Reagan tells Israel to yield

Thurman Carter visited a refugee camp in Lebanon yesterday when he was asked by a old Palestinian fighter if he would yield to any offering of land by Israel. "We are offering the entire region to Jordan," he said. "You will have to accept it." Carter's visit to Lebanon was part of a 10-day trip to the Middle East to assess the situation and to encourage peace efforts. He met with Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat to discuss the ongoing Middle East peace process.

Begin calls meeting on Palestinian problem

JERUSALEM (AP) - Prime Minister Menachem Begin called a national security meeting yesterday to deal with the President's plan for Israel to give Palestinians autonomy, but not an independent state, in the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip. The new U.S. plan linked the territories' future to Jordan and called for a "freeze" on Jewish settlements in the region. The Israeli cabinet was certain to reject it, as Reagan's letter was a call to abandon the role of mediator and offered no blueprint for the projected association with Jordan.

Reagan unveiled the plan late last night after telling Begin of its contents in a letter that drew quick protests in the Jewish state. Begin, who was resigned in the Mediterranean resort of Nahariya, called an emergency cabinet meeting for today. Afterward, he will confer with U.S. Secretary of State Caspar Weinberger, who is in Israel for a two-day visit.

The Israeli cabinet was certain to reject it as described in Reagan's demands. Reagan said: "The United States will not support the use of any additional land for the purpose of settlements. The United States will not support the security of any settlement freeze by Israel, more than any other action, could create the confidence needed for wider participation in these talks. "Further settlement activity in the West Bank and Gaza destroys the confidence of the Arabs that a final outcome can be fairly and fairly negotiated."

The appointment of new Notre Dame chairman and dean of the College of Arts and Letters faculty and staff have been announced. A new member of the Notre Dame faculty and a native of England, Professor Gordon A. Sargent, will direct metallurgical engineering and materials science. He comes to Notre Dame from the University of Tennessee, where he was a specialist in surface analysis. He also served at the Millin Institute of Pittsburgh after graduation from 1964 in the Institute of Advanced Study of the Royal School of Mines, Imperial College, London University.

Professor Neal M. Cason, a specialist in quantum electrodynamics and atomic physics, has been appointed director of the Notre Dame Department of Physics. Daniel C. Anderson, a professor of philosophy will be Thomas L. Whitman, associate professor and specialist in behavior analysis. He has been a member of the faculty since 1982.

George P. Shultz says U.S. government payments of Poland's debts to creditors in this country helps keep pressure on the martial law government there. Forming a debt relief deal with Poland to repudiate its debts, Shultz added in a letter he sent to Congress on Tuesday, the second anniversary of the founding of Poland's Solidarity trade union. Shultz's letter, released by the State Department late yesterday, says Poland has not made any move that would make it impossible for the United States to relieve the country's debt. Poland has generated a net financial flow from Poland to the west. The drain on the Polish economy, together with our economic sanctions, is fueling the Jaruzelski regime to pay a heavy price for the suppression of human rights and freedom in Poland. By contrast, a declaration of default at this time would be contrary to the national interest of the United States. — AP

Two die in Polish protest

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Martial law authorities said yesterday that riot police killed two demonstrators and arrested 4,050 in putting down Poland's biggest outbreak of violence under martial law. They promised "no leniency" for those behind the unrest that swept a dozen cities.

Authorities in Gdansk also recovered the body of a 22-year-old man with head wounds "in the region of disturbances" Tuesday called by Solidarity on the suspended independent union's second anniversary.

The English-language service of the official news agency PA said the man "may have been another casualty" of the protests and that an investigation was under way.

The wife of interned Solidarity leader Lech Walesa told reporters in Gdansk after visiting her husband that he opposed street roving but felt workers should fight authorities with "appropriate measures." She did not elaborate.

Solidarity's underground leaders called for the anniversary demonstrations and said they were a test of whether the union still had broad support.

Poland's martial law chief and Communist Party leader, Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski, met with his Military Council of National Redemption and assured a series of law-and-order decrees, the state television said.

They included:

Currency-exchange controls

Mexican banks nationalized

MEXICO CITY (AP) — President Jose Lopez Portillo yesterday ordered the nationalization of all private Mexican banks, which he said had "sacked" the nation. He also imposed currency-exchange controls to stop the flight of capital from Mexico during its worst economic crisis in half a century.

He ordered all banks closed Monday. Foreign-owned banks are not affected by the nationalization.

Lopez Portillo said he took the action "because the critical conditions now require and justify it. It is now or never. They have already sacked us. Mexico is not finished. They will not sack us again."

He acknowledged that the government already has frozen $12 billion deposited in Mexican banks. He criticized the United States for restricting its real estate in the United States.

"Mexico does not accept any scheme that would restrict the constitutional freedom of its inhabitants to leave. We will never accede to patrolling our borders," he said.

He criticized the United States for restricting its real estate in the United States.

The president said banks were taking money from the country against the nation's interests, and full exchange controls will be imposed. He gave no details on the controls, or how the nationalization would work.

The government already has frozen $12 billion deposited in Mexican banks to stem the exodus of dollars crucial to meeting the nation's $81 billion foreign debt.

In announcing his order over three hour speech to a joint session of Congress that U.S. and other foreign banks were not affected by the nationalization, the president said, "We are not involved in a witch hunt."

He acknowledged that Mexico's economic crisis, the worst since the 1910-1920 revolution, had led to continued flight by impoverished Mexicans seeking jobs in the United States.

"Mexico does not accept any scheme that would restrict the constitutional freedom of its inhabitants to transit or leave Mexico," he said.

There are no walls here. The presence of undocumented workers in the United States is a problem of real, existing demand of labor in that country.

The president said $22 billion in funds had left the country in the last two years, much of it going to U.S. saving accounts and to buy real estate in the United States.

Boston reporter jailed for refusal to testify

BOSTON (AP) — A reporter found in contempt of court for refusing to testify in a murder trial was hoping for a stay from a U.S. Supreme Court justice or a pardon from the governor after spending his first night behind bars.

Governor Edward J. King promised Tuesday to "review the case thoroughly" today and consider attorney Thomas C. Troy's request for a pardon for Paul W. Corsetti. The Boston Herald American reporter was returned to jail Tuesday evening to serve a 90-day sentence. Corsetti has been sentenced to a 90-day jail term for refusing to testify in a murder case.

U.S. Supreme Court Justice William J. Brennan Jr. could still grant a request for a delay of the sentence.

Corsetti, 33, was returned to jail Tuesday night after a 24-hour delay— granted Monday by a state Supreme Court Justice — passed with no word from Brennan.

Asked if he had ever considered giving in, Corsetti said, "No. I never changed my mind. I believe what I did was right."

they have not reached the status of first-class officers." Terry explained that one reason for allowing officers to be armed is that the expansion of the Notre Dame campus has caused greater concern for protecting valuable property from theft.

"We have identified our expansion, including the addition of the new Credit Union, the Snite Museum, and the WNDU station, as an added vulnerability," Terry stated.

"We had to develop a long-range plan in order to have trained people who can cope with potential problems.

In addition to some patrol officers being armed, there are other situations, such as football games, in which there might be several armed guards, Terry said.

"There is the further possibility that on other occasions, with a considerable amount of control, we could conceivably have officers serving special requests of other agencies," he added. For example, groups that have events in St. Joseph Center and have previously hired county police officers might employ Notre Dame security officers in the future.

Terry also said that the Security Department has been training investigators who might be using converted weapons, subject to his approval and that of Dean Roemer and others in the Administration.

When The Observer first contacted Roemer for a statement on the issue earlier this week, he said he was unaware of any county officers carrying guns. According to Terry, Roemer is aware of all security officers in the Security Department limiting the number of personnel who could be armed to the Security Director, the Shift Commander, and his relief.

"While there were some discussions in between, I don't think it was ever brought to the point that (Roemer) was aware of my utilization of first-class officers who would have the use of weapons," Terry stated.

"It was going to be a subject of discussion before school started, but the timing just did not allow it." He said that the current policy now has Roemer's approval.

Another area of the department's expansion involves the purchase of two new Dodge Diplomats. The purchase was based on a five-year plan submitted to Thomas Mason, Vice President for Business Affairs.

"In addition, we disposed of one car, the old Chevrolet station wagon. We are going to keep the old Ford as a spare, and we hope sometime in the next few months to have the pickup fixed so that it looks a little better," he added.

"Overall, Terry feels that the security staff's skill in handling cases is improving. "We feel that we do a sufficient amount of training so that our people can cope with problems better," he stated.

Commenting on whether more off-campus students are living in high-crime areas, Roemer said he did not get surveys of where high-crime areas are in the city. Roemer said that the current policy now has Roemer's approval.

The Mourabitoun, the largest Lebanese Moslem militia allied with the Palestine Liberation Organization, told its 1,500 fighters to comply with Prime Minister Shafik Wazzan’s normalization orders when they go into effect this morn­ing along the Green Line dividing Beirut into Moslem west and Chris­tian east. But the Israelis say the Mourabitoun must turn over its heavy weapons to the Lebanese army and evacuate west Beirut and that about 25,000 Syrian troops in the eastern Bekaa Valley must leave the country before the Israelis pull out.

The Israelis shot down a Syrian MiG-25 Foxbat jet in a dogfight over Beirut Tuesday, the first such clash since June 9, three days after the Is­raelis invaded. The Syrians claimed yesterday the jet was downed by an “enemy ground to air missile.”

In addition to confirming the remaining Syrians, the Israelis are emboldened in a new controversy over Reagan’s new plan for a “broader peace” in the Middle East. The Greek passenger ship Mediterranean Sun sailed out of the Beirut port at 12:08 p.m. (6 a.m. EDT), carrying the last batch of 635 PLO fighters, 45 women and 33 children bound for Terras.

Among the last evacuees were the PLO’s top security chief, Salah Khalid, better known as Abu Fyad, and chief of staff Brig. Gen. Salih Sarei, known as Abu Wulid.

As they set sail, exiled PLO chief Yasser Arabi arrived in Greece on a visit before flying to Tunis to set up a PLO political office at the Arab League headquarters.

Wehinger was in Lebanon when the last stage of the PLO exodus was completed under the supervision of U.S. Marines in charge of the Beirut port. But his path did not cross that of the departing guerrillas.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Teenagers wanting abortions could suffer an added “crisis of will respect and dignity” under Indiana’s new abortion notification law, according to testimony yesterday from a counselor who has dealt with a similar law in Minnesota.

Indiana’s law, like Minnesota’s, requires doctors who perform abortions and two pregnant minors. Lawyers for Planned Parenthood Federation of America are arguing the case.

The constitutionality of Indiana law is being challenged in federal court by Planned Parenthood Affiliates Association of Indiana, two doctors who perform abortions and two pregnant minors. Lawyers for Planned Parenthood Federation of America are arguing the case.

The Hobson’s choice between telling parents about a teen-age pregnancy or going to court to get a waiver is sometimes disastrous for minors seeking abortions, said Katherine Welsh, a counselor and administrator of the Midwest Health Center for Women at Duluth, Minn.

“The most painful part for these young women is that this (pregnancy) has been the most major dramatic secret they’ve ever had, and now they have to share it publicly and sometimes be reprimanded by a judge for not using birth control,” Ms. Welsh said.

In the year since the Minnesota law has been in effect, Ms. Welsh said her clinic has performed over 60 abortions on minors where a court waiver was obtained.

She said that in many cases, the court proceeding left patients so agitated that they required tranquilizing drugs if the abortion was to be performed on the same day. Ms. Welsh added that the tension cause by the hearing can make the abortion procedure more painful and difficult for patients.

Ms. Welsh said the Indiana law was likely to elicit the same response from teen-age abortion patients.

She also cited delays of up to two weeks under the Minnesota statute, which requires that both natural parents of a minor abortion patient be notified.

Dr. Richard Schmidt, a Cincinnati obstetrician and gynecologist and former president of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, testified later in favor of the law.

“I can see no rational basis for putting abortion in a different framework from other medical procedures for minor children,” Schmidt said, adding that the new law will give doctors a valuable standard to follow on whether to notify parents.

In earlier testimony, Henry P. David, a psychologist and director of the Transnational Family Research Institute at the University of Maryland, said, “I believe we will have more second-trimester abortions and more children born to women who do not want them” under the Indiana law.

The law, which took effect yesterday, is patterned on a Utah law. Similar abortion laws are either in effect or in the legal process in Massachusetts and Minnesota.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration is ready to impose penalties on a British company that plans to ship pipeline equipment manufactured with U.S. technology to the Soviet Union.

A Soviet freighter in the port of Glasgow, Scotland began Tuesday to load 500 crates of turbine parts produced by the John Brown Engineering Co. of Glasgow. The parts are intended for use in the trans-Siberian natural gas pipeline to Western Europe.

State Department spokesman John Hughes said here that "measured" and "appropriate" punitive action will be taken by the Commerce Department against John Brown as soon as legal determination is made that the parts have been shipped, even though the exact nature of the penalty remains to be determined.

In California, White House deputy press secretary Larry Speakes said no decision has been made about what action would be taken against the British firm.

He said Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige and Secretary of State George Shultz in Washington talked with national security adviser William P. Clark in Santa Barbara by telephone Tuesday. The State Department said the tion, but he never was willing.

The proposals faced virtually certain rejection by the government of Menachem Begin and there was no indication how King Hussein would view this effort to bring him into the peace process.

Reagan said the American commitment to Israeli security "is ironclad," and departing from his released text he added that he had followed Israel's struggle for survival, recalling that the Jewish state once was only 10 miles wide as spots. "I am not about to ask Israel to live that way again," he said.

The president interrupted his vacation and flew to Burbank to make the speech.

Administration officials described the president's address as "a major new peace initiative." Reagan called full Israeli withdrawal from the West Bank and Gaza, in exchange for Arab recognition of Israel's right to exist and security guarantees.

Don't waste your potential to love others

Happiness can't come solely from others, and that makes us feel better about ourselves, so we show our love even more, which makes us feel even better about ourselves! Growing toward this kind of lifestyle means gaining a lot of things, the most important things in life: happiness, security, character, strength. It may also mean changing a lot of one's ways. But, it's not simple fighting, attempting to fulfill our urge for love, and need for happiness. The way that this capitalististic society can lead us to believe that people may not be as happy as they can be here is our concern. People are all so wrapped up in their own little world of love to realize that it is crucial to love: if that potential is not being realized in so many cases it is to me the greatest of human tragedies. We at Notre Dame, young, intelligent, and hard working, have so much of this potential. Let's not waste it!

The axe fell for five former Notre Dame players at NFL teams during the last round of the draft. Linebacker Bob Golie, who started several games for the New England Patriots last year, was cut by the Patriots, who were led by the league's worst team. Golie, a second-round draft choice in 1979, had figured to be a key member of the Patriot's linebacking corps, especially after the retirement of Steve Nelson. Adell, a native of nearby Ipwich, Mass., was not chosen in last spring's draft. Elsewhere, linebacker Steve Heinmier was cut by the Baltimore Colts, wide receiver Rais Haines was given his unconditional release, and Greg Keck, a quarterback back in his playing days at Notre Dame, was cut after attempting to hook on with the New Orleans Saints as a right end. — The Observer

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Young Bob Stanger earned co-medalist honors with 36-hole totals of 149 yesterday as the field was trimmed for match play in the 82nd U.S. Amateur golf championship.

Bob Lewis, a 34-year-old veteran, fired a 1-over par 73 at The Country Club to go with his 2-under 68 at nearby Charles River Country Club Tuesday.

Stanger, 23-year-old former Duke captain and now an assistant coach at his alma mater, was unable to duplicate his first round 69 at the host club, but was happy with a 72 at Charles River for a share of the medal.

After dropping a field of 282 survivors of sectional play throughout the nation, Lewis and Stanger will lead 64 candidates into grueling match play. Two rounds are scheduled for today and two more for tomorrow, with the semifinals Saturday and a 36-hole championship set for Sunday.

However, only 65 berths were decided before darkness halted play last night. Thirteen players, tied at 152, will play off for the one remaining berth in the match competition early today.

He was runner-up for the national medal at the national and since then, he has been a consistent performer in the U.S. Open. In 1982, he set a goal of finishing in the top 10 in match play. He worked hard and was very confident going into the tournament.

summer that Grooms knew for certain that he would be returning to South Bend. His transfer surprised a lot of people and didn't exactly cause jubilation among the coaches at Miami. "They weren't too happy, to say the least," says the quarterback. "They have to sign a release to put me back on scholarship here, and they haven't yet." As it stands now, Grooms will have to finance the costs of this semester until Miami officials concede to sign the release.

In the meantime, Grooms is practicing with the Irish squad, but will sit out the 1982 season, leaving him with two years of eligibility. Grooms is making progress under Ron Hudson, the new quarterback and receiver coach from UCLA. "Coach Hudson has helped so much in just this past week and a half," praises Grooms. "The coaches had told me a lot of my problem was inconsistency, but now I'm improving a lot. Coach Hudson has helped everybody with their confidence and ability to play. He's optimistic with all the quarterbacks and a great asset to our football team."

This is not Grooms' first encounter with Hudson. When Grooms was in high school, the coach recruited him for UCLA. Though Hudson didn't succeed in signing the hot prospect, he nevertheless established a good rapport with him. Ironically, both ended up at Notre Dame.

"I really feel I can play here," comments Grooms. "I'm sure Coach Faust will play his best quarterback, and if it happens to be me, then I'll play. I just want to do what I can to help the team."

inter-divisional match-ups.

Bob Horner drove in two runs as the resurgent Atlanta Braves held on to their National League West lead by downing the Philadelphia Phillies 4-0.

Rick Camp, who began the season as a reliever and wasn't used as a starter until mid-June, posted his 11th victory against seven losses, surrendering eight hits in seven innings. Gene Garber relieved in the eighth after Camp gave up a pair of singles, and picked up his 27th save.

The Pirates ran came on Jason Eichelberger, 7-11, who spent three weeks on the disabled list with a shoulder injury, hurled his seventh complete game of the year while driving two and striking out one.

Falcone, 7-8, walked four and struck out five in recording his second complete game of the season. He lost his shutout with two outs in the ninth when Ashby hit his ninth home run.

The 15-game losing streak was one longer than a streak by the Minnesota Twins which extended from May 19-June 2, and matched the second longest in Mets' history. New York lost 17 in a row during 1962, their first year.

NEW YORK (AP) - Upsets knocked out two of the top players from the men's ranks yesterday, while defending women's champ Tracy Austin crushed Catherine Tavano of France in opening-round matches at the U.S. Open Tennis Championships.

Second-seeded Jimmy Connors took a first-set tiebreak 7-5 en route to defeating Jeff Borowiak 7-6, 6-2, 6-3. In eight matches, the tournament's top seeds, John McEnroe and Martina Navratilova made their 1982 debuts at the National Tennis Center.

Fritz Buehning ousted fifth-seeded Vitas Gerulaitis 6-4, 7-6, 6-3 and Kim Warwick of Australia eliminated No. 7 Jose Luis Clerc of Argentina 3-6, 6-4, 1-6, 6-1, 7-6, while Austin was beating Tavano 6-2, 6-1 when the 17-year-old French woman twisted her right ankle and couldn't continue.

In the fifth-set tiebreaker, Warwick took the opening point, breaking Clerc with a cross-court backhand service return. He raced to a 4-0 lead, breaking Clerc again when the Argentine's cross-court forehand was called wide. Clerc won the next point, before a break in play. After a 17-minute rain delay as she took on-teenage Canadian Lauren Price, Warwick volleyed a winner and hit a backhand service winner. That gave the New Yorker a 2-0 lead over Gerulaitis.

Fritz Buehning broke the flamboyant Gerulaitis in the opening game, racing to a 3-1 lead. But the blond New Yorker won the next two games, breaking Buehning in the sixth game and tying the score 3-3 before the match was delayed for 75 minutes by rain.

When they returned to the center court in Louis Armstrong Stadium, Buehning broke Gerulaitis' service again, then served out the set.

The two battled through the second set, each losing serve once, before going into the tiebreaker. Buehning, ranked 56th in the world, didn't put any pressure on this year's defending champion, who is seeking her third U.S. Open singles title.

The McEnroe-Gullikson match, which was tied 3-3 in the first set, was halted when a bank of lights on the east side of the National Tennis Center's Louis Armstrong Stadium went out. Twenty-five minutes later, as electricians worked to restore the lights, it began raining and the match was postponed.

Earlier, Navratilova weathered a 17-minute rain delay as she took only 44 minutes to trample DuPont 6-1, 6-1. Because of the rain, 12 first-round matches scheduled to be played on the outer courts were postponed until today, including fifth-seeded Hans Mandlikova of Czechoslovakia, the runner-up here in 1980, against Australian Sue Loo and No. 16 Zina Garrison, the 1981 U.S. Open junior girls champion, against Michaela Padservova of Czechoslovakia.

Martina Navratilova had no problems downing Laura DuPont in her opening round match of the U.S. Open tennis championships last night, but defending champion John McEnroe's match with Tim Gullikson was plagued by a power outage and rain and was delayed until Thursday.

In the American League, the contended Tigers were striking distance of each other, as the top teams in the east all won, and the two leaders in the west both lost. Nothing is close to being settled, especially on a schedule that saw the Milwaukee Brewers playing Boston and Baltimore — in second and third, respectively, only 1-3 times before the season closes.

In Detroit, Alan Trammell drove in three runs with a two-run triple and Lon Whaley supplied a squeeze hit. Detroit Tigers defeated the California Angels 5-3.

Chicago’s Wayne Garland got the game’s only hit off Rainier—7, 9-7, who was reactivated from the disabled list on Aug. 9, allowed nine hits in 8 2-3 innings. He struck out four runs after there were two outs in the sixth inning.

Greg Luzinski started the rally with a lead-off single to right just before the White Sox opened the lid on their 1-0 lead. The Red Sox made it 2-0 with a bunt double off Cleveland starter Dave Righetti, 8-7, took the lead.

Further west, Gary Gaetti and Kent Hrbek each knocked in a pair of runs and Al Williams hurled a sixrun no-hitter to lead the Minnesota Twins to a 2-2 victory over the New York Yankees in the Metroland last night.

Gaetti’s two-run triple and Hrbek’s two-run double highlighted Minnesota’s 5-3 victory over the New York Yankees. Starter Dave Righetti, 8-7, took the loss.

Al Williams, 6-7, was rocked for a 4-2 four-foot single inning solo homer by Jerry Murphy. But little could stop that.

Mickey Hatcher led off the Minnesota third with a single and went to second when Dave Righetti’s pickoff attempt was wild. John Cas-tino followed with a single, and Tom

Franzmann bounced into a double play with Hatcher scoring. With two outs, Hebbé and Gary Ward singled and Gaetti tripled both home for a 3-1 Minnesota lead.

The Twins added three more runs in the fourth. Rocky Mitchell and Lenzy Fiedler led off with singles and Derringer gave way to relievers George and Frank Mitchell who scored Hatcher reached base on third baseman Graig Nettles error and Hatcher followed with a two-run double.
