Critical Kemp doesn't criticize. Critic Kemp makes matters public. No matter what, his reviews are always in the public eye. Professor Kemp, who has a deep understanding of Shakespeare, recently praised his students for their dedication to the art form. However, he also pointed out the need for more student involvement in Shakespeare productions. Kemp's lecture on the subject of Shakespeare was well-received, and he expressed his hope that more students would consider pursuing a career in the arts. Kemp's lecture was titled "Shakespeare and the Future of the Arts," and he encouraged students to think about how they could contribute to the literary world. Kemp's lecture was a success, and he plans to continue his work on Shakespeare and the arts. Kemp is a respected professor, and his contributions to the field of Shakespeare continue to inspire others. Kemp's work has been influential, and he continues to make a difference in the world of the arts. Kemp's lecture was a great success, and it was clear that his passion for Shakespeare is still as strong as ever. Kemp's work is an inspiration to all who love the arts, and he continues to make a difference in the world.
It's going to take cooperation to keep social life alive and well

Theresa Guarino
Assistant News Editor

Inside Thursday

The two Five Hall dances easily come to mind. Both, in the Hagar Center, were extremely well attended. In fact, more Notre Dame students attended than did Saint Mary's. Because of the success, more are planned for next year, according to Saint Mary's Student Body President Lee Ann Franks. The Kesten Revue party earlier this semester was also extremely successful.

Other dry activities at Saint Mary's have not gone over so well. "We've had some attendance problems in the past," said Franks, "but all along we've had to play with no alcohol. Now Notre Dame too will have to plan alternate activities."

The alcohol policy could hurt both schools much more than it will help. Whatever the outcome, students are going to have to adapt.

Saint Mary's and Notre Dame students should use next year, when social activities may seem scarce, to open lines of communication. Cooperation is needed to plan weekend events more than ever. Students should work together to give each other more reasons to cross U.S. 31.

Individual halls and classes could sponsor more joint activities. Maybe the Notre Dame faculty and Saint Mary's women could interact more closely. Stories of anomosities between the two are very much exaggerated.

The rally tomorrow should be well attended. Let's hope students will be able to plan around the more restrictive details of the policy changed.

Let's also hope students will work together next year to make the social life on both campuses a success — even though it may be dry.

The views expressed in the Inside column are the views of the author, and do not necessarily reflect the views of the editorial board or staff.

An Tostal

Today's Events

SMC PICNIC
Canoe Races, Picnic Games, Tricycle Race...

DORM FEUD
Between Dorns on ND
Including the MOB - Angela 8:00pm

MR. Campus
at Angela 8:00pm

BEER GARDEN
3 Buds for $1 and hear the Kinetics play
Must be 21. Senior Bar

LOOKING FOR BIG BROTHER

Clue no. 3

People come here to go to college. They quickly experience the ministry of knowledge. It's spread low and wide all around.

But in one place it towers above the ground.

ONLY if you have found Big Brother, call 1739 and ask for Paul or Mark

The Observer

The fourth annual Campus Scream, an unofficial SMC Tostal event, is scheduled to begin tonight at midnight. Leaders of the People's An Tostal Committee, the organizers of the event, say they hope for a larger turnout than last year. "We are running an emotional event, however, we will be unable to control political cheers," says the chairman of PATC. — The Observer

An official An Tostal ticket, scheduled to be begin tonight at midnight. Leaders of the People's An Tostal Committee, the organizers of the event, say they hope for a larger turnout than last year. "We are running an emotional event, however, we will be unable to control political cheers," says the chairman of PATC. — The Observer

Of Interest

Fine prominent literary and critical theorists will be on campus today through Saturday, April 28 for a conference titled "Criticism Without Boundaries: Directions and Cross Currents in Postmodern Critical Theory." According to lower level, such as the undergraduate professor and director of graduate studies in English and the conference organizer, "Our task was to examine ways in which recent changes in literary theory have affected developments in other academic disciplines. The participants, who come from a variety of fields, will be uniquely suited for this task." — The Observer

The Shakespeare Reading Marathon continues today with Dean and Mrs. James Roemer at noon, Tequila White Lightning, with Steve Bucelkin at 3:15 p.m. Anyone interested in reading is invited to stop at the stage and read on a walk-on basis. — The Observer

"Human Rights Abuses: The Cause of Chile" will be the topic of Professor Alejandro Foxley's lecture this evening at 7 in the Center for Social Concerns. The lecture will kick off a human rights awareness program of Amnesty International. Foxley is a professor of the Helen Kellogg Institute. — The Observer

An official An Tostal ticket, scheduled to be begin tonight at midnight. Leaders of the People's An Tostal Committee, the organizers of the event, say they hope for a larger turnout than last year. "We are running an emotional event, however, we will be unable to control political cheers," says the chairman of PATC. — The Observer

"Human Rights Abuses: The Cause of Chile" will be the topic of Professor Alejandro Foxley's lecture this evening at 7 in the Center for Social Concerns. The lecture will kick off a human rights awareness program of Amnesty International. Foxley is a professor of the Helen Kellogg Institute. — The Observer

Saint Mary's has had practice. Some events have been successful, others have been failures.

The two Five Hall dances easily come to mind. Both, in the Hagar Center, were extremely well attended. In fact, more Notre Dame students attended than did Saint Mary's. Because of the success, more are planned for next year, according to Saint Mary's Student Body President Lee Ann Franks. The Kesten Revue party earlier this semester was also extremely successful.

Other dry activities at Saint Mary's have not gone over so well. "We've had some attendance problems in the past," said Franks, "but all along we've had to play with no alcohol. Now Notre Dame too will have to plan alternate activities."

The alcohol policy could hurt both schools much more than it will help. Whatever the outcome, students are going to have to adapt.

Saint Mary's and Notre Dame students should use next year, when social activities may seem scarce, to open lines of communication. Cooperation is needed to plan weekend events more than ever. Students should work together to give each other more reasons to cross U.S. 31.

Individual halls and classes could sponsor more joint activities. Maybe the Notre Dame faculty and Saint Mary's women could interact more closely. Stories of anomosities between the two are very much exaggerated.

The rally tomorrow should be well attended. Let's hope students will be able to plan around the more restrictive details of the policy changed.

Let's also hope students will work together next year to make the social life on both campuses a success — even though it may be dry.

The views expressed in the Inside column are the views of the author, and do not necessarily reflect the views of the editorial board or staff.

An Tostal

Today's Events

SMC PICNIC
Canoe Races, Picnic Games, Tricycle Race...

DORM FEUD
Between Dorns on ND
Including the MOB - Angela 8:00pm

MR. Campus
at Angela 8:00pm

BEER GARDEN
3 Buds for $1 and hear the Kinetics play
Must be 21. Senior Bar

LOOKING FOR BIG BROTHER

Clue no. 3

People come here to go to college. They quickly experience the ministry of knowledge. It's spread low and wide all around.

But in one place it towers above the ground.

ONLY if you have found Big Brother, call 1739 and ask for Paul or Mark

The Observer

The fourth annual Campus Scream, an unofficial An Tostal event, is scheduled to begin tonight at midnight. Leaders of the People's An Tostal Committee, the organizers of the event, say they hope for a larger turnout than last year. "We are running an emotional event, however, we will be unable to control political cheers," says the chairman of PATC. — The Observer

The Shakespeare Reading Marathon continues today with Dean and Mrs. James Roemer at noon, Tequila White Lightning, with Steve Bucelkin at 3:15 p.m. Anyone interested in reading is invited to stop at the stage and read on a walk-on basis. — The Observer

"Human Rights Abuses: The Cause of Chile" will be the topic of Professor Alejandro Foxley's lecture this evening at 7 in the Center for Social Concerns. The lecture will kick off a human rights awareness program of Amnesty International. Foxley is a professor of the Helen Kellogg Institute. — The Observer

An official An Tostal ticket, scheduled to be begin tonight at midnight. Leaders of the People's An Tostal Committee, the organizers of the event, say they hope for a larger turnout than last year. "We are running an emotional event, however, we will be unable to control political cheers," says the chairman of PATC. — The Observer

"Human Rights Abuses: The Cause of Chile" will be the topic of Professor Alejandro Foxley's lecture this evening at 7 in the Center for Social Concerns. The lecture will kick off a human rights awareness program of Amnesty International. Foxley is a professor of the Helen Kellogg Institute. — The Observer

Saint Mary's has had practice. Some events have been successful, others have been failures.

The two Five Hall dances easily come to mind. Both, in the Hagar Center, were extremely well attended. In fact, more Notre Dame students attended than did Saint Mary's. Because of the success, more are planned for next year, according to Saint Mary's Student Body President Lee Ann Franks. The Kesten Revue party earlier this semester was also extremely successful.

Other dry activities at Saint Mary's have not gone over so well. "We've had some attendance problems in the past," said Franks, "but all along we've had to play with no alcohol. Now Notre Dame too will have to plan alternate activities."

The alcohol policy could hurt both schools much more than it will help. Whatever the outcome, students are going to have to adapt.

Saint Mary's and Notre Dame students should use next year, when social activities may seem scarce, to open lines of communication. Cooperation is needed to plan weekend events more than ever. Students should work together to give each other more reasons to cross U.S. 31.

Individual halls and classes could sponsor more joint activities. Maybe the Notre Dame faculty and Saint Mary's women could interact more closely. Stories of anomosities between the two are very much exaggerated.

The rally tomorrow should be well attended. Let's hope students will be able to plan around the more restrictive details of the policy changed.

Let's also hope students will work together next year to make the social life on both campuses a success — even though it may be dry.

The views expressed in the Inside column are the views of the author, and do not necessarily reflect the views of the editorial board or staff.
American Red Cross active at Notre Dame

By ANNE GALLAGHER
Staff Staff

When you hear the words "American Red Cross," do you think of disaster relief, life-saving, or the little white card that has been stuck in your wallet for six years? Most are familiar with a few of the volunteer services that are provided by this national organization, but few know how active the American Red Cross is at Notre Dame.

The Red Cross has always provided first aid at major athletic events through the St. Joseph County Chapter. According to Peter Womer, staff advisor for the branch and vice-chairman of the county's First Aid Station Program, the branch has proven to be a huge success and has paid off in great dividends. The branch also serves non-athletic students and providing these services, and these services are priceless. He also emphasized that the Red Cross is always looking for volunteers. The branch provides the training, so that all is needed to an interest in helping others. According to Womer, "the program's future depends on the students and maintaining an interest to get involved."

The branch in September 1983 was the QRS Program. The Quick Response Squad, designed by students and Notre Dame Security, is manned by volunteers from Notre Dame and Saint Mary's and is on call every day from 5 to 11 p.m. The QRS team primarily transports injured students to the hospital, thus alleviating some of the Security Department's workload.

QRS utilizes a van donated by the university's athletic department. The QRS Program is not an ambulance service, yet the team's proximity allows its volunteers to stabilize a patient well before an ambulance arrives.

Womer said, "QRS can mean the difference between life and death." Joanne Beissel, a dispatcher for Notre Dame Security where QRS is based, recalled one incident in which a Flanner student had a severe reaction to a food dye found in oranges, and began to have difficulty in breathing. Fortunately, Edmundowicz, who is a Flanner resident, was on duty at the time and was able to administer oxygen and stabilize the student.

Beissel added, "People don't realize the type of problems that arise, and working together, the Red Cross and Notre Dame work to provide a much more efficient service to the community."

The branch also provides several educational courses. Water Safety is taught through the Physical Education Department at the Rockne Memorial, as well as CPR and standard first aid courses taught by students from the branch. The branch also has a service for veterans, and can provide almost any service the county chapter can provide.

Edmundowicz feels it is important that other students realize Notre Dame "does have a group of students who are interested in providing these services, and these services are priceless." He also emphasized that the Red Cross is always looking for volunteers. The branch provides the training, so that all is needed to an interest in helping others. According to Womer, "the program's future depends on the students and maintaining an interest to get involved."

The Observer

Thursday, April 26, 1984 - page 3

Fighting continues

Two men walk past a large cutout poster of Iran's President Saddam Hussein, situated and overlook-
All for one

The children’s television characters “The Muppets” entertained visitors waiting in line outside the White House to tour the executive mansion earlier this week. Rains cancelled the annual Easter egg roll but did not spoil the Muppets’ spirit.

U.S. accused of UN/OAS charter violations in Hague World Court

Associated Press

THE HAGUE, Netherlands — A former U.S. State Department legal adviser told the World Court yesterday that United States is violating the charters of the United Nations and the Organization of American States by supporting rebels fighting the Nicaraguan government.

Lecture

continued from page 1

Kempton’s campaign pieces as good short stories focusing on a single detail to illuminate the whole persona.

“A rare and fine (Kempton) talking about the issues,” Lerner said. “The issues change but it is the total man who has made the decision.”

“Confusion of this kind, much maligning as it has been, can establish a kind of liaison, a fission, between the authentically human and the realm of ideals,” Lerner continued. “I must be admitted.”

Kempton responded to Lerner’s remarks by insisting that “four-fifths of the paper is probably nonsense.” He claims that “the man you are writing about will ultimately give himself away” and that any one columnist’s opinion is more or less irrelevant. Lerner added jokingly that they gave themselves away after the election.

Kempton spoke of the difference between Hart and Reagan. “Gary Hart loves show business. Ronald Reagan is show business. Lurking around on his mind are 150,000 movie scripts,” Ronald Reagan’s saving grace,” Kempton posited. “It is in his heart of hearts that it isn’t his fault.”

The lecture concluded with a question and answer session with both Kempton and Lerner.

Correction

Because of an editing error, the time for a lecture by Robert Bellot, special assistant to President Reagan, was listed incorrectly in yesterday’s Observer. The lecture was last week, not today as The Observer reported.

Presidential elections bid defeated in Brazil

Associated Press

BRASILIA, Brazil — The military-backed government party early this morning defeated an opposition-sponsored bill to reinstate direct presidential elections this year in Latin America’s largest country.

With a majority of the votes counted, the constitutional amendment which had broad public support, stood no chance of passage. A two-thirds majority, 520 votes, was needed. With 450 of the 492 votes counted, there were 276 votes in favor, 106 absent, 54 who voted against and three abstentions.

The vote came after a day-long debate yesterday.

The government of President Joao Figueiredo, the fifth general to lead this nation of 151 million people since a 1964 right-wing coup, plans to install a new president through an electoral-college vote next Jan. 15.

The electoral body is weighted in favor of the government’s Social Democratic Party.

The constitutional amendment debated yesterday, proposed by the center-left political opposition, called instead for direct presidential elections Nov. 15, 1984, which would probably boost the opposition Party of the Brazilian Democratic Movement.

Under the existing plan, the first direct presidential election would be in 1990. 30 years after Brazilians last voted for a president, that Figueiredo recently introduced a compromise program that would set direct elections for 1988.

Figueiredo has already declared a limited state of emergency in the Brasilia Federal District, saying he wanted to prevent “caravans of demonstrators” from “protesting Congress. Public gatherings were banned and censorship imposed on political news reports by broadcast media, and classes at two universities were suspended.

Tuesday afternoon, students occupied the main lobby of Congress for several hours. About 75 federal police troopers surrounded the building, the students left, and at one point police reportedly fired shots into the air. No injuries were reported.

The government’s broadcast regulatory agency allowed brief broadcasts on television and radio from the congressional chamber, which had been prohibited under the government’s limited state of emergency. The regulatory agency later said all transmissions must go through the censors.

The government had put a virtual blackout on all direct news on television or radio about the restrictive measures and the vote, saying all material must be reviewed first by censors.

Meanwhile, businesses closed and war medals in efforts demonstrations, calling for direct elections now.

Bard

continued from page 1

$1. All of the admission funds collected will be donated directly to the Milan’s Fund.

Featuring speakers scheduled to read include Dan Roemer at noon Thursday and, the cast of Camelot at noon Saturday. A Spanish Hamlet will be read 12-11 p.m. tomorrow.

This Shakespeare reading marathon, one of the many people hanged at Notre Dame. The first took place in 1972, and raised $13,000 for St. Marie’s Primary Day Care Center in South Bend.

To quote Shakespeare, said Rathburn, “The quality of not is strained, it is neither the gentle rain from heaven, it is what he gives and him who receives.”

Wyant Floral Co., Inc.

Invitations

Come in and Browse

327 Lincolway

232-3354

PARIS, France — The Observe.

Presidential elections bid defeated in Brazil

Associated Press

BRASILIA, Brazil — The military-backed government party early this morning defeated an opposition-sponsored bill to reinstate direct presidential elections this year in Latin America’s largest country.

With a majority of the votes counted, the constitutional amendment — which had broad public support — stood no chance of passage. A two-thirds majority, 520 votes, was needed. With 450 of the 492 votes counted, there were 276 votes in favor, 106 absent, 54 who voted against and three abstentions.

The vote came after a day-long debate yesterday.

The government of President Joao Figueiredo, the fifth general to lead this nation of 151 million people since a 1964 right-wing coup, plans to install a new president through an electoral-college vote next Jan. 15.

The electoral body is weighted in favor of the government’s Social Democratic Party.

The constitutional amendment debated yesterday, proposed by the center-left political opposition, called instead for direct presidential elections Nov. 15, 1984, which would probably boost the opposition Party of the Brazilian Democratic Movement.

Under the existing plan, the first direct presidential election would be in 1990. 30 years after Brazilians last voted for a president, that Figueiredo recently introduced a compromise program that would set direct elections for 1988.

Figueiredo has already declared a limited state of emergency in the Brasilia Federal District, saying he wanted to prevent “caravans of demonstrators” from “protesting Congress. Public gatherings were banned and censorship imposed on political news reports by broadcast media, and classes at two universities were suspended.

Tuesday afternoon, students occupied the main lobby of Congress for several hours. About 75 federal police troopers surrounded the building, the students left, and at one point police reportedly fired shots into the air. No injuries were reported.

The government’s broadcast regulatory agency allowed brief broadcasts on television and radio from the congressional chamber, which had been prohibited under the government’s limited state of emergency. The regulatory agency later said all transmissions must go through the censors.

The government had put a virtual blackout on all direct news on television or radio about the restrictive measures and the vote, saying all material must be reviewed first by censors.

Meanwhile, businesses closed and waved banners in illegal demonstrations, calling for direct elections now.
Tri-Military Presidential Review honors outstanding ROTC cadets

By ERIK HICKEY
Staff Reporter

With this year’s Reviewing Officer — University President Father Theodore Hesburgh — looking on, the Navy, Army, and Air Force ROTC Units were presented yesterday in the annual Tri-Military Presidential Review.

Also on the reviewing stand were the Commanding Officers of the ROTC Units; Captain John D. Rohrbough, USN; Lieutenant USAF. Six seniors from the three units who were to receive awards were also on the reviewing stand.

The following awards were presented to the six seniors:

- The Reverend John J. Caravagno, C.S.C. Award: cMAJ Joseph F. Trussey
- The Patrick Dixon Award: cPT Edward P. Grogran
- The Strake Foundation Award: MIDN 1c Kirk A. Shawhan
- The Reverend J. Hugh O’Donnell Award: MIDN 1c Peter Quast
- The Notre Dame Air Force Award: cCol Kerry M. Zahid
- The Noel A. Dube Memorial Award: cMAJ Kevin M. Benner

Immediately following the presentation Father Hesburgh delivered a short address, encouraging the cadets, and voicing his thoughts on the need for good leaders in our armed services. This was followed by the passing in review of the approximately 700 cadets and midshipmen, who compromise nearly 10 percent of the undergraduate student body.

Music was provided by the 74th U.S. Army Band from Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

Included in the review was a flyover by two A-10 Thunderbolt II Aircraft from the 474 Tactical Fighter Wing of Grissom Air Force Base, Ind.

Don’t Miss
The ND Student Players’

Camelot

Thursday, Friday and Saturday
THIS WEEKEND · April 26, 27 and 28
In The Bendix Theater, Century Center
8PM

Tickets are still on sale at the Record Store, Century Center, and the O’Laughlin Box Office

Buses will be provided to the Century Center for Friday’s performance!!
Sign up at the S.U. Record Store.
Tickets are going fast · Get ’em now!!

SEND MOM A SMILE!

SPECIAL!
Reg: $15.00
Now: $12.50
through April 30, 1984

A helium mylar gift balloon shipped anywhere in the continental U.S. (Colors and shapes may vary.) Price includes balloon, gift card and box, shipping and handling charges.

Saves you time and money and sends a lovely message. Fill out the information below and return to us.

SEND TO:
Name ____________________________
Address ____________________________________________
City ___________________ State ______ Zip ______

CARD TO READ FROM:
_________________________ __________________________
YOUR SIGNATURE ____________________________

CHARGE TO:
VISA = ____________________________ EXP. DATE ____________________________
MC = ____________________________ EXP. DATE ____________________________ or enclose check or money order for $12.50

Mother’s Day orders accepted through April 30.

SEND ORDER COUPON TO:
BALLOON OFFICE
206 Nickel Plate Ave.
Valparaiso, IN 46383

OR CALL: (219) 464-9950

University President Father Theodore Hesburgh, above, congratulates Midshipman 1c Kirk A. Shawhan upon his receiving the Strake Foundation Award. At right, the color guard, comprised of members from Navy, Army, and Air Force ROTC Units detached to Notre Dame executes a right flanking movement during yesterday’s Presidential Review.

WILL POWER!
April 24-29
South Quad Mall

Shakespeare Marathon Reading—100 hours!
Donations for the Milani Family Benefit Accepted
Hart looks to Utah for boost

Associated Press

Gary Hart looked yesterday to his Utah neighbors for another boost in his comeback drive in the Democratic presidential race, while front-runner Walter F. Mondale, asked supporters to shut down union-backed delegate committees that have raised tens of thousands of dollars in independent contributions.

But Mondale surprised the Colorado senator's recommendenda to "Give the money back. Walter. That's the way to solve the problem."

The Rev. Jesse Jackson, meanwhile, blasted Mondale and Hart for "perpetrating a scam on the American people" by proposing in creased spending both for defense and social programs.

Jackson leveled his charge as he and his rivals awaited the results of Utah's Democratic party caucuses at long distance.

As Hart looked to Utah to give credence to his claim to the West, the state's Democratic chairman, Patrick Shea, joined Gov. Scott Matheson yesterday in urging the state to take an uncommitted delegation to the national convention.

Twenty-two delegates were at stake in the caucuses in Peking yesterday.

Hart, trying to fashion a comeback in the second half of the campaign season, won the Vermont caucuses handily on Tuesday, although he still trails Mondale, 1,126-66 delegates to 626. Jackson has 167.2 of the 1,967 needed to win the nomination.

The next tests after Utah are primaries on Tuesday in Washington, D.C., and Tennessee, followed by party caucuses on Saturday in Texas. Jackson, campaigning in Texas, said both his rivals have called for better education and an increased commitment to social programs, as well as more spending on defense.

"They cannot have it both ways," he said. "To go in the same direction as the war mongering Reagan administration, only a bit slower, is not offering an alternative."

"It is perpetrating a scam on the American public."

Hart has filed a complaint with the Federal Election Commission charging the Mondale campaign broke the law and was using the delegate committee to circumvent spending limitations.

Mondale said, however, that it was "entirely legal and proper" for the independent committees to take contributions from political action committees, even though his formal committee campaign committee does not.

At a news conference in Chai nanaga, Texas, he said he wanted the delegate committees "terminated, period, ended" because the "clutter, undermined my capacity to make my case clearly on the issues that count."

There was no precise estimate of how much the PACs had contributed, although the committees have reported raising about $250,000 overall.

In addition, FEC records indicate that some of the staff aides laid off by Mondale's campaign have gone to work for the independent committees, which have sprouted up in several key primary states and relied heavily on contributions from PACs established by labor unions.

Mondale and his aides have insisted that the money raised and spent by the committees not count toward the $200.2 million limit the federal government has set for candidates.

Reagan commences first state visit to Red China since Nixon summit

Associated Press

PEKING - President Reagan, who spent a generation as one of the United States' harshest critics of China, landed in Peking yesterday afternoon.

Reagan and his wife, Nancy, stepped off Air Force One at 1:03 a.m. EST into a chilly, drizzly dreize to begin the first presidential visit to the Communist Peoples Republic of China since U.S.-Chinese relations were normalized in 1979.

Aboard Air Force One on the five-hour flight from Guam, the president was given a final briefing by Secretary of State George Shultz and National Security Adviser Robert C. McFarlane.

Mr. Reagan, chatting with reporters, said she was prepared. "If I'm not set now. I'll never be," she said.

Was the president ready? "Oh yes, oh yes," she said.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said the president's first meeting with Chinese head of state Li Xiannian was intended to "set the tone" of the visit. More substantive, lengthy discussions will be held Friday with Premier Zhao Ziyang.

As he stepped from the plane, Reagan waved to reporters and a few Americans from the U.S. Embassy, awaiting his arrival.

The president wore a suit and Mrs. Reagan a two-piece blue and white spring outfit, both coatless despite the unseasonably cold weather.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur Hummel went up the steps to the plane to welcome the Reagans, who then aligned to be greeted by Foreign Minister Wu Xueqian, Culture Minister Zhu Muzhi and the Chinese ambassador to Washington, Zhang Wengen.

Twelve black limousines, led by the president's own armored vehicle, and followed by Chinese-made Red Flag limousines, waited to take the entourage into the city. But when the Reagans boarded the motorcade for the 30-minute drive into Peking, they got into one of the Chinese cars bearing an American flag, leaving the American lead car as a decoy.

There they were to receive a formal welcome, including a 21-gun salute at Tiananmen Square, the largest public square in the world.

Democratic Presidential hopeful Gary Hart works out on an exercise machine before embarking on a full day of campaigning last Tuesday in Cleveland and Youngstown.

UAW official blasts policy

Associated Press

DETROIT — A United Auto Workers union official yesterday called Chrysler Corp.'s proposal to award $51.6 million in executive bonuses "a scandal and an outrage."

The automaker announced in its proxy released Monday that shareholders will decide at their June 7 meeting in New Orleans how to distribute the $51.6 million to 1,405 executives, including Chairman Lee Iacocca.

"I am deeply disappointed in the management of the North American auto companies for demonstrating such greed, given the fact that we are just now seeing some flecks of recovery from one of the deepest recessions this country has experienced," UAW vice President Mark Stepp, who heads the union's Chrysler department, said in a statement.

Stepp called the Chrysler proposal "a scandal and an outrage that give more ammunition to the enemies of the North American auto industry."

He also claimed that the "spectacle of executives feeding at the trough" would harm efforts at continued import restraints on Japanese cars.
Renovation projects to start at Saint Mary's

By KAREN THOMPSON

Renovations at Saint Mary's will be taking place in the science building and in Holy Cross and LeMans dorms during the next three years. Saint Mary's will be investing "nearly $10 million in renovating, expanding and updating our current physical plant," said Controller Jason Lindowe.

The new wing of the science building, designed by Clinton Subtrum, will provide more classrooms and lab space by adding a circular hallway with faculty offices and research space on the north side of the building.

The crucial part of the renovation—according to Lindowe—is that "there are a great deal of mechanical, heating, and ventilation materials involved." He added, "We looked for an architect who would take this into consideration, and who had previous experience in designing science buildings."

Construction on the new wing will take approximately 16 months. When the addition is finished, faculty will move into the new build- ing and renovation will begin on the existing building.

Cost for this task has been estimated at $4 million. Funds will be raised by gifts and pledges, and by selling tax-exempt bonds during construction.

Funding for the Holy Cross-LeMans remodeling will be provided by a $5.5 million College Housing Loan from the U.S. Office of Education.

The cost will cover a wide variety of renovation projects. Among these are the installation of fire alarms and smoke detectors in both dorms. In Holy Cross, an emergency light will be installed, and the fire escapes will be repaired. Plans for LeMans call for the replacement of both elevators and the completion of the two dead-end stairwells. Also to be included in the changes are renovation of the restrooms, and the addition of more electrical circuits in both Holy Cross and LeMans. The projects will honor 15 different contracts.

The target date for the start of the renovations is June 1, although some of the work will not be completed until the following summer.

What Does the Student Union Record Store Have in Store for Me

CHEAPER PRICES... same as last year's prices

MOST CURRENT SINGLES — in stock now:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>12&quot;</th>
<th>7&quot;</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>$2.98</td>
<td>$0.98</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

ALL NEW STEREO WARRANTIEs
ALL PIONEER — CRAIG JENSEN — SANYO
SANSUI — MUCH MORE
OVER $500,000 LIQUIDATION
SAVE UP TO 75%

A PUBLIC SERVICE MESSAGE FROM THE INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE

NEED HELP WITH YOUR STUDENT LOAN?

If you've attended college on a Guaranteed Student Loan or a National Direct Student Loan made after October 1, 1975, consider spending a couple of years in the Army.

If you train for certain specialties, the government will release you from ½ of your indebtedness (or $1,500, whichever is greater) for each year of active duty.

Obviously, a three year enlistment cancels 100 percent of your debt. But if you sign up for the Army's exclusive two-year enlistment option, we'll still cancel 2/3 of your debt.

Plus, you may be eligible for generous educational incentives.

To find out how to serve your country and get out of debt, call the number below.

SGT Jones 234-4187

Call Collect

ARMY. BE ALL YOU CAN BE.
Viewpoint

Trying to argue on an empty stomach

He was a nice, rotten old columnist. Sincere in his belief. Continued to his cause. Convinced he was a victim of injustice. And he was asking for my help.

So it was easy, almost painless, for me to reject him; to tell him that though I respected asking for my help.

Keith Picher

Profundity's demise

him for having the courage to take a stand, I couldn't really give a damn.

Our conversation didn't really go like this, because I jinxed it for my column.

"Keith, this is Mike Royko. I'd like your help. You've probably read my columns."

"No, I don't recall. Who are you?"

I'm a world famous syndicated columnist who writes for the Chicago Tribune, now that the Alien runs the Sun Times.

"Come to think of it, I have read your work - you're the sarcastic guy who always whines about how everything is with your cutey style."

That's right, but I do pay a little attention to issues.

"Maybe, but you always make the most noise about targets."

Anyway, Keith, some of my colleagues are demanding that I have my columns on facts, but my bosses are being unjust and exceeding their authority. I hoped you would write something in The Observer to help me."

"I'm touched and flattered by your plea, but I have to decline.

"What reason?"

"Throwing up."

"You heard me. Throwing up."

"Do you really mean what does that mean?"

"You don't know what throwing up means!

"Well sure, but I don't understand what you're trying to say."

That's twice of us. Half the time I don't know what you're trying to say. Anyway, after I read your April 20 column on Notre Dame and alcohol I threw up."

"Are you sure it wasn't something you ate?"

"Let me tell you something, Mike, this is a serious issue. Every time I read your column I throw up."

"But I don't throw up."

"Don't give me that. In a recent survey, four out of five dentists surveyed preferred Trident for their patients who chew sugarless gum."

Keith, I find that hard to believe as 'yea' well here are some more stats. After an independent sampling of 2,673 Notre Dame students was forced to read your columns on alcohol, throwing-up increased 1,705 percent.

"Keith, I find those figures incredible."

"Reality. When we took your columns away, the incidents were reduced by 96.5 percent. Thank goodness."

"But I'm not talking about Notre Dame, I'm talking about throwing-up."

"I don't care if you like throwing up. You, after a student called to tell you that the Notre Dame protests were over more than just getting drunk, you declined to listen. You figured you knew everything about Notre Dame based on the media coverage you'd seen."

"Now don't appeal to any sense of fairness."

"I'm not, I'm just appealing to common sense in journalism. When our student body president called and offered to explain what the protest was all about, you treated him coldly, the way I hear you treat most people. You'd already written your column, and you didn't want to be bothered by the facts."

"Keith, I expect you are guilty of hypocrisy."

"It's a good thing I wear contact lenses or I'd throw up on you for saying that. In what way am I not being hypocritical?"

"Can you honestly say that you research everything you write?"

"No, but try to. So what?"

"Then how can you oppose my doing the same thing all the time?"

Because you're not a student, thousands more people read your column and you get paid a hell of a lot more than me."

"No?"

"Also don't like to throw up on the steak, like you."

A student perspective on dining hall work

"Lettuce serve you" — a phrase known and loved by every true Notre Dame student, with the possible exception of that peculiar person: the dining hall worker.

As a student employee at North Dining Hall, I am well acquainted with serving the student population, and with all the minor irritations and grievances associated with the job. How often have you thought about what goes on behind the scenes (not counting the many times you've wondered just what makes the gravy its peculiar yellow hue?)

People have many misconceptions about student workers. Probably the most common of these misguided maxims is the belief that the student who serves the food has also cooked the entire meal, and therefore deserves to be told in a menacing tone that the Hungarian Noodle Bake actually contains foreign elements, or that the Roast Beef au jus is full of hair.

I have learned how to flip glasses into the lunchtime rush hour, managing to knock unappetizing entrees into a pyramid that glides perfectly along the conveyor belt until it crumbles with a shattering crash. As a more English major, I could not profess to discover the answers to these idiosyncratic quandaries, but I would love to see the psychological secrets such a study would reveal.

Well, there it is — the harangue of a student dining hall worker. Try to remember the next time you feel the urge to shred your napkin as if North Dining Hall were the Pentagon, or to inquire as to the edibility of an obviously unappetizing entree. Make my day!

Editor's Note: On Monday, April 26, Viewpoint will focus on the role of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps on a Catholic campus such as Notre Dame. This is a very important and provocative issue. Viewpoint is soliciting guest opinions on the positive aspects that ROTC may play at a Catholic university. If interested please phone The Observer at 239-5303 and ask to speak to the Viewpoint department. Thank you.

The Observer

P.O. Box 45, Notre Dame, IN 46556
(219) 239-5303

The Observer is the independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame du Lac and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administration of either institution. The Observer is printed as accurately and as objectively as possible. Unsigned editorials represent the opinion of a majority of the Editorial Board. Comments, letters and the Inside Column present the views of their authors. Column space is available to all members of the community, and the free expression of varying opinions on campus, through letters, is encouraged.

Editorial Board

Editor-in-Chief
Bob Vanderheide
Managing Editor
Mark Worscich
Executive Editor
Margaret Fosmo
News Editor
Sarah Hamilton
Editor
Kateh
News Editor
Dan McCullough
Assistant News Editors
Anne Monastyrski
Sports Editor
Michael Sullivan
Viewpoint Editor
Dave Grote
Features Editor
Mary Healy
Photo Editor
Pete Laches

Viewpoint

A student perspective on dining hall work

There are a few benefits to working in one of our fine eating establishments. For instance, I have learned how to flip glasses into the green racks, with my personal record standing at two simultaneous triple flips. I have also enhanced my meager knowledge of physics by studying the napkins which ride by on the mornings of departmental exams, covered with blackened ink from CTV. Most importantly, my driving skills have measurably improved by the fast maneuvering of tray-laden carts through the dining rooms at the lunchtime rush hour, managing to knock unappetizing entrees into a paste so thick it has to be sandblasted off the bowl. Why do people construct monuments to their architectural genius by stacking ten glasses into a pyramid that glides perfectly along the conveyor belt until it crumbles with a shattering crash? As a more English major, I could not profess to discover the answers to these idiosyncratic quandaries, but I would love to see the psychological secrets such a study would reveal.

Well, there it is — the harangue of a student dining hall worker. Try to remember the next time you feel the urge to shred your napkin as if North Dining Hall were the Pentagon, or to inquire as to the edibility of an obviously unappetizing entree. Make my day!

Editorial Board

Editor-in-Chief
Bob Vanderheide
Managing Editor
Mark Worscich
Executive Editor
Margaret Fosmo
News Editor
Sarah Hamilton
Editor
Kateh
News Editor
Dan McCullough
Assistant News Editors
Anne Monastyrski
Sports Editor
Michael Sullivan
Viewpoint Editor
Dave Grote
Features Editor
Mary Healy
Photo Editor
Pete Laches

Department Managers

Business Manager
Dave Tactel
Circulation Manager
Jonathan Horn
Ad Manager
Jennie Poole
News Manager
Jeff O'Neill
Systems Manager
Kevin Williams

Founded November 3, 1966
An opportunity to set the record straight

Dear Editor:

Recently, I read an article in the Chicago Tribune about Notre Dame students. I was very disappointed to see Dean Roemer quoted as saying, "It's a reflection of students today that they would demonize alcohol in head of nuclear war or hunger issues".

First, the administration does seem to realize the recent protests are aimed at the poor quality of social life as much as the new alcohol policy. The students tried to reason with the administration through representation on the Committee, yet this representation has had no effect.

It was only after this approach failed that students realized that this university might cause the administration to re-examine a poor policy.

Perhaps Roemer is unaware that students today are more concerned with where their next meal comes from than the social problems of today.

Perhaps Dean Roemer is unaware that one of the most popular courses on the college level is "The Nuclear Dilemma." Does he know of the many Notre Dame students who are currently part of the recent CROP walk to raise money for the hungry? How about student volunteers at the Notre Dame Soup Kitchen and the recent Mock Convention? More than 500 students spent a day discussing issues ranging from abortion to nuclear power.

Unfortunately, direct, constructive, and realistic approaches to these various problems do not merit the attention of the media. But these approaches do accomplish more than any public demonstrations could accomplish.

True there is much more each student can do. But the College is the place where students are supposedly in touch with today's social issues. Contrary to what the Newswatch article implied, I was actively involved Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students who are trying to understand the alcohol problem and deal with it in an intelligent manner.

Paul Komprie
Junior

F.O. Box Q

Dear Editor:

In the 60's and 70's, when the horrible situation in Vietnam was taking place, the demonstrations on the Notre Dame campus under the world headlines of the national newspapers. It took here taking away from our students in the 80s to give Notre Dame its much wanted national prestige.

Student Body President Rob Bertino, who seems rather intoxicated with his position concerning this issue, was quoted in the April 18 issue of The Observer, promising national magazine coverage for this Friday's rally.

Well, good for - it is very patriotic of you. Unfortunately, Bertino's statement is just one more example of the mixed up value system here at Notre Dame and Saint Mary's.

As men and women indoctrinated in Christian beliefs and ideals, we should channel our anger toward real injustice, we should give more attention to social justice issues rather than where our next cup of coffee comes from.

If Newswatch and Time arrive on Friday as Bertino hopes, they will witness well educated young Catholics arguing for an alcohol policy with their "social" problems.

Denying education

Dear Editor:

I would like to relate some of my feelings of frustration and anger concerning university administration. I am a Sophomore speaking about courses supposedly available for Arts & Letters students in the A.L.P.A. Program. They are just some of the level business courses because of a lack of space. Since this University boasts about its small class size, why are there several hundred other students, feel that the administration should do everything in their power to provide the courses that so many students want.

I must understand that an Arts and Letters student who has also had the opportunity to take business courses, has a much better chance of getting a job after graduation.

After paying close to $1000 each year, I don't feel like coming out in Osbaugh just to get a class. (I'd rather pitch a tent in D-W with the Business majors protesting the Alcohol Policy).

The College of Arts & Letters agrees with this standpoint, but contends that it is the responsibility of the College that is the problem. After several meetings with my professor, he told me that there were at least five spots left in a few of the Business classes, and that I should go to the Associate Dean, Vince Roemer for help. After a brief and very disjointed conversation with the dean, I can see why the problem lies with the Business College. The situation lasted no more than forty-five seconds.

If I went in to his office, he told me to give him some background. I repeated to him what my advisor had told me, and in midsentence, he cut me off, saying, "End of conversation."

He would not give me an appointment and repeatedly stopped me from asking any comments. Furthermore, I as approached the door, he told me to "Go and get an education." It is this kind of attitude that prevents hundreds of students from taking classes in the business field and expanding their practical education. Mr. Raymond is the most rude and inconsiderate person that I have met on this campus, totally unbecoming of a representative of this university.

I feel that the Administration should step in and bridge this communication gap between the colleges of Arts & Letters and Business.

Perhaps people like Raymond would not be able to teach if they took a serious course to advise and get a real education. I could recommend several Arts & Letters courses that would improve his communication skills and teach him some common courtesies. But he has no clue what is going on in the business world. I would like to inform the College of Arts & Letters, the courses are probably closed to Business majors.

Kevin G. Flynn
Sophomore

Guitierrez assessment

Dear Editor:

I would like to tell you about one of my favorite courses of this year. I am a Junior. I have taken two law courses in the College of Arts & Letters and a level course in Business.

I would like to relate some of my feelings of frustration and anger concerning university administration. I am a Sophomore speaking about courses supposedly available for Arts & Letters students in the A.L.P.A. Program. They are just some of the level business courses because of a lack of space. Since this University boasts about its small class size, why are there several hundred other students, feel that the administration should do everything in their power to provide the courses that so many students want.

I must understand that an Arts and Letters student who has also had the opportunity to take business courses, has a much better chance of getting a job after graduation.

After paying close to $1000 each year, I don't feel like coming out in Osbaugh just to get a class. (I'd rather pitch a tent in D-W with the Business majors protesting the Alcohol Policy).

The College of Arts & Letters agrees with this standpoint, but contends that it is the responsibility of the College that is the problem. After several meetings with my professor, he told me that there were at least five spots left in a few of the Business classes, and that I should go to the Associate Dean, Vince Roemer for help. After a brief and very disjointed conversation with the dean, I can see why the problem lies with the Business College. The situation lasted no more than forty-five seconds.

If I went in to his office, he told me to give him some background. I repeated to him what my advisor had told me, and in midsentence, he cut me off, saying, "End of conversation."

He would not give me an appointment and repeatedly stopped me from asking any comments. Furthermore, I as approached the door, he told me to "Go and get an education." It is this kind of attitude that prevents hundreds of students from taking classes in the business field and expanding their practical education. Mr. Raymond is the most rude and inconsiderate person that I have met on this campus, totally unbecoming of a representative of this university.

I feel that the Administration should step in and bridge this communication gap between the colleges of Arts & Letters and Business.

Perhaps people like Raymond would not be able to teach if they took a serious course to advise and get a real education. I could recommend several Arts & Letters courses that would improve his communication skills and teach him some common courtesies. But he has no clue what is going on in the business world. I would like to inform the College of Arts & Letters, the courses are probably closed to Business majors.

Kevin G. Flynn
Sophomore

Show some decorum

Dear Editor:

Student overreaction to the alcohol policy simply provided the University with more ammunition to prove its case. We have heard it all before, no matter how much we were laughed at or ridiculed, no matter how many of us change our minds, we will not abandon our cause.

This Friday, national attention will be focused on the Notre Dame student body. Banners are sure to show up on network television, unruly students pictures will be transmitted over the wire services.

If "we N.D." we owe it to ourselves to act accordingly and not need act in such tools to prove our point.

Kevin Ryan
Senior
Sports Briefs

The Weighlifting Club will sponsor a bench press and squat competition Saturday, May 5, at 5 p.m. There will be men's and women's weight classes and medals will be awarded to first through third places in each class. The meet is open to everyone, including non-athletes, and will be held in the Smith-Nolan weight room on the first floor of the O'Neill Student Center. A fee of $2 will be charged. — The Observer

The College of Science Dean's 7K run will be held this Saturday, April 28, at 9:30 a.m. Registration is at 9 a.m. at Stepan Center, and a $2 fee for charity is requested. For information, call Chris at 879-0560. — The Observer

A putt-punt golf tournament is being held this Sunday by N.Y. U. and a partner can run by calling NYU at 250-6100. Transportation to and from the course will be provided free, leaving the library circle at 4 p.m. The golf will be offered at discount rates. — The Observer

A table tennis club is being started on campus. If interested, please attend a meeting at the LaFortune Little Theatre today at 4:30 or call Ted Pfrrie at 1988. — The Observer

The An Tostal 5K Charity Run will be held this Saturday, April 28, at 9:30 a.m. Registration is at 9 a.m. at Stepan Center, and a $2 fee for charity is requested. For information, call Chris at 879-0560. — The Observer

The new swimming pool made a humble beginning yesterday as ground was broken behind the ACC. Elbee Architect will continue work with the swimming pool, and completion is scheduled for August 1985. — The Observer

The SMC Tennis Team defeated IPFW Friday 5-1 yesterday. Mary Carol Hall, Caroline Zem and Heather Tenofeev reached matches in singles matches. Heather Dennis, Laciee and Zem teamed with Tenofeev to register wins in doubles action. — The Observer

The SMC Track Team placed third out of four teams at Taylor yesterday. The 1600-meter relay team of Anne Bianco, Trish McPartin, Teres and Mary Lunneen placed first in the new school record with a time of 4:33. Other places were: Lane, first in the 400 meters and second in the 800 meters, and Daniels, high jump, and Davis, high jump second in the discus. — The Observer

The Annual Blue-Gold Game will be played in Notre Dame Stadium this Saturday, April 28, at 1 p.m. Notre Dame and Saint Mary's Students will be admitted free with ID at gate 15 only. — The Observer

St. Joe Athletic Club's entry into the michieamateur baseball league is seeking for its summer baseball team. Anyone interested should call (219) 378-9394. — The Observer

The Observer Notre Dame office located on the third floor of Lafortune Student Center. accepts classified advertising from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. The Observer Notre Dame office located on the third floor of Hibling College Center, accepts classified ads on Tuesday and Thursday. Deadline for next-day classifieds is 5 p.m. All classifieds must be prepaid, either in person or by mail. Charge is 20 cents per word per character.

Thursday, April 26, 1984 - page 10

Big Ten votes in shot clock

Associated Press

CHICAGO — The Big Ten Conference on Wednesday voted to use a 45-second rest between all shots and a 35-second rest after field goals. The conference also scheduled play in January 1985. Acting on the recommendation of the conference's basketball coaches, the Big Ten athletic directors approved the measure at their regular scheduled meeting Monday. The conference also scheduled play in the fall season 1984. The conference also scheduled play in the November 1984. The conference also scheduled play in the November
Baseball

continued from page 16

fourth inning and three in the fifth. The five runs was not enough as the Crusaders tied up the game at 5-5 with three runs in the sixth inning. With the bases loaded, Dobosh’s loss dropped his record to 2-4, and Soos led the Irish offensive threat with three singles, two runs scored, and two RBI’s.

In the second contest, five errors by Notre Dame scored twice in the top of the sixth, and the Irish scored once in the fifth, and one in the sixth to take the 2-4 mark in the MCC, the Irish simply could not get over the .500 level.

EXCITEMENT?

It would have been nice to get a 5-3 victory, but two pickoffs killed the rally and with three runners on base, “We were unable to score once,” said Conlin.

“It’s a crucial series, because it’s a conference rival Butler. On Saturday, the Irish face the Bulldogs at a doubleheader at Lake Kline Field starting at 12:00. On Sunday both teams travel to Indianapolis for another swing at Butler’s field.

“It’s a crucial series, because it’s a conference series,” said Gallo.

...
Seasons may meet and coaches evaluate progress in Irish spring workouts

By THERON ROBERTS

With practice nearing its completion for the football year and the Blue-Gold game fast approaching, the Notre Dame coaching staff is taking a look back on spring workouts to evaluate the team's progress.

Offensive coordinator Ron Hudson and defensive coordinator Andy Christoff are pleased with what they have seen and believe that their respective units have accomplished the goals they set forth at the beginning of the spring.

With some starters returning on offense in the fall, Hudson has what seems to be an enticing position getting ready for spring drills before they started five weeks ago.

Some were some concerns about the offensive unit dealing with depth that needed to be addressed. Hudson also wanted to experiment with some different alignment and insert additional plays into the offensive arsenal.

Even though there was some experimentation of ways things, a major goal for Hudson's unit was to become more proficient in the fundamental.

"Our offense is fundamentally sound, but there's a lot of things that we looked at," says Hudson.

"We are very pleased with the team's progress, especially the young line." Hudson notes many things have been accomplished during the spring.

"We got Allen Pinkett to catch the ball better — we ran him on Pat patterns even though he didn't rush the ball much, we found that we had two very competent backup tailbacks in Alonzo Jefferson and Hiawatha Francisco, before he (Francisco) got a chance to play defense."

"We were also really happy with what we saw at quarterback." Hudson continues. "Steve was more proficient at picking up secondary receivers, and Scott Grooms established himself as our backup."

Defense was an important issue during spring practice, especially on the offensive line. That uncertainty was settled somewhat with the emergence of some new faces to take the second-team positions on the depth charts.

"We found good, young backup players for our offensive line," notes Hudson. "We had the first team pretty much locked down, but we were a little concerned about backups.

"Joek Askin, Rubbie Finnegar, Manny Roddy, Jerry Jeinile and Sean Heflin are the people that figure to be on call in case of an injury. Ron Plantz and Tom Doerger continue to battle for the tackle spot position.

"We feel confident that if one of the players went down that those guys behind them could show that they are real competitors," Hudson says.

The depth charts may be more complete than at the outset of spring practice, but lack of game experience is always a concern to a coach who has to use young players.

"Lack of experience is something that teams contend with every spring," explains Hudson. "Even though we are young in some positions, we feel good about how we stand.

"In addition to completing the depth charts, the offensive unit also has done a lot of experimenting with different formations and put in a few more plays. Since the basic offensive structure will carry over from last season."

"If we take a look at a lot of different things, such as based passes and using false keys to direct the defense," Hudson says. "We also tried incorporating the flanker into option plays and putting him in motion to keep things moving."

Overall, Hudson was pleased with the progress that he saw during the spring.

"From the standpoint of meeting specific goals, we feel we accomplished a great deal."

"We are pleased and excited to see that the sun is out finally," comments Hudson. "That is one objective that we did not accomplish this spring."

The picture for Christoff is not as bright as it is for his offensive counterpart, but the Irish defensive coordinator is pleased with the improvement of some individuals.

"Our major goals were to become more fundamentally sound, to try to improve our squad's team concept and mental toughness," says Christoff. "In those aspects, I think we improved."

"We got Allen Pinkett to catch the ball better — we ran him on Pat patterns even though he didn't rush the ball much, we found that we had two very competent backup tailbacks in Alonzo Jefferson and Hiawatha Francisco, before he (Francisco) got a chance to play defense."

"We were also really happy with what we saw at quarterback." Hudson continues. "Steve was more proficient at picking up secondary receivers, and Scott Grooms established himself as our backup."

"Joek Askin, Rubbie Finnegar, Manny Roddy, Jerry Jeinile and Sean Heflin are the people that figure to be on call in case of an injury. Ron Plantz and Tom Doerger continue to battle for the tackle spot position.

"We feel confident that if one of the players went down that those guys behind them could show that they are real competitors," Hudson says.

The most important achievement according to Christoff is the attitude of the players. "Our players know that unless they are ready to play for us in game situations, we've made great improvement in the secondary, because of the heavy losses suffered due to graduation.

Some personnel changes have occurred in the search for the best players to fill the open positions in the secondary, and Christoff wants to find five or six players who can rely on in the secondary."

The learning has been a slow one for Christoff's taking. "Mentally, they aren't where I wanted them to be as far as letting their mistakes affect them, but I've liked their eagerness to learn and their physical toughness."

"At the present time, I think that we've made great improvement in the secondary," Christoff continues. "There are players that we can count on to play for us in game situations, and at the start of the spring we couldn't count on those individuals."

The players in contention for the starting positions are linebacker Pat Ballage, Mike Haywood, an offensive convert and Troy Wilson. At safety it looks like James Bobb and Steve Lawrence, who has been hobbled with an injury incurred in bookstore action, are battling for a position alongside Joe Johnson.

"We'll have depth in the secondary in the fall, but the thing we will be lacking is experience," Christoff states. "There's no way to combat that except by playing them."

The defensive unit was involved in a lot of hitting, probably more than that is typical for spring practice. But that was needed, according to Christoff.

"We did a lot of hitting, and as far as experiencing game situations that's the way to get more experience. If you're not given the opportunity, you don't get better at it."

Christoff did a lot of position switching in order to get his best eleven players on the field. Mike Larkin was moved to outside linebacker in order to get to be able to have Mike Kovalcik on the first team also.

"We feel that almost all the changes in positions we had on defense were very productive. That was so we could get the best eleven players on the field. Now we're watching players around to get the next best eleven there."

"The most important achievement according to Christoff is the attitude adjustment. "Our players know that one has to do his job for a defense to be successful, rather than looking at what they are doing."

With goals achieved, and the hope of a good Blue-Gold contest, the Notre Dame football team hopes to have a positive outlook for the 1984 season.
Suffers letdown

Women's tennis team drops two

By MARY SIEGER
Sports Writer

It was a disappointing Easter break for the Notre Dame women's tennis team as the Irish lost to Denison at Northwestern University on Tuesday, 9-0, and dropped an important match, 6-3, to Morehead State University last week.

Tuesday's loss to top ranked Northwestern was not surprising to Notre Dame head coach Sharon Petro. "Northwestern is the toughest team on our schedule," explained Petro. "I would have been happy with two victories."

The contest against the Wildcats was closer than the final 9-0 score indicated, as the Irish sent four matches to three sets with Northwestern.

Mary Colligan, at number three singles, and Joanne Bihoro, at number six singles, both split sets with their Wildcat opponents, while the doubles teams of Colligan and Pam Fischette and Susan Panitch and Laura Lee also gave Northwestern a run for its money.

"I'm surprised we didn't pull off some of those three sets," said Irish co-captain Greta Roemer. "But some people were down going into the match and it was a big factor."

Pam Fischette and Mary Colligan grabbed 14 rebounds to lead his team in both categories. Phil Wolf reviews yesterday's games on the back page.

Lax

continued from page 16

surf. By the time the visitors could cut the lead to one again, there were only two seconds left on the clock.

Once again, attackmen Bob Trocchi and Joe Franklin led the Notre Dame scoring attack. Scoring leader Trocchi had three goals and three assists, while Franklin added three goals and one assist. They received help from midfielders Tom Greene and Quin, who combined for three goals and two assists.

The high final score was somewhat deceptive. Although the Irish scored more than 10 goals for only the third time all season, they played two quarters — the second and fourth — with a stingy defense led by goalie Bob Simpson who stopped 21 Denison shots. In fact, 18 of the 23 goals in the game were scored in the first and third quarters.

goals and two assists. They received help from midfielders Tom Greene and Quin, who combined for three goals and two assists.

The final score was somewhat deceptive. Although the Irish topped the tanks more than 10 goals for only the third time all season, they played two quarters — the second and fourth — with a stingy defense led by goalie Bob Simpson who stopped 21 Denison shots. In fact, 18 of the 23 goals in the game were scored in the first and third quarters.

The first and third quarters, because they came at the start and after intermission, tend not to be settled, so there's usually a little more offense," explained O'Keary. "After a while, the defense can make adjustments."

They scored more off our middles than off our defense during the first and third quarters, but then things will work out in the long run," said Petro.

The Notre Dame women's tennis team loses two matches as long as we play the game on the season," said Petro. "I hope the players haven't given up either."

The first and third quarters, because they came at the start and after intermission, tend not to be settled, so there's usually a little more offense," explained O'Keary. "After a while, the defense can make adjustments."

They scored more off our middles than off our defense during the first and third quarters, but then things will work out in the long run," said Petro. "I hope the players haven't given up either."

The Notre Dame win changes the conference picture tremendously. Denison and Ohio Wesleyan had been tied for first with undefeated records, with the Irish one game behind. With the win, Notre Dame improved its conference mark to 6-1 (.750), putting the Irish in a game behind Ohio Wesleyan which has to play Denison in the final game of the season. A Denison win could give Notre Dame a shot at the title.

Lack of a true interested in sports.

The Observer needs writers to cover spring and fall sports. Though some experience is nice, all that's needed is a true interest in sports.

Call Mike Sullivan at 239-5030, or stop by the office, 3rd Floor LaFortune for more information.

The Observer
Many close games highlight action

Associated Press

Mets 2, Expo's 1
MONTREAL — George Foster’s single scored Keith Hernandez from second base to give the New York Mets a 2-1 extra-innings victory over Montreal, snapping the Expo’s four-game winning streak.

Reliever George Harnie retired the first two batters in the 11th before Hernandez doubled into the right-center gap. Foster followed by singling sharply through the left side.

Jose Orosco, 2.6, pitched two scoreless innings to pick up the win.

Gerrit Verdoef, 4, also pitched two scoreless innings to earn his fourth save of the season.

Blue Jays 11, A's 0
TORONTO — Jose Barfield drove in four runs to back the four-hitter of Dennis Martinez as the Blue Jays routed the A’s.

The Blue Jays, who had 17 hits, put the game away in the seventh, giving up just three hits.

Dodgers 4, Astros 2
LOS ANGELES — Fernando Valenzuela fired a three-hitter, taking a no-hitter into the seventh inning, and Terry Whitfield drove in three runs, two with a homer, as the Los Angeles Dodgers posted their fourth straight victory, beating Houston 4-2.

Valenzuela, 2-2, lost his hit bid when Enoa Gaithlin lined a clean single to left with one out in the seventh. The only other hits were a one-out single in the eighth by Tim Tolman and a two-out single in the same inning by Kevin Bass to ruin the shutout, following a throwing error by Steve Sax.

The Red Sox took a 1-0 lead in the fourth when Van Matre doubled in a sacrifice fly and Mike Epstein scored on a single by Van Slyke. The final run of the game came when Ozzie Smith grounded into a double play in the ninth.

Bruce Sutter worked the ninth inning for his fifth save.

Phillies 8, Pirates 7
PHILADELPHIA — Mike Schmidt’s two-run double, and Edon Wilson’s tie-breaking single, climaxing a five-run sixth inning that carried the Philadelphia Phillies to an 8-7 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Reliever Tug McGraw, 1-0, gained the victory by giving up just three hits.

Steve Busch followed with a pitch-in, single, chasing a pinch-hitter from Dick Butkus, 3-0. Jimmie Smith greeted Rich Bordi with a home run and scored on a single by Lee Lacy.

A.I.S. Shipping and Packaging
You wrap or we wrap
3617 Mishawaka Ave. Mishawaka at Logan
Mon. - Fri. 8:30 - 5:00
We Ship Exclusively UPS

Thursday Night Special
3 - 8PM Mixed Drinks 2 for 1
Corby Open Golf Tourney - Tee times at Corby's

Super Sale
Stereo Liquidation

Pioneer, Sanyo, Sansui, Jensen, Craig, and much, much more.

Major distribution outlet to liquidate to the walls regardless of cost.

Sale run furhnnalies receve, speakers, equalizers, car audio and more.

Over 500,000 Retail Savings to 75 percent

Phone: 800-555-5555

University Park Mall and Concord & Pierre Moran Malls
Elkhart

15% Discount not including sale items.

N.D. - S.M.C.

Students

DIRECT DIAMOND IMPORTERS

TOMORROW NIGHT 7:30 P.M.
Notre Dame A.C.C.
All Seats Reserved $12.50
Tickets on sale at the A.C.C. Office, Boxe, South Bend, (219) 254-4141. Richard’s (South Bend, Town and Country and Concord Mall), /Van Winkle’s Music Shop (LaPorte) and Notre Dame Bank (LaPorte). World Record (Elkhart), Magic Music (Benton Harbor) and Karma Records (Ply, Wayne).
Clementz shines
Irish diamondmen improve record

By ERIC SCHUEERMANN
Sports Writer

A busy schedule of games over Easter break changed nothing for the Notre Dame baseball team. The Irish continue to play inconsistently and are struggling to reach the 500 mark.

After a string of eight games in which the team went 5-3, the Irish now stand 17-18. The team's record in the Midwestern City Conference is 2-3.

The Irish started the string of games with a doubleheader last Wednesday at Purdue. An errorless first game by Notre Dame led to a 4-1 victory. Captain Carl Vanouy led the Irish with two hits, including a solo homer in fourth inning, and drove in two runs. Buster Lopes pitched a fine game, allowing only four hits. He improved his record to 5-2.

In the second contest, Notre Dame jumped out to a 10-1 lead in the first, but the Boilermakers quickly came back again Irish starter Mark Clementz. After six innings, Purdue led 5-2.

Notre Dame took the lead back in the seventh inning, scoring two runs on an error and a sacrifice fly by Mike Mezler. Irish hopes were crushed when Purdue came back with two doubles and a single off reliever Joe Dobosh. Two runs came in, giving the Boiler makers a 5-4 win.

The Irish returned with a 15-16 record to the friendly confines of John Lue's Field for a crucial series against conference foe Detroit.

In the opener of a doubleheader on Saturday, the Irish suffered a 7-4 loss. Detroit scored three times in the first and once in the second off Irish starter Lopes. Reliever Dobosh fared no better, allowing three more runs to score in the fourth.

A sterling pitching performance by Clementz in the second contest led Notre Dame to a 1-0 victory. Mark pitched a great game in the nightcap—commented Irish Head Coach Larry Gaffo on the son's superb performance.

Clementz held the Titans to only three hits over eight innings, but the Irish could not hit Detroit starter Bob Martin until Mike Dorning singled home the game's only run in the eighth. The Irish started their scoring in the ninth inning.

Still struggling to climb over the .500 mark, the Irish faced Valparaiso in a doubleheader on Tuesday. In a pair of close games, Notre Dame swept the Crusaders by scores of 9-5 and 8-7.

The Irish pounded Valparaiso pitching for 11 hits in the first game, managing to score two runs in the first. Their pitching dominated four hits, but each had great success in the offensive contest of 20 off Notre Dame's 25 field goals. The offensive effort seemed to be on a real roll coming into the game, but our guys played a great second half.

Ironically, it was a strong third quarter, in which Notre Dame out scored the visitors, 6-4, that turned the game toward the Irish. In the past, poor play in the third quarter has taken them out of games. However, in yesterday's game, Notre Dame rebounded from a two goal deficit to score six goals in barely over six minutes. The ex pense was allowing the Irish to win a lead that they never relinquished.

Notre Dame's ability to win faceoffs proved to be quite valuable throughout the game. Midfielders Mike Quinn and Bob Carillo split the faceoff duties, but each had great success in the offensive contest. All of our offensive efforts, from the field, were led by forward Rob O'Shea. "We've come close to them many times, but our guys played a great game, allowing only four hits. He improved his record to 5-2.

In the second contest, Notre Dame jumped out to a 10-1 lead in the first, but the Boilermakers quickly came back against Irish starter Mark Clementz. After six innings, Purdue led 5-2.

Notre Dame took the lead back in the seventh inning, scoring two runs on an error and a sacrifice fly by Mike Mezler. Irish hopes were crushed when Purdue came back with two doubles and a single off reliever Joe Dobosh. Two runs came in, giving the Boiler makers a 5-4 win.

The Irish returned with a 15-16 record to the friendly confines of John Lue's Field for a crucial series against conference foe Detroit.

In the opener of a doubleheader on Saturday, the Irish suffered a 7-4 loss. Detroit scored three times in the first and once in the second off Irish starter Lopes. Reliever Dobosh fared no better, allowing three more runs to score in the fourth.

A sterling pitching performance by Clementz in the second contest led Notre Dame to a 1-0 victory. Mark pitched a great game in the nightcap—commented Irish Head Coach Larry Gaffo on the son's superb performance.

Clementz held the Titans to only three hits over eight innings, but the Irish could not hit Detroit starter Bob Martin until Mike Dorning singled home the game's only run in the eighth. The Irish started their scoring in the ninth inning.

Still struggling to climb over the .500 mark, the Irish faced Valparaiso in a doubleheader on Tuesday. In a pair of close games, Notre Dame swept the Crusaders by scores of 9-5 and 8-7.

The Irish pounded Valparaiso pitching for 11 hits in the first game, managing to score two runs in the first. Their pitching dominated four hits, but each had great success in the offensive contest of 20 off Notre Dame's 25 field goals. The offensive effort seemed to be on a real roll coming into the game, but our guys played a great second half.

Ironically, it was a strong third quarter, in which Notre Dame out scored the visitors, 6-4, that turned the game toward the Irish. In the past, poor play in the third quarter has taken them out of games. However, in yesterday's game, Notre Dame rebounded from a two goal deficit to score six goals in barely over six minutes. The ex pense was allowing the Irish to win a lead that they never relinquished.

Notre Dame's ability to win faceoffs proved to be quite valuable throughout the game. Midfielders Mike Quinn and Bob Carillo split the faceoff duties, but each had great success in the offensive contest. All of our offensive efforts, from the field, were led by forward Rob O'Shea. "We've come close to them many times, but our guys played a great game, allowing only four hits. He improved his record to 5-2.

In the second contest, Notre Dame jumped out to a 10-1 lead in the first, but the Boilermakers quickly came back against Irish starter Mark Clementz. After six innings, Purdue led 5-2.

Notre Dame took the lead back in the seventh inning, scoring two runs on an error and a sacrifice fly by Mike Mezler. Irish hopes were crushed when Purdue came back with two doubles and a single off reliever Joe Dobosh. Two runs came in, giving the Boiler makers a 5-4 win.

The Irish returned with a 15-16 record to the friendly confines of John Lue's Field for a crucial series against conference foe Detroit.

In the opener of a doubleheader on Saturday, the Irish suffered a 7-4 loss. Detroit scored three times in the first and once in the second off Irish starter Lopes. Reliever Dobosh fared no better, allowing three more runs to score in the fourth.

A sterling pitching performance by Clementz in the second contest led Notre Dame to a 1-0 victory. Mark pitched a great game in the nightcap—commented Irish Head Coach Larry Gaffo on the son's superb performance.

Clementz held the Titans to only three hits over eight innings, but the Irish could not hit Detroit starter Bob Martin until Mike Dorning singled home the game's only run in the eighth. The Irish started their scoring in the ninth inning.

Still struggling to climb over the .500 mark, the Irish faced Valparaiso in a doubleheader on Tuesday. In a pair of close games, Notre Dame swept the Crusaders by scores of 9-5 and 8-7.

The Irish pounded Valparaiso pitching for 11 hits in the first game, managing to score two runs in the first. Their pitching dominated four hits, but each had great success in the offensive contest of 20 off Notre Dame's 25 field goals. The offensive effort seemed to be on a real roll coming into the game, but our guys played a great second half.

Ironically, it was a strong third quarter, in which Notre Dame out scored the visitors, 6-4, that turned the game toward the Irish. In the past, poor play in the third quarter has taken them out of games. However, in yesterday's game, Notre Dame rebounded from a two goal deficit to score six goals in barely over six minutes. The ex expense was allowing the Irish to win a lead that they never relinquished.

Notre Dame's ability to win faceoffs proved to be quite valuable throughout the game. Midfielders Mike Quinn and Bob Carillo split the faceoff duties, but each had great success in the offensive contest. All of our offensive efforts, from the field, were led by forward Rob O'Shea. "We've come close to them many times, but our guys played a great game, allowing only four hits. He improved his record to 5-2.

In the second contest, Notre Dame jumped out to a 10-1 lead in the first, but the Boilermakers quickly came back against Irish starter Mark Clementz. After six innings, Purdue led 5-2.

Notre Dame took the lead back in the seventh inning, scoring two runs on an error and a sacrifice fly by Mike Mezler. Irish hopes were crushed when Purdue came back with two doubles and a single off reliever Joe Dobosh. Two runs came in, giving the Boiler makers a 5-4 win.

The Irish returned with a 15-16 record to the friendly confines of John Lue's Field for a crucial series against conference foe Detroit.

In the opener of a doubleheader on Saturday, the Irish suffered a 7-4 loss. Detroit scored three times in the first and once in the second off Irish starter Lopes. Reliever Dobosh fared no better, allowing three more runs to score in the fourth.

A sterling pitching performance by Clementz in the second contest led Notre Dame to a 1-0 victory. Mark pitched a great game in the nightcap—commented Irish Head Coach Larry Gaffo on the son's superb performance.

Clementz held the Titans to only three hits over eight innings, but the Irish could not hit Detroit starter Bob Martin until Mike Dorning singled home the game's only run in the eighth. The Irish started their scoring in the ninth inning.

Still struggling to climb over the .500 mark, the Irish faced Valparaiso in a doubleheader on Tuesday. In a pair of close games, Notre Dame swept the Crusaders by scores of 9-5 and 8-7.

The Irish pounded Valparaiso pitching for 11 hits in the first game, managing to score two runs in the first. Their pitching dominated four hits, but each had great success in the offensive contest of 20 off Notre Dame's 25 field goals. The offensive effort seemed to be on a real roll coming into the game, but our guys played a great second half.