Preliminary work begins on addition

By KATHLEEN DIAS
News Staff

A ground-breaking ceremony last week marked the beginning of work on the new addition to Notre Dame Law School. University President Father Theodore Hesburgh, Dean of the Law School, David T. Link, and the Law School Advisory Council all participated in marking the planned extension.

Major construction is not scheduled to begin until March 1, 1985, but already preliminary utility work has begun. To insure student safety, the entire area has been sectioned off by fencing which will remain in place until fall, 1986 when work is scheduled for completion.

The new facilities will include a four-story addition to the main building featuring classrooms, a classroom, a research center, faculty offices and a five story addition to the library. The Kavage Law Library which had been enlarged in 1973, will be added to, doubling the library stack area, with room for up to 50,000 volumes. Present plans will enable the Student to provide every law student with their own carrel or at least a place at a table.

Assistant Dean William McAlpin is very positive about the new work which he feels the University’s decision to commit an estimated 44 million dollars to being done “at the right place.” According to McAlpin, there have been developments at the oldest Catholic law school in the country which will keep Notre Dame with other schools like Duke and Vanderbilt, and help the Law School to keep growing.

Student poll indicates interest in new store

By MIKE MILLEN
Staff Reporter

The results of the Ombudsmann survey taken to determine the feasibility of a student-run bookstore were presented at last night’s student senate meeting.

According to Senator Pat Browne, the bookstore would probably be a lower-priced items of “generic or slightly higher quality.” He said OMBUD’s comprehensive survey covered 12 dorms, and results showed “80 percent interviewed were in favor.” Browne said these results were en couraging, and the project will continue.

A resolution which would make it easier for students, faculty, and staff to charge meals at the dining halls was unanimously passed. Introduced by Senator Javier Ojeda, the proposal was needed because “anyone who doesn’t have a meal plan must pay cash. This way, anybody with an ID can charge it (a their account.”

According to the plan, whenever a person wants to eat a meal which he has not paid for, he simply gives his ID to the checker and the university computer will tell the person’s account for the meat.

Oliva said the plan could go into effect as soon as next semester “It’s a matter of technological,” she said, “and the administration seemed to favor the proposal.”

Student Body President Rob Bertino introduced two more student senate members Freshman Council President Ted Smith and J Board Coordinator Bill Bergamo are non-both voting members.

SMC interns gain valuable job experience

By ANN SULLIVAN
News Staff

"With my major, I’ll never find a job.” For many liberal art students facing an increasingly specialized work force this could be a common lament. However, under Saint Mary’s Internship Program, students can experience the workplace in a business to liberal arts student discover the skills they possess that are of value to the corporate environment. "You have to be responsible even though you are doing something that is unrelated to your major."

There are 200 students this semester at SMC who are working 8 to 15 hours a week for area businesses, using skills and knowledge gained in liberal arts studies. While interning, the student maintains a full class load.

The Internship Program was developed by Saint Mary’s Counseling and Career Development Center in the fall of 1980. Since then approximately 65 students have participated in the program designed to help students gain the skills and credit from their departments for their on-the-job experience. Many, like intern Katie Keenan, a 1984 graduate, find the internship experience contributes to a feeling of competence as they search for their first “real” job.

Katie Keenan, a 1984 graduate who is now employed by Carson Pirie Scott in Chicago, found her internship experience invaluable. According to Keenan, interning allows a student valuable insights into the business world. "You learn to be a professional. You have to be responsible even when there are days you don’t want to go to work."

Keenan sees the program as a link between the intern’s academic world and the workplace. Joan Grabowski a former intern and now assistant manager of the South Bend Symphony Orchestra agrees. Grabowski praised the program, saying it gives the student professional experience while still a part of the familiar college environment. "As an employee of an organization you are expected to act in a responsible and professional manner. Yet, there is always a supervisor on hand for support and for advice," she said.

Currently working for an organization which sponsors interns, Grabowski said the program is beneficial for the professional organization as well. Over the past four years the South Bend Symphony has sponsored four interns, including an accounting major and an English major.

In addition to the South Bend Symphony, organizations sponsoring interns this semester include Vanguard Advertising, DuCom Center, Legal Services, and Shared Services on the Saint Mary’s campus.

Along with their work commitment, interns attend bi-weekly meetings. At the meetings they discuss problems they may face on their present and future jobs such as sexual harassment and the need to be assertive.

Interns meet four additional times during the semester at Hagar College Center for the "Women in the Workplace" Lecture Series.

Work is well under way for the new additions to the Law School. Construction is scheduled to begin in March. Last Friday, University President Theodore Hesburgh was one participant in a ground-breaking ceremony for the new building. See Kathleen Dias story at left.

Saint Mary’s students participate in surrealistic presentation last night

By HEATHER MILLER
News Staff

"A social commentary on a reception," is how Muriel Magenta, artist-in-residence at Saint Mary’s, described her presentation last night. Nothing is being done "at the right time," according to Keenan, interning allows a student valuable insights into the business world. "You learn to be a professional. You have to be responsible even when there are days you don’t want to go to work."

Magenta is a professor of art at Arizona State University. She plans on exhibiting her art at the University of Arizona next. She has studied at Queens College in New York and Johns Hopkins University in Maryland.

Magenta’s latest work is a 12 ft. sculpture, "In Defense of a Hairdo," which will be shown in Los Angeles in February. "I incorporate painting and sculpture with new electronic art, such as film and video, and I wear all of these together in a theatrical context," she said. Magenta’s work is inspired by Cristo, who does environmental mixed media works which incor-
Sometimes 'just downtown' is not just a few miles from campus

At 10 a.m. on a football Saturday, three Notre Dame students hop into their green mustang for a few hours of bargains.

Broke, as usual, they decide to hit the resale shops in hopes of picking up something cheap darn furnishings and other stuff.

Since the game is at night, they are able to leave campus before the alumni descend and traffic pours into one way toward the Dome. They breeze downtown, their conversation a mixture of stock South Bend complaints, gossip, and laughter, and pull into the parking lot of the St. Vincent de Paul Thrift Shop.

Inside, they read through clothes, books and furniture, quickly filling a shopping cart with irresistible bargains.

"Check out this Chinese coat. Wouldn't this be great at like a Halloween party?"

"Look at these jeans. Do we actually used to think these elephant legs were cool?"

They stand, laughing at a pair of ridiculous pink platform shoes, when the sharp screams of a baby interrupts them. The cries come at regular intervals from an ancient grey baby carriage, one that reminds them, perhaps, of a carriage in which walked theirs many years ago.

A little girl with unruly red hair six in the stroller. It is not her, however, but some unseen baby that screams.

A tired mother pushes the carriage, which cries out regularly, loudly. And the students stand and watch it pass, knowing only when the screams have rolled away.

Finally, when there are no racks left to peruse, the three sort through their overflowing carts of paraphernalia and select the items they actually intend to buy.

"Should I buy this skirt?"

"Sure, it's only a quarter."

"No, it's not even a quarter."

"Should I buy this sweater?"

"Only $2 for this sweater? If I wear it once it's worth the money."

"I'd wear it once if it were worth $2."

"Sure, it's only $2."

"Well, let's not be greedy."

"I'll take it."

The three girls step aside and take a look at the baby, unlike any of their own. The carriage is still crying, but they now see the baby is of a different color, a different shape, a different sound.

"Look at these jeans. Do believe we actually used to think these elephant legs were cool?"

"Only $2 for this sweater? If I wear it once it's worth the money."

"I'd wear it once if it were worth $2."

"Sure, it's only a quarter."

"Let's not be greedy."

"I'll take it."

The three girls leave the shop with armloads of bargains.

"Let's take a look in the garbage can."

They rummage through the garbage and grab another bag of clothes,4 a clean pair of shoes, and a new hat.

They are free from the car, free from their problems, free from their money.

Finally, when there are no racks left to peruse, the three sort through their overflowing carts of paraphernalia and select the items they actually intend to buy.

"Should I buy this skirt?"

"Sure, it's only a quarter."

"No, it's not even a quarter."

"Should I buy this sweater?"

"Only $2 for this sweater? If I wear it once it's worth the money."

"I'd wear it once if it were worth $2."

"Sure, it's only $2."

"Well, let's not be greedy."

"I'll take it."

The three girls leave the shop with armloads of bargains.
Saint Mary's loft policy still up in air according to Board

By ANNE GALLAGHER
Staff Reporter

"No decisions have been made" was a phrase frequently heard during last night's Board of Governance meeting at Saint Mary's College. "Once again, the prospect of lofts for Saint Mary's dorms was discussed," Anne McCarthy, member of the loft committee, said that, "everything is still up in the air and no decisions have yet been made." A design for the lofts has not yet been chosen, and there still is a big liability issue to be discussed," said McCarthy.

Saint Mary's plans on offering the option of lofts to dorm residents next year, although only lofts built from kits sold by the College would be allowed. The board was surprised to hear that the cost for a loft is estimated at $160 per person. Commenting that supplies and labor lie behind the high cost, McCarthy said the cost brought in the problem of resale. "With the wear and tear taking place over the years, they just wouldn't sell for the same price."

Lee Ann Franks, student body president, addressed the board, urging them to attend the various student government functions. "It is very hard for student government to sponsor activities, and have no one attend them," she said. "I know that you can't come to every activity, but at least talk them up." Rush Frenck and Julie Strazaboski, vice president for academic affairs, urged board members to attend the up coming reflective slide show by artist Meinrad Craighead, on October 30. "If you can't stop for something different, it's where you should be," said Strazaboski.

The students' survey, which took place last week, was discussed. Results of those surveys should be out after the mid-semester break. The board also talked about the Halloween events planned, such as the movie marathon in the Berenzy Gym Room, and trick or treating by the professors' children.

Campagne rhetoric to built rise

Associated Press

President Reagan said yesterday that Walter Mondale had confused the liberation of Grenada from "Communist thugs" with the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan while his Democratic opponent accused the president of timing toxic waste cleanups to coincide with the 6th and flow of the campaign.

Reagan campaigned in Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina, seeking to solidify his support in the region. Mondale, meanwhile, started at a toxic waste site in Missouri before heading to California.

The president told students at the University of Alabama, "When we liberated Grenada from Communist thugs, we were being a good friend to our Caribbean neighbor."

Reagan said Mondale initially criticized the military action, although more recently the Democratic presidential nominee has said it may have been needed to save American lives.

Continuing his anti-Mondale rhetoric as the second presidential debate approaches, Reagan said: "My opponent, by the way, seems to have that liberation confused with the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan."

He said that what we did in Grenada "eroded our moral authority" to criticize the Soviets.

The president cited statements by Mondale predicting that the Soviets would no longer dominate other nations by force. After the invasion of Afghanistan, the president quoted Mondale as saying: "It just baffles me why the Soviets the last few years have behaved as they have."

In Weldon Spring, Mo., Mondale visited a radioactive waste dump, which he said the administration had refused to clean up until his campaign was announced.

The Weldon Spring site consists of four highly radioactive sludge ponds near a former nuclear waste processing plant.

Bowler named president of Alfa

Chris Bowler, a sophomore government/ALFA major from Edina, Minn., has been named production manager of The Observer.

Bowler said his goals include bringing stability and consistency to the department. He has been working as an assistant production manager since August.

Ride United Limo to Midway Airport and Downtown Chicago

Special Offer

Now you can commute to work, catch a flight or enjoy the day shopping with United Limo's dependable new downtown Chicago service.

Arriving this week!

over 4500 pieces of clothing!

Something NEW everyday!!

SHOP OFTEN!

Goodwill Plaza
921 N. Eddy Ave.
(across from Nickle's)

Hours: Mon.-Thurs. 9-7, Fri. 9-8, Sat. 9-5:30

Sweeney Todd

November 4, 2, 3, 4

Tickets on sale NOW!

SAB Record Store,
Presale: $4.00
At Door: $5.00

RIDE UNITED LIMO TO DOWNTOWN CHICAGO AND MIDWAY AIRPORT

Round Trip Same Day Return

Now you can

...commit to work, catch a flight or enjoy the day shopping with United Limo's dependable new downtown Chicago service.

TO DOWNTOWN CHICAGO

LEAVE OSCEOLA
OFFICE
TOWN & COUNTRY
5:30 A.M.
5:45 A.M.
6:00 A.M.
6:15 A.M.

ARRIVE MIDWAY AIRPORT
ART INSTITUTE
WATER TOWER PLACE
8:15 A.M.
9:00 A.M.
9:15 A.M.

FROM DOWNTOWN CHICAGO

LEAVE MIDWAY AIRPORT
SOUTH BEND AIRPORT
6:00 P.M.
6:45 P.M.
7:45 P.M.
8:45 P.M.
9:00 P.M.
9:15 P.M.
9:30 P.M.

Ride United Limo to Midway Airport and Downtown Chicago
Same Day Return

CALL YOUR TRAVEL AGENT OR UNITED LIMO

674-6993

United Limo

10844 U.S. 20 (one and one-half miles east of Bittersweet)
Osceola, Indiana 46561

The Observer

Tuesday, October 16, 1984 — page 3
Is the administration the students' keeper?

One of my high school teachers once told me not to say I am going to do something, just do it. He was convinced that people diffuse a sense. It would be a nice point of debate whether Reagan was more agile or more adroit, but does anyone want to claim responsibility for us. Does he want everyone to say his or her own prayer? Nobody is stopping that. What has been prevented is not the saying of grace oneself, but the going to the other side. If that, in the entire history of this country, no child has ever been compelled by political pressure not to say prayers. It is just as safe to say, "I am my brother's keeper" as any other form that they are played the games every day. Air Force probably had some sort of unfair edge over our players. I mean, being in the military, they're used to getting pumped up. If the football players here are like the Notre Dame student (as everyone claims), they complain about rolling out of bed for an 11:00 class. They're not like the football at all.

Something is wrong here, very wrong. The "family" atmosphere which attracts so many people is trampled on in loco. It was not expected to find "The Waltons," but I did expect to find "The Waltons," I did kind of anticipate "Eight is Enough." Instead, I got "Strait Cash?"

Tuesday, October 16, 1984 — page 4

Viewpoint

David Kroeger

Wednesday's child

shied them now." And Shelley was a bad poet when he wrote: "I upon the thorns of life! I bleed!"

I wish my teacher had got to Walter Mondale in his formative years. He seems convinced that the way to show leadership is to keep saying, "I am a leader - watch me, I'm leading." He had no number of repeating his message in this Sunday debate that he had to stand up to the issue... I think that's what leadership is all about.

Or: "I've stood up and told the American people that that $263 billion dollar must come down." Or: "I am trying to provide leadership to the country."

Or at least something other than a glaring nonacquaintance with it. In his other appeal to the Constitution, the president said Democrats are "the least who part of that Constitution that says the government shall not only not establish a religion, it shall not inhibit the practice of religion."

The constitutional "part" he refers to is the First Amendment - says nothing about inhibiting religion. It says the states shall not "prohibit the free exercise thereof" - quite a different matter.

But, in any case, are the Democrats guilty of prohibiting the free exercise of the Constitution? The reason is that, in the entire history of this country, no child has ever been compelled by political pressure not to say prayers. It is just as safe to say that, in the past, some children did feel compelled by such pressures to go through forms of prayer alien to them (whether they were Catholic or protestant or whatever). A self-proclaimed individualist such as Ronald Reagan should not have understood this. Everyone is supposed to make his or her own way in the competitive world. Why doesn't the president want everyone to say his or her own prayer? Nobody is stopping that.

(C) 1984, UNIVERSAL PRESS SYNDICATE

College football's motto: Anything for the money

This past summer the Supreme Court handed down a landmark decision affecting the college football season, and it was certainly one that touched the lives of thousands of college football fans across the country. In its infinite wisdom, the Court decided to end NCAA control of football telecasts; as a result, you can now find games on any channel at any time of the day, and if you have cable, on a variety of channels. What does this mean for us here at Notre Dame? You've seen the effect already. Only this season has a home game in Notre Dame Stadium started at the customary 3:30 p.m. In the old days (pre-decision), you could always depend on at least a little morning kickoff, head out to Green Field, and be assured that the game five, colleges all over the nation, players from coast to coast are every day. I mean, being in the military, they're used to getting pumped up. If the football players here are like the Notre Dame student (as everyone claims), they complain about rolling out of bed for an 11:00 class. They're not like the football at all.

What about the student organizations selling food at stands across the campus? This is simply a source of fund-raising for these groups. How are they supposed to sell hamburgers and brass before 11:00 a.m.? Who's hungry for stuff at 11:00 a.m. for too many people.

Then there are the average fan who drives in on Saturday just for the game. Now they're forced to drive at strange early morning hours. They're not like the football at all.

So, is there anything wrong with the NCAA having an edict that games be played the games every day? ESPN has broadcast our games live for the past two weeks and will again this Saturday every day. The kickoff time has been moved to accommodate them. More and more, Notre Dame belies the image of being prostituting themselves in the name of a few lousy bucks. There was a time when Notre Dame fans believed that the previous football seasons would tarnish their image, so they just didn't go. Last year ND went to the Liberty Bowl, a so-called "minor bowl." This year a cable network decides when the football games will start. Where will it all end? Will we be in Shreveport, Louisiana for the Independence Bowl this December? Hopefully not. But, then again, who ever heard of a football game enlisting by 2:30? If the money's right, let's go. It's not New Orleans, but it's close as we get this year.

Brian McKee is a senior government major and a regular Viewpoint columnist.

Brian McKee

reflecting country. In its infinite wisdom, the Court decided to end NCAA control of football telecasts; as a result, you can now find games on any channel at any time of the day, and if you have cable, on a variety of channels. What does this mean for us here at Notre Dame? You've seen the effect already. Only this season has a home game in Notre Dame Stadium started at the customary 3:30 p.m. In the old days (pre-decision), you could always depend on at least a little morning kickoff, head out to Green Field, and be assured that the game five, colleges all over the nation, players from coast to coast are every day. I mean, being in the military, they're used to getting pumped up. If the football players here are like the Notre Dame student (as everyone claims), they complain about rolling out of bed for an 11:00 class. They're not like the football at all.

What about the student organizations selling food at stands across the campus? This is simply a source of fund-raising for these groups. How are they supposed to sell hamburgers and brass before 11:00 a.m.? Who's hungry for stuff at 11:00 a.m. for too many people.

Then there are the average fan who drives in on Saturday just for the game. Now they're forced to drive at strange early morning hours. They're not like the football at all.

So, is there anything wrong with the NCAA having an edict that games be played the games every day? ESPN has broadcast our games live for the past two weeks and will again this Saturday every day. The kickoff time has been moved to accommodate them. More and more, Notre Dame belies the image of being prostituting themselves in the name of a few lousy bucks. There was a time when Notre Dame fans believed that the previous football seasons would tarnish their image, so they just didn't go. Last year ND went to the Liberty Bowl, a so-called "minor bowl." This year a cable network decides when the football games will start. Where will it all end? Will we be in Shreveport, Louisiana for the Independence Bowl this December? Hopefully not. But, then again, who ever heard of a football game enlisting by 2:30? If the money's right, let's go. It's not New Orleans, but it's close as we get this year.

Brian McKee is a senior government major and a regular Viewpoint columnist.
The Notre Dame Boxing Club will be holding its annual banquet and awards ceremony on October 16th. The event will be held at 6:30 p.m. at the boathouse. — The Observer

"Speaking of Sports" will have an open phone line for listeners to voice their opinions on Notre Dame sports. AM 64. Call 239-6400 to express your thoughts. — The Observer

Co-rec basketball and volleyball campaigns should attend meetings tomorrow in the football auditorium. The basketball meeting will be at 5 p.m., and volleyball meetings will be at 7 p.m. — The Observer

The ND/SMC Sailing Club will be meeting at 6:30 p.m. at the boathouse. — The Observer

"We need riders to and from S.C." asks Steve at 234-7319. For Sale: 2 S.C. GA s. Call Robin at 284-5464 or Jane at 284-5452.

I need S.C. tix? I have 2 GA s call Steve at 234-7319.

NEED 4 GA S FOR S. CAROLINA. TOGETHER, HOPEFULLY. PATTY Scallen is a goddess

I need riders to and from St. Louis at the Center for Social Concerns. Everyone welcome. — The Observer

I have 2 S.C. GA s. I bought them for someone. Call Bubba or Dave at 327-88.

NEED 4 GA S FOR S. CAROLINA. TOGETHER, HOPEFULLY. PATTY Scallen is a goddess

I need 4 Penn St. Tickets - Call Mimi at 288-1202.

NEED 3 RIDS TO S. CAROLINA GAME THURSDAY Nov 16. CALL MARY ANN at 288-1202.

I'm gong to burn them! — MARIO CUOMO: HYPOCRITE OR MAN OF INNER BEAUTY?

Yes, I'm depressed. — THE GUESTROOMS?

It's true that I have known and loved you since the day you will take up permanent residence in me. — MARY LUDTKE

And we love you even more. — THE GAME AND WILL PAY THE USUAL.

It means nothing. But I have 2 S.C. GA s I bought for someone. — I need S.C. tix? I have 2 GA s call Steve at 234-7319.

Call OWEN 288-2361

Hey!! If you still want to go to LONG ISLAND CALL OWEN 288-2361

The Observer Notre Dame office is located on the third floor of LaFortune. The Observer classified ads are located above page 11 in the Telephone Directory. The Observer classifieds办公室位于LaFortune的三楼。
South Carolina 11th

Washington vaults into top spot

Associated Press

The Washington Huskies have become the fifth team to be ranked No. 1 this season in The Associated Press college football poll.

Thanks to Washington's 37-15 victory over Stanford while top-ranked Texas and No. 3 Oklahoma were battling to a 15-15 standoff, the Huskies vaulted from second place to the top spot with 39 first-place votes and 1,155 total points.

“Texas not only fell from the top but dropped all the way to third place. Oklahoma jumped from third to second with 11 first-place votes and 1,072 points while Texas received four first-place ballots and 1,057 points.”

“It's an honor,” was the reaction from Washington Coach Don James, who had said he preferred not to be No. 1 this early in the season.

The Top Twenty college football teams in The Associated Press poll and their place votes in order of rank, for this season's records and total points. Figures based on 23-16-17-18 first-place votes, with 2-3-4-5-6-7-8-9-10-place ap­propriate entries included.

1. Washington (27) 6-0-0 1,155
2. Oklahoma (11) 6-0-1 1,072
3. Texas (13) 5-0-2 1,057
4. Stanford (8) 5-0-1 1,030
5. Southern Methodist (1) 5-0-0 944
6. Texas A&M (2) 5-0-0 941
7. Brigham Young 5-0-0 933
8. Brigham Young 5-0-0 928
9. Miami, Fla. 4-0-1 868
10. Louisiana St. 4-0-0 852
11. South Carolina 4-0-0 844
12. Ole Miss 4-0-0 835
13. Georgia 4-0-0 805
14. Florida 4-0-0 793
15. Kentucky 4-0-0 792
16. Florida 4-0-0 784
17. Florida 4-0-0 783
18. Iowa 4-0-0 157
19. Penn State 4-2-0 93
20. Iowa 4-2-0 157

Baseball

continued from page 8

out that we have a very scrappy club,” Moran says. “We know that we won’t score a lot of runs, so we have people that don’t know the price they have to pay to be successful.”

To make the loss even harder to swallow, the Irish learned yesterday that Evansville, ranked second in the region, lost twice over the weekend, once to number-three Akron. Notre Dame will play host to Akron tomorrow afternoon on Alumni Field at 4 p.m., and had the Irish been victorious over the weekend, a win in that game would have guaranteed them a spot in the NCAA tournament.

Instead, the Irish will be playing tomorrow only to save face and improve their 10-2 record.

The Irish Gardens

your Screw your Roommate Headquarters

Stay on campus and save $$$ by letting us take care of your flower needs

Dial M-U-M-8 (6867)

to place an order

Located off the Nazz
in the basement of
LaFortune

Hours: 12:30-5:30

The Knights of the Castle

Men's Hair Styling at its finest minutes from campus

$5.00 HAIRCUTS

$8.50 Haircut shampoo blowdry

Stay on campus and save $$$ by letting us take care of your flower needs

The Ireland Gardens

Hair must be Shampooed day of cut.

We are only minutes from campus

For more information contact:

Mary Ann Roemer
Center for Social Concerns: 239-7949

John Fitzpatrick
Associates Office: 239-5521

239 Cavanaugh: 239-6522

Tuesday, October 16, 1984 — page 6

University of Notre Dame

Foreign Study Programs

Triani, China

PRESENTS

Lecture Series on China

October 15 Tuesday

Private Enterprise in China Today

Joseph Scott, Dept. of Sociology

November 8 Thursday

Contemporary Chinese Culture

Peter Moody, Dept. of Government

November 28 Wednesday

Tianjin Program Overview

December 5 Wednesday

Marriage and Family in China

Zheng Yung-shen,
Tianjin Foreign Languages Institute

6:30 p.m.

Satellite Room 242, O'Shaughnessy Hall

EVERYONE WELCOME

FINE ART MAJORS ARE DRAWN TO DOMINO’S PIZZA.

277-2151

$1.00 Off

$1.00 off any pizza.
One coupon per pizza.

For more information contact:

Mary Ann Roemer
Center for Social Concerns: 239-7949

John Fitzpatrick
Associates Office: 239-5521

239 Cavanaugh: 239-6522

For more information contact:

Mary Ann Roemer
Center for Social Concerns: 239-7949

John Fitzpatrick
Associates Office: 239-5521

239 Cavanaugh: 239-6522

NVA’s Century Club is a program of exercise and fitness that encourages participation in their own exercise goals. For more information, contact the NVA office. — The Observer

A horseback-riding trip to Happy Trails Riding Stables is being sponsored by NVA on Sunday, Nov. 4. Trips will leave at 10 a.m., noon and 1:30 p.m. If you have put your name on the waiting list or are interested in signing up, bring $35 to the NVA office to cover transportation and rides. — The Observer

The ND Field Hockey Team dropped a game to Ball State last night 2-1, in Muncie, Ind. Corinne DiGiacomo scored the lone goal for the Irish, with an assist from Christina Weisman. Goalie Pat Gallagher had 11 saves in the contest. Notre Dame’s record fell to 6-6-1 on the season. The team returns to action tomorrow in Ann Arbor against Michigan. — The Observer

The Saint Mary’s volleyball team announced Ancilla College in three games, 15-1, 15-1, 15-6 last night. The Belles will not play until after break, when it hosts Marion College on October 30. — The Observer

Soccer

continued from page 8

The Observer

Press

More information:

M ary Ann Roemer Associates Office: 239-5521

The Associated Press

Today's College Poll

This season's records and total points. Points received by team are italicized.

1. Texas (4) 3-0-1 1,057
2. Oklahoma (11) 4-0-1 1,072
3. Georgia 4-1-0 403
4. Penn State 4-2-0 93
5. Iowa 4-2-0 157
6. Georgia 4-0-0 333
7. Penn State 4-2-0 93
8. Ohio State 5-1-0 744
9. Miami, Fla. 6-2-0 668
10. Louisiana St. 4-0-1 652
11. Florida St. 4-1-1 333
12. Oklahoma St. 4-1-0 489
13. Michigan 4-1-0 403
14. Georgia 4-1-0 403
15. Florida 4-1-0 333
16. Georgia 4-0-0 272
17. Penn State 4-0-0 272
18. Iowa 4-2-0 157
19. Penn State 4-2-0 93
20. Iowa 4-2-0 157

Across from Martin’s Plaza 23 Center

Fast, Free Delivery

Expires in one week

Tianjin Program Overview

Tianjin, China

Contemporary Chinese Culture

Zheng Yung-shen, Dept. of Government

November 28

Tuesday, October 16

Tuesday

Wednesday

Wednesday

Wednesday

Wednesday
Today

Tuesday, October 16, 1984 — page 7

Doonesbury

Bloom County

Psycho Chicken

The Far Side

Garry Trudeau

Berke Breathed

The Daily Crossword

The N.D. Student Activities Board presents

THE FIXX

opening act: Corey Hart

November 16th at the Notre Dame A.C.C.

Tickets on sale Tuesday, Oct. 16th

9 am - 4 pm at S.A.B. Record Store and
S.A.B. ticket window (2nd floor LaFortune)

$10 and $11 seats available

limit six tickets per person

Wednesday and Thursday

at the Engineering Auditorium...

P A T T O N ' t a p e s

records tickets

7:00 9:00 11:00

Service your music needs at discount prices!

Check it out in LaFortune!

SPONSORED BY THE S.A.B.
behavior in this situation.

Grace said he's baffled by his team's inability to stay in the game, and the contest slowly slipped away from them.

"It seemed to me what happened was that the whole team was confused in the first period, and it was after we scored we celebrated," Grace said. "Instead of rallying and pulling each other up, I suspect that we point fingers. When we have to pull together and support each other, for some reason we don't, and I can't figure it out."

Tutaj put the Warriors on top at 34:45 with assists from Tutaj and Chip Corrigan. The score remained at 2-1 at halftime.

In the second period, Marquette owned control of the game, and DuStadler put it out of reach of the Irish with a penalty kick at 57:55. The Warriors were awarded the kick on a controversial call when a Marquette player was tripped in front of the Irish goal.

The referee awarded a penalty kick, saying the infraction occurred inside the 18-yard penalty area. Grace, however, claimed that the penalty occurred outside of the box, but his protest was overruled by the official.

Tutaj later added to the Warriors' total with an unassisted goal at 85:50. Statistically, the game was rather close. Both teams took four corner kicks in the contest. Marquette had 11-8 that point (when Marquette nine).

Warrior goalkeeper Dave Klingbeil made two saves, as did Irish netminder Mark Steranka. Two other Irish players, Chet Velek and Jock Mutschler, also recorded saves of Marquette shots.

Grace said that the loss was anecessary to stay in the game, and the playoff outlook for the NCAA post season tournament after it dropped a 4-1 decision to Marquette on Sunday.

"It went progressively downhill the longer the game went on, and then we started slow ly slipping away from them," Grace said.

"We got into the same thing we've seen SOCCER, page 6

Solves fumble problem

By MARK S. PANKOWSKI Sports Writer

Finnegan gets chance at center

With Mike Kelley starting at center, the person who is playing behind him probably does not think that the opportunity to play will come around very often.

But when Robbie Finnegan was called into action during the second half of Saturday's Air Force game, he was ready to take that chance and make the most of it.

Finnegan's chance to play came after Mike Kelley and quarterback Scott Grooms had practiced together on the second team all season, the 0-6, 246-pound senior was confident that the problem of fumbled snaps could be corrected.

"Scott and I have played well all season," Finnegan says. "I worked with Scott (Grooms) while Mike Kelley had worked with Steve (Beuerlein), so the coaches put me in the game to cut down on the number of fumbled snaps." One need not go any further than the second half stats to see that the move was successful, as there were no problems with the exchange between the center and quarterback after Finnegan entered the lineup.

Carl Selmer, the head offensive line coach, was pleased with Finnegan's play.

"I think Finnegan did a good job of getting the ball to the quarterback, which was the thing he had to do," Selmer says. "He also carried out his blocking assignments like he was supposed to."

Even though Finnegan was frustrated with the outcome of the game, he was encouraged with his play.

"What can I say, I don't want to sound happy but I think I played pretty well filling in for Mike," says Finnegan.

Centering the ball without dropping it was a lot easier said than done since Saturday, at rain soaked the field throughout the game. As a result, Finnegan had a hard time keeping his hands dry.

"The refs kept the ball pretty dry, but my hands kept getting wet from the grain," Finnegan says. "They had towels all over the field, but these were wet, too." Centering the ball was not the only problem. The weather caused for Finnegan.

The rain made it especially difficult to track the quicker Air Force linemen.

However, Finnegan refused to blame the weather.

"When the field is wet, it's hard to get off the ball. You've got to play cautiously because you're not sure which way the defensive man is going and you don't want to slip," Finnegan points out. "We were slipping a lot, but I don't want that to sound like an excuse."

Like everyone else, Finnegan could not explain the trouble the offense had moving the football.

"Any time the offense doesn't move the ball the reason is that the team is not executing well together," Finnegan states. "I have to point a finger at any one person."

"I came to Notre Dame to be part of the best. My father was here, and he instilled in me a desire to come here," Finnegan says. "So, when I had the chance, I grabbed it."

Selmer feels that Finnegan has done a good job in his role as a reserve center.

"He's done well," comments Selmer.

Forward Bill Gusta moves away from two St. Joe's defenders in soccer action earlier this season. The soccer team lost last year to Notre Dame's highpowered team, 4-1. Phil Wolf details the game in his story at left.

Now that the conclusion of the fall has concluded, Gallo must evaluate how his team performed during the fall season. The games played in the last few weeks were used to look at all the weaknesses of the team.

"After playing the ten games, I have to say that my main concern for the more important spring season is the lack of offensive punch," says Gallo. "Of the ten games, we hit no home runs and had very few solid hits. Our hitting just wasn't there and hopefully during the winter, the players will develop good hitting habits and continue to improve."

Gallo knows that it takes more than hitting to make a good baseball team, however. "Even though I am stressing hitting the most, I cannot forget to work on our pitching and catching as well."

"Our fielding was very spotty at times," continues the Notre Dame baseball coach. "We made the difficult plays, but the routine ones gave us a bit of trouble. Our lineup is very pretty well set, but the first and third-base positions are still up for grabs. Rich Vautour is probably the most versatile infielder I have, and during the season, I have played him at many different positions, and he has done very well for us." He's done very well for us." Gallo has also been pleased with the performance of his pitching staff.

"Our pitching was very strong throughout the season and because of our pitching, we were able to win games," states Gallo. "I was very pleased with the performances of Buster Lopes, who is coming off a very serious eye injury, and Paul Mauk.

With only a few aspects of the game that need to improve for the Irish, Gallo is anticipating the spring season.

"My prediction for the spring season will all depend on how the players assert themselves for the winning," offers Gallo. "If our hitting comes around, we should have a very good team."

Jack Moran, the team captain for the Irish, knows what the team has to do to be successful after playing the short fall season.

"Through this season, we found