McGovern exits as Hart and Mondale split primary wins

Associated Press

Gary Hart won presidential primaries in Florida, Massachusetts and Rhode Island yesterday. Walter Mondale countered with his first primary victories of the season in Alabama and Georgia, and said, “I've come back into the race” for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Hart said the Super Tuesday outcome was a victory for his candidacy and the American people. He said the voters had declared again, as in the four states he had won before, that “The politics of the past will not address the problems of the 1980s.

"With your help, we'll go on to Illinois, on to New York, on to San Francisco, on to White House," he told cheering supporters.

Four states held caucuses, and in Oklahoma — the only state reporting as of press time — Hart was ahead. With 19 percent of the precincts counted, he had 42 percent to 34 for Mondale, and CBH said he would win.

While Mondale won narrowly in the Georgia primary, Hart was gaining more delegates there. And in Florida, delegates first pledged to former Gov. Reubin Askew, now withdrawn, were a strong majority. Hart urged their election, hoping they would move into his camp.

Sen. John Glenn, the Rev. Jesse Jackson and former Sen. George McGovern, the leading candidates among the independent voters, surprised to boost them into contention. Glenn was running third in Alabama and Georgia, and Jackson in Georgia.

Despite Hart's three victories, voter surveys by the TV networks indicated erosion in the strength of the Colorado senator in all five primary states by the day just before the ballooning.

Pollsters said that among voters who made up their minds on election day in Georgia, Mondale delayed Hart, 36 percent to 22 percent. In Massachusetts, Mondale split the vote among those making up their minds last. Voters who decided in the previous month supported Hart by a 57 percent margin.

As they were splitting the popular vote, the campaigns were rivals for the delegate leadership, the delegates Hart was leading for 140 delegates, while Mondale was number two at 147 from the five primary states.

Students leaders voice objections to proposed boost in activity fees

By James Jansen

A proposal to raise the student activity fee by $10, which was temporarily shelved last night by the Student Senate, has invoked mixed reactions among key student government and administration figures.

A committee will be formed to study the proposal at its current level, with recommendations before it is again considered by the full senate.

The proposal, made by Sophomore Class President Lee Brousseau, would raise the fee from $35 to $45. Brousseau earmarked 70 percent of this extra money for dorms, and distribute it to the dorms on the basis of financial need.

Several hall presidents aired their views on the proposal at last night's Hall Presidents Council meeting. "I am opposed to the proposal because it is unfair to give money only on a need basis," said Dillon Hall President Bernice Pellegrino. "If the student activity fee is raised, the money should be divided evenly."

Rob Bertino, Student Body President, is also against the proposal as it now stands. "Our fee is currently low in comparison to other universities, but as long as we can get by on that it's fine," he said. "But if there is an increase it should go to the Student Activities Programming Board and some kind of allotment should be made for GC (off campus) people also. With the restructuring of the Student Union many social events will take place next year and extra money would be needed," he added.

Bertino, who assumes his new post April 1, added, "The whole student activity fee issue may be solved before we take over. Right now we need a Callaghan (the current SSB) in charge."

Brousseau said, "If dorms have the extra money they will have the potential to put on more social events such as dances and picnics. Right now the halls are limited to hall taxes and fundraisers. The new fee would help this out," he said.

Bertino said there are definite problems with Brousseau's proposal. "One of the problems with the proposal is how it will be regulated, and any increase should not be by $10, it should be less, and should go directly to the Student Activities Programming Board."

Director of Student Activities James McDonnell said the activity fee's biggest enemy has been inflation. "The fee stood at $17 until 1980 when it was raised to $25. In the spring of 1982, students asked to raise it again and the fee was increased to $30 per student."

The money available for campus organizations has improved, according to McDonnell. "In the fall of 1979 less than half the halls were prepared to spend for activities. This year, 90 percent of all applicants who applied for funds received them."

McDonnell said any proposed increase "ought to be earmarked for campus events and activities. That's what it's called a student activity fee, not a ballroom improvement fund.""McDonnell said if the alcohol policy is revised the activity fee could not be used for purchasing alcohol but could be used for events where alcohol is served without paying for the alcohol.

Musical youth

Mike Szaikowski and Heather Fraser prepare their "70's version of St. Matthew's Gospel," slated to be staged Friday at Fishamble movies during the Brown Count. "Godspell" last night in Washington Hall. The musical.

The Observer/Carol Gales

2,500 sign HPC alcohol petition

By Joseph Murphy

Staff Reporter

The Hall Presidents Council will send Provost Timothy O'Meara a petition signed by 2,500 student petitioners opposing changes in the alcohol policy accompanied by a letter voicing reasons for the council's opposition.

"We might as well go down kicking," said HPC Chairman Mike Carlin. "Of the 14 dorms I have, I own, I have 1,650 signatures," he said. Carlin estimated the total will reach more than 2,500 when the other 10 halls turn in their signatures today.

As Carlin launched the debate on the HPC alcohol policy, a bottle of champagne was brought to the meeting by a council member accidentally popped open. Another council member said, "Sounds like we have a closet alcoholic."

The council's letter states, "We feel that these signatures are symbolic of the student support for the HPC proposal."

Carlin said, "We do admit there is a problem. Any changes should be restrictions on excessive drunkenness."

The letter predicts any drastic change in alcohol policy would provoke 10 results, including increased drug and hard alcohol use, closet drinking, drunk driving and walking, and off-campus living and socializing.

The letter states, "If students go off-campus to do their drinking the effects on the community could be very negative. Drunk students may cause damage to community property and disturb community peace.

"Off-campus drinking will also lead to the problem of students driving home drunk. It is a proven fact the largest percentage of automobile accidents involve drivers who have been drinking," the letter continues.

The letter states new restrictions will cause an "exodus" of students from the campus.

To prevent this, the HPC said the policy should address just the problem drinkers. "The center of focus of the administration is excessive drinking. At this time, there are ways to prevent this," the HPC said.

Alternatively, the HPC said the policy should address just the problem drinkers. "That is one problem we address," the HPC said.

Students to represent SMC at model U.N. convention

By Jean Steinwachs

Anaheim, Calif., March 14 (UPI)— The countries and conflicts will be the same, but 14 Saint Mary's students will be representing different countries and students will be around the country will replace the real delegates in the National Model United Nations Conference in New York City in April.

The model U.N., the oldest simulation of its kind, will take place at the Grand Central Hyatt Regency Hotel Apr. 17-21.

Saint Mary's, with Cathy McGowan as the head delegate, will represent Colombia. The students will meet the real Colombian delegation as part of their preparation for the conference. The group will also tour the U.N., according to government professor Patrick Pierce, who has organized the trip.

Students must have taken either "International Politics" or "Political Controversies and Issues" to qualify for the trip. Pierce is also conducting a preparatory class for the students attending the conference.

McGowan, who represented Saint Mary's last year at the conference, said she is looking forward to "meeting a lot of people from different places."

The Model U.N. will be composed of the six different U.N. Committees. Each committee will be given an agenda of items, and they must present a resolution at the end of the conference.

On Monday, April 2, the students will sponsor a party at Senior Bar to raise funds for the trip, said Pierce.
What are Notre Dame professors thinking about these days?

Keith Picher
Viewpoint Editor
Inside Wednesday

It is easy for students to know what most of their peers are thinking about these days. Talk with a roommate, listen to the lunchtime chatter or read letters to the editor in The Observer.

But few students ever get to know what faculty members think about students and the University. Many of us see professors as strangers who mystify us for 50 and 75-minute classes, then disappear into the barbarous world beyond Notre Dame.

The results of a survey taken last fall show that professors share many of the concerns students do. Many have adopted a cynical attitude about Father Hesburgh's vision of the University — a university which many think Hesburgh worries about as a causanidal project, not as a genuine institution of higher learning.

The faculty senate asked professors to weigh the strengths and weaknesses of the Notre Dame community. Questionnaires were mailed to 600 faculty members soliciting answers to very broad and open-ended questions.

The first question asked about features of the University which most facilitate an inhibition of scholarly activity. Many praised the library and computer facilities (less than 10 percent rated the library and its services "poor"). Some professors feel that the University does not know how good libraries and computer facilities are.

Many others added a bit of healthy cynicism. Being "let alone" by University administrators and committees was wanted by some, while others said nothing at Notre Dame aids scholarly work. The report from the faculty affairs committee notes that "too often, cynical remarks were appended or obvious comparisons with other universities were made."

When asked about the most negative feature of the present curriculum, most professors answered there was none. When asked how to improve the curriculum, most had no proposals.

The survey asked professors to comment on the value of teaching course evaluations. More than 80 percent of all the professors said the TCE system had no value at all. As the report notes, "expedients and evaluations were quite candid, such as mentioning that chairs, deans and the provost are the only ones who want it." Many professors think the forms cause grade inflation and force unearned faculty in particular to "please" students. Others think students too often do "challenging" jobs on professors who offer challenging courses. Still others mention that the TCE's force professors to babysit students and water down their courses.

The results of the 289 responses found the forms very helpful, and most who favored the forms gave qualified responses.

On the issue of campus space, our campus intellectual seems to think the most important issue facing the professors is the lack of parking space. Of course teachers do not live on campus and are not familiar with much of the crowding students have come to know. Nonetheless, supposed "seminar" classes frequently have 25 or 30 students, and the students/teacher ratio often is absurd at Notre Dame — and professors are worried about crowded parking lots! Some faculty members went out on a limb, recommending a new student center, better use of the bookstore or even an observatory tower (Ellerbe: don't even think about it.)

Another question concerned the status of the library. Fifty-five percent of the faculty said they were satisfied with the current condition. But others were more observant, noting that the library needs higher acquisition budgets, better research facilities and better photocopying machines (or the really good stuff on the paper, on shrubs and forearms). Others labeled some of the University's older collections "trash."

Most professors seem satisfied with their "generous" salaries, for which they think the Provost and Father Hesburgh. But many others think year's changes in the health benefits plan will more than erase any real increases.

With the opening of the faculty office building this spring, students will have a better chance to interact with professors outside the academic setting.

Let's hope students take the time. We can learn a lot from professors. And if the results of the faculty survey mean anything, professors too often do challenging jobs on students who offer challenging courses.
Christian, Moslem leaders agree
to terms of cease-fire in Lebanon

Associated Press

LUSANNE, Switzerland — Christian and Moslem leaders agreed yesterday on terms of a cease-fire to halt
the fighting in Lebanon.

A statement issued at Lebanon's na­tional reconciliation conference
said the cease-fire would take effect
at 9 p.m. (2 p.m. EST).

Beirut radio said negotiators rea­ched a "comprehensive" cease­ fire agreement and all parties in the area were told of the decision.

For the first 15 minutes after 9 p.m., salvos of mortar shells and rockets fell on residential areas of Christian east Beirut and shells also landed in parts of Moslem west Beirut. An apparent calm then settled over the city.

There have been many cease-fires
in the 9-year-old civil war, none
have held.

In Lausanne, Michel Samaha,
senior adviser to President Amin Gemayel, said the plan "does not need any signatures. It is adopted by all participants in the conference."

Agreement had been held up by a controversy over whether Gemayel
should sign the pact as head of state
or as a party to the conflict.

The plan released here listed six points to bring about a permanent cease-fire and restore stability and security in Lebanon.

The six points are: orders to all forces to stop fighting; formation of a military committee composed of members of all sides; formation of supervisory committees to monitor
the truce; separation of combatants
and establishment of buffer zones;
reopening of Beirut's airport and
port; and a halt to information campaigns by the rival parties.

As the Lebanese leaders met, fir­ing
continued in Beirut and a U.S.
Marine was shot in the back outside
the capital, apparently by a sniper.

He was reported in stable condition.

The Marine was not identified by the U.S. military. He was one of 100
Marines left behind to guard the U.S.
Embassy when the multinational
force left Lebanon.

Gemayel's national security ad­
iser, Wadi Haddad, said the deal-lock over the signature issue was broken by the proposal "from several people." A source said the Syrian and Saudi observers suggested the accord be approved by consensus, requiring no signatures.

Haddad said the meeting also was presented with several working papers on political, social and economic reforms in a new Lebanon. One, by the Lebanese
Front coalition of right-wing Christian groups, called for a two-tier,
semi-federal structure of Lebanon.

Sources said this was opposed by Moslem delegates and the Syrian observer, vice president Abdul-Halim Khaddam.

Big Sisters
plan weekend with surveys
By JANE KRAVICK
Staff Reporter

If your little sister came to visit
you for a weekend, how would you want to keep her entertained? This is one question being asked in a survey this week at Saint Mary's anticipation of Big Sister—Little Sister
Weekend, April 6-8.

The replies to the questionnaire
will help chairwoman Marit Jones
plan the weekend.

Jones has already begun to plan a tentative schedule of events. The weekend will begin Friday with late afternoon registration. Events plann­ed for the evening include swimming, a pizza party, the Regina
Review Talent Show, and showings of
The Muppet Movie.

Saturday's events include breakfast in the residence halls, aerobics,
roller skating, games, a steak dinner,
and showings of The Movie Stripes.

No deadline has been set for registration. Jones said, "Right now, we are just waiting for responses."

HPC
continued from page 1

to exercise control and observation
of students to prevent their drinking to excess. If the center of social activities moves off-campus, drinking by all students will occur in an uncontrolled environment. There will be no supervision off-campus, ther­eby increasing the possibilities of drunkenness," the letter continues.

At last night's council meeting,
the members voiced unanimous
support for the letter.

Christian, Moslem leaders agree
to terms of cease-fire in Lebanon

Associated Press

LUSANNE, Switzerland — Christian and Moslem leaders agreed yesterday on terms of a cease-fire to halt
the fighting in Lebanon.

A statement issued at Lebanon's na­tional reconciliation conference
said the cease-fire would take effect
at 9 p.m. (2 p.m. EST).

Beirut radio said negotiators rea­ched a "comprehensive" cease­
fire agreement and all parties in the area were told of the decision.

For the first 15 minutes after 9 p.m., salvos of mortar shells and
rockets fell on residential areas of Christian east Beirut and shells also
landed in parts of Moslem west
Beirut. An apparent calm then settled over the city.

There have been many cease-fires
in the 9-year-old civil war, none
have held.

In Lausanne, Michel Samaha,
senior adviser to President Amin Gemayel, said the plan "does not need any signatures. It is adopted by
all participants in the conference."

Agreement had been held up by a controversy over whether Gemayel
should sign the pact as head of state
or as a party to the conflict.

The plan released here listed six
points to bring about a permanent cease-fire and restore stability and
security in Lebanon.

The six points are: orders to all
forces to stop fighting; formation of a military committee composed of
members of all sides; formation of supervisory committees to monitor
the truce; separation of combatants
and establishment of buffer zones;
reopening of Beirut's airport and
port; and a halt to information campaigns by the rival parties.

As the Lebanese leaders met, fir­ing
continued in Beirut and a U.S.
Marine was shot in the back outside
the capital, apparently by a sniper.

He was reported in stable condition.

The Marine was not identified by the U.S. military. He was one of 100
Marines left behind to guard the U.S.
Embassy when the multinational
force left Lebanon.

Gemayel's national security ad­
iser, Wadi Haddad, said the deal-lock over the signature issue was broken by the proposal "from several people." A source said the Syrian and Saudi observers suggested
the accord be approved by consensus, requiring no signatures.

Haddad said the meeting also was presented with several working
papers on political, social and economic reforms in a new Lebanon. One, by the Lebanese
Front coalition of right-wing Christian groups, called for a two-tier,
semi-federal structure of Lebanon.

Sources said this was opposed by Moslem delegates and the Syrian
observer, vice president Abdul-Halim
Khaddam.

Big Sisters
plan weekend with surveys
By JANE KRAVICK
Staff Reporter

If your little sister came to visit
you for a weekend, how would you want to keep her entertained? This is one question being asked in a survey this week at Saint Mary's anticipation of Big Sister—Little Sister
Weekend, April 6-8.

The replies to the questionnaire
will help chairwoman Marit Jones
plan the weekend.

Jones has already begun to plan a tentative schedule of events. The weekend will begin Friday with late afternoon registration. Events plann­ed for the evening include
swimming, a pizza party, the Regina
Review Talent Show, and showings of
The Muppet Movie.

Saturday's events include breakfast in the residence halls, aerobics,
roller skating, games, a steak dinner,
and showings of The Movie Stripes.

No deadline has been set for registration. Jones said, "Right now,
we are just waiting for responses."

HPC
continued from page 1

to exercise control and observation
of students to prevent their drinking
to excess. If the center of social activities moves off-campus, drinking by
all students will occur in an uncontrolled environment. There will be no supervision off-campus, ther­by increasing the possibilities of drunkenness," the letter continues.

At last night's council meeting,
the members voiced unanimous
support for the letter.
Recollections of a reformed boxer

The Observer

Viewpoint

Wednesday, March 14, 1984 — page 4

The Observer

Recollections of a reformed boxer

The rush of injuries that has plagued the Bengal Bouts in recent years is unprecedented in the club's half-century tradition. At the first day of practice every year the coaches proudly an-oung that there has never been so much as a broken nose in Bengal Bouts history.

The semi-finals saw two boxers collide in a practice session and were rushed to the hospital with a subdural hematoma — that's a swelling of blood within the brain fol-

The Observer

Guest Column

Kevin Binger

nounced that there has never been so much as a broken nose in Bengal Bouts history.

The semi-finals saw two boxers collide in a practice session and were rushed to the hospital with a subdural hematoma — that's a swelling of blood within the brain fol-

But boxing is a rough sport, that's no secret. You can't expect a sport where the athletes do something...
LENTEN CLOTHING DRIVE

"Clothe the Naked" drop your excess clothing in drums provided in your dorm....March 7-16

GIVE UP YOUR LUNCH HOUR THIS FRIDAY, MARCH 9, FROM 12:00 noon TO 1:00 PM. MEET AT THE CAMPUS SECURITY DEPT. WE WILL BE TRAVELING TO THE VOLUNTARY ASSOCIATION OF CHRISTIAN CHURCHES IN SOUTH BEND. THE CHARITY FASHION SHOW SPONSORED BY THE SOPHOMORE CLASS. TUESDAY, MARCH 27, NIGHT AND THURSDAY, MARCH 29, DAY. IF YOU ARE A CLOTHING DONOR, PLEASE CALL 284-5072. THANK YOU.

LOST: A SHARP CALCULATOR - within 24 hours of the MARCH 15 MARCHET. Reward is given. Call 277-3698.

NEED RIDERS EAST! PITTSBURGH - RIDE NEEDED! Larry, Did you get your message Sunday night? If you don't hear from me before Thursday night, I'll think you're just being bold.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

ATTENTION SMC JUNIORS

ATTENTION CLASS OF 1987

NEED YOUR HELP TO HELP OTHERS. THANK YOU.

THANKS.

LOST: a burgundy Larry Levine wool coat with sentimental value. Reward is offered. Call 337-7703.

Pablo Cruise

Marin County Rocks!

Huey Lewis and the News

Jefferson Starship

San Francisco Girl

ased by (esp. cases of Molson) if one intends to go for "ROOTS", an interesting study of the Elephants Are Coming...

The Elephants Are Coming...

TIM at 8671.

Tired of keggers? Do something different tonight. Go for "ROOTS", an interesting study of the Elephants Are Coming...

The Elephants Are Coming...

TIM at 8671.

Tired of keggers? Do something different tonight. Go for "ROOTS", an interesting study of the Elephants Are Coming...

The Elephants Are Coming...

TIM at 8671.

Tired of keggers? Do something different tonight. Go for "ROOTS", an interesting study of the Elephants Are Coming...

The Elephants Are Coming...

TIM at 8671.

Tired of keggers? Do something different tonight. Go for "ROOTS", an interesting study of the Elephants Are Coming...

The Elephants Are Coming...

TIM at 8671.

Tired of keggers? Do something different tonight. Go for "ROOTS", an interesting study of the Elephants Are Coming...

The Elephants Are Coming...

TIM at 8671.

Tired of keggers? Do something different tonight. Go for "ROOTS", an interesting study of the Elephants Are Coming...

The Elephants Are Coming...

TIM at 8671.

Tired of keggers? Do something different tonight. Go for "ROOTS", an interesting study of the Elephants Are Coming...

The Elephants Are Coming...

TIM at 8671.

Tired of keggers? Do something different tonight. Go for "ROOTS", an interesting study of the Elephants Are Coming...

The Elephants Are Coming...

TIM at 8671.

Tired of keggers? Do something different tonight. Go for "ROOTS", an interesting study of the Elephants Are Coming...

The Elephants Are Coming...

TIM at 8671.

Tired of keggers? Do something different tonight. Go for "ROOTS", an interesting study of the Elephants Are Coming...

The Elephants Are Coming...

TIM at 8671.

Tired of keggers? Do something different tonight. Go for "ROOTS", an interesting study of the Elephants Are Coming...

The Elephants Are Coming...

TIM at 8671.

Tired of keggers? Do something different tonight. Go for "ROOTS", an interesting study of the Elephants Are Coming...

The Elephants Are Coming...

TIM at 8671.

Tired of keggers? Do something different tonight. Go for "ROOTS", an interesting study of the Elephants Are Coming...

The Elephants Are Coming...

TIM at 8671.

Tired of keggers? Do something different tonight. Go for "ROOTS", an interesting study of the Elephants Are Coming...

The Elephants Are Coming...

TIM at 8671.

Tired of keggers? Do something different tonight. Go for "ROOTS", an interesting study of the Elephants Are Coming...

The Elephants Are Coming...

TIM at 8671.

Tired of keggers? Do something different tonight. Go for "ROOTS", an interesting study of the Elephants Are Coming...

The Elephants Are Coming...

TIM at 8671.

Tired of keggers? Do something different tonight. Go for "ROOTS", an interesting study of the Elephants Are Coming...

The Elephants Are Coming...

TIM at 8671.

Tired of keggers? Do something different tonight. Go for "ROOTS", an interesting study of the Elephants Are Coming...

The Elephants Are Coming...

TIM at 8671.
The Observer
The independent student newspaper serving Notre Dame and Saint Mary's is accepting applications for the following positions:

Assistant News Editor
Copy Editor

- Previous experience in journalism is not required, but applicants should be familiar with the elements of style in the English language, with good grammar and with current campus and world news.
- Both jobs are paid positions which require working one night per week.
- Submit application and personal statement to Mark Worscheh by 5 p.m. today.

For more information, call The Observer at 239-5303.

The Observer
3rd Floor, LaFortune Student Center
Notre Dame, IN 46556

Wednesday, March 14, 1984 — page 6

ODU continued from page 8

The Wildcats clobbered the Irish, 71-57. Phelps is confident that the same thing will not happen again this year.

"The most important thing," says the Irish coach, "is that we've known where we stood for a long time. Last year we were in shock (at not making the NCAA's), and played like it. This year we had our mind set on the NIT."

Old Dominion primarily plays seven men. Keith Thomas, a 6-3 sophomore, leads the Monarchs' backcourt scoring with his 14.1 points per game. The other ODU guard is 6-5 junior Charlie Smith, who adds 11.2 points per contest.

Leading scorer Mark Davis (14.2 points) is the big scorer up front, despite being only 6-4.

Sophomore Kenny Gattison, often a catalyst for the Monarchs, chips in 11.1 points of his own, in addition to leading Old Dominion in rebounding with an average of seven per contest.

At 6-10, sophomore Clarence Hanley is the biggest man on the Old Dominion roster. Averaging 9.2 points and 7.4 rebounds, he is leading Old Dominion in rebounding this year. Despite being only 6-4.

Sophomore Kenny Gattison, often a catalyst for the Monarchs, is the big scorer up front, despite being only 6-4.

The Observer
3rd Floor, LaFortune Student Center
Notre Dame, IN 46556

INTRESTED IN BEING A PART OF STUNPENT GOVERNMENT NEXT YEAR?

Applications and job descriptions are now available for Executive Coordinators and Freshman Orientation Committee and can be picked up in the Student Govt. Offices 2nd Floor LaFortune

Deadline: Friday, March 16

QUESTIONS? Call Rob at 1088 or Cathy at 1334

There Is Still Time to Join the BALLROOM DANCE CLASS

Time: Wednesday, March 14 from 6:30pm-8pm
Place: Regina Hall Basement Lounge on Saint Mary's Campus
Teacher: Ray Sexton from Indianapolis
Cost: $20 for 4 weeks (skip Spring Break)

If you would like to join this class, you can register at the first lesson.

THIS OFFER IS LIMITED TO NOTRE DAME AND SAINT MARY'S STUDENTS ONLY.

There Is Still Time To Join The BALLROOM DANCE CLASS

Time: Wednesday, March 14 from 6:30pm-8pm
Place: Regina Hall Basement Lounge on Saint Mary's Campus
Teacher: Ray Sexton from Indianapolis
Cost: $20 for 4 weeks (skip Spring Break)

If you would like to join this class, you can register at the first lesson.

THIS OFFER IS LIMITED TO NOTRE DAME AND SAINT MARY'S STUDENTS ONLY.

There Is Still Time To Join The BALLROOM DANCE CLASS

Time: Wednesday, March 14 from 6:30pm-8pm
Place: Regina Hall Basement Lounge on Saint Mary's Campus
Teacher: Ray Sexton from Indianapolis
Cost: $20 for 4 weeks (skip Spring Break)

If you would like to join this class, you can register at the first lesson.

THIS OFFER IS LIMITED TO NOTRE DAME AND SAINT MARY'S STUDENTS ONLY.

There Is Still Time To Join The BALLROOM DANCE CLASS

Time: Wednesday, March 14 from 6:30pm-8pm
Place: Regina Hall Basement Lounge on Saint Mary's Campus
Teacher: Ray Sexton from Indianapolis
Cost: $20 for 4 weeks (skip Spring Break)

If you would like to join this class, you can register at the first lesson.

THIS OFFER IS LIMITED TO NOTRE DAME AND SAINT MARY'S STUDENTS ONLY.

There Is Still Time To Join The BALLROOM DANCE CLASS

Time: Wednesday, March 14 from 6:30pm-8pm
Place: Regina Hall Basement Lounge on Saint Mary's Campus
Teacher: Ray Sexton from Indianapolis
Cost: $20 for 4 weeks (skip Spring Break)

If you would like to join this class, you can register at the first lesson.

THIS OFFER IS LIMITED TO NOTRE DAME AND SAINT MARY'S STUDENTS ONLY.

There Is Still Time To Join The BALLROOM DANCE CLASS

Time: Wednesday, March 14 from 6:30pm-8pm
Place: Regina Hall Basement Lounge on Saint Mary's Campus
Teacher: Ray Sexton from Indianapolis
Cost: $20 for 4 weeks (skip Spring Break)

If you would like to join this class, you can register at the first lesson.

THIS OFFER IS LIMITED TO NOTRE DAME AND SAINT MARY'S STUDENTS ONLY.
Sports

Wednesday, March 14, 1984 — page 8

March Madness’

Chuck Freeby

Sports Writer

Irish Items

While the Fighting Irish would rather be involved in the “Battle for Seattle,” Digger Phelps squad must be ready when the “Grapple for the Big Apple” begins. Phelps must find out if you have a ticket to pay a visit to the ACC at 8 p.m., with the winter advancing to second-round NIT action on Sunday or Monday.

The first question that Phelps must answer is when the NIT selection committee announced the pairings was “Old Dominion? Why?”

Healthy Irish take on Old Dominion tonight at ACC

By JEFF BLUMB

Assistant Sports Editor

Rumor has it that Notre Dame basketball coach Digger Phelps plans to set up a MSMU at the ACC in the near future. Considering all the injuries problems that Phelps team has encountered this season, it may not be a bad idea.

There was also be a little late Notre Dame, it appears, will finally be near full strength tonight when it faces the Monarchs of Old Dominion at 8 p.m. in the ACC.

For this first-round NIT game, Tim Kempton will return to the lineup after nearly a five-week absence. Although Notre Dame’s “rock” inside will not start the contest, Phelps has indicated that he will go with Kempton as much as the big red-head’s endurance and the after-effects of his hamstring fracture permits.

Howard’s ankle condition was still in question yesterday, but it was expected that he would be able to play tonight. Although bad back was not expected to keep him out.

The only Irish player who definitely will not see any action tonight against Old Dominion, and perhaps throughout the rest of the season for that matter, is Jimmy Buchanan. His returning Kendall has flared up, and, according to Phelps, the problem may be something that Buchanan will have to face during his entire career.

The key for the Irish will be regaining the form they had when Kempton was playing. A legitimate contender for the NCAA Tournament at 14-5 with Kempton, Notre Dame has since slumped without the sophomore center, going only 3-6 in his absence.

Old Dominion is not a team to be written off at first glance. The Monarchs, obviously, must have something going for them since they were able to make the NIT Tournament and crack a 3-2 field that Phelps has compared to some of the best teams in the country.

“We are a semi-young team this year,” Notre Dame coach Paul Webb of his 19-11 Monarchs, “in that we don’t have a scholarship senior on our team. We are primarily a junior and sophomore squad.”

“We have good quickness and good team speed which we’re going to have to utilize at both ends of the floor,” continues Webb, one of the 10-11 winniest coaches in college basketball history. “We’re not big, but our size is adequate if we work to keep people off the boards and from going inside against us very often.”

Based on the size of the Monarch front (they are 6-6, 6-6, 6-10 up front), paper it will seem that the Irish should have few problems outnumbering Old Dominion the way they have the vast majority of teams they’ve played this year. What kind of job Notre Dame does on the boards probably will decide by how badly the Irish want to tonight’s game.

Because they’ve been resigned to the fact that they would be in the NIT and not in the NCAA’s for so long, the players seem to have a better attitude this year than last. March, the team almost expected to make an NCAA bid, which never came.

The Irish went in Chicago to play Notre Dame in the first round of the NIT, feeling sorry for themselves, and it showed in the game.

The key for the Irish will be regaining the form they had when Kempton was playing. A legitimate contender for the NCAA Tournament at 14-5 with Kempton, Notre Dame has since slumped without the sophomore center, going only 3-6 in his absence.

Old Dominion is not a team to be written off at first glance. The Monarchs, obviously, must have something going for them since they were able to make the NIT Tournament and crack a 3-2 field that Phelps has compared to some of the best teams in the country.

“We are a semi-young team this year,” Notre Dame coach Paul Webb of his 19-11 Monarchs, “in that we don’t have a scholarship senior on our team. We are primarily a junior and sophomore squad.”

“We have good quickness and good team speed which we’re going to have to utilize at both ends of the floor,” continues Webb, one of the 10-11 winniest coaches in college basketball history. “We’re not big, but our size is adequate if we work to keep people off the boards and from going inside against us very often.”

Based on the size of the Monarch front (they are 6-6, 6-6, 6-10 up front), paper it will seem that the Irish should have few problems outnumbering Old Dominion the way they have the vast majority of teams they’ve played this year. What kind of job Notre Dame does on the boards probably will decide by how badly the Irish want to tonight’s game.

Because they’ve been resigned to the fact that they would be in the NIT and not in the NCAA’s for so long, the players seem to have a better attitude this year than last. March, the team almost expected to make an NCAA bid, which never came.

The Irish went in Chicago to play Notre Dame in the first round of the NIT, feeling sorry for themselves, and it showed in the game.

Sophomore adds consistency

Dolan fits utility role well

By PHIL WOLF

Sports Writer

When the Notre Dame men’s basketball team takes the floor tonight against Old Dominion in the first round of the NIT, many eyes will be on Tom Slaby, the Irish scoring leader. Tim Kempton, the veteran center returning to the lineup, and Joe Howard, the exciting point guard.

Another player who is certain to make his presence known to the Monarchs, if not to the fans, is Jim Dolan.

The 6-8, 220-pound sophomore, the only player who has started every game for the Irish this year, is not known for flashy play. Rather, he is the solid front line player on whom Digger Phelps knows he can count for passing, rebounding, and strong defense whenever he is needed.

“Jimmy Dolan has probably been the most consistent player on the team,” Phelps says. “He's just a very intelligent player on the floor. He handles the ball well in pressure situations. The guy who's the vocal and silent leader is Jimmy Dolan.”

Dolan has responded well to his coach’s expectations this season. At the basketball team’s banquet on March 3, he accepted the awards for most assists (84) and most rebounds on the team (7.6 per game).

In addition, Dolan was rewarded for being the best Defensive Player of the Year. The defensive award is appropriate for Dolan who was a key to Notre Dame’s shutting down several high-scoring forwards this year.

About the only criticism of Dolan that one ever hears is that he is too slow. The big forward himself prefers to say, “I pace myself.”

“Even though I’m slow, I make up for it by knowing where to run — where to cut the person off, instead of just chasing him,” Dolan explains.

Phelps agrees that Dolan knows how to make up for his lack of speed.

“From foul line to foul line, he’s the slowest guy in the nation,” Phelps says. “But foul line to basket, he’s probably the smartest guy playing the game.”

Dolan says it was not difficult for him to adjust to his role as utility player for the Irish, since he was expected to do many different things in high school as well. Also, Phelps’ conservative style of play fitted him perfectly.

“I’m suited for his style,” Dolan says. “I can run and run, but I’ll be throwing the outlets and everybody else will run. His offensive and defense is slow, and it’s perfect for me.”

The one thing Dolan says he wants most is college basketball experience. He averaged 6.3 points per game as a freshman and 7.7 points per contest this season — good enough to rank him fourth in scoring on this year’s squad — and he would like to continue to score more in the future.

The more Dolan improves in the next two years, the happier Digger Phelps will be. He will have a utility player who can pass, rebound, shoot, and play defense. A coach can ask for little more than that.

Prepare yourselves for red-and-white and blue basketballs and 45-second clocks — “March Madness” is here!

Freeby’s Forecast of Wednesday night’s action on these pages.

Monitors the Balance

Chuck Freeby "balances" the Irish lineup tonight against Old Dominion.

EOE