Alcohol regulations ban student pre-game tailgaters

By DAN MCCULLOUGH

New alcohol policy regulations ban students from organizing pre-game tailgaters. "No student, student organization or residence hall may organize or sponsor 'tailgaters' on campus or on any adjacent fields or parking lots at any time for the purpose of serving alcoholic beverages," the policy states.

Vice President for Student Affairs Father David Tyson added that student sentiment would probably be strongly against this new regulation. "That's going to be the big one," he said.

In the final report of the alcohol committee, tailgaters are not banned. It "would be almost impossible to eliminate alcohol tailgaters on football weekends; therefore, these should be allowed," the report states.

But members of the University's Board of Trustees were concerned about this issue. In a report argued that this was inconsistent with the essence of moderate social drinking. "This was an area that the Board of Trustees was very concerned about," said John Goldrick, associate vice-president for student service. "I think they brought this up, it seemed to make a distinction between alcohol abuse and where it was done. And it seemed not to address the final issue, the responsible use of alcohol.

"It became a matter of legal liability as well as educational liability," he said.

Tyson agreed. "That's basically what they pointed out the inconsistencies within the report. Even students pointed out the ludicrousness of some of the recommendations of the report as compared to theirs. I could see that it was a blaring inconsistency," he said. "The acceptance of tailgates was clearly one of mind of what the committee meant by the spirit of the report.

Parties are still outlawed in the current new regulations. "No alcohol may be served in private rooms at any social gatherings that for any reason extend beyond the privacy of the room in which they are held," the document states. Moreover, any gatherings in private rooms, regardless of the presence of alcohol, that are not consistent with the good order of the residence hall are not allowed.

Rectors are being encouraged to use "good common sense and good judgment of the laws." Father Tyson said.

Sister Jean Lenz, assistant vice-president for student affairs, defined the type of social gathering that would be allowed as "the type of gathering you could expect to be reasonable in your own home." She added, "This is really to help protect the rights of the kids." Goldrick noted that the maintenance of residence halls is based on common sense judgement on the part of the students.

He added that contrary to what the first draft of the alcohol policy committee said, "No numeric values will be set" on the amount of people who can congregate in a dorm room.

Numeric values have been set on the number of all hall parties that will be allowed per semester. "Each hall may have a maximum of two (2)"

Low tonight, in the 50s. — Today and tomorrow will be in the low to mid 80s. Are on tap for the weekend, but the pleasant weather is Monday or Tuesday when the massive high pressure during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is Today's issue was produced by:

When Food Services Director William Hickey, Jr. told students of 1980 that "you who are not enrolled as students as customers," they were at first "bewildered," according to the May 9 issue of Restaurants and Institutions magazine. Now two years after Hickey came to campus, the Ivy Award — considered to be the most prestigious award given in the industry — has come to Notre Dame's Food Services. The magazine article details the reasons Notre Dame was chosen as the best food service at an institution. Much credit goes to Hickey, according to the magazine which sponsors the award. "Hickey's style of speaking reflects his style of working high energy, non-stop and hard-hitting," the magazine said. "It is a ton of tofu, a sea of spaghetti or a mountain of mixed quality is tops (and) the presentation is terrific." The Food Services most impressive project, according to the magazine, was the catered cocktail reception, and downed winners and losers,服务水平10.000 at the 1984 Junior Parents Weekend. — The Observer

At least 45 Afghanistan commandos, those demanding a go to the United States, hijacked an Indian jetliner carrying approximately 100 people and the plane ended up in Pakistan and Dubai after the plane took off for Europe today. The larger armed group, protesting the conditions of the Indian government against Sikhs demanding more autonomy for Punjab, seized the short-range Boeing 737/5 Indian Airlines Friday while it was on a domestic flight. After stops in the Pakistani cities of Lahore and Karachi, where seven hostages were freed, the hijackers ordered the pilot to fly to the United Arab Emirates, a group of small Arab states at the southern tip of the Persian Gulf. Officers refused permission for the time jet to land at the emirates' northernmost Sharjah airport at 2 a.m. Saturday, 8 p.m. EDT Friday, but an hour later allowed it to make a refueling stop at Dubai. — AP

A rush-hour explosion, apparently caused by a bomb, buckled walls on three sides of a seven-story building housing government offices in downtown Johannesburg today. The area was quickly cordoned off and police said there was no word yet about casualties. The blast occurred after the normal closing hour for government offices. Police at the scene said they suspected a second, unexploded bomb was still in the building and they ordered nearby shopkeepers to shut down and leave the area. — AP

Radical Shitte Moslems ransacked the consulate september-1980, but a civilian captured by the oil producing country. Alleged "flaunting practices" against the area population. An underground group involved in guerrilla warfare against the Israeli army claimed responsibility for the overnight rocket attack on the British Embassy, which caused damage to the visa section but no casualties. It said the embassy was helping the "kossackisthesei chasse" emigrate thereby helping Israel by removing the inhabitants of the occupied area. — AP

Weather

Bright sunshine and cool nights are on tap for the weekend, but the pleasant weather is not expected to last long. Father David Tyson, formerly executive assistant to the president of the University, has been named vice president for student affairs to replace Father John Van Wolvleer, who retired last spring.

Van Wolvleer, vice president for student affairs for six years, said he wanted to return to parish work. He had served in St. Francis Xavier Parish in Burbank, Calif., before coming to Notre Dame in 1978.

In September Van Wolvleer will participate in a priest renewal program in Menlo Park, Calif. He said he also may take courses at the University of California at Berkeley's School of Theology. He is an uncredited student this year while he waits for an assignment from the provincial superior of the Congregation of Holy Cross.

Tyson's appointment was approved at the Board of Trustees May 4 meeting. Tyson said he was surprised by the board's choice; however, he added he has "been involved in student affairs for a long time." In the past Tyson has served as a resident assistant in Planner and an assistant rector in Dillon. Presently he is living in Dillon.

After assuming the vice presidency in early June Tyson proceeded to restructure the office. He said he did this by asking himself, "If I came off the street and there was no structure, what kind of general areas do I see?" He identified three areas: residential and student services. "I would really like my role to look at the big picture," said Tyson. Within this "big picture" there is one area with which he is particularly concerned. Tyson said he thinks academic life and student life have been divorced. He wants to work to reunite these two aspects of the college experience.

Once Tyson restructured the office, he began looking for people to staff it. "I said, do I know anyone that given these structures would be good...I did the structure first," explained the vice president.

In June Tyson announced three appointments to the Office of Student Affairs. Father Francis Cafarelli was named assistant vice president for student affairs. And Father Gregory Green, assistant rector of Zahm Hall, and Father Francis Cafarelli were named associate vice presidents for residence life. Sister Jean Lez was appointed assistant vice president for student affairs.

Van Wolvleer, who will be the university's principle liaison with the local governments, neighborhood organizations, the United Religious Community and similar groups, United Way and member organizations, ethnic groups, business and industry, service groups and professional organizations. He will also serve as an officer in the Alumni Association.

Director of Student Accounts and new position for Heppen. Reserved in this post prior to his tenure as housing director.

Green's appointment is part of a reorganization of Campus Ministry, now called University Ministry. Green described his new job as trying to serve "the principle needs of the broader community" particularly in sacramental and liturgical needs.

directives. But Tyson said, "We took assumptions of the alcohol committee."

Tyson explained, "I think it was the previous Student Affairs people who made it beer and wine only. The primary reason for the change in policy is if the University says that consumption in moderation is allowed then we allow the consumption of alcohol. I don't want to have policies that are meaningless, or not enforced.

Bars in student's rooms have become nothing more than a memory for Notre Dame students with the implementation of the new policy. Any structure which has by its appearance the function of serving alcohol is prohibited. Examples of such structures are chairs with tables, stools, or alcoholic advertisements. Common sense must prevail in that a bar is readily identifiable in our culture," says the policy.

Goldrick commented, "I trust our hall staff enough to sit down with students and discuss whether a structure is a bar or not." He added, "The decision of the rector will be final in all cases."

The ban on drinking games will continue to be in place: "Any type of drinking games, e.g. quarters or the use of any instrument of alcohol abuse, e.g. 'beer bongs' is a violation of the principle of responsible drinking and is strictly prohibited," the new rules state.

Goldrick assured that Student Affairs had no intention of raiding dorm rooms at the sound of tinkling quarters, but noted that drinking games can be "very dangerous biologically."

James Roemer tells The Observer that liability in a major concern of the University in alcohol use. "Are we exposing ourselves to certain lawsuits?" he asks. "I think the University will eventually decide that we can tolerate that anymore."

March 8, 1984—Assuredly closest to the alcohol committee tells The Observer enforcement of a 21-year-old drinking age on campus will be the recommendation of the committee's final report. Beauchamp comments, "Until the report is done and made public, I don't have anything to say."

March 14, 1984—the HPC presents O'Meara with a petition which opposes changing the alcohol policy. The petition is signed by 2,500 students. Mike Carlin, HPC chair, and member of the alcohol committee, says, "We might as well go down kicking."

April 16, 1984—the committee releases its final report on the responsible use of alcohol. The report recommends the elimination of parties in private dorm rooms and prohibits unenforcement of any drink policy. The rally becomes a more low-key affair as students end up in the rotunda, home of Hesburgh, as fireworks and horns fill the still night air with pandemonium.
All SMC freshmen in dorm rooms

By ANNE MONASTYRSKI
Saint Mary's Editor

No freshman at Saint Mary's will have to remember her first college days as ones spent in Holy Cross Hall parlor or the basement of McCandless this year. All freshmen will have a dorm room, and all other students will have recreation areas this semester because 30 more upperclassmen moved off campus than last year, according to Director of Residence Life, Pat Rissmeyer. Thirty students attended a workshop on how to move off campus last semester and 25 moved off, said Rissmeyer. No major dorm renovations were made during the summer despite the $1.3 million earmarked to install new showers in Holy Cross and install new elevators in LeMans Hall. The renovations are still planned but Rissmeyer said she was “disappointed” the changes were not begun.

A quint in the basement of Holy Cross was divided into two triples. This year the resident advisors are warning students that all furniture in the dorm rooms must stay in the rooms. Housing contracts always stated that rule, Rissmeyer said, but this year residence life is making “more of an effort to uphold it.”

Two new hall directors have joined the staff of residence life. Susan Glore is the new director of LeMans Hall and Nan Loy is director of McCandless Hall. No lofts will be allowed in the dorms as of yet, as a result of recommendations made by an engineer, Rissmeyer said. Rissmeyer began investigating the possibility of building lofts in Regina singles in order to create more space. But the design included resting part of the loft on the window ledge, which, according to the engineer was unsafe. Rissmeyer was “really disappointed” because she had the plans ready to go. “We’ve (Residence Life) done what we can,” she said, and will pursue the issue no more, but she said that Student Government plans to continue exploring other possibilities, and she “won’t veto” a feasible alternative. Lofts in other dorms and another plan for lofts in Regina are still possibilities according to Rissmeyer.

Admissions breaks the age barrier

Not all Notre Dame freshmen are 17-19 years old, coming to college after four years of high school. This year’s freshman class includes a 15-year-old from California and a 31-year-old businessman from New York.

Narciso “N.J.” Jaramillo of Rialto, California, chose to attend Notre Dame over such schools as Stanford, Cal Tech and Rice because he felt it had a “good environment” when he visited the campus last March. Another factor in his decision was the financial aid the University offered him.

During the summer of 1985, Jaramillo attended a summer program at Arizona State University. On the recommendation of the program’s director, he began taking advanced courses so he would be able to attend college after three years of high school.

Jaramillo’s counselor at Aquinas High School in San Bernardino, a Notre Dame graduate, encouraged his application to college. Father Don Bishop, a counselor in the Admissions Office, “The student is mature, with a mind that deserves to be in college.”

Bishop said Notre Dame “wouldn’t automatically admit someone at his age, even with his academic credentials.” Jaramillo was admitted on the basis of three days of interviews last spring, his activities in school, and his application essay, which Bishop termed “one of the best from any applicant.”

Bishop added, “He wouldn’t have been admitted if we felt he would’ve had ‘normal’ problems” adjusting to college life.

Father Matthew Miceli, rector of Jaramillo’s dormitory, Cavanaugh Hall, said, “I think he’ll fit in well. He’s very capable and seems very mature for his age. He’s certainly not bashful — he’s very open and friendly.”

Jaramillo himself is resigned to receiving a lot of attention during the first couple of weeks before being “treated as a normal human being.”

He plans to major in Math or Electrical Engineering.

Christopher Gates operated his family’s department store in California, chose to attend Notre Dame and Rice because he felt it had a “good environment” when he visited the campus last March. Another factor in his decision was the financial aid the University offered him.

Speaking out of turn

As my years at Notre Dame have past, I worked together to learn more about the world in which they live. Notre Dame, Hef, wouldn’t place where I, as a responsible individual, could mature. In short, as a freshman Notre Dame, Notre Dame seemed a great university in the nation, a place where people orientation procedures you are now beginning. Notre Dame, I felt, would be a place where I, as a student, the administration mustered more than the lip-service level.

But such improvements will not replace what students have done for years, namely socialize in the presence of alcohol. Those who wrote the policy did not have the proper research resources available. Most significantly, Notre Dame lacks a social atmosphere. The new alcohol policy is an example of an administration which breaks the existing social structure without offering any alternatives. What students are supposed to do for recreation is anybody’s guess. During the past three years, I have seen a Student Activities Board, politically astute administration the releases of its decisions affecting campus life so as to deny students and faculty members input. Fortunately, Notre Dame’s student body more than balances any of the university’s weaknesses. During orientation, speaker after speaker will tell you that you are among the best students in the nation. Believe them. The credentials you bring here rival those of students at America’s finest institutions. Notre Dame graduates great people because it begins with great people.

You are each others’ best hope for learning and growing. Whether your memories of this place are fond ones will depend on the help you give each other. Expect to be overprotected by an administration which will redistribute you as children, but always realize the truth about your independence and intelligence. Expect new social alternatives from the administration, but seek each other out for friendship. Remember, you are each others’ best hope.

Maybe someday Notre Dame will be the great University I dreamed it was as a freshman. Maybe someday I will be as proud of the University as I am of my fellow students. For now, that someday seems a long way away.

Other “Veteran Domes” do not doubt tell you, the Class of 1988 about Emil and about the new alcohol policy I will not. Instead, this column is about pressure, parents, promises and for. To not accept second best from yourself or your school. Go beyond your potential and expect Notre Dame to go beyond its. That is all anyone can ask of you and all you are capable of if you work toward that end. "The Golden Rule" Bill reminded me of myself. Here he cries for the right reasons. Cry because you love them. Parents remember that for every parting of the hair, that one day they will miss them. Cry because you love them.

Letters policy

Have you read something in The Observer you didn’t quite agree with? If so, write a letter to the editor. Letters to the editor must be well-written and typed. They must also bear the address, telephone number and signature of the author (mutilations and pseudonyms are not acceptable). Material shorter than 200 words will receive priority. All letters are subject to editing and become the property of The Observer.

The Observer is the independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame du Lac and Saint Mary’s College. It does not necessarily reflect the opinions of the administration or either institution. The news is reported as accurately and as objectively as possible. Unsigned editorials represent the opinion of a majority of the Editorial Board. Commentaries, letters and the inside columns present the views of their authors. Column space is available to all members of the community, and the free expression of varying opinions on campus, through letters, is encouraged.

EARN OVER $1000 A MONTH
AND OPEN THE DOOR TO A TOP ENGINEERING FUTURE

How many corporations would be willing to pay you over $1000 a month during your junior and senior years just so you'd join their company after graduation? Under a special Navy program we're doing just that. It's called the Nuclear Propulsion Officer Candidate-College Program. And under it, you'll not only get great pay during your junior and senior years, but after graduation you'll receive a year of valuable graduate-level training that is not available from any other employer.

If you are a junior or senior majoring in math, engineering or physical science, find out more today. And let your career pay off while still in college.

For more information, call the Naval Management Programs Office at: CALL TOLL FREE 1-800-382-9782

Navy Representative will be on campus Oct. 10 & 11 at the Placement Office.

information at Notre Dame after four years as assistant director, the 29-year-old Heisler has had a major role in the editing of a number of award-winning publications. Ten have been judged “Best in the Nation” by College Sports Information Directors of America panels, including two of last three football guides. Previously coming to Notre Dame, the South Bend native had been an assistant director at Missouri for one year.

John Heisler — Now in his third year as associate director of sports

Mike DeCicco — Better known as coach of the highly successful Notre Dame fencing team, DeCicco doubles as academic advisor for all Notre Dame athletes. Responsibility for the University’s high graduation rate among its athletes lies mainly with DeCicco, whose task is to advise the more than 500 athletic student Notre Dame. A 1949 graduate of Notre Dame, DeCicco taught for a number of years in the University’s mechanical engineering department before giving up to concentrate full-time on his job as academic advisor. His fencing teams have brought home an overall record of 431-40 since 1962 and were winners of the national championship both 1977 and 1978.

Tim Dillon — With degrees from Slippery Rock State College and Eastern Kentucky University, Dillon is entering his fourth season as assistant director of athletics at Saint Mary’s. Dillon, who was assistant to Erin Lorenz last year, will assist Dr. Jo Ann Nester who was named to succeed Lorenz this year. Dillon was a gymnastics coach at Eastern Kentucky before moving to Saint Mary’s.

ND-SMC offers athletic variety

Whether you enjoy playing football, basketball, tennis, golf or racquetball, or just like going for an occasional dip in the swimming pool, there is an athletic facility for you. The quads are available in the spring and fall for various activities (although the University tends to drown upon too much use of the lawns), while, during the cold weather months, you can retreat indoors. Here is a list of the facilities available to students on both campuses.

Athletic and Convocation Center — The double-domed ACC, located east of the stadium complex area of Notre Dame Stadium, contains basketball courts, a weight room, a light apparatus room, a swimming pool and the golf pro shop. Use of the ACC is free to all students and faculty members upon presentation of University identification card. Closing time is 11 p.m. daily.

Stepan Center — Stepan center and its adjoining fields and outdoor basketball courts are located in the northeast corner of the campus. Outside the domed Center, one can play basketball, football, soccer, rugby and softball. The basketball courts, which can be turned into an ice rink in the winter, are outfitted with lights that allow students to play basketball late into the night. Within Stepan Center are basketball and volleyball courts, open for recreational and league play. Many of the interhall sports are conducted in this area of the campus.

Riff’s Natatorium (under construction) — Construction is well underway on the Olympic-size pool that will be located on the east end of the Athletic and Convocation Center. The pool, when completed, will have the capability of being divided into three sections. For instance, this would allow diving in one end, recreational swimming in the middle, and waterpolo in the other. There will be three one-meter diving boards and two three-meter boards, as well as an observation deck.

Angela Athletic Facility — Located north of the Saint Mary’s library. Angela includes basketball and volleyball courts, as well as some fitness equipment. There are also tennis courts and basketball courts outside the building. Information about use of the AAF can be found by calling 284-5540.

Freshmen look to make mark in fall practice

By THERON ROBERTS

For 17 Notre Dame freshmen, the summer vacation ended more than two weeks ago when they checked into their temporary residences in Flanner Hall. Since then, the freshmen football players have been learning the ways of Coach Gerry Faust and his assistants.

The practice fields behind the ACC are now all too familiar to them. From the days of arrival, there have been many meetings and two-a-day practices. Some freshmen are the Irish football team's most enthusiastic members.

The first weeks under the Golden Dome, the learning process for them, will be on the football field, as well as in the classroom.

Faust and the other coaches are pleased with what they see in their fourth consecutive "harvest" of high school football talent for Notre Dame. Although much of the work at first was purely instructional, the Irish veteran noted the progress of the freshmen.

"They're not yet with any of the freshmen," Faust says. "In fact, some of them have shown us that they will be able to contribute to our program—both now and in the future."

One of the more impressive freshmen on the field this fall has been Frank Stam, a 1949 graduate of St. Ignatius College Preparatory. He has always maintained, "First things come first, and the first thing for me is academics. I tell every squad of athletes that when the student returns, so does the football team."

In his 32 years at Notre Dame, Joyce has maintained, "We think completed 9 of 153 passes for 1,859 yards as a senior (an average of just under 20 yards per completion), and had only three interceptions while throwing for 21 touchdowns. -Stamps is "looking pretty good," which is what many people anticipated after Stamps was named to many prep all-American lists and chosen as one of the top 100 incoming freshmen by both The Sporting News and Football News.

Gene Corrigan was named director of personnel functions. South Bend's third-largest employer—Notre Dame—He has been here ever since, gaining the athletic staff in 1976. He served as president of the College Athletic Managers Association in 1983 and was named business manager of the 1984 season will be the secondary, and defense. The 6-3, 210-pound receiver was named on the All-America teams of Parade, Adidas/Scholastic Coach, and USA Today prep all-star squad in the offensive backfield, and has been a strong."

Cedric Figueroa is one of the freshmen who has been looking good on the defensive side of the line. The 6-2, 230-pound defensive end, this 1983 University of Virginia graduate won the national championship for the University of Virginia. Brian Boulac — A former Notre Dame tight end, this 1965 University graduate was an assistant athletic director last year following three seasons on the Irish football coaching staff. During that time, Boulac was recruiting coordinator for five years as well as academic assistant to Dave Devine for two years, in addition to coaching the offensive and defensive lines, receivers and specialty teams over that span.

Presently Boulac's top priority is direct assistance to Athletic Director Gene Corrigan in a wide variety of areas.

Joe O'Brien — Dr. Tom Kelly — As director of non-varsity athletics, Kelly oversees an office that provides 19 intramural and 12 club sports, in addition to 30 recreational programs for both staff and students. Kelly, who also was named an assistant athletic director in 1985, received this major degree in physical education from Penn State and his masters and Ph. D. in Educational Administration from Notre Dame. He has previously been NVA's assistant director (1979-1991) and was varsity baseball coach from 1970 through the 1980 season.

Mike Bobinski — Bobinski is in the new varsity athletics department, having named ticket manager and assistant business manager this past spring. He succeeded Steve Ostrini who moved into the Dallas Cowboys front offices. By FRED KOERNER

Terry Andrysiak, a 6-1, 175-pound quarterback, also has been "progressing well," according to Faust, and he has seen action at the quarterback position. Andrysiak is one of the freshmen who has been most successful records in intercollegiate athletics while at the same time maintaining good grades in highschool grades among our athletes.

Petrovic, Buchanan not to play for Irish

By JEFF BLUMB

Assistant Sports Editor

While U.S. athletes may have left the Olympics earlier this month with many of the medals that were awarded, Notre Dame basketball coach Digger Phelps came away from Los Angeles without one. The 6-3, 235-pound Petrovic announced during the Games that he does not plan to honor the letter-of-intent signed last November to play basketball for the Irish—at least not this year.

Despite the loss of both Petrovic and Buchanan, the Irish still are expected to be pre-season Top 20 selection."
