Students must show proof of draft status to obtain federal aid

By ROB VONDERHEIDE

Students receiving federal financial aid have until Oct. 1 to submit a form stating they have completed with Selective Service laws.

Failure to sign the form will force the financial aid office to reverse the credit of federal aid. The aid will be reported as "no-shows," where proof of draft status is required.

The new rule is the result of a two-sentence law that easily passed through Congress last year. The Education Department originally set July 1 as the deadline for selecting the form, but financial-aid directors complained of too little time to handle the paperwork.

A month ago, the Education Department moved the deadline to Sept. 1, but this week the department extended it one month to Oct. 1.

Under the law, male students between the ages of 18 and 22 will have to submit a form to the Office of Financial Aid stating that they have registered with the Selective Service.

Female students receiving or applying for federal assistance after July 1 will have to check the line stating, "I am female." Women are not required to register with the Selective Service.

Students born before 1960 will have to indicate that fact on the form.

But being a "conscientious objector" is not listed as a reason for failing to register. Conscientious-objector status is recognized as a legal reason not to be drafted into military service.

Except for additional paper work, Russo said the new law is "not a problem at Notre Dame," where about half the students receive federal aid - especially from the Guaranteed Student Loan program.

Students who report federal aid programs linked to students' registration status are: the GSL, the Pell Grant, the Work/Study program, the National Direct Student Loan and the Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant.

The original language of the law mandated that the forms signed by the students would have to be verified against Selective Service records. But the law did not say whether the federal government or the local draft board should verify the drafts.
Mostly cloudy and very warm today and tonight, with a 40 percent chance of thunderstorms. Mostly sunny, warm but less humid tomorrow. High today, upper 80 to around 90; tomorrow, upper 80s. Low tonight, mid- to upper 60s. The extended forecast calls for very muggy days Monday through Wednesday.

Housing Shortages

ND uses study lounges to relieve campus demand

By VIC SCIULLI
Assistant News Editor

An unusually high number of room reservations this year means only one thing to 34 freshmen: temporary housing.

Eleven women and 23 men are in Foyle and Flanner halls.

Father Michael Heppen, director of housing, said that the study lounges will be used as soon as other rooms on campus become available.

Heppen said that the 94 female and 136 male transfer students waiting on-campus housing will be taken care of after all the freshmen are placed in regular rooms.

Heppen said he does not like the idea of taking the study lounges away from the students, but he considers it a better idea than a housing lottery.

The lottery was averted last April when Student Government Housing Commissioner Jorge Valencia suggested that study lounges in some of the women's dorms and in Flanner and Grace halls be used as dorm rooms.

Off-campus Housing Director Brother John Campbell said that although there is still a waiting list for the Campus View and Turtle Creek apartment complexes, there is an ample supply of apartments available in other areas.

19 freshmen in dorm parlors at Saint Mary's

By ANNE MONASTYSKI
Saint Mary's Editor

A housing shortage has forced 19 Saint Mary's freshmen to live temporarily in dorm parlors, leaving other residents with almost no recreational space.

McCandless' basement will house nine students; six will stay in the LeMans guest rooms and four will be placed in one of Holy Cross' three parlors until permanent housing becomes available.

Last year eight students lived in all of Holy Cross' parlors, and one parlor served as temporary housing until second semester.

This year only freshmen were guaranteed housing. "We told a number of students that we don't have space," said Rissmeyer.

Rissmeyer said that the College will have to wait to see how many students withdraw before deciding when freshmen will get permanent housing and when recreational areas will become available.

Lawyers must fix attitudes, says Burger

By MARK WORSCHE
News Editor

A lawyer’s primary goal should be “to keep client out of court,” Chief Justice Warren Burger told a Notre Dame audience in London this week.

Speaking at a July dinner dedicating the University’s London Law Center, Burger said lawyers should return to their role as the healers rather than the warriors of society.

“Warrior customs must be used to resolve disputes, but to do that we must change the attitude of a good many lawyers.”

“In America, the current generation of lawyers or at least far too many of them, seems to act more like warriors eager to do battle than like healers seeking peace. Our society is indeed a litigious one with over 25 million new lawsuits each year,” he said.

“We desperately need a generation of lawyers — and law teachers — who understand that access to justice does not invariable mean action; if not, “it may be too late.”

One result of training in the law and in professional standards with a commitment to human values has failed to perform its mission.”

The American legal system itself must be subjected to adversary examination; if not, “it may be too fragile to survive the stresses of the 21st century,” he said.

Law student is recovering after wreck

By VIC SCIULLI
Assistant News Editor

William Kovacik Jr., a second-year law student, is in good condition following surgery yesterday for injuries incurred during an accident near the Grotto-Wednesday.

Kovacik was riding his bicycle on the road between the Grotto and St. Michael’s Laundry when he was struck by a car driven by Notre Dame quarterback Blair Kid.

Glen Tress, director of security, said that Kovacik failed to see the stop sign located where the road intersects the lakefront. Kovacik’s law car was moving east, coming from the direction of the ROTC building.

Kovacik underwent surgery at St. Joseph Medical Center to repair muscles and tendons in his fractured left leg.

Terry said the intersection has been a problem in the past. The stop sign has been obscured by trees and shrubs, and there have been “many near misses” as a result of bikes and runners moving east before they cross the road.

Terry said something can be done to remedy the situation but emphasized that no one should cross the path without checking traffic.

Roemer emphasizes policies on alcohol, pareiets at ND

BY MARK WORSCHEN
News Editor

While states and schools around the country have enacted stricter policies governing the consumption of alcohol, Notre Dame has not changed its rules.

But Dean of Students James Roemer said that "we will be even more vigorous and diligent in enforcing the present alcohol policy." That policy has been outlined in a directive from the dean which dictates the rules concerning alcohol consumption on campus.

The following violations will result in a minimum of $100 fine:

- Possessing or drinking from a keg on campus. Such containers will be impounded by Security and will not be returned.
- Consuming alcohol outside of private dorm rooms or residence hall party rooms. Alcoholic beverages are not allowed in the football stadium nor the ACC, and are not permitted outside on the campus.

Entering or attempting to enter either under the age of 21 into the Alumni-Senior Club (Senior Bar) or entering the club by any entrance other than the front door, or opening a door to allow others to enter. Brining alcoholic beverages into the club on certain announced non-alcoholic nights.

In addition, Roemer stressed that parental will be enforced just as diligently as the alcohol policy. Some violations could result in the expulsion of the student involved.

"Our parental regulation has been that serious violations - such as overnight stays - will involve the separation of the student from the University," Roemer said. He believes that some students do not realize that they are under the University's control, and will handle such situations, even on the first offense.

A full treatment of the University's disciplinary rules is contained in the "Tome of the Law," the guide to student life. The booklet, which will be distributed to freshmen by the hall staffs, also covers Notre Dame's policies on drugs, academic dishonesty, theft, injuries to persons or property and human sexuality.

One key regulation restricts the height of elevated beds, or lofts. Students who build lofts in their rooms must obtain permission from their rector, and signs and return a form.

Suspect arrested for ’82 hit-and-run

BY DIANE DIRRERS
Assistant News Editor

The driver of the vehicle that allegedly struck two Notre Dame students last fall has been arrested after police entered the help of South Bend’s new Crime Stoppers program.

Russell Micinski, 28, of South Bend was arrested Aug. 18 in connection with the hit-and-run of students Beth McInerny and Kerry Mannion on Sept. 26.

Micinski has pleaded innocent to charges of two felony counts of driving under the influence and causing serious bodily injuries, and a misdemeanor count of leaving the scene of an injury accident.

Police had exhausted all leads when they handed the case over to Crime Stoppers, a new program in South Bend, re-enters local crimes on television and in local newspapers, and offers cash rewards to Crime Stoppers in May.

A tip received by South Bend Police Sgt. Sam Walsh on July 8 helped police track down the suspect. Police said a piece of grill found at the accident site matched that of Micinski’s vehicle. And, police said, paint chips from Micinski’s car matched samples taken last September. Traces of the victim’s clothing were found on the car, police added.

Micinski had allegedly been driving back from the Linebacker’s Club, a tavern on South Bend Ave. He recalled having “a little bit more than I should have to drink,” and could not remember clearly what happened that evening.

“It’s hard to believe they (the police) really did anything,” said McInerny. “I thought the whole incident was over, and now it’s being stirred up again. I’m not looking forward to going through it again.”

Mannion agreed. “It’s almost a year gone by now. I can walk. My head is fine. I don’t have any bad feelings now. I want to forget about the whole thing. Actually, I feel more sorry for him (Micinski) than I do for me.”

Cathy Pax, 19, a resident of Walsh Hall, was killed in a two-car accident Aug. 20 while returning to her home in Coldwater, Ohio, from a summer job. According to the Hamilton post of the State Highway Patrol, her vehicle crossed the center line and was struck by a motor home. She was pronounced dead at the scene.

Pax was a copy editor and a senior staff reporter for The Observer. She also was fund-raiser chairman for Walsh.

Two Notre Dame sophomores and two retired priests died during the summer.

Cathy Pax, 19, a resident of Walsh Hall, was killed in a two-car accident Aug. 20 while returning to her home in Coldwater, Ohio, from a summer job. According to the Hamilton post of the State Highway Patrol, her vehicle crossed the center line and was struck by a motor home. She was pronounced dead at the scene.

Pax was a copy editor and a senior staff reporter for The Observer. She also was fund-raiser chairman for Walsh.

A Sorin resident, Mark Lamping, 19, died at his home in Colorado Springs, Colo., on June 15. He was an Air Force ROTC cadet and a member of Alpha Phi Omega, a volunteer services organization.

Father Louis Thornton died Aug. 5 in the Holy Cross House at the age of 77. Before he retired in 1970, Thornton was registrar and director of the placement bureau.

Former professor of psychology Father Francis O’Hara, 84, died on June 25 at the Holy Cross House. O’Hara taught at Notre Dame for 10 years, and lived here in retirement since 1970.

All from your Student Union
SBPs see vital role for freshmen

Notre Dame
By TOM MOWLE
Copy Editor

Notre Dame student government officials hope this year's freshmen will get involved in the many activities planned.

These activities include -- for the first time in many years -- a Homecoming celebration in addition to the traditional events such as An Tostal, Mardi Gras and the Mock Convention.

Student Body President Brian Callaghan said it is important for freshmen to help plan these events because "freshmen haven't been around long enough to forget their ideas."

Callaghan will continue the programs that were successful last year and encourages freshmen to participate. The Chance to Dance program, which "satisfied a need for a lot of people," will be continued, but the coordinator hasn't been chosen yet.

More exchanges with colleges are being planned. Callaghan plans to schedule schools similar to Notre Dame.

Saint Mary's will also sponsor the Homecoming celebration, which will be the weekend of the Pittsburg football game. A man's and women's hall will work together on floats, and the festival will include a concert and a bonfire.

Student Body Vice President Peggy Prevost said a political convention will be a another major event on campus -- probably in March. This convention is held every presidential election year to inform students about the candidates running for office.

Student government, she said, will try to keep the students more informed of its activities than it has in the past by publishing a newsletter every two months. The Student Union will also keep a comprehensive calendar of events on campus and aid scheduling.

Callaghan said that the goals of student government this year are "concrete and realistic." Among these are a teacher-evaluation program to help students decide which classes to take, the use of senior Bar by undergraduates on certain nights, and a greater variety of elections for science and engineering students.

Saint Mary's

Saint Mary's Student Body President Elaine Hocter expects this year's freshmen to quickly come together as a class.

Student government and the halls have planned several activities that will enable the freshmen to get to know each other. These include socials, hayrides and movies.

Freshmen should have an easy time getting involved in student government, Hocter said, because the officers in Regina Hall, where most freshmen live, will be elected in the fall, as will a freshman council.

Major social events set for next month include the dedication of the new student center and a five-ball dance, said Vice President for Academic Affairs Madeline Hoch.

The dedication week will begin on Sept. 10 with an outdoor concert by a variety of area bands, and will conclude with the dedication itself on the 16th. That night the celebration will feature an Irish Band, Jim Coo & Friends.

The dance will be Sept. 24 in the college center and will be "similar to the Chance to Dance at Notre Dame," Hocter said.

This year many of the events on campus will be preceded by lead-up activities to encourage participation. Student government is keeping a schedule to coordinate the various half- and government-sponsored events.

Additional events include Senior Father Daughter Weekend on Sept. 5th, Women's Opportunities Week in November, and the Performing Arts Series.

Hocter noted that this year a social-justice commissioner will work to get the students "more involved in community service." Hocter added she is "looking forward to working with Notre Dame on activities, especially Homecoming."

Baseball Tryouts will be held soon. There will be a very important meeting concerning tryouts and the upcoming season on Wednesday, August 31, at 5 p.m. in the ACC Football Auditorium. Returnees from last year's team and any new candidates interested in playing should attend the meeting. Each person should bring a pen or pencil. - The Observer

Open Volleyball Tryouts will be held this Monday, August 29 at 7:30 in the ACC Pit. For more information, call the volleyball office at 239-6281. - The Observer

THE AIR FORCE HAS A LOT TO OFFER
IT ADDS UP TO OPPORTUNITY

Air Force ROTC is the first step toward your future. While you're in college AFROTC means leadership training, tuition assistance, and $100 a month in living expenses. After college, AFROTC can mean a commission as an Air Force officer with the pride, responsibility and experience that are parts of our great way of life. You'll be on the fast track toward the goals you've set for your future. Check out Air Force ROTC. Two-, three- and four-year scholarship programs are available in your area. Open Volleyball Tryouts

Rockne Memorial Building

Located at the west end of the South Quad, "The Rock" is the center for the physical education program. The huge brick structure contains basketball courts, handball-racquetball courts, a weight room, a light apparatus room, a swimming pool, and the golf pro shop. Use of the Rockne Memorial facilities is free to all students and faculty members upon presentation of a University identification card. Closing time is 11 p.m. daily.

Stepan Center

Outside the Stepan Center one can play basketball, football, soccer, rugby, and softball. Many of the interhall sports are conducted in this area of the campus (directly north of the towers). Within Stepan Center are basketball and volleyball courts, open for recreational and league play.

Athletic and Convocation Center

The double-domed ACC, located east of the Stadium, contains more area than the Houston Astrodome. Within the structure are handball and racquetball courts, squash courts, and courts for basketball, tennis, and volleyball. One may also take advantage of the ice rink, boxing room and running track. A swimming pool is also being built on the east side of the ACC.

Burke Memorial Golf Course

On the west end of campus is the 18-hole, 6,500-yard University golf course. The course is open until late fall and reopens in early spring. Green fees are $2.50 for students, faculty and staff. Alumni can golf for $3.50.

Saint Mary's

Angela Athletic Facility

Located north of the Saint Mary's library, Angela includes basketball and volleyball courts, as well as some fitness equipment. Information about use of theAAF can be found by calling 284-5549.

Faces in the athletic department

Rev. Edmund P. Joyce, C.S.C. — A 1937 Notre Dame graduate, Fr. Joyce was appointed executive vice president of the University in 1952, just three years after his ordination. As Chairman of the Faculty Board in Control of Athletics, Joyce maintains, "First things come first, and the first thing for us are academics. I tell every squad of athletes that when the students return to campus each fall."

Gene Corrigan — Since succeeding the legendary Moone Krause as athletic director in 1981, Corrigan already has made his presence felt. He has been instrumental in the planning and organization of Notre Dame's first-ever athletic endowment fund which will increase opportunities for all Notre Dame students at all levels of competition. Corrigan also is credited with the introduction of two new varsity sports - lacrosse and women's swimming - in his first fall year as athletic director. Before coming to Notre Dame, Corrigan was responsible for the rapid growth of the athletic department at the University of Virginia during his nine years as director of athletic programs.

"Brian Boulac — This family Notre Dame right end comes off the field and into the office as he begins his job of assistant athletic director. This will be a change from the last 13 years which he spent on the football coaching staff as recruiting coordinator, offensive and defensive line coach, receiver coach, and specialty teams coach."

Col. John Stephens — This is Jack Stephens' 16th year in the Irish administration, but this year he embarks on a new job as director of special projects. He assumes this role after spending seven years as associate athletic director and another right as assistant director. Despite holding his present job for only a short time, however, he has already made an impact, playing a major role in the formation of the North Star Conference - a conference in which several women's sports non-compete.

Faces in the athletic department

Roger Valdiserri — Following his 1954 graduation from Notre Dame, Valdiserri served briefly as an administrative assistant to Fighting Irish head football coach Terry Brennan. In 1966, after public relations stints at Mercedes-Benz and the Kansas City Chiefs, he returned to his alma mater to become sports information director and ten years later added assistant athletic director to his duties. Regarded as one of the best in his field, Valdiserri has received 37 awards over the past six years from the College Sports Information Directors of America for his sports publications, many regarded as the best in the nation.

Joseph O'Brien — A 1949 Notre Dame graduate, O'Brien is beginning his eighth year as assistant athletic director and the department's business manager. In 1955 he became director of personnel functions at South Bend's second largest employer — the University of Notre Dame. He has been here ever since.

Steve Orsini — Orsini returned to his alma mater in 1981 to assume the position of ticket and promotion manager after three years as a certified public accountant. Recently, he has been given the job of assistant business manager. "Ons" served as specialty team captain on Dan Devine's 1977 national championship team, and earned three monograms in his playing career at ND.

Astrid Hotvedt — Since becoming coordinator of women's athletics at Notre Dame in 1974, just two years after the University began admitting women, Hotvedt has overseen the program's growth from its infancy. Currently, Irish women compete in a number of sports and are now approaching national prominence in basketball, volleyball, and tennis.

Dr. Tom Kelly — As director of nonvarsity athletics, Kelly oversees one of the nation's most extensive intramural program for a university the size of Notre Dame. Since there are no fraternities or sororities here, dorm life and its accompanying spirit fill the bill, and this enthusiasm is often seen in intramural competition. Also, this spring he was named assistant athletic director. Kelly received his masters degree in physical education from Penn State and his masters and Ph. D. in Education and Administration from Notre Dame. After 11 years as NVA's assistant director, Kelly was elevated to his present post in the spring of 1979. Kelly also served as Notre Dame's baseball coach for five seasons before committing himself full-time to the NVA office following the 1980 campaign.

Faces in the athletic departments

Erin Murphy — In her fourth year at Saint Mary's, Murphy serves as director of athletics and recreation. A graduate of Lewis University in Joliet, Ill., she has served as assistant director of athletics and recreation and volleyball coach for SMC since 1979. Along with supervision of the college's intramural, club, and varsity programs, Murphy continues her volleyball coaching duties. Murphy plans "to refine and perfect the programs that we have now at all three levels. I want the community to take advantage of the facilities and programs we have available," and wants SMC's Angel Athletic Facility to be used for recreation and leisure as well as competitive sports.

Timothy J. Dillon — With degrees from Slippery Rock State College and Eastern Kentucky University, and experience as a Division I gymnastics coach at EKU, Dillon views athletics "as a part of education." Dillon is the assistant director of athletics and recreation for SMC under Murphy.

Sharon Petro — The chairman of the physical education department is always one of the first faces an incoming freshman sees at Notre Dame, since phys ed is a required part of the freshman curriculum (except ROTC students). Petro was appointed to her present position two years ago, but she certainly is no stranger to the Notre Dame community. Like Hotvedt, she also did graduate work at EMU, earning her master's in 1976. Beginning her sixth year at Notre Dame, Petro served as women's tennis coach during the 1977 and '78 seasons before deciding to devote herself full-time to her basketball coaching duties. She had been serving double duty for two years. After the basketball team was elevated to Division I status, Petro left the ACC and returned to the Courtney Courts to coach tennis once again.

where I fit in with the people on the campus and the people on the team. Notre Dame has just what I wanted."

"My father was instrumental in my decision to come here," says Wilson, "because he pointed out that a degree from here would really help me in the future."

For Banks, who was named as national high school "Player of the Year" by the Columbus (Ohio) Touchdown Club, the attraction came down to the coaching staff's concern for the well-being of the players beyond the gridiron. "Coach Faust seems to be concerned about athletes on and off the field," says Banks.

That concern is important when freshmen at Notre Dame step on to the football field for the first time.

"I was very timid the first day," recalls safety Scott Rogers of Carmel, Indiana. "I really experienced tension then."

"They do some damage," states offensive lineman Tom Riley with a half-smile and half-glimpse about his early experiences of contact with veteran members of the Irish line.

Surprisingly, after concluding two-a-days last week, and three sessions of three-days the week before, Tom Rehder, a 6-7, 225-lb. tight end from California, noted that the physical toll was less of a strain than the mental toll.

"You definitely get more tired of studying," states Rehder. "You go out on the field and worried and scared about not doing your best."

For Banks, who was given the position of offensive coordinator for Wisconsin from 1975-77. He next served as the head coach Eastern Michigan from 1978-82 before becoming the offensive backfield coach for the USF New Jersey Generals.

In other news, junior offensive tackle Larry Williams and senior cornerback Steve Toran are the Irish players whose names appear on their all-America squad.

Williams was an honorable mention choice in both of these publications.

Senior kicker Mike Johnston, who set a Notre Dame record last year by kicking 19 field goals in 22 attempts was also an all-America pick by Sporting News as well as an honorable mention selection by Street & Smith.

Despite sifting out all of last season with a foot injury, Sporting News thought enough of nose tackle Tim Marshall to select him as one of their all-America selections. Game Plan also chose him as an honorable mention pick. Marshall, initially weighed in at a stately 235 pounds after having weighed as much as 282 pounds during the off-season last year.

Jr. linebacker Mike Larkin and junior defensive tackle Mike Cann round out the pre-season honor selections from Notre Dame.

Freshman football players attempt to deal with college pressures

By THIRUV ROBERTS and LOUIE SOMOGYI
Sports Writers

For some 1,800 Notre Dame freshmen, the next four years will offer them a chance to develop mentally and spiritually.

For the last two-and-a-half weeks, 28 of those freshmen have already experienced some of the pains and pleasures that come with adjusting to the college scene at Notre Dame.

The 28, this year's scholarship freshman football players, compose Head Coach Gerry Faust's third straight freshman class.

Not all freshman players are as talented as the Notre Dame varsity, but many freshmen are good enough to be ranked among the Notre Dame squad.
