Two U.S. Marines killed in Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - Mortar shells fired by Muslim militiamen killed two U.S. Marines yesterday.

Begin resignation plan announcement today

JERUSALEM (AP) - Prime Minister Menachem Begin kept Israel in suspense yesterday by delaying his planned resignation for the second time.

Heads of the ruling coalition parties spent about three hours pleasing with Begin to change his mind.

Members of Begin's Herut Party said after meeting with him late yesterday that he would make the announcement today at a meeting with leaders of his ruling coalition after seeing U.S. special envoy Robert C. McFarlane.

Ehud Olmert, a member of Herut's parliamentary faction, said after meeting with Begin, "His mood is very relaxed." Olmert said that Begin "is resolved to retire." But Ronnie Milo, another parliamentary deputy and Begin's son-in-law, said the chances were 50-50 that Begin would stay on.

Twenty-four hours after Begin dropped his bombshell announce­ment at a routine Cabinet meeting, the reasons for his move remained largely unknown, and throughout the country, Israelis kept their radios tuned to live broadcasts from the doorstep of Begin's office.

Israel radio said Begin told his col­ leagues his reasons were strictly per­ sonal. Begin's aids reports that he had become fed up with his Cabinet, which has grown increasingly split and unstable in trying to deal with the in­flation's auto cone­

A crowd of 50 supporters gathered across the street from Begin's home in the Behoria quarter of Jerusalem, chanting, "Begin, king of Israel, lives." They waved placards urging him not to resign, including one which said, "Begin, don't aban­don us at a time of trouble."

Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir was mentioned in the Israeli media as Begin's likeliest successor. But Is­raeli Army radio later reported that Deputy Premier David Levy also had solid backing.

Coalition Chairman Avraham Burg said an early election was possible and mentioned November 1 as a likely date. He said he did not know whether Begin planned to run for re-election.

Begin denied the notion that he felt too feeble to lead Israel through tough political and economic times, the radio said.

Health Minister Eleazar Shostak said at a news conference that Begin did not feel physically and mentally on top of his job, but Begin cut him short saying, "no, that isn't the reason," the radio reported.

Begin's colleagues said they argued that his timing was politically and religiously bad.

West German C. T. Chancellor Helmut Kohl is about to visit Israel, and the country is about to carry out a com­plex partial withdrawal from Lebanon and implement a series of unpopular economic measures.

Automated tellers arrive at ND

By MARK WORSCHEI

1:30 p.m. on Friday afternoon.

"You're short on cash. The line at the cashier's office in the Administration Building stretches out the door. Your alternative? The Bus Shelter.

Yes, the Bus Shelter, because that's where the Notre Dame Credit Union has installed its latest 24-hour Automated Teller Machine -- "The Exchange."

Announced with much publicity more than a year ago, the machines were supposed to begin serving stu­dents in January. It was not until late spring, however, that credit-union customers were able to use the machines.

Paul Nemeth, an employer of the credit union, said that all three automatic tellers are working now.

Additional machines are located at the Main Office on Douglas Rd. and the St. Joseph Medical Center. A fourth machine will open soon at the Towson Branch, 559 West Sample.

Customers must obtain a plastic bank card and a Personal Identification Number to use the machines.

Nemeth said that students can either apply for the service in person or call the credit union. It usually takes two to four weeks to get the card and the identification number, he said.

The credit union charges a $1 a month for the card.

Most South Bend banks, including the St. Joseph Bank and 1st Source Bank, do not charge for automatic teller service.

But Nemeth said that those banks place "outrageous service charges" on their checking accounts while the credit union doesn't charge for checking.

With the teller cards, customers can make deposits, withdrawals, loan payments and fund transfers. The Ex­change is also an automated teller and customers can call 1-800-257-ATMS to find out other Exchange locations.

Up to $100 can be withdrawn per day from The Exchange, with the period from 5 p.m. Friday to 2 p.m. Monday considered one day. Nemeth said the credit union made the weekend hours because it is not open and reports are not run on Saturday or Sunday.

As the joy of moving into dorms and off-campus abodes subsides, students may find many surprises awaiting them as they wander across campus. Both the newly oriented freshmen and the experienced upperclassmen at Notre Dame and Saint Mary's will encounter numerous physical changes and additions. The alterations from newly renovated student centers at both schools to comfortable seats in the Engineering Auditorium to new log creations lurking at the edge of Saint Mary's Lake, may start a few students thinking. The changes should spark some eyes to the many opportunities on both campuses that are not presently taken advantage of. - The Observer

Inside Tuesday

The new mail under construction at Notre Dame (more commonly known as The Place Where the Old Fieldhouse Used to Be) holds some interesting possibilities. While the area presently appears as a maze of construction, sand and its usual color, it might actually be a credible addition when completed. By adding a few benches and picnic tables and keeping the open area to a minimum, the area could become a popular campus spot. - The Observer

Students may find enjoyment exploring the concrete expanses of the numerous sidewalks lined with unique mailboxes. Some students added during the summer. While the chronic, windblown walks between Lafollette and Washington leave one wondering whether they just didn't cover all the grass, some of the new sidewalks really are quite helpful. With the new cement, students from O'Keeffe and the library students are going to be hard-pressed to find creating new routes across the grass.

The two new pieces of outdoor modern art at Notre Dame, while hardly subtle blendings of the campus architecture, may intrigue some students. And if you'd like to see some real art, saunter over to the Snite Museum, a facility that far too many students ignore during their years here.

In the natural side, the outdoors of the campus are potentially a source of unlimited undergraduate adventure. Unfortunately, most students never take advantage of the outer realm. The lake area in particular can be the source of quite a bit of collegiate activity. The island, complete with railroad ties to Rinkemeyer, is always a pleasant spot to find the ducks or watch a sunset.

The Notre Dame Beach, located on the beautiful shores of Saint Mary's Lake, in a spot few students frequent, except perhaps for an impromptu early morning dip. Few universities, however, sport such a facility. But if one doesn't mind nibbling fish (and warm waters as well), the beach can add much to one's Notre Dame experience.

The renovations and additions are merely stepping stones to further improvements during the coming years at Notre Dame and Saint Mary's. These are only some of the legitimate facilities available. The possibilities are endless.

In the past, when a nation felt threatened by unruly mobs, the Queen called her professionals the Royal Lancers. Today, when you feel threatened by unruly hair, call on the professionals at THE ROYAL LANCER.

Jackowski named new SMC Dean

By ANNE MONASTYRSKI
Saint Mary’s Editor

Sister Karol A. Jackowski, former director of residence life, was named Dean of Student Affairs at Saint Mary’s this summer.

And Pat Rissmeyer, former programming coordinator at the University of Massachusetts, assumed Jackowski’s position.

Other appointments at the College included: Nancy Schoeneman, assistant director of the counseling and career development center; Nancy Foldesi, counselor in the center; Amy Loderer, counselor in admission; and Rev. Thomas Mazurak, campus minister.

Jackowski replaced Kathleen Rice who resigned as dean at the end of last semester. Jackowski was director of residence life for five years before assuming position as dean of student affairs.

“I had done what I wanted to do. The job was getting stale,” said Jackowski.

College establishes lost aid fund

By BOB VONDERHEIDE

Goshen College is setting up a special $15,000 fund to replace federal aid lost if students fail to register with the Selective Service.

The Mennonite school southeast of Notre Dame is one of a handful of colleges that have acted to offset a new law linking draft-registration status to federal financial aid.

Notre Dame has not considered a special fund.

The law, which passed Congress easily last year, requires students receiving federal aid to submit a form stating they have complied with Selective Service laws. Failure to submit the form by Oct. 1 will force financial-aid offices to cancel the credits of federal assistance dispersed after July 1, according to Joe Russo, financial-aid director at Notre Dame.

Goshen financial-aid director Walter Schmucker said the plan's cost "is not going to be significant." Schmucker said the plan will replace grant money with grant money, and loans with other loans.

He said special contributions from Mennonite Church members will pay for the expected $15,000 annual fund.

And at least three other Mennonite schools will have a special fund. Some Quaker schools, including Earlham College in Richmond, Ind., and Brethren Church schools, such as Manchester College in Manchester, Ind., are also planning a fund.

Russo said at Notre Dame, of the forms already submitted to the financial-aid office, no male student has refused to register.

The Education Department originally set July 1 as the deadline for submitting the forms, but financial-aid directors complained of too little time to handle the paperwork.

A month ago, the Education Department moved the deadline to Sept. 1, but this week the department again extended the deadline one month to Oct. 1 "in anticipation" of congressional action.

Under the law, male students between the ages of 18 and 22 will have to submit a form to the Office of Federal Aid stating that they have registered.

Appreciate the place

For the last few days the incoming freshmen at Notre Dame and Saint Mary's were immersed in a sea of orientation information and activity. Shortly, this will be replaced with the daily grind of classes and homework.

Somewhere between the two, freshmen should take the time to look around and really get to know Notre Dame and Saint Mary's. Many students who let their undergraduate careers pass without once exploring this place in which they live. The pressures of college life make it easy for a student to get caught up in wandering aimlessly from dorm to class to library and home again.

It is also confusing to fit into a pattern of college life. Indiana weather and the dean's directives. Less common is the time spent talking to the hall chaplain, the visiting alumnus or the stranger in the lunch line. Becoming part of a university or college does not mean one must sacrifice individualism.

Stepping beyond the sidewalks and the silver posts is also important. There are more than a few Notre Dame and Saint Mary's graduates who never took the time to wander through the Administration Building, sit by lake Marion or read Tom Dooley's letter at the Grotto. Taking the time to sit back and take a look at the campus gives one a different perspective on the college years.

Criticism often seems the norm during the undergraduate years. This is not entirely bad — without criticism there is no progress. But the freshmen should make it a point to make the criticism helpful. The good side of campus life should be recognized and students should work to make it better.

There are a few better ways the class of 1987 can improve campus life than through knowing the campuses. Knowing the place is essential to capturing the essence of the university and the college.

The Notre Dame and Saint Mary's communities have a lot of things going for it. Incoming freshmen: appreciate the place.

College: a great opportunity

"Look at this as a great opportunity: for one of the last times in your life, you are entering a new environment with no reputation at all."

Tom Mowle

On the Line

"None of that is easy to answer (except the last one: you're afraid it is). Over the last couple of days, a lot of people have thrown a lot of information at you, a lot of which you forget as soon as you hear it. They only do it to tell you how a student should behave in college, what you want to behave however you please. Which is justified.

Look at this as a great opportunity: for one of the last times in your life, you are entering a new environment with no reputation at all."

Keith Picher

Short of Profundity

"One of you three will not survive the year."

The words struck the bewildered freshmen like news of a close friend's death. Silence settled like a vacuum around the room. The last few days had seemed surreal. The last couple of days had seemed like an eternity. The last few days had seemed like forever.

The freshman dean held the attention of hundreds of students as he delivered the opening address of a orientation week. The students proceeded to turn their heads first to the right, then the left.

The right way to orient freshmen

After the dean finished his Rocke-like pep talk, every freshman riveted with the words would not flunk out. They left the building, and the rat race began.

But what of the hundreds of students that had left school. Their life now seemed hopeless. The worst of all, the administration left the challenge, the door's over there.

Across the country a different dean talked to the hundreds of young adults that seemed almost like a parent — ready to offer advice, but eager to let each child discover.

"Look at the hundreds of new students seated to your right and left," the dean suggested. "Over ninety-nine percent of you will be here at the end of the year."

The speaker's words resonated the campus. They heard horror stories about the rigors of the freshman year, and were relieved to know that they would survive it.

The freshman year is a difficult experience and we'll be sure to help you with senior advisors, freshmen from the Freshman Year Office, and others, should you need them."

The look and sound of confessions.

"Don't feel had when you get your first B or C in a course. With enough work, grades will take care of themselves. But if you ever need our help, the front door to the office is right over there."

Most of the parents felt like hugging the man as he walked away from the podium, such mysterious famous they had become literally.

After the dean finished his pep talk, the students turned to each other and congratulated themselves. They had built the building, and their college career began.

At year's end only a few had left school. Their year had been challenging but not unbearable because the administration had done their job well.

No, the university of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College may not be as competitive as Harvard or MIT's, but they do have an administration, faculty, and students body who care about their incoming freshmen.
The doors are open

by Sarah Hamilton

Welcome. You have arrived! In case you are wondering where it is that you have arrived, you are just west of civilization and just east of America's heartland. South Bend is the nearest metropolis, and the closest means of escape to the real world is Chicago's O'Hare airport. (Pleasant) doesn't fly from South Bend to Newark, but I'm talking true.

Congratulations are most definitely in order. You are the best and the brightest of your high school graduating classes. You survived seniors, mastered that memoir, the Scholastic Aptitude Test, and most difficult of all, made the choice to leave your hometown. At least until October break, which, in didactic, begins Oct. 22. You are now an official freshman at the University of Notre Dame du Lac.

I'm quite certain that you have been well-prepared to handle the rigors that the Harvard of the Midwest will present. After all, you are the best and brightest. With the help of Dean Edm, you have created a first semester schedule designed to introduce you to higher education without locking you into any college at this point.

Well, that is what freshman orientation is all about. So let me start out...

Let's face it. Best and brightest. you may have scored "fives" on all A.P. exams from Ancient Greek to Advanced Calculus, and you may have banked 18.5 grand, but if you haven't packed your suitcase right, you are not going to make it. (The $18,000 won't help much.)

First off, Notre Dame is older than the hills (in Indiana OK, so it's older than the bunks). And so are the dormitories. But they are full of character (except for Flanner and Grace, and they are full of air-conditioning, and the Pasquerillas, and they, well, they have bunks.) Consequently, all dorms do claim indoor plumbing and electricity, they never actually promised that every room would have an electric outlet. You did pack extension cords, didn't you? Three hundred yards or so should be sufficient, depending on the length of your hallway and the location of your room. Other than in a few senior rooms (something to look forward to!), these forests of electricity may have strategically been positioned in the donation of general hall, which is situated on every other floor. With your $18,000 you might try purchasing electric cords on campus.

Six foot extension cords are on sale in the bookstore for $1.50. No doubt you have been forewarned about South Bend's winds. Ignore the last fact. There is no such thing as a windstorm.

The freshman curriculum and helps students plan their schedules. Also, it provides freshmen with a system of academic survival and long-range planning.

Because academic is the major reason for attending any college, survival in this area is utmost. For this reason, the Learning Resource Center is available to freshmen. In this center, located in Brownwich Hall, help is provided in certain learning skills and remedial or high-graded material. Center can be arranged over and above that which the teacher and course provide, but only when a passing grade is in jeopardy.

A sample of this center's various facilities is the new computer program. This learning aid involves a series of 15 video taped lectures and supplementary materials organized by Dr. Alan Howard of the Math Department.

Interest inventories are one means of long range planning assistance furnished by the Learning Resource Center. Printed materials and video tapes are also available.

Though the freshman Year of Studies office provides programs and counselors, it is the student who will eventually pick a path. So be in the one who must make use of them as well as organize himself. Accordingly, the Learning Resource Center is the "most important technical base floor" that they are at all. Consequently, time management is the subject of one of four workshops offered to freshmen. Workshops on note taking, effective study, cleaning and writing papers are also available. (See the accompanying calendar for dates, times and places.)

If it is not already obvious, college does not end at 3 p.m. In a complete living experience, this is especially true for Notre Dame students who emphasize its residentiality. The freshman Year of Studies office does not close until 5 p.m. For this semester alone, trips to the family's local airport from South Bend, a square dance and many more activities are scheduled. (See the accompanying calendar.)

"Don't make the mistake of thinking that a freshman year that fall into the drinking scene," emphasized Holman. "There are so many things that have to be done, you have available to you here the nicest group of people who are ever going to get together.

A little student initiative can open the doors to all of these "good things" and nice people. And the freshman Year of Studies is waiting with the key.

Dec. 6 - Freshman Day Night - 6:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. at the Student Union, tickets are $2.00.

The bookstore doesn't carry a supply of bowls, but extra large mugs are available for $4.00. General and all sizes are available for $1.50. A scarf suit is in full yet. In choosing ND, fellows, you made a decision to come to a college where there are more cows in the surrounding fields than there are women on campus so, s'aw, you want to attract any females of the species your suitcase had better be specially equipped. Forget the suitcase, just load up the wallet! This is where the $18,000 comes in handy. Find me one girl who doesn't like to be indulged. And then there are those dorm parties. They bring women in herds, but relieve you of dollars even faster. Well, when that supply of currency runs low, s'aw in November. remember to get Dad's check to the bank. The Notre Dame Credit Union hours are Monday through Wednesday and Friday and 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and Thursday 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. The credit union is located in the Student Union, Monday through Friday, 8:30 to 5:00 p.m.

And now, Best and Brightest, your suitcases should be pretty well emptied. You have half of your suitcase. Good luck in the second half and farewell.

Welcome.

Loft it!

Not enough space in your dorm room for all of your furniture and memorabilia? Then loft it! The bed that is. Although there are many different designs for such structures, here are the materials and procedure for a basic two- to three person loft. Check with your rector or rectress before building one for special regulations concerning lofts in your dorm.

materials

1. Measure room crosswise, the distance from wall to wall where the loft will stand. Purchase two two-by-fours that length.
2. Measure the distance floor to ceiling less three feet. (According to fire regulations, all lofts must be three feet from the ceiling.) Purchase four four-by-fours that length.
3. Measure the bed frame crosswise from the inside of one bracket to the other. Purchase two two-by-fours that length.
4. Purchase four hardwood wedges.
5. Purchase a box of 10 penny nails.

procedure

1. With 10 penny nails hammer one four-by-four to each end of each of the two-by-fours the crosswise length of the bed frame. These will form two inverted "U's."
2. Set each "U" up against the walls in between which the loft will stand.
3. Nail the two-by-fours that are the length from wall to wall to the corners of each "U" forming a rectangle on top of the two inverted "U's."
4. Hammer one wedge between each corner of the loft and the wall it touches to secure the loft.
5. Place the bed frame and mattress on top of the wooden loft frame. The loft should hold two or three mattresses positioned crosswise.

Regina decorating: No single way

Contents: one twin bed, one desk, one sink, one window, one wardrobe complete with dresser drawers. It may not be a palace, but it is home for a year, your very own Regina single.

Though not every Saint Mary's freshman resides in a single in Regina Hall, the majority do and in fact enjoy the experience. Sophomore Linda Casio commented, "I think it's great for freshmen. I wouldn't give it up," Margaret Caven, rectress of Regina, said that students seem to enjoy the set-up. "It forces them to get out and meet people. They are not restricted to one or two roommates."

A Regina single may be a socially broadening experience, but as an abode, it is mighty humble—when you first walk through the door in August. But it doesn't have to remain as such.

"It's really important for the room to feel like home," adds Casio, "because it is home." But how do you personalize a room in which all furniture except the bed is bolted to the floor?

Several upperclassmen reflected on their year in the freshman dorm and have come up with these creative suggestions:

- To provide more storage and a different perspective for the room, junior Anne Monastyrski suggests propping the bed upon corner blocks. This creates a place to hide objects which would otherwise be wasting space somewhere else in the room.

The wardrobe is another area which can be better organized to conserve space. When she was a freshman, Casio added a second bar to the closet section to achieve the extra space.

- Student Body President Elaine Hocet suggested the idea of grid shelving for knickknacks.

simple single ideas

- family pictures
- photographs of high school friends and activities
- hand-crafted items (a particularly personal touch)
- stacked milk crates
- carpeting
- wind chimes
- posters
- plants (both standing and hanging; make use of any southern exposure)

Though most pets are prohibited from Regina, or any other dorm for that matter, senior resident assistant Janet Dean does keep a goldfish in her room. Dean loves the idea of the freshman single. "Since it's a single you have the option to do whatever you want... everything's right there."

Everything is right there, all of the basics. So go to it. Create your Regina single.

Blair Kiel decided to take the same route as 1981 All-American Bob Crabbe and got married in the summer before his senior year. Kiel married his high-school sweetheart in Columbus, Indiana.

* The basketball team also made news over the summer by traveling to Yugoslavia for a series of games. Graduating senior Bill Varner was especially impressive. A midnight draft pick by the NBA's Milwaukee Bucks, Varner also left open the possibility that he would play in Europe.

* The team returned from the trip, senior Tom Sluby was named captain of the 1983-84 squad.

* There were two coaching changes over the summer: John Schuman, who had been helping out Digger Phelps, accepted the head coaching job at Grand Canyon College, an NAIA school. Pat Knapp, an assistant coach on the women's basketball team, is now the head coach at New Mexico State. Knapp, who helped Mary Dastanos build up the women's basketball program over the past three years, will take his coaching and recruiting skills to Las Cruces, N.M., where the team finished last season with an 11-15 record.

* A former Irish track star Chuck Aragon finished third in the 1500-meter run in the recent Pan American games.

* In news involving other sports, Steve Dalabio, a track standout who graduated in May, was awarded a $2000 NCAA post-graduate scholarship for excellence in academics and athletics. He owned a 3.64 GPA as a pre-med and joins Paxson who also was awarded a scholarship.

* Larry Gallo's baseball team finished its season by grabbing fourth place in the Midwest City Conference playoffs. The Irish lost to eventual champions Oral Roberts and Detroit in the playoffs.

* Former Irish track star Chuck Aragon finished third in the 1500-meter run in the recent Pan American games.

make a strong impact on the team as the season progresses.

Other freshman who have seen action with the second unit so far this fall include 5-9, 172-lb. split end Alonzo Jeffries, 6-3, 195-lb. quarterback/desernt end Robert Banks, Steve Lawrence at 6-1, 186-lb. cornerback, and 5-11, 170-lb. cornerback Troy White.

Under the tutelage of first-year offensive coordinator and second-year quarterback coach Ron Hudson, Beuerlein, who hails from the same high school as last year’s backup, Jim O’Hara, has been especially appreciative of the transition to college-level football.

“I’m getting coached more and am working on technique,” says thePullerton, Calif native. “In high school I was always team instructed, now I’m instructed as an individual. Coach Hudson really knows what he’s talking about and has shown me new ways to do old things.”

Last year’s Ohio prep player of the year and USA Today first-team tailback, Hiawatha Francisco, seems to be in the same position that Allen Pinkett was in as a freshman last year. Pinkett started on the third squad last year, but was soon the buzz of the campus when he filled in for the injured Gary Bell and Bill Corcoran.

Francisco, “as he is dubbed by teammates, has also been working with the third unit this fall and accepts it graciously.”

“Realistic times are talented,” says Francisco of the competition playing ahead of him. “I’m not expecting to walk in and take over.”

Like the rest of his classmates, like Pinkett last year, “It is simply waiting for the chance to compete,” he said. “I’m probably still working in the back. Hiawatha Francisco seems to be the man.”

For Banks, who was named as national honor society member “I was looking for a school where I fit in with the people on the campus and the people on the team. Notre Dame has just what I wanted.”

For Banks, who was named as national high school “Player of the Year” by the Columbus (Ohio) Touchdown Club, the attraction came down to the coaching staff’s concern for the well-being of the players beyond the gridiron.

And contrary to what many people think, two sub-par football seasons in a row has hardly tarnished the image of Notre Dame through the country.

“Not one said anything bad about Notre Dame while I was being recruited,” says Bobb in fact, when I recruited I was considering Notre Dame. Other recruiters seemed to have gotten worried about it and did a good job.”

Frankly, this is the place to be,” says Miller. “This is family. The tradition and just knowing that things are going to get rolling, around here.

Many see it as a coincidence, but the upperclassmen have been saying the same thing since spring.

Arl's aide joins coaching staff

By LOUIE SOMOGYI

While you've been away
Tom Lichtenberg, receiver coach and recruiting coordinator for Notre Dame's 1983 football squad, resigned from his position on July 21 to become assistant athletic director at Iowa State.

Lichtenberg was an assistant coach at Iowa State from 1974-78 before becoming head coach at Morehead State in 1979. He then came to Notre Dame in 1981 as Ger­ry Faust's offensive coordinator—a position that was given to Ron Hud­son this spring. Lichtenberg also coached the quarterbacks in 1981.

Replacing Lichtenberg as receiver coach and recruiting coordinator is 45-year-old Mike Stock. Stock is no stranger to the Notre Dame scene since he had previously served as the Irish receiver coach from 1969-74 under Ara Parseghian.

After Parseghian resigned in 1974, Stock was given the position of offensive coordinator for Wisconsin from 1975-77. He next served as the head coach at Eastern Michigan from 1978-82 before becoming the offensive backfield coach for the USFL's New Jersey Generals.

Two weeks before its opening game against Purdue, Notre Dame football squad held its first fall scrimmage on Saturday in the Stadium.

"I would have hated to have played Purdue today," Head Coach Gerry Faust told his squad after the two-hour session.

"We looked awfulb slogged out there.

Faust did admit, though, that a lot of the sluggishness could be attributed to the week-long two-day lay that was just completed on Friday.

The No. 1 unit on offense and defense did not compete against each other as they did in the spring. Rather, the coaches tested different individuals from the back up units and analyzed their performance.

Though the overall scrimmage may have been cut short, there were some very pleasant surprises at the right end and quarterback positions.

Ever since Tony Hunter, a first round draft pick of the NFL, completed his senior season last year, a top priority for the team has been to find someone to replace him.

Despite never having caught a pass in his college career, Mark Bavaro solidly established himself as the No. 1 tight end and Pro Bowl choice this spring.

From a depth behind Bavaro, however, a major thigh injury forced Hunter to sit out and gave his top backups, juniors Brian Beherin and Ricky Gray a better chance of winning that same place. Gray and Beherin promptly went on to be the top two pass receivers on Saturday. Gray caught four passes for 56 yards while Beherin caught on to three passes for 55 yards.

Faust seemed fairly pleased and relieved to see that the right end position is coming together very well this fall.

"Ricky has come a long way since the spring," praised Faust. "And Brian has been doing a real good job for us.

Another top priority for the team has been to get solid back up support for quarterback Blair Kiel.

Junior Scott Gossom, who ran the No. 2 offense for the final 15 minutes of occasions Saturday, has continued the strong hold on the position that he has had since the spring. He was especially impressive in a drive against the No. 2 defense when the two-minute drill was employed, and when the only way to "win" was to score a touchdown.

Gossom, in taking the unit 55 yards for the score in only six plays, accounted for 41 of the yards himself. After running for five yards on the first play, Gossom then completed a 9-yard pass to Beherin and an eighth-yard screen to tailback Greg Bell. Two plays later, Gossom escaped a strong pass rush and made a nifty nine-yard scramble into the end zone.

But perhaps the most pleasant surprise of the afternoon was freshman quarterback Steve Beuerlein. Beuerlein, who has worked with the No. 2 unit this fall, continues to get better with each practice.

Beuerlein was 6-6 on 12 of the afternoon's passes for 134 yards, including a 61-yard touchdown pass to Van Peery.

On the 61-yard touchdown play, Beuerlein scrambled away from the line of scrimmage, and outmaneuvered two Notre Dame backf fields, Richards, hating Peery 50 yards downhill. He also completed a second-quarter unit pass against the score on the No. 2 defense when he dove the team 63 yards in just four plays in a two-minute drill.

In that drive, Beuerlein flared a 23-yard pass to Gray between two defenders and a 17-yard pass on the run to freshman split end Alton Jefferson (a place where the officials did not see Beuerlein pass the line of scrimmage before releasing the ball). Tailback Lesmen Fleming ran away with a 19-yard carry, dashed the final 22 yards for the touchdown.

While there were typical freshman mistakes made by Beuerlein, such as being whistled both delay-of-game penalties, it was, as Faust said afterwards, a good performance for a freshman's first scrimmage.

The other highly touted freshman quarterback recruit Joe Felitessy has been red-shirted this year to recover from surgery to correct an intestinal disorder.

For the first two and a half weeks, 28 of these freshmen have already experienced some of the pains and pleasures that come with adjusting to the collegiate scene at Notre Dame. The 28, this year's scholarship freshman football players, comprise Head Football Coach Gerry Faust's third straight freshman class that features talent good enough to be ranked among the very best recruiting crops in the nation.

Of all the talented players, however, perhaps none matches the talent of Kirkwood, Missouri native, Alvin Miller. The 6-4, 205 lbs. linebacker was selected as Parade magazine "Player of the Year" this past season for an honor that has previously been bestowed on last year's Heisman Trophy winner Herschel Walker, last year's Heisman runner-up Tony Hunter, and last year's first round pick Richard Dent.

The athletic prowess of Miller was perhaps best demonstrated in last spring's Missouri state track meet, where he won the 100 and 200 meter dashes along with the 110 and 300 meter hurdles to win the State crown for Kirkwood High School.

His 40 yard dash has been clocked in 4.45, and his size and great leaping ability should make life difficult for defensive backs who are assigned to cover him.

Yet, even an athlete of Miller's stature cannot avoid the emotional effects that come with adjusting and staying big time college football at Notre Dame.

"It's been really a scary experience to go out and play against some of the best players in the country that are here," admits Miller who speaks for the class of 1987 as a whole. "We haven't got it together yet. We're still learning. You realise real quick when you're out there on the field that you're a freshman.

Nevertheless, Miller has been one of six freshman who are or have been in both units this fall team, and who can perhaps see FROSH, page 17

There was a lot of news over the summer involving Notre Dame athletes and the Notre Dame athletic department. In case you were too busy working or sunning, here is an update.

Nearly every preseason college football poll rated Notre Dame among the top ten teams in the country, including one number one ranking by the Sporting News. In making the Irish its top choice, the magazine admitted it was choosing "a longshot, but one that just might deliver".

The Irish have two recruiting rankings for Notre Dame Gameplan (No. 2), Street & Smith (No. 6) and USA Today (No. 7). There will be a consensus poll that will appear in The Observer next week.

The 1984 opening game against Purdue that was scheduled to be played in Notre Dame Stadium will now be the debut game of Hoosier Dome, a domed stadium that is under construction in Indianapolis and will be opened by Indianapolis Colts and Boston Celtics.

Notre Dame's first game under the dome will be a game against Robert Welch who spearheaded the drive to construct the new stadium. Notre Dame will be the home team and will receive most of the game.

The five Notre Dame football players who were drafted by June's NFL draft had mixed fortunes at the professional level.

The Irish did not have a pick in the first round, with Tony Hunter, who has been insfallon so far with his play in the preseason. Hunter has signed a big contract with the Bills.

"I think, though, we have a good chance to start in the same backfield with Earl Campbell in Houston. Morten Monia, whom he was not chosen in the first round (48 was picked in the fifth round with a contract by each coach Ed Biles that Biles proclaimed he should have been a second-round pick. When he heard this, Missouri observers and Notre Dame coaches for using him sparingly after outstanding performances in his first two games last season.

Dave Duerson, a third-round pick by the Chicago Bears, is competing for a starting job in the Chicago-secondary and has been tried as a kick returner.

A herniated disk is holding Mark Zavagnin out for the season. This.

For some, 1,800 Notre Dame freshman football players will get a chance at a fresh start in college. The Irish have 75 scholarships open this fall for the first two and a half weeks.

"We pretty well know what they can do," explained Faust.

Smith showed what he can do on the first possession when he, courtesy of a massive hole opened up by tackle Larry Williams and guard Neil Maune, romped 36 yards for a touchdown on his only carry. Brooks had his own breakout games of 14 and 27 yards on his four carries. Pitkett, meanwhile, scored the third times for 19 yards while Bell picked up 22 yards on two carries.

As Faust had anticipated, he participated in only four series. He completed 10-of-19 passes for 112 yards, but did throw one interception as freshman defensive back Scott Rogers made an impressive diving grab as in off of Joe Howard. On defense, the Irish 1's is that the No. 1 defense was involved. 19 of those plays in the second half, leading in yardage and no yardage for the offense.
