Cluster bomb

MARLBORO, N.Y. — The independent student newspaper serving North East and Saint Mary’s
FRIDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1982
VOL. XVII, NO. 27

BEIRUT, Lebanon — An unexploded cluster bomb that landed at Beirut airport yesterday, killing one U.S. Marine and wounding three others who tripped through its field of fire, U.S. military spokesmen said.

The casualties were reported after several hundred Marines waved smoke to help guard the field just reopened by President Amin Gemayel.

One of the survivors was in serious condition with groin injuries and the other two wounded, the spokesmen said.

The casualties were the first suffered by the Marines since they were deployed in Beirut this summer to help in the evacuation of Palestinian Liberation Organization guerrillas from the Israeli-occupied city.

The Marines returned Wednesday on their second peacekeeping mission.

President Reagan reacted with "shock and outrage," the spokesmen said; the casualties would have no effect on the U.S.’s commitment to Lebanon until Israeli and Syrian troops are out and the government is in control, White House Press Secretary Larry Speakes said in Washington.

Gemayel officially opened the air port after a nearly four-months shutdown because of concern before U.S. and French peacekeeping forces in which he proclaimed Lebanon’s capital a "united city," free of Israeli troops in both the Moslem western sector and the Christian eastern sector.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opiumopeopled for an evening of political partying, Congress abandoned its race against the clock yesterday to keep the government from going hungry on the first day of its new fiscal year.

The House of Representatives and Senate reached agreement on a compromise spending measure they said was soon to be approved today, and a Reagan administration spokesman said there probably would be no interruption of regular government operations.

Although agreement on the compromise bill came several hours before the midnight deadline, congressional leaders decided against a late-night session to pass the measure on an evening when major social events were scheduled for both Democrats and Republicans.

The Democratic Party had a $1,000-per-person fundraising dinner scheduled for mid-evening, while social events were expected to attend. And Presi­dent Reagan had a post-election dinner with Congress to a barbecue at the White House in what amounted to a country­toned event dominated by Republicans.

The stopgap spending plan will keep the entire government in busi­ness until Dec. 1, thereby assuring a potential showdown with congressional leaders in which lawmakers will debate the specter of money bills that have not yet passed.

See CLOK, page 5

Cyanide poisoning

Tainted Tylenol kills three

ARLINGTN HEIGHTS, Ill. (AP) — Three people in two Chicago suburbs died of cyanide poisoning after swallowing tainted capsules of Extra-Strength Tylenol, and a search began yesterday for the source and extent of the contamination. Nearly 4.5 million pills were promptly recalled by the manufacturer.

A fourth person was hospitalized in extremely critical condition, apparently after taking one of the capsules.

Robert Kniffin, a spokesman for McNeil Consumer Products Co., the manufacturer of Tylenol, said the company had been notified that two bottles of Extra-Strength Tylenol Capsules—"have been tampered with and cyanide poison added to some of the capsules."

In a statement, Kniffin said no product from lot M52880 should be bought or consumed until further notice, adding that the company has no evidence any other product was contaminated.

He said the recalled lot contained 95,000 bottles of 50 capsules each and that they had been distributed east of the Mississippi as well as in North Dakota, South Dakota, and in part of Wyoming. The expiration date was April 1984.

Two large drug chains, Jewel-Osco Drugs and Walgreens, announced an immediate halt in sales of the product in their Midwest stores. Store officials said they would decide later in the day whether Extra-Strength Tylenol off store shelves.

Food and Drug Administration spokeswoman Fayre Peterson said in Washington that investigators had been sent to the Pennsylvania plant where Tylenol is made. "We are still gathering information," she said.

Dr. Edmund R. Donoghue, deputy assistant medical examiner of Cook County, said two brothers in Arlington Heights and a 12-year-old girl in neighboring Elk Grove Village died within 11 hours of each other Wednesday from cardiac-pulmonary collapse after taking Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules. He said an investi­gation "definitely confirmed the presence of cyanide" in the over the counter pain reliever.

Donoghue identified the tarnished Tylenol as lot number M52880 in 50-capsule containers, and added, "We don’t know the extent of the contamination, but we don’t think anybody should be taking Extra-Strength Tylenol at all."

The two brothers died at 1:15 p.m. and 8:15 p.m. (CST) Wednesday as a result of cyanide poisoning. The child died at approximately 10 a.m. Wednesday. The neighboring suburbs where they lived are about 23 miles northwest of downtown Chicago.

"There is no relation between the households and that’s why we find this to be disturbing," Donoghue said. He added, "It would be foolish to assume that the bottles were tampered with in the home."

"It is impossible to tell when the tampering occurred," said Dr. Max Haid Schaffer, chief toxicologist with the medical examiner’s office. "We tested three capsules from each con­tainer of 90 and one of the three from each contained cyanide.

Support the investigation

"The investigation began Wednesday following the death of 12-year-old Matt Kelleher, who had been taking Extra-Strength Tylenol because of a cold. She was found un­conscious in her home, and died after being brought by paramedics to Alexander Brothers Medical Center in Elk Grove Village."

"All we know is that she had a cold and a sore throat, said Shirley Gar­ ley, a spokeswoman for the hospi­tal.

The brothers were identified by a spokeswoman at Northwestern Com­munity Hospital in Arlington Heights as Adam Janus, 27, and Stan­ley Janus, 25.

Boy Daites, a spokesman for the Cook County coroner’s office, said autopsies would be performed. The presence of cyanide was determined through preliminary tests.

Seven other members of the Janus family were treated at the hospital, but six were being kept "for ob­servational purposes and apparently were not poisoned," hospital officials said.

See TYLENOL, page 5

Stopgap spending bill passed before deadline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opiumopeopled for an evening of political partying, Congress abandoned its race against the clock yesterday to keep the government from going hungry on the first day of its new fiscal year.

The House of Representatives and Senate reached agreement on a compromise spending measure they said was soon to be approved today, and a Reagan administration spokesman said there probably would be no interruption of regular government operations.

Although agreement on the compromise bill came several hours before the midnight deadline, congressional leaders decided against a late-night session to pass the measure on an evening when major social events were scheduled for both Democrats and Republicans.

The Democratic Party had a $1,000-per-person fundraising dinner scheduled for mid-evening, while social events were expected to attend. And Presi­sident Reagan had a post-election dinner with Congress to a barbecue at the White House in what amounted to a country­toned event dominated by Republicans.

The stopgap spending plan will keep the entire government in busi­ness until Dec. 1, thereby assuring a potential showdown with congressional leaders in which lawmakers will debate the specter of money bills that have not yet passed.

See CLOK, page 5

Student burned in London accident

By TIM VERCELLOTTI

A student in Notre Dame’s Arts and Letters London Program is presently hospitalized for burns suffered in an accident that oc­curred earlier this week, according to a university official.

Isabel Charles, postulant postulant and director of Notre Dame’s foreign study programs, said last night that Lynn Mallooy, a junior from Chicago, Ill., received burns early Tuesday morning when her earring caught fire in a gas heater in her room at the Hotel Veiona, the student residence in London.

Mallooy is now in the burn unit in Mt. Vernon Hospital, in Northwood Middlesex, an area northwest of London, Charles said.

"She just put it on, the earring on the women’s building at the hotel complex, and was next door at the time of the accident and heard Mallo­oy’s cries, “She came in and wrapped Lynn in her clothes. The fire was put out very quickly,” Charles said.

Pizz and Prof. Richard Foley, director of the London program, took Mallooy to a London hospital. She was burned in the burn unit at Mt. Vernon, Charles explained.

"She has been in excellent care there," Charles said.

Though the extent of Mallooy’s injuries is yet undetermined, "She has passed through the 48-hour critical period very well," Charles noted.

According to Charles, Mallooy has spoken to her parents by telephone, and her parents plan to fly to London this weekend to be with her.

Charles said that she is too early to tell whether Mallooy will return other studies in London. "There has been no time for discussion as to the time of recuperation," she explained.

The present is not a time for putting out the fire. "It was extraordinarily good that Sister Jane was so close. She performed her duties very well," Charles said.
News Briefs

Friday, October 1, 1982 — page 2

The condition of Kerin Mannion has improved and she is expected to make a full recovery. Mannion was removed from the intensive care unit of the hospital yesterday after his condition had improved from serious. Mannion’s father, who is also a hospital staff member, said he was “overwhelmed” with relief.

Jewelry once owned by convicted murderer reclaimed

The jewelry once owned by convicted murderer Michael Thevis was recovered by police after a tip from a tips line. The jewelry was stolen from Thevis in 1978 after escaping from a maximum security prison. The police believe Thevis may have sold the jewelry to help pay for his escape.

American Motors Corporation

American Motors Corporation will close an assembly line at its Toledo, Ohio, Jeep assembly plant next month, temporarily idling 1,000 hourly workers there, a company spokesman said yesterday in Detroit. Lloyd Northard said the one-week shutdown of one assembly line will help the No. 5 U.S. automaker adjust inventories of its CJ Jeep line. AMC sales of Jeeps in August were down 1.6 percent from 42,794 the year earlier. Some 1,350 hourly workers at the Toledo plant already are on indefinite layoff, Northard said. — AP

The arrest of a man who allegedly used Doberman pinschers to burglarize houses in Mineola, New York, has closed the case:

The arrest of a man who allegedly used Doberman pinschers to burglarize houses in Mineola, New York, has closed the case. Police said yesterday was an international operation headed by a group of world-renowned dog trainers. The police said the dogs were trained to open doors and windows and to break into houses, and that they have been linked to over 500 burglaries.

Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher will visit the Falkland Islands in February to celebrate 150 years of British rule:

Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher will visit the Falkland Islands in February to celebrate 150 years of British rule. The Prime Minister’s office said that she hoped to go to the Falklands to see for herself the island that she considers to be an integral part of the United Kingdom.

Actor Brooke Shields says her work for the American Lung Association’s anti-smoking campaign is personal, not professional:

Brooke Shields said her work for the American Lung Association’s anti-smoking campaign is personal, not professional. “I am participating as myself,” she said. “If I’m playing a part in a movie, it’s my profession. They are two different things.” Shields is a new face in the anti-smoking campaign sponsored by the American Lung Association of Connecticut. Shields, 17, who wore cigarettes in her early days as a model, is now a spokesperson for the campaign. She said she has received fair mail from teenagers saying they have quit smoking because of the anti-smoking campaign she took part in, adding, “It’s all been very positive.” After her appearance, Shields and her mother, Teri, climbed into a van for the drive to the nearby apple orchard in New Jersey. “She has school tomorrow,” her mother said. — AP

Partly sunny today and continued warm. Highs near 80.

Partly cloudy tonight and tomorrow. Lows tonight in the mid 70s. Highs tomorrow in the upper ’70s to around 80. — AP

---

Daydream Believers

Bruce Oakley Systems Manager

Inside Friday

He announced himself with drunken pride as a member of the class of ’82, and introduced the young woman he had as a roommate. He quickly misrepresented the old man as saying he was a member of the class of ’28, and began shouting something to his drunken friends about “this guy played for us in 1928.”

And he every memory the old man made into words, the young man had an under-the-breath comment for the smiling woman at his ear.

For the most part, the old man was too lost in his misery, marvellous recollections of an impossible place to catch the jest.

But I caught every illusion of arrogance issuing from this brisk, simpleminded man who received his degree from my alma mater. I found myself wanting to gesture the old man and prop him up in front of the old man, in order that I might say to the old man: “This is the part of your view of Notre Dame that is missing! This happens every weekend, to too many of us!”

I wanted to take the young fool to the Doner, in order that I might show from that Olympus: “This was a man of the minority at Notre Dame. He wanted me, not one of the few bad eggs he is one of the many drunks, arrogant children of the minority property and Northeast Neighborhood lawns every weekend. I wanted to take the young man and the old man and put them in a room together. I wanted the young man to absorb some of the old man’s love for the University. I wanted to take the young man’s condition would impress upon the old man that some of the Dolly’s glitter is just artificial light. As I was trying to arrive at a synthesis of the true meaning of my visit, the folly of the old man to his sheepskin.

I left Senior Bar that night wondering why I ever did not have tickets for the game. I told him my friend, one of those championship players, had a pair of tickets he didn’t need. My friend sold the old fellow the tickets at face value.

And so legends grow.

I left Senior Bar that night wondering why I ever did not want to change the ways of daydream believers, and thinking of the drunken man as a Destroyer of the peace of the old man. I thought of the young man’s condition would impress upon the old man that some of the Dolly’s glitter is just artificial light. As I was trying to arrive at a synthesis of the true meaning of my visit, the folly of the old man to his sheepskin.

I left Senior Bar that night wondering why I ever did not have tickets for the game. I told him my friend, one of those championship players, had a pair of tickets he didn’t need. My friend sold the old fellow the tickets at face value.

And so legends grow.

I left Senior Bar that night wondering why I ever did not want to change the ways of daydream believers, and thinking of the drunken man as a Destroyer of the peace of the old man. I thought of the young man’s condition would impress upon the old man that some of the Dolly’s glitter is just artificial light. As I was trying to arrive at a synthesis of the true meaning of my visit, the folly of the old man to his sheepskin.

I leftSenior Bar that night wondering why I ever did not have tickets for the game. I told him my friend, one of those championship players, had a pair of tickets he didn’t need. My friend sold the old fellow the tickets at face value.

And so legends grow.

I left Senior Bar that night wondering why I ever did not want to change the ways of daydream believers, and thinking of the drunken man as a Destroyer of the peace of the old man. I thought of the young man’s condition would impress upon the old man that some of the Dolly’s glitter is just artificial light. As I was trying to arrive at a synthesis of the true meaning of my visit, the folly of the old man to his sheepskin.

I leftSenior Bar that night wondering why I ever did not have tickets for the game. I told him my friend, one of those championship players, had a pair of tickets he didn’t need. My friend sold the old fellow the tickets at face value.

And so legends grow.

I left Senior Bar that night wondering why I ever did not want to change the ways of daydream believers, and thinking of the drunken man as a Destroyer of the peace of the old man. I thought of the young man’s condition would impress upon the old man that some of the Dolly’s glitter is just artificial light. As I was trying to arrive at a synthesis of the true meaning of my visit, the folly of the old man to his sheepskin.

I leftSenior Bar that night wondering why I ever did not have tickets for the game. I told him my friend, one of those championship players, had a pair of tickets he didn’t need. My friend sold the old fellow the tickets at face value.

And so legends grow.

I left Senior Bar that night wondering why I ever did not want to change the ways of daydream believers, and thinking of the drunken man as a Destroyer of the peace of the old man. I thought of the young man’s condition would impress upon the old man that some of the Dolly’s glitter is just artificial light. As I was trying to arrive at a synthesis of the true meaning of my visit, the folly of the old man to his sheepskin.

I leftSenior Bar that night wondering why I ever did not have tickets for the game. I told him my friend, one of those championship players, had a pair of tickets he didn’t need. My friend sold the old fellow the tickets at face value.

And so legends grow.

I left Senior Bar that night wondering why I ever did not want to change the ways of daydream believers, and thinking of the drunken man as a Destroyer of the peace of the old man. I thought of the young man’s condition would impress upon the old man that some of the Dolly’s glitter is just artificial light. As I was trying to arrive at a synthesis of the true meaning of my visit, the folly of the old man to his sheepskin.

I leftSenior Bar that night wondering why I ever did not have tickets for the game. I told him my friend, one of those championship players, had a pair of tickets he didn’t need. My friend sold the old fellow the tickets at face value.

And so legends grow.
New transfers adapt easily

By MIKE LEPRE
Staff Reporter

Transfer students at Notre Dame are adapting to life at the University more easily in 1982 than in past years.

"In the past, transfers have been treated as second-class students, but lately things are beginning to change for the better," remarked Annie Bodoh, director of transfer student operations.

Bodoh, herself a transfer student in a sophomore year, adds that in some cases transfers are taking advantage of their shortcomings. One example of this is in housing.

SMC clubs receive allocated monies

By MARY ANN POTTER
News Staff

A total of $4,400 will be allocated to the 20 Saint Mary's clubs that took part in Saint Mary's Allocation Night last night.

The money, which comes from student senate government, is granted to the clubs by the allocation committee. A representative from each club met with the committee during Allocation Night to discuss the financial needs of their club.

The allocation committee bases their decision on such things as the present need of the club, the population of students they work with, individual student government goals, and the funds that the clubs have been allocated in previous years.

Each club had to fill out an allocation form in order to participate in Allocation Night. This included, among other things, the club's constitution, past financial statements, and projected budget.

In addition to the allocation form, the club had to fill out a registration form, a new procedure this year. The registration form is used to keep current account of the club.

The number of organizations that applied for student government funds this year was about the same as last year. "We lost a couple from last year, but we did pick four new clubs," commented Michelle Santella, student government treasurer.

Each club or organization that participated in Allocation Night will be notified within a week of their exact allocation for the school year. The clubs have the right to appeal the committee's decision to Student Body President Kathleen Murphy within ten days.

Lee's

B-BQ & Ribs

Special Friday and Saturday
10pm - 1am

Get one 32 pitches with every dinner purchased.

1123 So. Bend Ave.
No phone orders
CAMPUS VIEW APARTMENTS

Roemer issues alcohol plea

By TIM VERCELLOTTI
News Editor

Campus View Apartments residents have been asked to be "more prudent and temperate in the use of alcohol" on their premises, in a letter sent by Dean of Students James Roemer earlier this week.

The letter, sent out on Monday, said, "Several serious incidents have arisen from the abuse of alcohol at the Campus View Apartments. Keen ears and large parties drinking and large changings contests have attracted the attention and consequently the attendance of many campus residents, most of them unregenerate."

"We appeal to you of the Christian dignity and decency to be more prudent and temperate in the use of alcohol on your premises."

"There have been a number of serious alcohol abuse cases coming out of Campus View," Roemer said yesterday.

Roemer said he sent 100 copies of the letter to John Wilson, manager of the apartments, who distributed them among the over 500 residents living at the complex.

In mid-September two on-campus residents were apprehended by South Bend police after one alleged to break a window at a service station near Campus View. The two students, charged with criminal mischief and public intoxication, reportedly were coming from a party at Campus View at the time of the incident.

"You can have your life altered drastically as a result of this behavior," Roemer said in reference to alcohol abuse.

In the letter, Roemer suggested that students observe the following guidelines:

"Limit the size of parties to a reasonable number; serve plenty of food, such as chips, pretzels, dips and vegetables; have soft drinks available for those who prefer such; conclude parties in reasonable hours so that people do not drink to excess; and avoid the large kegger party, which can easily result in someone drinking excessively."

UNITED NATIONS (AP) - Secretary of State George P. Shultz called on Israel and Arab nations yesterday to accept President Reagan's proposal to join in peace negotiations and end the Middle East conflict that is "a searing wound on our consciousness.

He also told the General Assembly the Palestinian people have an "undeniable" claim to a homeland "a place with which they can truly identify."

Shultz did not directly criticize Israel, which rejected the Reagan initiative. But he said there can be no peace for Israel until the "legitimate rights of the people of Palestine are met."

"Of the nations in the world that need and deserve peace, Israel surely holds a pre-eminence," Shultz said. "Of the peoples of the world who need and deserve a place with which they can truly identify, the Palestinian claim is undeniable."

The secretary said there is "no contradiction between permanent peace for Israel and the legitimate rights of the Palestinian people. Neither can be achieved without the other."

Shultz devoted a major part of his first speech to the General Assembly to the Middle East crisis. He spoke after Israel's foreign minister, Yitzhak Shamir, voiced new criticism of the Reagan plan.

Shultz introduced his prepared remarks to announce to the world body that he had just learned a U.S. Marine had been killed, and several others injured, in Beirut earlier in the day.

He said U.S. troops "are there to speed the moment when all foreign forces depart from Lebanon." He called for an early agreement on a timetable for withdrawal of foreign troops and the restoration of Lebanon's independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity.

Shultz planned to meet later in the day with the foreign ministers of Egypt, Jordan and Syria to push Reagan's peace initiative.

In his address, Shultz criticized Soviet behavior in Afghanistan and Poland but said the Soviets have joined the United States "in a serious, businesslike effort at arms control" in talks in Geneva, Switzerland.

He said it is a "global imperative to halt, and reverse, the global arms buildup," and he asserted that the United States is doing its part.

"I can report that we are fulfilling our responsibility to seek to limit and reduce conventional and nuclear arms to the lowest possible levels," he said.

The Irish Gardens
is your Screw your Roommate Headquarters
Stay on campus and save $5 by letting us take care of your flower needs
Delivery to ND-4m ND-4M available
Daily Specials!!!

The Irish
M-U-M-S (6867)
to place an order

Dial M-U-M-S (6867)
to place an order
Locate the Nazz
in the basement of
La Fortune

Hours: 12:30-5:30
FRIDAY OCT. 1, 1982 -- PAGE 4

UNITED NATIONS (AP) - Secretary of State George P. Shultz called on Israel and Arab nations yesterday to accept President Reagan's proposal to join in peace negotiations and end the Middle East conflict that is "a searing wound on our consciousness.

He also told the General Assembly the Palestinian people have an "undeniable" claim to a homeland "a place with which they can truly identify."

Shultz did not directly criticize Israel, which rejected the Reagan initiative. But he said there can be no peace for Israel until the "legitimate rights of the people of Palestine are met."

"Of the nations in the world that need and deserve peace, Israel surely holds a pre-eminence," Shultz said. "Of the peoples of the world who need and deserve a place with which they can truly identify, the Palestinian claim is undeniable."

The secretary said there is "no contradiction between permanent peace for Israel and the legitimate rights of the Palestinian people. Neither can be achieved without the other."

Shultz devoted a major part of his first speech to the General Assembly to the Middle East crisis. He spoke after Israel's foreign minister, Yitzhak Shamir, voiced new criticism of the Reagan plan.

Shultz introduced his prepared remarks to announce to the world body that he had just learned a U.S. Marine had been killed, and several others injured, in Beirut earlier in the day.

He said U.S. troops "are there to speed the moment when all foreign forces depart from Lebanon." He called for an early agreement on a timetable for withdrawal of foreign troops and the restoration of Lebanon's independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity.

Shultz planned to meet later in the day with the foreign ministers of Egypt, Jordan and Syria to push Reagan's peace initiative.

In his address, Shultz criticized Soviet behavior in Afghanistan and Poland but said the Soviets have joined the United States "in a serious, businesslike effort at arms control" in talks in Geneva, Switzerland.

He said it is a "global imperative to halt, and reverse, the global arms buildup," and he asserted that the United States is doing its part.

"I can report that we are fulfilling our responsibility to seek to limit and reduce conventional and nuclear arms to the lowest possible levels," he said.

The Irish Gardens
is your Screw your Roommate Headquarters
Stay on campus and save $5 by letting us take care of your flower needs
Delivery to ND-4m ND-4M available
Daily Specials!!!

The Irish
M-U-M-S (6867)
to place an order

Dial M-U-M-S (6867)
to place an order
Locate the Nazz
in the basement of
La Fortune

Hours: 12:30-5:30

FRIDAY OCT. 1, 1982 -- PAGE 4

UNITED NATIONS (AP) - Secretary of State George P. Shultz called on Israel and Arab nations yesterday to accept President Reagan's proposal to join in peace negotiations and end the Middle East conflict that is "a searing wound on our consciousness.

He also told the General Assembly the Palestinian people have an "undeniable" claim to a homeland "a place with which they can truly identify."

Shultz did not directly criticize Israel, which rejected the Reagan initiative. But he said there can be no peace for Israel until the "legitimate rights of the people of Palestine are met."

"Of the nations in the world that need and deserve peace, Israel surely holds a pre-eminence," Shultz said. "Of the peoples of the world who need and deserve a place with which they can truly identify, the Palestinian claim is undeniable."

The secretary said there is "no contradiction between permanent peace for Israel and the legitimate rights of the Palestinian people. Neither can be achieved without the other."

Shultz devoted a major part of his first speech to the General Assembly to the Middle East crisis. He spoke after Israel's foreign minister, Yitzhak Shamir, voiced new criticism of the Reagan plan.

Shultz introduced his prepared remarks to announce to the world body that he had just learned a U.S. Marine had been killed, and several others injured, in Beirut earlier in the day.

He said U.S. troops "are there to speed the moment when all foreign forces depart from Lebanon." He called for an early agreement on a timetable for withdrawal of foreign troops and the restoration of Lebanon's independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity.

Shultz planned to meet later in the day with the foreign ministers of Egypt, Jordan and Syria to push Reagan's peace initiative.

In his address, Shultz criticized Soviet behavior in Afghanistan and Poland but said the Soviets have joined the United States "in a serious, businesslike effort at arms control" in talks in Geneva, Switzerland.

He said it is a "global imperative to halt, and reverse, the global arms buildup," and he asserted that the United States is doing its part.

"I can report that we are fulfilling our responsibility to seek to limit and reduce conventional and nuclear arms to the lowest possible levels," he said.
Friday, October 1, 1982 — page 5

Tougher laws proposed

Drunk driving bill nears passage

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate yesterday nears final passage of a bill aimed to prompt states to toughen their laws against drunken driving, the leading cause of highway deaths.

The legislation, passed Wednesday by the House on a voice vote, offers $312 million over the next three years to states that adopt strict laws against drunk drivers.

The Senate was expected to adopt the House measure in order to get the bill to the White House for President Reagan’s signature before passage of a bill designed to prompt drunken driving, the leading cause of highway deaths, the Senate would adopt the more comprehensive House measure in order to speed the legislation along until the president.

Pell and the House sponsors, Reps. James J. Howard, D-N.J., and Michael D. Barnes, D-Md., argue the legislation is needed because drunk drivers are responsible for nearly half the 50,000 highway deaths each year as well as $125,000 permanent injuries.

Both the president and the independent Transportation Safety Board have expressed support for the flight against drunken drivers.

“Americans are outraged that such slaughter can take place on our highways,” Reagan said last spring when he created the task force to study the issue. “The mood of the nation is ripe to make headway to soldition for a first offense and a one year license suspension for any repeat of any state.”

The measure in order to speed the

The bill also authorizes $2 million to put the National Driver Registry in computers so states can determine whether an applicant’s license has been revoked elsewhere. This would prevent anyone who lost a license on drunken driving charges in one state from obtaining a license in another state.

The legislation does not require the states to cooperate, but provides the financial grants to those that do.

---

Bikers raise money for cancer research

By BOB JOHNSON

Bike riders will be pumping their pedals for cancer research at the Notre Dame Stadium on Saturday, Oct. 2. The “Wheels for Life” bike-a-thon is being sponsored by the Alpha Phi Omega chapter of Notre Dame.

Riders will start bicycling around the outside of the stadium at 9:00 Saturday morning and continue for three hours. John Clements, president of the fraternity, said that Saturday “promises to be a nice day, so there should be a nice turnout.” He expects about 25 riders. The partic-pants will try to complete as many laps as possible since pledges are made per lap.

Money raised by the fraternity is donated to St. Jude Children’s Research Hospital in Memphis, Tenn., for cancer research.

This will be the second year that Alpha Phi Omega has sponsored the bike-a-thon. Because of scheduling conflicts with other activities, the event was not held last year.

The fraternity sponsors several other events on campus throughout the year, such as Ugly Man On Campus (UMOC) and the blood drive. Alpha Phi Omega is a service fraternity with open membership.

---

The Observer

Santa Batten, 39, celebrated her birthday Wednesday by reaching the top of her training ladder at London Fire Brigade Training Center to become Britain’s first full time professional firefighter.

(All Photos)
Vietnamese children airlifted

Friday, October 1, 1982 — page 7

The Observer

U.S. bound

Vietnamese children airlifted

HO CHI MINH CITY, Vietnam (AP) — Although he fought for more than two years to get his daughter out of Vietnam, staunchly took her in his arms yesterday and joined an airlift of 11 Vietnamese American children to the United States.

“I have never been happier in my life,” said Tanous, 42, tears streaming down his cheeks. The Vietnamese American father, who had not seen 15-year-old Jean Marie, his only child, for 14 years.

Tanous was the only father present for the American children’s arrival, which is sending 11 youngsters aged seven to 15 to relatives or sponsors in America. Nine Vietnamese relatives are also on the airlift, which is stopped over in Bangkok, Thailand, before continuing to the United States.

Vietnam said it is ready to grant “immediate visas” to all American children and relatives who want to go to the United States, and said it is the responsibility of the United States to take them.

Yesterday’s emigres were the largest group of orphering of land civilians to leave for the United States since Ho Chi Minh City — formerly Saigon — fell to the communists in 1975. They were documented as U.S. citizens. Vietnam says 26 more such children and 21 relatives will be flown out Oct. 7 in a program coordinated with eight U.S. volunteer agencies.

Most Americans are not eligible to emigrate automatically to the United States, although hundreds have left as refugees “boat people” or through a complicated U.S. sponsored program. The United States has said 86 children, including the 11 who left yesterday on an Air France flight, are documented U.S. citizens and eligible to emigrate.

Tanous, a civilian contractor during the Vietnam War, hugged Jean Marie at Tien Son Nhat airport and told her, “You are going to America... Are you really? Do not be afraid.”

“I just feel sick at all the important years of her life I missed,” he said, adding he hoped other fathers will follow his example and take in their American offspring. Tanous divorced his Vietnamese wife, whogoes by the name of the national Falan group. (AP Photo)

Panel discussion

Cronkite to moderate panel discussion

Walter Cronkite from CBS will moderate a panel discussion tomorrow in the Stowe Museum on the influence of American universities, industry, and government.

The panelists are Rep. Don Fuqua, chairman of the U.S. House committee on science and technology; John Hanley, chairman of the board of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; Dr. Stuart Rich, dean of physical sciences at the University of Chicago; and Dr. John Slaughter, director of the National Science Foundation.

The discussion will be from 10 a.m. to noon in the Annenberg Auditorium of the Stowe Museum, and is open to the public.

The discussion is in conjunction with the dedication ceremonies for the Stepan Chemistry Hall. The dedication itself will be at 4 p.m. in the Memorial Library Auditorium.

Cronkite and the other panelists will receive honorary degrees.

The keynote address of the dedication will be given by Dr. D. Al len Bromley, chairman of the board of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Bromley will also receive an honorary degree.

Nursing department caps 44 tomorrow

By MICHOLE MADDEN

News Staff

The St. Mary’s Nursing Department will have its annual capping ceremonies tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the Church of Loreto.

This year there are 44 participants. The women are all juniors who have been accepted into the nursing program.

The ceremony is a traditional event. The capping represents not only a hallmark of achievement for the women, but especially a pledge of service to mankind, notes Dr. Mary Marrucci, chairman of the nursing department. In taking the Nightingale Pledge, the Saint Mary’s women indicate a willingness to devote themselves to nursing and adopt it as a lifestyle.

The nursing program at Saint Mary’s is relatively new. The first class of nurses to graduate was in 1977, and each class consists of usually between 65 to 51 students.

After acceptance into the ranks, the women will work closely with individual patients in community hospitals throughout the remaining two years. After graduation, they must take state board exams in the state in which they wish to practice.

About one half of the nurses go on to graduate and administrative work. Marrucci is very enthusiastic about the capping because it represents not only a big career step, but a decision to dedicate themselves to that decision.

Old Fashioned Home Cooking At Its Best!

* If You Are Looking For Something Unique and Different
* Homemade Pie, Bread, Salads, & Rolls
* By Foot Salud Bar
* "Nutri" "All You Can Eat Special" Choose from Roast Beef, Turkey, Chicken, BBQ Rib, Frog Legs & Lake Perch. Serves Steak.
* Open Menu—Always Available
* Elegant, Good Prices — 850 Seats
* Bonnevue, Gifts & Homemade Goodies

Sat. morning brunch—75 items under $5.00—8 am - 2 pm
We will accept your reservations to guarantee immediate seating.

Come Carline

Open Daily 11 A.M. - 9 P.M. Saturday 8 A.M. - 9 P.M.
Closed Sundays — Except Easter, Mother’s Day, Father’s Day 132 E. Jefferson Blvd. Mishawaka Indiana 255-8044 from Notre Dame south on Rdgy. 8 min. to Jefferson - east 10 min.

Ricardo Romero is hugged by his son, Robin, prior to his surrender to Federal authorities in Denver on Wednesday. The FBI identified Romero as the leader of the radical FALN group. (AP Photo)

United Way at N.D. Participation Chart

RATIO IS NO. OF STUDENTS CONTRIBUTING $200 OR MORE DIVIDED BY TOTAL NO. OF STUDENTS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>ALUMNI</th>
<th>BADIN</th>
<th>CARROLL</th>
<th>CAVANAUGH</th>
<th>DILLON</th>
<th>FARLEY</th>
<th>FISHER</th>
<th>FLANNER</th>
<th>GRACE</th>
<th>HOLY CROSS</th>
<th>HOWARD</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

UNIVERSITY WAY 1981

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>KEENAN</th>
<th>LEWIS</th>
<th>LYONS</th>
<th>MORRISSEY</th>
<th>PANGBORN</th>
<th>PASQUERILLA E</th>
<th>PASQUERILLA W</th>
<th>ST. EDWARD</th>
<th>STORIER</th>
<th>STANFORD</th>
<th>WALSH</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

UNIVERSITY WAY 1982

|        |       |       |           |          |             |             |           |        |          |       |

Note: Some of the data may be missing or incomplete due to the nature of the document.
In recent weeks rumors have surfaced regarding a controversial research project undertaken by Associate Professor A. Murty Kanury from the College of Engineering. Several questions have arisen concerning the involvement of the student body and the potential impact on the community as a whole.

Patrick Mulligan

In a document released August 10, 1982 the Department of Information Services describes Kanury's project as follows: "A University of Notre Dame engineer is conducting research which seeks to find out the blast pattern of a scale model city built in a western desert. This is the most effective means of studying how a nuclear explosion would affect a modern city."

The project, underwritten by a $49,730 grant from the Department of Defense entails extensive research into the "unknown effects" which would follow a nuclear explosion. In a document, the project continues: "We know now that the flow around an isolated, single body is predictable. But what if we have a structure, such as a cylinder, in the wind? And what if a child is standing next to, or in back of it? Will the child be more dangerous for the blast wave?"

Obviously, the research is intent on "augmenting quantitative knowledge" of urban conditions in the aftermath of a nuclear explosion. The February 21st memo from the President of the University reports that the Department of Defense could use the "informational research" in their urban blast research. Could this study be used to enhance the effectiveness of offensive nuclear warfare? Consider this excerpt from the September 30, 1982 edition of the National Catholic Reporter: "When asked if the information could also be used to deduct the destructive effects of nuclear weapons, or learn how better to place them, Kanury said, "Within a few years, the average makes a decision in this regard..."

Gregory Swiercz

In October 1982, the well known actor, John Travolta, decided to take his career to the next level by playing a part in a nuclear explosion in the movie "Pulp Fiction." The movie has been criticized for its use of nuclear imagery, but Travolta defended his decision, saying, "I feel it's important to address the issue of nuclear war in a new way."

The Coalition for Peace, a group comprised of environmental activists and concerned citizens, has discussed the possibility of a "nuclear explosion" in the context of the war on terrorism. Dr. Murty Kanury, from the College of Engineering, said, "We must come together to prevent such conflicts before they escalate into something far worse."
INSIDE: Rolling into East Lansing

The Irish Extra

The Observer Sports Supplement
Friday, October 1, 1982

Tougher than it looks

Faust knows Michigan State is better than the record shows

By CHRIS NEEDLES
Sports Editor

EAST LANSING, Mich. — His team is 2-0, and is on a roll. The opponent is 0-3, after suffering three narrow defeats.

But as undefeated Notre Dame prepares to take on winless Michigan State at Spartan Stadium here tomorrow, Irish Coach Gerry Faust is worried.

"They scare me," Faust says. "This is going to be one of the toughest games all year for us."

"Their record is not indicative of how good they are. They're well-coached and they could easily be 5-0 with a couple of breaks."

No, Gerry Faust has not gone crazy. The Spartans are indeed the best 0-3 football team in the nation. Their main problem, though, has been not offensive or defensive maladies.

You see, MSU plays a schedule that only the Marquis de Sade could love. So far, the Spartans have lost to nationally ranked Illinois (23-16), Ohio State (31-10) and Miami, Fla. (25-22). And after the Irish come to town this week, Michigan State must travel to Ann Arbor to face Michigan.

By then, Coach Muddy Waters will no doubt have lost all of his already-white hair.

"If we can live through the first five games of our schedule," said Waters before the season, "we can be a tough team. But we will have to be very good very early to survive them."

The Spartans have been good, but not quite good enough, in their first three games. Against Illinois, MSU was stalled inside the ten within 1:18 to go on route to a tryng touchdown. The Spartans and Ohio State were tied 10-10 in the fourth quarter before a fumbled punt return opened the floodgates for three late Buckeye scores.

And last week, Miami scored on a fourth down, in the fourth quarter before a fumbled punt return opened the floodgates for two late Buckeye scores. And last week, Miami scored on a fourth down, in the fourth quarter before a fumbled punt return opened the floodgates for three late Buckeye scores. And last week, Miami scored on a fourth down, in the fourth quarter before a fumbled punt return opened the floodgates for three late Buckeye scores.

So, what can we expect of the Spartans tomorrow? Will they come out on fire to atone for the last three weeks, or will the effects of three heartbreaking defeats drain them of every ounce of spirit?

It is this unknown that scares Gerry Faust.

See TOUGH, page 11

Struggling with himself

John Leister tries to regain the winning ways he used to know

By DAVE DYE
Sports Editor

"John Leister can be his own worst enemy." — teammate Tom Piette.

EAST LANSING, Mich. — He could put 20 cents in a phone, dial up a number, hear a busy signal, then turn around in a disgusted way, putting all the blame on himself. He would say that he should have called two minutes earlier or maybethree minutes later.

But it would be his fault. That is just John Leister's nature.

He has a tendency to be Vince Lombardi to himself. Or, better yet, the Great Santini.

When John Leister makes a mistake — anything even resembling one — he must answer to a most vile figure.

 Himself.

"Yeah, I've seen that," says MSU offensive coordinator Steve Schottel, who worked closely with Leister last season as the quarterback coach. "John gets on himself a lot. If our offense fails, John Leister never blames anybody but himself."

His year of 1981 was by all tokens a disappointment. The one who MSU coach Muddy Waters "wouldn't trade for any quarterback in the country" suddenly found himself traded for the one who had been playing backup to him: Not John Elway, Not Dan Marino, Not Art Schlichter. But Bryan Clark.

Leister, a 6-2, 180-pound senior, was dealt a season of hardship. He bruised a thigh muscle in the opening game, and hobblled for weeks. Later in the year, his year of 1981 was by all tokens a disappointment. The one who MSU coach Muddy Waters "wouldn't trade for any quarterback in the country" suddenly found himself traded for the one who had been playing backup to him: Not John Elway, Not Dan Marino, Not Art Schlichter. But Bryan Clark.

Leister, a 6-2, 180-pound senior, was dealt a season of hardship. He bruised a thigh muscle in the opening game, and hobblled for weeks. Later in the year, his year of 1981 was by all tokens a disappointment. The one who MSU coach Muddy Waters "wouldn't trade for any quarterback in the country" suddenly found himself traded for the one who had been playing backup to him: Not John Elway, Not Dan Marino, Not Art Schlichter. But Bryan Clark.

But what had to hurt most was that he was the best player on the field. Even with a talent level which had shocked the nation a year before — when often he was the best player on the field.

"Very disappointing season," says Leister.

"At times I thought I did really well and at times I thought I shouldn't even be playing high school. I tried to force the big play every time I got my hands on the ball."

"I didn't really lose my confidence but there sure were times when I really wondered. I'd search for answers. The answers were right there. I just had to write down."

Leister's past is such that it is hard for him to settle down when every time he looks up at the scoreboard, his team is behind. Since third grade, he has played football — almost always

See LEISTER, page 11
Rudzinski battles for a starting spot...and a chance to face the Spartans

By WILL HARE
Sports Writer

Rudzinski is going home this weekend. But, unlike his sophomore year two seasons ago when he started regularly as a lineman, the Farmington, Mich., native may not be wondering if he will play at all against Michigan State. It all begins in the spring. You see, Rudzinski missed the entire spring practice with a shoulder injury.

Enter Rick Naylor.

Rudzinski's injury allowed Naylor a chance to step in at the strongside lineman position. Naylor jumped on the opportunity, impressing Linebacker Coach George Kelly enough to earn the starting spot.

"With the shoulder injury, I missed all of this spring," says Rudzinski. "That's what hurt me the most as far as my starting role is concerned." Because I missed the spring, Rick excelled and that's where things turned around. He won the spot and I just didn't win it back from him this year.

It has been a difficult season so far for Rudzinski, adapting to a new role as a substitute. He failed to appear in the Michigan game and was called in to the Purdue game only after Naylor was shaken up.

Against Purdue, Rudzinski obviously showed his desire to avoid the bench as much as possible. He bloated with animal-like intensity and helped shut down Purdue's passing game in the second quarter.

"I was fired up to get in but Rick got hurt," adds the lineman.

"You have to be ready to jump in because they (the coaches) might call on me at any time. I was happy to play but it's a shame Rick got hurt."

He especially would like to play against Michigan State. Paul Rudzinski, Joe's older brother, started at lineman for the Spartans and played for the Green Bay Packers until being cut this season.

"When my brother played there," says Rudzinski, "I went there (Spartan Stadium) every Saturday for the home games. A lot of Michigan State is in my blood. I came very close to going there. My brother played there all the time and as a kid, visualizing myself playing in the same turf that he did always stuck in my mind. This may be the biggest game of the year for me."

Joe Rudzinski

...Leister

continued from page 9

...for a champion, almost always the hero.

His father, James, is a retired Colonel from the U.S. Army which may explain even more so the seriousness John places on himself.

"Last year I got frustrated, mad at myself," he says. "If the team couldn't do it, I was going to. I didn't have a good time. I pressed myself, worried so much about everything. Heck with that..."

After a sophomore year of throwing for 1,559 yards and 10 touchdowns, and being named honorable mention All-Big Ten, what happened in 1982 caught most by surprise.

He still threw for more than 1,000 yards and completed nearly half of the passes. However, it was far from convincing one to turn down a snap with Stanford, Pitt or Ohio State. Simply, a lot more was expected out of No. 18 from Great Falls, Mont., than was received.

Now, he says he is wiser. A busy signal will not demoralize the end of sources. An interception won't mean the end of mankind. Leister, who nearly transferred after Davey Rogers left for Arizona State, is ready to hop up and not fall down this time around.

"I've always been the type that nine times out of ten, I'd get on myself more than the coach," says Leister. "I get to be more calm and keep my wits on. I'm not going to be able to just change it. I'm just going to try and let some of it run off my back."

"I'm looking at this year like I'm going to have fun. Do everything to win, but have fun." He's a perfectionist," said Waters. "When things go wrong he really gets upset. I think he's overgrown.

How important that factor is to MSU cannot be measured — no other reaches that far."

"He's our No. 1 man," says Otis Grant, one of his top receivers. "If he has a great season so will our offense. Based on how the quarterback does.

"I got the best receivers in the nation," Leister says. "What our offense needs is for me to stay in the pocket more and not roll out and panic like I did."

"It seemed like when the pocket crumbled, I'd try to break out. That's not how our passing game works. I've got to sit back there and maybe take a sack once in a while. But not panic and give an interception.

"And if I throw an interception, it won't be the end of the world. What I'll do is go tackle the guy and take the ball right back."

Meet the new John Leister. Busy signals now, get laughs.

***

The words of Otis Jones could not have been more prophetic.

Leister moved over the 3,000-yard career passing mark, and into second place — behind Ed Smith — on the all-time leading Spartan passer list. But things have been as rocky as the stats make it seem.

In the first three games of 1982, John Leister has completed just 41 percent of his passes, has thrown only two touchdowns while tossing six interceptions.

Michigan State, meanwhile, is 0-3.

It's almost a sure bet that the performance of John Leister tomorrow afternoon will determine the winners of a game between the Spartans and the Hawkeyes.

"If John has a habit, it's that he tries too hard," says Waters. "He thinks he has to carry the weight of the world on his shoulders, and that's a tough job. We have been working with him — with some success — on waiting for the play to develop, then throwing.

"No one can have a perfect secondary, but it's vulnerable. We will have to go to the air, because they shut down the run so well. That puts even more pressure on John."

"But I think he'll be all right.

If he is all right, Leister and his teammates may have cause for a big celebration.
Friday, October 1, 1982 — page 11

IRISH EXTRA — MICHIGAN STATE

... Tough

continued from page 9

"They really concern us," he says. "They're a well-coached team and they're very quick and very strong. Their schedule has been unbelievable, but they always get ready for Notre Dame."

"They're going to kill — hopefully after our game."

The key to the Michigan State attack is, without a doubt, senior quarterback John Leister. The 6-2, 187-pound Leister has had a rollickercoaster career at MSU, and even in his career against Notre Dame.

It was Leister who, two seasons ago, nearly single-handedly beat Dan Devine's Sugar Bowl-bound Irish at Spartan Stadium. The Great Falls, Mont., native filled in the air that day with 52 passes (out of only 62 total offensive plays) and although he completed only 11, he covered 204 yards and was only intercepted once in the session dished 20-21 Irish victory. The Notre Dame secondary was beat on deep patterns often that October afternoon.

But Leister came down to earth in the 1981 rematch. He completed just 4-10 passes for only 41 yards before he was benched in favor of Bryant Clark.

So far this season, Leister has been a disappointment. But his stats — 41 percent completions, six interceptions and only two touchdowns — don't tell the whole story. The Spartans have been outscored 51-0 in the fourth quarter in three games this year, and each time it has been Leister's inability to make the big play or lead the big drive that has contributed to their demise.

Faust, not one to hurt anybody's feelings however, still speaks highly of Leister.

"Leister is an excellent quarterback," says Faust. "We remember what he did in Notre Dame two years ago. He has tremendous wide receivers, the best we've faced this year. He also has an excellent veteran line to give him protection."

The Spartan receivers certainly are top notch. Two of them, seniors Otis Grant and Ted Jones, combined to catch five passes for 81 yards in the 1980 game. Grant is without question Leister's No. 1 target, as he's caught 14 passes for 268 yards (nearly 20 yards a catch) this year. In addition, he's shared Leister's only two touchdowns.

On defense, the Spartans are led by linebacker James Neely, a South Bend native who has recorded 12 tackles and 5-1/2 sacks. The MSU defensive front line is no slouch either, and will be tough to run against — just ask Miami, which needed four rushing plays to gain one yard for the winning touchdown to beat the Spartans last week.

Notre Dame will counter this defense with fullback Phil Carter (210 yards in two games), who figures to see much more playing time because of the injury to backup Greg Bell in last week's 28-14 victory over Purdue. Faust, not one to hurt anybody's feelings however, still speaks highly of Leister.

"They really concern us," he says. "They're a well-coached team and the personnel and manifestation of this unique team is the Notre Dame cheerleaders."

This might seem like a tough task for 35 students, but with the help of fellow students and alumni, it is a job well done. In speaking with co-captain Paul Bautista and Paul Pineda, both Pines Bautista and Pineda organizes and leads the squad.

Unlike most schools, the Notre Dame cheerleaders come from all over the country and world. (Synthetic Boggo is from West Georgia.) Instead of practices over the summer, impossible, so they return to campus early, practicing up to six hours a day.

Once classes start there is a marked difference in the practice atmosphere. During the year we practice two hours a day, except on Sundays. And once the reality of classes and work sets in there is definite buildup of tension at our practices," explains Bautista. As a pre-med major, she has had to budget her time around cheerleading very carefully. "At times it isn't easy. Things will go along smoothly, and then you will be hit with a couple of tests. Then that panicky feeling sets in and you think, "What am I doing!""

A typical football weekend for the squad begins with the pep rally on Friday night and ends with the game on Saturday. The weekend can be both physically and emotionally draining.

They get in uniform at about 10:30 in the morning and try to get the fans pumped up by performing on the quad. Then they go to the stadium and cheer at the game which lasts until 5 o'clock.

The Michigan weekend was especially draining on the squad, due to the inclement weather and the long, drawn-out build-up to the game. "Our squad is in really bad shape right now after that Michigan weekend. Some of us have steep throat and a cold. I think that after that night game we all prefer the after-new ones. We literally went all day — until about 12:30 at night." Bautista states. Bautista herself is nursing a foot injury, acquired during practice, which will take about two more weeks to heal.

Being a cheerleader for Notre Dame involves much more than dance routines and mount. With appearances at alumni pep rallies and other schools, their visibility is much more important for the public relations of the University.

As representatives of the school the have much more responsibility than the presenting a positive image of Notre Dame to the community. A lot of people draw their conclusions about the Notre Dame student body from us. We know that when we went to an alumni pep rally in Michigan we were really impressed with the Michigan State cheerleaders and thus with the student body as a whole, because via the cheerleaders one can get a glimpse of what the student body is like."

Bautista states.

In the past these interactions with other schools were limited due to a lack of funds for travel. But for the first time this year the cheerleaders are receiving trip money from the Athletic Department though they are still not considered a varsity sport. They also receive a small allowance from student activities and St. Mary's. They will be traveling this year to Michigan State, Pittsburgh, the Meadowlands for the N.Y. game, and time of them will be going to the USC and Oregon games. The Oregon trip was somewhat of a surprise to the squad, but when the Oregon alumni club discovered that the cheerleaders were not coming, the club rallied around the flight out for the group. And of course a trip to a bowl game, any bowl game, is a trip that they all hope to make this January.

Shaking down thunder

Cheerleaders stay behind the Irish

By DONNA WITZLEBEN
Sports Writer

It is said that the toughest job in athletics is being the head football coach at Notre Dame. This is mainly due to the much heralded and impressive past of Notre Dame football. Rich with unsurpassed tradition and lore, football at Notre Dame has forever embodied the wholesome spirit of competition in intercollegiate athletics. The people responsible for the perpetuation and manifestation of this unique sport are the Notre Dame cheerleaders.

The Irish are out to make this game a trip that they all hope to make this February.

The passing game also is in good shape, with quarterback Blair Kiel calling the shots. The Irish have completed 62 percent of his passes without an interception. His favorite receiver has been tight end Tony Hunter, who has caught 11 passes for 268 yards in the two Notre Dame victories.

So, on the surface, it looks like a mismatch. But Spartan Stadium has not exactly been its own territory for Notre Dame teams in the past. In their last two visits, the Irish have won twice against outmatched Spartan opponents but by a grand total of only nine points, making this place a veritable chamber of horrors for Notre Dame.

Now you know why Gerry Faust is scared.

IRISH ITEMS. Game time, 1 p.m. EDT, which is 12 noon in South Bend. For those of you not making the road trip, the game will be televised on Channel 14, Cavernous Stadium is sold out for this one, and a crowd of over 76,000 is expected. The Irish will return to campus by bus immediately after the game. Arrival time will be about 7:30.

By Skip Desjardin

Aaron Roberts

Irish Cheerleader

The passing game also is in good shape, with quarterback Blair Kiel calling the shots. The junior has completed 62 percent of his passes without an interception. His favorite receiver has been tight end Tony Hunter, who has caught 11 passes for 268 yards in the two Notre Dame victories.

The Irish are out to make this game a trip that they all hope to make this February.

The passing game also is in good shape, with quarterback Blair Kiel calling the shots. The Irish have completed 62 percent of his passes without an interception. His favorite receiver has been tight end Tony Hunter, who has caught 11 passes for 268 yards in the two Notre Dame victories.

So, on the surface, it looks like a mismatch. But Spartan Stadium has not exactly been its own territory for Notre Dame teams in the past. In their last two visits, the Irish have won twice against outmatched Spartan opponents but by a grand total of only nine points, making this place a veritable chamber of horrors for Notre Dame.

Now you know why Gerry Faust is scared.

IRISH ITEMS. Game time, 1 p.m. EDT, which is 12 noon in South Bend. For those of you not making the road trip, the game will be televised on Channel 14, Cavernous Stadium is sold out for this one, and a crowd of over 76,000 is expected. The Irish will return to campus by bus immediately after the game. Arrival time will be about 7:30.

By Skip Desjardin

Aaron Roberts

Irish Cheerleader
The Game

GAME: Fighting Irish vs. Michigan State Spartans
SITE: Spartan Stadium (76,000)
TIME: 2:00 p.m. EST Saturday, Oct. 2, 1982
TV-RADIO: WNDU-TV (Ch. 16)

Jeff Jeffers and Jack Nolan

MetroSports Replay Network

Larry Beil and George Connor

10 a.m. Sunday WNDU-TV (Ch. 16)

Notre Dame-Mutual Radio Network

Tony Roberts and Al Wester

SERIES:
- Notre Dame 30, Michigan State 16, Ties 1
- Last Meeting: Oct. 1, 1982 at Notre Dame, Ind.

RANKINGS:
- (AP) Notre Dame 11th, Michigan State unranked

The Schedule

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>NOTRE DAME</th>
<th>MICHIGAN STATE</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Sept. 18: beat Michigan, 23-17</td>
<td>Sept. 11: lost at Illinois, 25-16</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sept. 25: beat Purdue, 26-14</td>
<td>Sept. 18: lost to Ohio State, 41-10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oct. 9: vs. Arizona</td>
<td>Oct. 2: at Notre Dame</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oct. 16: at Oregon</td>
<td>Oct. 9: at Michigan</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Oct. 23: at Meadowlands</td>
<td>Oct. 16: at Wisconsin</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nov. 6: at Pittsburgh</td>
<td>Oct. 23: at Purdue</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nov. 13: at Penn State</td>
<td>Nov. 5: vs. Indiana</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nov. 20: at Air Force</td>
<td>Nov. 15: vs. Minnesota</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Nov. 27: at Southern Cal</td>
<td>Nov. 20: Iowa</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The Sports Staff's Predictions

Dave Dziedzic

Assoc. Sports Editor

O'CONNOR Sports Editor Emeritus

HARE Sports Writer

NEEDLES Sports Editor

DZIEDZIC 19-9-1 625

SKIP DESJARDIN 14-10-1 583

WILL HARE 14-10-1 583

CHRIS NEEDLES 10-14-1 417

Pittsburgh over W. Virginia by 10

Michigan over Indiana by 17

Ohio State over Florida State by 6

Nebraska over Auburn by 10

Purdue over Wisconsin by 2

Southern California over Oregon by 26

Minnesota over Illinois by 6

Florida over Louisiana State by 9

Iowa over Northwestern by 25

Dickie by Navy by 13

Notre Dame over Michigan State by ?

Panthers

Wolverines

Seminole

War Eagles

Ducks

Illini

Gators

Wildcats

Middles

Irish

Huskers

Buckeyes

Warhawks

Nittany Lions

Illini

Wildcats

Middles

Irish

Rushings

G. NO YDS AVG TO LG

M. S. U. (0-3)

NOW (2-0)

The Statistics

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>TEAM STATISTICS</th>
<th>NO</th>
<th>OPP</th>
<th>RUSHING</th>
<th>G</th>
<th>NO YDS AVG TO LG</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Total Offense Yards</td>
<td>882</td>
<td>516</td>
<td>7.0</td>
<td>36</td>
<td>257.0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total Plays</td>
<td>779</td>
<td>442</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Penalties</td>
<td>12-108</td>
<td>3-34</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fumbles Lost</td>
<td>3-3</td>
<td>5-5</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total First Downs</td>
<td>46-40</td>
<td>30-19</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>By Rushing</td>
<td>3-19</td>
<td>20-10</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>By Passing</td>
<td>3-20</td>
<td>10-9</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>By Fumbles</td>
<td>0-0</td>
<td>0-0</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Third Down Conversions</td>
<td>12-31</td>
<td>5-27</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Completion Percentage</td>
<td>387</td>
<td>169</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Possession Time</td>
<td>69.32 - 20.92</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Minutes per Game</td>
<td>74.46 - 25.14</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Notre Dame

OCT. 9: at Michigan

OCT. 16: at Wisconsin

OCT. 23: at Purdue

Nov. 5: vs. Indiana

Nov. 15: vs. Minnesota

Nov. 20: Iowa

Oct. 3: at Notre Dame, Ind.

OCT. 2: at Michigan

ROAD TRIP!!!!

DON'T FORGET THE TIME CHANGE

The Observer

Sports Writer

14-10-1 .417
Faust, Irish all set for Michigan

By KELLY SULLIVAN
Sports Writer

Notre Dame marketing majors have made a small fortune selling T-shirts this week that read "The Irish do it on the dark." No question about it, the lightings around Notre Dame's Stadium tomorrow night will be the focus of attention — until kickoff. Then it will be time for Gerry Faust and his team to show everyone just how much they've learned since they last took the field.

In some ways, I'm a little bit more at ease than I was before our first game last year, says the second-year head coach, "because I know the whole scope of college football much better now. But on the other hand, I'm more nervous because we're going up against a highly ranked team right off the bat. Either way, I'm just anxious to get started again. We're a better football team, but there's no way to prove that until we play."

But according to the Irish coaching staff, Michigan, too, is a better football team than the one that drubbed Notre Dame 25-7 a year ago. "Jay Robertson (defensive line coach) coached at Wisconsin last year when they beat Michigan," Faust says. "We sent him up to watch those two play last week. He felt that Wisconsin had a better team this year, but Michigan handled them. They have all the ingredients to be great this season."

See IRISH, page 13

Tale of two quarterbacks

By LOUIE SOMOGYI
Sports Writer

Junior quarterback Blair Kiel won the job in spring practice, but Kiel hasn't been an effective passer and Faust wants to pass a lot this fall. Nobody is saying we, but there's an underlying feeling that if should Kiel faller — even a little — it might be an excuse for this fall. . . Nobody is saying so, but there's an effective passer. . . and Faust wants to pass a lot.

Kiel completed his three-year career at Columbus (Ind.) East High with 1,926 yards and 26 touchdowns in his senior season. His 4.5 speed in the 40-yard dash was an extra bonus. His freshman collegiate seasons contrasted sharply. While Smith saw very little action as a third-string quarterback, Kiel had begun gaining a name for himself by the second game of the season (ironically, against Michigan). By the fourth game of the season, Kiel was Notre Dame's starting quarterback — the first freshman to do so since Ralph Gugliemi in the 1950s. "1 was thrown into the fire a little quicker than I expected, and I had to do a lot of growing up real quick," reflects Kiel. "But it was one of my goals as a freshman and I wouldn't have traded it for anything."

After starting off "0 and being ranked No. 1, though, Notre Dame closed the season with a 2-2-1 record. Kiel's final passing statistics (a 58 percent completion rate and no touchdowns) drew the first questions and criticisms about his competence.

With the implementation of a totally new offensive system by Gerry Faust in 1981, and the return of one of Faust's greatest high school stars — Tim Kugel — Kiel's sophomore year brought even greater obstacles. Nevertheless, optimism ran rampant among the fans. Meanwhile, sports on Ann Arbor were also peaking in the autumn of 1981. With 16 starters returning (including seven legitimate All-America candidates) from a team that finished No. 4 in 1980, the Wolverines were the odds-on favorites for the national championship. John Wagner, who had performed so splendidly the previous year, had graduated, but Smith still had the benefit of the awesome Michigan offensive unit. His job would be simple: handed to All-American Burt Wosilik, and throw to All-American Anthony Carter, while being protected by the All-America linemen Ed Muransky, Bubba Parsons and Kahl Boeker.

In the year of promise for the young sophomores and more field generals, however, autumn literally became the "fall" of 1981. The season divided into three very similar parts for both of them. The first part was the nightmare start. In the opening game loss to Wisconsin for then-No. 1 ranked Wolverines, Smith managed to complete only three of 18 passes and was intercepted three more times. Five weeks later, nothing had improved. Against eventual Big
By LOUIE SOMOGYI

The next time you hear what you think is the most idiotic, outlandish suggestion for your career advancement, listen closely.

Joe Crookham, president of Musco Sports Lighting, Inc., can tell you as well as anyone that sometimes it's what seems to be an absurd thought that leads to prosperity. Back in 1979, when his company was just getting by in the business world, someone suggested a portable that would be mounted on trucks.

"It was all a big joke at the time," recalls Crookham.

But the joke eventually began to intrigue Crookham and Myron Gordon, a mechanical engineer for the company. Preliminary plans were drawn up — and received with enthusiasm by network television executives in New York, who quickly saw a major profit possibility for the future.

The big moment for the Oskaloosa, Iowa, firm came in 1980, when a major test at the University of Iowa was successful. With that, Crookham, the networks, and colleges across the country adopted a phrase made popular ages ago: "Let there be light!"

Today, the laughter that was so prevalent three years ago at the Musco Corporation has been replaced with smiles of sweet success — for huge profits.

The company, with its new portable lighting system, has been transformed from an industry that had annual sales of $972 in 1968 into a 110 million business.

Of course, without a quality product, there would have been no dramatic rise in profits. In 1980, the $20, ABC-TV engineer needed only one look at the Musco lighting system — and were totally convinced that a new wave of television coverage on the horizon.

"It was somewhere between sensational and above," says Crookham of that run.

The steadiness of the portable lights, which are placed at heights of 120-140 feet, has also raised some questions — not to mention fear — on the parts of skeptics. But "wind tunnel tests have shown the lights to be totally steady," says Crookham. "They could stand through a hurricane if they had to."

The brightness of the resulting light was questioned by many as well, but Crookham laughed off those doubts.

"To put it in perspective," he says, "these lights are so strong that if we placed each of four trucks around a football field, but one mile away, it would still be bright enough to play a game."

With organizations competing among the NCAA and several networks, college football has entered a new era: "Love Boat" and "Fantasy Island" will soon have strong competition, as there are plans for college doubleheaders almost every Saturday.

This fall on CBS and ABC, as well as eight games on Ted Turner's super station in Atlanta, fourteen Saturday night games and five Thursday night games will be featured on STB during the next two years.

Even the National Football League has made some inquiries of Musco. There has been some talk of playing the 1985 Super Bowl or until 85,000-seat Stanford Stadium in Palo Alto, Calif.

Carter explains, "Carter is a great one, but to be great somebody's got to put the ball in his hands. We're going to put a strong pass rush on (Michigan quarterback) Steve Smith so his passing won't be as effective. We're going to be a more offensive defense. We're not going to sit back and see what they do — we'll be more explosive."

The Irish defensive backs are ready to execute, especially when they recall last year's humbling 25-7 defeat at Ann Arbor. In that contest, Carter grabbed three passes and scored in two of those, accounting for 99 of Michigan's 158 passing yards.

"Last year was an embarrassment," remembers Crookham. "We've put all that behind us now, but that feeling is still in the back of our minds. The Michigan loss was the start of the turnaround."

Although the Irish will have their hands full with the likes of Carter and Smith, the going won't exactly be easy for the Wolverines either. The Irish secondary was ranked in the top twenty last season, and it boasts some stars of its own.

Despite having started 17 games in three years and has played at every spot in the secondary, the All-American candidate led the team in minutes played last year while delivering 55 tackles. In his career at Notre Dame, the hard-hitting Duerksen has recovered three fumbles, intercepted five passes, and broken up ten passes.

Strong safety Joe Johnson is also a very physical player, and one of the most versatile in the secondary. He is backed by veteran Rod Bone, who will be used frequent by his defensive line.

At the corners, Stacey Toran and Chris Brown are ready to defend against whatever comes their way. Toran has been a starter since his freshman year and was third among the Irish in playing time last year. The junior is especially skilled as a one-on-one pass defender. Brown, a smart and physical player who also returns as a starter, will play weak corner.
BIG TEN CHAMPS IOWA — Smith was 6-for-20, and threw a key interception deep in Hawkeye territory. Michigan lost 9-7.

Kiel had difficulties as well, while alternating at quarterback with Korgel. Of his first 21 passes, Kiel completed only 7, and five were intercepted. The Irish started off 2-3.

The second part of the season was better for both men. After Iowa, Smith went on a four-game tear, averaging 11.5 yards per pass attempt. He racked up 340 yards of total offense and six touchdowns against Illinois, and earned the AP’s “Midwestern Offensive Player of the Week” award.

Kiel improved his statistics as well, averaging 16.5 yards per completion, and throwing six scoring strikes.

The dues have been paid.

The challenges, however, will always remain.

Smith was 9-for-20 and had three passes picked off in a 1-9 home loss to better rival Ohio State. Six days later, Kiel was suffering through a 10-for-25, two interception performance in a 37-15 loss to Miami (Fla.).

The disappointments of 1980 remain with them. The criticisms come back to haunt them.

Through it all, Kiel has been able to hang on to his dignity, poise, and sanity.

“I can’t be concerned with what people say or write about me anymore,” he admits. “Everything that can possibly have happened to me — the good and the bad — has been said. I have reached the point now where I believe that if I can’t get the job done, I want the coaches to get me out of there and put somebody else there — for good — who can.”

“Right now, though, I’m not in the least bit worried about my position. I’m just going to go out on the field and do the absolute best that I can. I don’t consider myself a conciliated person, but after all the experiences I’ve been through in my two years here I feel that I have grown mentally stronger. I’m very confident and relaxed right now. It’s high time now to go out and play the kind of foot ball I know we are capable of.”

Smith, too, has gained confidence and relaxation as a result of the trials.

“I don’t like to be embarrassed,” he says. “I will improve. I’ve got to improve. I was a little nervous last year. I knew what to expect now. I feel confident, the butterflies are gone.”

“His come along as we expected,” says his coach, Bo Schexnider. “It was a mental thing to take over the leadership role with 100,000 people watching you. But once that was out of the way, why would you see guys take three or four years to learn to play pro ball? The defenses are so much more complex these days. What you ask a college quarterback to do today is like night and day compared to what you asked him to do five years ago.

“Your dues have been paid. Now, for the first time in their collegiate careers, they have some peace of mind about themselves and their roles. The challenges, however, will always remain.

“This is the biggest game of my career with a double threat — admits Kiel. “But there will be a lot of important games for us this year. Pressure is a must. Any time you put a couple of solid teams like Michigan and Notre Dame out there, it’s something you have to deal with all your life.”

“In a game that will forever be remembered as the one in which they turned us around, Notre Dame Stadium, two quarterbacks who have been in the dark are hoping to shine even more.”

Craig Dunaway

continued from page 11

Wide receiver Anthony Carter is the Wolverines’ star, but he’s certainly not the whole show. Quarterback Scott Smith is what Faust calls “a double threat” — he runs a quick option and he’s developed into a top passer. Lawrence Kiefer is another in the long line of quality Michigan tailbacks — he’s coming off a 150-yard performance against Wisconsin. On defense, the Wolverines return their top two tacklers in linemen Mike Burns and Paul Orgas.

“Maybe Michigan did lose some names from last year,” Faust says, “but they always have people who get the job done. That’s the bottom line.”

“We have 18 starters back, but that’s not real significant when it comes from a 5-6 team,” he joked. “Michigan got all the advantages on us — they’ve played a game, tried new things and gained momentum from a win. We just have to go out and execute better than they do tomorrow.”

Much of the expected improvement in the Irish should come from a slightly revised defense — which emphasizes the short passing game and eliminates the wingback position. That will afford quarterback Blair Kiel and Co. a better chance to move the football.

“The most encouraging thing about our offense this fall has been the play of Blair Kiel at quarterback,” confirms Faust. “He knows he’s the man and he believes we all have confidence in his ability to be our starter.”

Having Tommy Hunter set up end figures to be another plus for the Notre Dame air attack. “We feel he can really be a consistent threat at that position,” says Faust. “And we’ll also involve our running backs a little more in the short passing game — our philosophy will be based on the high percentage completion.”

Kiel has plenty of targets to aim at on the decision who on the wide outs will be was still in the evaluation stage this week, though it’s sure bet sophomore Joe Howard will be one. Freshmen Matt Jackman and Van Pary are the top names for the opener, but Mike Playwood and Chris Stone are still contention.

“Senior Mike Carter and junior Greg Bell still are just about even at tailback — with freshman specialists Allen Pollent on their heels. “I wouldn’t hesitate to put Pollent in,” Faust says. “He’s really shown us a lot this fall and he’s made Phil and Greg both better tailbacks.”

Senior Larry Morray will get the nod at fullback, but expect sophomore John Sweeney and sophomore Mark Brooks to see duty, too. Sweeney may play some tight end in short-yardage or goal-line situations also.

“We’ve got to become more dominant up front, or we’ll have problems moving the football, that’s all there is to it. We didn’t control the line enough last year, and that’s been a major focus point for us ever since the season ended.”

The offensive line will list Mike Kelley and Larry Williams at the tackle positions, regular Tom Thayer and Randy Ellis at the guard spots and Mark Fischer at center.

Defensively, the Irish are solid up front with returnees Kevin Griffith, Jon Austry, Bob Clasby and sophomore Mike Cams on the line. Tri-captain Mark Zagovon joins Mike Larkin and Rick Naylor in the linebacking corp. and Dave Duerson, Joe Christ, Brown and Stacey Toran will start in the secondary.

Faust has split kickoff chores between seniors walk-on Mike Johnson and freshman Hal Vojtik. “Mike will handle kick-offs, extra points and field goals inside the 25 and line,” he explains, “and Hal will probably kick any field goals longer than that.”

The Irish are in good shape physically — offensive tackle Mike Smith and senior end Mike Favore are the only regulars who won’t dress — and mentally as well. Faust says the team won’t use the revenge factor to motivate itself for Michigan.

“We’d really be taking an emotional roller coaster all season if we looked at opponents that way. Last year was last year — it’s over. We just want to attack each game one at a time and play the best football we can.”
The Game

Fighting Irish vs. Michigan Wolverines
Notre Dame Stadium (55,070)
8 p.m. EST Saturday, Sept. 18, 1982
ABC TV

Metrotown Replay Network
Harry Kalas and George Connor
Notre Dame-Mutual Radio Network
Tom Roberds and Al Wester
WNDU-AM 1500

The Schedule

NOTRE DAME
SEPT. 18 MICHIGAN
SEPT 25 PURDUE
OCT. 3 at Michigan State
OCT. 9 MIAMI (FLA.)
OCT. 16 ARIZONA
OCT. 23 at Oregon
OCT. 30 Navy at Meadowlands
NOV. 6 at Pittsburgh
NOV. 13 PENN STATE
NOV. 20 at Air Force
NOV. 27 at Southern Cal

MICHIGAN
SEPT. 11 beat WISCONSIN 20-9
SEPT. 18 at Notre Dame
SEPT. 25 UCL A
OCT. 2 CINCINNATI
OCT. 9 MICHIGAN STATE
OCT. 16 at Iowa
OCT. 23 Northwestern
OCT. 30 MINNESOTA
NOV. 5 at Illinois
NOV. 13 PURDUE
NO. 20 at Ohio State

The Statistics

TEAM STATISTICS
NO OPP OFFENSE
TOTAL DEFENSE YARDS 3435 3228
Grande 16 1 18 6.6 6.0
Michigan 16 3 11 5.8 3.8
Cincinnati 15 3 10 5.7 5.5
Northwestern 14 4 10 6.7 5.6
Illinois 14 4 10 6.7 5.6
Peoria 11 3 9 5.3 4.8

FUMBLES-LOST
TOTAL FIRST DOWNS
By Receiving
By Penning
By Fumbling
By Recovery
TOTAL DOWN-CONV
POSSESSION TIME

TICKETS:
Game is sold out.

The Sports Staff's Predictions

Each week, The Observer's sports staff predict the outcome of the week's major college football games. Records are compiled as to how each writer does against the spread. In other words, it is not enough to pick the winner of a given game. The writer must pick a winner and give the underdog points.

CHRIS NEEDLES - Sports Editor
SKIP DESJARDIN - Sports Editor Emeritus
DAVE DZIEDZIC - Assoc. Sports Editor
WILL HARE - Sports Writer
RICH O'CONNOR - Sports Writer
KINGS CELLAR
1621 South Bend Ave. (only)
"Your Keg and Quart Headquarters"

Hamm’s
$4.99 case 24 cans

Strohs
or Strohs Light
$6.99 case 24 cans

Quart Beer Specials
Old Milwaukee $6.99
Budweiser $8.99
Pabst $7.99

CARLO ROSSI
DINNER WINES
$4.99

BIG
4 LITER

Generic or $23.99
Generic Light
Budweiser $29.99
Michelob $35.99

prices don’t include deposit

Wine
J. Roget Champagne 750 ML $1.99
Riunite Lambrusco 750 ML $1.99
Bonifato Bianco 1.5 L $1.99
Zonin Asti 750 ML $4.99

Bar Stockers
Jim Beam Bourbon 1.75 $10.99
Dark Eyes Vodka 1.75 $7.99
Ron Rico Rum 1.75 $9.99
Lord Calvert 1.75 $9.99

Prices Good Thru Oct. 5, 1982
John Higgins

Restaurants

The restaurant of the hour is the East Bank Emporium located on the Saint Joseph River at Niles and Jefferson. The Emporium seems to try to be a variety of things at all times, particularly in terms of its menu. On the one page is a fine selection from seafood and steak with prices ranging from $9.85 to $8.95. Turning to the other page, however, one finds a lighter section with quiche, crepes and burgers ranging from $2.95 to $4.45. It is also has a nice bar area with a jazz band playing each night except Tuesdays.

Actually, your first reaction upon entering is indeed, "Oh, the wonderful woodwork." The Emporium is tastefully decorated and designed with a lot of wood - pillars, beams and railing are prominent on both the lower and upper levels. Seated by a window with a view of downtown across the river, I heard the comment, "It's hard to believe you are South Bend." My dining partner and I (my favorite cliché!) started off with a margarita and pina colada at the waiters' prompting. Neither drink was well blended and the pina colada had large chunks of ice and tasted more of mango juice than anything else. The rich flavor of coconut was missing. The other drinks were large and well-made. The wine list was impressive offering inexpensive California wines from $4.95, five burgundies ranging from $7 to $8 and champagne up to $89. My favorite is a particular Albarino white at $29.95.

The French onion soup ($1.75) is the first I've had with which I didn't have to do battle against a pound of mozzarella cheese. There was just enough cheese to cover the bowl and not nearly enough to straighten you, unlike the soup at most restaurants. An appetizer, the broccoli and potato skins thick with cheese and real bacon bits ($2.95) were very good.

The table side salad was served with condiments brought to the table. There was a choice of four dressings, two cheeses, almonds, sunflower seeds, and croutons. All containers were filled to the top which is pretty good considering the late hour of our arrival. I loved the arrangement, but then I dislike salad bars. The plate of lettuce was served, however, could have stood some sort of garnish, at least peppers or cucumbers if not tomatoes.

The variety of entrees is very good featuring polynesian boneless breasts of chicken ($6.95), 12-ounce prime rib ($31.50), quiche lorraine ($15.45) and a turkey, broccoli and cheese crepe ($4.25). We had the Florida grouper ($6.95) and the coconat shrimp ($9.45). The grouper was tender and well seasoned. Ordinary care had been taken in its preparation. The shrimp literally made my mouth water.

Unlike many restaurants which burn their shrimp in butter, the coconat breading on these shrimp was thin and crisp and the flavor of both was wonderful. The mixed vegetables were crisp and flavorful. The baked potato, however, was a little under cooked.

The offer of dessert paired us. We were so full ($32 hours later I still can't eat anything else.) I go back sometime for the strawberry cheesecake or Bourbon Street Pie (no guesses on that one.)

The Emporium is one of the few opportunities for live jazz entertainment in town. The quiet music with our dinner was pleasant accompaniment. They got louder and louder with each course, however, and by the end of dinner my ever-present but elusive partner and I were reduced to merely gazing into each other's eyes.

On the whole, I loved the Emporium. If music and atmosphere aren't enough to bring you in, the food is. The bar is open until 1 a.m., so at least take a trek from Elida Street.

Hipp, interesting future" become a trite phrase to use anymore? Sorry. But what can I say about a motion picture that attempts to update Shakespeare's The Tempest into a contemporary examination of the mid-life crisis. At the very least, I've got to admit that Paul Mazursky had a lot of guns to make movie review

Dennis Chalfour

The Tempest. But while I must admire the intensity that Mazursky has put into the film, I'm not so sure if the star line was doomed to failure in the first place.

So if you've heard this before: Phillip Dimonot (John Casasanto) and his daughter Miranda (Molly Ringwald) who feels destined to die a virgin as she blooms into womanhood without the benefit of a boyfriend. Also on the island is Kalibanos (Badula) a goth-barder and comic relief, who feels destined to prevent Miranda from dying a virgin.

If all of this is beginning to sound a lot like a soap opera, don't think you're alone. What Mazursky and co-writer Leon Capianos have done is strip Shakespeare bare of all his poetry in an attempt to make their dialogue more contemporary. Loungithems and vulgar language have replaced umble pen tameter. Name-dropping runs amuck. Miranda goes out of her way to refer to whatever pop rock band she can think of. After a while, this whole sense of being consciously "in" begins to wear on the nerves. The inside jokes don't even come close to the Shakespearean spirit. All that's left is the overly tough plot lines.

Yet even with his shortcomings in preproduction Mazursky is able to pull off a few good moments. When ever we move into the psyche of Philip, the movie becomes alive. There is a certain electricity that bursts forth in glory whenever Dimonot's whispers "show me the magic" and conducts the heavens in the magnificently orchestrated tempest that erupts throughout the movie. Cassettes gives his most frustratingly intense performances since DePalma's The Fury. He becomes a personification of the tempest, going beyond the self-consciousness of the script, conceptualizing more on the motivations that inspired the original Prospero. The acting throughout the entire motion picture is top-notch with Badula standing out as the bizarrely comic goiter lover. Kalibanos becomes a representation of just how unprofit the world can be. After all, Philip has two women while he has none at all. The knock-out scene of the entire movie is an incon guous little diversion featuring Kalibanos dancing with a number of goats in the tune of Liza Minnelli singing New York, New York. It's all very pleasant but I'm not quite certain what it has to do with the rest of the film. This is the problem that haunts the whole movie. Inconsistency has prevented the parts from geling into a whole. So why attempt an updated Shakespeare at all? This is a vital question, especially in light of the fact that this is the second movie with a Shakespearean mood to come out this season. Woody Allen's equally inconsistent Midsummer Night's Sex Comedy is marred by many of the same problems. There seems to be a consensus among mov write gags for the "Monkees" TV specials that the only way to legitimize themselves is to adapt Shakespeare. Neil Simon has been wallowing in this particular limbo for years.

The question remains whether or not Tempest's slow and uneven pacing is worth reading for the inside Shakespeare jokes and a hand dful of interesting moments. I say no. Hop references to the Bard will never legitimate poor filmmaking.
For the time being

I could always tell when Luke had been drinking beer because he turned philosophical. I played the game with him, not always sure what either one of us was talking about. One Saturday night, wearing his new Notre Dame ring, he was full of reflections on how quickly his college years were passing. When he asked the unexceptional question: "What is life?" I knew he had been tapping the Molson's I could tell he was in the talkative state of intoxication by the way he lectured me with inquiries. "What is this experience that divides the quick from the dead?"

Rev. Robert Griffin

letters to a lonely god

I shook my head. I had been reading Hemingway. Hemingway leaves me with a distrust of philosophy. "Life is absolutely dependent on time," Luke said unimpressively, as though he were announcing a breakthrough. "If you tell me what time it is, I can tell you what life is." I shrugged my shoulders helplessly. "Don't ask me," I said. "I don't even have a watch. Whatever time is, it passes too quickly."

"You disappoint me," he said. "I'll have to judge you some books." He cleared his throat, and I felt he should be taking notes. "Life is the way I participate in the existence of the universe. Heaven will be all time - past, present, future - meeting simultaneously, theologians call the experience eternal life. Right now, what I am experiencing is for the time being. I can lose it, separate myself from it, or be altogether irresponsible in how I treat it."

I feel as though someone had painted me into the corner of a Picasso canvas. "Luke," I said sympathetically, "you must have had a hard week. Maybe you're taking a break through. "If you tell me what time is, I can tell you something, as though he were a newspaperman putting off any story with playing every other note of the score."

I noticed his head as though I were a disciple hearing Buda. Luke lapsed into silence with his eyes closed. I thought the guitar is falling in. I went back to reading Hemingway.

Fifteen minutes later. Luke sat up suddenly. "What time is it?"

"Time you were in bed," I said.

"I've got to go back to a party," he said. He was less mellow now, or longer the young Carus. He was plainly a little tight, without euphoria.

"I wish you would forget the party, and go home to bed," I said.

"I've got a date to take a girl back to St. Mary's," he said. "She's in no shape to drive. I have her car keys. I promised her she would see me. A girl drunk in a guy's dorm is a serious trouble."

"Guys get in trouble too," I said. "Why don't you leave the keys with me?"

"Don't worry," he said. "My roommate is taking us, and he's on a wagon. He laughed in a pleased way. "It's nice of you to worry," he said. "Thanks also."

He made me kev'te try virtuous for my concern. "Call me when you get back to your room," I said. When he inquired why, I explained: "Worrying is a habit I got from a slightly Jewish mother."

He forgot to call. By the time I walked down to his dorm to inquire for him at four o'clock, I had given him up for dead. After our talk, I had given up on Hemingway. During the three and a half hours of waiting for a phone call, I thought my way back over thirty years, trying to remember the secret of the gods that was so important to me one evening when I was young. I couldn't put myself in the mood in which I was positive I had it. Yes, I discovered a memory of myself, standing under the tree, full of realization. Life is more valuable than the fire stolen by Prometheus from under the earth to give the human race."

"You forget to call," I said. When he asked why, I explained: "Worrying is a habit I got from a slightly Jewish mother."

He forgot to call. By the time I walked down to his dorm to inquire for him at four o'clock, I had given him up for dead. After our talk, I had given up on Hemingway. During the three and a half hours of waiting for a phone call, I thought my way back over thirty years, trying to remember the secret of the gods that was so important to me one evening when I was young. I couldn't put myself in the mood in which I was positive I had it. Yes, I discovered a memory of myself, standing under the tree, full of realization. Life is more valuable than the fire stolen by Prometheus from under the earth to give the human race."

"The idea of growing older is a bogy," I said sympathetically. "You must have had a hard week. Maybe you're taking a break through."

"I feel as though someone had painted me into the corner of a Picasso canvas. "Luke," I said sympathetically, "you must have had a hard week. Maybe you're taking a break through."

Living on campus, most of us know the feeling of having neighbors whose parents and friends and their lives. Structures such as community at this particular point in the year, there is a football game Saturday afternoon. Not to interfere with, but rather to enhance your weekend, below is a set of activities you may choose to vary your activities, should partying, football and general fun-making wear you out.

THEATRE

Local theatrical talent presents the only piece of stage entertainment this weekend at the South Bend Civic Theatre. W. J. Weller will open formalized at South Bend Civic Theatre. A play of mature subject matter, it deals with two married people and their views of themselves, their friends and their lives. Structured much like Same Time, Next Year, it traces the difficulties that the couple encounter at various times in their married life. Weller creates characters that are realistic and understandable and identifies with. The show will run Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Tickets are $2.50. Curtain time is at 8 p.m.

The takeover of our film screen by foreign directors continues this weekend with the National Geographic Society's Winter season in the Friday Night Film Series. As mainstay of Italian cinema, Antonioni consistently presents stark films characterized by definite contrasts. In this film, a burned-out reporter, played by Jack Nicholson, escapes his own identity and adopts a new one to find that as is his risk as a situation. Antonioni takes alienation in its greatest forms as he leads his viewers a thought provoking book. This film, unlike the others in the Friday Night Film Series, will begin at 7:30 p.m. in Ankeny Auditorium. Tickets are $2.

What's happening...

It's the weekend again, that favorite time of the week that all inadvisable students, staff and faculty look forward to. As is the university's habit at this particular point in the year, there is a football game Saturday afternoon.

---

For the time being...
Men's Volleyball Club is holding tryouts for prospective members Monday, Oct. 4, in the ACC Fieldhouse. The club is recruiting players with high school or USAV experience. In addition, there is a mandatory meeting for all former club members on Thursday night at 7:30 in Room 15 of Sour Cabin. All former players planning to attend are asked to contact Clark Gibson at 841.

The Ultimate Frisbee club has its first match at Valparaiso University at 11:30 a.m. Those interested in playing with the club should call 1650 or 287-5205.

Cross Country meets will be held on three successive Thursdays, beginning October 7. The two- and half-mile races will be run on the golf course. Team or insurance forms must be turned in to the NVA office before October 7. The races will start and finish at the second tree, where racers are gathered to get by 4:15 p.m. each day.

NDW's Women's Cross-Country team will compete this afternoon in an invitational meet at Manchester College.

The Observer will accept classifications Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. However, classifications dating back to the past issue must be received by 3 p.m., the business day prior to appearance. All classifications should be prepaid either in person or through the mail.
When Paul Molitor and Cecil Cooper served out the game, everything Notre Dame did. Karen Bauk ee's pennant expressed with a 9-4 drive in three runs last night, as the seven hits, and rookie Wade Boggs went on to set an American League series at Kansas City, the Angels will over the Royals starting the final three games of the regular season. Bauters was especially successful as a batter 6-5 loss to the Royals Wednesday night, "is we have a little more work to do, "The Angels held a 5-2 lead before Kansas City came back to win in the late innings.

The Angels have won two of their three previous home field games against Texas but over the season are a hot shot of that pace, winning 17 at home and losing 20.

In Wednesday night's loss, California also had a home run from Reggie Jackson, his 37th.

Jackson said concerning losing momentum to the Royals, "Right now, we're more disappointed than down. But I don't like the idea of being home and hearing people say, 'You lost them together. You'll lose them together.' "

The Angels have won two of their three previous home field games against Texas but over the season are a hot shot of that pace, winning 17 at home and losing 20.

In Wednesday night's loss, California also had a home run from Reggie Jackson, his 37th.

Jackson said concerning losing momentum to the Royals, "Right now, we're more disappointed than down. But I don't like the idea of being home and hearing people say, 'You lost them together. You'll lose them together.' "

The Angels have won two of their three previous home field games against Texas but over the season are a hot shot of that pace, winning 17 at home and losing 20.

In Wednesday night's loss, California also had a home run from Reggie Jackson, his 37th.

Jackson said concerning losing momentum to the Royals, "Right now, we're more disappointed than down. But I don't like the idea of being home and hearing people say, 'You lost them together. You'll lose them together.' "

The Angels have won two of their three previous home field games against Texas but over the season are a hot shot of that pace, winning 17 at home and losing 20.

In Wednesday night's loss, California also had a home run from Reggie Jackson, his 37th.

Jackson said concerning losing momentum to the Royals, "Right now, we're more disappointed than down. But I don't like the idea of being home and hearing people say, 'You lost them together. You'll lose them together.' "

The Angels have won two of their three previous home field games against Texas but over the season are a hot shot of that pace, winning 17 at home and losing 20.

In Wednesday night's loss, California also had a home run from Reggie Jackson, his 37th.

Jackson said concerning losing momentum to the Royals, "Right now, we're more disappointed than down. But I don't like the idea of being home and hearing people say, 'You lost them together. You'll lose them together.' "

The Angels have won two of their three previous home field games against Texas but over the season are a hot shot of that pace, winning 17 at home and losing 20.
Tri-Captain Jay Schwartz's dedication leads team

By SAM SHERRILL
Sports Writer

Although the Notre Dame soccer team got off to a somewhat shaky start this season, things seem to be looking up now for the squad as they head into several big matches against regional competition.

One of the key factors in the team's holding together through this period has been the composed leadership of tri-captain Joe Schwartz.

One quality about Schwartz which immediately comes through is his dedication to the soccer program. "This year, whenever soccer calls," he said, "I drop what I'm doing and go."

Schwartz is no stranger to prominence on the soccer field. As a senior at Blanchet High School in Seattle, he led his team to the Metro AAA title and a championship in their district.

Since coming to Notre Dame, Schwartz has been a regular in midfield, playing in 18 games over three years. He has won monograms all three years.

As with all the players, though, soccer is not the only thing in Schwartz's life. "I came here for the academics," he said, "but I tried out and was lucky enough to make varsity freshman year. I've always liked soccer, and after graduation I'll probably coach and referee. But I don't think about going professional as anything. I just want to get a job and work."

Many players might not be able to handle the pressure of being a good team, but to Schwartz, it's a challenge. "Here, it adds pressure. You have to perform and lead by your actions. It's also your responsibility to sort of push the guys, but not get carried away with it. We're all still friends out there."

This year, Schwartz has taken on the role of a creative midfielder, starting the scoring chances rather than finishing them. "My first thought has always been to pass the ball, which I probably do too much."

decisions, decisions, decisions

Here's how to make a good one... and still keep your option open.

Right now, you're faced with a host of interesting options. But you're afraid you'll have to toss most of them aside to make that Final, Chicken-in-Stone Career Decision.

Not if you join Alexander Grant. We may be the ideal non-limiting decision for the brilliant and ambitious businessman.

Here's why we say that.

We're one of the world's largest public accounting firms. Yet most of our 40,000 clients are moderate in size. This results in professionals who see to the entire inner-workings of those diverse clients. Not just the operations of a single division, department or branch. With such a breadth of opportunities, you can keep right on growing and learning until you settle into the role that's perfect for you. And we'll match your ascending responsibilities with the appropriate authority, every step of the way.

We can talk more about your options when we get together. But let's make sure we get together. That ought to be the simplest decision you'll have to make all year.

Accounting majors can learn more about our career opportunities when our representative will be on campus at the Placement Office on October 4th, 5th, and 6th.

Alexander Grant
845 West Jackson Blvd.
Chicago, Illinois 60604
(312) 856-0001

Director of National Recruitment

Urban List: Sports

Irish Invitational Race starts this afternoon

By NAT RICH

The nation's oldest and largest intercollegiate cross country race takes place this afternoon, and Notre Dame will be hosting it. Three-nine teams with over three hundred and fifty runners open an exciting afternoon of competition at 2:00 on the golf course.

The eighteen most competitive teams, including Notre Dame, open with the first race. A second race, at 4:00, includes the other thirty-one teams. The first division includes such cross country powerhouses as Portland and Michigan. Also competing is defending champion Illinois, led by last year's meet winner, Bill Shuey, who covered the five mile course in 24:09.

Irish coach Joe Piane admits that the competition will be intense. He offered, "It's by far the toughest field we've faced this year. If we can finish in the top five I'll be satisfied. I think that if our times are comparable to Irish would pull it out, but Houghton came right back just five minutes later to secure what proved to be the winning goal. Down 2-1, Notre Dame kept the pressure on until the very end, but failed to capitalize on three corner shots in the last three minutes of the game.

Last year, the Irish travelled to New York, only to lose to Houghton in the last minute of a highly emotional game. N.D. coach Jan Bishop hoped that the loss would be incentive enough to ensure a victory in this year's game. She voiced her optimism prior to the game. "When they won last year, you thought they had just won the National Championship. We hope we can perform well, so we're expecting a clean victory." However, the Irish will have to wait at least another year for their revenge.

Houghton improved its record to 9-2 with the victory. Notre Dame's record is still impressive at 8-2 despite the loss.

Announcing

The Newest Location of the Rib Shack

1855 Lincolnway East, South Bend

Fried Chicken

Deliciously thick Pizza

BEER & WINE

Hickory Smoked Ribs

Now two locations to serve you:

1855 Lincolnway East
St. Rd. 23 & Bittersweet
Granger - 277 - 5149

1855 Lincolnway East
St. Rd. 23 & Bittersweet
Granger - 277 - 5149
Doonesbury

Friday, October 1, 1982 — page 19

60 Arrow

24 Thatched

29 Time period

41 Gender drink

25 Nub

52 Beaten to tune

48 — bien

28 Jewelry: si.

42 Bulb

39 Knightly

37 Angers poison

58 New York women

medium

G arry Trudeau

Honey”

55 Window title

P hotius

27 Household

Jeb Cashin

46 “ — of for short

Cohn

1 Simon

30 Hide

49 Dissenter

36 Japanese

45 Feels

31 Lad

44 Worshiped

28 Attorney

19 Launching

18 Hebrew

26 Mark

17 Merits

30 Hint

14 Le Moko

42 — Bulb”

49 Deed

25 Thick

24 Thatched

23 Broadway sign

22 Kusche

21 Capra and

20 Profit

19 Launching

18 Hebrew

17 Merits

16 Hep

15 Words of understanding

14 Lee

13 Printing

12 Easter

11 Printing

10 Pattern

9 Like some

8 month old dumer.

7 Merits

6 month old dumer.

5 Winglike

4 — lively!

3 Solitary

2 Start

1 Biblical

ACROSS

Edwardian et al. 23 Broadway sign
Winglike 24 Thatched
Like some packages 25 Nub
Women abbr. 26 Household
Abbr. 27 Household
Dance tune 28 Jewelry: si.
Time period abbr. 29 Time period
Taba medium 30 Hide
For short 31 Lad
Words of understanding 32 Kusche
Dance tune 33 Kusche
Hebr. 34 Kusche
Rugos or Cahn 35 Kusche
Affected manner 36 Kusche
New York college 37 Kusche
Bread 38 Kusche
Address to an unknown 39 Kusche
Boston college 40 Kusche
Periodical, for short 41 Kusche
French friend 42 Kusche

DOWN

Le Moko 14
“Honey” 18
Hebrew 19
Cahn 21
Sinaia 25
Address to an unknown 27
Boston college 28
Bread 29
Manner 30
Boston college 31
Animal 32
Smoked salmon 33
Japanese word part for skill 34
Biblical prophet 35
Monkey 36
Plate 37
Mask 38
Stone 39
Liberal 40
Blood 41
Dr. 42
Chief 43
Deficiency 44
Worshiped 45
Gift 46
Office 47
Disease 48
End of island 49
Ignored 50
Special 51
Enormous 52
Headgear 53
Principal 54

The Daily Crossword

Fate

Photoius

The Observer

Weekend

Brian

The saga of a 6 month old dumer.

The Notre Dame Student Union Presents

The Honourable Sally Oppenheim MP

The Lessons of the Falkland Islands and Current Government Policy in Great Britain

Monday 8-90 pm October 4 Library Auditorium

Senior Bar

Rock to the sound of APEX this Saturday Nite at SENIOR BAR

open 9:30 till 2:00 a.m.

Campus

Friday, October 1, 1982 — page 19

Simon

Garry Trudeau

Jeb Cashin

Photius

The Observer

Weekend

The Notre Dame Student Union Presents

The Honourable Sally Oppenheim MP

The Lessons of the Falkland Islands and Current Government Policy in Great Britain

Monday 8-90 pm October 4 Library Auditorium

Senior Bar

Rock to the sound of APEX this Saturday Nite at SENIOR BAR

open 9:30 till 2:00 a.m.

Campus

Friday, October 1, 1982 — page 19

Simon

Garry Trudeau

Jeb Cashin

Photius

The Observer

Weekend

The Notre Dame Student Union Presents

The Honourable Sally Oppenheim MP

The Lessons of the Falkland Islands and Current Government Policy in Great Britain

Monday 8-90 pm October 4 Library Auditorium

Senior Bar

Rock to the sound of APEX this Saturday Nite at SENIOR BAR

open 9:30 till 2:00 a.m.

Campus
Sports

Soccer team

Notre Dame entertains Flyers

By AL GNOZA

Sports Writer

After Tuesday's 5-1 victory at Loyola of Chicago, the Notre Dame soccer team will be at home tonight as they entertain the Flyers from Dayton. The Irish are hoping to improve upon their 5-3-1 record.

Despite their less than torrid start, all Irish fans can take solace for an NCAA tournament bid, according to Irish head coach Mark Luetkehans.

"The bids are handed out Friday," Luetkehans said. "All hope is not lost for an NCAA bid. With our team's performance in our last two matches, we can qualify for the NCAA tournament." The Irish have a shot at qualifying for the NCAA tournament if they win tonight against Dayton. The match will be held at 7 p.m. at Alumni Stadium.

AL baseball roundup; division races tighten

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Willie Aikens hit a grand slam home run and a solo home run for Kansas City, and the Kansas City Royals past Oakland with a three-game series at home against the Oakland A's, 10-1, and 15-5. Veteran players Loret Miles, Joey Hofh, and Joe Herdegen were the goal scorers for Notre Dame in the second half goal.

Fred Stanley hit a two-run homer in the first for Oakland, off winner Paul Splittorff, 10-10, who went six innings for the win. Dwayne Murphy hit a two-run shot in the eighth for Oakland, his 26th.

ANAHiem, Calif. (AP) — After two straight losses at Kansas City, when just one victory would have given them the American League West title, the California Angels had a welcome rest from pennant pressure yesterday.

The first Angel off the bench Sept. 9 will be followed by a season-ending three-game series at Anaheim Stadium against the Texas Rangers. Victories in two of the three games, tonight Sunday and afternoon, would secure the Angels the California Angels had a welcome rest from pennant pressure yesterday.

The final Angel off the bench Sept. 9 will be followed by a season-ending three-game series at Anaheim Stadium against the Texas Rangers. Victories in two of the three games, tonight Sunday and afternoon, would secure the Angels the American League West title.

The Angels also could back into the pennant of Kansas City by winning one game against the Tigers. Depending on the outcome of the game.

A U S T R A L I A To win, the Angels needed a victory over the Tigers. However, the difference in talent was so great that the scores should not have been as close as they were.

The second and final match against St. Francis College began as a slaughter, but turned out to be a victor's duel as Bethel College took a 2-1 lead against the Irish.

The final match was no contest as the Irish finally set the record straight, and ran away with the last game by a score of 15-5. The Ireland's star player was the last game was no contest as the Irish finally set the record straight, and ran away with the last game by a score of 15-5.

Saint Mary’s defeats Purdue-Cal.

By CORINNE FLORES

Sports Writer

The Saint Mary's volleyball team was victorious last night in their first home game. All 12 players saw action in all 25 of the games that it took the Bells to defeat Purdue-Calumet in this best of five game match.

The game scores were 15-5, 15-13, 15-5. Veteran players Loren Haney, Marianne Viola, and Ann Broussard set the pace for the match which ended in a short 50 minutes. Broussard's quick attack thrilled the crowd and scored frequently for the Bells. Strong hitting by the Saint Mary's team dominated the game.

Following the victory, Coach Jim Murphy remarked, "I was pleased with our team's performance tonight. We drilled and worked hard all week and we translated that success to the court tonight from our loss to Northwestern in last Friday. We were able to run a quick offense and out pass was impeccable. But we could have been a little stiffer on serve." The Saint Mary's volleyball team easily defeated Purdue-Calumet yesterday. See Corinne Flores story at left. (Photo by Scott Bower)

Notre Dame wins tournament

By MIKE SULLIVAN

Sports Writer

The Notre Dame women's volleyball team expected some easy wins last night when it hosted a four-team tournament, but a combination of poor play and some surprisingly tough competition forced the Irish to work hard for their victories.

In the opener of the evening, Notre Dame routed Bethel College by scores of 15-6, 15-8, and 15-5. The C side had a real cliffhanger as rookie John Tusk kicked off the game with a service error, but Notre Dame eventually won the game.

The Irish could not have been as close as they were. However, the difference in talent was so great that the scores should not have been as close as they were.

The second and final match against St. Francis College began as a slaughter, but turned out to be a victor's duel as Bethel College took a 2-1 lead against the Irish.

The last game was no contest as the Irish finally set the record straight, and ran away with the last game by a score of 15-5. The Ireland's star player was the last game was no contest as the Irish finally set the record straight, and ran away with the last game by a score of 15-5.

Notre Dame soccer team will try to achieve a NCAA birth as they beat Dayton today. See Al Gnoza at left. (Photo by Scott Bower)

Women's volleyball

Notre Dame wins tournament

The Notre Dame Rugby Club played host to Purdue last weekend and squeaked by with two victories. The A side kept their undefeated season by walking away with a 4-2 victory over the B side. The B side played the best of the three sides, but were on South Bend's field playing Battle Creek. They were also as fortunate as they were beaten by the experienced A side club. The last match was no contest as the Irish simply ran away with the game.

The C side had a real cliffhanger as rookie John Tusk kicked off the game with a service error, but Notre Dame eventually won the game.

However, the difference in talent was so great that the scores should not have been as close as they were.

The second and final match against St. Francis College began as a slaughter, but turned out to be a victim's duel as Bethel College took a 2-1 lead against the Irish.

The last game was no contest as the Irish finally set the record straight, and ran away with the last game by a score of 15-5. The Ireland's star player was the last game was no contest as the Irish finally set the record straight, and ran away with the last game by a score of 15-5.

The task was not only a challenge for the Irish, but also required a lot of hard work from the coach and players. "The problem is that they knew they would win, but didn't know how to do it," explained Assistant Coach Dan Anderson. "They just don't get in the game unless it's a pressure situation. They need motivation. They have to have a coach yelling at them all the time."

The Irish's victory was evident in their second game against St. Francis, at least not early in the match. The Cougars had won their first match easily, but they did not look ready for the Notre Dame offense.

However, the difference in talent was so great that the scores should not have been as close as they were.

The second and final match against St. Francis College began as a slaughter, but turned out to be a victim's duel as Bethel College took a 2-1 lead against the Irish.

The last game was no contest as the Irish finally set the record straight, and ran away with the last game by a score of 15-5. The Ireland's star player was the last game was no contest as the Irish finally set the record straight, and ran away with the last game by a score of 15-5.