Adopting the motto "Lettuce serve you," Food Service Director Roemer. "The additional revenues towards the upkeep and further improvements of the building, which was completed in January, 1982. Stepan also is a 1931 alumnus and emeritus trustee of Notre Dame.

Father Theodore Hesburgh, President of Notre Dame, will bless the building and also speak. The ceremony also includes a performance of the Chicago Symphony String Quartet.

Presiding over this ceremony will be a mass at 10 a.m. in Sacred Heart Church with Hesburgh as celebrant and Father Joseph L. Walter, chairman of the faculty of professional studies, as homilist.

All six honorary degree recipients will be honored at an academic convocation in the Memorial Library Auditorium at 3 p.m. on October 2. Dr. D. Allan Bromley, one of the degree recipients, will deliver the convocation address.

Bromley, chairman of the American Association for the Advancement of Science (AAAS) and professor of Physics at Yale University, is one of the world's leading physicists and an international spokesperson for science.

A Canadian by birth, he studied at Queen's University, Ontario, and earned a Ph.D. in physics at the University of Rochester in 1960. He was appointed director of the University's A.W. Wright Nuclear Structure Laboratory in 1963, and chaired the Dept. of Physics from 1970-77. He was also appointed to the White House Science Council in 1982.

Four others who will accompany Cronkite on the panel discussion, will join Bromley and Cronkite as honorary degree recipients.

Congressman Don Fuqua, chairman of the House Committee on Science and Technology, is one of these recipients. Fuqua, of Jacksonville, Florida, attended the University of Florida, was elected to Florida's legislative body in 1957, and won a seat in Congress in 1962. He belongs to several scientific organizations, including the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the American Physical Society, National Space Club, and the Special Congressional Task Force for Industrial Innovation.

John W. Hanley, chairman of the board of Momento Company, Sr. Louis, Mo. will also be a recipient. Hanley, of Parkersburg, West Virginia, was recently re-elected to Congress as the representative for Western Iowa in the 1982 election. He was nominated for a six year term as director of the National Science Foundation and received his Ph.D in electrical engineering in 1970 from the University of California at San Diego.

He has served as director of the Applied Physics Laboratory at the University of Washington at Seattle, assistant director for astronomical, geophysical, and earth sciences for the National Science Foundation, NSF, academic vice president and provost at Washington State University, Pullman, and was nominated for a six year term as director of NSF by President Carter in 1980. Slaughter recently accepted a position as chancellor of the University of Maryland, College Park.

All activities, except for a lunch and dinner/reception will be open to the public. Also attending the dedication will be members of the University's Advisory Council for the College of Science, who will be on campus for their regular meetings. Richard Conklin, Director of Information Services, and a member of the dedication committee, commented on the choice of Cronkite as moderator of the panel and degree recipient. "Cronkite has been associated with the coverage of the space program and host of "Universe" We were looking for someone the general public can relate to and who still has a scientific aspect to his career."
Jeffrey Jacob, associate professor of music at Saint Mary's College, recently became the first American to receive the Peking Conservatory of Music's prestigious Commemorative Medal. The Conservatory, China's largest and most prestigious music school, has not awarded the medal since 1949. A noted concert pianist, Jacob was awarded the prize during his recent two-week visit to the People's Republic of China. Jacob performed the world premieres of piano works written for him by Chinese composers, Chen Wanga and Guo Yao of the Peking Conservatory of Music and Wang Li-San of Harbin University. — The Observer

French police said yesterday they mistakenly held two British tourists for three days as suspect drug traffickers because of a misunderstanding produced by the language barrier. Police patrolling a camp ground found a bag of white powdery drug the couple's side and asked if it contained "drogue" -- the French word for drugs. "Yes, dog," they replied, misunderstanding but appearing to confirm police suspicions that the bag contained heroin, police said. The two Polish tourists were quickly hustled off to jail and the "drogue" was sent to a laboratory for analysis, police said. On Monday the laboratory reported the powder was a dog repellent -- normally sprinkled on the ground to keep the animals away -- and the couple was released. — AP

Protestors march
Solidarity defies martial rule

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Thousands of churning Poles, bearing concussion grenades, tear gas, flares and water cannons, tried to march on Communist Party head­quarters, but riot police in Warsaw and demonstrated in at least three other cities yesterday to commemorate the second anniversary of the inde­pendent union Solidarity.

The disturbances in Warsaw, Warsaw, Nowa Huta, and Gdansk, the Baltic seaport where Solidarity was formed after strikes ended on Aug. 31, 1980, were the worst since anti-martial law riots engulfed over a dozen cities in May.

The protests, called by集团 leaders of the independent union to test the support for Solidarity, came despite stern warnings by officials who massed riot police, red-bereted paramilitary and regular army troops in the biggest show of strength since the early days of mar­tial law last December.

Demonstrators built barricades, hurled tear gas canisters at the police and dispersed and regrouped time and again. Witnesses said thousands of strikers in the Nowa Huta suburb of Krakow threw rocks at police. About 20,000 people were dispersed in the south­west city of Wroclaw.

One witness said, “We are being called all the time, but the injuries are severe. Some beatings, abrasions, some hands and knees chafed.”

Witnesses said police diverted crowds who got to within a mile of Communist Party headquarters. Police and army troops surrounded the buildings.

The witness said the crowd here was led by people carrying a huge banner saying "Solidarity Will Not Be Divided Or Destroyed,” and emblazoned with a portrait of in­ternal Solidarity leader Lech Walesa.

The major demonstrations died down in Warsaw at nightfall, but authorities promised to continue the crackdown on protesters throughout the city.

Situation in the rest of the country was unclear since authorities ap­parently cut telephone communica­tions between cities.

Blue clouds of tear gas hung over sections of Warsaw, and the sound of concussion grenades thrown at demonstrators shook buildings around Marszalkowska Street where thousands of unionists and their sup­porters marched shouting Solidarity slogans.

People rushing home took cover in doorways and behind trees, as traffic was rerouted, buses lined up and people were cleared from the streets by approaching column of riot police in vans backed by armored cars and water cannon.

Polish television broadcast crowd scenes in Warsaw and Wroclaw, commenting that those responsible have to “pay later.”

Mobile lights ready for ND-Michigan game

By VIC SCIULLI
Assistant News Editor

Preparations for the mobile lig­hting system for the Notre Dame Midwest Michigan game are well underway with only a few difficulties ex­pressed thus far; according to At­letic Director Gene Corrigan.

Corrigan believes that the preparation involved has not been very different from the normal day­game procedures. There will be a substantial increase in security for the game however, both inside and outside of the stadium.

The computerized lighting sys­tem provided by Musco Mobile Lighting Ltd. is sophisticated and powerful enough to illuminate the stadium to meet the requirements necessary for television cameras.

American Studies names Max Lerner to chair

Max Lerner, syndicated columnist and professor of human be­havior at the United States International University in San Diego, has been named a visiting professor and the first occupant of the W. Harold and Martha Welsh Chair in American Studies at the Univer­sity of Notre Dame, according to Timothy O'Meara, university provost. "The scope of Max Lerner's academic experience and the innovative nature of his scholarship amply qualify him for this new chair," O'Meara said. "His work blends the purposes of the mass media with those of the individual intellect."

According to Donald P. Costello, chairman of Notre Dame's American Studies department, one of Lerner's courses in American Studies will be entitled "America as a Civilization: An Update," celebrating the 25th anniversary of the publication of Lerner's best known book, "America as a Civilization." The purpose of the course, Costello said, is "to examine the American experience from the differing perspectives of 1957 and 1982."

Born in Minsk, Russia, Lerner emigrated to this country with his family in 1907 at the age of five. He holds law and social science degrees from Yale University, Washington University, and the Robert Brooks Graduate School of Economics and Government. In addition to having taught at Harvard University, Sarah Lawrence College, Williams College, and Brandeis University, where he was the dean of the graduate school, he has been a radio commentator, an editor of the Encyclopaedia of Social Sciences and editor of "The Nation," — The Observer

Freed sex offender taking poor health

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) - A 565-pound convicted sex offender who was freed after claiming he needed air conditioning and constant medical attention was recently seen smoking in a casino, according to evidence presented yesterday.

A doctor testified that Joseph "Jo-Jo" Giorgianni's breathing problems are mainly due to his obesity and that his life wouldn't be imperiled if he were sent back to prison.

Superior Court Judge Richard J.S. Barlow Jr. said he would issue a statement today regarding his decision after hearing summations by lawyers for the state and Giorgianni.

Giorgianni, 35, was released after serving one week of a 15-year sentence. He was convicted in 1980 of carnal abuse and desecrating the remains of a 14-year-old girl customer at his Trenton sandwich shop in 1978. He had been free on appeals until his imprisonment this summer.

Giorgianni says he suffers from chronic asthma and other respiratory problems and that he could die without constant medical attention, good air conditioning and a ready supply of oxygen.

The decision to free him provoked outrage, and Gov. Thomas H. Kean ordered state officials to help prosecutors get Giorgianni's prison sentence re-instated.

Giorgianni did not appear at yesterday's hearing. Prosecutors presented six witnesses who testified that Giorgianni's medical problems weren't as severe as he had alleged and that he could be kept at a state prison facility without danger to his health.

Assistant Corrections Commissioner Gary Hilton and the prison's health services coordinator, Alan C. Koenigsfeld, said there were staff doctors, nurses, psychiatrists, psychologists, dietitians and engineers who could handle Giorgianni's unusual needs.

Giorgianni's attorney, who said his client weighed 565 pounds, not the 500 estimated by prosecutors, called Simone McCarty, director of the Yardville Youth Correction and Reception Center, where Giorgianni was held.

When Giorgianni left the prison, Mrs. McCarty said, "He walked approximately 7 feet, and he said to me, "I don't think I'm going to be able to make it.'"

She said she administered oxygen to help make it to his air conditioned car for his return home.

Strikes delay schools in four states

By DAVID L. LANGFORD
Associated Press

Strikes by almost 6,000 teachers delayed the opening of some schools in four states yesterday, providing an extra holiday for about 100,000 students, while negotiations were still going on in many of the nation's large cities.

But a spokesman for the National Education Association expects less militancy at the schoolhouse door this year than last fall when there were 17 school strikes across the country.

"With the economy so depressed, there is a feeling of helplessness," said Mr. Carroll, the spokesman for the NEA, which represents about 1.7 million teachers. "There is an attitude of 'play it cool, stay in the foxhole.'"

Most schools aren't scheduled to open until next week after Labor Day, and contract negotiations appeared headed for the wire in some cities.

NEW YORK (AP) — Investigators looking into the gangland-style mur­der of a contractor who had cooperated in a federal investigation of Labor Secretary Raymond Donovan said yesterday they had found no link to the attempted mur­der of a former mob bodyguard.

Anthony Mongelli, the former bodyguard for the late mob boss Frank Tieri, remained in critical con­dition yesterday. He was shot Sun­day night as he sat in a car in the driveway outside his Brooklyn home.

Detectives, meanwhile, searched for fingerprints and other evidence in the getaway car used in the slaying of Nathan Masselli, who was also shot in his car. Masselli’s father was testi­fying in the renewed Donovan probe.

When Mongelli, a former Genovese family member, was found shot in the head late Sunday, there was speculation of a link to the Masselli case.

Authorities believe the attack on Masselli, which took place in front of hundreds of witnesses in a well­lighted playground, was bungled.

But Bronx District Attorney Marto Merola said that so far “I don’t know of any evidence of any links (between the murders).” Donovan insisted yesterday that he would be “fully cleared” of allega­tions he had ties to mobsters when he took over the Donovan’s conduct as top financial officer of Schiavone Construction Co.

Last Wednesday night Masselli, whose imprisoned father had been brought to Manhattan for question­ing by Silverman, was shot to death in his car in the Bronx.

Salvatore Odorino, a reputed member of the Gambino crime fam­i­ly and alleged to be one of three men who fired the scene of the Masselli slaying in a red Pontiac, surrendered Saturday. He has refused to talk to investigators.

Merola, whose office is coordinat­ing the investigation, said detectives had two other suspects but he declined to identify them. He would not say if his office was close to seeking arrest warrants.

Masselli was the second figure in the Donovan probe to be murdered. In June, former Teamsters union offi­cial Fred Furino, who had been in­terviewed several times by Silverman, was found shot to death in the trunk of his car in Manhattan. No suspects have been arrested.

In Philadelphia, where 21,000 teach­ers struck for 50 days last year, shat­tering 225,000 students out of class, a lawyer for the Philadelphia Federation of Teachers said yester­day, “we have no deal” on a new con­tract, nearing its schduled ad­judicaton yesterday without authorizing money considered cru­cial for school districts to begin serious talks with unions for 200,000 teachers. School is scheduled to be begun in two weeks in California.

In Flint, Mich., about 1,800 teach­ers didn’t show up for work yester­day. The teachers, who earn from $14,759 to $27,065 a year, are ask­ing for a 7.25 percent salary hike. The school board is offering 3 per­cent.

About 670 teachers walked out Monday in three other Michigan school districts — Novi, Highland Park and Bullock Creek. Schools remained closed for the 9,000 stu­dents of the Highland Park district, with classes in doubt for the 5,200 pupils in the two other districts.

In Illinois, strikes by 1,000 teach­ers in East St. Louis and another 650 in the Chicago suburbs affected more than 31,000 students.

The East St. Louis teachers, whose starting pay is $16,780, rejected an offer of raise of $1,600 a year.

I suspect the negotiating team will make the offer again to the teachers, said school superinten­dent Gerry Buckworth.

A week-long walkout by 1,200 teachers and staff members, mostly over pay, at six western Pennsylva­nia school systems has affected about 48,000 students.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Anger and uncertainty about Mexico's economic crisis swept through the capital on the eve of President Jose Lopez Portillo's final state of the nation address to Congress.

A 24-hour consumer's strike called by housewives to protest inflation was only partially effective. It followed a massive buying spree by panic-shoppers fearing food shortages and still-higher prices.

The consumers' boycott was called for in unsigned leaflets that were distributed throughout Mexico City during the past week.

"Housewives, let us unite to protest the country's alarming situation," the leaflets said. "Let us protest by not buying anything Aug. 31, trying also not to leave our homes ... Copy and distribute this leaflet as much as you can."

Many business and labor leaders expressed hope that Lopez Portillo's message at noon today would counter some of the uncertainty and rumors sparked by Mexico's worst economic situation since the 1910-1920 revolution.

Miguel de la Madrid, a 47-year-old Harvard-trained economist, will be installed as president Dec. 1 for a six-year term. The constitution bars a president from seeking a second term. Both Lopez Portillo and de la Madrid belong to the Institutional Revolutionary Party, which has been in power for 52 years.

"Let's hope the president's sixth report to the government coping the dooms and dis-information," Fernando Mariano Jass, president of the Mexico City Chamber of Commerce, told reporters.

After four years of increasing prosperity, the bottom fell out of the economy as world market prices began dropping last fall for Mexico's main exports of oil, silver and coffee.

In recent weeks, the government has asked for a 36-day postponement in payments of its $81 billion foreign debt — the highest among Third World nations — and again devalued the peso.

Of the $415 billion in dollar accounts with Mexican banks to keep people from taking scarce dollars out of the country and imposed exchange controls.

The peso, devalued twice this year, has fallen in value from 27 to more than 100 to the dollar. Inflation has zoomed beyond the 60 percent predicted for this year and unemployment continues to rise.

Rumors, ranging from a possible coup to new economic restrictions, went their rounds Monday and hoards of shoppers rushed to stores Monday night to stock up on staples.

Many gas stations in this city of 14 million ran dry as motorists filled their tanks. Supermarket shelves were depleted of cooking oil, milk, tortillas, bread and coffee.

Buying was so intense that some stores limited customers to one 2.2-pound bag of sugar.

"We had to restock shelves six times, especially cooking oil," said an exhausted employee at De Todo, a discount market.

"For the first time, Mexicans have stopped being apathetic," said Alma Escudero, 30, a housewife.

Draft resists termed danger to America

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Benjamin Saway, convicted of failing to regis­ter for the draft, represents a danger "to the community, indeed the country," and should remain jailed, according to federal prosecutors who are trying to block his bid for temporary release.

In seeking denial of bail for Sas­way, the U.S. attorney's office in San Diego on Monday compared the 21-year-old Vista man to drug traffick­ers and conscripts "who have not conformed their conduct to the dictates of society."

The government was responding to a motion, filed by Saw­ay's attorney, which asked the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for temporary release on bail pending sentencing on Oct. 4.

"It is difficult to imagine a more dangerous prospect for any com­munity," the government argued in its brief.

It froze $13 billion in dollar ac­counts with Mexican banks to keep people from taking scarce dollars out of the country-sector.

Mobil oil plan cash discount

Mobil Oil Corp. announced today it is recommending that its dealers in 11 Midwestern states, including Indiana, offer motorists a 4-cent a gallon cash discount on gasoline starting today.

"For the first time, Mexicans have stopped being apathetic," said Alma Escudero, 30, a housewife.

Draft resists termed danger to America

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Benjamin Saway, convicted of failing to regis­ter for the draft, represents a danger "to the community, indeed the country," and should remain jailed, according to federal prosecutors who are trying to block his bid for temporary release.

In seeking denial of bail for Sas­way, the U.S. attorney's office in San Diego on Monday compared the 21-year-old Vista man to drug traffick­ers and conscripts "who have not conformed their conduct to the dictates of society."

The government was responding to a motion, filed by Saw­ay's attorney, which asked the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for temporary release on bail pending sentencing on Oct. 4.

"It is difficult to imagine a more dangerous prospect for any com­munity," the government argued in its brief.

It froze $13 billion in dollar ac­counts with Mexican banks to keep people from taking scarce dollars out of the country-sector.

The peso, devalued twice this year, has fallen in value from 27 to more than 100 to the dollar. Inflation has zoomed beyond the 60 percent predicted for this year and unemployment continues to rise.

Rumors, ranging from a possible coup to new economic restrictions, went their rounds Monday and hoards of shoppers rushed to stores Monday night to stock up on staples.

Many gas stations in this city of 14 million ran dry as motorists filled their tanks. Supermarket shelves were depleted of cooking oil, milk, tortillas, bread and coffee.

Buying was so intense that some stores limited customers to one 2.2-pound bag of sugar.

"We had to restock shelves six times, especially cooking oil," said an exhausted employee at De Todo, a discount market.

"For the first time, Mexicans have stopped being apathetic," said Alma Escudero, 30, a housewife.

Michigan game demands more than stadium lights

If, like most people on campus, you decided to wait until the last possible second to return to school, you missed sort of a September 18 clash between Notre Dame and Michigan, which will be the first-ever night game in the 52-year history of Notre Dame Stadium.

Last Thursday and Friday, the company responsible for furnishing the lights, Musco Mobile Lighting Ltd. of Oskaloosa, Ia., brought the entire setup to South Bend for a "test run." And we are happy to report that everything went immediately expressed Observer the report that everything went a "test run." And we are happy to express the lights, Musco Mobile Lighting Ltd. of Oskaloosa, Ia., brought the entire setup to South Bend for a "test run." And we are happy to report that everything went smoothly, and the lights worked perfectly...inside the stadium.

Outside the stadium was a different story entirely.

When the announcement about the game was made last April, The Observer immediately expressed concern about the safety of the 59,075 who will be in attendance. The solution is easy: more banks and vandalism that night. Then, of course, fans also will become targets for crime and the unlit areas outside the stadium.

The situation is easy: more banks of lights are needed, these pointed to the unlit areas outside the stadium. Also, security patrols will need to be beefed up to guard against potential crime. The Observer hopes that the administration learned a valuable lesson last week and that these extra precautions will be taken.

But if the administration maintains its cavalier attitude towards the situation, a potentially joyous evening can very quickly become a tragic one.

The "Preppies" had only recently devastated the country. No one had ever been so crude, or so hideous. The alligator was their avat and their seal - the snuggness and horror of elitism.

Keith Picher
Writings on the Wall

But the Prince Preppy was happy and dauntless and sagacious. While his dominions were half unemployed, he summoned to his presence a thousand hale and light hearted designers from among the knights and dames of his court, and with these desired to keep a confusion of styles and colors in vogue. Their dress was expensive and typical of upper class luxury, the creation of the prince's own eclectic and august taste. His will resembled a gate of iron. He resolved that by no means (either to impress or repress) should one be caught in the sudden impulse to buy anything but preppy styles. The external world could take care of itself. The prince had provided clothes for leisure, for recreation, and for everyday. All such ridiculous clothes were "in." "Out" were the non-preps.

This rendition of Edgar Allan Poe's "Masque of the Red Death" suggests many of the shortcomings of "Preppyness," a condition which has recently infected the land.

Preeps are the style people who dress preppily. A non-prep can don nice clothing on occasion because he or she wants to look attractive. A prep would rather die than be caught in proletarian garb. The prep assumes that because he dresses better, somehow he is better. This kind of elitism is the backbone of the prep scene. The assumed message which the prep conveyed is this: "I have the bucks to blow on these clothes, and I'm proud of it!" Some preps contend that their luxurious and avant-garde tastes are justified. Why should anyone care how others spend their money? The Roman Catholic tradition (as well as the traditions of most other denominations) has long professed that an individual may spend money on personal and family needs, but that excessive wealth is not consistent with Christ's teaching. When we are someday asked by Jesus, "Where were you when I was hungry or thirsty or homeless?" we'll have trouble justifying our alligator socks and $40 dress shirts in the face of widespread hunger, thirst, and poverty.

Elitism is not, of course, an exclusively preppie phenomenon. Capitalism naturally effects the growth of our souls. Those who acquire valuable skills are richly rewarded, those who don't must live a second class existence. Indeed we are a nation of elites, and hence rarely reflect on our situation. The difference between a prep and a non-prep is mainly this: a non-prep buys clothes he likes when he needs them; a prep buys clothes because they are expensive and fashionable, though totally unnecessary.

Some preps assert that their style looks good, and are worth a little extra money. Personally, I think preppy colors are outrageous. Button down shirts cost several dollars more than button-downs. Shirts which sport the alligator are no more comfortable and good looking than those which don't. Preps want to display their status for everyone to see. I'm sorry they need such affirmation. A surprisingly high number of everyday men and women dress for the preppy style. While they are not genuine preps, they desire similar recognition. Those who lack money and influence can pretend to be someone else just by adorning themselves in stylish garb.

Since I am not a prep, I cannot pretend to fully understand their thoughts and emotions (thank God). I merely suggest that preps do not seem to be motivated by the most wholesome of ethical principles. Just as the Beatles once suggested that they were more popular than Jesus Christ, I hope that The Preppy will discover the Bible of our nation's youth.

The Observer
The nervous look on her face changed markedly. She seemed to forget that there was a place she had to be. The aura of cool pretension was replaced by friendly warmth and a smile. "Do you go to Notre Dame?" she asked.

"Yes, I do," I replied.

She proceeded to explain that she was a third year law student. She was delighted to meet another student of the people that I worked for, they wanted to know where I was from, what school I went to, etc. When I mentioned that I went to Notre Dame, the president of the council smiled and shook his head. He was a graduate.

An hour or so later, in the car, we were talking about Notre Dame. She had just graduated in 1967 and I had just begun my sophomore year, so we were talking about the changes in administration, the pros and cons of coeducation, virtually every facet of life including the dining halls and parlors.

Our memories differed because there were 11 years that divided us. But there was something that bound our two sets of memories together. I couldn't be sure.

During my lunch hour, I took advantage of the emptiness of the office to call my father. Towards the end of the conversation, I began to quietly cry. My boss, the Notre Dame alum, returned to work just as I was getting up the phone. He asked me if there was anything wrong. I said, "No," and left it at that.

"If you ever need anything, or need a place to stay, don't be afraid to call. It will never be a burden to us."

I think that moment I figured out what bound our two sets of memories together. I think that I also began to understand what the site of a wedding, the sip of a hot fudge shake and the beauty of the Golden Dome mean. They mean "family." And I am very proud to be part of that family.

Author's Note: This is dedicated to the Buhman, Creme, DeSanto, Crinnella and Roche families who reinforced my sense of belonging to the Notre Dame family by their faith and love.

Trivia quiz 48

Do you believe it? We're back! Of course, that means more music trivia to tantalize and tease.

Tim Neely

To introduce the untold, each Wednesday in this spot (barring unforeseen problems), I will present ten questions which will test your knowledge (or lack of it) on rock and rock music trivia. This week's offering consists of some "last" events in rock history. Actually, "most recent" is a better description as most of these are subject to change. All chart data quoted is based on those in Billboard magazine. And anyway, we go!

1. What act was the last to have two consecutive number-one albums? (rca, communications, and polygram)

2. How about the last to have three or more consecutive number-one hits? (rca)

3. And the last act to have a debut album hit number one? ( hepatitis c)

4. What was the last to have the number-one and number-two singles during the same week? (the rolling stones)

5. Also, what were the songs? ("nowadays i still feel good"")

6. What was the last top-ten single to be hit the number one spot? (richie sambora)

7. The answers to each week's quiz will be provided one week later with the new set of questions.

Featured artists of the week:

Bernard Lavater

"She's a woman who can make a man love her, and keep him at home, and make him do nice little things for her."

"Go-Go's"

"With Vacation, the Go-Go's have given their prominent driving style a smoother sound to push through, a studio sophistication that the debut did not have."

"What helped the Go-Go's was the late rise of Beauty and The Beat on the charts. Their proposed second album was postponed by a tour with the Police with a few tracks already completed."

"This is 'I Think It's Me,'" Ed Konrad says. "Scrooch's singing is mixed high and out front. The pounding rhythms move "Vacation" along its twangy guitar line out of the stereo and into popular radio."

"Carlisle's singing has never sounded so controlled. On "He's So Sherry," Scrooch's screeching voice is replaced by a mellow, soulful, honeyed tone that is clear, delicate, and has just the right amount of vibrato, and meshes well with the pale harmonic choruses."

"The Go-Go's maturity since their first album shows especially in lyrics, interpretation, and music on three cuts."

"Everything But Partysim" shows the group as it probably feels — relaxed at achieving their goal, but not forever the enjoyment they expected."

"Someday We'll Be Together" is another "We Got The Beat," but with enough feeling to make it memorable."

"I Think It's Me," a popular concert song that loses its spontaneity and vitality on vinyl.

Angels acquire John from Yanks

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — The California Angels announced last night that they have acquired pitcher Tommy John from the New York Yankees.

California will send three minor league players, to be named later, to the Yankees for the left-handed pitcher.

The 59-year-old John played seven seasons with the Los Angeles Dodgers prior to signing as a free agent with the Yankees after the 1978 season. He also pitched for the Chicago White Sox from 1965-1971.

John had two 20-win seasons for the Yankees, as he went 21-9 in 1979 and 22-9 in 1980 before a 9-8 campaign last year. His best of seven seasons with the Dodgers was in 1977, when he was 20-7 with a 2.78 earned run average.

A left-hander known for his slider, John is one of 20 pitchers to be a 20-game winner in both leagues.

John, who will join the Angels immediately in Detroit, is 10-10 this season with a 3.66 ERA in 30 appearances. His lifetime record is 235-169.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Graig Nettles hit a two-run homer in the ninth inning last night to give the New York Yankees a 3-2 win over the Minnesota Twins.

With one out in the ninth, Roy Smalley singled, and Nettles followed with his 17th home run of the year, a 375-foot shot to right field off Brad Havens. It was his fifth homer in the last eight games.

Ken Griffey gave the Yankees a 1-0 lead in the sixth with his 15th homer of the year, a 400-foot shot into the right field stands off Havens.

The Twins came back to tie it in the bottom of the inning with four straight hits off Guidry. John Castino doubled in the tie-breaking run to take the lead for good.

CHICAGO (AP) — Harold Baines doubled in the tie-breaking run to launch an eight-run sixth inning in which Cleveland committed three errors last night as the Chicago White Sox rolled to a 14-6 victory, extending the Indians' losing streak to six.

Braves 3, Phillies 0

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Tommy Boggs, pitching for the first time since injuring his shoulder April 20, threw six shutout innings as the Atlanta Braves downed the Philadelphia Phillies 3-0 last night.

Boggs, 2-0, who suffered a slight tear in his shoulder in the spring, allowed three hits, struck out two and walked two. Reliever Gene Garber completed the shutout to earn his 26th save.

The Braves took a 1-0 lead in the fourth inning without benefit of a hit against loser Ed Farmer, 2-5.

Claydell Washington and Dale Murphy walked opened the fourth with walks. After Bob Horner popped out, Chris Chambliss reached first on a fielder's choice, Washington advancing to third and scoring as shortstop Ivan DeJesus threw wildly past first base for an error.

Reds 2, Expo! 1

MONTREAL (AP) — Paul Householder stroked a one-out, ninth-inning single to score Dan Driessen from second base and lift the Cincinnati Reds to a 2-1 victory over the Montreal Expos last night.

Driessen's single led off the 14th inning. Against reliever Steve Delabar, he led off with a single, went to third on a single by Tom Brunansky and was intentionally walked.

Gary Ward then loaded the bases with a bunt single, but Gary Gaetti hit into a double play to take the pressure off Guidry.

Billie Jean loses in U.S. Open action

NEW YORK (AP) — Teenager Susan Mascarin, who was born the year Billie Jean King won her first U.S. Open title, eliminated the matriarch of women’s tennis 6-3, 6-2 yesterday in the opening round of America’s national championships.

In a evening match, second-seeded Chris Evert-Lloyd crushed Pilar Vasquez, 6-1, 6-0.

In men’s play, third-seeded Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia and No. 11 Mats Wilander of Sweden, the French Open champion, won their first-round matches.

The 38-year-old King, seeded No. 12, who won her first women’s doubles title here in 1964, was the sentimental favorite of the crowd at center court in Louis Armstrong Stadium. She won the first three games, breaking her 18-year-old opponent in the second.

After that, it was all Mascarin as she ripped off the next six games to win the first set, then closed out the match in 63 minutes.

It was the first time in three meetings that Mascarin had beaten King, although both of their other matches were close.

The tournament’s top seeds — No. 1 John McEnroe, the defending champion, and No. 2 Jimmy Connors, the Wimbledon champion, in the men’s singles, and No. 1 Martina Navratilova, heavily favored to capture her first women’s title — play their first matches today.

Lendl suffered a slight case of mid-match mistakes before defeating Ramesh Krishnan of India 6-4, 7-6, 6-1, while Wilander, playing in his first U.S. Open, began the two-week tournament by ousting Bill Scanlon 6-4,6-3, 6-1.

Lendl, who has won a single-season record $1.2 million this year, has yet to win a Grand Slam title — Wimbledon and the Australian, French and U.S. Opens. Against Krishnan, he questioned several calls in the second set as he faltered slightly, dropping his serve and going into a tiebreaker.

The strong Czech was beaten back on his first two set points, but then closed out the tiebreaker 8-6 with an ace.

He then breezed through the final set, admitting later that he had expected an easier match against the smooth-playing Krishnan.

"I'm happy I won (in) three sets," Lendl said. "I'm 22 (years old) and I feel good enough to win. If I don't, I'm not going to quit. I'll give it another shot.

"I was nervous at the beginning," he said. "After the second set, I felt great."

Wilander led a group of three Swedes into the second round. Also winning yesterday were brothers Hans and Stefan Simonsson.

Hans Simonsson, who had to qualify for the 128-player field, defeated Haroon Ismail of Zimbabwe 7-5, 6-1, 6-1, while Stefan outlasted Dick Iversen 6-7, 6-3, 5-7, 6-1, 6-1.

Wilander lost his serve in the sixth game of the opening set, but then reeled off the next five games to take the first set and lead 1-0 in the second. He broke Scanlon in the sixth game, the only break in the second set, then allowed Scanlon to hold serve just once, in the third game, in the third set before closing out the match.

Houston recalls Richard from minors

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Astros will gauge pitcher J.R. Richard's progress when he throws batting practice Monday, General Manager Al Rosen said.

Richard, one of baseball's most feared fastball pitchers before suffering a stroke two years ago, was promoted Monday from the minor leagues.

Rosen said it was possible that Richard would pitch for the Astros during September. "I wouldn't rule it out. I'd love to see him pitch, but it just depends on how he throws (batting practice)," Rosen said.

Richard will join the Astros effective today, when major league teams can increase their rosters from 25 to 40.

It is the second year in a row that Richard has been recalled. He has not pitched in the major leagues since the stroke.

Richard was ineffective in five starts with the Astros' Triple-A Tucson farm club. In five starts, he pitched only 18 2/3 innings and had a 14.95 earned run average. His record was 0-2. He yielded 28 hits, walked 27 batters and struck out nine.

The game, to be held at the ACC, will begin at 1 p.m. on September 18, just seven hours before the ND-Michigan showdown.

Proceeds from the event benefit the Logan Center, a private non-profit which offers community services to handicapped persons of all ages.

USFL job
Devine headed for Phoenix?

It seems the nomadic coaching career of former Notre Dame Head Coach Dan Devine will continue.

Reports from Phoenix, Ariz., suggest the 57-year-old Devine, who has not coached a football game since he left Notre Dame after the 1981 Sugar Bowl, is mulling over and probably will accept an offer to coach the Phoenix in the new United States Football League.

Devine, who was fired in 1974, was named NFC Coach of the Year, but was fired in 1978. He has not coached in the professional ranks since then.

In 1979, Devine was hired to coach the Fighting Irish and proceeded to lead Notre Dame to a National Championship in 1977; in only his third season at the helm. But he never was able to gain the acceptance and popularity that his predecessor, the legendary Ara Parseghian, enjoyed.

So after six seasons a 55-16-1 record and four bowl appearances, Devine resigned after the 1980 season and went into relative seclusion before surfacing to accept his current position six months ago.

Devine's name always seems to pop up whenever a coaching vacancy needs to be filled. Last year, Devine reportedly offered a five-year contract to coach the Broncos. Recently, he has been approached for the coach and GM jobs in San Diego if and when the city finally receives an NFL franchise.

The USFL will begin its 1985 season in March, 1985.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Knuckledraper Charlie Hough tossed a three-hitter last night to lift the Texas Rangers to a 6-0 victory over Kansas City, snapping the Royals seven-game winning streak.

Kansas City's loss, coupled with California's 11-0 triumphing of Detroit, reduced the Royals' first place margin over the Angels to an 1-0 romp over the Detroit Tigers last night.

John, 5-6, allowed only one runner past second in winning for the fifth time against one loss in his last 15 starts.

Reggie Jackson, who had three hits and three RBIs behind his 35th home run leading off the fifth to give the Angels a 5-0 lead. Detroit starter Jack Morris, 14-14, then walked Fred Lynn, gave up a double to Doug DeCinces and walked Dan Butler to load the bases.

Larry Parrish refused and uncorked a wild pitch, scoring Lynn. He then walked Grich to reload the bases and threw another wild pitch one out later, scoring DeCinces.

Spencer ineligible for upcoming season

Although he has not yet been confirmed close to The Observer have indicated that Notre Dame junior forward Barry Spencer will be placed on academic probation and will be ineligible to play during the 1982-83 basketball season.

Similar inquiries on fellow junior Cecil Rucker are expected to be resolved by the end of the week.
