Black cultural festival to kick off this month

By TERRY BLAND
News Staff

This year's Black Cultural Arts Festival, with a theme of "From Dream to Reality: Directions for Black America," once again will offer a wide variety of music, dance, poetry, art and food to invite interest as it kicks off this month.

"We have events that interest everybody," says senior Ruby Anderson, Campaign '84 publicity director.

"We have a lot of noteworthy speakers coming to talk to the students this year.

"The event will celebrate the 20th anniversary of the civil rights march at Washington, D.C., and the 30th anniversary of the well-known Brown vs. Board of Education decision. The festival also coincides with Black History Month.

"Among the speakers this year are the husband and wife acting team, Ossie Davis and Ruby Dee, authors of the novel "Julianne." They are scheduled to attend the festival in the Haggar College Center.

Accounting students go to Virginia for business case-analysis contest

By MIKE MILLER
News Staff

Yesterday, four Notre Dame students headed to Charlottesville, Virginia. The destination? The Third Annual McIntire Commerce Invitational at the University of Virginia, Dubbed as the country's only undergraduate business case-analysis competition, the tournament promises to be a showcase for some of the brightest business bachelor's degree candidates in the nation.

"Leaving with high hopes and a taste for prestige was the team of Kelly Frank, Brian Ledley, Greg Testerman, and Steve Wilkie. They are coached by Professor David Norburn, who is optimistic about the contest.

According to the rules, each school sends a four-member student team to the competition. After being introduced to a complex business problem, the teams are given 15 hours to analyze it and prepare a written solution and an oral defense of their solution.

According to Testerman, the contest is not as easy as it sounds. He describes the schedule as being "grueling." Initially, the team is given the case history of an almost bankrupt company. After taking a brief overview of the 50-page document, which is loaded with charts, figures, and all necessary financial and managerial information, the team meets with the case's author.

After clearing up any ambiguous information in the allotted two hours, the team is then literally locked in a room for fifteen more. During this time, they are preparing a plan to save the company. When they emerge at about 11 p.m., they breathe a sigh of relief and give the plan to the typists, who prepare it for the judges.

"Their job is not over, however, as they still must prepare their oral defense. After working the next several hours of the morning, they are finally given a chance to rest. Of course they must be up rather early, about 8 a.m., they must convince a panel that their plan would be the optimum way to take the company out of the red and into the black. It is after this that their task is over; the rest is up to the judges.

"The members of the Notre Dame team are all fourth-year business students who were selected by the faculty. Although this is the first year that Notre Dame has been invited to compete, it is a start on a wealth of experience. They have seen many contests, page 5 of this issue".

Communication, alcohol key issues in Student Senate races

District 3

Editor's Note: The following are the third and fourth of a five-part series describing the candidates in each of the five Student Senate districts. This segment profiles candidates from District 3, which consists of Badin, Olive, Fisher, Howard, Lyon, Morrisey, and Pangborn Halls.

By BARBARA HARDEN
News Staff

Promoting better communication is the key campaign issue for District 3 Senate candidates Mark Rolnick and Tom McNamara.

"We believe that Notre Dame has not been invited to compete as it is the first year that Notre Dame has been invited to compete, it is a start on a wealth of experience. They have seen many contests, page 5 of this issue.".

Mobs in Sarajevo

Thousands of spectators on their way to Kosevo Stadium Wednesday to attend the opening ceremony of the Fourteenth Winter Olympic Games, in Sarajevo, Yugoslavia.

Indira Gandhi - page 4

The Observer

VOL XVIII, NO. 85
The independent student newspaper serving Notre Dame and Saint Mary's.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1984

Franks victorious in SMC elections

By PAM RICHARDSON
Staff Reporter

In the race for Saint Mary's student body leaders, the ticket of Lee Ann Franks, president; Brian Bowler, vice president; and Tracy Bringardner, secretary, narrowly defeated the opposing ticket of Maureen Galligan, Ann Bowler, Marty Bonich, and Jane Raab for senior class officers.

McNamara says he would also like to see more student/senator communication. He says he would like to see more student/senator communication. He says McNamara, "would like to see a greater aid from contact from each dorm in my district whom I could call weekly or biweekly to see what the people in that dorm want."
The Observer

In Brief

The Board of Trustees' Executive Committee will meet with officers of the University this week at Key Biscayne, Fla. An agenda was not made public for the annual winter conference; but discussion of an alcohol policy for Notre Dame likely will take place. The group will meet this afternoon, tonight and tomorrow morning in the Key Biscayne Hotel. Father Theodore Hesburgh, University president, will preside over the meetings. — The Observer

Dartmouth Students favor Reagan or re-election of Carter. A poll conducted by the school's Daily Collegian and the Young Republican and Democratic organizations on campus. Directions for Black Cultural Arts Festival. A three-story addition — which has been discussed in the Student Activities Office — would be held Sunday, Feb. 12 at 1 p.m. in the Sommer Chapel Fr. Joe Higgins of the Holy Cross. Candidates for student senate will speak at 6:45. — The Observer

Accounting students at Notre Dame will take their biggest challenge, and the Dome is going to be used more and more. An office/meeting room for University computer services in a central location — a great convenience for many students. The Fogey said he was impressed with the building, saying that it will take less time for students to find their way around. It is true that the University is capable of monitoring communications. — AP

Sixteen-inch shells fired by the U.S. battleship New Jersey smashed a Syrian command and control center and killed yesterday. The command post was one of about 15 targets which the Pentagon said was struck during the barrage of fire from 16- and 5-inch guns from the New Jersey and a destroyer. The sources, who spoke on condition that they not be identified, did not disclose how the United States learned of the designs of the Syrian officers. Officials have been saying bad weather has prevented damage assessment assistance where needed and to help residents of neighboring areas where disasters have caused continuing problems. The assistance will continue through the April 15 filing date. — The Observer

Of Interest

A debate between student body president candidates will take place Sunday, Feb. 10, at 6 p.m. in the Knights of Columbus building. In addition, candidates for student senate will speak at 6:45. — The Observer

U.S. Civil Rights Commissioner Mary Frances Berry will discuss the progress of the program at a 7 p.m. Sunday in the Library Auditorium. The lecture is part of the Black Cultural Arts Festival, a February tradition at Notre Dame. This year's featured lecturer is "From Dream to Reality: Directions for Black America." — The Observer

A special Mass in Italian will be held Sunday, Feb 12 at 1 p.m. in the Sorn Chapel Fr. Joe Higgins of the Holy Cross. Candidates for student senate will speak at 6:45. — The Observer

Weather

A 50 percent chance of light rain today. Mild with highs in low 40s. Cloudy and continued mild tonight. Low in low to mid 30s. Mostly sunny tomorrow with highs in mid 40s. — AP

The Observer

The Observer (1499) 1st 2-4) is published Monday through Friday and on University holidays, Valentine's Day, President's Day, Good Friday, Easter Sunday and during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is published by the University of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College. The editors of the University of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College are not responsible for the views of the Observer. The Observer is owned by The Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved. P. O. Box (3), Notre Dame, Indiana 16556. The Observer is a member of The Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.}

Friday, February 10, 1984 — page 2

Is LaFortune going to become too used?

By Amy Stephan

Assistant News Editor

Inside Friday

This complicated series of moves would make use of wasted space and would group more businesses and services in a central location — a great convenience for many students — without significantly reducing the amount of "social" space in the building. But will all this new activity cause the building to burst at its seams? McDowell estimates the computer store alone attracts 100-200 people to the building each day. The addition of two radio stations, several businesses, a pizzeria, and a laundry room would increase traffic considerably. Although the businesses themselves may not take up much room, they attract the people who will use the new services and not necessarily "hang out" in the building, thus preventing excess crowding. But this summer's renovations show that an improved building will naturally attract more students. Besides, such improvements as an under­graduate club and a pizzeria are meant to attract more than just through-the-­door customers.

Crowding is already apparent at peak hours, especially in the dining areas. In fact, an expansion to the Huddle also is being considered. Yet, a student center should contain not only offices, services and offices, but also ample room for students to socialize, study and work. If even some of the proposed changes go through, crowding might make an addition a necessity.

A student center worth using should have enough room for all students who wish to use it. If such a center becomes a reality, the demands of student activities will increase. It could be argued that people will merely use the new services and not necessarily "hang out" in the building, thus preventing excess crowding. But this summer's renovations show that an improved building will naturally attract more students. Besides, such improvements as an undergraduate club and a pizzeria are meant to attract more than just through-the-door customers.

After all, if the administration is going continue pouring money into an old building, that building should be useful for more than just as overflow space. An over­stuffed student center can produce cries for change just as easily as an empty one.
Budget deficit

House Majority Leader Jim Wright of Texas talks to reporters outside Blair House Wednesday prior to the start of a meeting between presidentials advisors and leaders of Congress on President Reagan's call for a $100 billion "down payment" to reduce deficits. Wright entered the meeting saying he hoped agreement could be found.

---

Russian land on orbiting space station

Associated Press

MOSCOW — Three cosmonauts landed their spacecraft to a successful docking with the Salyut-7 space station yesterday to become the fifth crew to visit the Soviet Union's orbiting research complex.

---

CBS describes sports program techniques

By LESLIE ANNE WADE

News Staff

Many sports fans find themselves dreaming of doing the play-by-play for a national broadcast, but it's not all fun and games, according to the CBS Sports production crew.

Students attending yesterday's lecture titled "The Anatomy of a Sports Broadcast" learned just what it takes to produce a game like tomorrow's battle between Notre Dame and DePaul.

The CBS crew, in conjunction with Notre Dame Sports Information Director Roger Valdiserri and the Department of American Studies, sponsored the seminar held at the Center for Social Concerns.

Len DeLucia, director of program planning and development, began by outlining CBS Sports programming:

"After acquiring an event, we delegate to produce it," DeLucia explained. "Then we sell it to our advertisers, distribute it to our affiliates and promote it like any product."

"It's a business," said Executive Producer Kevin O'Malley. "Today it is a spotlight industry. Everyone is interested in it. And we are more than just Cronkite. We are one of the largest corporations in the country.

As a corporation, CBS has many different divisions. Producer Rick Sharp explained the importance of "not stepping on the other guy's feet." Each of the crews will have two hours on Saturday to broadcast a game that takes an hour and 53 minutes, so we do a lot of planning during the week. We create a storyline. We set up our cameras and we build our opening. Sharp continued, "It is all carefully orchestrated in advance so we don't cut into local or news time."

Play-By-Play Announcer Gary Bender told of his own early facination with sports. "When I was in the seventh grade, I lived on a farm in Western Kansas. If you haven't been there you haven't missed anything," Bender joked. "Sitting on the pillow, I'd make up full games. And if I had to go another round then I'd make up extra innings." Bender said, "You can't be in this business for your ego or for the money. You really have to be a sports fan.

All three speakers stressed the importance of the final product. Sharp explained, "In producing a sports show we have to be to all things to all people. We have to be explanatory enough for those who don't know a great deal about sports while satisfying the hard-core fans." The final challenge was presented by Bender — "I challenge you because this business can be the most exciting business in the world. But remember; there is a fine line between excitement and panic."

---

Send Flowers to the one you love on Valentine's Day

Send Flowers to the one you love on Valentine's Day

Send Flowers to the one you love on Valentine's Day

Send Flowers to the one you love on Valentine's Day

---

ND/SMC Students PARTY

Spring Break in Daytona Beach

INCLUDES

- Round trip motor coach transportation to beautiful Daytona Beach, Florida
- FREE refreshments on the way down (the party starts here)
- $500 days/7 endless nights at one of our exciting oceanfront hotels, located right on the strip
- A full schedule of FREE pool deck parties every day
- A full list of pre-arranged discounts to save you money in Daytona Beach
- "I Challenge" representatives to insure a smooth trip and a good time
- Optional side excursions to Disney World, Epcot, deep sea fishing, etc.
- All taxes and tips

YOU CANNOT FIND A BETTER DEAL OR A BETTER TIME OVER SPRING BREAK

For further information and sign up Call Paul at 283-4358

---

Observer classifieds

---

---
Nine Saint Mary's students granted private audience with Indira Gandhi

BY MARY HEILMANN

Nine Saint Mary's students were granted a private interview with Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi earlier this year to discuss social conditions in India and the role of women in the political arena.

The interview took place at 5 p.m. Gandhi's office, as part of a semester in India program sponsored by Saint Mary's College and directed by Dr. Cyril Pulipilly.

According to senior Beth Valenti, who participated in the program, the meeting with Gandhi was one of the highlights of her trip. "I had thought that, since she's one of the only women in the male-dominated political world, Mrs. Gandhi might be ignored by the men leaders," said Valenti. "But she said she gets a fair shake in everything, which really surprised me."

Valenti also expressed surprise at Gandhi's political adroitness during the interview. "She said starvation is not a problem in India, which is obviously untrue. She also denied the existence of a paid sterilization program in the Indian villages several times. She has a very politically agile mind!"

Senior Beth Walsh, who also made the trip, agreed with Valenti, but noted that Gandhi's reserve did not surprise her. "She glossed over some issues, but I was not surprised by that. She's still a politician, and I expected her to be somewhat noncommittal."

Walsh added that Gandhi skirted the women's rights issue in India, but was optimistic about a woman's potential for success. "She said with the proper motivation and education, women can realize all their goals."

As part of the program, the students spent 25 days on a study tour through Japan, China, Hong Kong, and Nepal. Upon arriving in India, they attended a women's college in Madras, a city on the southeastern coast of India. After touring India and Asia, the students returned to the United States Dec. 5.

When asked what lasting impressions her experiences in India have given her, Walsh responded, "I really appreciate the role of the women's movement in the United States. It still has a long way to go, but at least it has a direction. In India the movement lacks a direction in the form of leaders and lobbyists, which is one of the reasons it's so ineffective."

Valenti said she regards the entire trip as "the best experience of my life. There are so many misconceptions about India which should not stop people from going. There are difficult things to adjust to, but in light of the people, the education, and the many opportunities for learning, I would go again in a minute if I had the chance."

"I wrote the play because I wanted to leave a mark before I left Notre Dame," said Hodge, a finance major. "I love acting and I think I have some important things to say before I leave."

The play, titled "Living Memories," is about a girl who is about to graduate from college who looks back on all the special moments she has while attending Notre Dame. "Although most of the memories could be anyone's," says Hodge, "a few of them are Black oriented."

The festival will also put on a talent show on Feb. 25 and a fashion show on March 5.

---

ONE GOOD DEAL DESERVING ANOTHER

Now, in addition to getting a great deal on an Apple Macintosh, St. Joseph Bank offers you three easy ways to make your purchase. One way is to put no money down, take up to 24 months to repay and pay an annual percentage rate of only 14%. With attractive loan terms like this available, you can't afford to pass up this once in a lifetime offer.

Or, open a Premier Credit Line and write yourself a loan for your Macintosh. Premier Credit Line is a personal line of credit that enables qualified customers to borrow money anytime, anywhere, simply by writing a check.

Yet one more option for you is to charge the purchase of your Apple Macintosh on your St. Joseph Bank VISA. What could be easier... Fill in the coupon below, send it to the address listed and we'll send you all the necessary paperwork to make an Apple Macintosh yours! Or visit your nearest St. Joseph Bank office and one of our Professionals will be happy to serve you.

Notre Dame and Apple deserve a lot of credit for putting together such a great deal. And you deserve credit to help you buy your Macintosh. Talk to the Professionals, today!
Challenger spacewalkers enjoy ride despite recent series of problems

Associated Press

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — Bundled in their bulky suits, Challenger's exuberant spacewalkers performed an impromptu rescue yesterday, snatching back a piece of equipment as it drifted toward the junkyard of space.

They flew free and joyously, propelled by bursts of nitrogen gas from their backpacks. But the day was not without its disappointments — the latest in a long series for this shuttle crew. The "twist" on the shuttle's robot arm refused to respond to commands, canceling a docking rehearsal with a rotating object.

"The view is simply spectacular and panoramic," astronaut Bruce McCandless told President Reagan when he made his customary once-a-mission call to the shuttle.

McCandless was showing restraint with his commander-in-chief. Earlier he had exulted: "Up in the bay." His partner, Robert Stewart, said, "Boy, it's awful pretty." Earlier pessimism that bad weather would again delay or cancel a first landing tomorrow at Florida's Kennedy Space Center turned to optimism as an expected weather front stalled over Texas. "Right now it's looking real good for KSC," the astronauts were told.

From mission control came applause when McCandless reached over the side of the spaceship and, like a child pulling at a balloon, retrieved a foot restraint that had broken loose and was floating away. He was on his safety line at the time.

He had help from commander Vance Brand, who gently pulled Challenger's small steering rockets to move 50 feet closer to the restraint — "just as he would do if he had to rescue a stranded astronaut in a maneuvering unit," mission control said.

McCandless, referring to an earlier flight crew's boast, said, "We deliver" might have been the STS-5 crew motto, but we pick up also." McCandless clearly enjoyed the freedom of moving about in his flying machine. One memorable sight was his feet toward the Earth above, head down to the shuttle cargo bay, suspended in space.

consist, California at Berkeley, and the reigning champion, Washington University of St. Louis. The competition will be judged by a number of prominent businessmen, including an editor from Business Week, a vice president of General Electric, and the C.O.O. of the Mead Corporation.

According to Professor Northem, all expenses, except for airfare, are being handled by the University of Virginia. Although there are no cash prizes offered, Testerman feels that "the trophy and prestige would be enough."

The directors of the tourney feel this is a problem-solving experience which offers the students an opportunity to demonstrate their potential both as independent thinkers and business analysts. The competition involves an actual "real life" business problem and is intended to be a powerful and effective learning experience. According to Testerman, this is "just like being a management consultant."

Like any team, each member has his specialty. Ledlie is in charge of the charts and financial figures, while Frank specializes in the marketing decisions. Testerman will actually write the case, while Wilcox will be in charge of its oral defense. All the members, however, will agree on the final presentation.

The competition lasts two days, and the team should be back by Sunday. Moreover, at least according to some of its more optimistic members, the team will be back by Sunday with trophy in hand.

Health of Andropov disputed

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Soviet television unexpectedly changed its scheduled programming to classical music last night followed by similar changes in state radio broadcasts, The Washington Post reported in today's edition.

The reported changes come amid the extended illness of Soviet leader Yuri Andropov and the Post reported in a Moscow-dated story that they appear to indicate the country is being placed on an emergency footing.

In Washington, State Department analysts who spoke on condition they remain anonymous said they have heard the reports of classical music played on Moscow radio.

They said, however, that the U.S. embassy in Moscow reports that the music was not funeral dirges. The embassy also had no information to indicate that Andropov's health has declined, the analysts reported.

The analysis pointed out that the most recent indication of a seriously ill person in the Moscow hierarchy was Defense Minister Marshal Dmitri Ustinov, 74, who canceled a trip to India last week for unspecified reasons.

---

ROCCO'S RESTAURANT

South Bend's Original Pizza
Featuring a full line of Italian food
Also beef and sausage sandwiches

Open weekdays 5 pm till 1 am weekends 5 pm till 2 am closed Sun and Mon

Carry-Out 233-2464
537 N. St. Louis St.

This Old House
Pizzeria and Pub
Bruno's II
in Roseland

On Campus Delivery
Seven Days a Week
1 liter Pepsi free with Small
2 liter Pepsi free with medium
3 liters Pepsi free with large

277-4519 277-4519
277-4519 277-4519
Prankster, 14, stabbed accidentally

Associated Press

CRYSTAL LAKE, Ill. — A 14-year-old girl who disguised herself as a prowler lurking outside the house to scare her baby-sitting friend paid for her practical joke with a knife in her chest.

Karen Geske, who earlier had made ominous telephone calls to the friend, was stabbed to death by Police Chief Samuel Johns said, "It started out to be a prank and turned out to be a tragedy."

The young man, whose name has not been released, has been charged with voluntary manslaughter in the slaying. He is free on $25,000 bond pending a preliminary hearing Feb. 15 in McHenry County Circuit Court.

Johns said the prank apparently began when Karen made several anonymous phone calls to her friend, breathing heavily each time. Then she donned men's clothing, drew a beard on her chin, pulled a nylon stocking over her head and went to show the disguise to her 20-year-old sister, Kori.

After she rattled the doors and windows of the house, the boyfriend opened the door to investigate.

As Karen jumped out of the bushes — apparently intending to shout, "Boo!" — the young man hurried forward with a double-edged knife and stabbed her once in the chest.

"There was more of a danger leaving him inside" than in bringing David into the outside world, she said. The boy, being kept in a sterile, windowless room, remained on a diet of clear liquids, said Ms. Griffin.

"He's doing much better today," she said. "His symptoms have lessened although they have not completely gone away."

Ms. Griffin said it is not known yet whether David is suffering from graft-vs-host disease, an ailment which attacks the gastrointestinal tract, the skin and liver.

But Dr. Joel Rappaport, clinical director of the bone marrow transplant program at Boston's Brigham and Women's Hospital, said the disease is a "relatively common problem" in bone marrow transplant patients.

Rappaport, who is not directly connected with David's case but is a pioneer in the transplant field, said David was one of about 100 patients who have received bone marrow transplants from less than perfect donors. That means the 12.3 ounces of tissue from his 15-year-old sister, Katherine, did not perfectly match David's tissue.

The marrow had been treated with monoclonal antibodies, which are designed to kill mature T-cells. T-cells are key antibodies in the body's defense against disease, but doctors said such transplanted cells might attack their new body.

Rappaport said the treatment is designed to leave immature T-cells, which should develop into cells accustomed to their new environment and form an immune system.

"There are more of a danger leaving him inside" than in bringing David into the outside world, she said. The boy, being kept in a sterile, windowless room, remained on a diet of clear liquids, said MS. Griffin.

"He's doing much better today," she said. "His symptoms have lessened although they have not completely gone away."

Ms. Griffin said it is not known yet whether David is suffering from graft-vs-host disease, an ailment which attacks the gastrointestinal tract, the skin and liver.

But Dr. Joel Rappaport, clinical director of the bone marrow transplant program at Boston's Brigham and Women's Hospital, said the disease is a "relatively common problem" in bone marrow transplant patients.

Rappaport, who is not directly connected with David's case but is a pioneer in the transplant field, said David was one of about 100 patients who have received bone marrow transplants from less than perfect donors. That means the 12.3 ounces of tissue from his 15-year-old sister, Katherine, did not perfectly match David's tissue.

The marrow had been treated with monoclonal antibodies, which are designed to kill mature T-cells. T-cells are key antibodies in the body's defense against disease, but doctors said such transplanted cells might attack their new body.

Rappaport said the treatment is designed to leave immature T-cells, which should develop into cells accustomed to their new environment and form an immune system.

"There was more of a danger leaving him inside" than in bringing
Friday, February 10, 1984 — page 7

Associate Press

BEIRUT, Lebanon — The U.S. 6th Fleet destroyers and rebel-held ridges outside Beirut for a second day yesterday, after government and rebel gunners traded deadly artillery barrages around the divided and tense city.

Lebanese and Syrian reports claimed U.S. Navy jets also went into action over the mountain area yesterday, but a U.S. military spokesman denied it.

Syria, whose troops occupy the mountains with the Druze-Moslem anti-government forces, issued an ominous warning to the United States.

"Syria cannot stand neutral watching the barbaric bombardments practiced by the 6th Fleet against Lebanese civilians," the Damascus government radio said. It said the Syrians "may be compelled to react."

The U.S. Embassy here said, meanwhile, it was not yet considering a general evacuation of the estimated 1,500 U.S. citizens in Beirut. About 50 more U.S. Embassy employees and dependents were airlifted out by helicopter yesterday to a U.S. ship offshore.

U.S. Marine spokesman Maj. Dennis Brooks reported yesterday that about 140 of the number of American civilians pulled out thus far, for transfer to the safety of Cyprus.

For further info, call Prof. A.R. Black 4460 or 272-3726

President Reagan, in a policy statement Tuesday announcing that the U.S. and other forces would be withdrawn in the coming weeks, also said 6th Fleet ships would return to waters off Lebanon, between the land and sea bases of the Christian Lebanese militias. The president's position suffered a major blow early this week when Shieite Moslem and Druze militias took control of West Beirut, driving out army troops and Christian militias. Thousands of army soldiers have defected to the anti-Jemmayel side.

The Lebanese military said the breakaway Christian militias have overthrown President Amin Gemayel, who had resigned last week. But the American military commander in Lebanon denied it.

"We're still trying to patch together a new 'national coalition' government," a Syrian military spokesman said. "But it's Syrian-backed Lebanese enemies demand that he resign."

The president's position suffered a major blow early this week when Shiite Moslem and Druze militias took control of West Beirut, driving out army troops and Christian militias. Thousands of army soldiers have defected to the anti-Jemmayel side.

The government-ruled Christian Christian militia is an arm of the right-wing Phalange Party, headed by the president's father, Pierre Gemayel.

The 6th Fleet destroyer Moosbrugger, in response to the shelling of East Beirut, opened up with its five-inch gun. A Syrian spokesman said it fired on artillery positions on the mountains outside of Beirut, approximately 150 rounds," he said.

President Reagan, in a policy statement Tuesday announcing that he would be withdrawing in the coming weeks, also said 6th Fleet ships would return to waters off Lebanon, between the land and sea bases of the Christian Lebanese militias. The president's position suffered a major blow early this week when Shieite Moslem and Druze militias took control of West Beirut, driving out army troops and Christian militias.

The American military commander in Lebanon denied it. But the American military commander in Lebanon denied it.

"We're still trying to patch together a new 'national coalition' government," a Syrian military spokesman said. "But it's Syrian-backed Lebanese enemies demand that he resign."

The government-ruled Christian militia is an arm of the right-wing Phalange Party, headed by the president's father, Pierre Gemayel.

The 6th Fleet destroyer Moosbrugger, in response to the shelling of East Beirut, opened up with its five-inch gun. A Syrian spokesman said it fired on artillery positions on the mountains outside of Beirut, approximately 150 rounds," he said.

President Reagan, in a policy statement Tuesday announcing that he would be withdrawing in the coming weeks, also said 6th Fleet ships would return to waters off Lebanon, between the land and sea bases of the Christian Lebanese militias. The president's position suffered a major blow early this week when Shieite Moslem and Druze militias took control of West Beirut, driving out army troops and Christian militias.

The American military commander in Lebanon denied it. But the American military commander in Lebanon denied it.

"We're still trying to patch together a new 'national coalition' government," a Syrian military spokesman said. "But it's Syrian-backed Lebanese enemies demand that he resign."

The government-ruled Christian militia is an arm of the right-wing Phalange Party, headed by the president's father, Pierre Gemayel. The 6th Fleet destroyer Moosbrugger, in response to the shelling of East Beirut, opened up with its five-inch gun. A Syrian spokesman said it fired on artillery positions on the mountains outside of Beirut, approximately 150 rounds," he said.

President Reagan, in a policy statement Tuesday announcing that he would be withdrawing in the coming weeks, also said 6th Fleet ships would return to waters off Lebanon, between the land and sea bases of the Christian Lebanese militias. The president's position suffered a major blow early this week when Shieite Moslem and Druze militias took control of West Beirut, driving out army troops and Christian militias.

The American military commander in Lebanon denied it. But the American military commander in Lebanon denied it.

"We're still trying to patch together a new 'national coalition' government," a Syrian military spokesman said. "But it's Syrian-backed Lebanese enemies demand that he resign."

The government-ruled Christian militia is an arm of the right-wing Phalange Party, headed by the president's father, Pierre Gemayel.
Heart patient still alive after rare operation

Associated Press

PITTSBURGH — A retired clerk whose failing heart stopped more than 400 times within five days is leading an almost normal life after a rare operation, and said yesterday he feels "wonderful."

"I look at myself now and I feel much like I did before the problem ever occurred," George Derrick, 65, said in an interview after his daily 30-minute workout at his Pittsburgh home.

His heart had been producing abnormal electrical impulses resulting in rapid heartbeat, a disorder known as ventricular tachycardia. Doctors blamed the problem on a heart attack in 1982 which produced scar tissue that disrupted the organ's electrical system.

In a unusual operation last Octo­ber, surgeons pinpointed the trouble with an electrical monitor and removed the scar tissue.

Doctors said Derrick’s heart stopped an "extraordinarily unusual" number of times, but they are confident he can lead a long, normal life.

"I think this is a beautiful example illustrating what can be done," said Dr. Robert C. Schlant, vice chairman of the American Heart Association's Council on Clinical Cardiology.

Last Oct 25, Derrick woke "sweating uncontrollably."

"My wife thought I was having a bad dream," he recalled.

Within seconds, Derrick went in to a coma and was taken to Jefferson Center Hospital in suburban Jefferson Town. Two days later, he was trans­ferred to Pittsburgh’s West Penn Hospital.

After drugs failed to regulate Der­rick's heartbeat, surgeons decided to try a complicated, costly procedure known as electrophysiology.

McNamara says a dry campus would be "impractical and demean­ing" because it would make students feel irresponsible. He does, however, see alcohol abuse as a problem but feels "the focus should be on parties and happy hours because that’s where the abuse is."

Both Rolnick and McNamara reject a change in final exam policy that would demand an exam to make up one-third to two-thirds of a final grade.

Arrested striker

Police arrest a Sikh agitator in this Sikh holy and religious autonomy for India’s 13 million Sikhs.
The Observer

Viewpoint
A few last words on the Keenan Revue

Friday, February 10, 1984 — page 9

The Keenan Revue has come and gone for the eighth straight year. Like the legendary Camelot, it came together for a few brief shining moments. Now all that remains are some worn out prop, a few tattered programs, gobs and the lingering memories.

Randy Fels

Friday analysis

Keenan Hall is returning to normalcy as it tries to recover from the weekly commuter night out.

As for me, after two years as the show's producer, it's time to close the books and pass on to someone else. Like all things, the Revue has proven to be very proficient at razzing and taking over so well that another performance took place the following weekend. The Revue will put together in two weeks time by the members of Keenan, and tickets are still free. But the show's scope, complexity and popularity have grown tremendously.

Tickets have become a hot commodity for a show that has begun to operate more like a well oiled machine than at anytime in its history.

After six straight years of financial losses, the show has managed to break even during the last two years because of funding from foundations and corporations. In a few years the show will have evolved beyond what it is today, but it hope it never loses its basic charm and the spirit of fun and as our guests.

Prove it to understand this point very well. For the last two years they gave the show a $1,000 grant, but they are threatening to stop this unless we charge admission.

That breaks down to about 24 cents a person (attendance for the three shows was about 500). How else can they expect to earn so many at so small a cost?

I was chagrined to The Observer a week ago about whether or not Saint Mary's will continue to sponsor the show. The record is straight, I said, "The ND/SDM/photograph depart- ments have to pay for the show. It is a gift to the student body and it must be free of charge for Revue tickets.

If that day arrives, the show as we know it will cease to exist. If admission is charged, the

Meyer salutes

Dear Editor:

Over the years the students at Notre Dame have had a very proficient at raising opposing teams and their coaches. However, nowadays we will not be taking coach's visit of Ray Meyer at his alma mater.

Not only have his teams provided us with plenty of the best players to earn a credit to the sport. So when Meyer is in introduced before the game we should give him a standing ovation. And it really wouldn't hurt to end the game that way either.

Fritz Heinzen

Church v. State

Dear Editor:

President Reagan signed a proclamation that 1985 was to be the "Year of the Bible" and a few months later, he was in the City of Los Angeles, on the basis of separation of church and state. The U.S. Supreme Court outlawed school prayer on this same premise and deliberated whether natiuity scenes can be displayed on public property.

The Supreme Court was formed to interpret the application of our Constitution, but nowadays it is used as a vehicle to make a statement by those who feel a woman has a right to choose an abortion of her own will. If people feel that the fetus has a right to exist, then that fetus has a right to exist, then that fetus has the same constitutional rights as anyone else. There is no constitutional right to a life for anyone else. The fetus has no constitutional rights.

What makes this issue such a heated one is the fact that there are those who feel that the fetus is a being and those who feel that it is not. The issue is not whether the fetus is a being, but whether the fetus has the same constitutional rights as anyone else.

The Supreme Court was formed to interpret the application of our Constitution, but nowadays it is used as a vehicle to make a statement by those who feel a woman has a right to choose an abortion of her own will. If people feel that the fetus has a right to exist, then that fetus has a right to exist, then that fetus has the same constitutional rights as anyone else. There is no constitutional right to a life for anyone else. The fetus has no constitutional rights.

What makes this issue such a heated one is the fact that there are those who feel that the fetus is a being and those who feel that it is not. The issue is not whether the fetus is a being, but whether the fetus has the same constitutional rights as anyone else.

The Supreme Court was formed to interpret the application of our Constitution, but nowadays it is used as a vehicle to make a statement by those who feel a woman has a right to choose an abortion of her own will. If people feel that the fetus has a right to exist, then that fetus has a right to exist, then that fetus has the same constitutional rights as anyone else. There is no constitutional right to a life for anyone else. The fetus has no constitutional rights.

What makes this issue such a heated one is the fact that there are those who feel that the fetus is a being and those who feel that it is not. The issue is not whether the fetus is a being, but whether the fetus has the same constitutional rights as anyone else.

The Supreme Court was formed to interpret the application of our Constitution, but nowadays it is used as a vehicle to make a statement by those who feel a woman has a right to choose an abortion of her own will. If people feel that the fetus has a right to exist, then that fetus has a right to exist, then that fetus has the same constitutional rights as anyone else. There is no constitutional right to a life for anyone else. The fetus has no constitutional rights.

What makes this issue such a heated one is the fact that there are those who feel that the fetus is a being and those who feel that it is not. The issue is not whether the fetus is a being, but whether the fetus has the same constitutional rights as anyone else.

The Supreme Court was formed to interpret the application of our Constitution, but nowadays it is used as a vehicle to make a statement by those who feel a woman has a right to choose an abortion of her own will. If people feel that the fetus has a right to exist, then that fetus has a right to exist, then that fetus has the same constitutional rights as anyone else. There is no constitutional right to a life for anyone else. The fetus has no constitutional rights.

What makes this issue such a heated one is the fact that there are those who feel that the fetus is a being and those who feel that it is not. The issue is not whether the fetus is a being, but whether the fetus has the same constitutional rights as anyone else.

The Supreme Court was formed to interpret the application of our Constitution, but nowadays it is used as a vehicle to make a statement by those who feel a woman has a right to choose an abortion of her own will. If people feel that the fetus has a right to exist, then that fetus has a right to exist, then that fetus has the same constitutional rights as anyone else. There is no constitutional right to a life for anyone else. The fetus has no constitutional rights.

What makes this issue such a heated one is the fact that there are those who feel that the fetus is a being and those who feel that it is not. The issue is not whether the fetus is a being, but whether the fetus has the same constitutional rights as anyone else.
Pursuing a vision; 'Heat Seeking Chairs' opends

by Robert Mackie
guest features writer

A s an active consumer of the known and the unknown, I have been musing upon the first provincial exhibition titled "Heat Seeking Chairs." This highly anticipated event, which features over 23 artists from the Cranbrook Academy of Art, promises to be a revelatory experience. The works on display have been created by students across different departments, and each piece has its own unique story to tell. The exhibition is a testament to the diversity and depth of talent within the academy, and it serves as a valuable lesson in the importance of fostering creative expression.

The works are diverse in style and medium, ranging from traditional painting and sculpture to more innovative forms such as digital art and installation. Each piece is a reflection of the artist's perspective on the world around them, and collectively, they create a tapestry of ideas and emotions. The exhibition is not only a display of art but also a dialogue on the role of art in society.

In "Heat Seeking Chairs," the artists have chosen to explore themes of the environment, identity, and the human condition. The works are thought-provoking and invite the viewer to consider their own place in the world. The exhibition is a celebration of creativity and a reminder of the power of art to connect us with each other and with the world we live in.

The exhibition opens on [date], and I encourage all art lovers to come and experience the thought-provoking works on display. It's an opportunity to learn, to engage, and to celebrate the creativity that thrives within us all.
Perhaps still only a ‘second-rate Skynyrd’

by Pat Beaudine
features staff writer

For ZZ Top fans, last night’s concert was eagerly awaited. The group was still enjoying the commercial success of their surprisingly solid album, Eliminator, along with a string of entertaining videos. It seemed that the band had taken a refreshing, contemporary direction in the 1980s. (This is not always the case for a group once labeled as “second-rate Lynyrd Skynyrd”.) Even last year’s tour seemed special only because of the addition of 38 Special as the opening group, not because of any recent contributions on ZZ Top’s part. But, once again, this year was different.

And so was the warm-up group, The Eric Martin Band. A group of musicians from California, The Eric Martin Band, assaulted the stage at 8 o’clock, and immediately one sensed that something was wrong. First of all, Eric Martin sported a Notre Dame t-shirt which only alienated the band from the domer-less crowd. And second, the band promised to deliver “kick-ass rock n roll,” but instead gave the audience a predictable unstylish, and boring set of roughly ten songs. Such routine song titles as “Action and Adventure,” “Take No For an Answer,” and “Don’t Stop Baby” give a quick tip off that this band has nothing new to offer.

The band’s power chord approach showed that the band was ultimately conservative, which is never part of true rock n roll. However, when they rose above the slick routine, they proved to be an earnest band, and did succeed in warming up the audience. But, a half hour more inside the cars with steamed-up windows in the A.C.C. parking lot, the audience would have probably been warmed up anyway.

In the interim the excitement increased. Finally, over a half hour later, ZZ Top took the stage and pounded out “Under Pressure” from the Eliminator album. It was a favorable start to the evening, and its first class delivery exhibited a revitalized ZZ Top. The song that followed, “I Got the Six,” was again expertly delivered, including an extended guitar solo which deserved, and received good response. Billy Gibbons, the lead singer/guitarist, then introduced “Gimme All Your Lovin’.” One of the best songs from Eliminator, it drew rousing applause, and the concert seemed well on its way to success.

However, the night soon went sour. By the time “T’m Nationwide” was performed three songs later, the group’s mere guitar solos turned into excessive jams, and all the fun likewise disappeared. The danceable beat was unfortunately subordinated by a heavy metal drone that even a good song like “Sharp Dressed Man,” the follower, couldn’t overcome.

An incomprehensible “Ten Foot Pole” and “TV Dinners” continued the evening’s demise. Both were better left on vinyl and even though they yielded generous applause, all the dancing in the aisles had stopped, which is never a good sign for a Southern boogie band. Later in the set, Gibbons tried to revitalize the crowd during “Pearl Necklace” by thrice shouting, “Are you with us tonight?” The answer was almost too evident. The audience stuck it out while the concert surprisingly gained momentum toward inception with “Cheap Sunglasses” and “Party on the Patio.” However, it wasn’t the music that gained interest — it stayed the same heavy metal drudge — this time it was the phenomenal laser show that came to the rescue.

During the intermission, the excitement once again increased. And by the time ZZ Top returned, the fervor was at such a level that the crowd didn’t seem to mind that “Tube Snake Boogie” was only mediocre. “La Grange” and “Tush,” the final two encores, received the same excessive treatment, which is a shame because these are otherwise good songs.

Such an end to the concert was very fitting. Not only did it emphasize the overall tone of the evening, but it also showed that a band must be more than just videos and albums. In other words, without such as these, ZZ Top may never be more than a “second-rate Skynyrd.”
Showcase

What's happening...

Friday, February 10, 1984 — page 12

Returning alumna breathes new life into Abiogenesis

by Steve Blaha
guest features writer

Allyn founded and directed the Abiogenesis Dance Collective prior to moving to New York. Since her departure from ND, she has danced under Hanya Holm, Don Redlich, Nancy Hauser, Alwin Nikolais, Gus Giordano, Greg Begley, Tara Mathon and Holly Seaver; and has studied kinesiology and physiology.

While in residence, Allyn will give lectures, demonstrations and classes in jazz and modern dance as well as in related disciplines. Her jazz class will cover the simple movements that combine to create the more complex routines characteristic of shows such as "All That Jazz." The class is recommended for both experienced and novice dancers.

Allyn will also give a lecture titled "How to Watch Modern Dance." The presentation will include videos of noteworthy dancers and choreographers.

Also included is a lecture/demonstration on stretch ing which will cover everything from simple warm-up stretching to extensive workouts. The lecture will be directed towards anyone with an active lifestyle and especially to athletes who are concerned with preventing injury.

Another lecture/demonstration titled "Movement for Stress Management" will focus on relaxation and deep breathing exercises aimed at relieving tension in stressful situations or in one's daily life.

For more information call Steve Blaha at 283-8288 or Mitch Werner at 283-3119.

Records

Big Country makes successful "Crossing" with electric guitar

by Vic Sculli
features staff writer

Though Big Country is better known as an acoustic band, their "Crossing" is a rock album that features the return of the electric guitar.

Big Country formed in late 1982 when vocalist/guitarist/keyboar dist Stuart Adamson, who first gained prominence with The Skids and Bruce W eston trained up with Tony Butler and Mark Bradicki who had already gained a good reputation as studio musicians with Pogues.

The band's sound is hard to categorize. According to Adamson, "Big Country (sic) are not punk, new wave, heavy metal, progressive or pop. If you really want to know what we're about, then I'd say Big Country plays stirring, spirited stuff. Music to move mountains by. Power to the people."

The electric guitar is back and Big Country has it.

The Crossing, the debut album from Britain's Big Country is one of the most significant LPs produced in the past several years. Released in late 1983, the album marks the return of the electric guitar as the main sound in contemporary music. With its three-pronged guitar threat, Big Country ceases any doubt that the electric guitar is dead in today's world of Moog synthesizer and Synclavier-dominated pop.

If you have any doubts, just listen to "In a Big Country," the band's debut American single which cracked into the Top 20. Not since Boston's debut LP almost eight years ago has the guitar been used so effectively in a pop album. You'll swear that you're hearing bagpipes in the background but that's only one of the many sounds the guitar makes.

The same thing goes for "Fields of Fire," which sounds suspiciously like a cross between the themes from "Bonanza" and "The Long Range." (The song was a big hit for the band in the U.K. and is almost certain to become one in the states.) Listening to it, one realizes that it is not as easy to break up the band's sound into components as in the case with other bands, the three guitars, one drum and four vocals form a very unified sound.

Admittedly, the lyrics in The Crossing are a bit abstruse at times but at least Big Country didn't cop out with a bunch of sappy love songs. The LP's title suggests a theme of journey or discovery in the same way as "The Sound of Silence." That's why they are comfortable with its sentiments and not with its music.
The Notre Dame men’s swimming team beat Wayne St., 74-47, yesterday. The men will take their 7-2 record into a meet with St. Bonaventure tomorrow at 1 p.m. in the Recreational Center. Members of the Irish have beaten the Bonnies each of the last four years.

- The Observer

Interwrestling tournament entries are due today. Feb. 10, at the NVA office. Halls may register as teams, and contestants must be paid in full and turn in their entry forms by then.

- The Observer

The off-campus hockey team will have practice this Sunday. Feb. 12, at 10:15. The next game is Feb. 13 at 10:30. - The Observer

The Notre Dame-Detroit women’s basketball team on Tuesday, February 14, is designated as “Dorm Night” by the athletic department. The dorm which has the greatest turnout (by percentage of students in the dorm) will be awarded $100.00 worth of Godfather’s Pizza for a dorm pizza party. If you want more information, ask your RA, who should have received a flyer in the mail. - The Observer

Gerry Faust will be speaking at an organizational meeting for potential freshmen managers on Monday, February 14, at 6:45 p.m. in the ACC Football Auditorium. Anyone interested in the Student Managers Organization is invited to attend. Also, we will be showing the 1988 football highlight film. Those with questions should call 259-6482. - The Observer

Friday, February 10, 1984 — page 13

Buy

Observer

Valentines

The Observer is Notre Dame’s student newspaper located on the third floor of LaFortune Student Center, accepts classified ads from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. The Observer Student Ray’s office, located on the second floor of Maguire College Quad, accepts classified ads from 12:30 p.m. until 3 p.m., Monday through Friday. Deadline for next-day classifieds is 5 p.m. All ads must be prepaid, either in person or by mail. Charge is $2 per column inch or fraction thereof.

NOTICES

TYPING SERVICE
5PM-6PM
WALLACE SETTLER

EXPERT TYPIST $2.75 PM AFT After

ATTENTION NOTRE DAME STUDENTS: St. Patrick’s Day is one week away! It is the time of the year that the students on campus are looking forward to. Are you ready? Please remember to

CRASH COURSE FOR PRESIDENT: Anyone interested in running for president should attend this crash course on campaigning. The meeting will be held on Friday, February 17, at 7:30 p.m. in the PSYCH. BLDG. LAST WEEK. CALL 4420. It is a friendly environment where students are encouraged to identify themselves with the presidential campaign.

ATTENTION NOTRE DAME STUDENTS: St. Patrick’s Day is one week away! It is the time of the year that the students on campus are looking forward to. Are you ready? Please remember to

ATTENTION NOTRE DAME STUDENTS: St. Patrick’s Day is one week away! It is the time of the year that the students on campus are looking forward to. Are you ready? Please remember to

ATTENTION NOTRE DAME STUDENTS: St. Patrick’s Day is one week away! It is the time of the year that the students on campus are looking forward to. Are you ready? Please remember to

ATTENTION NOTRE DAME STUDENTS: St. Patrick’s Day is one week away! It is the time of the year that the students on campus are looking forward to. Are you ready? Please remember to

ATTENTION NOTRE DAME STUDENTS: St. Patrick’s Day is one week away! It is the time of the year that the students on campus are looking forward to. Are you ready? Please remember to
Because of good reputation

Castaneda chose to fence at SMC

By MARY BETH KERGER
Sports Writer

Two years ago Mary Ann Castaneda came to Saint Mary's to fence. She chose Saint Mary's because of its good reputation in the fencing world. The Belles had won the prestigious Great Lakes Championship the year before.

This reputation is a bit ironic because Castaneda would be the team's first member with prior fencing experience. The other team members had never seen a fencing blade before coming to Saint Mary's.

For those who don't know about the Saint Mary's fencing program, the team practices with the Notre Dame fencing teams in the ACC.
This gives the Belles a unique pos-tion. They have the benefits of the coaching experience that only a school the size of Notre Dame can provide. (Mike DeCicco has been coaching at Notre Dame for 23 years, as well as the benefit that being a small team, they can really work together.

This concept of working together is what attracted Castaneda.

What Castaneda found when she came was typical of the Saint Mary's team. There were a total of five people on the team, with the mini-num for a women's fencing team being four. When she realized that no one had ever fenced before college, she knew they formed a workhorse riding team.

But Castaneda fenced well at the beginning of this first season.
She started out fourth on the team and quickly rose to the number two position.

A third of the way through the season, Castaneda qualified for the Junior Olympics and left for Los Angeles on Feb. 13. She never returned there in a state of shock and with its immediate brain surgery to remove a blood clot that almost cost her her faculties.

Last year she came back looking as noticeably thinner. She was disap-dointed. She has the drive and ability to make this a great season.
As captain, she'll be leading two season second year fencers, Mary Frances Wilkin and Teresa Shills, and the second Saint Mary's recruit with previous fencing experience, freshman Mary Jean Sally. She is also in the process of bringing up several novice fencers

This fencing team is a typical Saint Mary's team, and Castaneda would like to carry on the Saint Mary's tradition of making it the best it can be.

Jinx
continued from page 20

Meanwhile, John Harte, who could be the best pure shortstop guard in the East (St. John's Chris Mulfian included) was tearing the nets for 23 points, 13 in the second

Mullin included), was scorching the part, Brian Ellcrbe, was shadow-half while his backcourt counter-

... In a scheduling quirk, the Irish returned to the metro New York City area on the 22nd of February as they play in Madison Square Garden for the first time in four years. They will face Manhattan.

NHL Standings

In this year's NHL playoff format, the top four teams in each division make the playoffs, regardless of over-scored in their division.

FRIENDS OF THE NORTHERN CANADA CONFERENCE

cassects@wwu.edu

RENT A GREAT MOVIE MACHINE

VIDEO DISC PLAYER

RCA VESTER CASETTE PLAYER RENTAL

* SPECIAL $99.00 100/movie

OVERNIGHT & 3 DAY RENTALS

HOME USE & MOVIE OVERNIGHT

RCA VESTER CASETTE PLAYER RENTAL

* SPECIAL $99.00 100/movie

Black Cultural Arts Festival

"Living Memories," a One-Act
play by N. D. Senior Sandra
Hodge will be presented on Saturday,
February 12, at 8:00 PM.
Admission is FREE and the event will take place at the Annenberg Auditorium

NHL Standings

In the year 1983-84, Saint Mary's fencing team is likely to make the playoffs, regardless of over-
scored in their division.

FRIENDS OF THE NORTHERN CANADA CONFERENCE

cassects@wwu.edu

RENT A GREAT MOVIE MACHINE

VIDEO DISC PLAYER

RCA VESTER CASETTE PLAYER RENTAL

* SPECIAL $99.00 100/movie

OVERNIGHT & 3 DAY RENTALS

HOME USE & MOVIE OVERNIGHT

RCA VESTER CASETTE PLAYER RENTAL

* SPECIAL $99.00 100/movie

Black Cultural Arts Festival

"Living Memories," a One-Act
play by N. D. Senior Sandra
Hodge will be presented on Saturday,
February 12, at 8:00 PM.
Admission is FREE and the event will
take place at the Annenberg Auditorium
Practice at ACC
Saint Mary’s fencers now 3-6

By KATHY MURPHY
Saint Mary’s Sports Editor

The Saint Mary’s fencing team would not be seen practicing in Angella Athletic Facility. The Belles practice in the ACC with the Notre Dame fencing team.

This arrangement gives the Saint Mary’s fencers the benefit of good coaching and the excellent facilities. This year the Belles are coached by Marc Dejong, a former all-American fencer at Notre Dame, who is now attending graduate school there.

This is a very young team,” commented Dejong. “Most of the girls have had very little or no previous fencing experience before entering college.”

The team, which now stands at 3-6, is a member of the National Intercollegiate Women’s Fencing Association. The NIWFA consists of about 30 private schools, many of which come from the East.

The Belles are improving with each meet. After dropping their first six contests, the team has come back to win its last three meets. The Belles defeated North Carolina State by a 2-0 mark, and then went on to beat Tri-State University and Wisconsin-Parkside by identical 10-6 scores.

“I’m looking forward to this weekend’s competition,” says Dejong. “The girls have been consistently improving and therefore I’m very enthusiastic.”

Sully

continued from page 20

coaching, excellent depth, and, most importantly, a winning attitude have also kept the Irish at a consistent level.

This brings us back to tomorrow’s crucial match with Wayne State. The battle will probably produce the 1984 NCAA champion, but its importance will be overshadowed by the DePaul basketball game.

It’s just as well. The basketball team needs fan support and media support if it hopes to come close to the top teams in the country. The fencing team has proven that it will win no matter what. There are no unpleasant surprises. The Irish don’t lose much, especially to inferior teams. Too bad we can’t say the same about some other teams on campus.

An out of print book you cannot locate?
Try our search service!
nationally circulated initial cost: $5.75
no obligation
50% success rate
eight weeks

ERASMUS BOOKS
1027 E. Wayne
noon-6, Tues.-Sun.
232-8444

Dietrich Industries Inc.

will conduct an informal orientation on Monday, February 13 from 7:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. in room 1040 O’Shaughnessy.

Attendance is recommended for those students being interviewed on February 14.

Friday, February 10, 1984 — page 15

Hockey medal hopes snuffed by Czech team

Associated Press

SARAJEVO, Yugoslavia — Czechoslovakia snuffed out U.S. hopes for another ice hockey miracle by defeating the Americans, 4-1, yesterday, a day in which a world record was set in speed skating and the first gold medals were handed out at the Winter Olympics.

Bad weather on Mount Brelasanic meant Bill Johnson of California had to wait at least another day for his attempt at a gold medal in the downhill. Heavy winds and blowing snow forced postponement of the men’s event until today.

And in a different hockey wrinkle, Soviet star goalie Vladislav Tretyak, playing in his fourth Olympics, received a contract offer from the Montreal Canadiens.

It was not known how close Tretyak was to signing, if close at all, but it would be a feat of major proportions if a Soviet star athlete was given permission to play in the West.

The U.S. hockey team, for all intents and purposes, finished its Olympic season with its loss to the bigger, stronger, second-seeded Czechoslovakian team.

The lights went out in the arena with 7:37 remaining in the first period just after the Czechoslovakia scored their first goal. About two minutes after they came back on, the United States took the score on a goal by Mark Kumpel.

But the flickering flame of a second consecutive Olympic gold medal went out for good on the Americans about three minutes later when Victor Letal of Czechoslovakia scored what proved to be the winning goal on a power play.

Canada beat the United States 4-2 in their opener on Tuesday, and — with both of the teams now scoring 2-0 — it is all but impossible for the Americans to make the medal round.

If the early demise of U.S. hockey medal hopes was a shock, it came as no surprise that the first speed skating gold went to Karin Enke, whose first love was figure skating before she injured an arm in 1977 and switched to speed skating.

Enke of East Germany, won the women’s 5,000-meter event in a world-record time of 2 minutes, 34.42 seconds. The 32-year-old student has a fine chance to win three gold medals, and said after winning her first that she may even try for four by entering the 3,000-meter.

Eric Heiden of the United States swept all five of the men’s speed skating events in 1980, an unprecedented feat. The most gold medal ever for a woman in a single Winter Games is four, by Russian speed skater Lyudmila Skoblikova in 1964.

Winning the 10-kilometer gold medal in women’s cross-country brought tears to the eyes and a smile to the face of Marja-Lisa Hamalainen of Finland.

“I worked for many years on this,” said Hamalainen, so overcome with emotion after victory that she could only reply when asked how she felt, “It is hard for me to say.”

Later, they were the first to have gold medals around their necks, many of whom then placed their winner’s ribbons, placed around their necks in outdoor ceremonies at Slavenska, as snow fell lazily and laced the stage.

American speed skater Mary Doc­ ter of Madison, Wis., finished 14th in 2:12.14, while Janet Goldman of Glenview, Ill., was 17th in 2:14.29 and Nancy Swider of Park Ridge, Ill., was 18th in 2:13.74.

In the cross-country, the top U.S. finisher was Judy Rabinowitz-Endesdat, of Fairbanks, Alaska, 27th with a time of 4:19.51.

Victor Nechaev, a lesser-ranked Soviet hockey player, played briefly for the Los Angeles Kings and finished out the season in the minor leagues. And Tretyak, often considered the world’s premier goalie, may soon join him.

Jacques Olivier, Canada’s Minister of Finance in Alberta, said Peter Grundman, a representative of the Canadian government, had given the contract to Marat Gramov, chairman of the Soviet Sports Comittee.

Olivier said Gramov told him he had been given the contract to the 31-year-old Tretyak.

“If Mr. Gramov transmitted the contract to Mr. Tretyak,” Olivier said, “it means he must have taken a huge risk. We at Mr. Gramov don’t want to interfere with the internal policies of the Soviet Union.”

Serge Savard, general manager of the Canadians, said it was up to the Soviets to say yes or no to the proposal, but that no details had been discussed.

In the first of four women’s huge runs, heavily favored Steffi Martin of East Germany took the first place ahead of two other East Germans. Martin’s time was 41.63 seconds followed Bettina Schmidt at 41.66 and the Weiss at 41.90. American Bunny Warren of Montebello, Calif., was eighth in 42.65.

Italians finished in two of the top three spots in the 3,000-meter women’s big runs. Ernst Haslinger with 46.175, followed by Torsten Gaertner of East Germany at 46.177 and Paul Hildgartner of Italy at 46.182. Frank Maseley of Newark, Del., who carried the flag for the US contingent in the opening ceremonies, was 15th in 46.890.

In hockey, Canada, the Soviet Union, West Germany, and Finland won their second games.

Canada defeated Austria 8-1, West Germany beat Poland 8-5, the Soviet Union easily handled Italy 5-1, and Finland whipped Norway 16-2.

Scott Hamilton, the leading American contender for a gold medal in men’s figure skating, dropped a surprise yesterday when he announced the he will not turn pro after the Olympics but continue as an amateur for two more years.

“I’m a good amateur. I’m not sure I’d be a good professional," Hamilton said. "I will definitely go to Ottawa (for the 1984 world championships)."

“I’m considering staying in skating two more years. It would be like giving something back to the sport.”
CAMELOT MUSIC

RECORD BREAKING DAYS

Save $1.00
With Gold and Platinum Values!

SPECIAL SELECTION
Many titles available!

$9.99 WHILE THEY LAST!
(Atari 2600 Compatible)

John Lennon
Milk and Honey

Choose from: The Pretenders, Judas Priest, Dan Fogelberg, John Lennon, Alabama, Duran Duran, and Lionel Richie.

LIONEL RICHIE
CANN'T SLOW DOWN

$9.99 EA.

Ask About
The 28,000 BASF 1984 World Cup Sweepstakes
Buy 10 Get 1 FREE

SPECIAL SELECTION
Many titles available!

$9.99 WHILE THEY LAST!
(Atari 2600 Compatible)

JUDAS PRIEST
DEFENDERS OF THE FAITH

Choose from: The Pretenders, Judas Priest, Dan Fogelberg, John Lennon, Alabama, Duran Duran, and Lionel Richie.

DURAN DURAN
Seven And The Ragged Tiger

Includes: "New Moon On Monday"

DAN FOGELBERG
WINDOWS AND WALLS

Includes: "The Language Of Love/Believe In Me"

ALABAMA/Roll On Roll On

Features: Roll On: When We Make Love, (There’s A) Fire In The Night

Choose from: The Pretenders, Judas Priest, Dan Fogelberg, John Lennon, Alabama, Duran Duran, and Lionel Richie.

LIONEL RICHIE
CANN'T SLOW DOWN

$9.99 EA.

Choose from: The Pretenders, Judas Priest, Dan Fogelberg, John Lennon, Alabama, Duran Duran, and Lionel Richie.

THE PRETENDERS LEARNING TO CRAWL CASSETTE

CAMELOT MUSIC
IS MUSIC AND MORE!

UNIVERSITY PARK MALL
272-4186
After Lake Forest win

Hockey team visits Penn State

By ED DOMANSKY
Sports Writer

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. — After a 6-4 victory over Lake Forest on Wednesday at the ACC, which enabled the Notre Dame hockey team to reach the 20-win mark, the Irish return to the road this weekend, where they will be the guests of the Penn State Nittany Lions.

Now holding an impressive 20-1-0 record, Notre Dame contests the non-conference weekend series riding a five-game winning streak.

The games will be played tonight and tomorrow at the War Memorial Arena here in Johnstown. The facility is somewhat of a neutral site since the Penn State campus, located in State College, Pa., is roughly a hour drive away.

The Lions bring a 17-11 mark into the series. Gaining specific information about them is difficult because, like Notre Dame, are a club team.

“We’re not sure just how good they are,” said Irish head coach Lefty Smith. “We keep getting conflicting reports. But we are anxious to play them.”

From the information that was available, the Lions have split a series with Notre Dame’s Central States Collegiate Hockey League opposition Alabama-Huntsville. Alabama, like Notre Dame, is undefeated in OCHL play. Penn State also has beaten the University of Arizona, the Naval Academy, and Canton ATC, a highly regarded club from upstate New York.

Adam Parsons and Bob Thebeau have been the two hot players in the Notre Dame offense over the last three games. Parsons has scored a hat trick in two consecutive outings, as well as adding another goal and five assists. Thebeau scored a goal and had three assists in each game of the Marquette series. He then knocked home two of the six Irish goals Wednesday against Lake Forest.

Co-captain and leading scorer Brent Chapman has not been turning on the red light as much lately, scoring just three goals. But over the same three games, he has dished out eight assists. Four of those assists came in last Saturday’s 11-2 routing of Marquette.

“We’ve been told that they’re doing a lot of promotion for the games,” said Thebeau. “They’re supposed to have a good team, so we’re pretty pumped to play them. It should be a good weekend.”

Women face Villanova

When the Notre Dame women’s basketball team faces the Villanova Wildcats tomorrow night at 7:30 in the ACC, it will be a matchup of two teams whose seasons have headed in opposite directions. While the Irish have dropped to 8-12 on the season after finishing last year at 20-7, the Wildcats of Harry Perretta have improved last year’s 14-15 record to 15 5 this year.

Four blue-chip freshman recruits have been most responsible for the resurgence of Villanova. The bluest of the blue-chips is 6-0 forward Shelby Pennefather. Pennefather was one of the most highly recruited high school players in the country last year, and she has lived up to all of Bernhardt’s high output. Bernhardt scored 20 points in last season’s 72-68 loss to Notre Dame, and will keep the Irish from sagging on Pennfel­ er.

The Irish, on the other hand, are getting most of their offense from junior guard Laura Dougherty and junior center Mary Beth Schueth.

Bernhardt is listed as the probable starter on Saturday. He is 3-0-0 and owns a 2.75 goals against average.

Just six games remain on the 1983-84 schedule, and with the Irish hoping to complete all six without another loss, aggressive, exciting hockey should be in store over the next three weeks.
The Observer

Demons continued from page 20

Emotions is another tough situation (to guard against),” DePaul will at times go with three guards. Thrilled by the performance of Tony Jackson, Jerry McMillian, and Kenny Patterson, collectively average 27.2 points a game. Jackson is a 6-5 sophomore, who as a freshman scored 272 points, the most ever by a DePaul freshman. McMillian is a 6-4 senior co-captain, who shoots well from outside. Patterson, of course, is the player who hit a 16-foot jumper at the buzzer last Feb. 26 in the Rosemont. Horizon to give the Demons a 55-53 win over the Irish.

“McMillian has great success against zones with his outside shooting,” evaluates Phelps, “and Patterson has always been Mr. Clutch for them. He has the shot against St. John’s (last Saturday in overtime to give DePaul a 59-57 win) and he has the shot against us last year.”

Off the bench for DePaul is freshman sensation Dallas Comegys, a consensus first team all American last year as a senior while averaging 21.6 points a game. In addition, Comegys nets 5.5 rebounds a game and is an excellent shot blocker.

“The way Comegys has come off the bench for them this year when they didn’t really know how good he was going to be as a freshman,” says Phelps, “is obviously a big plus for DePaul.”

Others coming off DePaul’s bench are 6-1 Lemone Lampley, freshman Lawrence West, and senior Raymond McCoy.

Yet, tomorrow’s game will involve more than just personnel. Emotion and state of mind will play heavily into the final result.

DePaul, of course, is coming off its first loss of the season and will be looking to get back on the winning track. Meyer feels that the loss will likely be beneficial to the Demons in the long run.

“The loss doesn’t mean much at this point,” says the retiring DePaul coach. “Overall, it’s probably a good thing. It kind of wakes them up a little and makes them work that much harder in practice. They’re hungry again.”

Notre Dame, similarly, should be hungry. The Irish would really like to beat another highly ranked team on national television, as they did Maryland, since the pay off could be an N.C.A.A tournament bid. This is because such a win would tend to stick in the mind of the selection committee come March 11.

The Irish, though, have the disadvantage of having played just last night, while the Demons haven’t been in action since Tuesday. Fatigue won’t enter into the game, however, at least according to Phelps.

“Saturday’s game will be a game of adrenalin,” says the Irish coach. “You don’t worry about sleep. The thing that scares me is how they just blew out UCLA, so they’re capable of that.

“That’s something we can’t let happen. If it goes down to the last minute, that’s when Notre Dame is at its best. We’ve just got to get it to the last minute and make it happen.”

Meyer knows the Irish will do many things to try and stay close, one of them being keeping DePaul out of its running game.

“Notre Dame will try to slow it down and play a half-court game,” says Meyer. “We don’t want to do that.

While this game will be special for everyone involved, it will be a little bit of a battle, which is a thought echoed by both coaches.

“It will be very sentimental for me,” says Meyer. “I’ll enter the game with mixed emotions. It’ll be wonderful down there until the whistle blows, then it’ll be a war, then afterward it’ll be wonderful again.”

Phelps perhaps sums up the character of tomorrow’s game best, saying, “Come game time it’ll be a war, but after the game I’ll hug him and give him a kiss.”

SCHOLASTIC is accepting applications for the position of Editor-in-Chief. Call Jim Ganther at 239-7569 for details.

Black Cultural Arts Festival

Mary Frances Berry, the Civil Rights Commissioner will be speaking on the topic of “Black Rights Today.” The event will take place on February 12, at 7:00 p.m. in the Library Auditorium.

Mary Frances Berry, the Civil Rights Commissioner will be speaking on the topic of “Black Rights Today.” The event will take place on February 12, at 7:00 p.m. in the Library Auditorium.

NOTRE DAME CREDIT UNION presents

COMPUTERS: A STEP BY STEP APPROACH TO THE PURCHASE DECISION

SPEAKER: Dr. Terry Lukas of General Micro, South Bend, Indiana

Open to all members and potential members of the Notre Dame Credit Union.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1984

MEMORIAL LIBRARY AUDITORIUM

UNIVERSITY OF NOTRE DAME

7-9 p.m.

Seating on a first-come, first-served basis. Call Larry at 239-6611 if you have questions.
Today

Friday, February 10, 1984 — page 19

The Far Side

Gary Larson

Bloom County

Mellish

Berke Breathed

Dave & Dave

Guindon

Richard Guindon

A tear of us skeptics would like this woman's name.

The Daily Crossword

ACROSS

1 Brilliant
2 Brilliant
6 "...and the Man"
10 The lineage
14 N.Dak.
15 Nonlogical
16 Fr. comic
17 Dress shape
18 Cartoon
20 Memory
21 Dummy
22 Track
23 Sign on Junior's door?
25 Fr. river
26 Parched
27 Vendition
28 Chaver
31 Sea mammal
34 Trouser

DOWN

1 Bradley
2 Sharf
3 Heideman
4 Bryant or Luss
5 Bet-cow-
6 Down
7 Jumping
8 Niederlander's nationality
9 Of the eye
10 Shooly
11 Down
12 Seals by fire
13 Kay fellows
14 Lizard
15 High nest
16 Cylindrical muscle
17 "...Fawkes Day"
18 Home of anne and pros
19 Writer
20 John L. —

11 Seal by fire
12 Kay fellows
13 Lizard
14 High nest
15 Cylindrical muscle
16 "...Fawkes Day"
17 Home of Anne and Pros
18 Writer
20 John L. —

12 Kay fellows
13 Lizard
14 High nest
15 Cylindrical muscle
16 "...Fawkes Day"
17 Home of Anne and Pros
18 Writer
20 John L. —

13 Kay fellows
14 Lizard
15 High nest
16 Cylindrical muscle
17 "...Fawkes Day"
18 Home of Anne and Pros
19 Writer
20 John L. —

14 Lizard
15 High nest
16 Cylindrical muscle
17 "...Fawkes Day"
18 Home of Anne and Pros
19 Writer
20 John L. —

15 High nest
16 Cylindrical muscle
17 "...Fawkes Day"
18 Home of Anne and Pros
19 Writer
20 John L. —

16 Cylindrical muscle
17 "...Fawkes Day"
18 Home of Anne and Pros
19 Writer
20 John L. —

17 Home of Anne and Pros
18 Writer
20 John L. —

18 Home of Anne and Pros
19 Writer
20 John L. —

19 Writer
20 John L. —

20 John L. —

20 John L. —

20 John L. —

20 John L. —

20 John L. —

20 John L. —

20 John L. —

Thursday's Solution

41 Bagel and —
44 Curse
46 Cigar and —
47 Home of —
48 Writer
49 Palmer of golf
50 Snouts
51 Norse god
52 "Shane"
53 Sider
54 Silk worm
55 Altar words
56 Touch

44 Curse
46 Cigar and —
47 Home of —
48 Writer
49 Palmer of golf
50 Snouts
51 Norse god
52 "Shane"
53 Sider
54 Silk worm
55 Altar words
56 Touch

47 Home of —
48 Writer
49 Palmer of golf
50 Snouts
51 Norse god
52 "Shane"
53 Sider
54 Silk worm
55 Altar words
56 Touch

48 Writer
49 Palmer of golf
50 Snouts
51 Norse god
52 "Shane"
53 Sider
54 Silk worm
55 Altar words
56 Touch

49 Palmer of golf
50 Snouts
51 Norse god
52 "Shane"
53 Sider
54 Silk worm
55 Altar words
56 Touch

50 Snouts
51 Norse god
52 "Shane"
53 Sider
54 Silk worm
55 Altar words
56 Touch

51 Norse god
52 "Shane"
53 Sider
54 Silk worm
55 Altar words
56 Touch

52 "Shane"
53 Sider
54 Silk worm
55 Altar words
56 Touch

53 Sider
54 Silk worm
55 Altar words
56 Touch

54 Silk worm
55 Altar words
56 Touch

55 Altar words
56 Touch

56 Touch

48 HRS.

Produced by Lawrence Gordon, Joel Silver
Directed by Walter Hill
Starring: Nick Nolte, Eddie Murphy,
Annette O'Toole, James Remar, Sonny Landham, The Busboys

TONIGHT AND TOMORROW NIGHT
$1.50 7:00, 9:00, 11:00 Eng. Aud.

Notre Dame and Saint Mary's:

Give to the
UNITED WAY

Campus

- 4 p.m. — Spanish Club Meeting, LaFortune
- 6 p.m. — Meeting of the Spiritual Rock Prayer Group, Library Auditorium
- 7, 9 and 11 p.m. — Film, "48 Hours," Engineering Auditorium, Sponsored by Student Lyric, $1
- 10 p.m. — Friday Night Film Series, "La Nuit de Varennes," Annenberg Auditorium
- 6 p.m. — Concert, SMC Choir, Moreau Hall Little Theatre
- 5 p.m. — Punk Reggae Party, Chantannu, Sponsored by Ground Zero, $1

Saturday, Feb 11

Ground Zero Lectures,
- 1 p.m. — "Arms Control: Stabilizing the Strategic Relation," Alan Downs, 116 O'Shag  "Euromissile Deployment," 117 O'Shag  "Insights on Russian Culture," Dr. Leon Tsurigq, 118 O'Shag
- 2 p.m. — "Targeting: Counterforce or Counter-cry?" King Pfeifer, 116 O'Shag  "What About the Russians?" Sponsored by George Bentley, 117 O'Shag  "The Freeze: Where to Next?" Roger Volkert, 118 O'Shag  "World Political Conscience," Sponsored by Amy Clark, 119 O'Shag
- 1 p.m. — SMC Basketball, SMC vs Marian College, Angela Athletic Facilities
- 2 p.m. — Swimming, ND Men vs St. Bonaventure, Rockpool Pool
- 8 p.m. — Play, "Living Memories," Sponsored by Black Cultural Arts Festival, Annenberg Auditorium
- 8 p.m. — Concert, SMC Choir, Wabash College, and Men's Glee Club, Little Theatre

Sunday, Feb 12

- 7 p.m. — Italian Mass, Sorm Hall Chapel
- 7:30 p.m. — Film, "Andre Tuchel," Annenberg Auditorium, $1
- 3 p.m. — Ground Zero Game, Firebreaks, Library Auditorium
- 7 p.m. — Lecture, Three Minutes to Midnight Debate, Governor John Gilligan and Bernard Nor­ling, Center for Social Concerns
- 8 p.m. — Graduate Recital, Janet Ketas, Annen­berg Auditorium
- 9 p.m. — Lecture, Ms Mary Frances Berry, Library Auditorium, Sponsored by Black Cultural Arts Festival
Sports

Second-half Rutgers rally gives Notre Dame another costly loss

By CHRIS NEEDLES
Observer Special Writer

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. — For several minutes there was little indication that McManus Arena really is a nice place to visit. A great place to take the family: it's everything you always wanted in a basketball arena — except the noise. Some noise.

But for one night each year, usually the same night Notre Dame makes a road trip to the East Coast — it becomes a veritable chamber of horrors. In the last two seasons, the Irish have played basketball at this suburban mecca on an average of seven times, and in seven of the eight games they have lost.

Sure enough, this place reared its ugly head last night as Notre Dame lost to Rutgers, 61-59, on Chris Beni-ley's 22-foot bomb with two seconds left. It was the Scarlet Knights' first lead in the game since they led 6-5 2:54 into the game, and capped a gusty second-half performance that saw the physically weaker Knights outrebound Notre Dame, 20-18.

Although Irish coach Digger Phelps discounted the presence of a weaker Knights outrebound Notre Dame in 1982, and an equally bad six pointer to Fordham last year.

"It'll be hard on him leaving, it wasn't bychoice," said Phelps in a post-game press conference. "That was the difference."

But for Rutgers' coach Tom Young, the difference was defense. Namely, a box-and-one that held Shroyer scoreless in the second half.

"We waited until the second half to put it in defense." Young said, "because we didn't want to give it away and give Notre Dame the chance to adjust to it at halftime. You can't blame Shroyer. He was the unsung hero of the night, his team didn't adjust to his defense."

Embly, the strongest player on the DePaul squad, also has the best field goal percentage on the team (66.7 percent), and the second leading scorer for the Blue Demons, also has the best rebounding numbers. Averaging 13.6 points from his forward position, he literally takes him out of the offense, but makes him a better rebounder.

And Meyer has done a lot. He personally coached the team against active coaches with 714 victories, and fifth on the list for most career wins by a Division I coach.

Football is not the most successful sport for the Blue Demon program. For a minor sport at Notre Dame, that's understandable. As a result, the battle for the national championship is often decided by the minor sports. Whether it's the fencing program, the balanced games, the princes, the distance runners, the football team or the basketball team, they are all fighting for the same goal.

Embly, the strongest player on the DePaul squad, also has the best field goal percentage on the team (66.7 percent), and the second leading scorer for the Blue Demons, also has the best rebounding numbers. Averaging 13.6 points from his forward position, he literally takes him out of the offense, but makes him a better rebounder.

And Meyer has done a lot. He personally coached the team against active coaches with 714 victories, and fifth on the list for most career wins by a Division I coach.

But football is not the most successful sport for the Blue Demon program. For a minor sport at Notre Dame, that's understandable. As a result, the battle for the national championship is often decided by the minor sports. Whether it's the fencing program, the balanced games, the princes, the distance runners, the football team or the basketball team, they are all fighting for the same goal.

DePaul Pep Rally cancelled

Somehow, one had the feeling last night that the string of bad luck would continue. Notre Dame arrived here Wednesday night. It's all about the uniforms and warm-ups, however, didn't show up for a few hours before game time, having been lost in the maze that is New York's LaGuardia Airport.

But if the Irish were ever going to break their Meadowlands jinx, Rutgers seemed to be the perfect six.

"This is the closest team I've ever worked with," says Meyer. "The players are very close to one another and close to the city. They really enjoy working with one another."

There's no selfishness on the team," Phelps says. "Ray does not have any ego problems. They're not trying to be public if there are. They are really conscious of what they can be right now."

Although it may rank among DePaul's best teams, this year's team has a long way to go from the prototypical DePaul team.

"This is an unusual team at DePaul," Meyer says. "There are no superstars and everyone can play when we put our subs in, the scoring continues to mount."

Leading that scoring is 6-6 junior co-captain Tyrone Corbin. Averaging 13.6 points from his forward position, he literally takes him out of the offense, but makes him a better rebounder.

An All-American candidate who was selected to the NIT All Tournament team last year, the report on Corbin says that he is an explosive scorer and a high percentage of his heat in nationally televised games.

"Corbin can explode anytime," as "Phil, who was a star player the last year. He was a key player for the national championship."

Obviously, the program also doesn't need a great deal of publicity to succeed. Not that the fencers wouldn't love a few local supporters show up when they compete, but the country doesn't need to know that the program is strong enough to draw some of the best fencers in the nation.

When a high school fencer or a European fencer who wants to go to school in the United States is looking for a college, he thinks first of Notre Dame and Wayne State, the current defending national champions and one of Notre Dame's opponents tomorrow in the ACC.

As a result, the battle for the national championship is often decided by the minor sports. Whether it's the fencing program, the balanced games, the princes, the distance runners, the football team or the basketball team, they are all fighting for the same goal.

This year is no different. Notre Dame, despite the fact that it lost five outstanding fencers, three of them all-Americans, is riding a 19-game win streak. Wayne State seems to be on its way to winning another championship this year. The obstacle in its way is Notre Dame.

Meanwhile, it seems Wayne State is the only obstacle to the great success of the Notre Dame fencing program. For a minor sport at Notre Dame, that's incredible. After all, there have been many obstacles to success for the minor sports. Whether it's incompetent coaches, poor geographical location, lack of financial support, or even lack of fan support, the success of the small programs has been limited.

DeCicco and his fencers have attained a plateau that is the envy of the nation. As a result, the battle for the national championship is often decided by the minor sports. Whether it's the fencing program, the balanced games, the princes, the distance runners, the football team or the basketball team, they are all fighting for the same goal.

But football is not the most successful sport for the Blue Demon program. For a minor sport at Notre Dame, that's understandable. As a result, the battle for the national championship is often decided by the minor sports. Whether it's the fencing program, the balanced games, the princes, the distance runners, the football team or the basketball team, they are all fighting for the same goal.

As a result, the battle for the national championship is often decided by the minor sports. Whether it's the fencing program, the balanced games, the princes, the distance runners, the football team or the basketball team, they are all fighting for the same goal.

As a result, the battle for the national championship is often decided by the minor sports. Whether it's the fencing program, the balanced games, the princes, the distance runners, the football team or the basketball team, they are all fighting for the same goal.

As a result, the battle for the national championship is often decided by the minor sports. Whether it's the fencing program, the balanced games, the princes, the distance runners, the football team or the basketball team, they are all fighting for the same goal.

As a result, the battle for the national championship is often decided by the minor sports. Whether it's the fencing program, the balanced games, the princes, the distance runners, the football team or the basketball team, they are all fighting for the same goal.

As a result, the battle for the national championship is often decided by the minor sports. Whether it's the fencing program, the balanced games, the princes, the distance runners, the football team or the basketball team, they are all fighting for the same goal.

As a result, the battle for the national championship is often decided by the minor sports. Whether it's the fencing program, the balanced games, the princes, the distance runners, the football team or the basketball team, they are all fighting for the same goal.

As a result, the battle for the national championship is often decided by the minor sports. Whether it's the fencing program, the balanced games, the princes, the distance runners, the football team or the basketball team, they are all fighting for the same goal.

As a result, the battle for the national championship is often decided by the minor sports. Whether it's the fencing program, the balanced games, the princes, the distance runners, the football team or the basketball team, they are all fighting for the same goal.