Hall presidents receive fall festival proposal

Fireworks, a pep rally, and a bonfire are among events proposed for a student government sponsored fall festival presented at the Hall Presidents Council last night.

The festival, which should be similar to a mini An Taoist, would be held the week after mid-semester break, Oct. 31 thru Nov. 6, leading up to the Pinstedburgh game.

Activities would include T-shirt sales, a pep rally, fireworks, a bonfire, a parade, an informal dance, and a brunch and Mass. The festival also would include theme days and special meals.

The T-shirt designs would be chosen from patterns submitted by campus halls and organizations. The two best designs and the best slogans would be printed on the shirts, with the organization which submitted the design receiving the profits from the shirts.

The pep rally would be held on Friday, followed by fireworks and bonfire.

A parade around the campus on Saturday would include a float from each of the four classes. Buildings of the floats would begin with a picnic on Friday afternoon.

The informal dance, tentatively set for Saturday from 10 p.m. until 2 a.m. in the South Dining Hall, would be preceded by pre-dance mixers in the dorms.

The week would end with a Sunday brunch and Mass celebrated by Father Hesburgh.

The possibility of a Fall Festival King and Queen was discussed. The voting would be done by petition, with each person signing paying 25 cents to charity.

An organizational meeting for the Fall Festival will be held on Monday, September 12, at 6:30 p.m. in Lafortune's Little Theatre. Gail Sadlerose and Tina Persson are in charge of planning the festival.

The HPC also discussed the initiation of an award to be given each month to a hall staff member who deserves recognition because of their work in their hall.

Kelly Fitzgerald, Farley Hall President, keeps track of the discussion on the new hall party rules at last night's HPC meeting. See story above.

Soviets admit to airliner shooting after UN hears Japanese evidence

Associated Press

The Soviet Union, just minutes after the United States brought "definitive proof" before the world community, admitted officially Tuesday for the first time that it shot down a South Korean jumbo jet.

But the Soviets said their interceptors pilots were convinced the civilian Boeing 747 was a U.S. spy plane, and the "entire responsibility" for the tragedy rests with the United States.

The Kremlin continued to claim the Korean jet may have been flying an intelligence mission for the United States, and issued a blunt warning: the Soviet air force acted in accordance with Soviet law and would do the same again.

It was "a lengthy, gross and obviously pre-planned violation of the airspace of the Soviet Union," Soviet Ambassador Oleg A. Troyanovsky alleged at the U.N. Security Council.

The Soviet admission came six days after Korean Air Lines Flight 007 was downed over the Sea of Japan after crossing into Soviet territory on a flight from New York to Seoul, South Korea. All 269 people aboard were killed.

Before Tuesday, official Soviet statements had either ignored or rejected U.S. Japanese and South Korean reports that the giant jumbo jet was destroyed by a heat-seeking missile fired by a Soviet fighter-interceptor.

But less than an hour after U.S. Ambassador Jesse J. Kirkpatrick presented tapes of the Soviet pilots' radio communications to the Security Council, the Soviet government statement admitting the plane was shot down was read on the Moscow nightly television news.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick later said the Soviets had been forced to make the admission because "the definitive proof was finally put on the record for the whole world to see."

While the U.N. council debated possible international sanctions, the governing body of the International Federation of Airline Pilots' Associations, meeting in Rotterdam, called for a 60-day ban on flights to Moscow to demonstrate "revelation to the Soviet action."

DETROIT — A United Auto Workers panel Tuesday overwhelmingly endorsed a new two-year labor contract that would put Chrysler Corporation workers a big step closer to parity with their counterparts at General Motors Corporation and Ford Motor Company.

The new accord, tentatively agreed to by union negotiators and the automaker on Labor Day, would give Chrysler workers a $2.42-an-hour raise over the life of the contract, said the UAW. That would put those workers back ahead of Chrysler's.

In addition, the UAW said, Chrysler workers stand to receive $1.38 an hour in regular cost of living payments during their new contract. Ford and GM workers would have to negotiate their own cost-of-living formulas in a new pact.

The union said in a letter to the rank and file that the pact "will provide current wage, pension and insurance parity with Ford and GM.

Meanwhile, in Toronto, the UAW and Chrysler Canada Limited reached a tentative agreement on a similar pact for that country's 10,000 Chrysler workers. Those workers, too, had fallen behind workers at GM and Ford because of concessions made during Chrysler's bleak days.

"Chrysler finally got the message that its workers expected and deserved a fair share of the company's record profits," the UAW said in its letter to Chrysler workers announcing the tentative pact.

The pact was approved overwhelmingly by voice vote by the UAW's 1,700-member Chrysler Council, comprised of representatives of Chrysler plants nationwide. UAW President Owen Bieber said Chrysler workers fell behind GM and Ford workers when they gave concessions to the automaker in 1980 and 1981. The company, then on the brink of failure, lost $2.2 billion from 1979 through 1981.

Ratification by Chrysler's 56,000 hourly and salaried workers, plus an other 56,600 on indefinite layoff, was set for Sept. 15. If approved, the agreement would take effect Sept. 1 and expire Oct. 15, 1985.

Plans for presenting the Canadian proposal to union members for ratification were being worked out, the union said.

Chrysler's current contract with the UAW expires Jan. 14, but workers began demanding a pay raise after the No 3 U.S. automaker announced a record 4852 $4 million profit for the first half of 1983.

The agreement was reached after more than five hours of bargaining Monday, the second round of negotiating in six weeks for the company and the union. Chrysler Chairman Lee Iacocca had called the union Thursday, saying he had a proposal for the UAW.

The agreement would give each Chrysler worker an average $14.625 in wage increases over the next two years.

Canadian workers at GM, Ford and Chrysler are paid slightly higher wages in recognition of higher inflation rates north of the border, but the Canadians are paid in Canadian dollars, which are now valued at about 81 cents on the U.S. dollar.

Kiel and the Irish'- Take 4

I wandered into the Hudson Deli one night last week to grab a Coke on the way up to the office. As I paid the cashier, something on the third shelf of the magazine rack caught my eye: I did a double-take, and, sure enough, I was correct. Blair Kiel was on the cover of The Sporting News.

The headline was large and direct: "Blair Kiel, Irish quarterback aims for national title.

I quickly pulled out my wallet and slapped down the $1.50 to purchase a copy. Delighted, I rushed to my office to mirror the story. My delight did not stem from the fact that a Notre Dame player was on the cover of the most renowned sports publication in America. Nor was my excitement due to Notre Dame's No. 1 ranking.

I was delighted, however, perhaps, Blair Kiel is starting to get the respect and recognition he so rightly deserves.

As a senior and former sports writer, I have watched Kiel suffer through some very rough times. Too many, as a matter of fact, and it's about time things changed.

You all have heard the story. As a freshman, Kiel was shot dead the last minute of the Michigan game and missed the season. Kiel's yards in the final 41 seconds to set up Harry Oliver's dramatic, $1.50 game-winning field goal.

Soon after Kiel was the starting quarterback. In fact, he has played more minutes than any other Notre Dame freshman quarterback in 70 years.

Notre Dame won its first seven games that season. A tie at Georgia and losses to USC and Georgia dominated the close season. Kiel was voted a very respectable 9-2-1 record. And Kiel led the way.

This wasn't good enough for a lot of people, however. Disappointed fans and selfish students were quick to point out that Kiel failed to throw a touchdown pass through the entire season. Armchair quarterbacks from Carroll to the Towers said that Kiel wasn't good enough to be leading the Fighting Irish.

In January of 1981, new coach Gerry Faust arrived on campus and quickly announced that quarterback Tim Kiel, who played for Faust at Cincinnati's Mount St. Mary's High School, would return for his final year of eligibility. This meant that Kiel would have to fight for a job that he thought he had won.

Kiel, however, didn't complain. "Coach Faust had a different philosophy," he recalls. "He probably felt more comfortable with Tim in there. I knew I had to prove myself all over again."

Kiel's sophomore year was perhaps his most disappointing. He and Koegele named co-starting quarterbacks. Faust's idea didn't work, however, as Kiel and Koegele were uncomfortable throughout the entire year. The result: a horrid 6-5 record.

Entering his junior year, Kiel was the only choice for starting quarterback. Coach Faust said it, new quarterback coach Ron Hudson said it, and even Kiel's teammates said it. However, Kiel continued to hear the same old complaints.

Finally, in last year's Oregon game, Kiel was pulled at halftime. "It was, perhaps, a good experience," says Kiel. "I had to toughen up." And toughened up he did. He returned late in the game and led the team down the field for a last-minute game-winning field goal.

People who doubt Kiel's value to the Fighting Irish need only remember last year's Penn State and Air Force games. Kiel masked both because of a thumb in his hand, and the Irish offense looked anemic.

With the USC game, on the horizon, people all of a sudden began asking, "Where's Blair going to be back?"

Well, folks, Blair is back now. And he's better than ever. He's the type of person that will take advantage of all of his frustrations, disappointments, and mistakes by increasing his performance. Kiel's Notre Dame was to the national championship. "The team comes first" is a motto that he has always followed.

Respect from the alumni and his fellow students is important to Kiel. However, even if he doesn't get the support he deserves, Kiel will bust his tail and do his best.

You can count on it.

U.S. warns Syria as Marines slain

Associated Press

BERIT T. Lebanon — A barrage of rockets and mortars killed two U.S. Marines and wounded three at Beirut airport Tuesday. The White House warned the Syrians to stay out of the fighting, saying the United States has “considerable firepower” in readiness off Lebanon’s coast.

The shelling of the peacekeepers occurred during general fighting among Christians and Druze militias in the hills overlooking Beirut. Police said 14 people were killed in the last 24 hours.

The Marines were the third and fourth killed in eight days. One of the Marines wounded Tuesday was evacuated to the U.S. support ship Iwo Jima, where he was in guarded condition with shredded wounds of the stomach, U.S. spokesman said. Identities were not immediately available.

Six Italian members of the multinational peacekeeping force also were wounded in their area of the city. An Italian spokesman said three were hit by fragments when a shell fell on a logistics compound, and three by fragments while riding in a jeep.

Police said 14 people were killed and 382 wounded in the past 24 hours, raising the toll to 230 dead and 958 wounded since the Israelis pulled out Sunday. Druze fighters, in their first victory, took the Christian town of Blatiahon.

In the renewed shelling, there have been reports from both the Druze and Christians of massacres in mountain villages, but the reports could not be confirmed.

In Jerusalem, Israeli officials said Israel would not re-enter the mountains across the border with Syria and Palestinian forces intervene. Defense Minister Moshe Arens was quoted by the Jerusalem Post as saying Israel could not have known that it was a civilian airliner.

“T hey did not appear to care what it was,” the American camp was being aimed at.

Jordan said the shells and rockets from the northeast, an area controlled by the Shiite Muslims who are Druze allies, apparently were simply firing at their contested targets. The Druze are a secretive sect that is an offshoot of Islam.

Five members of the U.S. Marine Corps on duty in Lebanon with the Multinational Peacekeeping forces have breakfast near the Beirut International Airport early Monday while shells fall nearby from leftist militia positions. The uninhabited airport is in the background (see story above).

Russ pilot’s knowledge questioned

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Soviet Union’s declared admission that one of its warplanes shot down a Korean jetliner last week focuses new attention on the question of whether the Soviet pilot knew he was firing a missile at an unarmed passenger plane.

The Korean plane downed in international airspace did the pilot of the Korean plane attempt to signal the Soviet interceptors with radio messages that it took a full 12 minutes for the Korean plane to drop off radar screen after the Soviet pilot fired his missile and reported “the target is destroyed.”

While the Soviet admission, made in an official statement broadcast on Moscow television Tuesday, cleared up some questions surrounding the fate of Flight 007, it raised new doubts about other puzzling aspects of the tragedy.

The Soviet government said the jet interceptor that tracked the airliner “fulfilled an order of the general command to stop the flight of the Korean plane and shoot it down.”

These Soviet pilots stopping the actions of the intruder plane “could not have known it was a civilian plane,” the statement asserted.

“Soviet officials insist the Soviets should have known the plane was a civilian airliner. Yet, the United States does not claim that the Soviets actually knew that the plane was a civilian one.”

“They made no serious effort to identify the aircraft or to warn us,” an official White House statement said. “They did not appear to care what it was, whether it was friendly, they were intent on killing it.”

In their statement, the Soviets said the pilots repeatedly tried to warn the Korean airliner and force it to land.

President Reagan, in his nationally broadcast address Monday night, said, “There is no way a pilot could misconstrue this for anything other than a military target.”

American officials say this is so because the silhouette of the Boeing 747 passenger plane, flying through a clear eight and illuminated by a bright moon, was visible to the Soviet pilot. Moreover, they say, the Soviets should have been able to distinguish the passenger plane from the military SS-20 missile.

The Soviets said the Korean plane was flying without navigational lights “at the height of night, in conditions of low visibility, and was not answering the signals.”

But according to transcripts released by the White House of radio conversations between the Soviet pilot and his ground command, the pilot reported, “I see it visually and on radio.”

The transcript also quotes the pilot as saying the “target” was illuminated by air navigational lights and a flashing strobe light.

Extra shuttle expense reflects contract costs

By HELEN LUCATIS Staff Reporter

Students boarding the Notre Dame-Saint Mary’s shuttle this year must dish out an extra ten cents for the new 25-cent fare.

The price of the Transpo shuttle for Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s has increased over the last three years, but this is the first time we have increased the cost for the students,” said Mary Ann O’Donnell, Director of Student Activities at Saint Mary’s. Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s signed a yearly contract with Transpo. “We charge the students a rate of $2.63 per hour,” said Transpo Controller Bruce Zakrzewski. “It is increased fairly over last year.”

Students have mixed feelings about the fare increase. “I suppose they want this increase to last the whole semester,” said O’Donnell.

Arms talks continue despite plane downing

Associated Press

GENEVA, Switzerland — U.S. and Soviet negotiators resumed talks Tuesday on reducing medium-range nuclear missiles in Europe. But prospects for a accord appeared diminished as the two nations continue to exchange angry words over the Korean Air Lines incident.

U.S. Ambassador Paul H. Nitze snapped and coldly greeted Soviet negotiator Ambassador Yuli A. Kisin when they met at the granite villa in the Soviet compound, but both avoided a horde of waiting reporters and made no public comment.

The talks, running after a two-month summer recess, are the final round in the 2-month old Intermediate Nuclear Force negotiations.

If no accord is reached, the U.S. will begin a December deployment of 72 cruise and Pershing 2 missiles in configurations that would be acceptable to the Soviets. Although both sides have said they want an accord, chances for a swift agreement appeared all but dead since the downing of Korean Airlines Flight 007.

Neither Soviet nor U.S. officials would say if the Soviets had withdrawn President Yuri V. Andropov’s two-week-old offer to the United States to sign an agreement to dismantle some of the SS-20s.

Neither Soviet nor U.S. officials would say if the Soviets had withdrawn President Yuri V. Andropov’s two-week-old offer to the United States to sign an agreement to dismantle some of the SS-20s. Nor would either side comment on the atmosphere of the session.

Teacher strikes decline as inflation stays low

Associated Press

As school doors open across the country, fewer teachers are walking picket lines. Union leaders predict that lower inflation plus the promise of education reform will add up to labor peace this year.

As of Tuesday, the 1.7 million-member National Education Association reported strikes in 25 school districts in Michigan, and one district each in Rhode Island, Illinois, Ohio and New Jersey. By this time last year, there were 47 NEA-sponsored strikes in seven states.

"We don't think we'll equal last year's total of 128 strikes," said Howard Carroll, an NEA spokesman.

Meanwhile, three locals of the 800,000-member real teacher union, the American Federation of Teachers, are on strike as of this week — in Pawtucket, R.I., East York City and elsewhere.

Inflation stays low, few teachers are walking toward Carroll, an AFTE spokesman spared teacher strikes so far.

Detroit, and a Hebrew day school in Illinois, Ohio and New Jersey. By this time last year, there were 11 teacher strikes.

The current national focus on education (which) has also contributed to labor peace. Educators, politicians and others are advocating boosting teacher salaries to improve the quality of public education.

"At the same time," Shanker, who 15 years ago practiced militancy could erode support for public schools.

Soviet attack may aid MX funding

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Soviet Union's destruction of a South Korean jetliner may give an important boost in Congress to the MX missile and other legislation needed to finance President Reagan's rearmament program.

Key lawmakers predicted Tuesday that congressmen, alarmed by the Soviet attack on the civilian plane, will vote for military projects facing uncertain futures last week.

"I think the events of the past few days have enhanced the president's chances of getting the MX funded in the defense appropriations bill that will be brought to the floor this fall," said House Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Texas.

Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, also believes the Soviet attack will help Reagan's rearmament program and the MX, especially in the House, spokeswoman Linda Hill said.

In its two House floor tests this year, the MX was approved by 55 votes in May but scraped through by only 15 votes in July. The margin for the weapon has been more formidable and consistent in the Republican-led Senate.

Rep. Les Aspin of Wisconsin, a leader of moderate Democrats who have been instrumental in keeping the MX alive, said he thought the air-line incident would cancel possible challenges to the missile in a military authorization bill scheduled for final passage in the House and Senate next week.

But, he added in a telephone interview, "I don't know how long this will last. The 'wind shifts (in the House)' very quickly."

Despite "a pretty fair amount of evidence" that Moscow has used chemical weapons in Afghanistan, were involved in the attempted assassination of Pope John Paul II and committed other widely condemned acts, these have not had a long-lasting effect on some members, Aspin said.

For that reason, he said the defense appropriation bill in the House may be postponed until after the new fiscal year starts Oct. 1 in order to allow the issue to "cool down."

Peter Murphy, staff director of the House defense appropriations subcommittee chaired by Rep. Joseph P. Addabbo, D-N.Y., said the panel still plans to begin drafting the spending bill next week when Congress returns from its five-week summer recess. He said he knew of no plan to delay floor consideration.

Reagan, at the end of a nationally broadcast address Monday night in which he denounced the shooting down of the wayward Korean Air Line jumbo jet and its 269 occupants, put on a pitch for his defense buildup.

At the same time, he reaffirmed his administration's desire to reach arms-control treaties with the Soviet Union on intermediate-range and intercontinental nuclear weapons.

Aspin said the MX would have been needed even without the incident and the fate of the nuclear weapon should not be linked with the attack.
Shuttle mission yields least damage on record

Associated Press

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. — Challenger returned from space with the least damage recorded on any shuttle flight yet, and may head back for Florida on Friday after a record four-day turn-around, NASA said Tuesday.

The six rats that went along as passengers also "were in good shape. They appeared to be in very good spirits when they opened up the box," said Herman K. Widick.

Widick, of the Kennedy Space Center in Florida, is directing ground operations to get the 100-ton spacecraft ready to be flown back to Kennedy behind its modified Boeing 747.

Only "something like 27 tiles (out of some 50,000) will have to be replaced," mostly because of small nicks, he said.

Landing on Edwards' concrete runway rather than on the dry lakebed where most of the seven earlier missions ended seems to produce much less damage from rocks and debris, Widick said.

Widick said the ship gets better all the time because "we improve it each time. ... Whenever we find a problem, we analyze it and try to correct it. It should continually get better."

The most significant problem we have, here with respect to turn-around," Widick said, "is a pair of leaking thruster rockets."

The ship has 34 of the small maneuvering rockets and Widick said two have "very minor leaks."

North Korea supplies Seychelles with shells

Associated Press

VICTORIA, Seychelles — North Korea, the communist half of what was once known as the "hermit kingdom," has abandoned its isolation in the international arena and expanded its role in Africa, becoming the latest self part of Africa, became the latest country on the continent, from Burundi to Zimbabwe, to invite North Korean military advisers. An estimated 3,800 African military personnel and advisers have come to North Korea for instruction between 1971 and 1981, Asian diplomatic sources say.

Replacing unpopular Tanzanian troops, the North Koreans are helping to rebuild a "70-man force that mustered briefly last year."

Their presence has puzzled some diplomats who note that North Korea, one of the more rigid Marxist states, sent advisers at a time when the Seychelles' socialist regime was moving to moderate its militant image which has hurt tourism, its biggest industry.

Western diplomatic sources in East Africa say they are concerned by the Koreans' presence in the Seychelles because even a tiny force of professional soldiers has a disproportionate influence in a country of only 65,000 people.

Their considerations are likely to be paramount to the island's president, France Albert Rene, since 1973 Middle East war.

Peace talks threatened by rebels

Associated Press

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador — Top government officials said Tuesday that leftist rebels acted in "bad faith" when they attacked the capital of San Miguel over the weekend, and said official efforts are under way to talk to the rebel delegation.

Francisco Quinones, head of a three-man government peace commission, said he is working on peace talks to protect the rebel delegation.

Quinones said that this was "a personal opinion" but that the commission would reach a formal decision at a meeting Wednesday.

In a paid advertisement published in leading newspapers, the eight-man political commission that advises President Alvaro Magana called the guerrilla attack on San Miguel over the weekend "an open hostility attitude of the left, which has been fighting for power in El Salvador since October 1979."

About 500 guerrilla troops unleashed a heavy mortar and artillery attack on San Miguel, 86 miles east of the capital, ending a three-month lull in fighting. Army sources said 33 people were killed and 48 wounded in the fighting on Saturday and Sunday — the guerrilla underground Radio Venecia claimed more than 800 government casualties.

Max Lerner
The Max Lerner Column

The theme is a great one — the life and times of America's most exciting president, if not its greatest. It can be seen as a triumph of tragedy, but Marlin sees it mostly as sheer social drama.

The Kennedy family, Jack's early years, the Bay of Pigs, the missile crisis, the Texas executors, the myth of death — these have all been done well before. What is added to the not the meat — there is little here to bite into — but the dressing and flavor, the aroma of the wine, the glitter and decor, the whole atmosphere encircling the man and his lovely young wife and his mistresses and his little band of fiercely devoted accomplices in the adventure of governing and living with a fantastic abandon.

What is missed, however, from this melange is somehow more — an impressionist portrait of a highly endowed, complex man who might have become our future time because he met our hunger for politics, royalty, sex and dangerous living.

Indeed, it is hard to not desire some kind of retaliation in response to such an unbearable deed. The thought of this act going unpunished is certainly beyond the level of compassion and forgiveness of most people. But it is in this trying time that the American people and their leaders must hold ground in an incessant battle for world peace, without sacrificing the equal desire for human rights.

The American government will have an opportunity to show the Soviets how important human rights are to this country. If Secretary of State Shultz meets Soviet foreign minister Gromyko to discuss this vital subject. We cannot afford to withdraw from the talks, even if the face of a deed that obviously shows the Soviets are no closer to acknowledging the importance of human rights now than they were during the Cold War. By being able to overcome even this extreme violation of human rights and International law, the American government will be setting an example not only for the Soviets, but for all nations to follow.

This is not to imply that the Soviets' resorting to violent tactics that continue to endanger the prospects of bringing peace to this world.

Dear Notre Dame Men and Women:

Welcome back! I had a chance to welcome you to campus last week at the opening Mass. Now that you are here, we are glad to have you with us.

Lest you doubt it, we live here all year round, too. It is a shelter and a place to learn together. We are not a merely a Monday night to socialize, but you are a part of the residence life community.

Let's have a great year!

Ever devotedly,
Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C.

Jr. olympics

Dear Editor,

I am happy to learn that the physical damage caused to the dormitories by the Junior Olympics in late July has been repaired. I wonder who will repair the damage done to the students who suffered, 1 feel, irreparably from the noise, confusion, and insult of the ransacking some who did so much physical damage as well. I would certainly hope that, in the future, such incidents kee kept off our campus during the Summer Session or at least confined to a con fused and public sphere of the campus. It is too much to ask our paying graduate students to sacrifice their studies for the sake of these ruffians and barbarians.

Navratilova, Shriver to meet in semi

MONTREAL — They are best friends, doubles partners, and two of the top players in women’s tennis. It’s just that Pam Shriver keeps getting in Martina Navratilova’s way.

One year ago, when Navratilova was supposed to win the United States Open Tennis Championship, she put Pam Shriver to the destruction of the quarterfinals.

Now Martina is supposed to win the Open again and Shriver’s ahead a step closer this time, reaching Friday’s semifinal round.

And there, waiting for her again, is Shriver.

Navratilova continued her straight sets march through the tournament with a 6-0, 6-3 destruction of No. 9 Jimmy Arias to complete the quarterfinal lineup.

Lendl defeated No. 12 Johan Kriek 6-2, 6-4, 6-1; Noah eliminated 16-year-old Artur Friede 6-3, 6-7, 6-3; and Arias won 12 straight games in the last two sets to down Johny Strom 6-4, 6-1, 6-3.

In the men’s quarters, Arias plays Noah and Shriver meets Lendl.

Shriver and Navratilova are entered in the women’s doubles tournament at the Open and reached the quarterfinals of that competition with a 62, 6-2 victory over Carla Bassett of Canada and Midori Nagao.

“Vanya is a great player,” Shriver, who has lost just two sets in the Open, said. “She’s a tough one to beat. Her game is well below her in the doubles. She’s a very good player.”

Shriver is looking forward to the showdown with her friend.

“Like my chances here whenever I play her,” she said. “She doesn’t have good memories of me here and it tends to bring out the emotional side of me which helps me con-centrate hard and that’s when I’m at my best.”

Lendl has dominated the men’s side of the draw much the way Navratilova has owned the women’s side. Like Martina, he has not lost a set in the tournament and in four matches, he has had his service broken only once.

“I feel I am playing very well, but I don’t know if it’s my very best,” he said.

Still, he is haunted by the specter of never having won a Grand Slam event like the Open.

“I am winning a lot. I’m ranked fairly high. I’m making a very good living and there is much satisfaction in it,” he said. “Obviously, there were more satisfaction if I were winning the big ones, but I am trying my best and there’s nothing else I can do.”

Rookies sign

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The Indiana Pacers announced yesterday that they have received an agreement to terms with rookies Jim Thomas from Indiana and Granville Waiters of Ohio State to multi-year contracts.

According to the policy of the National Basketball Association, no terms were revealed.

That leaves the signing of draft choices Steve Stipanovich, Sidney Lowe, Lesly Combs and Greg Jones, free agents Butch Carter and Jerry Sichting, and the appointment of a director of player personnel.

As for the draft choices and free agents, Pace President Bob Sanders said, “By mid-month we should have everyone and Stipanovich (the Pacers No. 5 choice out of Missouri) and the free agents signed by the end of the month, so we should have the others.”

The job of director of player personnel may be filled within a week. Previously, David衽 — who holds a similar position there — had been a leading candidate but he bowed out last week, leaving Portland assistant coach Buckets as the top choice.

The Pacers will have to make a move soon, with rookies who signed yesterday in the team in training camp at West Lafayette starting Oct. 1.

Both Thomas and Waiters, the Pacers’ first choice in the June college draft, figure to secure position on the final roster. Thomas, a 6-foot-3 guard who made a splash at the Chicago Tribune’s college basketball preview, is the team’s top pick.

Jim Thomas termed the summer league "a real good learning experience for me. I wasn't startled by the change, but the game is much quicker than I expected it to be."

Waiters was originally drafted by Portland and was recently acquired from the Trailblazers for a second round draft choice.

Buben drafted first

USFL stocks six new teams

NEW YORK (AP) — Mark Buben, a defensive tackle with the Chicago Blitz, was selected by the Pittsburgh Maulers yesterday as the first player chosen in the United States Football League draft to stock its six new teams.

Each of the new clubs — Pitts­burgh, Houston, Oklahoma, San An­tonio, Jacksonville and Memphis — switched 24 picks each from the 17 existing franchises.

Hapless on an overall pick, Buben, 6-2, 240, enrolled Florida State from the Philadelphia Stars.

Linemen dominated the first round, with Oklahoma defensive end Curtis Anderson from the Michigan Panthers San Antonio choosing offensive tackle Tom Nor­man from the Blitz. Jacksonville taking defensive tackle Phil Dorsey from Michigan, and Memphis selecting offensive tackle Greg Larchand from the Panthers.

In the second round, when the new teams drafted in reverse order of the first round, they again shied away from picking any offensive backs or quarterbacks, with linemen occupying the first four choices.

Aussies challenge America's Liberty

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Australia II swallowed up its six foreign challengers like they were so many defenseless guppies. Now it must sail into shark-infested waters, and Warren Jones doesn't expect his men to last so heartily.

The Aussie 12-meter yacht captured 48 of its 54 trial races and reached the America's Cup finals by eliminating Victory '85 of Great Britain Monday, 4-1, in the best-of-seven foreign finals.

Starting Tuesday, Australia II will face powerful Liberty, skippered by 1980 Cup champion Dennis Conner, in the best-of-seven finals to determine whether a foreign boat will win the Cup for the first time since competition began in 1935.

"No doubt about it," Jones, executive director of the Australia II syndicate, said Tuesday when asked if Liberty is a much faster boat than Victory '85. "I'd be very surprised if there are large margins in the finals."

After losing the first race by just 15 seconds, John Bertrand skippered Australia II with its radical winged keel, to wide victory margins of four minutes, 45 seconds, 5:07, 2:20 and 5:19 over Victory '85.

We don't know how fast we are. All we know is that we are much faster than the other challengers," said Jones.

"We know for a fact the Americans will be fast. Now, anybody who thinks they won't be is dreaming. There's never been a slow American. They will be fast. So if we are fast, then we're going to have a very close contest," Jones reiterated his prediction that Australia II would beat Liberty, 4-3, and gave as his reason his feeling that "we've trained harder than they have."

He agrees with assessments of Australia II's supremacy among all challengers — from the 15 British boats that raced the yacht America near the Isle of Wight in 1851 to the six foreign boats that battled the Aussie powerhouse this year.

But Australia II's overwhelming success in the foreign trials — a 14-0 record against lesser foes — goes out the window as the boat returns to "quaint one" for its toughest task of the summer, says Jones.

"Thursday morning, sex at o'clock — just start preparing for the Americans.

Jones has known so much failure that he probably would settle for any margin of victory.

... Backs

Providing back up at fullback are 5-10, 186-pound sophomore Ray Carter and 6-2, 216-pound junior Dave Manchoff.

With so much talent abounding, it would appear that the Irish have a lot of depth in the running back department. Only time will tell if this is actually the case and Moore, just like everyone else is anxious to find out.

"We've had a long preparation and I'm looking forward to the game, just to see what we can do," said Moore. "They're starting to get their spring back and come the end of the week, we'll be ready for Purdue."

Early in last night's match against Georgia, the Notre Dame volleyball team took a beating last night at the hands of a powerful Georgia team. Inexperience showed as the Irish lost in straight games. See Mike Sullivan's game story below.

What at one time could have been termed a battle among the running backs can now be thought of as a harmonious blending of highly talented individuals.

When this year's edition of the Notre Dame football team takes the field on Saturday at Purdue's Ross Ade Stadium, the running back corps will find itself equipped with four top-quality ball carriers, in addition to numerous others who are willing and able to provide back-up support if needed.

Running back coach Mal Moore, in his first full season on the Irish staff, serving his 17 years at Alabama under the inimitable Paul "Bear" Bryant, is optimistic about the situation. Although his talent laden crew has shown many good things, he still seeks continued improvement.

"From the beginning of fall practice, they've steadily progressed, but I don't believe they've reached their potential, and that's the thing that's so exciting," said Moore. "There's so much ability, and there's still room for improvement, yet we feel we've made progress."

Leaving the Irish will be fullbacks Chris Smith and Mark Brooks along with tailbacks Allen Pinkett and Greg Bell.

Smith began his Notre Dame career as a tailback, requested a change to fullback a year ago, but was moved in to fullback last fall to add depth in the backfield. In 1981 he rushed 41 times for 161 yards and one touchdown. In 1982, however, his primary duties were as tackler on specialty teams and as an extra blocker on short yardage situations.

Looking ahead to this season, Smith sees blocking as one of his primary roles.

"I think I can help the team best with my blocking," he said. "We have a couple of great tailbacks, and the role of the fullback at Notre Dame has been mainly to block."

Smith has also worked hard on another aspect of his game, and hopes to be utilized in that respect as well.

"Mark Brooks and I worked a lot over the summer on pass catching," he said, "and feel that my receiving has gotten better.

Also important to Smith is the improved knowledge he feels he has gained for the game. This he hopes will be an aid to his playing ability.

Brooks, the 6-5, 229-pound junior, will also see a lot of action in the fullback slot. Over the past two seasons he has had to accept a part

Who to watch

The Boilers have more than just Campbell, who is definitely the best quarterback in the Big Ten this fall, despite Ohio State's claims about Mike Tomczak. He has two excellent targets in All-America tight end Cliff Benson and speedster Jeff Price, who runs the 100-yard dash in 9.6. Mel Gay is the main threat for the running game, and will also be a receiver on several pass plays. Campbell should get plenty of time to find his targets, as the average weight of the Boiler offensive line is just over 260 pounds.

For the Irish, while the Boiler offense is potent, their defense is young and inexperienced. The Irish will try to go to a balanced attack, but look for veteran quarterback Blue Kiel to try to exploit freshman free safety Rod Woodward and sophomore weak corner Ray Wallace's lack of experience when the Irish go to the air. There is no question the Irish have plenty of talent at the skill positions, and the offensive line has five men who average 274 pounds. However, whether they will move the football or not still must be proven.

Scattered thoughts

With all the "pressure" on Faust this year, there is no better place to watch Notre Dame defense than Ross Ade Stadium. Pick of the week

Every week in this space, I, in my very finite wisdom, will suggest a minor sport event that may be worth your while in the field hockey opener at Jan Ganen Bishop's ladies visit Purdue Saturday morning. It's tennis or your game, Sharon Petro's Irish ladies with John Keatley trying to break the Irish winning streak. If you are a Dome-bound, Rich Hunter and the Irish soccer team open their home season Friday night against St. Francis at 8 p.m. on Cartier Field.

Hello again, everybody!

It's time for the beginning of Notre Dame football to begin, and Gerry Faust may find no tougher place to start it than West Lafayette, Ind. Nevertheless, that's where the Irish will be this Saturday when they open the 1983 campaign with the annual "Battle for the Little Slagle" as they lock horns with the Purdue Boilermakers. Don't let Notre Dame's 9-0 preseason rankings or its 3-8 record from a year ago deceive you — this will not be an easy opener.
