In Showcase

By PAT SAIN
Staff Reporter

Plans to build a new swimming pool complex next to the ACC are nearly complete, said Gene Corrigan, director of athletics. A recent anonymous "large gift" to the University's athletic endowment fund has made the addition possible.

Construction for the pool is tentatively scheduled to begin in September, and is expected to be completed in a year, but "nothing is certain at this point," Corrigan said. The new pool will be located in the area behind the ACC, which was once a parking lot.

The fund, begun in July 1981 to provide money for indoor tennis courts and a swimming pool, now amounts to over $1 million. Corrigan said the Universe met with five different consultants, including Elleher Architecture, and presented each with a plan outlining the pool's intended use. Proposals are expected to be returned in a month. "They will probably come back and say we want something different," said Corrigan.

"This is primarily a swimming pool addition, and we want to do it right," he said. "If we over-planned, however, that the new "multi-purpose" pool will be used for several programs, and not just the varsity teams.

The ideal pool would be 50 meters long and 25 yards wide. (The Rockne pool is 25 yards long.) This would permit recreational swimming, men's and women's varsity swimming practice and possibly diving, Corrigan said.

The problem associated with a 50-meter pool was the lack of space, Louis Hurck, a physical education instructor, said.

Dr. Michael Crowe

"Dr. Michael Crowe addresses pluralism"

By TOM PACE
News Staff

Is there really a man in the moon? According to Michael Crowe, the author of the Program of Liberal Studies, this was once a popular belief. Crowe addressed the issue of extraterrestrials yesterday in his lecture "in the universe and all should repent and emulate their more virtuous interplanetary brethren."

Crowe suggested that PAT, second anniversary of his inaugura-

The circulation of the Sun has been estimated at 8,000, but Crowe's incredible story raised that number to 12,000, and from there the story spread quickly. The speculation ended with Crowe revealing the true nature of his story to a fellow spectator.

Crowe said that the "Moon Hoax" was clever satire on the part of Locke. Crowe claimed that Horsley laughed uproariously over the incident.

Crowe also talked about the tension which existed between Christians and pluralists in the 19th century. Thomas Paine was one of the leading proponents of pluralism prior to this century. In his work "Age of Reason," Paine attacked Christianity as practiced during his lifetime. Paine argued that "although the existence of intelligent life only on earth is not a specific Christian doctrine, it is nonetheless so worked up therewith from the story of Eve and the apple that to believe otherwise renders the Christian system of faith at once little and ridiculous." On the other side of the issue, Crowe said that pluralists also supported Christianity. Timothy Dwight, former president of Yale University, used pluralism to convince his audiences that earthlings are the worst life form in the universe and all should repent and emulate their more virtuous interplanetary brethren.

Crowe suggested that PAT, third anniversary of his inaugura-

Scientists expect debris of satellite to miss U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Pentagon estimated yesterday that there is a 15 percent chance that debris from a disabled nuclear-powered Soviet spy satellite will hit the earth this month, carrying a nuclear reactor, sometime between Sunday and Monday afternoon.

Spokesman Henry Canto told reporters that experts have predicted the entry of the satellite, which carries a nuclear reactor, sometime between Sunday and Monday afternoon.

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Reagan who swept into office promising prosperity and balanced budgets, observed the mid-point of his third year yesterday contending the nation was entering a "season of hope" even if economic recovery still proved elusive.

Reagan offered a personal appraisal of his stewardship in the first term - he has yet to officially announce he will seek a second term in office. This recession had been coming on for several years and gradually growing worse," he said.

Recalling that when John F. Kennedy took office he was surprised to find that things were as bad as he had been saying they were, Reagan said, "In my case, the biggest surprise was finding out that they were even worse. And it's a real human tragedy that so many of our people today are still suffering from the political mistakes of the past that we've finally started to correct.

Reagan said he foresees "an American economy and an America on the mend." He laid out no timetable for how long it would take to heal the country's economic ailments.

Reagan said "nearly every economic indicator shows us heading into recovery," but he did not mention that unemployment has increased from 7.4 percent when he took office to 10.8 percent last month.

Reagan, who had promised a balanced budget by 1985, suggested that anything about the high deficits in his budget. The fiscal year 1984 deficit is expected to be about $150 billion. After Reagan's appearance, Democratic National Chairman Charles T. Manatt issued a response saying Reagan had put the nation on a course of unfairness and mis-management, and suggesting the Republican president was seeing things differently from the rest of the country.

"Let us hope for the good of the nation that the Year of the Vision as seen by President Reagan bears a fleeting resemblance to reality, which would be a marked improvement over his detached performance in the first two failed years of his administration," Manatt said.

Without divulging any details of the 1984 budget he will present to Congress on Jan. 31, Reagan promised it would be "fair, realistic, and would pave the way for a strong sustained recovery."

"Though he recently has been beseeched with criticism from business leaders, black, and conservatives this week alone - he brushed aside his problems, saying, "You must be doing something right when you're getting rocks thrown at you from both sides."

And despite recent Gallup poll found Reagan's job approval rating of 51 percent is much lower than his recent predecessors at a similar point. Reagan's spirits seemed high when he arrived in the press room to render his personal verdict of his own presidency.

"How time flies when you're having fun," the president quipped.

"A 25 x 25 meter pool is another alternative. Hurck said. A pool of this size would be the largest which could fit in the area without relocating Carter. Hurck believes that the new pool will be ideal for teaching beginners, swimming classes because of the large shallow end it will have. The Rockne pool in Rockne Memorial is only 12 feet wide and 42 feet long."

Activity is planned for the new pool as recreation swimming, water polo, swimming, scuba and physical education classes. Corrigan said the schedule for the new pool will be filled with without any trouble, even with the Rockne pool still in full time use. Corrigan indicated that students and the rest of the Notre Dame community will have priority in the use of the pool. Area high schools and swim teams may be able to use the pool during times when student use is low.
News Briefs

The Department of Architecture at Notre Dame has been renamed the School of Architecture because of several differences between the degree programs of architecture and engineering. This was done at the College of Engineering. The change was proposed last October to the Engineering College Council, submitted to University officials and approved by the provost. The new department will be part of the College of Engineering, the professional degree program in architecture has been perceived as an engineering program in spite of differences in the accredited degree programs, national academic associations, required professional memberships, professional registrations, national certifications and national professional associations. Although the School of Architecture will remain within the College of Engineering, the change in designation will be reflected in the University Bulletin of Information describing architecture courses, degree requirements, student organizations and awards under a separate "School of Architecture" within the College of Engineering Information Section. Similarly, future commencement programs will distinguish bachelor of architecture degree recipients separately from recipients of baccalaureate of science in engineering degrees, though still under the general heading of the College of Engineering.

The Observer

Want campus housing? If so, the deadline for housing contracts is Feb. 2, according to Student Government Housing Commissioner Jorge Valencia. All students living on campus next fall should receive contracts in the mail by today. Valencia suggested that students interested in off-campus housing contact the Off-Campus Housing Office on the third floor of the Administration Building.

The Observer

An organizational meeting for students interested in participating in the Two Cities North campus Freezer Coalition will be held Sunday at 7 p.m. in the Social Concerns Room in LaFonayette. The group is sponsoring the nuclear freeze referendum on the ballot in the upcoming student body elections.

The Observer

Here in South Bend, a march sponsored by the Southern Christian Leadership Conference on Sunday will also recognize the tenth anniversary of the Roe v. Wade pro-abortion Supreme Court decision. John May of Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s Right to Life said students in the College of Engineering, the professional degree program in architecture has been perceived as an engineering program in spite of differences in the accredited degree programs, national academic associations, required professional memberships, professional registrations, national certifications and national professional associations. Although the School of Architecture will remain within the College of Engineering, the change in designation will be reflected in the University Bulletin of Information describing architecture courses, degree requirements, student organizations and awards under a separate "School of Architecture" within the College of Engineering Information Section. Similarly, future commencement programs will distinguish bachelor of architecture degree recipients separately from recipients of baccalaureate of science in engineering degrees, though still under the general heading of the College of Engineering. The observer.

The Observer

Right to Life of Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s will send 30 students to attend the March on Washington tomorrow to convince politicians to pass the proposed pro-life amendments. About 150,000 people are expected for this march, ten years after the famous Roe v. Wade Supreme Court decision that allowed abortion on demand at noon on White House fence line, were accompanied by a small printed card bearing the words of Thomas Jefferson. "This red rose is the symbol of the pro-life movement," the card read. "We present it to you, on this the 10th anniversary of the U.S. Supreme Court decision legalizing abortion, in memory of the more than 15 million American babies killed by abortion since Jan. 22, 1973." On Jan. 22, 1973, the Supreme Court struck down Texas’ criminal abortion law and those of other states on the grounds that they violated women’s constitutional right to privacy. The main goal was to get the people of South Bend, the South, and the world to realize that abortion is a human right. The observer.

The Observer

Red roses were laid on the desks of all 150 Indiana legislators yesterday in a silent protest of the landmark U.S. Supreme Court decision that legalized abortion. The roses, distributed by a Delaware Right to Life office, were accompanied by a small printed card bearing the words of Thomas Jefferson. "This red rose is the symbol of the pro-life movement," the card read. "We present it to you, on this the 10th anniversary of the U.S. Supreme Court decision legalizing abortion, in memory of the more than 15 million American babies killed by abortion since Jan. 22, 1973." On Jan. 22, 1973, the Supreme Court struck down Texas’ criminal abortion law and those of other states on the grounds that they violated women’s constitutional right to privacy. The main goal was to get the people of South Bend, the South, and the world to realize that abortion is a human right. The observer.

The Observer

An eighth-grader who had quarreled with two other students shot them with a pistol in a crowded study hall yesterday and then turned the gun on himself. He died later. Three of the other boys was badly wounded, authorities said. The third youth was taken to a hospital, where his condition was not immediately known. Police said the intended. The March begins at the beginning of the school year and concludes at St. Patrick’s Church. Notre Dame Professor of Architecture Carolian will deliver an address on the abortion issue.

The Observer

Today Father Hesburgh, 63-year-old is sworn in for his fourth term as governor. Alabama, January 17, 1983 The wheelchair bound 63-year-old is sworn in for his fourth term as governor. Alabama, January 17, 1983 The wheelchair bound 63-year-old is sworn in for his fourth term as governor.

The Observer

Mardi Gras non-sculpture contest

The Observer

Cloudy and cold today with a 20 percent chance for light snow late. The high will be in the low 40s and the low will be in the mid 30s. Conditions for snow showers will be in the mid and upper 20s. Cloudy tomorrow with a good chance for snow possible mixed with freezing rain and sleet. The high will be in the low and mid 30s.

The Observer

Friday, January 21, 1983 — page 2

The New South

The scene: the University of Alabama, May 21, 1963. A federal district judge orders the university to admit two black students, William Moore and James Hood, despite the wishes of Alabama Governor George Wallace.

The New South

I am the embodiment of the sovereignty of this state, and I will be present to arbitrate the entry of any Negro who attempts to enroll. Wallace cautiously states that although Wallace later backs down after President Kennedy federalizes the National Guard, his words express the determinate racism that exist in the South. The scene changes: the Capitol steps, Montgomery, Alabama. Wallace is heckled, a young woman of 19 years old is sworn in for his fourth term as governor. The observer.

The Observer

March 21, 1983 — the Observer

The observer.

The New South

The scene: the University of Alabama, May 21, 1963. A federal district judge orders the university to admit two black students, William Moore and James Hood, despite the wishes of Alabama Governor George Wallace.

The New South

I am the embodiment of the sovereignty of this state, and I will be present to arbitrate the entry of any Negro who attempts to enroll. Wallace cautiously states that although Wallace later backs down after President Kennedy federalizes the National Guard, his words express the determinate racism that exist in the South. The scene changes: the Capitol steps, Montgomery, Alabama. Wallace is heckled, a young woman of 19 years old is sworn in for his fourth term as governor. The observer.

The Observer

March 21, 1983 — the Observer

The observer.

The New South

The scene: the University of Alabama, May 21, 1963. A federal district judge orders the university to admit two black students, William Moore and James Hood, despite the wishes of Alabama Governor George Wallace.

The New South

I am the embodiment of the sovereignty of this state, and I will be present to arbitrate the entry of any Negro who attempts to enroll. Wallace cautiously states that although Wallace later backs down after President Kennedy federalizes the National Guard, his words express the determinate racism that exist in the South. The scene changes: the Capitol steps, Montgomery, Alabama. Wallace is heckled, a young woman of 19 years old is sworn in for his fourth term as governor. The observer.

The Observer

March 21, 1983 — the Observer

The observer.

The New South

The scene: the University of Alabama, May 21, 1963. A federal district judge orders the university to admits two black students, William Moore and James Hood, despite the wishes of Alabama Governor George Wallace.

The New South

I am the embodiment of the sovereignty of this state, and I will be present to arbitrate the entry of any Negro who attempts to enroll. Wallace cautiously states that although Wallace later backs down after President Kennedy federalizes the National Guard, his words express the determinate racism that exist in the South. The scene changes: the Capitol steps, Montgomery, Alabama. Wallace is heckled, a young woman of 19 years old is sworn in for his fourth term as governor. The observer.

The Observer

March 21, 1983 — the Observer

The observer.

The New South

The scene: the University of Alabama, May 21, 1963. A federal district judge orders the university to admit two black students, William Moore and James Hood, despite the wishes of Alabama Governor George Wallace.

The New South

I am the embodiment of the sovereignty of this state, and I will be present to arbitrate the entry of any Negro who attempts to enroll. Wallace cautiously states that although Wallace later backs down after President Kennedy federalizes the National Guard, his words express the determinate racism that exist in the South. The scene changes: the Capitol steps, Montgomery, Alabama. Wallace is heckled, a young woman of 19 years old is sworn in for his fourth term as governor. The observer.

The Observer

March 21, 1983 — the Observer

The observer.

The New South

The scene: the University of Alabama, May 21, 1963. A federal district judge orders the university to admit two black students, William Moore and James Hood, despite the wishes of Alabama Governor George Wallace.

The New South

I am the embodiment of the sovereignty of this state, and I will be present to arbitrate the entry of any Negro who attempts to enroll. Wallace cautiously states that although Wallace later backs down after President Kennedy federalizes the National Guard, his words express the determinate racism that exist in the South. The scene changes: the Capitol steps, Montgomery, Alabama. Wallace is heckled, a young woman of 19 years old is sworn in for his fourth term as governor. The observer.

The Observer

March 21, 1983 — the Observer

The observer.

The New South

The scene: the University of Alabama, May 21, 1963. A federal district judge orders the university to admit two black students, William Moore and James Hood, despite the wishes of Alabama Governor George Wallace.

The New South

I am the embodiment of the sovereignty of this state, and I will be present to arbitrate the entry of any Negro who attempts to enroll. Wallace cautiously states that although Wallace later backs down after President Kennedy federalizes the National Guard, his words express the determinate racism that exist in the South. The scene changes: the Capitol steps, Montgomery, Alabama. Wallace is heckled, a young woman of 19 years old is sworn in for his fourth term as governor. The observer.

The Observer

March 21, 1983 — the Observer

The observer.
Fieldhouse to fall in March

By MARY EASTDAY

News Staff

With the lack of extreme winter weather this year, the Notre Dame maintenance department has seen a reduction in costs. Personnel, however, have used the extra time to work on projects usually done later in the year.

"Because of the mild winter weather we've had this year, we are now two months ahead of the schedule where the students had scarce opportunity to interact and observe the operations of their fellow artists.

The recently renovated chemistry building is a fine example of the Art Department. The reactions of the architecture students toward the new building have been positive: Dan Shannon, a fifth-year architecture student, said that the renovation of a building again in bad condition was "a blessing."

Fern also noted, "The students already have a different attitude here."

Annie Burcham, fifth-year architecture major, feels "something should be done six years ago in preserving the Old Fieldhouse. They cannot do it now, because it is beyond restoration."

The "It's Great To Be A Sophomore" event, sponsored by Notre Mary's Sophomore Council, will begin tomorow with a different activity each day. The council, however, have had the idea for the past two months," Hageman said. "I think sophomore year is a difficult one to get through. School is not new and exciting anymore, yet there is still a long road to graduation. I think sophomore year is a really special year that can still be enjoyed so we sponsor a week to give sophomores a break from the everyday routine, to see how special Saint Mary's can be, and to show that sophomore year isn't all hard work," she said. The sophomore class officers have had the idea for the "It's Great To Be A Sophomore" week since beginning their terms. "The council, especially social commissioners Tracy Bisaider, Mary Sue Harris, and Debbie Pascente, have been working hard on the week's activities for about two months," Hageman said. "It should be a great week for our students."

"Snowplowing is one of the roughest operations on the grounds and equipment. Moorman said they have not had to use any major snow-removing equipment, which has eliminated the usual repair and maintenance costs.

There has been no damage done to fences, shrubs and sod by snowplowing because of the lack of snow.

The maintenance department worked 12 consecutive days last January and February removing snow. Moorman estimates it takes approximately 10 to 12 hours to completely plow all of the streets, sidewalks and parking lots after a snowstorm.

"Unless we are plowing snow in April or May, it should be a good winter for grounds and maintenance," Moorman predicted.

Mild winter weather cuts maintenance costs

By MARY ANN POTTER

Staff Reporter

The '56 Great To Be A Sophomore, sponsored by Notre Mary's Sophomore Council, will begin tomorrow with a different activity each day planned each day of the week for the students. Organizers hope that the "Students will be able to overcome the 'sophomore slump' they think many sophomores suffer from.

"Screw-Your-Roommate Tubing" at Bishops Woods will begin the week of festivities tomorrow night from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. Following the tubing will be a party in the Holy Cross Hall parlors with a WNO disc jockey and refreshments.

The activities planned for Sunday include a Sophomore Class Mass at 11:30 a.m. in Regina Chapel. Sophomores will have the opportunity to go skiing at the ACC from 9-6 p.m. to 11:15 p.m. A senior/sophomore party will be held Monday from 5-10 p.m. to 5-10 p.m. in the Holy Cross Hall parlors.

Sophomore Recreation Night will take place in Atlanta Athletic Center on Tuesday from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. Volleyball, basketball, racquetball and aerobics will be available for sophomores. Prizes awarded to the winning teams.

This will be an "Ice Cream Crazy" Wednesday from 6-10 p.m. in Regina North Lounge. The Sophomore Council has planned a Happy Hour with Morrissey Mansion from 5-7 p.m. for next Friday.

The activities will end with the Sophomore Class Ski Trip which is planned in cooperation with the Notre Dame Sophomore Council. The ski trip will be at Tamarack Lodge, Resort next Saturday and Sunday. Originally, 220 students were signed up for the trip. However, because of cancellations, only 170 will make the trip, according to ski trip commissioner Annie Zwicki and Joel Hilt.

The purpose of the week also helps sophomores through the "sophomore slump" according to Sophomore Class President Cara Hageman. "I think sophomore year is a difficult one to get through. School is not new and exciting anymore, yet there is still a long road to graduation. I think sophomore year is a really special year that can still be enjoyed so we sponsor a week to give sophomores a break from the everyday routine, to see how special Saint Mary's can be, and to show that sophomore year isn't all hard work," she said. The sophomore class officers have had the idea for the "It's Great To Be A Sophomore" week since beginning their terms. "The council, especially social commissioners Tracy Bisaider, Mary Sue Harris, and Debbie Pascente, have been working hard on the week's activities for about two months," Hageman said. "It should be a great week for our students."

A week such as this had never been planned for sophomores before, according to Hageman. "We hope to start a new tradition at Saint Mary's for sophomores," she added.
Friday, January 21, 1983 — page 4

Man hijacks jetliner over Pacific Northwest

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A man claiming to have a bomb and saying he wanted to go to Afghanistan hijacked a Northwest Airlines jetliner carrying 41 people from Seattle to Portland yesterday, authorities said.

The Boeing 727 landed at Portland International Airport on schedule at 2 p.m. PST and was detained near an "isolation trailer" close to the airport fire department while the FBI negotiated.

No injuries were reported to any of the 35 passengers or six crew members aboard Flight 608.

FBI negotiators were talking with the crew by radio, said Susan Whitefield, Portland airport spokeswoman. FBI negotiator Darwyn Schneider was at the scene, she said, and a bomb squad stood by.

Federal Aviation Administration spokesman Dennis Jeffman in Washington said the plane reported as the plane was north of Portland that there was "a hijacker about claiming to have a bomb."

Ms. Whitefield said the hijacker was a man and had no accomplices. She said he was wanted to go to Afghanistan but the crew said he did not have enough range to get there.

Brent Baskfield, vice president for communications of Northwest Airlines, said in Minneapolis that the airline and law enforcement agencies "have marshaled every possible resource to ensure the safety of the passengers and the crew and to bring about the successful termination of this incident."

Darrell Bowers, an airport spokesman, said other operations continued normally.

One of the most famous hijackings in history also involved a Northwest jetliner that was hijacked from Seattle. On Thanksgiving Eve 1971, a man identified only as D.B. Cooper parachuted over southeast Washington taking with him $200,000 he had extracted from the airline.

Cooper has not been seen since, but 15,800 in soggy $20 bills was found by a boy on the shore of the Columbia River near Portland in February 1980.

The most recent domestic hijacking attempts came on the night of Dec. 30, when an unemployed pilot threatening to detonate a bomb tried to take over a limited-fleet Airline flight carrying 76 people from Oakland to Portland.

Michael James Will, 50, of Colorado Springs, Colo., who said he wanted to be flown to Washington, was persuaded to surrender peacefully.

He was not carrying any explosives.

Hijackings, which plagued the nation's airlines during the 1970s, declined drastically after September 1980, when Cuban President Fidel Castro vowed to punish air pirates who hijacked planes to his island nation.

The Cuban government said it would either return hijackers to the United States for prosecution or punish them in Cuba.

Economists expect low inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Inflation, slowed by the recession, likely ran around 4.5 percent last year to turn in its best performance in a decade, economists say.

"It was a very good year on inflation," Allen Sinai, senior economist at the Lexington, Mass., consulting firm of Data Resources Inc., said in advance of today's release of the final 1983 price tally.

Sinai and other private economists were expecting the increase in the Labor Department's Consumer Price Index to be well under the 8.9 percent in 1981 and the 12.4 percent in 1980.

In December alone, economists were looking for consumer prices to hold steady or, at the most, climb a tiny 0.1 percent to 0.2 percent, after seasonal adjustment. They even said there was a chance of a slight dip in those costs, which, if so, would be the second time in a year they actually fall.

Consumer prices rose 0.1 percent in November and 0.5 percent in October.

In addition to the recession, the improved inflation results have been attributed to plentiful harvests and the worldwide oil surplus which has kept both gasoline and home heating oil prices.

Another major inflation measure, the Producer Price Index for finished goods, also recorded its best performance in 1982 since the early 1970s.

The department reported last week that the index climbed 5.4 percent last year, the smallest rise since 1971 and less than half the gain of 1981.
Social Security reform

Commission offers new plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Commission on Social Security Reform sent President Reagan yesterday its $1.68 trillion blueprint for pulling the system back from the brink of a financial crisis that threatens to delay retirees' checks this summer.

A majority of the commission, which was formed in January to study the area of most Soviet missile and space launch activity — officials said until age 66 to draw full Social Security benefits. The retirement age also would eventually go up automatically with any gains in life expectancies.

That is not part of the commission's proposal. But a 2.2 trillion calorie budgeting for Social Security's million beneficiaries. Higher payroll taxes in 1984, 1986 and 1989 for employers and employees, a permanently higher payroll tax on the self-employed starting in 1984, and the lowered federal and non-profit groups into the system next year.

The rescue plan also includes a so-called "stabilizer" that could trim cost-of-living increases in 1988 and beyond if the trust funds fall below a 20 percent reserve level.

The package would not only solve Social Security's crisis in the 1980s, but it would also guarantee the future of the system's long-range $1.6 trillion deficit over the next 30 years.

The rescue plan also includes a so-called "stabilizer" that could trim cost-of-living increases in 1988 and beyond if the trust funds fall below a 20 percent reserve level.

The package would not only solve Social Security's crisis in the 1980s, but it would also guarantee the future of the system's long-range $1.6 trillion deficit over the next 30 years.
A public service message from the Internal Revenue Service

BEER AND WINE
Available on Sundays too!
Francesco is a former chef of the Holy Cross Fathers for over 20 years

IRS TAX TIPS
On Accuracy

When filing your tax return you can help yourself to a faster, refined and save time and effort by:

- Attaching your W-2 forms from all your employers
- Attaching all supporting documents and schedules,
- Using the pre-addressed label and coded envelope and if you pay a preparer have him or her use your label and envelope.
- Checking your math,
- Signing the return (you and your spouse must both sign if married and filing jointly).

Enjoy helping others?
Do you like to be with children?
Volunteer for the new Pediatrics Visitation Program at St. Joseph Medical Center call 800-222-3242 by June 29

Karma Ibsen-Riley, above, playwright and actress, will open Women's Opportunity Week at Saint Mary's with an 8 p.m. presentation of her play "Nine Women." Ibsen-Riley is one of five prominent career women who will be visiting Saint Mary's next week to participate in the WOW celebration. For more information, see story at right. (Photo by Mercy)

The Observer
Friday, January 21, 1983 — page 6

Oppportunity Week opens Sunday

By MARGARET FOSMOE
Saint Mary's Executive Editor

A playwright, a diplomat-turned author, an English professor, a doctor and a syndicated newspaper columnist visiting Saint Mary's next week all have something in common.

They are all women.

Presentations by five professional women will highlight Saint Mary's sixth annual Women's Opportunity
Week opening Sunday at the Colgele.

Women's Opportunity Week
(WOW) is a week dedicated to "commemorating the lives of women and (their) achievements," according to Erin Flood, coordinator of next week's activities.

Karma Ibsen-Riley, a playwright and actress, will present her critically acclaimed three play, Nine Women Sunday at 8 p.m. in the Little Theatre of Moreau Hall.

The drama features a series of monologues, three in each act, of nine different women who Ibsen-
Riley has befriended during her life.

An unique aspect of the play is the on-stage costume and makeup changes. Nine Women is directed by Gary Ambler.

The play was first presented in Champaign, Ill., and Ibsen-Riley has since staged it throughout the Midwest.

Ibsen-Riley received a bachelor's and master's degree in theater from the University of Nebraska. She currently lives in Champaign where she works as a playwright, composer, director, actress, musician, teacher and part-time bartender.

Louisa Kennedy, who served as spokesperson for the families of the hostages held in Iran, will be WOW's featured speaker on Monday. Kendey will speak on "Risk Taking:
Chance, Challenge and Choice" at 8 p.m. Monday in Carroll Hall.

Kennedy, who attended Sarah
Lawrence College, directed a spokesperson of the Family Action Group in Washington, D.C., while her husband was held hostage.

Kennedy resigned from the U.S.
State Department and currently is volunteering with the building project of St. John's Cathedral as well as directing the Cathedral Peace Institute.

Kennedy will also give a presentation with her husband, Michael C.
Kennedy, Jr., former acting economic advisor to the U.S. Enhans in Tehran, at Notre Dame on Tuesday. The couple will speak at 8 p.m. in the Library Auditorium. That presentation is sponsored by the Francesco's Italian Dining

Original Southern Italian Home Cooking
Everything is a homemade

1636 N. Ironwood
Ph: 277-6156
6566
Deliveries Available to ND & SMC

Specializing in:
Staccato la Carbonara
Minnestom stuffed eggplant
Brazcillli stuffed beef roll
And a variety of pastas and sandwiches Also Featuring:
Francesco's Four Swam Rizza

1516 N. Ironwood
just east of campus
Mon-Sat 11am-1am
sun 4pm-12:30am

Live Entertainment and Dancing
starting at 8pm Sunday and 9pm Wed-Sat
Full Dining Available till midnight!
Your Host - Ron Digier, ND, 94

WOW announces schedule

Karma Ibsen-Riley — Actress, Sunday, 4 p.m., Little Theater
Louisa Kennedy — Lecturer, Author, Monday, 4 p.m., Carroll Hall
Mary Harris VeeDer — English, Pulitzer Prize winner, "The Prize," 8:30 p.m., Stapleton Lounge, LeMars Hall
Kathryn Metter — Physician, National Organization for Women, 8 p.m., Carroll Hall
Niki Scott — Newspaper columnist, "Choice, Chance and Challenge," 8 p.m., Monday in Carroll Hall

WOW was in its sixth year in 1980 by three senators at the College, according to Flood. It was originated because the students felt Saint Mary's as a leading women's institution should have a celebration of wom-

WOW is sponsored by Saint
Mary's Student Government.
All performances and lectures
during the series are free and open to the public.

WOW is sponsored by Saint
Mary's Student Government.
All performances and lectures
during the series are free and open
to the public.

WOW is sponsored by Saint
Mary's Student Government.
All performances and lectures
during the series are free and open
to the public.

WOW is sponsored by Saint
Mary's Student Government.
Highest unemployment rate

West Virginia suffers 'depression'

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Hundreds of state workers got pink slips this week, Gov. Jim Rockefeller gave up his salary, and his wife gave up serving dinner to the governor's mansion.

These are signs of the times in West Virginia, where the nation's highest unemployment rate and a state government heading for a constitutionally prohibited deficit have officials talking depression instead of recession.

Rockefeller's sacrifices are merely symbolic for a man who spent $11.5 million of his own money two years ago to win re-election. But he is pressing over what his finance commissioner calls the state's worst financial crisis since the Great Depression.

On Wednesday, Rockefeller announced dramatic cost cuts in state spending to avert a $91 million deficit at the end of the fiscal year June 30. West Virginia's constitution prohibits deficit spending.

While the Rockefellers make do without shrimp and with three fewer housekeepers, state services to the poor are being cut back even as state government layoffs increase the number of unemployed.

Storms, cold weather batter U.S.

A winter storm iced Dixie from Missouri to the Carolinas on Thursday, closing schools, knocking out power and glaring highways, while hurricane-force winds buffeted the Gulf Coast.

The fierce winds, boiling 25-foot waves, dumped 9 inches of snow in parts of Maryland, and contributed to coastal flooding from Louisiana to North Carolina.

Schools were closed in many Deep South cities including Atlanta and Birmingham, Ala., as roads were clogged with treacherous freezing rains.

The homes and businesses of about 25,000 people across Michigan lost power and Harrison County Mayor Richard Aragon signed an emergency disaster order. Gov. George Wallace called off a special session of the legislature.

Many cities of the Northeast were number by record cold and the crowds grew at shelters for the

Seem'd a moral man'

Victimized woman testifies

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A woman who agreed to marry alleged bigamist Giovanni Vigglio testified yesterday that he seemed to be a 'moral man,' but eventually took off with the remains of her store inven-

It seemed to me he was a moral man, a true gentleman; a sincere man more importantly, a gentleman," testified Jean Bacarella, 45, of Malanapan, N.Y.

But Vigglio, her son and a rented truck with $100,000 in her merchandise vanished as she waited frantically for him in Sarasota, Fla. She said: "I realized that I had been victimized, and my prince turned into a frog," she said.

Two women who did marry Vigglio have testified they also met him at flea markets and that he vanished with thousands of dollars worth of their goods shortly after their own were exchanged.

 Gov. Jay Rockefeller of West Virginia's constitution prohibits deficit spending. While the Rockefellers make do without shrimp and with three fewer housekeepers, state services to the poor are being cut back even as state government layoffs increase the number of unemployed.

They left New Jersey. Gov. Rockefeller and Mrs. Bacarella were driving the truck and a friend of Viggio's was in a van with her three children. She said in South Carolina she said Viggio picked up another of Viggio's young Florida friends and he described the pair as his "spiritual adoptive sons.'

She said the young men took over the truck driving and were to meet her and Viggio in Sarasota. She said he left with the van and never came back, leaving her stranded with her three children and the clothes they were wearing. Authorities recovered the van in April, Harrison County of Ram, Mich., ended her testimony Wednesday. She said she married Viggio on June 15, 1981, in Jersey, Ten., after quitting her job as stagehand of a recreational camp and flea market in Indiana.

The lawyer for Viggio, 55, had told the court that the defendant married more than 100 women in 18 states and nine foreign countries.

He is on trial in Maricopa County Superior Court for his Nov. 16, 1981, marriage to Patricia Ann Gardner, 42, who has testified he vanished two weeks after their marriage with nearly $40,000 in cash and property belonging to her.

Mrs. Bacarella, who has three children, said that in Feb. 1980 when she agreed to marry Viggio who had been separated from her hus-

He proposed the next day and she accepted a couple of days after that, she said.

Mrs. Bacarella said Viggio joined her upon her return to New

The lower for Viggio, 55, has told the court that the defendant married more than 100 women in 18 states and nine foreign countries.

He is on trial in Maricopa County Superior Court for his Nov. 16, 1981, marriage to Patricia Ann Gardner, 42, who has testified he vanished two weeks after their marriage with nearly $40,000 in cash and property belonging to her.

Mrs. Bacarella, who has three children, said that in Feb. 1980 when she agreed to marry Viggio who had been separated from her hus-

News, page 8
Israel, Lebanon
Negotiators report ‘good progress’

KIRYAT NHOMA, Israel (AP) — Israeli and Lebanese negotiators clasped today over Israel’s demand to operate electronic spy stations on Lebanese territory but agreed on four new committees to discuss the withdrawal of foreign forces from Lebanon, U.S. and Israeli sources said.

A joint statement issued after the eighth round of talks reported “good progress” toward resolving the Lebanon crisis, and said experts would meet next week as small groups.

Conference sources said Israel expanded on its demand to build early warning stations in Lebanon, but the Lebanese negotiators rejected the idea as an infringement on Lebanon’s sovereignty.

Chief U.S. delegate Morris Draper telephoned presidential envoy Philip C. Habib in Jerusalem to report on the talks, and Habib agreed to meet with Israeli Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir today.

Habib reportedly offered a compromise on the early warning stations in prior meetings with the Israelis whereby Americans would run the electronic listening posts, but the sources said that compromise was not proposed in the far-talk.

The negotiations created new committees to discuss the withdrawal, the future relations between Israel and Lebanon, security arrangements in south Lebanon and possible guarantees of Israel’s right to maintain a presence in the south. The joint communique said.

A separate committee was formed on Monday to formulate a declaration ending the 34-year state of war between Israel and Lebanon.

continued from page 7

homeless

In the Southwest, a foot and a half of snow fell in places as a new storm swept out of the Sierra Nevada.

Record lows for the date were posted in cities such as Elko, W. Va., 1-4 below zero; Muskogee, Mich., 10 below; Syracuse, N.Y., 9 below; Traverse City, Mich., 8 below; and Buffalo, N.Y., 7 below.

During the cold snap in New York City, officials reported more than 4,600 people had turned out at 11 shelters for the homeless, more than at any time since the Great Depression.

Snow

Officials seek suspect seen at funeral

DETOIT (AP) — The FBI said yesterday it was seeking for questioning a New York man who allegedly was photographed outside a church at the funeral of one of the Chicago-area Tylenol poisoning victims.

“We do not want to leave any stones unturned,” FBI special agent Kenneth St. John said Wednesday. “We only want to interview him to determine why he was there.”

Anthony said a woman who lives in the Detroit area contacted officials late last week, after watching a Jan. 7 ABC News report on the unsolved killings in Chicago that were caused by cyanide-tainted Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules.

She reviewed the news report Wednesday and gave officials a name and New York address for the man, Anthony said, adding that he did not know if the address was for New York City or elsewhere in the state.

Anthony said officials would not release the names of the woman or man.

He added he did not know how the woman knew the man, who was pictured in the ABC report as a white male, with black hair and wearing mirrored sunglasses.

Anthony said he did not know which victim’s funeral the man attended.

Seven Chicago-area people died last September after taking the tainted capsules. Authorities said the capsules were poisoned after being placed on store shelves. No one has been charged with the murders.
The changing role of women in the world

Author’s Note: In the following editorial I will use general trends to paint a picture of the changes in society’s structure as it pertains to the increasing presence of women in the workplace. In using generalizations, I hope to avoid the extremes that are present in the workplace.

Randy Fahs

Friday Analysis

With a few notable exceptions, men have been the dominant forces in our world’s societies for the seventy thousand years of human existence, an anthropological estimate. Due to changes in society over the last seventy years, women have been making great strides in cracking the male-dominated world. Women have made tremendous progress, but they still have quite a distance to travel on a road which tends to be filled with potholes.

On the way to more equal footing with men in the work world, women are being pushed in many different directions. For the most part, the women who are presently entering the workplace were raised in a household where the father was the breadwinner. It is more likely that their mothers worked than their grandmothers, but the income which was brought home by these working women was usually a supplement to the family’s income and much less than that of the father. Even if the mother was the housewife, she was still largely responsible for the raising of the children and the maintenance of the household.

The workplace of today’s woman is much different from the one her parents entered. The weakening of the traditional family structure, the rising number of women who are married, and the increasing ability of women to break into the workforce has radically changed the male-female relationship. Women who are marrying are more and more into more skilled and higher paying jobs. Where there were once relegated to the ratings since Murrow’s own — Wallace made a force of journalism and civil rights.

I will be the first to defend CBS’s right to air the 60 Minutes program on the basis of the New Orleans policeman. I could not imagine the remotest possibility of the two Supreme Court justices deciding any differently last Sunday afternoon.

Churchill once remarked that Great Britain cultivated freedom of speech because “speech is the most effective drug.” Last Sunday night, Wallace was nothing if not reprehensible.

He asked a New Orleans police officer — the first on the scene of the shooting of a potential witness in the cop-killing case — to help him develop an apartment.

The officer did so, saying that he saw another policeman standing over the body of a man who had a gun in his hand. “Isn’t it conceivable?” Wallace asked.

The officer did not answer.

So Wallace painted an ugly picture by the flimsiest means. Gaull by association. Circumstantial evidence Convection by conjecture.

“Murrow might just as easily have asked, ‘Isn’t it conceivable that Ronald Reagan shot that man?’ While a little more probable, it is certainly conceivable that under some bizarre circumstances, that might be the case.”

Wallace may feel some smug satisfaction at getting the story “right,” but so did the most unprofessional and amoral means.

60 Minutes: ‘creating’ news

It was 1958, and CBS was, as it remains today, the most respected name in broadcast news. And if CBS was king, Edward R. Murrow was his crown prince.

Skip Desjardin

On the Media

In October of that year, Murrow stood before the Radio and Television News Directors Convention in Chicago, and spoke of that which he believed.

“I am entirely persuaded,” he said, “that the American public is more reasonable, restrained, and nature than most of the broadcast industry’s planners believe.”

It’s too bad the people at CBS didn’t hang that quote on Mike Wallace’s wall. On Sunday night’s edition of 60 Minutes — the first prime-time news series to succeed in the ratings since Murrow’s own — Wallace made a force of journalism and civil rights.

I will be the first to defend CBS’s right to air the 60 Minutes program on the basis of the New Orleans policeman. I could not imagine the remotest possibility of the two Supreme Court justices deciding any differently last Sunday afternoon.

Churchill once remarked that Great Britain cultivated freedom of speech because “speech is the most effective drug.” Last Sunday night, Wallace was nothing if not reprehensible.

He asked a New Orleans police officer — the first on the scene of the shooting of a potential witness in the cop-killing case — to help him develop an apartment.

The officer did so, saying that he saw another policeman standing over the body of a man who had a gun in his hand. “Isn’t it conceivable?” Wallace asked.

The officer did not answer.

So Wallace painted an ugly picture by the flimsiest means. Gaull by association. Circumstantial evidence Convection by conjecture.

“The proof might just as easily have asked, ‘Isn’t it conceivable that Ronald Reagan shot that man?’ While a little more probable, it is certainly conceivable that under some bizarre circumstances, that might be the case.”

Wallace may feel some smug satisfaction at getting the story “right,” but so did the most unprofessional and amoral means.

Nisei internment

Dear Editor:

In case it has not been brought to your attention already, the word “Jap” is derogatory. Using it in a headline as you did on Wednesday is not only a flagrant breach of internment based on lies, report says, “seems to be incor- nauseating, shoddy journalism to me. It is a short word, because of limited column space, to describe internment.” You might have used “Nisei,” the correct term for someone born in America of Japanese parentage. — James A. Maruna

Rice illogical

Dear Editor:

With his usual flare for overkill, Professor Rice is again pouncing us with his moral superiorism.

Unfortunately, his argument in the Jan.

The Observer

Box Q, Notre Dame, IN 46556

The Observer is the independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administration or the faculty. The next issue is published regularly and as objectively as possible. Unsigned editorials represent the opinion of a majority of the Editorial Board. Commentary, letters, and the Inside Column depict the views of their authors. Column space is available to all members of the community, and the free expression of varying opinions on campus, through letters, is encouraged.

18 Observer is flawed by illogic:

1. To claim that abortion makes “the way clear for euthanasia for the aged and the ‘useless’” is a non sequitur. One can argue that the fact that success makes a way for one would not lead to the murder of all others. Two different marks are distinct.

2. To muddy the waters by dragging in the question of homosexual marriage does no service to either of its causes. One would not want to assert that homosexual marriages would lead society “on the road to extinction” ignores the fact that the slanders being spread are being heterosexually coupled. To further claim that a society which condones homosexual marriage is “clinically insane” (an argument ad hominem) ignores the 1974 evolution of the American Psychiatric Association.

3. To define in vitro fertilization as a perversion on the basis of the “teaching Church” is to assume that all readers understand Professor Rice’s narrow view of the role of the Church. (See the Observer, Jan. 22, 1982, Scholastic magazine).

4. To correlate the incidence of battered children in Los Angeles to the use of the pill is to correlate apples and oranges. We may as well correlate the number of battered children with the incidence of drunk drivers (the facts are the same).

We can appreciate (and value) the presence among us of a Catholic minority on making Notre Dame more Catholic than Catholic, but we deserve moral explica- tion from them framed in line with rules of logic as old as ancient Greece.

Brenda Clavin, CIS
Asst. Rector, Grace Hall

180

Pl. Box Q

News is supposed to be as unbiased as is humanly possible. Journalists are supposed to be as objective as they can be.

I think, as did Murrow, that the public is smarter than the media imagines. And I believe, foolishly perhaps, that they will recognize the travesty faxed upon them by Wallace’s 60 Minutes and the shamful example of twisting the truth to make good copy.

Perhaps the real problem was addressed by Murrow at that same convention. He spoke then of radio, but it applies as readily to television today.

“In order to progress, radio need only go backward,” he said, “to a time when signing commercials were not allowed on news reports, when there was no middle commer-

182

Department Managers

Business Manager Tony Aello
Advertising Manager Eric Schulte
Production Manager Maury Murphy
Sports Manager David Raskin
Systems Manager Bruce Oakley

Founded November 3, 1966
showcase
Friday, January 21, 1983 — page 10

Christo is here! Similar at one o'clock. The Snite Museum of Art proudly opens its doors for the Christo exhibition. Christo Javacheff is internationally known for his dramatic wrappings of objects, coastal cliffs, buildings and other structures, and even for enclosing huge volumes of air. His work relates to many antecedents, as distant in time as ancient Egypt and yet as current as contemporary packaging. This exhibition, organized by the La Jolla Museum of Contemporary Art, is on permanent Heavily for Christo is not something he sets out to create, but rather, the formal and environmental context of a project carried to completion. His art focuses on the process of work and communication rather than on concerns of quality and form.

Tim Boyle

Christo sells the product, the space. We fit it all in, though. He admits, however, that "each museum presents different problems. For instance, at the Snite, we had to hang 10,000 square feet of art in 5,000 square feet of space. We fit it all in, though." John Golding, the other half of the team, looks more like a country gentleman than a man with whom one would expect to see modern art, but there is no mistaking what Christo is doing. In 1970, he visited Miami and made an impression on the artist. The approach was a new one for Christo, who had begun to formulate his primary artistic concerns. He wanted to work with layers of space already shaped by people. He took city streets, buildings, and land "already with properties" and worked in the land, "no man's land," untouched nature and therefore not considered an environmental artist. "The space was chosen where the people have already interacted. They must have a preconceived feeling about the place. Then the project tries to change their minds. The project creates an energy with the people. The project cannot be a permanent installation. Although, one of his recent projects, the "Mastaba at Abu Dhabi," will be a permanent installation. The project must be a "fast appearing intervention."

The artist projects the running fence is a good example of this. The fence, made of white fabric, which wraps-like the sails of boats on San Francisco Bay, ran through miles of California fields until it vanished into the Pacific. The public events, celebrations of the romantic sublime. Christo creates visual experiences that alter our perceptions of the world. These insights may remain ambiguous as we are not able to fully conceptualize and convey their meaning yet we know that we have experienced something special.

Christo's projects do not overtly transform the landscape but rather work with and enhance the viewers' awareness of their character. His current project, "Running Fence," is a good example of this. The fence, made of white fabric, which wraps-like the sails of boats on San Francisco Bay, ran through miles of California fields until it vanished into the Pacific. The public events, celebrations of the romantic sublime. Christo creates visual experiences that alter our perceptions of the world. These insights may remain ambiguous as we are not able to fully conceptualize and convey their meaning yet we know that we have experienced something special.

Christo's projects do not overtly transform the landscape but rather work with and enhance the viewers' awareness of their character. His current project, "Running Fence," is a good example of this. The fence, made of white fabric, which wraps-like the sails of boats on San Francisco Bay, ran through miles of California fields until it vanished into the Pacific. The public events, celebrations of the romantic sublime. Christo creates visual experiences that alter our perceptions of the world. These insights may remain ambiguous as we are not able to fully conceptualize and convey their meaning yet we know that we have experienced something special.
TOOTSIE pops to the top

by Patrick Molligan

movie review

which is being penned by his roommate Jeff Bill Murray), but he can't believe that a star-casting director no longer is willing to work with him. The news is received with a mixture of astonishment and relief at the same time that he plans to turn in to a female in a daytime soap opera, assuming the identity of "Donna Marie". As usual, he might be expected, complications arise when Michael Douglas tries to keep the secret of his double life hidden from both fans and friends.

Rev. Robert Griffin

letters to a lonely god

large offerings, but Jimmy was still hugging — the waggs giving their last few pennies on the remaining funds. Please send $2,000,000 to Baton Rouge, Louisiana, and to Jesus Christ be the honor and glory. "Almost persuaded" now to believe; "Go Spirit, go Thy way, on thee I'll call." As regards its tone, now for work, with Dorsey in his hilarious role rever­ sal. "You and me, we're cut from the same cloth, and each one of us has taught Jimmy that vast audience, believers sing prayerfully: "Just as you have shown me to sinners, no, it doesn't count nothing, for Jesus could not save a sinner by the greatest miracle, if it were not also for the shedding of the Blood. A debt hath to be paid, and the price was the Blood of Jesus. We stood im­ powered by our sins in the sight of the Father, unable to help ourselves, until Jesus said: I will put their hill on my back. For those who believe and accept the Lord's death, the bill is stamped paid, and out ticket to glory is His free gift." "Aw, Jimmy," I want to argue, "metaphors make dam­ naging theology, if you push them too far. Our Jimmy says, go too far, and the preachers may be todo too literal about being washed in the Blood of the Lamb, as though the Father needed his son's death as a human sacrifice. St. Paul uses images from ancient liturgies of sacrifice. The word minister is from a Latin word meaning "one who serves." It's bad manners and religion for a priest to knock a preacher. Jimmy Swaggart almost persuades me to believe as he believes when I hear him. Sometimes he weeps as he preaches, and his congregation weeps along with him.

"He was the simplest businessman I ever met," says Jimmy, the tears rolling down his cheeks. "I asked him about his money, and he answered, 'Jimmy, I can't. Maybe someday, but not now.' One day, I ran out on this man that the world considered successful. There was this terrible accident, and my boy friend was killed instantly. Because he waited too long, he died outside the saving love of Jesus.

"Two months later, I met my friend's mother at a service in Memphis, but she had grown old physically. Jimmy said, "You see, I recognize you. I'm the boy who lost her child," says Jimmy. People of all ages and shapes detach their faces from the multitude, solemnly approach the altar, and Jimmy, shuffling or weeping as sinners come home. In that vast auditorium, believers sing prayerfully: "Just as I am without a father and without a mother, I will do the same for you." "It's emotionally upliftining climax to which the evening has built." Jimmy prays over the converts with his eyes closed and his features beaded. He assures them that they are safe as the ocean, and he's on a plane, on the road, forever safe from the jaws of Satan.

Pope's would be impressed if they claimed so much for their followers. Popes could claim as much, if they knew the promises of the Word of God, an evangelical world would say. From those Christians who I knew they would know were pretentious in claiming the powers of popes.

The program ends with the clip of money: "We'll mail you a book or a Bible. Send checks or, or credit cards will do. Jesus wants to be with you wherever you are." Let him who is without sin cast the first stone, Jimmy says. An accountant is there, and he leaves me almost persuaded. As Al Smith said, going through a storm to Mass, "if we believe that the consummation of the ages appears when the church shall have reached its fullness, it appears within the next two years."

Dennis Hofman turns in a super­ lative performance as Mic­ hael Keaton, who is a most unusually garner an Academy Award nomination for the role. In support­ ing role Jessica Lange a stunning beauty, sensuously portrays the role of the duplicitous political wife on the soap "Southern General." And Pollack himself performs admirably as Dorsey's befuddled agent, George Fields.

In regards to its technical aspects, there really isn't much to say about "Tootsie" Aside from a couple of well

Dorsey reveals his true identity to the shock of both the characters and the audiences. His appearance is really concerned with cinematic in­ novation. Which is fine for this movie. Of course, the story does not compense the essential components. According, Pollack's camera work is a decidedly understated strategy, ensuring that the film's subject matter gets the full attention of the viewer.

"Tootsie" is a first-rate comedy. Anthony Hopkins has yet to see an amusing piece advised to revisit the situation im­ mediately — it will be well worth the effort.
The Irish women swimmers beat Valparaiso.

Saturday, Wednesday night at Valpo. Triple winners were Valerie Cochonel, Karen Kowacik and Linda Gamba. Notre Dame raked its score 5-2 and would compete against Bowling Green this afternoon at 3. - The Rock

Brother Joseph Bruno's Notre Dame wrestlers, 12-1 in dual meets this season, will compete this weekend at Siena Heights Invitational in Siena Heights, Mich. - The Observer

Notre Dame home indoor track season gets underway this weekend as the Irish host the Hawkeyes of Iowa. The meet will be attempt to avenge a 69-62 loss suffered at Iowa City last season, and to even the all-time series between the schools at two meets apiece. The meet will be the first event run under the ACC's North Dome. Starting gun will go off at 12:30. - The Observer

"I won, so that's the main thing," John McFerrore said after disposing of Jose Luis Clerc of Argentina 6-3, 6-4 in the quarterfinals of the $400,000 Volvo Masters tournament last night at Madison Square Garden. The victory over Clerc sends McFerroe against the other half of the Argentine Davis Cup team, Guillermo Vilas, who stopped Andres Gomez of Ecuador 7-5, 6-4. The two will meet in one of Saturday's semifinals of the elite 12-man field, where the winner of Sunday's final will collect $110,000. In Friday's quarterfinal, Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia will play Yannick Noah of France in the afternoon and top-seeded Jimmy Connors will meet John Kark at night. - AP

Coach Digger Phelps was featured prominently in last night's broadcast of CBS Reports on the Basketball Machine. The report explored the expectation of athletic and academic integrity in major college basketball. Basketball was narrated by CBS News correspondent John Chancellor. Phelps was quoted at the outset and conclusion of the program, reiterating many of the comments which appeared in Will Hart's story in yesterday's edition of The Observer. We must redefine our priorities," said Phelps. "Let those schools which choose to remain institutions of high learning go one way, and let those who don't become a minor league for the pros." - The Observer

The Observer will accept classifieds Monday through Friday. 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. However, classified ads before 3 p.m. must be received by the business day prior to insertion. All classifieds must be prepaid in person or through the mail. The Observer, 2701 Preble, South Bend, IN 46615.

ATTENTION! THE NOTRE DAME MURAL ARTS INSTITUTE has its first open house on March 31st. 6:00-9:00 PM at the.Healy Hall Student Union. Opportunity for interested in running for ANY position, open to all students. - The Observer

OPEN HOUSE AT THE CENTER FOR ARTS AND HUMANITIES - KACIE, Woman, July 31st. 6-9:00 PM. "A Night of Art, Music, Food, Friends and Fun." All students and faculty are cordially invited. Please RSVP to: 287-7400.

SUMMER SERVICE PROJECTS - Interested in working out? Any questions, contact Katherine Ricker (574) 642-4610.

IT'S TIME - To start baring all!! $40 Student Admission price. $60 Couple Admission price. "SO YOU WANT TO WORK ON WEAK SPOTS?" You're invited!! Someone in your life is ready to sing your My Way praises. It's the perfect gift you could give yourself and your loved ones. To order or ask questions, call Marnie at 501-7711.

OPEN HOUSE AT THE CENTER FOR SOCIAL SERVICE PROJECTS - Sunday, April 9th at 7:00 PM. "Rules are fraught with excellence and public affairs." A happy 22nd birthday to Bob Gleason.

JUNIORSMJUNIORSMJUNIORSM - Welcome, everyone, to the Notre Dame Mar-Martial-Arts Institute. We are entering our first academic year. This year we will be offering \"A Beer\" No thanks, I\'m fine\" - Rob and Dunster \"Hey Mickey? Crank it up!\" - Brian Mateo, Wanna join the NMV Club? We need more locker roomiers!!"

\"I didn\'t miss one class all year!\" - John Kelly, I\'m on a mission to go to the Carmelite Church this weekend, from 4:00 to 5:00 PM Men and Women's Mass takes place. Call Shirley or Katie for info.

One day may not be a significant win or loss. But it was the first time that a fighting Irish man had beaten a World Number One. \"I wasn\'t expecting to lose,\" said Jimmy Connors. \"I won, so that\'s the main thing.\" The Observer's David Appel

Sorry you missed us! But you can still get a free T-shirt, The Observer's David Appel

\"It was only the beginning.\" - Coach Digger Phelps, 1983. \"And with Branch at guard, even in his lineup is 6’5 or bigger.\" Mark Richter is The Terrain's starting forward, for the second consecutive year. Mark Richter averages eight points and six rebounds a game. A strong performance by Mark Richter has improved greatly in each of his three seasons under Bob Frese.

Completing the front line for Maryland tomorrow should be 6-9 junior Ben Coleman. A sophomore transfer student from Minnesota is Maryland's second-leading scorer. Coleman is set to run down eight a game to go along with his 15 points. "Coleman has been a force on the boards," says Phelps. "And with Branch at guard, even in his lineup is 6’5 or bigger."

Mark Richter is The Terrain's starting forward, for the second consecutive year. Mark Richter averages eight points and six rebounds a game. A strong performance by Mark Richter has improved greatly in each of his three seasons under Bob Frese.

Completing the front line for Maryland tomorrow should be 6-9 junior Ben Coleman. A sophomore transfer student from Minnesota is Maryland's second-leading scorer. Coleman is set to run down eight a game to go along with his 15 points. "Coleman has been a force on the boards," says Phelps. "And with Branch at guard, even in his lineup is 6’5 or bigger."

Mark Richter is The Terrain's starting forward, for the second consecutive year. Mark Richter averages eight points and six rebounds a game. A strong performance by Mark Richter has improved greatly in each of his three seasons under Bob Frese.

Completing the front line for Maryland tomorrow should be 6-9 junior Ben Coleman. A sophomore transfer student from Minnesota is Maryland's second-leading scorer. Coleman is set to run down eight a game to go along with his 15 points. "Coleman has been a force on the boards," says Phelps. "And with Branch at guard, even in his lineup is 6’5 or bigger."

Mark Richter is The Terrain's starting forward, for the second consecutive year. Mark Richter averages eight points and six rebounds a game. A strong performance by Mark Richter has improved greatly in each of his three seasons under Bob Frese.

Completing the front line for Maryland tomorrow should be 6-9 junior Ben Coleman. A sophomore transfer student from Minnesota is Maryland's second-leading scorer. Coleman is set to run down eight a game to go along with his 15 points. "Coleman has been a force on the boards," says Phelps. "And with Branch at guard, even in his lineup is 6’5 or bigger."

Mark Richter is The Terrain's starting forward, for the second consecutive year. Mark Richter averages eight points and six rebounds a game. A strong performance by Mark Richter has improved greatly in each of his three seasons under Bob Frese.

Completing the front line for Maryland tomorrow should be 6-9 junior Ben Coleman. A sophomore transfer student from Minnesota is Maryland's second-leading scorer. Coleman is set to run down eight a game to go along with his 15 points. "Coleman has been a force on the boards," says Phelps. "And with Branch at guard, even in his lineup is 6’5 or bigger."

Mark Richter is The Terrain's starting forward, for the second consecutive year. Mark Richter averages eight points and six rebounds a game. A strong performance by Mark Richter has improved greatly in each of his three seasons under Bob Frese.

Completing the front line for Maryland tomorrow should be 6-9 junior Ben Coleman. A sophomore transfer student from Minnesota is Maryland's second-leading scorer. Coleman is set to run down eight a game to go along with his 15 points. "Coleman has been a force on the boards," says Phelps. "And with Branch at guard, even in his lineup is 6’5 or bigger."

Mark Richter is The Terrain's starting forward, for the second consecutive year. Mark Richter averages eight points and six rebounds a game. A strong performance by Mark Richter has improved greatly in each of his three seasons under Bob Frese.

Completing the front line for Maryland tomorrow should be 6-9 junior Ben Coleman. A sophomore transfer student from Minnesota is Maryland's second-leading scorer. Coleman is set to run down eight a game to go along with his 15 points. "Coleman has been a force on the boards," says Phelps. "And with Branch at guard, even in his lineup is 6’5 or bigger."

Mark Richter is The Terrain's starting forward, for the second consecutive year. Mark Richter averages eight points and six rebounds a game. A strong performance by Mark Richter has improved greatly in each of his three seasons under Bob Frese.

Completing the front line for Maryland tomorrow should be 6-9 junior Ben Coleman. A sophomore transfer student from Minnesota is Maryland's second-leading scorer. Coleman is set to run down eight a game to go along with his 15 points. "Coleman has been a force on the boards," says Phelps. "And with Branch at guard, even in his lineup is 6’5 or bigger."

Mark Richter is The Terrain's starting forward, for the second consecutive year. Mark Richter averages eight points and six rebounds a game. A strong performance by Mark Richter has improved greatly in each of his three seasons under Bob Frese.

Completing the front line for Maryland tomorrow should be 6-9 junior Ben Coleman. A sophomore transfer student from Minnesota is Maryland's second-leading scorer. Coleman is set to run down eight a game to go along with his 15 points. "Coleman has been a force on the boards," says Phelps. "And with Branch at guard, even in his lineup is 6’5 or bigger."

Mark Richter is The Terrain's starting forward, for the second consecutive year. Mark Richter averages eight points and six rebounds a game. A strong performance by Mark Richter has improved greatly in each of his three seasons under Bob Frese.
Belles to host Roundball Classic

By DAVE IRWIN
Sports Writer

Playing its fourth game in seven days, Saint Mary's basketball team will be trying to mend the wounds inflicted on it Tuesday night by Manchester as time for this weekend's four-team Roundball Classic.

The Belles will host Lake Michigan Catholic tonight at 7. Purdue-Calumet tackles the University of Michigan (Dearborn) in the second game. The losers meet in the consolation game at 1 p.m. following the championship matchup.

The Belles were thrashed, 77-17, by Manchester. Teresa McGinnis was Saint Mary's leading scorer with 13 points. Elaine Suess, who averages 20 points a contest, could muster just nine. Chip Ayotte paced the rebounders with nine. Betsy Ebert added eight.

Although the Belles' wounds have begun to heal from the pounding received from Manchester, they may regain some of the opportunities that were closed to them against their opponents.

"We have to be as talented as we've been at our level," says Saint Mary's head coach Mike Rouse of tonight's opponent.

The visitors will take a 10-2 record into tonight's contest. Lake Michigan Catholic recently defeated the eighth-ranked junior college team in the country. Yet Rouse doesn't plan any special tactics.

"We'll have to play our game," says Rouse. "We'll have to stop them on offense and we'll try to confuse them on defense.

The Belles' healing process will receive a dose of what the doctor ordered -- a healthy line up. Starting center Missy Van Ort, who was the club's top rebounder and No. 2 scorer before sustaining a leg injury, returns after missing the last four games. Trisha Nolan is back in the lineup at forward after sitting out the past two contests.

"We are definitely a better team with Missy and Trish," says Rouse. However, Rouse cautions that Van Ort and Nolan may have problems with endurance. Van Ort hasn't played since December 10 and Nolan has played just once since that date.

With Van Ort and Nolan returning to the starting line up, Ayotte and Ebert return to the bench. Suess, Cindy Short and Mary McQuillan round out the starting lineup.

Besides Lake Michigan Catholic's 10-2 record, Saint Mary's will take a 10-2 record into tonight's game. Saint Mary's lost to Dearborn, 63-61, on December 13.

"The difference is we'll have Missy," says Rouse. "That might make the difference."

Manchester turned the tables on Saint Mary's, denying the Belles' mini-win streak of four victories out of their last five games. Saint Mary's fell behind 9-0 and never really recovered.

"They showed us how it is done," says Rouse of Manchester's pressing style, the style he likes the Belles to play. "And our press was ineffective."

Besides numerous turnovers, the Belles had fits with Manchester's half-court zone defense and up-tempo play.

This Brent Chigman (left) shot was turned away by the Miami (Ohio) goal tender, but the Irish were able to score on the following shot.

Note Dame travels to Big Rapids, Mich., this weekend for a series with the Bulldogs of Ferris State. (Photo by Paul Cifarello)
Thursday, January 21, 1983 — page 1

I he O b se r v e r

The Virginia Tech defense racks up some abuse on Virginia's 7-4 Ralph Sampson in their in-tradable battle two nights ago in Richmond. UVa. turned away the Hokies' upset bid 89-76. (AP Photo)

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Forward Kenny Fields scored 19 points to lead top-ranked UCLA to a 48-45 victory over California in Pac-10 basketball last night, extending the Bruins winning streak to 22 years over the Bears.

UCLA Beat Cal for the 17th straight time and improved its record this season to 12-1. The Bruins lead the conference with a 5-0 record.

UCLA guard Ralph Jackson scored at least 17 points. His previous high was 15, and he matched that in the first half when he made seven of eight field goal attempts.

California, which got a game-high 22 points from center Michael Pinks, held a six-point lead three times in the first half but trailed 16 at halftime. The Bears stayed close in the second half and twice pulled within two points.

With 6:35 remaining, UCLA led 56-55. But the Bruins outscored the Bears 10-2 over the next four minutes, with Jackson contributing two points on layups which were slammed through the baskets by teammates.

Cal dropped to 7-5 this season and is 2-2 at the Pac-10.

Cal's last basketball victory over UCLA was on Feb. 24, 1961 by a 60-59 score in a game played at Berkeley.

Big Ten:

Iowa 68, Minnesota 62

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Iowa's Greg Stokes and Bob Hansen combined for 36 points to lead the 11th-ranked Hawkeyes to a 68-52 victory over 16th-ranked Minnesota last night in Big Ten basketball.

Iowa boasted the record of 12-2 overall and 5-1 in the Big Ten. Minnesota fell to 11-5 and 4-1 in the Big Ten.

The key to the Iowa attack was a pressing, tight zone defense that took away the Hawkeyes' inside game. Without the aid of starting guard Marc Wilson, sidelined with a pulled hamstring, the Gophers could not penetrate the zone or generate any outside shooting. The Hawkeyes held Minnesota's 5-foot-9 center Randy Brewer to 16 points, mostly due to the zone.

Iowa took control early in the first half, scoring first but the Hawkeyes then rattled off 10 unanswered points. Midway through the half, Iowa had a 19-8 lead.

The Gophers got two straight three-pointers and a basket to cut into the game. Lifting Minnesota within two, 22-20, with seven minutes left, the Gophers' 50 percent shooting in the half came back to haunt them again. The Hawkeyes outscored Minnesota 13-2 and built their lead to 35-22 at intermission.

The second half was an instant replay. The Hawkeyes outscored the Gophers 10-4 in the first six minutes to take a 19-point lead from that point on. The Hawkeyes were content to play even and maintain their lead. Minnesota remained unable to break through the tight Iowa zone defense.

Wisconsin 49, N.U. 45

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Sophomore Brad Sellers poured in 24 points last night, leading Wisconsin to its first Big Ten college basketball victory under new coach Steve Vander, 69-65 over Northwestern.

Wisconsin, stopping a six-game losing streak, led, 19-16 at halftime over the cold-shooting Wildcats, who made only 20 percent of their shots from the floor in the first half and never did get untracked against the Badgers.

Northwestern, off to one of its best starts in years, slipped to 2-2 in conference and 11-5 overall mark. Wisconsin, trying to escape the Big Ten cellar, improved its record to 4-1 and 6-8.

After intermission, Northwestern trailed, 26-23, tied 31 and missed a shot to end the half. The Badgers took over, grabbing the lead, 31-39 with 9:45 to go on a basket by Jim Stack, but freshman Gregg Steinhaus went in for two quick baskets to put Wisconsin back in front.

After intermission, Northwestern was pulled to within three points at 44-45 with 4:45 left to go. Cory Blackwell sank one of two free throws to ice the game for the Badgers.

Stack and Michael Jenkins had 11 points each for the Wildcats, whose losing season had been ailing, 21-1 a game but bled out after scoring only seven.

Ohio St. 75, Mich 68

COLLEGIATE. Ohio State (AP) — Tony Campbell's 55 points led Ohio State to a 75-68 victory over Michigan last night in Big Ten Conference basketball.

The Buckeyes, lifting their overall record to 19-5 and their league mark to 11-1, scored five straight points to take a 65-58 lead with 2:12 left and kept the Wolverines at a safe distance in the final moments.

Pre. Foster scored 21 points and Tim McCormick 19 to lead Michigan gain 11-10 overall and 2-1 in the league.

Michigan was at 6-12 in the league in three minutes, but the Buckeyes rallied to score on top-58-51 faltains.

The Wolverines scored the first six points of the second half but got a 39-38 lead and built that margin to 46-41 with 7:12 minutes to go.

Ohio State then outscored Michigan 29-9 in the last six minutes to take a 66-52 lead.

I.U. 89, Mich St. 85

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Ted Kitchel scored a season-high 32 points and Randy Weiman added 22 as second-ranked Indiana burst ahead over Michigan State's zone defense in the first half, built a 14-point lead and won a second-half rally for an 89-85 Big Ten Conference basketball victory.

Kitchel and Weiman each had a part of three-point field goals in the first 10 minutes of the game as the Hoosiers took a quick 10-point lead. Dick Howser widened it to 16 points before Sam Vincent and
The Observer

Friday, January 21, 1983 — page 15

Irish sweep eastern elite

By DAVID A. STANG
Sports Writer

"The elite of fencing," was how Notre Dame head fencing coach Mike De Cicco described his team's opponents on last week's East Coast swing. Six of the seven teams were in the NCAA's Top Ten last year.

After finishing 7-0 against such major competition as Penn, MIT and Harvard, De Cicco commented, "Now we'll have to be considered to be among the elite fencing schools."

The most productive result of Notre Dame's surprising success was the experience gained by the team's many young fencers. De Cicco was happy with the unexpected successes of his young team.

"Very much," De Cicco thought we would lose to Penn and Columbia, "I was pleasantly surprised" with the victory over last year's second-best team in the country.

The biggest question mark on this squad before the season started had been to have the incoming freshmen. The maturity and competitiveness of these youngsters had never been seriously tested. De Cicco explained, "We didn't know what was going to happen to the freshmen, we may have taken some teams by surprise."

"Now we are a good team, we are only one or two men away from being great, but right now, we are just a very, very good team," De Cicco related.

As far as improvement is concerned, De Cicco explained his squad after being the team has no where to go except up the top due to the amount of help and advice that is available to all the individual fencers. Compared to other sports, the fencing coaching staff has a unique philosophy. De Cicco believes that all sports and especially fencing can function adequately without a coach. He says, "coaching is trivial, I firmly believe coaches are merely excess baggage."

The fencers on the foil squad are led by standout senior Marc Delong, who provides needed leadership and experience. "Marc is off to a spectacular start," exclaimed his coach following Delong's freshman Mike Van der Velden, who can "fence better than he has." He must be happy with his brothers in to playing."

"I play for myself because I love the game. My father never forced me and my brothers are too down eight caroms an outing. They've been a hard-luck team," warns DiStanislao. "They're volatile, because they do possess talent. It's not impossible they could catch us by surprise." Illinois-Chicago, 2-12, has been handicapped by an injury to junior center Andrea Wright, who was to be the Flames key. In the absence of Wright, 5'8" freshman guard Phyllis Curry and 5'11" freshman forward Tracey Manual have been scoring a combined total of 25 points a game. While the Irish women are facing a pair of opponents whose combined record is 0-22, the importance of this weekend is not lost on DiStanislao.

The almost unknown Irish women's fencing team has been almost as much of a surprise this year as the men. This year's team has only its twelfth year is "farther along than the men," said De Cicco. De Cicco. De Cicco. This year Notre Dame's dominating reliquid, will be the six foot sophomore center. "The Titans and Irish will tip off at 5:30 tonight. Round out the weekend will be a Sunday matinee with Illinois-Chicago, slated for 2:00. The Titans 10 + this season and the Irish women are facing a pair of opponents whose combined record is 0-22. The importance of this weekend is not lost on DiStanislao."

Mr. Ebben's alma mater, Detroit, will be the first of two tuneup opponents for the Irish women this weekend before they take off on a grueling West Coast swing. The Titans and Irish will tip off at 5:30 tonight. Round out the weekend will be a Sunday matinee with Illinois-Chicago, slated for 2:00. The Titans 10+ this season and 3-1 in the absence of Wright, 5'8" freshman guard Phyllis Curry and 5'11" freshman forward Tracey Manual have been scoring a combined total of 25 points a game. While the Irish women are facing a pair of opponents whose combined record is 0-22, the importance of this weekend is not lost on DiStanislao.

Beating the winter time blues at The Nizz

Friday, Jan 21 - Folk Music Night! John Kennedy-Irish Folk Music John Sase American Folk Music!
9:00 p.m. - ?

Saturday, Jan 22 - Open Stage
9-10:30 pm 10:30 pm-?

John Forry (guitar and vocal)

(All performers are included in entrance price)

BBQ BEEF RIBS • BBQ CHICKEN • BBQ SPARE RIBS • SPICY CHICKEN WINGS • BBQ STYLE SLICED BEEF

Baked Potato Bar with Six Toppings • Baked Beans Corn Cob Emeralds • Homemade Soup • Corn Bread

Help yourself to as much as you like of these charbroiled meats and freshly prepared items. Offer valid Jan. 17-21 and Jan. 24-28. Offer good on above items during dinner hours only. Cannot be used in conjunction with other offers. Tax and tip not included. Products must be consumed on premise.
Going home

Sluby grows as player, person

By LOUIE SOMOGYI
Sports Writer

It was two years ago this week at College Park, Md., that a young freshman for Notre Dame achieved perhaps the high-water mark of his collegiate basketball career.

Standing on the same floor of such seasoned superstars as Kelly Tripucka, Orlando Woolridge and Tracy Jackson of the Irish, and Buck Williams, Albert King and Ernest Graham of the Terps, the game at its climax rested on the broad and powerful shoulders of a freshman native of Maryland who went up to Notre Dame.

With 15 seconds left and a national television audience along with a packed Cole Field House expecting the freshman to succumb to the pressure, he sank the free throws to ensure Notre Dame’s 73-70 victory.

He didn’t play too much that year because of the presence of the outstanding seniors, but the awesome potential of the 6-4, 200-pound specimen with Irish basketball fans appetizing enough to believe that he was to be the next of the All-Americans for Notre Dame from the Washington D.C. assembly line which had already supplied Notre Dame with six of the top 11 scorers in its history. Besides the all-time leading scorer in Irish history in Austin Carr, the list includes Bob Whitmore, Don “Dock” Williams, Collins Jones and Jackson.

And, oh yes, that number two scorer in Notre Dame history, Adrian Dantley.

“Contrary to popular belief, Adrian Dantley has not re-enrolled at Notre Dame,” reported The Observer about Tom Sluby’s excellent early season performances in which everything from his play to his style of walk simulated the NBA’s premier small forward.

The comparison wasn’t far fetched. Besides his magnificent upper-body build, he was the player of the year in Washington D.C. (one of the Meccas of America for prep talent), was selected to McDonald’s prestigious 25-man All-America team, possessed a smooth outside touch to complement his inside power game, and had a leaping ability which enabled him to touch the rim of a basket with his elbows.

“If you give up here (ND), you might give up out there (life).”

Two years later, however, as Sluby makes his journey back close to his hometown, he is not as much the major focus on the Irish basketball team as people once thought he would become.

“I’m doing OK I guess,” says Sluby with a sigh that indicates not complacency, but relief in the fact that he will have the opportunity to contribute a lot.

“I really didn’t like being compared to Adrian at all my freshman year,” recalls the junior. “All I wanted to do was to make my own name, but it seems that people were always comparing him to me because we were from the same area.

If accepting the comparisons to Dantley were difficult, they were quite miniscule to accepting what happened his sophomore year.

The team started off 2-9 while Sluby in his starting role was in the thrones of a 10 percent field goal shooting effort. To top it off the former high school Decar’s last student was placed on academic probation for the second semester, hence, making him ineligible to play for the rest of the year.

The world of Tom Sluby seemed to be coming apart, and one could expect that the same would happen to the individual who once dominated in his athletic and academic endeavors.

False rumors of his departure from Notre Dame didn’t help his case. “I don’t know where the rumors started,” says Sluby, “The disappointment was there, but if I was going to leave it was because I was unhappy about the school as a whole. The probation alone was no reason to transfer; I couldn’t blame that on the school, just myself.”

The trial has had its blessing. As an assistant coach and former Notre Dame All-America once stated, “Notre Dame prepares you for life, and that’s what scary. If you give up here, you might give up out there (life).”

“It has helped me make decisions, better and understand things more,” admits Sluby

Sluby has not quit and the result is a new optimism for him as he goes back to his hometown area again.

“I’ll have a lot of family and close friends at the game, so I’ll be playing as hard as ever,” says Sluby. “We’re getting better. We sometimes have a lapse in our communication on the court, but the more we play, the better we are.”

And all the more reason to appreciate it when something could have been so easy.
The Observer
Friday, January 21, 1983 — page 17

... Icers

continued from page 20

John now has his goals and 17 assists, giving him a team high 51 points.

Yet undeniably, there is much more involved in the weekend series than the offense and defense of the two teams. The predicament the Notre Dame hockey team is in will have a large effect on how the teams play.

Just what kind of effect is the question.

"I was proud of the way the kids reacted last weekend against Miami," commented Smith. "They showed a lot of pride and dignity. Their majors carried them." According to junior Adam Parsons, the situation might give the Irish some strong motivation.

"I don't see how it could be detrimental," Parsons said. "Everyone is going out there to prove something."

Defensiveman Mark Benning hopes Parsons is right.

"Everyone is a little down in the dumps right now," Benning said. "But last Saturday we reacted real positive at attitude prevails."

"I've watched a lot of hard work lately," said Smith. "I hope that the positive attitude prevails."

Smith has witnessed the players get fired up this week and be rather pleased with what he sees.

"I was proud of the way the kids reacted last weekend against Ferris State when the Irish meet the Broncos of Western Michigan." Smith has witnessed the players get fired up this week and be rather pleased with what he sees.

"I was proud of the way the kids reacted last weekend against Ferris State when the Irish meet the Broncos of Western Michigan."

New eyes will focus on the Irish this weekend to see in reality if the problems with the hockey program will have an effect in this weekend's series against Ferris State.

The next chance for home fans to get a look at the Notre Dame hockey team will be on Saturday, Jan. 29 when the Irish meet the Broncos of Western Michigan.

LEAVE THE ENTERTAINMENT TO US!
Omega Productions, Inc. is now opening their Mobile Music Division. We can provide any type of music for any type of event. Parties are our specialty. Custom music programming is available. Call Susan or Brad for details.

NEW HOURS
WE ARE NOW OPEN FOR LUNCH MON. THRU FRI.

MON-THURS 11 A.M.-10 P.M.
FRI 11 A.M.-12 M IDNIGHT
SAT 4 P.M.-12 M IDNIGHT
CLOSED SUNDAY

COUPON EXPIRES FEB. 1, 1983.

FREE SALAD WITH ANY PIZZA,
PASTA OR SANDWICH
LUNCHEON ORGERS. (Dining room only)
1705 S.BEND AVE./23 at edison*
277-4950

ENGINEERING TAKES ON EXCITING NEW DIMENSIONS IN THE AIR FORCE.

Developing and managing Air Force engineering projects could be the most important, exciting challenge of your life. The projects extend to virtually every engineering frontier.

8 CAREER FIELDS FOR ENGINEERS

Astronautical, civil, electrical, mechanical and nuclear. Hundreds of diverse specialties are included in a wide variety of work settings. For example, an electrical engineer may work in aircraft design, space systems, power production, communications or research. A mechanical engineer might be involved in aircraft structure design, space vehicle launch pad construction, or research.

PROJECT RESPONSIBILITY COMES EARLY IN THE AIR FORCE

Air Force mechanical engineer inspecting aircraft jet engine turbine.

Most Air Force engineers have complete project responsibility early in their careers. For example, a first lieutenant directed work on a new airborne electronic system to pinpoint radiating targets. Another engineer tested the jet engines for advanced tanker and cargo aircraft.

C M  F « ME F KUVEIT

Recently, the Air Force formed a new Space Command. Its role is to pull together space operations and research and development efforts, focusing on the unique technological needs of space systems. This can be your opportunity to join the team that develops superior space systems as the Air Force moves into the twenty-first century.

To learn more about how you can be part of the team, see your Air Force recruiter or call our Engineer Hotline toll free 1-800-531-5826 (in Texas call 1-800-292-5369). There's no obligation.

A M I H I G H
A I R F O R C E
The Observer
Friday, January 21, 1983 — page 18

The ballroom dance classes at Saint Mary's total cost is only $25 for five weeks. taught by Ray Sexton from Indianapolis, and the of a five week ballroom dance class that will be 284-4561 Saint Mary's Student Activities Office - O

LIMITED TO NOTRE

MARY'S STUDENTS

S taining th is

P h il C arter

T on y H u n te r

followed By

Classes Continue

fRiday
evey

y

Ballroom Dance Classes Continue
The ballroom dance classes at Saint Mary's have been very popular and will continue. Wednesday, January 26th, will be the first lesson of a five week ballroom dance class that will be taught by Ray Sexton from Indianapolis, and the total cost is only $25 for five weeks.

Sign up now in the Saint Mary's Student Activities Office

284-4561

THIS OFFER IS LIMITED TO NOTRE DAME AND SAINT MARY'S STUDENTS ONLY.

Sign up to dance in the 1983 Mardi Gras Danceathon

NOW in both dining halls

Danceathon will be Sat., Feb. 5 1 p.m. -1 a.m. in South Dining Hall. Prizes include a trip to Mardi Grass in New Orleans!!

Ex-Dolphin Morris sentenced
MIAMI (AP) — Mercury Morris, the fleet runner on three Miami Dolphins Super Bowl teams, was sentenced yesterday to 15 years in prison for cocaine convictions. The former National Football League hero, whose name still dots the Dolphins record book, must serve a minimum of 15 years to become eligible for parole. Dade County Circuit Judge Ellen Morphonies Gable, herself a Dolphins fan, sentenced the 55-year old defendant to 20 years for cocaine trafficking conviction and five years for cocaine conspiracy, a term to run concurrently with the longest penalty. The judge agreed to allow Morris a trip to Pittsburgh to visit his mot Her, who is suffering from cancer.
Ebben's success a family matter

By MIKE SULLIVAN

It's a common story. Those of us who grew up on sports remember Dad taking an active interest in our own athletic interests. He wanted to see us succeed in life, and what better way than for us to excel in sports. Dad might not know anything about our favorite sport, but he made sure that he learned the game well enough to give us some pointers. Maybe even enough advice to get us on the little league all-star team and more.

And on rare occasions, the advice Dad gave us might even make us a high school star, or get us scholar ship offers from big-name colleges.

Take the case of Lynn Ebben. She is currently averaging 8.7 points per game this year at Ferris State University, who are only four points behind the University of Notre Dame in the CCHA. The coach of the Bulldogs, Dick Bertrand, is in his first year at Ferris State and has been named the 2nd All-CCHA defensemen for this season. Ebben agreed that, despite her early scoring success, she is not ready to control the game like her dad could.

"The transition from high school to college has been challenging," she admits. "I'm becoming a full-time guard and I have to learn to do things on my own. I never really learned how to play defense so I have to learn how to coordinate with each other on the court." But for the time being, she is content in coming off the bench when called upon. She realizes that, with so many good players on one team, she is going to have to split time with her more experienced teammates.

"My responsibility on the team is to try to contribute to put in good minutes and help the team improve. Of course, it's nice to win. Hopefully, with the combined efforts of everyone, we'll get an NCAA Tournament bid."

Still, one has to wonder whether Lynn Ebben would be shooting jump shots and dribbling a basketball around the court as a five-year-old. The answer is yes.

See LYNN, page 15

Ferris St. next up for uncertain ice men

By J.P. HEALEY

Amid all the meetings, all the interviews, and all the activities centered around the doubleheader situation, the Notre Dame hockey team must find time to actually play the games on their schedule.

This weekend, the Irish travel to Big Rapids, Mich., to do battle with Ferris State University, who are only four points behind the University of Notre Dame in the CCHA. The coach of the Bulldogs, Dick Bertrand, is in his first year at Ferris State after 12 seasons with Cornell Bertrand was met by 21 returning letterman at the beginning of this season.

Of the 21 experienced players, senior Paul Couch twice the MVP of the team — and Jim Fil, time two-time All-CCHA defensemen, lead the top ten forwards. "Last year, Ferris State played a tough schedule," commented Smith. "They're a tough kid who could lead that type of team.

Under Bertrand though, things might have changed. Coming from the East, Bertrand is more accustomed to an open style of play. This possible conflict of team philosophies could present a problem for the Irish. "We're not sure exactly what to expect," commented Smith. "We haven't seen the Bulldogs this year, and we're only going on last year's performance, so it'll probably be a tough series." The Bulldogs have more to offer than their advantage than the element of surprise. The team has captured a big upset victory over Michigan State last weekend. Freshman Norm Young turned in a 4-7 save performance in goal for the winning effort. "Ferris State is coming off a good weekend," said Smith. "They are probably finally accustomed to their new coach and the infusion of freshness."

But Notre Dame has some amount of its own. The Irish offensive attack will be led by a doubleheader whose seven points in last Saturday's victory over Miami of Ohio was the total of CCHA Player of the Week.