Sharon's appointment: A parks rebellion against government

By JOHN-JOHN AMORES

Engineering changing format

By JOHN-JOHN AMORES

Adopt-a-Transfer

By CHRIS SKORCZ

A new program designed to help transfer students become familiar with their new school is being introduced this year by student government officials and the hall presidents. The Adopt-a-Transfer program "arose out of necessity," according to Student Body Vice-president Cathy David.

The plan calls for the construction of a new student center on the present site of the Library Mall. The center will have student government offices, dance floors, and a sit-down restaurant with table service, while the dormitories would house student activities such as a study hall and a site for the meeting of many campus organizations. The new center will take the names of 10 transfers. The dorm presidents will then select a like number of ongoing dorm residents to show the new students around campus, take them to dances, and introduce them to the council to take an active part alongside Student Government. It is also planned to have all J-Boards publish a list of regulations of "Du Lac's" hall rules and regulations. The council, composed of the heads of each hall's Judicial Board, is a court for further student appeal in University offense cases.

The proceedings was the hope of wresting away the counting of the votes and control of the proceedings from the administration. He said, "I am optimistic and I know that the administration understands our needs...otherwise I would not have come here."

With more instructors, Michel said that there could be a greater variety of courses and the number of recitations might be reduced. He also added that required classes would always have the highest enrollment and in most cases, recitation would be the best way to deal with the large number of students in those classes. Michel said that although the larger classes, the more capable students would always have the highest enrollment, he is authorized to look for three more professors. If required classes were to suffer, he hopes that with the new format, he would always have the highest enrollment in those classes. He also added that with the new format, the more capable professors would not be affected, but rather, it is the weaker students that could suffer. He hopes that with the smaller classes all students will benefit from the increased attention.

Sharon, architect of Israel's 1982 Lebanon invasion, spent most of his adult life as a soldier. He has been a large farm in southern Israel, but has no business experience.

He remained on the fringes of power after his forced resignation in March 1983, when an investigating panel found him negligent in failing to prevent the September 1982 massacre of hundreds of Palestinian refugees near Beirut.

Sharon called the panel's findings "unfair and fought to restore his power. The 56-year-old Sharon's combative attitude began last April when, as a minister without portfolio, he challenged outgoing Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir for the party leadership. He won it with an astonishing 40 percent of the vote from his Likud colleagues.

Sharon's supporters have applauded the Sharon-Peers decision.

The new alcohol policy, confusion over student rights and the LaFourme rezoning were among the items discussed at the Judicial Council's first meeting of the year, held last Thursday in Hayes-Healy Center.

The council, composed of the heads of each hall's Judicial Board, is a court for further student appeal in University offense cases.

The plan calls for the construction of a new student center on the present site of the Library Mall. The center will have student government offices, dance floors, and a sit-down restaurant with table service, while the dormitories would house student activities such as a study hall and a site for the meeting of many campus organizations. The new center will take the names of 10 transfers. The dorm presidents will then select a like number of ongoing dorm residents to show the new students around campus, take them to dances, and introduce them to the council.

"The problem in the past has been the stereotyping of transfers as "problems," according to Student Body Vice-president Cathy David. Each dorm will receive the names of 8-10 transfers. The dorm presidents will then select a like number of ongoing dorm residents to show the new students around campus, take them to dances, and introduce them to the council.

"The problem in the past has been the stereotyping of transfers as "problems," according to Student Body Vice-president Cathy David. Each dorm will receive the names of 8-10 transfers. The dorm presidents will then select a like number of ongoing dorm residents to show the new students around campus, take them to dances, and introduce them to the council. The plan calls for the construction of a new student center on the present site of the Library Mall. The center will have student government offices, dance floors, and a sit-down restaurant with table service, while the dormitories would house student activities such as a study hall and a site for the meeting of many campus organizations. The new center will take the names of 10 transfers. The dorm presidents will then select a like number of ongoing dorm residents to show the new students around campus, take them to dances, and introduce them to the council.

The plan calls for the construction of a new student center on the present site of the Library Mall. The center will have student government offices, dance floors, and a sit-down restaurant with table service, while the dormitories would house student activities such as a study hall and a site for the meeting of many campus organizations. The new center will take the names of 10 transfers. The dorm presidents will then select a like number of ongoing dorm residents to show the new students around campus, take them to dances, and introduce them to the council.
In Brief

The Observer

Monday, September 10, 1984 - page 2

- In Brief
  - Low 60s and highs in the mid 70s. Unfourtunately, no chance of rain and thunderstorms. Lows in the 50s.
  - President Reagan and Vice President Bush with their votes in the election of the President. Reagan now enjoys his greatest support.
  - Warnings on cigarette labels will have to be strengthened by specifying health hazards that smoking can cause, if a bill in Congress is considered passes. A similar bill is being held up in the Senate by opponents led by Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C.

The Reagan – Bush ’84 campaign has designated September “National College Voter Registration Month.” Youth for Reagan – Bush ’84 will spearhead activities on campuses nationwide. The goal is to register 250,000 students who will support President Reagan and Vice President Bush with their votes in November Reagan – Bush campaign officials cite recent surveys that approximately 57 percent of 18 to 24 year olds support the re-election of the current president. Reagan now enjoys his greatest support from this age group. According to Liz Pickens, Executive Director of Youth for Reagan – Bush ’84, young volunteers who will be working on their campaigns are part of a national network of about 100,000 Reagan – Bush volunteers.

Warnings on cigarette labels

An airplane stowaway who sneaked into Sydney, Australia and claimed he was a 14-year-old American orphan was held up in the Senate by opponents led by Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C. –

The Observer

- AP

Weather

Mostly cloudy today with a chance of rain and thunderstorms. Lows in the low 60s and highs in the mid 70s. Unfortunately, the weather isn’t expected to change through Friday.

The Observer

- AP

Has Notre Dame lost sight of its Catholic identity?

It is the first week of school. Students gather in the library Auditorium for their theology course on “Catholicism.” The professor, Father Richard McNichols, begins by asking some questions of basic Catholic knowledge. “Who was pope when Vatican II came out with its directives?” “Which came first, Augustine or the Council of Trent?” McNichols is testing his students, and the results are, as usual, a surprising ignorance of their religion among students of whom many are Catholic.

Notre Dame is going through a crisis. In the last half century, it has grown from an average Midwestern school to a nationally recognized but still moderately Catholic institution. There is just one problem. In the drive for academic excellence, has Notre Dame lost sight of its Catholic identity? Has it been trying too hard to be a great university rather than a great Catholic university?

The root of the problem is that no one seems to know what it means to be Catholic. Is Notre Dame Catholic because it is run by Holy Cross priests? Because 60 percent of the students are Catholic (at least nominally)? Obviously there are more than labels or affiliations.

On the other hand, it is because the students protest nuclear armament and abortion? Because they fight for human rights and just social projects? Because Notre Dame graduates are humane, earth-sensitive people who are able to bring questions of social justice and ethics to bear in their occupations? These criteria, although very important, are similar to the conventional values of some of today’s radical ideologies.

Should not Notre Dame have also a unique and specific identity as a Christian institution? Shouldn’t it nurture in its students a love for and commitment to the Christian faith? Do some Notre Dame students have a commitment to the foundation of content? How can the University help students form a critical faith if they have no common ground on which to begin?

In spite of this, Notre Dame students are noted for their faith, according to many professors. Although doctrinal knowledge is certainly not the most important part of being Christian, how can graduates be expected to live as committed Christians if they have no foundation of content? Can the University help students form a critical faith if they have no common ground on which to begin?

There are signs that the trend is changing. Father Strobde, chairman of the theology department since 1980, is trying to enhance its Catholic character. Provision for preferring Catholic faculty over non-Catholic are being considered.

But Notre Dame students still lack a basic knowledge of their faith, according to many professors. Although doctrinal knowledge is certainly not the most important part of being Christian, how can graduates be expected to live as committed Christians if they have no foundation of content? Can the University help students form a critical faith if they have no common ground on which to begin?

There are signs that the trend is changing. Father Strobde, chairman of the theology department since 1980, is trying to enhance its Catholic character. Provision for preferring Catholic faculty over non-Catholic are being considered.

But Notre Dame students still lack a basic knowledge of their faith, according to many professors. Although doctrinal knowledge is certainly not the most important part of being Christian, how can graduates be expected to live as committed Christians if they have no foundation of content? Can the University help students form a critical faith if they have no common ground on which to begin?

There are signs that the trend is changing. Father Strobde, chairman of the theology department since 1980, is trying to enhance its Catholic character. Provision for preferring Catholic faculty over non-Catholic are being considered.

But Notre Dame students still lack a basic knowledge of their faith, according to many professors. Although doctrinal knowledge is certainly not the most important part of being Christian, how can graduates be expected to live as committed Christians if they have no foundation of content? Can the University help students form a critical faith if they have no common ground on which to begin?
Foreign programs offer alternative

By MICHAEL J. CHMIEL
Staff Reporter

Every year a select group of Notre Dame students are allowed to enrich their academic lives by studying and living abroad for a year in one of four foreign study programs sponsored by the University.

According to Art Grubert, assistant to the director of foreign study, the programs offered in France, Austria, Japan, and Mexico allow students "a broad experience."

Beginning in 1966 with the French program, foreign studies at Notre Dame have been continually growing. They not only allow students to experience and live in a different culture, but also "suit academic needs and career development."

The initial program was established in Angers, France. Angers, a city of about 150,000 people, is located two and a half hours from Paris and an hour from the Atlantic.

Students in Angers are instructed in French by professors from the Universite' Catholique de l'Ouest. Business Administration students accepted into the program are given an opportunity to take an examination for a Paris Chamber of Commerce certificate at the end of the year.

In 1967, the Austrian program was offered for the first time. Located in Innsbruck, a city of about 120,000 surrounded by the Alpine Mountains, the program utilizes the facilities of the University of Innsbruck established by the Jesuits in 1669.

"A new cut to the Innsbruck program is the way in which the American students are studying with Austrian students which is quite a plunge," said Grubert.

As in the Angers program, students live with families around the university in order to fully partake in all of the customs of the respective country.

Added to the list in 1968 was a chance to study in Tokyo. Students at Sophia University, students join 8,000 Japanese students in downtown Tokyo. Although fluency in Japanese is not required, students are encouraged to take introductory courses in the language. While in Japan, the language and customs are continually referred to in the classes so as to acquaint the students with the culture.

"If a student was going into business, he or she would probably benefit a lot from that experience (in Japan)," said Grubert.

The fourth program to be added in the fourth year of the foreign study program was that in Mexico City. Added in 1970, the program offers courses at the Universidad Iberoamericanas.

In Mexico, the student lives alone or with a roommate with a selected Mexican family. Courses in Mexico are taught in Spanish which makes one of the requirements for acceptance fluency in Spanish.

"Students in Mexico are keyed into understanding the developing world," said Grubert. "I think they'll find a good source of information in Mexico, (especially about) third world economics."

The cost for each of the programs, including round-trip air travel, tuition, room, board, laundry, and scheduled field trips is equal to a year's stay at Notre Dame.

All classes are accredited by Notre Dame and are added to one's grades on campus.

In each country, the program lasts for an entire year with semesters running from October to February and from March to June except for the program in Mexico. In Mexico City, there is a full year or a one-semester program with semesters running similar to those at Notre Dame.

"Students stay there for the entire year," explained Grubert, "and sometimes parents go over and visit on their own.

According to Grubert, acceptance into the program is open to students with at least a 2.5 GPA. The French and Spanish programs add the requirement of fluency in their respective languages while German and Japanese are encouraged for the Austrian and Japanese programs, respectively.

---

Irish Gardens
in Lafayette basement
12:30 to 5:30
Just Call 283-MUMS
for your plant or cut flower needs!

Are you ARMED?

With a keen insight and a talent for cartooning?

If so, Viewpoint is looking for Editorial Cartoonists,

If you are interested, call Dave Grote at:
239-5323

Viewpoint

THIS OLDE HOUSE PIZZERIA & PUB

This Monday and Wednesday we will deliver a Medium 16" pizza with 1 topping for $6.95

Each additional item is $1

277-4519

CALL BEFORE 11:30 p.m. FOR DELIVERY EXPIRES 9/12/84

---

FOOTBALL CONCESSION STAND WINNERS!!!

Please pick up your information packets at the Student Activities Office by Sept. 14.

All unclaimed packets will be awarded to groups on the waiting list!

NICK & KENNY'S

 SPECIALS **

MONDAY .......... PITCHERS $2.95
TUESDAY .......... LITTLE KINGS 2/$1.00
WEDNESDAY ....... IMPORTS 4.00
THURSDAY .......... 25' BEER
FRIDAY & SATURDAY ........ BANDS
AND ASSORTED SPECIALS

MEN OF NOTRE DAME 1985

CALENDAR IS HERE AGAIN WE NEED YOU!

Please submit pictures of your favorite males to 319 or 007

FARLEY
Sept. 10-14

---

TYPING

* Term Papers
* Resumes
* Letters
* Manuscripts
* Word Processing

Keep School From Getting Boring With some excitement on your campus. Visit Skyports Unlimited, Inc and learn to fly in just one hour. Become a Paraplane Pilot, experience the safety of a paraplane and the freedom of flight of an ultralight.

20 minutes from campus SKYSPORTS UNLIMITED, Inc. Route 1 Tyler Road Wallingford, CT 219-546-5188 Business 219-546-2048 Home

Call Chris At: 234-8997
John Paul II kicks off 12-day Canadian tour in Quebec

Special to The Observer

Father Leo R. Ward, 91, dies

Father Leo R. Ward, 91, died Saturday morning at St. Joseph's Medical Center after an extended illness. Since 1976, Ward lived in Holy Cross House at Notre Dame. He graduated from Notre Dame in 1929 as a professor of philosophy. Ward befriended the young seminarian even though his "dry wit" sometimes caught them off guard.ward wanted philosophy at Catholic University and received his doctorate in 1929. He also did post-doctoral study at Oxford University and Louvain.

And the effects can be life-long or even fatal. Now there is HOPE - Healthy Options for Problem Eaters. A therapeutic program developed by Memorial Hospital of South Bend. HOPE is designed to help those with eating disorders return to a normal, healthy lifestyle, because Anorexia and Bulimia can be cured. But early detection is vital.

If you know someone who is a victim of an eating disorder, you can help. Register by September 14 for HOPEs next 10-week session which begins September 18. Call 284-7308 for further information. Because HOPE can help.

ATTENTION SENIORS

- ND-SMC Senior Trip Final Payments for those who paid their deposits and those who still wish to get one of the few limited seats left are due!!
- MONDAY: Seniors abroad last spring
- TUESDAY: Seniors who are transfers
- WEDNESDAY - FRIDAY: All Seniors

COLLECTION TIMES:
- SMC: 4:30 - 6:30 Dining Hall (LeMans side) M-F
- ND: 11:15 - 1 and 5 - 7 LaFortune M-F

AMOUNTS DUE:
- Paid Deposits: $190*
- w/o Deposits: $290*

ALL PAYMENTS ARE DUE BY SEPTEMBER 14TH OR SEATS WILL BE LOST

---

BAHAMAS

Oct Break Trip - All Students Welcome
- SUN - Nassau - BEACH - Nassau - FUN
- Final week to sign up with $499 payment at LaFortune

Monday, Sept. 10, 7 - 8 p.m.
Thursday, Sept. 13, 7 - 8 p.m.

Join the PRE-LAW SOCIETY

EVERYONE WELCOME
1st General Meeting
MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 10
7:00 Engineering Auditorium

Do you know someone who is dying to be thin?

Nearly one-third of the world's population goes hungry because of poverty. And nearly 20% of the young female population in the United States also starves - but by choice. Because they're dying to be thin.

Anorexia Nervosa, Bulimia. Two serious eating disorders. Illnesses that can affect people of all ages... and are most common among young women.

And the effects can be life-long or even fatal.

Now there is HOPE - Healthy Options for Problem Eaters. A therapeutic program developed by Memorial Hospital of South Bend. HOPE is designed to help those with eating disorders return to a normal, healthy lifestyle, because Anorexia and Bulimia can be cured. But early detection is vital.

If you know someone who is a victim of an eating disorder, you can help. Register by September 14 for HOPEs next 10-week session which begins September 18. Call 284-7308 for further information. Because HOPE can help.
While most of us are disturbed about the result of the Purdue — Notre Dame game this weekend, I find myself more disturbed by the actions of a few prominent members of our administration during game time.

According to a quote in last Thursday’s Observer, Fr. William Beauchamp stated that the administration “just felt it right in the light of the fact that this is a college game, the sale of beer and alcohol didn’t seem to fit.” In accordance with this expression of the administration, no beer or alcohol was sold at the game — thus depriving the winning Hoosier Dome of the thousands of dollars in revenues and depriving several thousand fans, alumni and various other spectators of enjoying a few beers at a college football game.

I wish not to argue either for or against these mentioned actions or statements, enough has been said about alcohol and about the implications of the new policy. Nor do I wish to make any sort of statement about whether or not alcohol should have been banned in the Hoosier Dome on Saturday. My only desire is to examine why Brian Casey guest column
such actions were taken this weekend, and further to explore the implications of the actions of members of our administration taken at the game.

Walking into the Stadium, I was fortunate enough to have seats on or around the 50 yard line. Directly in back of my seat was a glass enclosed box included Fathers Murph, Brown and Joyce. During one of the slower moments in the game, I happened to glance back in this box and saw the glass was neither reflective nor translucent I was able to see quite clearly the faces of all of those present in that box. I observed a male waiter carrying a can of “Bud Light” on a tray in the box, setting this can down on the side and promptly leaving.

I am admitting that at no point did I see anyone consume the alcohol, nor did I see, during any other time of the game, any more cans of beer or other drinks brought into the box. Nor do I know whether the beer was provided for someone who is directly or indirectly associated with the university or merely a guest unrelated to the University. Certainly, however, this is not the issue.

The administration requested that, in view of the fact that this was a college game, no beer or other alcohol be served at the game. The University’s request was honored. By implication, no one would be considered as violating any alcohol at the game. Included in this ban were not only undergraduates but all people regardless of age. This was not a ban on any alumni of either university, any Indiana resident who attended simply to see the opening of the stadium, or any mere fan.

Once again, though, a word of caution. I am asking for consistency. The administration during game time.

In view of this request for adherence to rules and consistency in their application, I cannot see any clear justification for such action.

First, all forms of beer and alcohol were not allowed to be brought into the stadium. Many people were stopped and all alcoholic beverages were routinely confiscated. I cannot see how this can was brought into the stadium. Second, no beer or alcohol was allowed to be sold. If this water was bringing alcohol to someone in the box as part of a service provided for the guests of the Hoosier Dome, I cannot see how this did not constitute a sale.

If, as would be consistent (if consistency is my sole criterion), this ban on alcohol sale followed through on its position on public drinking and un­ derage drinking, and further, if the administration that the ban in the stadium was the appropriate action for the future, then all should have been held accountable to such rules. Universal rules are universally blind. Unless the agreement that brought about this ban had any stipulations or exceptions, then it must have been understood to have included all who were in the stadium at that time.

Perhaps though I am applying a standard of consistency in a much stricter sense then has so far been used in reference to the University’s position on alcohol. If, as the University Committee on the Reform of University Law stated, “it is the conviction of the University that drunkenness and intoxication are unacceptable” and further if no one “of age to purchase alcohol and then is it not safe to allow the alcohol and then is it not safe to allow the alcohol to be of concern to the administration.

Whether or not the alums were upset at the ban is not important. What is important is that the alumni would be upset. However this should not be of concern to the administration. Whether or not the alums were upset at the ban is not important. What is important is that the alumni would be upset. However this should not be of concern to the administration. Perhaps though I am applying a standard of consistency in a much stricter sense then has so far been used in reference to the University’s position on alcohol. If, as the University Committee on the Reform of University Law stated, “it is the conviction of the University that drunkenness and intoxication are unacceptable” and further if no one “of age to purchase alcohol and then is it not safe to allow the alcohol to be of concern to the administration. Whether or not the alums were upset at the ban is not important. What is important is that the alumni would be upset. However this should not be of concern to the administration. Perhaps though I am applying a standard of consistency in a much stricter sense then has so far been used in reference to the University’s position on alcohol. If, as the University Committee on the Reform of University Law stated, “it is the conviction of the University that drunkenness and intoxication are unacceptable” and further if no one “of age to purchase alcohol and then is it not safe to allow the alcohol to be of concern to the administration. Whether or not the alums were upset at the ban is not important. What is important is that the alumni would be upset. However this should not be of concern to the administration. Perhaps though I am applying a standard of consistency in a much stricter sense then has so far been used in reference to the University’s position on alcohol. If, as the University Committee on the Reform of University Law stated, “it is the conviction of the University that drunkenness and intoxication are unacceptable” and further if no one “of age to purchase alcohol and then is it not safe to allow the alcohol to be of concern to the administration. Whether or not the alums were upset at the ban is not important. What is important is that the alumni would be upset. However this should not be of concern to the administration.

A Toast to the hosts
The City of Indianapolis proved to thousands of Notre Dame fans that it knows how to play host to more than just a race. And much of the credit belongs to developer Robert Welch and the Notre Dame Club of Indianapolis.

Weich, an alumnus, led the effort to bring the Irish to the Hoosier Dome, providing approximately $100,000 for buses to transport any student who wished to attend. Even with the early departure time, 5:30 a.m., students had no problems boarding the buses, and Cpl. Carlos Pettiford of the Indiana State Police said, “We didn’t experience any problems whatsoever” with the caravan down U.S. 31.

Thirteen students who ventured to the capital city on Friday found more than just a pep rally. In Monument Circle, two hands kept the spirited crowd dancing in the streets until midnight. The Notre Dame Club’s tent on the north side of the circle had numerous Fighting Irish fans to allow them to freshen up in technicolor slides. Despite the relatively free flow of alcohol, Sgt. Harry Miller of the Indianapolis Police Department said there were “no problems.”

While credit may be given to those who organized the weekend, those who participated deserve a fair share of praise, too. Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s students were boisterous, but not rowdy, in keeping the Hoosier Dome’s fabric roof vibrating until the final gun on Saturday.

The finest compliment comes from what did not occur: no reported injuries caused by drinking and driving.

Everyone involved in the weekend can point with pride to the successes of taking Irish spirit on the road. Few will forget the hospitality of the City of Indianapolis and what may turn out to be the best “home” celebration of the season.

Paul Cimino
on a pale horse
easily. Meanwhile, my uncle was dead, and nothing was going to bring him back. I have never been able to open my heart and find peace about this. Put yourself in my shoes for awhile and examine your feelings. I am still asking for consistency. The administration is being asked to play host to more than just a race. And much of the credit belongs to developer Robert Welch and the Notre Dame Club of Indianapolis.

Weich, an alumnus, led the effort to bring the Irish to the Hoosier Dome, providing approximately $100,000 for buses to transport any student who wished to attend. Even with the early departure time, 5:30 a.m., students had no problems boarding the buses, and Cpl. Carlos Pettiford of the Indiana State Police said, “We didn’t experience any problems whatsoever” with the caravan down U.S. 31.

Thirteen students who ventured to the capital city on Friday found more than just a pep rally. In Monument Circle, two hands kept the spirited crowd dancing in the streets until midnight. The Notre Dame Club’s tent on the north side of the circle had numerous Fighting Irish fans to allow them to freshen up in technicolor slides. Despite the relatively free flow of alcohol, Sgt. Harry Miller of the Indianapolis Police Department said there were “no problems.”

While credit may be given to those who organized the weekend, those who participated deserve a fair share of praise, too. Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s students were boisterous, but not rowdy, in keeping the Hoosier Dome’s fabric roof vibrating until the final gun on Saturday.

The finest compliment comes from what did not occur: no reported injuries caused by drinking and driving.

Everyone involved in the weekend can point with pride to the successes of taking Irish spirit on the road. Few will forget the hospitality of the City of Indianapolis and what may turn out to be the best “home” celebration of the season.

Paul Cimino
on a pale horse
easily. Meanwhile, my uncle was dead, and nothing was going to bring him back. I have never been able to open my heart and find peace about this. Put yourself in my shoes for awhile and examine your feelings. I am still asking for consistency. The administration is being asked to play host to more than just a race. And much of the credit belongs to developer Robert Welch and the Notre Dame Club of Indianapolis.

Weich, an alumnus, led the effort to bring the Irish to the Hoosier Dome, providing approximately $100,000 for buses to transport any student who wished to attend. Even with the early departure time, 5:30 a.m., students had no problems boarding the buses, and Cpl. Carlos Pettiford of the Indiana State Police said, “We didn’t experience any problems whatsoever” with the caravan down U.S. 31.

Thirteen students who ventured to the capital city on Friday found more than just a pep rally. In Monument Circle, two hands kept the spirited crowd dancing in the streets until midnight. The Notre Dame Club’s tent on the north side of the circle had numerous Fighting Irish fans to allow them to freshen up in technicolor slides. Despite the relatively free flow of alcohol, Sgt. Harry Miller of the Indianapolis Police Department said there were “no problems.”

While credit may be given to those who organized the weekend, those who participated deserve a fair share of praise, too. Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s students were boisterous, but not rowdy, in keeping the Hoosier Dome’s fabric roof vibrating until the final gun on Saturday.

The finest compliment comes from what did not occur: no reported injuries caused by drinking and driving.

Everyone involved in the weekend can point with pride to the successes of taking Irish spirit on the road. Few will forget the hospitality of the City of Indianapolis and what may turn out to be the best “home” celebration of the season.

Paul Cimino
on a pale horse
Soccer

continued from page 8
veri any of those opportunities into points on the scoreboard.
At halftime, Grace told his players that they were lucky they had not yet been scored upon, and he warned them that they needed to play better in the second period. The Irish responded, and the second half was, in Grace's words, "a half-field scrimmage." Mark Bidinger scored his first goal of the season at the 58:11 mark, as Stotz fed the ball to the 5.5-yard area at the top of the Louisville penalty area, and Bidinger launched a free kick from a difficult angle to the right side of the goal.
Herdgen had two excellent shots in the following minutes, but his shot hit the right goalpost, and Whittingfield made a beautiful save on a hard headed shot. Stotz also had a few shots at the Louisville net, and one led to an Irish goal. At 63:25, Whittingfield blocked a Stotz shot, but freshmen John Fossa took the rebound on the half volley and slammed it home from ten yards out for his first career goal. Grace, as happened in the previous two games, the Irish gave up a goal after going up 2-0.
Cardinal Jim Plush got the ball on a one-on-two breakaway, beat both defenders, and shot through the Irish keeper Mark Steranka, who had come out to cut down the angle to the goal for Shaltiel. With the Irish remaining in the match, the Car- damonts relayed by goal line.
This time, however, the Irish were not going to quit. Within only a few minutes left in the game, Fonseca was tripped deep on the right side of the penalty area. When the ensuing free kick got away from Whittingfield, Cardinal Carlos Braganza slammed the ball into the net to give the Irish breathing room with only 0.75 remaining. A string of consecutive goals had given the Irish a 3-1 lead.
Defense

continued from page 8
ator Andy Christof.
Today

Bloom County

TANK McCNAMARA

NO MORE KENNEDY COUP ON MONDAY NO MORE

OCRAVIO

THE far SIDE

GARY LARSON

"Well that's right! The answer is Wisconsin!" Another 50 points for God, and ... uh-oh, looks like Norman, our current champion, hasn't even scored yet."

Psycho Chicken

The Far Side

Jeff Millar & Bill Hinds

TV Tonight

6:00 p.m.  16 NewsCenter 16
22 22 Eyewitness News

6:30 p.m.  16 M*A*S*H

7:00 p.m.  16 America Saving Healthy
22 Scarecrow & Mrs King
28 A Barbas Walters Special Celebration

8:00 p.m.  16 Marcus Polo (P II of IV)
22 Kate & Allie
28 Pro Football: Washington vs San Francisco

8:30 p.m.  22 Newhart

9:00 p.m.  22 Cagney & Lacey
10:00 p.m.  16 NewsCenter 16
22 22 Eyewitness News
10:30 p.m.  16 Tonight Show
22 Simon & Simon

11:00 p.m.  28 News
11:00 16 Late Night With David Letterman
28 Nightline

11:40 p.m.  22 McMillan
12:30 a.m.  16 All In The Family

The Daily Crossword

ACROSS
1 Minus
5 Antioch
10 Where Pinal del Rio is 14 Aware of
15 Ordinary language
16 The Red
17 After followers
20 Acute intuition
21 Brain wave in Paris
22 Freeman work
23 Dashed
24 Like — of bricks
26 Capers
29 Faced
32 Blue dye
33 Republic of IRA.
34 Large vessel
36 Under followers
41 Chemical suffix
42 Slave of old
43 N. book
44 Manor houses
46 Somnet ending
48 Son of Zeus
49 River edge
50 Mode
53 Others to Virgil
54 Family members
55 Over followers
61 Catiskill pond
62 Ice
63 Being Lat.
64 Dale’s opposite
65 Baptism receptacles
66 Letter

DOWN
1 Isolated
2 Son of Seth
3 Kind of sign
4 Windsor to George V
5 Suit in bridge
6 Robbed
7 West by bus
8 Country monogram
9 "All the King’s Men"
10 Building material
11 Caspian feeder
12 Nip
13 Yawn
14 Clean
15 Hummed
16 Sheet part
24 Mythical nymph
25 Lacerated
26 Tropical fruit
27 Empty
28 Embarrassments
29 Celebrations
30 Bounce
31 Classic poet
32 Try
34 Appreciated
38 Bone pref.
39 Singles
40 Domino
45 Aptitude
46 Good folks
47 Garbanzo’s wife
48 Sudden gust
50 Fast jets
51 The one there
52 Long ago
53 Age
54 Money in Monterey
55 Near and Far
56 "...lonely as a tree"
58 They’re —
59 Theatre sign
60 R. I. red

510984

Friday’s Solution

SOME LIKE IT HOT

Starring Marilyn Monroe

Tues., Sep. 11
7, 9, 11

Engineer Aud. $1.00

YOU CAN DRIVE the revolutionary 1985 Dodge Daytona Turbo through red lights and cause mayhem on campus.

ANY COLLEGE STUDENT with a driver’s license and student ID eligible to test for the new performance driving age.

It’s part of the BIGGER CHANCE.

Win the use of a 1985 Dodge Daytona Turbo for one year!

The winner (and their date without petulant life) will compete with MIRA AL BAR TAMACI BACH 77 at the 1985 Daytona 500. The winner will compete with other college winners in the National ColLEGE DRIVING CHAMPIONSHIPS.

SPONSOR: Student Activities Board
LOCATIONS: Red Fox Rocking Lon So. of AOC.
Times: Sat: 11A
SUN: 7, 9, 11 A.

10 A.M. - 4 P.M.

THE NATIONAL COLLEGIATE DRIVING CHAMPIONSHIPS IS COMING!!!

1030 p.m. 16 Tonight Show
22 Simon & Simon

11:00 p.m. 28 News
11:00 16 Late Night With David Letterman
28 Nightline

11:40 p.m. 22 McMillan
12:30 a.m. 16 All In The Family

© 1984 Tribune Media Services, Inc.
All Rights Reserved

1030 p.m. 16 NewsCenter 16
22 22 Eyewitness News

6:30 p.m.  16 M*A*S*H

7:00 p.m.  16 America Saving Healthy
22 Scarecrow & Mrs King
28 A Barbas Walters Special Celebration

8:00 p.m.  16 Marcus Polo (P II of IV)
22 Kate & Allie
28 Pro Football: Washington vs San Francisco

8:30 p.m.  22 Newhart

9:00 p.m.  22 Cagney & Lacey
10:00 p.m.  16 NewsCenter 16
22 22 Eyewitness News
10:30 p.m.  16 Tonight Show
22 Simon & Simon

11:00 p.m.  28 News
11:00 16 Late Night With David Letterman
28 Nightline

11:40 p.m.  22 McMillan
12:30 a.m.  16 All In The Family

© 1984 Tribune Media Services, Inc.
All Rights Reserved

1030 p.m. 16 Tonight Show
22 Simon & Simon

11:00 p.m. 28 News
11:00 16 Late Night With David Letterman
28 Nightline

11:40 p.m. 22 McMillan
12:30 a.m. 16 All In The Family

© 1984 Tribune Media Services, Inc.
All Rights Reserved

1030 p.m. 16 NewsCenter 16
22 22 Eyewitness News

6:30 p.m.  16 M*A*S*H

7:00 p.m.  16 America Saving Healthy
22 Scarecrow & Mrs King
28 A Barbas Walters Special Celebration

8:00 p.m.  16 Marcus Polo (P II of IV)
22 Kate & Allie
28 Pro Football: Washington vs San Francisco

8:30 p.m.  22 Newhart

9:00 p.m.  22 Cagney & Lacey
10:00 p.m.  16 NewsCenter 16
22 22 Eyewitness News
10:30 p.m.  16 Tonight Show
22 Simon & Simon

11:00 p.m.  28 News
11:00 16 Late Night With David Letterman
28 Nightline

11:40 p.m.  22 McMillan
12:30 a.m.  16 All In The Family

© 1984 Tribune Media Services, Inc.
All Rights Reserved

1030 p.m. 16 NewsCenter 16
22 22 Eyewitness News

6:30 p.m.  16 M*A*S*H

7:00 p.m.  16 America Saving Healthy
22 Scarecrow & Mrs King
28 A Barbas Walters Special Celebration

8:00 p.m.  16 Marcus Polo (P II of IV)
22 Kate & Allie
28 Pro Football: Washington vs San Francisco

8:30 p.m.  22 Newhart

9:00 p.m.  22 Cagney & Lacey
10:00 p.m.  16 NewsCenter 16
22 22 Eyewitness News
10:30 p.m.  16 Tonight Show
22 Simon & Simon

11:00 p.m.  28 News
11:00 16 Late Night With David Letterman
28 Nightline

11:40 p.m.  22 McMillan
12:30 a.m.  16 All In The Family

© 1984 Tribune Media Services, Inc.
All Rights Reserved

1030 p.m. 16 NewsCenter 16
22 22 Eyewitness News

6:30 p.m.  16 M*A*S*H

7:00 p.m.  16 America Saving Healthy
22 Scarecrow & Mrs King
28 A Barbas Walters Special Celebration

8:00 p.m.  16 Marcus Polo (P II of IV)
22 Kate & Allie
28 Pro Football: Washington vs San Francisco

8:30 p.m.  22 Newhart

9:00 p.m.  22 Cagney & Lacey
10:00 p.m.  16 NewsCenter 16
22 22 Eyewitness News
10:30 p.m.  16 Tonight Show
22 Simon & Simon

11:00 p.m.  28 News
11:00 16 Late Night With David Letterman
28 Nightline

11:40 p.m.  22 McMillan
12:30 a.m.  16 All In The Family

© 1984 Tribune Media Services, Inc.
All Rights Reserved
Irish mistakes help Purdue pull off upset, 23-21

By MIKE SULLIVAN
Sports Editor

INDIANAPOLIS - Until a couple of days ago, critics accused Notre Dame coach Gerry Faust of getting his team too psyched up for the season opener. They claimed that the Irish were so sky-high for the opener that they were bound to let down following the week. In fact, they argued, Notre Dame would look so good in the opener that it would fill the team and the fans with false visions of a national championship.

After Saturday’s season opener against Leon Burnett’s Purdue Boilermakers, the critics will have to eat their words.

In what many people considered one of the easiest Notre Dame games of the year, the Boilers won 23-21, and gave the Faint hearted around the country more ammunition. The Boilers’ victory was no fluke however. They controlled the game for most of the first three quarters after the Irish had dominated the first quarter. In fact, Purdue even had the statistical edge (375 total yards to 350, something that Notre Dame normally claims.

That’s the biggest win I’ve ever been associated with at Purdue,” said Burnett after the game. “You coaches, no.”

Burnett was slightly incorrect, however. His players did not “do it all.” Rather, they received quite a bit of help from the Notre Dame players on the field.

“Apparent to everybody that we made too many mistakes,” said Allen Pinkett, who gained just 69 yards in 22 carries during the frustrating afternoon. “We beat ourselves.”

The Boilermakers deserved to win the game because they made too few mistakes and capitalized on ND’s. The Irish did make the most of the Purdue, though, as they did a better job of stopping their offense than the Boilers did.

Notre Dame punted twice all day, once because it fumbled a hand off on a third-and-three play on the Purdue 33, and the other because it wiped out a first down with a penalty that resulted in a loss of a down. Every other drive ended with a touchdown or a turnover.

“We just kept giving the ball back to them,” said Steve Burtnett, who was an excellent 15-of-20 passing for 253 yards, but who also threw three interceptions.

As a result of all the turnovers, Purdue was able to leverage possession of the ball for nearly two of the final three quarters. The Irish offense, with all its success, was forced to stand on the sidelines as the Purdue offense had a field day with the young Irish defense.

Purdue quarterback Jim Everett, who was building a freshman red shirt for the start heading up until game, looked like former Boilers star Mark Herrmann as he ripped to shred the Notre Dame pass coverage. Everett had the best day of his career, completing 20 of 28 passes for 259 yards and two touchdowns, as he was grasped with wide open receivers and a great deal of time to pass downfield.

Most of Everett’s success came after Irish captain Mike Golick was forced to leave the game with a bruised right shoulder. Golick was hurt very early in the second quarter during Purdue’s first scoring drive. He was replaced by freshman Cedric Figaro, who became one of Everett’s favorite targets.

The move to play Figaro proved costly, as he was the 12th man on the field during a Purdue field goal attempt. The penalty gave the Boilers a first down, and they took advantage of the mistake to score their first touchdown.

Among the Notre Dame players played however, it still had a very good chance to avoid the upset. After the defense shot the Boilers down following Allen Pinkett’s second touch down run of the day, the Irish offense regained possession on its own 44 with two and a half minutes left.

Needing only a field goal to win, Allen Pinkett, who had led the Boilers’ 23-0 victory, was called the huddle. He looked right instead of seeing that good shape Beuerlein called a double screen - a screen set up on both sides wide. The move to play Figaro proved costly, as he was the 12th man on the field during a Purdue field goal attempt. The penalty gave the Boilers a first down, and they took advantage of the mistake to score their first touchdown.

Among the Notre Dame players played however, it still had a very good chance to avoid the upset. After the defense shot the Boilers down following Allen Pinkett’s second touch down run of the day, the Irish offense regained possession on its own 44 with two and a half minutes left.

Needing only a field goal to win, Allen Pinkett, who had led the Boilers’ 23-0 victory, was called the huddle. He looked right instead of seeing that good shape Beuerlein called a double screen - a screen set up on both sides wide. The move to play Figaro proved costly, as he was the 12th man on the field during a Purdue field goal attempt. The penalty gave the Boilers a first down, and they took advantage of the mistake to score their first touchdown.

Among the Notre Dame players played however, it still had a very good chance to avoid the upset. After the defense shot the Boilers down following Allen Pinkett’s second touch down run of the day, the Irish offense regained possession on its own 44 with two and a half minutes left.

Needing only a field goal to win, Allen Pinkett, who had led the Boilers’ 23-0 victory, was called the huddle. He looked right instead of seeing that good shape Beuerlein called a double screen - a screen set up on both sides wide. The move to play Figaro proved costly, as he was the 12th man on the field during a Purdue field goal attempt. The penalty gave the Boilers a first down, and they took advantage of the mistake to score their first touchdown.

Among the Notre Dame players played however, it still had a very good chance to avoid the upset. After the defense shot the Boilers down following Allen Pinkett’s second touch down run of the day, the Irish offense regained possession on its own 44 with two and a half minutes left.

Needing only a field goal to win, Allen Pinkett, who had led the Boilers’ 23-0 victory, was called the huddle. He looked right instead of seeing that good shape Beuerlein called a double screen - a screen set up on both sides wide. The move to play Figaro proved costly, as he was the 12th man on the field during a Purdue field goal attempt. The penalty gave the Boilers a first down, and they took advantage of the mistake to score their first touchdown.

Among the Notre Dame players played however, it still had a very good chance to avoid the upset. After the defense shot the Boilers down following Allen Pinkett’s second touch down run of the day, the Irish offense regained possession on its own 44 with two and a half minutes left.

Needing only a field goal to win, Allen Pinkett, who had led the Boilers’ 23-0 victory, was called the huddle. He looked right instead of seeing that good shape Beuerlein called a double screen - a screen set up on both sides wide. The move to play Figaro proved costly, as he was the 12th man on the field during a Purdue field goal attempt. The penalty gave the Boilers a first down, and they took advantage of the mistake to score their first touchdown.