Concerns. Plunge arc available at the Center for sites. Last year, 260 students went to 56 different areas of needs they hadn't seen before. It gives people a sense of "poor," said Phillips. "The plunge makes people aware in their own experience for themselves the problems they see PLUNGE, page 3

By PAT SAIN

Michael Bowler, a 1977 Notre Dame graduate who spent eight months working with refugees and displaced persons in the Far East, will receive the first Doctor Thomas Dooley Award of the Alumni Association.

Chuck Lennon, executive director of the association, said Bowler "exemplifies the same spirit, humanitarian concern and service as Dooley did." Candidates can be nominated by anyone, and the recipient is chosen by the National Alumni Board of Directors.

Before his graduation from Notre Dame, Bowler and his family sponsored two Vietnamese families who had fled their country. He also was the coordinator of Notre Dame's World Hunger Coalition.

After graduation, Bowler went to Thailand, enrolled in Chiang Mai University, and lived with a Thai family for five months. After returning to the U.S. in 1978, he spent one year at John Hopkins University and also worked as an intern for the International Rescue Committee and for Bread for the World.

In 1979, he was sent to Indonesia and Singapore to assist the "boat people" refugees who fled their homelands in boats. He spent five months involved in the resettlement of refugees from Indonesian camps, and five months working with refugees in Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos.

The center provides a place for those problems arc being worked on in several areas.

Bowler, who will receive the award on Jan. 18, says he is "honored to be the first recipient of the award. Thomas Dooley has been special to me, and after reading his books I became interested in doing work in Asia."

Doctor Thomas Dooley, for whom the award is named, estabished seven hospitals in four underdeveloped countries, wrote three best sellers, and brought medical care to half a million people. He also founded the Medical International Cooperation Organization.

Dooley, who graduated from Notre Dame in 1948, had a great love of the Grotto. In a letter written to University President Father Theodore Hesburgh on Dec. 2, 1960, Dooley wrote, "But just now, and just so many times how long for the Grotto... I could go to the Grotto now then I think I could sing inside."

Dooley had a great love for Notre Dame and for the president. "Notre Dame is twice in my mind and always in my heart. That Grotto is the rock to which my life is anchored."

Dooley died at age 54, on Jan. 17, 1961, of cancer. President Dwight Eisenhower said, "Few if any men have equaled Dr. Dooley's exhibition of courage, self-sacrifice, faith in his God, and readiness to serve his fellow man."

Bowler said, "Thomas Dooley had a great influence on me and my life.""I learned about living a good Christian life is to 'accept yourself the way you are.' Don't feel like you have to prove yourself. Christian service and social justice is grounded deep in spirituality, otherwise it's superfi cial."
Adding activities to your schedule could be worth your while

John Mennell
Assistant News Editor

Inside Thursday

No longer interested. Are labs have no final examinations. When you are bogged down during finals so is everyone else. Club activities and other opportunities will not take your time when you really need to study.

There are other advantages to organizations as well. You can get involved in activities that will interest you for the rest of your life. The Knights of Columbus, for instance, are located all across the country. You may not know that you like sailing, or windsurfing but either could easily become a lifelong pastime.

People who complain about the lack of opportunities to meet people should consider involvement, too. When you get into an activity you meet people who share a common interest. You develop a group of acquaintances outside your dorm and classes.

Best of all activities provide an excellent opportunity to blow off and get rid of some steam. When the tensions and pressures of classes build you can step out of it and have a good time.

Classes are important even if you wake up mornings dreading a 75-minute lecture or 50 minutes of certain confusion. Activities are a necessary addition to college life. Although Activities Night was over a month ago and most clubs are well into their operations it is not too late to join. Look through the list in the phone book, give up your carrel to blow off and get involved. It will be worth your time.

Correction

Due to an editing error, the compilation of a list of locations which will and will not take responsibility for off-campus events was wrongly attributed. The Hall Presidents' Council is compiling the list.
Plunge continued from page 1

live in some of the buildings, but they can only rent it, and can be kicked out at any time, said Timm. "An Episcopal church in the area was buying and rebuilding houses for (selected) families," he said. "If a member of the family could obtain and keep a job, the church would try to find a permanent home for them.

"The whole cycle of poverty is hard to get out of," said Hemmer. For example, she said, "When you kick out at any time, said Timm. "They can only rent it, and can be live in some of the buildings, but this is hard to do for most 18 year olds." Hemmer.

"The whole cycle of poverty is hard to get out of," said Hemmer. "When you kick out at any time said Timm. "They can only rent it, and can be live in some of the buildings, but this is hard to do for most 18 year olds." Hemmer.

Students are impressed with the dedication of the people working with the poor," said Phillips. They put up with low salaries and deader situations, but they have a "deep sense of commitment and excitement," she said.

Students going on the Urban Plunge this year will receive an academic credit, and an "S" or "U" grade (satisfactory or unsatisfactory) on their transcript. In order to obtain a grade of "S," a student must go on the plunge, participate in the follow-up meetings, and write a 6-page reflection paper, said Phillips. "The Urban Plunge is the most successful social concerns program at the University," said Phillips. "The past plungers are all enthusiastic about the experience. "I'm impressed with the organization of this program, and the incredible network of people helping the poor," said Phillips. "The University is so something very creative in providing students an opportunity to integrate academics and concerns of justice and compassion."

The Student Activities Board and WFIF present:

THE BANGLES FROM LOS ANGELES

LIVE AT STEPAN CENTER
Sunday, October 14th at 8:00 p.m.

• Toured with Flock of Seagulls
• Hit single "Hero Takes A Fall"
• On M T.V.

Tickets on sale now in the Dining Halls and at the S.A.B. Record Store $3.50 in advance, $4.50 at the door

Open Forum Series offers students chance to express opinion publicly

By PATTI TRIPATHI
News Staff

Members of the Notre Dame community will have the opportunity to voice their concerns on pertinent political and social issues during the Open Forum series. This year the Forum is being run by the Student Lobby committee of the Student Government and the Election Task Force.

The series is similar to the experimental project of last semester, during which a microphone was set up on the Fieldhouse Mall for the use of students who wished to speak on any topic.

The Open Forum series will occur each Wednesday during October on the Fieldhouse Mall. Students are invited to speak about selected political issues from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. In case of inclement weather, the location will be moved to the main lobby of LaFortune. No pre-registration is required. The forum will be moderated by a member of the Lobby Task Force Coalition.

Campus organizations involved with the Election Task Force will sponsor organized debates on the topic selected for the forum the evening preceding the Open Forum. On Oct. 15, a debate on pro-choice vs. pro-life is planned in anticipation of the Open Forum on life issues planned for Oct. 17. Nuclear issues will be debate topic on Oct. 29 in preparation for the Oct. 31 forum.

Peter Carter of the Center for Social Concerns organized the forum because he felt there was a need for increased political action at Notre Dame. The election year prompted Carter to organize the forum to participate could make a well-informed choice while voting. He hopes to get people to talk about national global issues. "The best thing that can come out of this is the increased political awareness," said Carter.

This project will be continued in LaFortune after October. With no stipulation of subject topic, there will be, however, a five-minute time requirement. "After the barrier of apathy is broken, people would respect it (the forum) and look forward to it," said Carter.

O'Rourke named as Writer-in-Residence

By ELIZABETH FLOR
Senior Staff Reporter

William O'Rourke, assistant professor of English at Notre Dame, has been named the James Thurber Writer-in-Residence by the National Advisory Panel of the Thurber House Writer-in-Residence Program. O'Rourke, on leave from Notre Dame this year, is the author of two novels, jade Hands, and the Harrisburg 7 and the New Catholic Left.

As Thurber Writer-in-Residence, O'Rourke is living in the two-bedroom apartment on the third floor of the home of the American humorist James Thurber in Columbus, Ohio. This house on Jefferson Avenue is the setting for the stories in Thurber's My Life and Hard Times. O'Rourke is the first of three writers selected by the Thurber House National Advisory Panel, which includes Burgess Meredith and Peter DeVries, both members of Thurber's family. The Thurber House itself is undergoing restoration and will open Dec. 8, Thurber's 90th birthday, as an book center and museum.

ALANON

Mondays..... 6:30 pm

Counseling & Psychological Services Center
Room 316

Does someone significant to you have a drinking problem? Does it affect you? Maybe we can help.

Call 239-5085

EDUCATION MAJORS GIVE TOP MARKS TO DOMINO'S PIZZA.

277-2151

One coupon per pizza
$1.00 off any pizza
Expires in one week.

Best thing that can come out of this is the increased political awareness," said Carter.

Tickets on sale now in the Dining Halls and at the S.A.B. Record Store $3.50 in advance, $4.50 at the door

ALANON

Mondays..... 6:30 pm

Counseling & Psychological Services Center
Room 316

Does someone significant to you have a drinking problem? Does it affect you? Maybe we can help.

Call 239-5085

EDUCATION MAJORS GIVE TOP MARKS TO DOMINO'S PIZZA.

277-2151

One coupon per pizza
$1.00 off any pizza
Expires in one week.

Best thing that can come out of this is the increased political awareness," said Carter.

Tickets on sale now in the Dining Halls and at the S.A.B. Record Store $3.50 in advance, $4.50 at the door
Sullivan first woman to step into open space for America

Associated Press

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. - Kathy Sullivan donned a helmet and breathed pure oxygen yesterday, preparing to become the first American woman to step into open space for a three-hour work stint today in Challenger's cargo bay.

Sullivan and spacewalking partner David Leestma were told to go on with the extensive preparations after Mission Control decided Hurricane Josephine had faded as a threat to a shuttle landing at the Kennedy Space Center on Saturday.

"We hope we have a great show for you tomorrow," said pilot Jon McBride as he narrated TV pictures of the astronauts working with their space suits.

Initially, the space walk was to have been devoted to practicing techniques for refueling satellites in orbit. But a problem with an antenna on this mission added to the astronauts' job.

Leestma and Sullivan will move the antenna, disconnected earlier in the flight, and line up two holes so that an astronaut in the cabin can throw a switch to drive two locking pins through them.

To send power to the locking device, astronaut Sally Ride yesterday had to "hotwire" an electrical circuit after removing lockers and panels on Challenger's middeck.

There still could be a one-day postponement in the touchdown, scheduled for 12:24 p.m. EDT Saturday, if winds linger in the area. Since the shuttle is in unpowered flight and has only one chance to land after it leaves orbit, weather requirements are strict.

When it looked as if the storm would be in the area, space officials debated delaying both the space walk and the landing one day.

Sullivan and Leestma are scheduled to step into the open cargo bay at 11:30 a.m. They spent most of yesterday getting set for that task.

Mission Control directed the crew to take pictures of oil spills near Kharg Island in the Persian Gulf. Several oil tankers have been sunk in that area during the war between Iran and Iraq. A study of ocean oil spills is one of the goals of the mission.

Give to the United Way

Hey, Fighting Irish! Stay at Inn on the Lake for the Notre Dame-LSU football game for only $39 a night!

You'll cheer for our special Weekend Pass Play football package:

Free breakfast buffet each morning.
Free cocktails, two hours per night.
$39 per night for up to four guests in a room.
$80 per night for a Tailgate Party Suite.
Only 8 minutes from Tiger Stadium in Baton Rouge.

Make your reservations now!

Call (504) 346-1482, or 1-800-555-9988 outside Louisiana.

INN ON THE LAKE
1575 Riverside North
Baton Rouge, Louisiana 70802
Allen continued from page 1

points and the shortcomings of previous administrations with an in-depth denouncement of policies advocated by the Carter administration and further praise for Reagan's policies. Allen said preceding presidents had allowed the "basic national security to decline to a very low point."

"During the Carter administration we did not have an articulated foreign policy to the rest of the world," Allen said. He praised Carter for his efforts at the Camp David summits and his work with SALT II. However, Allen also noted, "foreign policy is not just diplomacy. Foreign policy is the sum total of all our interests in the world."

After this comment Allen mentioned his own involvement in United States foreign policy under Reagan. He made numerous trips to China and Japan, and worked in El Salvador and other countries in Central and South America. Allen discussed U.S. defense, concentrating on the need to establish working channels of communication with the USSR. "Defense is being built up, as is intelligence," he said. "We seek to restore the balance and margin of safety which was lost after 10 or 12 years of predecessor administrations."

He noted future goals which the United States is trying to achieve under the Reagan administration. "We must send a message to the USSR to reduce the number of nuclear weapons in the world. We must also try to build democratic systems in Central and South America." He finally noted that, "an effort to restore our world leadership is underway."

Allen is a graduate of the University of Notre Dame and holds both a bachelor's and a master's degree from the University. Allen served as Reagan's National Security Advisor until he left office while under federal investigation. He continues to play an active role in the Republican party and to offer consultation on foreign policy. He strongly advocates Reagan's re-election.

Above all else, he wanted to state clearly that the United States foreign policy is doing very well and, depending upon the election's outcome, should continue to improve.
Is the media going to make the president?

One of the "ia" things to do, especially in an election year, is to knock the "wah wah" out of the media.

After all, evidence is all around us — Reagan's "well-oiled media machine" is rolling over us with half-hour prime time television ads (placed simultaneously on all three networks and most other independent metropolitan outlets!). Only his campaign treasurers know for sure how much this is costing, but the figure is sure to run into the several million dollar range before the campaign is finished.

Mondale's media basket has no golden eggs for such extravagant purchases, so he relies heavily on running-mate Ferraro's photogenic personality to grab headlines and photos stories in major newspapers across the country.

Both candidates use weekly paid radio broadcasts, paid broadcast advertising, and the usual clutch of carnival goodies such as bumper stickers, lawn signs, campaign buttons and the like. And, of course, both camps are using televised debates to get their messages across to the American people.

It's a charged communication almost gives the impression that the electoral battle is being fought, and won - by the candidate with the best "public relations minds. After all, a string of recent polls is showing Reagan pulling farther ahead of Mondale (and here's the catch) even through a large number of respondents side with Mondale on many of the crucial tenets of the campaign. People apparently are planning to vote for Reagan, considering him a more compelling leader and giving him credit for strong economic performance.

The cynic will say that big money is buying the election. It is a charge that has so often been made that the results are almost washed out. The power of the media and of the professional pollsters is encouraged. We consider the evidence. We vote. We determine our leadership (albeit via the electoral college in the case of presidential elections).

The battle is being fought in our minds. And what do we, as the United States electorate, appear to be saying in opinion polls? That we intellectually side with Mondale on critical issues such as budget deficits, nuclear disarmament, the environment, education and social welfare. But that we follow Reagan with our hearts... fervently believing that the traditional national dreams of rugged individuality, self-determination and the good life resulting from free enterprise are still alive.

It's like a charade, a shell game we want the best of both worlds. We want to face difficult issues, and Mondale strikes deeply responsive chords in us on the one hand... yet we fall under the charismatic spell of what Reagan would like ourselves to be and don't want to give up what apparently is a good thing under Reagan on the other.

The situation becomes complicated in that these candidates are responding what is going on in our thought processes, and then feeding those reflections back to us in the form of political ads, messages, speeches and the like. The whirlpool of political activity becomes blurred in countless cross currents of psychological and emotional dimensions, as well as the candidates themselves, undergo change as a result of political activity.

What to do? Try to slice through this interplay and ask the kind of questions I presented in a similar column last September. Try to see the process for what it really is. And then remember that you are ultimately in control.

Chris Robinson

Banning on-campus use of dinner forks

Dear Editor:

In light of the success the administration's alcohol policy has generated in reducing student contact with an acknowledged threat to human health and happiness, I feel it is only reasonable that someone suggest that the administration project students from another danger the fork. Banning on-campus use of forks would accomplish two ends. It would eliminate what becomes a lethal weapon in the hands of immature fork users, and it would also decrease the heavy reliance on forks that has incapacitated so many students in their later years.

Of course, it may be objected that banning on-campus fork use will just encourage students to take their forking activities to off-campus eateries and other dens of sin. However, the University would not be liable should any off-campus incidents occur. In addition, the savings to the dining halls would be substantial, since they would no longer have to fork over money for forks.

Thomas Wood.

P.O.Box Q

Petter resorts to inept name-calling

Dear Editor:

We have seen enough comments on Caucuses. The Church to put a long nail in the coffin of the "pro-choice" forces alike for being insensitive to the "ambiguity" surrounding abortion.

While exceptional cases certainly exist, I submit that the issue is not merely as murky as many people (particularity abortion advocates) would have us believe. The primary question which must be addressed is when, if ever, a fetus becomes a human being. Surely, the burden of proof is on abortionists to show that that the fetus is not human until birth or until admission to law school; or until whenever it is that they think it comes into its terms human. To put it another way, there is no convincing evidence that the fetus is not human on demand, as is, at best, gruesomely irresponsible.

Although Rev. Holper apparently views abortion only as a matter of personal choice, we all have an obligation to prevent the possibility of (indeed, probable) destruction of millions of defenseless human beings.

James R. Roche

Cannon Hill

Got an opinion, drop us a line

Viewpoint not only provides you an opportunity to respond to the columns, articles and illustrations that appear in this newspaper, but through P.O. Box Q and guest columns you can address matters which have not been raised to your satisfaction in this newspaper. Viewpoint encourages all of its readers to fully explore and voice their opinions.

Simply send your letter to P.O. Box Q or deliver it to our office. Letters should be no longer than 150 words in length and guest columns should not exceed 600 words. All works must be signed.

The Observer

P.O. Box Q, Notre Dame, IN 46556

(219) 239-5303

The Observer is the independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame du Lac and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administration of either institution. The news is reported as the independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame du Lac and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administration of either institution. The news is reported as

Editorial Board

Editor-in-Chief
Bob Vanderheide
Managing Editor
Mark Worsche
News Editor
Sarah Hamilton
Sports Editor
Dan McCullough
Saint Mary's Editor
Amie Monsalvatry
Saint Mary's Editor
Michael Sullivan
Photo Editor
Dave Grote
Features Editor
Mike Rivera
Pete Laches

P.O.Box Q

Banning on-campus use of dinner forks

Dear Editor:

In light of the success the administration's alcohol policy has generated in reducing student contact with an acknowledged threat to human health and happiness, I feel it is only reasonable that someone suggest that the administration project students from another danger the fork. Banning on-campus use of forks would accomplish two ends. It would eliminate what becomes a lethal weapon in the hands of immature fork users, and it would also decrease the heavy reliance on forks that has incapacitated so many students in their later years.

Of course, it may be objected that banning on-campus fork use will just encourage students to take their forking activities to off-campus eateries and other dens of sin. However, the University would not be liable should any off-campus incidents occur. In addition, the savings to the dining halls would be substantial, since they would no longer have to fork over money for forks.

Thomas Wood

P.O.Box Q

Petter resorts to inept name-calling

Dear Editor:

We have seen enough comments on Caucuses. The Church to put a long nail in the coffin of the "pro-choice" forces alike for being insensitive to the "ambiguity" surrounding abortion.

While exceptional cases certainly exist, I submit that the issue is not merely as murky as many people (particularity abortion advocates) would have us believe. The primary question which must be addressed is when, if ever, a fetus becomes a human being. Surely, the burden of proof is on abortionists to show that that the fetus is not human until birth or until admission to law school; or until whenever it is that they think it comes into its terms human. To put it another way, there is no convincing evidence that the fetus is not human on demand, as is, at best, gruesomely irresponsible.

Although Rev. Holper apparently views abortion only as a matter of personal choice, we all have an obligation to prevent the possibility of (indeed, probable) destruction of millions of defenseless human beings.

James R. Roche

Cannon Hill

Got an opinion, drop us a line

Viewpoint not only provides you an opportunity to respond to the columns, articles and illustrations that appear in this newspaper, but through P.O. Box Q and guest columns you can address matters which have not been raised to your satisfaction in this newspaper. Viewpoint encourages all of its readers to fully explore and voice their opinions.

Simply send your letter to P.O. Box Q or deliver it to our office. Letters should be no longer than 150 words in length and guest columns should not exceed 600 words. All works must be signed.

The Observer

P.O. Box Q, Notre Dame, IN 46556

(219) 239-5303

The Observer is the independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame du Lac and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administration of either institution. The news is reported as Phantoms, the third effort by Britain's Fixx, is disappointing in its similarity to the band's previous album Reach the Beach and in the repetitious nature of the songs. The band, which has been more successful in the United States than in its homeland, seems unable to break out of the songwriting mold they have established. The typical Fixx song features high, choppy, thin guitar chords, low, trebling guitar notes, an active bass, and shimmering, ever present synthesizers. In other words, besides ideas to sustain an entire album of guitar notes, an active bass, and synthesizers only to fall into a repetitious nature of the songs. The album's similarity to the band's previous two albums has both suffered from a lack of creative ideas to sustain an entire album of material. In other words, beside two other songs in each case, their previous albums, Shuttered Room and Reach the Beach, were boring. Phantoms, unfortunately, borders on the same last. Most of the songs here sound like sequels to "Red Skies," "Sign of Fire," or "One Thing Leads to Another." Beginning songs with a surging crescendo of synthesizers only to fall into a hard-down guitar verse seem to fascinate the group, as does the high-pitched cross-cutting heard in "One Thing Leads to Another." A majority of the songs contain one or the other. However, I do not mean to say the album is totally dreadful. "Lost Face," the opener of this collection, features some intriguing electronic, pop song sounds and an appealing melody. I daresay it will be the second single from the album. The first of course is "Are We Ourselves?" a superb song which fits into the memorable category I mentioned earlier.

Despite its silly chorus, "In Suspense" is particularly listenable, as are two ballads, or should I say slow songs? "Wish," a definite single possibility, sports a Top 40 melody over subtle guitar chords. "I Will" refreshingly contains acoustic piano and a touch of compassion from the normally relentlessly Cy Curnin, lead singer and lyricist, especially in the haunting chorus.

The group does experiment on some other tracks. "Less Cities, More People" is powered by a boogie-woogie type beat that, strangely, reminds me of Fleetwood Mac's "Tusk." Needless to say, the group's instruments sound like any other Fixx song, except on the eerie synth track that pervades occasionally. "Lost in Battle Over Sea's" has a promising Moody Blues like keyboard beginning, but alas it falls back into the same old Fixx pattern in the verse.

The group's lyrics, all written by Cy Curnin except "Woman on a Train," are hard to understand because no lyric sheet is included and Curnin sings anything but clearly. What I did catch of the lyrics develops the themes present throughout the band's history. Curnin writes with great interest about the complexities of modern life, human identity, and nuclear war. "Lost Face" exemplifies the last category. He says, "We all breathe in the same air! Yet we all die for the atrocity... I bet you're too scared to look" bringing to light obvious world tensions and the folly of unrelenting positions.

"Are We Ourselves?" asks the basic question of all modern men and women: "Who am I? Likewise, "In Suspense" suggests man is not what he thinks himself to be, that "we are the species and another for the men." Unfortunately, this song's chorus falls into silliness: "Who is suspicious? He's who, what, where, and why."

The two love songs provide this album with a believable human element. The Fixx in these two, the theme of connection and "placing myself in your shoes" presents itself: "Lover in a Trance" says, "I wish" also suffers from a banal chorus. "Your wish is my command!" sounds like what cliché?

As I listen to this album over and over again while writing this review, the music begins to grow on me. Still, upon first listening, the material would sound the same. Sometimes in the near future, the band is going to have to alter its course, at least slightly.

"Deeper and Deeper," a Fixx track appearing on the Streets of Fire soundtrack, does not appear here but would definitely improve the collection. Overall, unless you're a big Fixx fan, you'd probably be better off buying the "Are We Ourselves? single with "Deeper and Deeper" on the flip side than investing in this album.
A RED AND BLUE COLLAR. POSSIBLY YOU!!!
PLEASE CALL TERRY AT 1991 THANK OHIO CINCINNATI AND SOUTH BEND. IF LOST: A black and white bead necklace,
ETS. IF FOUND CALL TOM AT 287-
WITH GOLD AND SILVER BAND OVER
LOST: MAN'S GOLD SEIKO WATCH
FOUND PLEASE RETURN TO MOEL-
(And you called me a dyke) Happy
Hall turns 20 and we know SHE Bop I
BREAK. ANNE 284-5076
THANKS-
SEPT.22. IF FOUND PLEASE CALL
LOST: TWO GOLF UMBRELLAS AT
PEARL, 1759
THE Most BEAUTIFUL GIRL IN THE world...
AIR FORCE GAS FOR SALE. 272-6306
WHAT??!! NO PLANS FOR JAN. 7-11
TRADE IWILL TRADE 2 PARENT'S ND-ATTENTION!!
Wishful Thinking:
A little of this and a little of that together
Wishful thinking together with some chits... but no longer together...
2 AIR FORCE GA'S FOR SALE. MIKE
FOR SALE: 4 AIR FORCE GA'S (together
FOR SALE: 2 AF GA' s...call Maria J4042.
I'LL SELL MY TROJANS' In order to ﹷBradley at 913.
3467 THANKS
WHERE ARE YOU DOING NOW? That's
the most interesting question of the day.
I'd like to know where you are going to be at 9:30 tonight. I have a meeting that night and I want to be sure that we can have a
fun makes it possible.
HAPPY BIRTHDAY CHRIS, my great
timely one. I wish we could have seen
you. What a great gal you are.
WALK ON, BROTHER!
Now is the time to rise to the challenge.
I'm proud of you. Keep going forward
and never give up.
WISHFUL THINKING

A LITTLE OF THIS TOGETHER
WISHFUL THINKING TOGETHER WITH
SOME CHITS... BUT NO LONGER
TOGETHER...

WANT TO GET TO LONG ISLAND FOR FALL BREAK?
Jackie Boggs 684-8793
277-6046
FOR SALE: 2 AF GA' s...call Maria J4042.
I'LL SELL MY TROJANS' In order to упитьBradley at 913.
3467 THANKS
WHERE ARE YOU DOING NOW? That's
the most interesting question of the day.
I'd like to know where you are going to be
at 9:30 tonight. I have a meeting that night and I want to be sure that we can have a
fun makes it possible.
HAPPY BIRTHDAY CHRIS, my great
timely one. I wish we could have seen
you. What a great gal you are.
WALK ON, BROTHER!
Now is the time to rise to the challenge.
I'm proud of you. Keep going forward
and never give up.
WISHFUL THINKING

A LITTLE OF THIS TOGETHER
WISHFUL THINKING TOGETHER WITH
SOME CHITS... BUT NO LONGER
TOGETHER...

WANT TO GET TO LONG ISLAND FOR FALL BREAK?
Jackie Boggs 684-8793
277-6046
FOR SALE: 2 AF GA' s...call Maria J4042.
I'LL SELL MY TROJANS' In order to úmerBradley at 913.
3467 THANKS
WHERE ARE YOU DOING NOW? That's
the most interesting question of the day.
I'd like to know where you are going to be
at 9:30 tonight. I have a meeting that night and I want to be sure that we can have a
fun makes it possible.
HAPPY BIRTHDAY CHRIS, my great
timely one. I wish we could have seen
you. What a great gal you are.
WALK ON, BROTHER!
Now is the time to rise to the challenge.
I'm proud of you. Keep going forward
and never give up.
WISHFUL THINKING

A LITTLE OF THIS TOGETHER
WISHFUL THINKING TOGETHER WITH
SOME CHITS... BUT NO LONGER
TOGETHER...

WANT TO GET TO LONG ISLAND FOR FALL BREAK?
Jackie Boggs 684-8793
277-6046
FOR SALE: 2 AF GA' s...call Maria J4042.
I'LL SELL MY TROJANS' In order to numelBradley at 913.
3467 THANKS
WHERE ARE YOU DOING NOW? That's
the most interesting question of the day.
I'd like to know where you are going to be
at 9:30 tonight. I have a meeting that night and I want to be sure that we can have a
fun makes it possible.
HAPPY BIRTHDAY CHRIS, my great
timely one. I wish we could have seen
you. What a great gal you are.
WALK ON, BROTHER!
Now is the time to rise to the challenge.
I'm proud of you. Keep going forward
and never give up.
WISHFUL THINKING

A LITTLE OF THIS TOGETHER
WISHFUL THINKING TOGETHER WITH
SOME CHITS... BUT NO LONGER
TOGETHER...

WANT TO GET TO LONG ISLAND FOR FALL BREAK?
Jackie Boggs 684-8793
277-6046
FOR SALE: 2 AF GA' s...call Maria J4042.
I'LL SELL MY TROJANS' In order to
Implicit Bradley at 913.
3467 THANKS
WHERE ARE YOU DOING NOW? That's
the most interesting question of the day.
I'd like to know where you are going to be
at 9:30 tonight. I have a meeting that night and I want to be sure that we can have a
fun makes it possible.
HAPPY BIRTHDAY CHRIS, my great
timely one. I wish we could have seen
you. What a great gal you are.
WALK ON, BROTHER!
Now is the time to rise to the challenge.
I'm proud of you. Keep going forward
and never give up.
WISHFUL THINKING

A LITTLE OF THIS TOGETHER
WISHFUL THINKING TOGETHER WITH
SOME CHITS... BUT NO LONGER
TOGETHER...
Thursday, October 11, 1984 — page 9

Sports Briefs

The ND basketball team will be holding walk-on tryouts Monday, October 15 from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. in the Auxiliary Gym at the ACC. For more information, contact Jim Baron at the basketball office. — The Observer

The SMC basketball team will be holding tryouts for the team today from 3:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. at the Angela Athletic Facility. Anyone interested may try out. — The Observer

The Notre Dame Rowing Club will be meeting tonight at 8 p.m. in the LaFortune Little Theatre. All members who will be travelling to Boston must attend. For more information, call John Crilly at 283-3170. — The Observer

The ND basketball team will be holding walk-on tryouts Monday, October 15 from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. in the Auxiliary Gym at the ACC. For more information, contact Jim Baron at the basketball office. — The Observer

The ND Weightlifting Club will be meeting tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the LaFortune Little Theatre. Anyone interested may attend. — The Observer

The ND Women's Golf Club will be meeting for the last time this season tonight at 6:45 p.m. at Colby Hall. All members must attend. — The Observer

NCAA Volunteers for Youth is inviting all athletes interested in forming a one-on-one friendship with an area youth to join the program. Interested athletes should call Patti Galagher at 283-2999, Tammy Schmidt at 283-4001 or Dave Clark at 283-1665 by Saturday. — The Observer

The Padre Manager Dick Williams made his move before it was too late. Williams removed Whitson with one out left in the inning, and relief pitcher Andy Hawkins turned giant killer.

Hawkins, a parttime pitcher who had two complete games during the season, pitched 5 1-3 innings and gave up just one hit before he gave way to lefthander Craig Leffers, who started the seventh.

The Padres, meanwhile, scratched back with a run in the first on Craig Nettles' sacrifice fly and another up three notches to sixth in the batting order.

The victory kept the Padres alive in Game One, giving San Diego a 3-2 lead in the Series. Bevacqua had run the Padres out of a potential rally by bunting while trying to stretch a leadoff double in the seventh inning into a triple. But Williams kept his faith in the 37year-old designated hitter and assured him there were enough innings left in the batting order.

The home run came after a walk to Nettles and a bad hop single by Terry Kennedy on a shot that bounced off second baseman Lou Whitaker's chest.

The American League champions scored three runs off the first inning, off Ed Whitson, but this time, Padres Manager Dick Williams made his move before it was too late. Williams removed Whitson with one out left in the inning, and relief pitcher Andy Hawkins turned giant killer.

Hawkins, a parttime pitcher who had two complete games during the season, pitched 5 1-3 innings and gave up just one hit before he gave way to lefthander Craig Leffers, who started the seventh.

The Padres, meanwhile, scratched back with a run in the first on Craig Nettles' sacrifice fly and another up three notches to sixth in the batting order.

The victory kept the Padres alive in Game One, giving San Diego a 3-2 lead in the Series. Bevacqua had run the Padres out of a potential rally by bunting while trying to stretch a leadoff double in the seventh inning into a triple. But Williams kept his faith in the 37-year-old designated hitter and assured him there were enough innings left in the batting order.

The victory kept the Padres alive in Game One, giving San Diego a 3-2 lead in the Series. Bevacqua had run the Padres out of a potential rally by bunting while trying to stretch a leadoff double in the seventh inning into a triple. But Williams kept his faith in the 37year-old designated hitter and assured him there were enough innings left in the batting order.

The victory kept the Padres alive in Game One, giving San Diego a 3-2 lead in the Series. Bevacqua had run the Padres out of a potential rally by bunting while trying to stretch a leadoff double in the seventh inning into a triple. But Williams kept his faith in the 37-year-old designated hitter and assured him there were enough innings left in the batting order.

The victory kept the Padres alive in Game One, giving San Diego a 3-2 lead in the Series. Bevacqua had run the Padres out of a potential rally by bunting while trying to stretch a leadoff double in the seventh inning into a triple. But Williams kept his faith in the 37-year-old designated hitter and assured him there were enough innings left in the batting order.

The victory kept the Padres alive in Game One, giving San Diego a 3-2 lead in the Series. Bevacqua had run the Padres out of a potential rally by bunting while trying to stretch a leadoff double in the seventh inning into a triple. But Williams kept his faith in the 37-year-old designated hitter and assured him there were enough innings left in the batting order.

The victory kept the Padres alive in Game One, giving San Diego a 3-2 lead in the Series. Bevacqua had run the Padres out of a potential rally by bunting while trying to stretch a leadoff double in the seventh inning into a triple. But Williams kept his faith in the 37-year-old designated hitter and assured him there were enough innings left in the batting order.

The victory kept the Padres alive in Game One, giving San Diego a 3-2 lead in the Series. Bevacqua had run the Padres out of a potential rally by bunting while trying to stretch a leadoff double in the seventh inning into a triple. But Williams kept his faith in the 37-year-old designated hitter and assured him there were enough innings left in the batting order.

The victory kept the Padres alive in Game One, giving San Diego a 3-2 lead in the Series. Bevacqua had run the Padres out of a potential rally by bunting while trying to stretch a leadoff double in the seventh inning into a triple. But Williams kept his faith in the 37-year-old designated hitter and assured him there were enough innings left in the batting order.

The victory kept the Padres alive in Game One, giving San Diego a 3-2 lead in the Series. Bevacqua had run the Padres out of a potential rally by bunting while trying to stretch a leadoff double in the seventh inning into a triple. But Williams kept his faith in the 37-year-old designated hitter and assured him there were enough innings left in the batting order.

The victory kept the Padres alive in Game One, giving San Diego a 3-2 lead in the Series. Bevacqua had run the Padres out of a potential rally by bunting while trying to stretch a leadoff double in the seventh inning into a triple. But Williams kept his faith in the 37-year-old designated hitter and assured him there were enough innings left in the batting order.
Chris' Ice Cream
MADE THE OLD FASHIONED WAY
Have any of 16 items mixed right into your favorite flavors!

50¢ OFF any purchase with ND / SMC ID
one per customer

Giannetto's
Home of the Original
Stuffed Pizza
Quality food is our business
Serving You
Tues. - Thurs. 4-10 Fri. - Sat. 4-11

PSYCHOLOGY MAJORS ARE CRAZY ABOUT DOMINO'S PIZZA
277-2151

Get two free Cokes® with any order of $5 or more.
One coupon per pizza.

Fast, Free Delivery
Reaching you same day.
1935 South Bend Ave.
South Bend, IN 46615
Phone: 277-2151
After hours, call 276-4747.

Old Milwaukee
Michelob Light
Pabst
Budweiser

“Come On In For Our COLUMBUS DAY SPECIALS”
Sports

NCAA volleyball team defeated by Rambiers in three straight

By CHUCK EHRMAN
Sport Writer

It was an important game for the Fighting Irish, a three-set game last night at the ACC - a battle of unbeaten NCAA teams. The Ramblers, led by senior co-captains Molly Baker and Ann Boutton, beat the Saint Mary's team, 15-4, 15-7, 15-9, at Goshen College, Tuesday night. The Irish, led by senior co-captains Staci Strothman and John Killeen, fell behind 11-5. Down 11-7, with a 15-9 lead, the Ramblers returned the serve to the Irish and won the game.

The Ramblers would not fold, however. They outplayed the Irish in the three straight games to win the match, 17-15, 16-14, 15-2. For the Irish, the Ramblers serving, junior Tracy McLaughlin turned in a nifty play as the Ramblers served to defeat the Irish. But the Ramblers would not fold, however. They outplayed the Irish in the three straight games to win the match, 17-15, 16-14, 15-2.

The Ramblers would not fold, however. They outplayed the Irish in the three straight games to win the match, 17-15, 16-14, 15-2. For the Irish, the Ramblers serving, junior Tracy McLaughlin turned in a nifty play as the Ramblers served to defeat the Irish. But the Ramblers would not fold, however. They outplayed the Irish in the three straight games to win the match, 17-15, 16-14, 15-2.

The Ramblers would not fold, however. They outplayed the Irish in the three straight games to win the match, 17-15, 16-14, 15-2. For the Irish, the Ramblers serving, junior Tracy McLaughlin turned in a nifty play as the Ramblers served to defeat the Irish. But the Ramblers would not fold, however. They outplayed the Irish in the three straight games to win the match, 17-15, 16-14, 15-2.

The Ramblers would not fold, however. They outplayed the Irish in the three straight games to win the match, 17-15, 16-14, 15-2. For the Irish, the Ramblers serving, junior Tracy McLaughlin turned in a nifty play as the Ramblers served to defeat the Irish. But the Ramblers would not fold, however. They outplayed the Irish in the three straight games to win the match, 17-15, 16-14, 15-2.

The Ramblers would not fold, however. They outplayed the Irish in the three straight games to win the match, 17-15, 16-14, 15-2. For the Irish, the Ramblers serving, junior Tracy McLaughlin turned in a nifty play as the Ramblers served to defeat the Irish. But the Ramblers would not fold, however. They outplayed the Irish in the three straight games to win the match, 17-15, 16-14, 15-2.

The Ramblers would not fold, however. They outplayed the Irish in the three straight games to win the match, 17-15, 16-14, 15-2. For the Irish, the Ramblers serving, junior Tracy McLaughlin turned in a nifty play as the Ramblers served to defeat the Irish. But the Ramblers would not fold, however. They outplayed the Irish in the three straight games to win the match, 17-15, 16-14, 15-2.

The Ramblers would not fold, however. They outplayed the Irish in the three straight games to win the match, 17-15, 16-14, 15-2. For the Irish, the Ramblers serving, junior Tracy McLaughlin turned in a nifty play as the Ramblers served to defeat the Irish. But the Ramblers would not fold, however. They outplayed the Irish in the three straight games to win the match, 17-15, 16-14, 15-2.

The Ramblers would not fold, however. They outplayed the Irish in the three straight games to win the match, 17-15, 16-14, 15-2. For the Irish, the Ramblers serving, junior Tracy McLaughlin turned in a nifty play as the Ramblers served to defeat the Irish. But the Ramblers would not fold, however. They outplayed the Irish in the three straight games to win the match, 17-15, 16-14, 15-2.

The Ramblers would not fold, however. They outplayed the Irish in the three straight games to win the match, 17-15, 16-14, 15-2. For the Irish, the Ramblers serving, junior Tracy McLaughlin turned in a nifty play as the Ramblers served to defeat the Irish. But the Ramblers would not fold, however. They outplayed the Irish in the three straight games to win the match, 17-15, 16-14, 15-2.