” he says in a tone somewhat subdued after two days of relieving his greatest thrill in an Irish uniform. “After four years, it finally happened.”

The memorable play, a 10-yard hookup with Koegele, came with just six minutes remaining in the last home game for both players. The characters were significant since nowhere in the saga of Tim Tripp’s No. 1 at his particular position.

“I was glad that it was Tunny who threw the pass,” Tripp says. “Timmy has been close ever since we’ve been here — he’s never been No. 1 and I’ve never been No. 1 — and we’ve tried to help each other out a lot. We never have hooked up in a game before, so this kind of rounded it out for us.”

Don’t believe that stuff about No. 1. It’s exactly true. Koegele has been one of two No. 1 quarterbacks in Genny Faust’s eyes all season long. And Tripp was No.1 last spring and early this fall at a different position — wingback.

“I liked the switch a lot,” Tripp says now after returning to his former split end position, a move necessitated by the near injury he suffered in the first fall scrimmage. “I felt that at wideout, Tim (Koegele) was able to make the lineup," and that was the main part of the team. With guys like Greg Reidel and John Koch around now, there’s no need for me there. I didn’t fit in better there than I did.”

Now we’re starting to get some goodness in the backfield, he taught me at an ear and age that I never should quit.

See TRIPP, page 8