U.S. awaits return of detained sailors

Associated Press

NOME, Alaska - Diplomats and anxious relatives waited on land yesterday, while a Coast Guard cutter sailed to the edge of Soviet waters to pick up five American seamen held in Siberia for the past week.

The five were detained when their 120-foot supply ship, the Frieda K, apparently wandered into Soviet waters near the Diomede islands in the Bering Strait and asked a Soviet naval vessel for directions. They had been held in a hotel at Ustrek in Siberia.

The 378-foot cutter, named for a Aleut Island, Calif., was diverted from a routine fisheries patrol in the southern Bering Sea to the rendezvous area, where the international date line slices between the Soviet Union and St. Lawrence Island.

The exchange had been set for about noon EDT yesterday, but it was postponed until later in the day, the Coast Guard said. The reason for the delay was unclear.

The weather in the rendezvous area was to be fair, with winds running to four feet, the National Weather Service reported.

The seamen are skipper Tabb Thomas, 25, engineer Tate Thomas, 24, first mate Mark Halpin, 20, cook Charles Burrall, 29, and deckhand Tommy Miller. All live in Homer, Alaska.

Coast Guard spokesman Dan Dewell said from Juneau, that a Coast Guard C-130 carrying about 30 reporters and photographers was en route from Anchorage to Nome, where they would wait for the release.

Dewell said the five sailors and their ship could be taken either to Nome or Gambell on Alaska's St. Lawrence Island. The C-130 would not land on the island unless there was a life-threatening emergency, Dewell said, because of the condition of the runway.

The Frieda K, disappeared, while returning to Nome after taking fuel and water to the Digigone Explorer, a seismicographic research ship working in the Chukchi Sea, said Alistair Carroll, marine supervisor for Digigone Geophysical Corp. of Houston.

The Frieda K is owned by Kemp Paluccci Sea Food of Duluth, Minn.

John Hughes, a State Department spokesman, said the Americans apparently lost their way and sailed toward another ship to ask directions.

---

College Board announces largest increase in SAT scores since 1963

Associated Press

NEW YORK - Women and future teachers were among the biggest gainers as average scores on the Scholastic Aptitude Test registered their largest rise in two decades last year, The College Board announced yesterday.

Average math SATs were up three points to 471 in 1983-84, while average scores on the verbal section of the exam rose more modestly one point from the previous year to 420.

The SAT exam is scored on a scale of 200 to 800, with 600 a perfect score. Nearly a million college-bound high school seniors took the SAT exam last year. South Carolina, where 49 percent of high school graduates took the test, scored the lowest average - 419 on the math, and 384 on the verbal.

Iowa led the nation with average math scores of 591 and verbal scores of 519 - but only 5 percent of that state's high school graduates took the exam last year.

In earlier years, The College Board announced, the increase in SAT scores since 1963 is significant move up in recent years, following 20 years of steady declines. The 1983-84 results marked the first significant upswing in recent years. Scores on both math and verbal SAT's have leveled off during the last five years, following 20 years of steady declines. The 1983-84 results marked the first significant upswing in recent years.

Scores on both math and verbal SATs have levels off during the last five years, following 20 years of steady declines. The 1983-84 results marked the first significant upswing in recent years.

The million seniors who take the SAT represent a third of their high school class, but two-thirds of those who go directly to college.

---

College Board

The College Board announces largest increase in SAT scores since 1963.

College Board

The new student-managed T-shirt shop should be opening in LaFortune Student Center next week. It will be located at the former location of the campus press in LaFortune.

Student Senator Tom Abood explained, "The shop will sell more than just silk-screened T-shirts. There will be a wide assortment of clothing from retailers such as Jansport and Sports World." Abood went on to say, "The shop will be conveniently located on the campus, and students will have the opportunity to make purchases without having to find transportation to one of the malls. The convenience is one of the best things about the shop."

In addition to the convenience, Abood feels that the prices will be lower than competitive and hopes that the shop will maintain these prices in the future.

Bob Cox, manager of the soon-to-open T-shirt shop, emphasizes that in addition to selling merchandise, the shop will be able to provide dorms and student organizations with T-shirts with their own logos on them.

The shop will be managed by students as the Irish Gardens is and the profits will be funneled back into the student activity board.
Saint Mary's Freshman Advisory Council members elected yesterday are: Trisha Anton, Julie Bier, Kathleen Bock, Anne Borgman, Shari Gillig, Lisa Hamann, Karen Hanson, Maura Pitts, Patrice Pette, Loretta Pottenti, Meghan Rafferty, Mary Ryan, and Angie Peoples. 96% of the Saint Mary's freshman class voted in the election - The Observer

A tough choice faces Florida legislators with the passage of the recent national drinking age, says Forbes Magazine. They can refuse to raise the drinking age to 21, and lose some federal highway money, or raise the drinking age and risk losing more than $225 million spent each spring by vacationing college students - The Observer

A man with a knife concealed under his pant leg was arrested yesterday when a group of Democratic primary nominating vote seekers, including incumbent delegate Walter Mondaile at a noon rally, the Secret Service said. Rich McDrew, agent in charge of the San Francisco office of the Secret Service, said the man was spotted at the start of the rally in Justin Herman Plaza by agents and police officers who noticed he was "kind of a stranger" and was trying to work his way to the front of the line to get close to Mondale. The man was not immediately identified. A police officer approached the candidate, the man "pulled out his pant leg and a police officer and agent noticed a strap around his leg. It turned out to be a holster with a knife in it," McDrew said. The man was arrested for possession of a concealed weapon, McDrew said. -AP

Of Interest

A Judicial Council Meeting will take place tonight at 7 p.m. in 124 Hayes-Healy - The Observer

The security department is holding a public auction tonight at 7 p.m. at Gate 11 of the stadium. The property to be auctioned will include bicycles, calculators, watches and other miscellaneous items that have been lost or abandoned on campus - The Observer

Applications for the 1985 Indiana Senate Majority Intern Program are now available to interested sophomores, juniors, seniors, and graduate students. Interns are assigned to Republican senators, assisting them throughout the session with constituent correspondence, bill research and analysis, media relations and committee work. Interviews for the internships will be held Oct. 15 and Nov. 14 in the Senate Chambers. For more information, contact Dr. George Brinkley of the political science department - The Observer

A voter registration drive is being held by the St. Mary's College and Notre Dame admission. Students may register to vote in the Nov. 6 election in St. Joseph County if they are not registered to vote in their home districts. Students who are registered to vote in their home districts should contact their local election board for an absentee ballot. Students may register with lobby members directly today and in the lunch lobby of LaFortune on Tuesday from 9 to 11 a.m. and from 1 to 3 p.m. - The Observer

Weather

Mostly sunny and warm today with a high in the middle 80s. Tonight will be fair and cool with a low in lower to middle 60s. Tomorrow, partly sunny and pleasant with a high around 80 - The Observer

The Observer is a member of The Associated Press. All rights reserved.

Thursday, September 20, 1984 - page 2

Salad bars are more than a lot of fancy dressing

The salad bar is a very trendy item to include on menus of fast food restaurants these days. Everyone, from Burger King to Wendy's to Ponderosa is jumping on the lettuce and creation bandwagon. But who do these places think they're fooling? Notre Dame Food Services and SAGA Foodservice have made salad bars a staple of college culinary pleasure for many years now. In fact, the salad bar could probably be called the most popular item on the menu at almost any school.

That is, it is popular with those who have never worked the salad bar at either school. Take it from a versus salesharksharksharkshark once you've handled, lifted, carried and replaced that stuff, you don't want to even look at it during non-working hours.

However, the open is the only reason why working the salad bar is probably not one of the more popular jobs at either ND Food Services or SAGA. It's the students themselves that really make the phrase "take this job and shove it" very tempting to the workers.

Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students, take pity on those who stock your salad bar. First and foremost, don't scream at us for missing items. There is nothing worse than an enraged Saint Mary's student confronting you on the absence of ranch dressing.

Every salad bar worker knows the first thing you do upon getting to work is to examine the menu for the meal you are working. That will give you an indication of exactly how hard you will be working. If you're lucky, the food will be exceptionally easy, and the salad bar traffic will be light. However, if it is Chinese pepper steak night, watch out.

Students start lining up outside the dining hall at about 4:15. It is truly pitiful to see them staring at you in anticipation, mouth watering, as they watch you eat. By 4:25, everyone starts to assume their places server, cold and hot food runners, silverware people, etc. The salad bar workers, cloth in hand, assume their posts next to it. At 4:30, doors open and the stampede begins. If it is the aforementioned, Chinese pepper steak night, students frantically wave 10 cards at the checkers and head for the salad bar.

This part always reminds me of the K-Mart commercial where the manager asks customers to please not run down our employees, cause "we really do need them." The rows are often three people deep as students grab in a frenzy at Chinese noodles, mushrooms, cheese, etc.

The popular items always keep us running. A salad bar worker from Farley confirmed that cheese was their most popular item. At Saint Mary's cheese and those squiggly chinese noodles keep 'em coming back for more.

Which is better, the salad bar at SMC or ND? The answer is usually whichever one you don't usually have. If I could stand to eat salad again, I would probably pick Notre Dame's. They have cheese and potato salad every day, plus their bacon bits are a brighter shade of orange than at Saint Mary's. ND students eating at Saint Mary's seem to like the mushrooms, cucumbers, and cauliflower we have every day.

The worst part of salad bars is the abuse you have to take from students, however. The Farley junior 1 I know had the rude experience of a student approaching her in the middle of the cafeteria and then launching into a tirade about the new walls in the North Dining Hall. Tiring in vain to explain that she had absolutely nothing to do with it, the poor girl was polite enough not to punch him. I don't know what it is, but the second someone sees a MAGA uniform in the middle of the dining hall, it is a perfect target for harassment. The kindest thing about the dining hall experience, at least at Saint Mary's, is the ballistics. Some of them can write complaints and comments on the food. Some of them are serious, some are funny, and some downright hostile. A lot of people don't even write complete sentences, just "more macaroni salad," and "less ahi ahi." Please Mr. Luedtke and Mr. Hickey: keep those pasta nights coming. if only to save your salad workers from the ravenous appetites of the Notre Dame/Saint Mary salad eaters.

The Observer is always looking for new talent. If you are interested in newspaper writing or newspaper production, stop up at The Observer office on the 3rd floor of LaFortune.

The best has a taste all it's own.

NICK & KENNY's SPECIALS

MONDAY
PITCHERS $2.95
TUESDAY
LITTLE KINGS 2/$1
WEDNESDAY
IMPORTS $1
THURSDAY
FRIDAY & SATURDAY
25¢ BEER
BANDS & ASSORTED SPECIALS

Please support the AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY

FOR SPRING PRODUCTION
April 17, 18, 19

THURSDAY

SPECIALS

WANTED:
STUDENT PLAYERS
For Spring Production
April 17, 18, 19
The Observer
producer director

- applications available
2nd-floor LaFortune
September 19-24
any questions call
Anne 1274
The Observer

Nobel winners predict extinction of mankind

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Nineteen Nobel Prize winners and the leaders of about 100 of the country's environmental and arms control organizations joined yesterday in a warning that mankind faces extinction either through a nuclear or an environmental catastrophe "unless humanity changes its ways."

At the start of a five-day conference on "The Fate of the Earth," they made public a policy statement declaring that an exploding population and the nuclear arms race are both threats to the future.

"What nuclear war could do in 50 to 150 minutes an exploding popula­ tion assaulting the Earth's life­ support systems could do in 50 to 150 years," states the statement, signed by winners of Nobels in physics, medicine, chemistry and economics and 175 leaders of envi­ ronmental and peace groups.

Shaped at meetings in Washing­ ton, San Francisco and New York and in exchanges through the mails over the last two months, the statement lays out a com­ mon course of action to influence national policy.

Stanford University biologist Paul Ehrlich, an expert on population, called the conference "the most im­ portant meeting that's ever been held on Earth."

Ehrlich states that of the 175 leaders joining the session would not endorse a candidate in the presidential race but that he personally would back any opponent to President Reagan. He termed Reagan's blindness to the threats of a nuclear war "clear end to the world or a popula­ tion would back any opp­ onent to President Reagan. He term ed important meeting that's ever been called the conference "the most im­ portant meeting that's ever been held on Earth."

"Six minutes from now, based on the failure of a Soviet computer, the end of the earth as we know it could be under way. It's a different bal­ lgame and the rules need to be looked at again."

The policy statement, which is ex­ tended, said that in addition to the conference, says even a limited nuclear war involving only a fraction of existing atomic weapons could produce enough smoke and soot to block out nearly all of the Northern Hemisphere's sunlight, plunging the planet for many months into a dark, lethal "nuclear winter" that could end hum an life.

"Nuclear scientists have given us reason to rethink all our old thoughts," David Brower, founder of Friends of the Earth and one of the country's best known conver­ sationists, told the news conference.

"Six minutes from now, based on the failure of a Soviet computer, the end of the earth as we know it could be under way. It's a different bal­ lgame and the rules need to be looked at again."

The policy statement, which is ex­ tended, said that in addition to the conference, says even a limited nuclear war involving only a fraction of existing atomic weapons could produce enough smoke and soot to block out nearly all of the Northern Hemisphere's sunlight, plunging the planet for many months into a dark, lethal "nuclear winter" that could end hum an life.

"I make no bones about it," Ehrlich said. "I am a registered Re­ publican but I cannot imagine a Democratic candidate I would not prefer over Ronald Reagan simply because Reagan pushes the wrong way on virtually every issue I'm interested in and seems to be totally disconnected from what's going on in the world. Ronald Reagan's policies toward the environment could show us down the drain sometime in the next 50 to 150 years."

The administration has responded to such criticism by maintaining that its strengthening of the U.S. military will lessen chances of hostilities, and it has blamed Soviet insincerity for the breakdown of arms control talks. It has defended its environ­ mental record as being as good as that of previous administrations.

"Nuclear scientists have given us reason to rethink all our old thoughts," David Brower, founder of Friends of the Earth and one of the country's best known conver­ sationists, told the news conference.

"Six minutes from now, based on the failure of a Soviet computer, the end of the earth as we know it could be under way. It's a different bal­ lgame and the rules need to be looked at again."

"Six minutes from now, based on the failure of a Soviet computer, the end of the earth as we know it could be under way. It's a different bal­ lgame and the rules need to be looked at again."

The policy statement, which is ex­ tended, said that in addition to the conference, says even a limited nuclear war involving only a fraction of existing atomic weapons could produce enough smoke and soot to block out nearly all of the Northern Hemisphere's sunlight, plunging the planet for many months into a dark, lethal "nuclear winter" that could end hum an life.

"Nuclear scientists have given us reason to rethink all our old thoughts," David Brower, founder of Friends of the Earth and one of the country's best known conver­ sationists, told the news conference.

"Six minutes from now, based on the failure of a Soviet computer, the end of the earth as we know it could be under way. It's a different bal­ lgame and the rules need to be looked at again."

"Six minutes from now, based on the failure of a Soviet computer, the end of the earth as we know it could be under way. It's a different bal­ lgame and the rules need to be looked at again."

The policy statement, which is ex­ tended, said that in addition to the conference, says even a limited nuclear war involving only a fraction of existing atomic weapons could produce enough smoke and soot to block out nearly all of the Northern Hemisphere's sunlight, plunging the planet for many months into a dark, lethal "nuclear winter" that could end hum an life.

"Nuclear scientists have given us reason to rethink all our old thoughts," David Brower, founder of Friends of the Earth and one of the country's best known conver­ sationists, told the news conference.

"Six minutes from now, based on the failure of a Soviet computer, the end of the earth as we know it could be under way. It's a different bal­ lgame and the rules need to be looked at again."

"Nuclear scientists have given us reason to rethink all our old thoughts," David Brower, founder of Friends of the Earth and one of the country's best known conver­ sationists, told the news conference.

"Six minutes from now, based on the failure of a Soviet computer, the end of the earth as we know it could be under way. It's a different bal­ lgame and the rules need to be looked at again."

"Six minutes from now, based on the failure of a Soviet computer, the end of the earth as we know it could be under way. It's a different bal­ lgame and the rules need to be looked at again."

The policy statement, which is ex­ tended, said that in addition to the conference, says even a limited nuclear war involving only a fraction of existing atomic weapons could produce enough smoke and soot to block out nearly all of the Northern Hemisphere's sunlight, plunging the planet for many months into a dark, lethal "nuclear winter" that could end hum an life.

"Nuclear scientists have given us reason to rethink all our old thoughts," David Brower, founder of Friends of the Earth and one of the country's best known conver­ sationists, told the news conference.

"Six minutes from now, based on the failure of a Soviet computer, the end of the earth as we know it could be under way. It's a different bal­ lgame and the rules need to be looked at again."

"Six minutes from now, based on the failure of a Soviet computer, the end of the earth as we know it could be under way. It's a different bal­ lgame and the rules need to be looked at again."

The policy statement, which is ex­ tended, said that in addition to the conference, says even a limited nuclear war involving only a fraction of existing atomic weapons could produce enough smoke and soot to block out nearly all of the Northern Hemisphere's sunlight, plunging the planet for many months into a dark, lethal "nuclear winter" that could end hum an life.

"Nuclear scientists have given us reason to rethink all our old thoughts," David Brower, founder of Friends of the Earth and one of the country's best known conver­ sationists, told the news conference.

"Six minutes from now, based on the failure of a Soviet computer, the end of the earth as we know it could be under way. It's a different bal­ lgame and the rules need to be looked at again."

"Six minutes from now, based on the failure of a Soviet computer, the end of the earth as we know it could be under way. It's a different bal­ lgame and the rules need to be looked at again."

The policy statement, which is ex­ tended, said that in addition to the conference, says even a limited nuclear war involving only a fraction of existing atomic weapons could produce enough smoke and soot to block out nearly all of the Northern Hemisphere's sunlight, plunging the planet for many months into a dark, lethal "nuclear winter" that could end hum an life.

"Six minutes from now, based on the failure of a Soviet computer, the end of the earth as we know it could be under way. It's a different bal­ lgame and the rules need to be looked at again."

"Six minutes from now, based on the failure of a Soviet computer, the end of the earth as we know it could be under way. It's a different bal­ lgame and the rules need to be looked at again."

The policy statement, which is ex­ tended, said that in addition to the conference, says even a limited nuclear war involving only a fraction of existing atomic weapons could produce enough smoke and soot to block out nearly all of the Northern Hemisphere's sunlight, plunging the planet for many months into a dark, lethal "nuclear winter" that could end hum an life.

"Six minutes from now, based on the failure of a Soviet computer, the end of the earth as we know it could be under way. It's a different bal­ lgame and the rules need to be looked at again."

"Six minutes from now, based on the failure of a Soviet computer, the end of the earth as we know it could be under way. It's a different bal­ lgame and the rules need to be looked at again."

The policy statement, which is ex­ tended, said that in addition to the conference, says even a limited nuclear war involving only a fraction of existing atomic weapons could produce enough smoke and soot to block out nearly all of the Northern Hemisphere's sunlight, plunging the planet for many months into a dark, lethal "nuclear winter" that could end hum an life.
Mondale has abandoned tradition of Kennedy and FDR, Reagan says

Associated Press

Walter F. Mondale accused President Reagan yesterday of "traveling around this nation in a cocoon," while the president told thousands of voters in the Northeast that Mondale had abandoned the tradition of "good and decent Democrats such as John F. Kennedy and Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Reagan, confident of Republican votes, stepped up his campaign to win back Democrats to his side. As the Waterbury, Conn., town green where Kennedy delivered a speech in 1960, Reagan reminded the 10,000 people there that he was once a Democrat and said, "It can be a wrenching thing to change parties." But he added, "You can feel as if you are abandoning your past. But I tell you truly, the only abandoning I see is in the Democratic leadership abandoning the good and decent Democrats of the JFK, and FDR and Harry Truman tradition."

In Hammonton, N.J., Reagan derisively described Mondale's deficit reduction plan as a "blueprint for bondage" that would hang a "ball and chain around America's neck."

Noting that Mondale unveiled his plan in Philadelphia, Reagan said he should have done so in Atlantic City, where there is legalized gambling.

In Stockton, Calif., Mondale again called on Reagan to reveal his plan to reduce the federal deficit before the Nov. 6 election.

"This country belongs to you and you've got a right to get answers right now," Mondale said.

At a question and answer session before college students, Mondale portrayed himself as someone open to questions and Reagan as the opposite.

"What we've got here is a Hollywood question-free isolated president, traveling around this nation in a cocoon, not telling anybody anything, not answering questions, not telling us what he's doing, not being around the American people," he said.

Two new Mondale-Ferraro campaign commercials made their debut Tuesday night. One television ad shows a man digging a hole in his backyard, a takeoff on a Reagan administration official's pronouncement that people could survive a nuclear attack by digging an earth shelter. "It's time to think about how deep a hole we are digging for ourselves," intones the somber announcer.

Seamen

continued from page 1

"The vessel to which they sailed turned out to be a Soviet warship. Instead of getting directions, they got arrested," he said.

The Frieda K was due in Nome on Sept. 12 and was reported missing Friday. The State Department has lodged an official protest that U.S. officials weren't notified until Friday that the Americans were in custody and weren't allowed to talk to them until Sunday.

In a telephone conversation with Sen. Ted Stevens, Thad Thom's said the Soviets repeatedly pressured the Americans to sign statements that they entered Soviet waters intentionally.

Malin Jennings, an aide for the Alaska senator, said Thom's told Stevens they had not signed the papers.

Hughes also said that while it hasn't been established that the Americans were in Soviet waters, if they were "clearly their voyage was an innocent one."

Workshop

continued from page 1

nations, such as the suggestion that all food sales operations buy from the same wholesale dealer, were impractical. "We would all have to check our orders with each other... it would be a pain."

Peggy Hess, in charge of food sales for Pasquerilla West, wished that the workshop had treated its subject more thoroughly. "We just read over the rules," she said, "it wasn't very specific. Was the workshop worthwhile? "Not really," she said.

Correction

Because of an editing error, a story in yesterday's Observer incorrectly stated the probable contents of an upcoming memo from the Student Affairs office.

The memo will reportedly state that when alcohol is served at a hall-sponsored off-campus event, the business or group that operates the facility must sign a release agreeing to serve alcohol only to those over 21.

Also, a statement from FW President Peggy Hess was incorrectly reported. Hess said it would be ridiculous to also hold the halls reponsible for serving alcohol only to those over 21.

Economy shows signs of speedy slowdown

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Americans' personal income in August posted the smallest gain in three months while new housing construction plunged 12.8 percent, the government said yesterday, as the economy gave further signs of a rapid slowdown.

The new reports sent many economists scurrying to revise their predictions for economic growth for the rest of 1984, but the Reagan administration said it was sticking by earlier forecasts.

The Commerce Department said Americans' personal income rose 0.5 percent in August, the smallest gain since May.

The report showed that Americans were not as eager to spend their earnings. Personal consumption spending rose by only 0.1 percent, matching the meager increase of July. Early in the year, spending grew as much as 1.8 percent in a single month.

The government said construction of new homes in August plummeted to an annual rate of 1.54 million units, the lowest since December 1982 when the country was beginning to pull out of the long recession.

The housing decline was led by a 19.5 percent drop in construction starts on apartments. Single-family construction starts posted their third straight monthly decline, dropping 9.7 percent.

While no one disagreed that the new reports confirmed a marked slowdown in growth, there was debate over how precipitous the decline will be.

The government is due to release on today its preliminary "flash" estimate for economic growth, as measured by the gross national product, for the current July-September quarter.

Treasury Secretary Donald Regan said he saw no reason to revise the administration's current estimate for growth around 4.5 percent in the third quarter and 4 percent in the fourth quarter. He pointed out that this would be half of the 8.8 percent pace turned in from January through June.

But Allen Sinai, chief economist of Shearson Lehman American Express, said the personal income and spending figures showed a "surprisingly decided slowdown in the growth of the economy."

He predicted third quarter growth at a 3 to 3.5 percent rate.

Other economists predicted the expansion would slip even lower to perhaps 2 percent in the third quarter.

"This is just a real weak quarter," said Michael Evans, head of Evans Economics in Washington. "Every number we have gotten in the past few weeks has been lower than expected."

Analysts blamed high interest rates for not only the slowdown in housing construction but also the decline in consumer spending.

Regan, at a news conference, said long-term bond rates have already declined somewhat and he predicted that other rates including four-weeker rates should go lower as the pace of economic growth slows.

Housing industry officials were not as optimistic.

Jack Carlson, chief economist for the National Association of Realtors, said GNP growth could even register a negative number in the first half of 1985, "as high interest rates continue to dampen economic growth."

The government is due to release on Tuesday its second estimate of growth in the second quarter, which it last reported at a 5.1 percent rate.

The government is due to release on Tuesday its second estimate of growth in the second quarter, which it last reported at a 5.1 percent rate.

Three's a Crowd

Alcohol Awareness Week at Saint Mary's is discussed by Kathy Hartnagel, Andrea Sendi and Anne Marie Kozlman at last night's Saint Mary's programming board meeting. Dates are set for Oct. 1 through Oct. 4.
San Diego mayor indicted for conspiracy and perjury

Associated Press

SAN DIEGO - San Diego Mayor Roger Hedgecock was indicted by a county grand jury yesterday on one count of conspiracy and 14 counts of perjury, ending a two-month investigation of Hedgecock's personal and campaign finances.

Also indicted by the grand jury were J. David Terry Donmilli and Nancy Hoover, executives in the now-defunct J. David & Co investment firm, and Tom Shepard, Hedgecock's former political consultant.

The indictment was announced by San Diego County District Attorney Edwin Miller.

Hedgecock's finances became an issue in February, when he revealed he had received a $15,000 loan in 1983 on an oral agreement from Hoover.

Shortly thereafter, the grand jury announced its investigation of the 38-year-old mayor, and in May, two weeks before the mayoral primary election, he was accused in a civil suit of failing to report more than $157,000 in illegal campaign contributions in 1983.

The suit claimed the money came from Dominelli and Hoover of the now-defunct J. David & Co. Dominelli has been in jail since April 28 on charges of bankruptcy fraud, conspiracy and perjury in connection with his money laundering firm.

The grand jury investigation into Hedgecock's finances was suspended until after the June 5 primary, in which the mayor failed to win a majority of the votes cast and was forced into a November runoff against fellow Republican Dick Carlson.

The jury was considering allegations that the campaign money changed hands illegally through the political consulting firm of Tom Shepard & Associates, which was working to elect Hedgecock.

That transaction was alleged to have occurred prior to Hedgecock's victory in a 1983 special election called to fill the mayor's post after Pete Wilson left to become a U.S. senator.

Hedgecock is a former county supervisor who has never lost an election.

The lawsuit filed in May by Miller has been put on hold until the state Fair Political Practices Commission decides whether it will file a similar action.

Hedgecock has alleged that Miller, who supported the mayor's opponent in the 1983 election, filed the lawsuit in an effort to damage him politically.

The mayor said in a recent interview that "nothing really criminally wrong has happened. There have been some late filings of forms, but the figures were clerical in nature - but that all that (investigators) are going to find."

"It was not a gun. The guy had a camera and apparently he has been charged with a local violation," Secret Service spokesman Mike Terr said.

The indictment named as defendants H. Peter & Associates, a San Diego legal firm, and Tom Shepard, Hedgecock's former political consultant.

The task force chairman, Detroit Police Chief William Harr, noted that "a victim of family violence is no less a victim than one set upon by strangers."

"The legal response to family violence must be guided primarily by the nature of the abusive act, not the relationship between victim and abuser," he said in a written statement accompanying the report, written by the panel of law enforcement officials, psychologists and family experts.

Specifically, the report recommended:

- People charged with violent family crimes be arrested just as if there was a victim.

- Judges and jury members be guided primarily by the nature of the abusive act.

- Judges interview victims before releasing any abuser.

- Judges should be trained to handle with greater sensitivity by prosecutors and judges.

- Panel proposed videotaping the testimony of children so that they don't have to confront their alleged attacker in a courtroom.

- Judges jail violent abusers who inflict serious injury.

President Reagan, flanked by his Chief of Staff James Baker, right, and Deputy Chief of Staff Richard Darman, left, was given a scare yesterday when police recovered a contents of a gymnast along his motorcade's route. A man was arrested but had nothing but a camera. Story is below.

Camera, not gun, aimed at Reagan

Associated Press

HAMILTON TOWNSHIP, N.J. - Police arrested a man along President Reagan's motorcade route yesterday after they received reports of a gunman on the Atlantic City Exposition but all they found on the man was a camera.

"It was not a gun. The guy had a camera and apparently he has been charged with a local violation," Secret Service spokesman Mike Terr said.

John Williamson, 28, of Hamilton Township, has been charged with interfering with a governmental function, allowing police, hindering apprehension and possessing an open alcoholic beverage container in a motor vehicle, according to Lt. Frank Lenz.

Lentz said Williamson was standing on the expressway, which is off limits to pedestrians, waiting to photo a motorcade when the motorcade passed by A motorist noticed Williamson and reported to a state trooper that saw someone walking on the highway and thought he had a gun.

Hamilton police descended on the area and chased Williamson, who fled into a nearby wooded area. Reagan's motorcade was traveling from Hamilton to Asbury Park, where the president addressed a rally to the Atlantic City Airport.

JUNIOR PARENTS' WEEKEND

CHAIRMAN APPLICATIONS

Available September 18-21 in the Student Activities Office. Applications are due on Friday, September 21. Interviews will be held Tuesday, September 25.

The Best in Prime Rib, Steaks, Seafood

OPEN Mon - Thurs 11 a.m. - 2 p.m.
Fri 11 a.m. - 10 p.m.
Sat 5 - 10 p.m.

602 S. Walnut (219) 232-2494

President Reagan, flanked by his Chief of Staff James Baker, right, and Deputy Chief of Staff Richard Darman, left, was given a scare yesterday when police recovered a contents of a gymnast along his motorcade's route. A man was arrested but had nothing but a camera. Story is below.

Camera, not gun, aimed at Reagan

Associated Press

HAMILTON TOWNSHIP, N.J. - Police arrested a man along President Reagan's motorcade route yesterday after they received reports of a gunman on the Atlantic City Exposition but all they found on the man was a camera.

"It was not a gun. The guy had a camera and apparently he has been charged with a local violation," Secret Service spokesman Mike Terr said.

John Williamson, 28, of Hamilton Township, has been charged with interfering with a governmental function, allowing police, hindering apprehension and possessing an open alcoholic beverage container in a motor vehicle, according to Lt. Frank Lenz.

Lentz said Williamson was standing on the expressway, which is off limits to pedestrians, waiting to photo a motorcade when the motorcade passed by A motorist noticed Williamson and reported to a state trooper that saw someone walking on the highway and thought he had a gun.

Hamilton police descended on the area and chased Williamson, who fled into a nearby wooded area. Reagan's motorcade was traveling from Hamilton to Asbury Park, where the president addressed a rally to the Atlantic City Airport.

JUNIOR PARENTS' WEEKEND

CHAIRMAN APPLICATIONS

Available September 18-21 in the Student Activities Office. Applications are due on Friday, September 21. Interviews will be held Tuesday, September 25.

The Best in Prime Rib, Steaks, Seafood

OPEN Mon - Thurs 11 a.m. - 2 p.m.
Fri 11 a.m. - 10 p.m.
Sat 5 - 10 p.m.

602 S. Walnut (219) 232-2494

President Reagan, flanked by his Chief of Staff James Baker, right, and Deputy Chief of Staff Richard Darman, left, was given a scare yesterday when police recovered a contents of a gymnast along his motorcade's route. A man was arrested but had nothing but a camera. Story is below.

Camera, not gun, aimed at Reagan

Associated Press

HAMILTON TOWNSHIP, N.J. - Police arrested a man along President Reagan's motorcade route yesterday after they received reports of a gunman on the Atlantic City Exposition but all they found on the man was a camera.

"It was not a gun. The guy had a camera and apparently he has been charged with a local violation," Secret Service spokesman Mike Terr said.

John Williamson, 28, of Hamilton Township, has been charged with interfering with a governmental function, allowing police, hindering apprehension and possessing an open alcoholic beverage container in a motor vehicle, according to Lt. Frank Lenz.

Lentz said Williamson was standing on the expressway, which is off limits to pedestrians, waiting to photo a motorcade when the motorcade passed by A motorist noticed Williamson and reported to a state trooper that saw someone walking on the highway and thought he had a gun.

Hamilton police descended on the area and chased Williamson, who fled into a nearby wooded area. Reagan's motorcade was traveling from Hamilton to Asbury Park, where the president addressed a rally to the Atlantic City Airport.

JUNIOR PARENTS' WEEKEND

CHAIRMAN APPLICATIONS

Available September 18-21 in the Student Activities Office. Applications are due on Friday, September 21. Interviews will be held Tuesday, September 25.
Older is not always better
by Scott Ebersol
features staff writer

I was an August like any other at Notre Dame, filled with the heat of August like any other at Aquinas High School in Rialto. But as the season progressed as always, I realized that I had been selected to be part of the football team. The University had been interested in the football team and they had come to see me. They wanted to know if I was interested in football and they asked me about my interests. I had flown up from Texas. "It was thrilling to be there," said Javier. "People in the audience kept laughing at the Jimmy Connors and a professional. They asked me if I was interested in football and I said yes. Javier was given two invitations for the Presidential box. "The box was plush, with a view of the Rose Bowl and a presidential seal and pictures of the President adorned the walls." Javier paused. "I have a feeling we'll meet some good people at the Rose Bowl." Javier was pleased to be able to claim any dorm as his home. "I like the camaraderie and the friends," said Javier. "The girls are kind of nice to me." Javier began his career at Notre Dame with the idea of staying for two years, but he plans to attend a quality institution with a national reputation and excellence. He has a good deal of time to claim any dorm as his home, but he thinks they have the right idea.

Barbara Stevens
features staff writer

A dome has tea at the White House

Dr. Francis J. "N.J." Napolitano, a junior at Notre Dame, filled with the heat of August like any other at Aquinas High School in Rialto. But as the season progressed as always, I realized that I had been selected to be part of the football team. The University had been interested in the football team and they had come to see me. They wanted to know if I was interested in football and they asked me about my interests. I had flown up from Texas. "It was thrilling to be there," said N.J. "People in the audience kept laughing at the Jimmy Connors and a professional. They asked me if I was interested in football and I said yes. N.J. was given two invitations for the Presidential box. "The box was plush, with a view of the Rose Bowl and a presidential seal and pictures of the President adorned the walls." N.J. paused. "I have a feeling we'll meet some good people at the Rose Bowl." N.J. was pleased to be able to claim any dorm as his home. "I like the camaraderie and the friends," said N.J. "The girls are kind of nice to me." N.J. began his career at Notre Dame with the idea of staying for two years, but he plans to attend a quality institution with a national reputation and excellence. He has a good deal of time to claim any dorm as his home, but he thinks they have the right idea.
Viewpoint

Drawing the line on religion in politics

After having endured nearly two weeks of having my favorite TV programs preempted by the Democratic and Republican conventions, I was certain I had heard every issue or pseudo-issue conceivable ardently endorsed or passionately denounced by one politician or another. However, one thing stood out as a political issue of greater importance and complexity in this presidential race than any other. Both candidates, Reagan and Mondale, have exploited religion's emotional impact to promote their political agendas. At an "Ecumenical Prayer Breakfast" several weeks ago, President Reagan remarked that religion and politics are, and always will be, component and inseparable parts of each other. He went on to declare that the church must not be "intolerant of religion." Five days later, Walter Mondale returned that "the Founding Fathers spelled (religious freedom) out in great detail...in the separation of church and state."

The pseudo-issue conceivable ardently endorsed by the Democratic and Republican conventions is "the religious freedom" spelled out in great detail in the separation of church and state. Donald Reagan then went on to declare that "the Founding Fathers and...uncorrupted by political interference." Five days later, Walter Mondale replied that "the Founding Fathers...in the separation of church and state." Pompous speeches and flagrant ploy not only don't help, but impede in mind that among the issues at the core of this election are true public policy questions that carry with them a strong religious flavor such as prayer in public schools, tax exemption of certain religious organizations, nuclear disarmament, and, of course, abortion.

From these specifics arise several broader concepts. To what degree, if any, should politicians mix religion with politics? When do what degree should religious groups involve themselves in politics? As Andrew Saal puts it, "There are the Catholic bishops of the U.S. uniting to support the nuclear arms freeze movement. On the other hand, the fundamentalist Moral Majority endorses defense spending increases as a means to promote their respective viewpoints; however, things start to get troubling when interest groups attempt to force their views upon others via politics. Says the Rev. Jerry Falwell, "Religion and politics are one and the same...power."

Andy Saal

partial paranoid

As proudey peaks out, checks the hallway, a distant door opens slowly. A lone head furtively peaks out, checks the hallway once more, and then walks with students. If this fad continues, all too soon certain people will begin competing with each other for attention. After all, competition is a natural part of Notre Dame. Their devout foes will find the "shameless" susceptible to be an effective means to "draw attention to themselves or their cause." Unfortuately, there is only one thing worse than publicity—competition.

If this fad continues, all too soon certain people will begin competing with each other for attention. After all, competition is a natural part of Notre Dame. Their devout foes will find the "shameless" susceptible to be an effective means to "draw attention to themselves or their cause." Unfortuately, there is only one thing worse than publicity—competition.

Another statue gets kidnapped

The resident director closes his door and begins some last minute paperwork. Outside in the dark hall, a distant door opens slowly. A light illuminates a shadowy figure in the hallway, and signals to another conspirator. The two figures stage a getaway in the hall. The small, bronze statue stands on a pedestal near the door's location; the univeristy's "name sake of the dormitory cast forever in bronze. The two culprits appear. The statue of Father Sorin stands proudly again in South Hall. The statue no longer goes for walks; it formerly hollow shell and pedestal are now full of concrete. Father Sorin would rather crash through the old floor of the dorm than go for anymore walks with the students.

Kidnapping Father Sorin's statue was not a surprise. A few months later, several outdoor pieces of modern art vanished. No one really cared, however, since no one understood what they were, anyway. And then a major blow was dealt to the communists from its humble beginnings on last May. The ronan note called for the administration to loosen up its new alcohol policy. Pictures have turned up showing Knute in a variety of places, including Purdue University. Hopefully, as in the past, Rockne will eventually come home to his pedestal of honor. Indecisive alarming this, as we all know; we are living here at Notre Dame. Apparently, kidnappings are becoming a new fad among practical jokes and political statements. It is all the same thing called publicity; people like to attract public attention to themselves or their cause. Unfortuately, there is only one thing worse than publicity—competition.

As the religion/politics issue gains steam, the Catholics are being asked to take a spiritual stand on issues. "Would the Catholic bishops of the U.S. uniting to support the nuclear arms freeze movement..." In a modern new building, we walked through the swarming hordes of students. The bust of Knute Rockne is a natural part of Notre Dame. Apparently, kidnappings are becoming a new fad among practical jokes and political statements. It is all the same thing called publicity; people like to attract public attention to themselves or their cause. Unfortuately, there is only one thing worse than publicity—competition.

The most persistent questioning took two lines. Why does he not actively advocate a change in the abortion laws? Because he does not think the proposed constitutional amendment would work. They would not only be in a society where the vast majority of people do not think abortion is murder; they would cause hatred and conflict in which religion is itself the opportunity to preach, teach and give example would be an even greater victim than would respect for the law.

The second argument was the "unbearable evil" one. In some cases, slavery, genocide, must one oppose the government with all one's force? Cuomo was not as sure in handling this matter, because he did not show the questioners the full force of their own argument. It is an argument for revolution, for declaring the state illegitimate— not only for advocating change, but for supporting an overthrow: John Brown's civil war, or the plott of the Hitler triumvirate. Most churchmen, and certainly most Catholics, did not take that position with regard to Hitler (even if they should have). Even more clearly, they did not feel that way about slaves. I studied in a Jesuit seminary that was built by slaves, and once talked to a man in his sixties who was born a slave of the Jesuits. How can Cuomol, when the news dies down, not throw the death penalty into the mix? He says that he is a loyal Catholic opposed to abortion, divorce, birth control, adulterity and homosuxuality. As governor of New York, he administers laws that promote the practice of all those acts, and the bishops have not tried to interfere with his doing so in most cases. He gets no ecclesiastical pressure to change the laws on divorce, for instance.

The best way practically to support his own values, yet keep his oath of office, is precisely a practical judgment. He thinks prayer, for example, and persuasion carry more weight (e.g. on adultery) than trying to introduce a law that the majority would not support.

As Kurt Vonnegut says, "so it goes..." A fad is a fad, unless of course it's at Notre Dame. Then it escalates to new proportions with a sense of competition. Hopefully, kidnapping will never get to that point. Andy Saal Andy Saal is a sophomore in the College of Science at Notre Dame.

---

Cuomo outlines stance on religion in politics

All day long, the skies were dramatic, poured rain, had to be the darkness, interrupted by short moments of bright sunshine. The sunfulness reached the plane in whichGov. Mario Cuomo was flying from New York to meet an early commitment to Notre Dame.

Garry Wills

outsider

University's theology department. Asked at the delayed press conference if, from the rough plane flight, "you think you were getting up there, spilling orange juice over the text of the history book?" Accrudly, Cuomo need have no fear about meteorological providences—farther up on the North American continent, it had been raining on the pipe all day.

Some reporters argued that the Catholic bishops seem not only to be condemning candis like Cuomo and Ferrari, but en-
Does Cuomo really guarantee freedom for all?

Judging by the applause Governor Mario Cuomo received last Thursday, many of his Eggemoggin Reef supporters are willing to overlook his actions in keeping with the spirit of the famous fisherman. In fact, they claim that Cuomo and his administration are doing everything in their power to maintain our country's traditions. The problem is that some of these traditions are not conducive to the freedom of all. We need to look beyond the superficial aspects of our political system and consider its true implications.

Cuomo is a champion of liberal ideals, and he has always been a vocal advocate for the rights of all citizens, regardless of their background. He has expressed his commitment to the idea that everyone should have equal access to opportunities and resources, and that our government should work to ensure that everyone's voice is heard. However, some of his policies have raised concerns about their impact on certain groups.

For example, in the area of education, Cuomo's administration has proposed cuts to funds for public schools, which could disproportionately affect low-income students. In addition, some of his voting records have raised questions about his commitment to civil rights. While he has consistently supported the cause of racial equality, there have been instances where his voting patterns have been questioned.

Moreover, Cuomo's policies have sometimes been criticized for their potential to undermine the traditional values of our country. For example, his support for same-sex marriage has been seen by some as an affront to the values of those who oppose it. Similarly, his support for abortion rights has been seen as a challenge to the traditional values of many Americans.

In conclusion, while Cuomo is a champion of liberal ideals, we need to remain vigilant in ensuring that these ideals are implemented in a way that respects the diversity of our country. We must continue to demand accountability from our leaders and hold them to a high standard in the pursuit of a true guarantee of freedom for all.

P. O. Box Q, Notre Dame, IN 46556

The Observer

Editor-in-Chief
Managing Editor
Editor-at-Large
News Editor
Editor-at-Large
Sports Editor
Features Editor
Business Manager
Chairman
Managing Editor
Circulation Manager
Systems Manager

Pete Laches
Kevin Williams
Jean Michel
Anne Culligan
Michael X. Ball

P.O. Box Q, Notre Dame, IN 46556

1299 239 5303

The Observer is the independent weekly newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame, La Leche and Saint Mary's College. It is necessary to reflect the policies of the administration of each institution. The news is reported as accurately as possible. Untitled editorial represents the opinions of a majority of the Editorial Board. Commentaries and letters are welcome to the views of the authors. The community and the free expression of varying opinions on campus, through letters, is encouraged.

Kevin Williams

Founded November 3, 1966

Viewpoint

The students deserve decent parking spots

Dear Editor,

I am writing this letter to bring your attention to some of the new parking regulations that have been implemented on campus. I am sure that many students would agree that the process of finding parking on campus has become increasingly difficult, especially during the week of exams. The new parking regulations have made it even harder to find a spot, with limited availability and increased demand.

This issue has been a topic of concern for a long time, and the administration has acknowledged the problem in the past. However, the new regulations have only made the situation worse, and students are left with very few options for finding parking. Some have even resorted to parking in unauthorized spots, which can lead to fines and other consequences.

I believe that the administration should take a more active role in addressing this issue, and work towards finding a solution that benefits all students. This could involve investing in additional parking spaces, or exploring alternative modes of transportation to reduce demand. Ultimately, the goal should be to create a system that is fair and accessible to everyone.

Sincerely,

[Name]

P. O. Box Q, Notre Dame, IN 46556

The Democratic Party is the party of hope

Dear Editor,

Chris Jukis and Michael Quinlan are two perfect examples of the narrow-minded, conservative attitude that pervades this campus. I do not understand how they can argue in favor of such limitations and restrictions, especially when it comes to parking.

As an engineering major, I would be immensely interested in seeing some statistical measures of the problems this parking policy is causing. In my opinion, the number of parking spaces on campus is adequate, and the problem lies in the demand for them. I believe that the administration should focus on finding ways to reduce demand, rather than imposing arbitrary limitations.

The creation of a new parking lot right next to this new building could increase the number of parking spaces available, which is something that the administration needs to consider. However, it is important to note that any solution must be carefully planned and implemented to avoid potential negative consequences.

Sincerely,

[Name]

P. O. Box Q, Notre Dame, IN 46556

Evan Farley displays a narrow opinion

Dear Editor,

I do not wish to belabor the point, but I feel that Evan Farley must once again be taken seriously for the views he expresses in the letter entitled "Clearing the Air..." in Tuesday's Observer. Farley's specific political views over whether or not Michael Vargas is a murderer are of little interest to me very little. I am one of those apathetic Americans who rarely vote. Like so many others, I feel frustrated by a world of politics which seems far removed from my personal interests. So the budget is not balanced and the Pentagon spends a few hundred dollars on a hammer; as you and I have demonstrated, those issues can be twisted to the favor of either party.

What concerns me is your unfolding conclusion, "As the young of today, you accuse Vargas of being "ignorant" and "stupid" in the same breath in which you are defending your "stupid" prose style, do you not see the narrowness of your views? Can you accept his Democratic/liberal view point as one that differs, but is nonetheless equally valid, as a liberal democratic one?"

The current belief by many that a conservative outlook and an alliance with the Republican Party would be the wisest in the present political climate is hard for me to understand. We are a nation which prides itself in its democracy and freedom of expression and opinion that extends to all members of our society. Does anyone else see the paradox here, or is it just me?

And, I will drive to Canada in the event of a nuclear war with gas which I buy. This is a free society, isn't it?

[Name]

P. O. Box Q, Notre Dame, IN 46556
Thursday, September 20, 1984 — page 10

Notre Dame women's tennis

Today

w. Wheaton
3:30 p.m.

Courtney Tennis Courts

THE ANSWER IS

Read

Psycho Chicken

The Observer's Notre Dame office, located on the third floor of Lafortune Student Center, accepts classified advertising from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. The Observer Saint Mary's office, located on the third floor of Higgy College Center accepts classifieds from 12:30 p.m. until 5 p.m. Mon- day through Friday. Classifieds in this issue are classified as 3 x 5. All classifieds must be prepaid, either in person or by mail. Charge is $1.00 per character per day.
Minnesota loses third straight game as San Diego nears title

Baseball Standings

National League

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>W</th>
<th>L</th>
<th>Pet.</th>
<th>GB</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Atlanta</td>
<td>75</td>
<td>67</td>
<td>.529</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chicago</td>
<td>74</td>
<td>68</td>
<td>.528</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cincinnati</td>
<td>74</td>
<td>68</td>
<td>.528</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Colorado</td>
<td>73</td>
<td>69</td>
<td>.516</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Detroit</td>
<td>72</td>
<td>70</td>
<td>.506</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Houston</td>
<td>71</td>
<td>71</td>
<td>.500</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Los Angeles</td>
<td>70</td>
<td>72</td>
<td>.500</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New York</td>
<td>70</td>
<td>72</td>
<td>.500</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>St. Louis</td>
<td>70</td>
<td>72</td>
<td>.500</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>San Diego</td>
<td>70</td>
<td>72</td>
<td>.500</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>San Francisco</td>
<td>70</td>
<td>72</td>
<td>.500</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

American League

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>W</th>
<th>L</th>
<th>Pet.</th>
<th>GB</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Boston</td>
<td>70</td>
<td>72</td>
<td>.500</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>California</td>
<td>70</td>
<td>72</td>
<td>.500</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chicago</td>
<td>70</td>
<td>72</td>
<td>.500</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cleveland</td>
<td>70</td>
<td>72</td>
<td>.500</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Detroit</td>
<td>70</td>
<td>72</td>
<td>.500</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Houston</td>
<td>70</td>
<td>72</td>
<td>.500</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kansas City</td>
<td>70</td>
<td>72</td>
<td>.500</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Minnesota</td>
<td>70</td>
<td>72</td>
<td>.500</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New York</td>
<td>70</td>
<td>72</td>
<td>.500</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Philadelphia</td>
<td>70</td>
<td>72</td>
<td>.500</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The victory cut San Diego's magic number for winning the National League West to two. Any combination of two San Diego victories and two Houston losses will give the Padres their first title.

Tigers, Brewers 2

DETOIT - The Detroit Tigers, playing a generado series, took a 2-1 lead in the series last night after clinching the American League East title, got an RBI triple from rookie Scott Earl in a three-run second inning to defeat the Milwaukee Brewers 4-2 last night.

Rick Morris, 11-1, the first of four Detroit pitchers, allowed nine hits in six innings for the victory. Willie Hernandez worked the final inning for his 1-3 save of the season.

The Brewers took a 1-0 lead in the first on Roy Howell's fourth home run, which landed in the second deck in right.

Tommie Smith tripled and scored on Terry Frobel's single.

The A's had tied the game in the bottom of the eighth when Henke surrendered a two-out, two-run single to Careny Lansford.

Pirates, Cubs 6

CHICAGO - Tony Peua hit a grand slam home to highlight Pittsburgh's six-run sixth inning and Johnny R.r knocked in the winning run for the second day in a row as the last-place Pirates routed the Chicago Cubs 11-6 yesterday.

It was the National League East leading Cub's third loss in a row and second straight to Pittsburgh. The Cubs' magic number, however, was reduced to three last night with New York's 13-5 loss to Philadelphia. Chicago leads the division by eight games.

Larry McWilliams, 11-18, pitched five innings for the victory, giving up six runs, while Jimmy Wion pitched the last four innings, allowing two hits. Tim Stoddard, 10-6, gave up four runs in 1-3 innings relief to take the loss.

The Pirates scored a run in the first on Chicago starter Rick Sutcliffe. Jason Thompson added a two-run double in the third to make it 5-0.

The Cubs tied the game 3-in-lose

The Choice

Joie Cowley, 9-1, allowed four runs on six hits in 6-2-5 innings for his eighth straight victory. Dave Riggs, 6-15, gave up six hits in two innings and was the loser as the Minnesota Twins fell 7-1 to the Chicago White Sox yesterday.

The Twins scored a run in the fifth when Wally Welker doubled and scored on Doug Jones' sacrifice fly in the sixth.

Dave Rose struck out two and walked out in pitching his first complete game of the season. Losers Steve Rogers, 8-7, worked the 10th inning for the victory.

The A's had tied the game in the bottom of the eighth when Henke surrendered a two-out, two-run single to Careny Lansford.

Pirates, Cubs 6

CHICAGO - Tony Peua hit a grand slam home to highlight Pittsburgh's six-run sixth inning and Johnny R.r knocked in the winning run for the second day in a row as the last-place Pirates routed the Chicago Cubs 11-6 yesterday.

It was the National League East leading Cub's third loss in a row and second straight to Pittsburgh. The Cubs' magic number, however, was reduced to three last night with New York's 13-5 loss to Philadelphia. Chicago leads the division by eight games.

Larry McWilliams, 11-18, pitched five innings for the victory, giving up six runs, while Jimmy Wion pitched the last four innings, allowing two hits. Tim Stoddard, 10-6, gave up four runs in 1-3 innings relief to take the loss.

The Pirates scored a run in the first on Chicago starter Rick Sutcliffe. Jason Thompson added a two-run double in the third to make it 5-0.

The Cubs tied the game 3-in-lose

The Choice

Joie Cowley, 9-1, allowed four runs on six hits in 6-2-5 innings for his eighth straight victory. Dave Riggs, 6-15, gave up six hits in two innings and was the loser as the Minnesota Twins fell 7-1 to the Chicago White Sox yesterday.

The Twins scored a run in the fifth when Wally Welker doubled and scored on Doug Jones' sacrifice fly in the sixth.

Dave Rose struck out two and walked out in pitching his first complete game of the season. Losers Steve Rogers, 8-7, worked the 10th inning for the victory.

The A's had tied the game in the bottom of the eighth when Henke surrendered a two-out, two-run single to Careny Lansford.
Thursday, September 20, 1984 — page 12

Walter Payton is a major reason for the Chicago Bears’ 3-0 start this season. This Sunday, Payton will attempt to move into second place on the all-time rushing list as he faces Francis Harris and the Seattle Seahawks. Payton trails Harris by 34 yards as both backs close in on Jim Brown’s league record of 12,312 career rushing yards. See story below.

Payton to face Harris on Sunday
Associated Press

CHICAGO - Walter Payton began this season, his 10th in the National Football League, hoping to catch Franco Harris as the No.2 career rusher. On Sunday, he figures to catch Harris and become the top contender for eclipsing Jim Brown’s all-time record.

"You don’t set your sights for goals that can be accomplished," Payton said yesterday. "You set your sights for goals beyond your reach, and that way you accomplish more than you would have thought.

Brown, who retired at age 29, set the NFL standard of 12,312 career rushing yards in 1172 games with the Cleveland Browns. Payton, 30, entered the season trailing that mark by 68 yards and Harris, 34, a 12-year veteran, by only 325.

But Harris’ contract squabbles with the Pittsburgh Steelers diffused what should have been a season-long drama and changed it, instead, into a lopsided confrontation.

Walter Payton is a major reason...
Detroit Tigers must stay sharp after winning division

Associated Press

DETOUR - Reality set in quickly for the Detroit Tigers after they clinched the American League East title.

The Tigers clubhouse was joyous Tuesday night immediately after relief ace Willie Hernandez had blown a third strike past Milwaukee catcher Jim Sundberg to preserve a 3-0 victory over the Brewers.

Corks were popping and champagne was flowing in rivers.

Over in a corner, however, relief pitcher Doug Drabek - one of the few Detroit players with any postseason experience - tried to make some sense of the situation.

"This is the easy part," said Drabek, who was with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1982 when they won the National League East and captured the World Series against Milwaukee. "It's a long haul, but this is the easy part.

The point certainly wasn't lost on Manager Sparky Anderson, either. He still has vivid memories of guiding the 1973 Cincinnati Reds to a 99-63 season in the NL west, only to be upset by the New York Mets three games to two in the playoffs.

"You've got nowhere to go if you lose three (in the playoffs), so you're going to shoot everything you've got," Anderson had said before the division crown was officially settled.

There is the added fact that the Tigers ran away from the rest of the AL east, jumping off to a record 55-31 pace and never losing two in a row.

And the Tigers began turning up for the playoffs by defeating Milwaukee last night 2-0. See related stories on this page and on page 11.

Zoeller forced to withdraw

Associated Press

LAS VEGAS, Nev. - U.S. Open titleholder Fuzzy Zoeller, suffering from severe back spasms, was forced to withdraw from the field yesterday before beginning defense of his title in the Panamericana Las Vegas Invitational Golf Tournament.

The richest event on the PGA tour, offering $1.125 million in total prize-money and $612,000 to the winner, began a five-day, 90-hole run yesterday morning.

Zoeller's body twisted and contorted by the spasms, underwent medical treatment Tuesday. He was hospitalized for six days in Birmingham, Ala., in August, with severe back problems that forced him to pull out of the PGA National Championship and the World Series of Golf.

COUNSELINE

All you do is dial 239-7793 and ask for the tape you wish to hear.

Newsonomics: The database of counseling techniques and materials offers a wide range of services.

NEW HOURS: 4 - 12 p.m. MON - FRI

CONFRONTATION

Not Parkinson's disease

Ali's condition said to be under control

Associated Press

NEW YORK - Former world heavyweight boxing champion Muhammad Ali was given test medications yesterday by doctors who said he was suffering from "Parkinsonism," or minor symptoms of Parkinson's disease.

Ali, 42, apparently did not have Parkinson's disease, a degenerative brain disease, "per se," and experts believed his condition could be controlled by medication, one of his doctors, Martin Ecker, said.

"He's not in any danger. It's not a fatal disease," said Ecker, medical director of Ali's boxing management company. "You don't die from what he has and I feel very optimistic that what he has can be controlled by medication."

Ecker, a diagnostic radiologist who was consulting on Ali's case, said doctors at Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center were testing drugs on Ali "to see if it helps him and how much it helps him."

Ali, complaining of slowed motion and slurred speech, underwent five days of tests at the hospital this past month before leaving Sept. 11 for a trip to Europe. He returned Tuesday for more tests and treatment.

Because his condition apparently was not worsening and he lacked classic symptoms, doctors ruled out both Parkinson's disease and "the punch-drunk syndrome," caused by repeated blows to the head, Ecker said.

Ali is the only fighter to have won the heavyweight boxing championship three times, in a 21-year career between 1960 to his retirement in 1981. His title was stripped away in 1967 when he refused to be drafted into the Army; he won it back from George Foreman and later lost and won against Leon Spinks.

Ali's speech has been slurred, at times unintelligible, for about two years. "I'm in good shape," he told fans at Kennedy International Airport on Tuesday night. "I'm a little tired, but I'm in good shape."

An interviewer in Germany quoted Ali as saying, "I always feel tired but don't feel gain at all. I don't know exactly what it is."
must be able to play offense to a certain extent. "Soccer's no longer a game of backs, midfielders and forwards," he says. "You have to be the total soccer player. You can't just be a wingback or sweeper, you have to possess the offensive skills so that you can go in the last third of the field and put the ball in the net." Fullbacks with good offensive skills are particularly valuable on a field and put the ball in the net." Possess the offensive skills so that winning back or sweeper; you have to be the total soccer player. Everything that he does, he does for what he hopes will be the good of the team. "I would like the team to play well," he says, "and I try to do everything in my power to keep the team as a cohesive unit. A team that is fairly close is going to play a lot better. If I can get the best of each player, get them up for these games, keep the intensity up during practice, eventually the wins will come. "I want to coax the best out of everybody," Driano continues, "because the potential is there. We have very good players, some of the best-skilled players Notre Dame has ever had, and all it takes is confidence that we can do it and a lot of commitment. "This weekend, the Irish will be playing two games, including a match at top-ranked Indiana on Sunday, which may be Notre Dame's toughest game of the season. "We're usually pretty good about getting up for the big games," Driano says confidently. "It's a matter of attitude. The Irish can be a catalyst of one thing. Dom Driano will do whatever it takes this week and all season to give the team the right attitude."

Driano continued from page 16

Associated Press

CHICAGO - Colorado's Bill McCartney broke down during a discussion with Notre Dame's Gerry Faust about stricken player Ed Reinhardt. McCartney, invited to take part in Faust's weekly telephone interview Tuesday, choked up while discussing Reinhardt, the tight end who had a blood clot removed from his brain after collapsing during a 27-20 loss at Oregon last Saturday.

"We lost a great player in Ed Reinhardt and it has had a tremendous impact on the team," said McCartney. "It weighs heavily on everyone's heart." Faust recalled a similar situation when he was coaching at Moeller High School in Cincinnati.

"I would like the team to play well," said Faust, "I went through a week of what he's going through. You just don't care about anything else except the kid who is in a coma. Right now Bill couldn't care about anything else, let alone wins and losses." Faust added that the youngster at Moeller recovered and graduated without suffering any brain damage and said he hoped the same proved true for Reinhardt, who remained in critical condition yesterday.

"I know what Bill's going through," said Faust. "I went through a week of what he's going through. You just don't care about anything else except the kid who is in a coma. Right now Bill couldn't care about anything else, let alone wins and losses." McCartney said he was grateful that Notre Dame were conservative in the fourth quarter last year when the Irish whipped Colorado 27-3. "Otherwise, they could have embarrassed us." Notre Dame, 1-1, averted disaster last week with a 24-20 comeback victory over Michigan State after falling behind 1-3.
Field general Driano directs ND soccer team

By PHIL WOLF
Assistant Sports Editor

It is about an hour before game time and the Notre Dame soccer team buddies quietly in the locker-room behind a closed door. The stadium at Michigan State University. The players are listening intently as Irish head coach Dom Driano explains the importance of the game they are about to play.

When Grace finishes his speech, he turns the floor over to the team's captain, senior co-captain and team leader Dominick Driano stands up to face his teammates. He is not an eloquent speaker, but he knows what his team needs to hear.

Driano tells the Irish that they must have confidence in their ability and that they must attack the Spartan defense aggressively right from the start of the game. He encourages each of his fellow forwards and midfielders to proceed through the entire lineup offering a vote of confidence for most of the players, singling them out and telling them to capitalize on their individual talents.

When the Irish take the field, they immediately put pressure on the Spartans, and less than three minutes into the game, Notre Dame leads 1-0.

Driano is the sweeper on the Irish soccer team. He is the last line of defense in front of the goalkeeper, and he is the general who directs the players on the field. He is the vocal captain on the squad, while forward Rich Herdegen is the silent leader on the front line.

"Coach Grace said we were recipients of each other," Driano recalls. "I think that's pretty true. Rich is kind of silent all the time, and I guess I'm in the habit of yelling. I get kind of boisterous at times."

Driano does much more than make a lot of noise in the defense. He constantly must be aware of the presence of his opponents and the location of the ball. He then must be able to communicate with his teammates in front of him to tell them where to move on the field.

"Being the sweeper on a team, you kind of have to be vocal," Driano claims. "I mean, you have to tell guys to slide to left, slide right. (Yelling) kind of goes with the position, I suppose."

Although Driano is somewhat responsible for the movement of the fullbacks, he says that he does not need to keep a very close watch on their activities on the field.

"Most of the guys are pretty much what they have to do," he explains. "They've been playing for so long that they know where the ball has to go, and they know how to go about playing their positions." In addition to directing his teammates, Driano must be able to play solid defense himself. Over the past two years, the 5-11, 170 pound senior has proven himself particularly capable at handling one-on-one situations. He says that he feels that he is in a position to affect the tempo of the game, so it is important that he play good defense.

"I guess being the sweeper he kind of set a tone on the team," Driano says. "If you go out there and you're really frantic... well, then it kind of sets a tone for the game that's frantic. But if you show point out there on the field, the players think, 'Well, hey, he's got a lot of poise,' and it calms them down so they can play their own game. I think that's important.

There is more to playing sweeper than just defending the goal, though. Driano explains that every player on the team must contribute defensively.

"There are some situations of defense in front of the goalkeeper, so it is important that he can get kind of boisterous at times." Driano explains that every player on the team must contribute defensively.

"There are some situations of defense in front of the goalkeeper, so it is important that he can get kind of boisterous at times."