Enthusiastic students check out lower prices at new store's opening

The Notre Dame Student Store opened its doors yesterday to an enthusiastic crowd of students on the second floor of LaFortune Student Center.

Comments about the new store ranged from "it's a good idea" to "it's the greatest super saver ever assembled by a human being." The student store manager, Rick Schimpf, was very happy with the first hour, he said, adding, "outside before we even opened."

The greatest supersaver ever assembles itself in the second floor of LaFortune Student Center.

McPherson said the recent seizure by the Ethiopian government of 6,000 tons of food in an Australian cargo ship was intended to prevent delivery of the aid to two northern provinces in Ethiopia where separatists have been battling government troops.

"The starving people simply cannot be pawns," McPherson said. "The conflict has made it (the famine) worse, and made it particularly difficult to move food around."

While the United States has been channeling some assistance through Sudan to the disputed areas, McPherson said trucks carrying food across Ethiopia are stopped by government troops.

To some extent, he said, the Ethiopian rebels are also to blame for using food as a weapon to advance their cause.

"The question was raised whether it would be more work for the bride."

A B.S. in Chem.E. does not equal a Maytag repairman’s license

After struggling through four years of college and paying more than $35,000 for a degree in chemical engineering, my father still sighs when I tell him I cannot fix his telephone.

When the front door bell at our house loses its refurbish or when the digital clock in the station wagon goes minutes astray, my father arms himself with his reading glasses and battles high technology for a while. Finally, in dignity, he announces to my mother that he’s not the engineer and one ought to be found right away.

Thus to me, my father declares, “You’re the engineer; fix the lawnmower.”

But he doesn’t understand. We go to these fancy engineering schools to learn theory. Fixing lawnmowers is not theory. So I tell him that if he would like me to model the lawnmower’s reactor process with a differential equation or analyze its control systems with LaPlace transforms, I’d be happy to oblige.

But when he asks me to see why the green thingumajig on the lawnmower has broken off into the... isn’t that the carburetor...? I just tell Dad that I am soon to be a professional and professional do not tend to theorizing.

How wrong I am. My older brother, a mechanical engineer with a couple years experience, informs me that thinking machine fixing can make up a better part of a work day. Inlay microscopy is necessary, he says, for the neutron density filter is broken. Thermography is essential but not if the DSC processor vibrates too much.

Just last night, as we watched the Cosby Show, our vertical hold didn’t work. A guard, a powerful stereo. Dad named it. “Plastic or electronic, we young folks know.”

So I whipped out my circuits textbook, calculated a few resistances and inductances and solved the vertical hold crisis.

As little as I appreciate having my forthcoming B.S. in Chem.E. mistaken for a Maytag repairman’s license, technology has been much worse on my parents.

This Christmas, for example, saw the rapid growth of high technology at the Vonderheide household. A video cassette recorder (my father’s project) and a microwave oven (my mother’s top) the list. Each of them has tucked their new plywood hardware. Dad has taped a few movies and ball games, and Mom has turned out an entire turkey dinner using the microwave.

I’m sure that your son can fix it—after all, he’s the engineer.

Helen Hayes endows scholarship to honor former College president

By DIANE PRESTI
Staff Reporter

In memory of Sister Madeleva Wolff, C.S.C., president of Saint Mary's College from 1936 to 1961, the actress Helen Hayes has endowed a scholarship fund of $50,000 to the college.

Hayes and Wolff became friends in 1955 when Hayes was the guest of honor at the dedication of O'Laughlin Auditorium and Moreau Fine Arts Building. Hayes said the endowment "is something I have wanted to do for a long time.... I just thought that it would make me feel better to do something for the people who cared for me so much when I was there." Hayes said he would like to create a scholarship fund of $50,000 to the College in memory of Wolff.

Late shipment postponed opening of student-run store, supplier says

By MIRIAM HILL
Senior Staff Reporter

A delay in the delivery of invent-tory caused the Notre Dame student store to postpone its opening from
Jan. 16 to Jan. 17.

Jim Goshert, the store's supplier, said the delay occurred because Tamco, Inc., a wholesale firm, failed to inform him it would not deliver for two weeks during the Christmas holiday. When Goshert tried to place the order for the Notre Dame store, he discovered Tamco had closed for two weeks.

Goshert said he did not see delays of this sort occurring in the future, but added "the real big problem is that they (Tamco) only deliver once every two weeks. The only real solution is weekly delivery.'' school supplies yesterday, and

Notre Dame received many grants

Special to The Observer

Notre Dame received $703,262 in grants during November for the support of research, instructional programs, service programs and other projects. Research grants totaled $430,985, including:

• $155,985 from the National Institutes of Health for research on the processes: ion liquid interaction in blood coagulation by Dr. Francis Casimere, Kledger/Peidel Professor of Biochemistry and dean of the College of Health Sciences.
• $103,796 from the National Institutes of Health for study of the inhibitors of site-specific recombination by Dr. Michael Fennewald, assistant professor of microbiology.
• $75,052 from the U.S. Department of Energy for research on the microstructural effects in the abrasive wear of metals by Dr. Thomas Kosel, assistant professor of metallurgical engineering.

The government, in support of a visiting professorship in 1985, will support the research projects. Research grants totaled $3,000, from the Lilly Endowment, Inc., for support of a visiting professorship in 1985.

• $8,800 from the Chevron Chemical Corp. for research on immunoanalytical procedures for small molecular weight natural products by Dr. Phillip Kibbey, assistant professor of microbiology.

• $5,417 from the Occidental Chemical Corp. for studies of a pilot chemical waste treatment plant by Dr. Charles Kalusa, associate chairman of microbiology. Awards for instructional programs consisted of a $235,159 grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities for summer programs on "Moral Thought of Thomas Aquinas" and "Epistemology and Medieval Thought" sponsored by the University's Medieval Institute.

Of $20,582 awarded for service programs, $17,582 went to the Institute for Pastoral and Social Ministry. The remaining $3,000, from the National Science Foundation, supports business travel costs for the college Engineering dean.

Another $7,312 from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is to be used in an upcoming on-campus conference on low Reynolds number airfoil aerodynamics organized by Dr. Thomas Mueller, professor of aerospace and mechanical engineering.

Former Taiwanese official held in scandal

TAIPEI - The former head of Taiwan's Military Intelligence Bureau has been taken into custody for questioning in a scandal linking agency officers with the slaying of a journalist in California, a government official said yesterday.

Vice Adm. Wong Shih-kuo, director of the bureau since 1983, was dismissed without explanation by the government on Tuesday, after it was announced that one of his deputies had been arrested for alleged involvement in the death of American political writer Henry Liu, 52.

Authorities said the deputy, Col. Chen Hu-men, 47, was implicated in the slaying by two Taiwanese gangsters wanted by San Francisco police in connection with the death. The two are in custody in Taiwan.

Liu, who had written articles critical of the Nationalist Chinese government in Taiwan, was gunned down Oct. 15 by two assailants in the garage of his Daly City, Calif., home.

He had worked in Taiwan before emigrating to the United States in the 1970s and was reported to have finished revising a critical biography of Taiwan President Chiang Ching-kuo shortly before his death. He worked for the Chinese-language San Francisco Journal.

The government official, who spoke on condition he be not identified, said Wong had been taken into military custody but he declined to say where he was being held.

Officials of the Foreign and Defense Ministries held an emergency meeting to discuss the developing scandal, which has led to concern that the alleged involvement of Taiwan officials in a slaying in the United States might damage U.S.-Taiwan relations. No statement was issued about the meeting.

Chiang, reportedly furious over the alleged involvement of military intelligence officials in the slaying, on Wednesday ordered a special committee to "spare no effort to find out the truth and punish those responsible, no matter what their background or their positions as government officials, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

The two gangsters said to have been involved in the slaying and military intelligence officials in Liu's death were arrested in November in an anti-crime sweep in Taiwan.

San Francisco prosecutors have issued warrants charging one of them, Chen Chi-li, 39, with his death. Wu Tung is still being investigated in connection with the slaying.

Taiwan has no extradition treaty with the United States, and government sources have declined to say whether Chen and Wu would be taken to the United States to face trial.

Unconscious cues cited as answer to mystery of mathematical canine

Associated Press
KINGSTON, Ind. - The mystery of Sheba, Knightstown’s math whiz dog, is solved.

Richard and Frances Morgan’s bright little Spitz-Kermsound has amazed people with an apparent ability to bark out the answers to math problems.

About two years ago, Mrs. Morgan said Sheba was bouncing around the kitchen begging for a cracker.

"I told her, I’m going to teach you to count for your crackers," Mrs. Morgan said. That afternoon, Sheba learned to bark once when Mrs. Morgan said "one" and held up one finger, twice for two and three times for three.

It wasn’t long before Sheba was counting higher, barking up to 10 and beyond.

On an impulse, Mrs. Morgan asked Sheba to add two and three. Sheba barked five times and fixed Mrs. Morgan with an expectant gaze. Mrs. Morgan gave Sheba more addition problems. Each time, the little brown dog barked out the correct answer.

The Morgans found Sheba could do subtraction, multiplication and division. They asked her to solve square roots and cube roots. Sheba rose to each challenge, always eager to please and always with the correct answer. They even taught her to bark out the numbers one through 10 in response to flash cards.

A mathematical dog is hard to keep quiet in a town of 2,325 and Sheba soon became a celebrity. Stories about her ran in area newspapers and an Indianapolis television station did a short piece on her.

She was also invited to perform at area schools.

The Morgans definitely are not the only family of the Spitz-Kermsound type. Richard is retired from the Air Force and is in charge of transportation for the Knightstown schools.

When a reporter from The Indianapolis News visited the Morgans, Sheba was working on the alphabet, barking once for the letter A, twice for B, and so on, responding to other words or flash cards or voice commands.

The reporter was sure nobody was consciously tipping Sheba, but he was unwilling to say a dog really understood math.

Crocker said the United States would not use the threat of ceasing emergency shipments to force the Ethiopian government to distribute the food more evenly, because that would cause even more starvation.

McPherson said while most of the public attention has focused on Ethiopia, Sudan and Kenya have added to the "danger list" of countries also threatened with mass starvation.

As a result, he announced that aid to Sudan has been doubled from 100,000 to 200,000 metric tons in the first half of the year. U.S. food aid, McPherson said civil strife in Mozambique also is inhibiting deliveries of emergency assistance to poor people in that country.

Before final approval can be given, all paper work must be sent to the Fort Wayne-South Bend Diocesan office through Saint Joseph’s parish in South Bend. Therefore, all required documents are due in the office of campus ministry six weeks before the wedding.

The Church of Our Lady of the Rosary requires a $35 church fee upon reservation along with the usual $55 stipend for the presiding priest.

The couple is required to enroll in a Pre-Cana program before marriage. In the South Bend area, the couple may choose the "Engaged Encounter" or the "Pre-Cana Retreat." For alumnae living outside the South Bend area, preparations can be made with the parish in which they reside.

Saint Mary’s has also made available Saga, the Haggar College Center and the Club House for wedding receptions. At Notre Dame, the Morris Inn, University Club, Monogram Room and South Dining Hall can also be used.

Mayefski said pamphlets with guidelines for marriage in the campus church can be found in campus ministry offices, 161-162 Regina.

In support of Saint Mary’s new option, Mayefski said, "In the long run (due to distance), South Bend ends up being a common meeting ground for couples.

Of the 11 weddings scheduled, according to Mayefski, only three involve the "traditional" Notre Dame/Saint Mary’s couples.

While no网站地图 is available, the Haggar College Center has an "on call" florist and the Club House can provide hotel space for wedding guests.

The Suburbs will be invading Indiana tonight as they bring their unique style to the Stepan Center in a welcome back-to-school concert at 8.

The Suburbs are a Minneapolis-based band specializing in music with a big beat and bass line, sharp guitar riffs, and world-class lyrics sung in a throaty caged-in angelic voice.

The members of the band include Beef Chantry on guitar and vocals, Chuck Valing on piano and vocals, Bruce Allen on guitar, Michael Halley on guitar and vocals, and Hugh Klaers on drums. All are high school friends who formed the group in 1978.

After releasing a few singles in 1979 and 1980, they came out with their debut album in 1980, titled In Combo. Best described as "acid pop," the band is perceived with the raw rock-n-roll energy of a young band having a good time.

The highlight of In Combo is a song called "Cows." It contains some of their best work ever recorded. "I like Cows," and they like me like Cows, they go moo when they eat, and like their friends, they chew their food, then they gun for you all the time.

After releasing their first album, people on both coasts began to notice them, as the band began to tour in some of the hottest markets. They continued to tour throughout the winter of 1981.

The sound on Dream Hog is much more piano and dance-oriented. With this newer sound, they signed with the Polygram organization and released their next album, titled Dream Hog, re-released on a Mercury label.

All of this publicity and notoriety put pressure on the band to come up with some good songs for their next album - the first to be released by them on a major label. It looked like they had finally made it to the big time, and their next album - Love Is the Law - had two bonus 10-inch sides, "Love is the Law" and "Rattle My Bones."

Recently, the band has recorded a new album which will be released this spring. It promises to be their best yet.

On the concert scene, the Suburbs have become known for their intense, energetic shows. Their music forces one to move, and their shows invariably end up as a hot, bobbing mass of bodies.

There will be a show sculpture contest on Sunday on the Field House Mall. Judging will be at 4 and prizes will be awarded.

MOVIES

The Student Activities Board will present the movie "Risky Business," about a "good guy" who gets more than he counted on when his parents leave the house for a week, tonight and tomorrow night at 7 and 9, and 11 in the Engineering Auditorium. Admission is $1.50.

ART

The Saint Mary's Art Department Faculty Exhibition begins today at the Moreau Galleries at Saint Mary's, with an opening reception tonight from 7 to 9. The gallery hours are Monday to Friday from 9:30 to noon and 1 to 3:30 p.m., and Sunday from 1 to 3 p.m.

The exhibition "Landscape Paintings by June Cary" continues this weekend at the West Art League Gallery, in the Arts Center at 120 South St. Joseph Street, South Bend. Cary, a resident of Niles, works in an impressionistic manner with an emphasis upon light and color. She has exhibited widely in Michigan, and her works are included in many collections throughout the area.

DANCE

There will be a Dance Party tonight at Stepan. The group "Suburbs" will be featured at 6 (see story at left). Tickets are available at the record store for $4.50 or at the door for $5.

THEATRE

Joseph Robinette's "Planet of the Awful People," presented by the Advance Theatre Arts Players, continues Saturday and next weekend at the Bendix Theatre in the Century Center, beginning at 2 p.m. Tickets are $4 at the door.

MUSIC

The celebrazons for Mass at Sacred Heart Church this weekend will be Father Robert Kennedy at 5:15 p.m. (Saturday night vigil), Father Francis Caffrell at 9 a.m., Father Peter Satch at 10:30, and Father Peter Rocca at 12:15.

MISCELLANEOUS

The famous Father Guido Sardecci will be performing Saturday evening at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. in Washington Hall. Tickets to see the former star of Saturday Night Live are on sale at the Record Store for $5 or at the door for $6.

There will be a snow sculpture contest on Sunday on the Field House Mall. Judging will be at 4 and prizes will be awarded.

Brewing discontent in the Colombian hills

The Space Shuttle, on January 25, will make its most controversial journey to date. Aboard the craft will be a new satellite with the capability to transmit intelligence-rich electronic signals from the Soviet Union to the United States. While the mission is, by its very nature, a matter of controversy, the demands and issues raised make a compelling case for public scrutiny of government actions.

Bill Kraus

National security, according to the administration, means, in a sense, that the people should not be allowed to know about matters of a controversial nature, perhaps in order to avoid public scrutiny. It is certain, however, that the demands made upon our free press were not made in order to preserve the security of the nation. We must surely believe this, it does not seem likely that Kremlin leaders woke up on Dec. 20, to first learn of this Space Shuttle mission by glancing through The Washington Post. This obviously was not a matter of national security and the people, for whom the free press works, should have been informed of this mission. (Remember, it is taxpayers' dollars which finance big toys like these anyway.)

Should news organizations, in a country with a free press, be expected to withhold public information at the request of a government official? I think not.

The free press is like the church; it should remain separate and independent of any government controls, restrictions, and prohibitions. The public has an unequivocal right to know. Our government, elected by and for the people, must answer to public scrutiny. The free press provides the objectivity by which we judge our government's progress. If, in our democracy, we disagree with the actions of our government, we can, under the First Amendment, petition the government for a redress of grievances.

The free press publicity, and rightly so, the actions of our government, thus creating a system of checks and balances between the people and their government. Our free press is sacred and should in no way be subordinated or restricted by our public officials.

What Caspar Weinberger said is totally unforgivable. In order to preserve any semblance of democracy, our First Amendment in general, and our free press in particular, must be upheld at all costs.

Expert says Blab can go pro

Associated Press

"I like him for a number of reasons," said Blake. "One is because he has developed what I think is the only unstoppable shot in basketball, the hookshot. I don't know why more people don't work on a hook shot.

He runs the court. He's worked on his offense, he's put up Uwe is a very good, very steady player. I saw him for two weeks out at the Olympics and there's no question he can play in the NBA and definitely be a factor."

Concurring with Blake's assessment of Blab is Kent Benson, who earned All-America honors at center for Indiana University.

"I think there's no doubt he's going to get drafted, because number one he's 7-2, he's got a good hookshot, good inside moves. It's just a matter of time until he gets to playing up to his potential," said Benson, now a member of the NBA's Detroit Pistons.

There's one other factor, Benson notes, that makes Blab an excellent pro prospect. Playing for coach Bob Knight instills discipline, and all his players learn to play strong defense. "The defensive principles he teaches helped me remain in the NBA," said Benson, who spent time with Blab during the German's sophomore season.

"There are a lot of NBA players who don't like to play defense. I'm just thankful that Coach Knight is preparing him for it," Benson said.

"Probably, the one area he impresses me with is in the耐心 where he has a legitimate shot he can count on. He has a money shot in that way they go, especially offensively. I think he wants to get more into the offense this year and I think he's that kind of good and important for the pros, but besides that I still have to have consistency."

The Munich native says that just being able to shoot the hookshot won't assure him a job in the NBA. He points out he must develop his strength. He learned a little about what he will encounter in the NBA when he worked out with the Los Angeles Clippers' James Donaldson last summer.

We won't be slowing the ball down, by any means, though," Rivers said.

As has been the case lately, David Rivers will be the key man in DePaul's attack, according to Phelps. In his first game against DePaul, the freshman's shot selection was poor at times, and he had a tough time with Patterson at both ends of the floor.

"David's learned a lot from the situation that he was in last time," notes Phelps. "There was too much pressure on him defensively then, but now our defense has improved - we've plugged some holes. We're in a better position now. We're healthy and ready to play."

Rivers will get help from backcourt mate Scott Hicks, as well as the trip captain frontcourt of Ken Barlow, Jim Dolan and Tim Kempton. In the last game with DePaul, Dolan, Kempton, and Donald Royal, Notre Dame's big rebound men, combined for just six boards in 60 total minutes of play. Those three will have to rise to the occasion to keep the likes of Corbin, Holmes, Combes, and Mann from giving the Blue Demons a boost. They're looking for consistency from their bench.

"They need this game too," explains Phelps, "because we're both Independents. Both teams have struggled a little bit on the road over the last few weeks, and now this is the time of the year we want to get it going again. They're looking for a big win on the road, and they're looking for consistency from their bench."

The Irish need to execute everything they can to prevent the Blue Demons from getting either one.
Tough competition

ND swimmers take on Ball State

By MARY SIEGER
Sports Writer

New semesters always seem to start with a bang. This weekend, the Notre Dame women's swim team faced some of the toughest competitions on its schedule as the Ball State University Cardinal Classic at the Rockne Memorial Pool this Sunday at 2 p.m. for Notre Dame's first dual meet of the opening season.

If the Cardinals defeat Central Indiana University this afternoon, they will walk into Sunday's contest with a split dual meet record. The only blemish in Ball State's season record is a second-place finish at the University in the Bowling Green Relays last month.

The Irish also dropped a tough decision to Bowling Green last semester, their only loss so far this season.

McCann satisfied
Irish wrestlers gain experience

By JOE BRUNETTI
Sports Writer

The added practice time provided by Christmas break allowed Notre Dame wrestling coach Jim McCann an easy way to stabilize his lineup for the second half of the season. It also exposed his squad to some tough competition.

After losing Valparaiso at home before finishing the Irish headed to Delaware, Fla., to compete in the Sunshine Open on Dec. 28 and 29. Facing competition from over 30 schools, the Irish ended up a respectable ninth. John Krog paced the Irish with his third-place finish.

"It's a good feeling," said McCann. "I wanted to finish in the top 10 and we did that."

Before returning to South Bend for a couple of weeks, the Irish headed to South Carolina to face Clemson and Southwest Missouri State. The Tigers, 9-3 overall, entered the match o f the evening for the Irish in the first 2:04 minutes of the first round.

"Clemson really intimidated the heck out of us," said McCann. "We weren't very mentally ready. I was disappointed in our performance because we worked so hard in practice."

The Irish had an easy time with Southwest Missouri State and captured a 39-15 decision.

The next day the Irish finished a surprising second in Clemson's Tiger 8 Tournament. This time, however, the Irish handled tournament champion Clemson much better.

"Our guys had some close matches this time even though we didn't win them," said McCann. "But that's what we're looking for. We were a totally different team. We just want them to get out there and open up."

Up until Christmas the Irish wrestled without a heavyweight, but freshman football walk-on Dominic Prinavalli did a good job anchoring that spot during break. The 6-5 Prinavalli finished the top with a 2-2 mark and a fourth-place finish at the Tiger 8.

first 204 minutes of the first round in his 142-pound match.

"Heintzman really turned it on," said McCann, "and he scored early. That's what we wanted to do from the start."

Scott Pesaitt, filling in for the injured Luke DiSabato, lost the only match of the evening for the Irish in a 12-2 defeat at 150. He scored the first points of the match with a takedown and led 2-1 at the end of the first period, but he was scoring dry spell for the rest of the match.

Freshman Ken Kanter won a relatively close one at 158, but the Ohio native led throughout en route to an 8-3 decision.

"Kanter did a nice job," praised McCann. "He's going to be a good wrestler someday. He's smart and he pays attention."

The ever-reliable John Krog had an easy time with his opponent and scored a convincing 12-4 decision at 167. Captain Phil Barry got fired up in the second round of his 177-pound match and got a technical fall as the round ended with his 17-2 dominating.

Both of McCann's big boys also were victorious. Dave Helmer dominated throughout his 195-pound match en route to a commanding 20-6 score. Freshman heavyweight, Dominic Prinavalli won by forfeit.

Hockey team goes on road

By ED DOMANSKY
Sports Writer

LAKE FOREST, Ill. - After a brief stop at home for Tuesday's contest with Alaska-Fairbanks, the Notre Dame hockey team (5-12) returns to the road this weekend to compete in the Forestier Classic at Lake Forest College.

The tournament field includes the hosts of Forestier, Bowdoin, River Falls and the Irish.

Friday night's first game begins at 7 p.m. and has Lake Forest scheduled to meet River Falls.

The Foresters, 9-3 overall, enter the tournament riding an eight-game winning streak. Lake Forest defeated Notre Dame, 5-1, 5-4, and 5-2 at the ACC. River Falls is 5-6 and is coming off a split with Marskano State last weekend.

The Irish will meet defending champion Bowdoin in the evening's second game, beginning at 9:30. Notre Dame will be looking for its first road victory after eight defeats away from the ACC this season.

The consolation game is slated for 4 p.m. on Saturday with the championship game scheduled to get under way at 7 p.m.
Arguments seem convincing for both Super teams

Dolphins
Associated Press

STANFORD, Calif. - It starts with Dan Marino and that's where it ends.
Nobody has been able to cool off the Miami Dolphins' quarterback. Some of the best defenses in the National Football League have tried and failed. The San Francisco 49ers will be no different.

They will have their moments. But so will Marino - quite a few of them. A 50-yard pass here, a 50-yard there. Mark Duper on the fly. Mark Clayton on a crossing pattern. Tony Nathan over the middle.

And the Dolphins will run, too. Woody Bennett and Nathan may not be Larry Csonka and Jim Kiick, but they will be no different. The San Francisco 49ers national Football League have tried the Miami Dolphins' quarterback.

Marino has his moments, too, with Joe Montana throwing to Dwight Clark, Freddie Solomon and Earl Cooper and with Wendell Tyler and Roger Craig running.

But it is not the "on-any-given-day" type of defense the Dolphins possess.

He displayed supreme confidence, almost arrogance, in his ability to find any of perhaps half a dozen receivers slicing through the secondary and to fire or feather the ball to the open one - and someone is always open.

He threw the ball more than any quarterback in the NFL, 564 times, and was sacked only 13 times, a tribute to center Dwight Stephenson, guards Roy Foster and Ed Newman and tackles Jon Giester and Cleveland Greene.

He threw for 5,084 yards and 48 touchdowns, both NFL records, and was intercepted only 17 times.

The 49ers have an offense, too, with Joe Montana throwing to Dwight Clark, Freddie Solomon and Earl Cooper and with Wendell Tyler and Roger Craig running.

But it is not the "on-any-given-play-we-can-count-on-75-yards-and-a-quick-six-points" attack the Dolphins possess.

Defensively, Miami's Killer Rs aren't the no-name players of the Dolphins' Super Bowl teams of the 1970s. Statistically, they weren't the best in the match of San Francisco's defense this year.

But perhaps the Dolphins gave up so many yards and 298 points because the defense was on the field so much time after Marino and Co. spent so little of it racing for another touchdown.

All signs point to a shootout Sunday in Stanford Stadium. And Miami's got the biggest gun of all. Final score: Miami 42, San Francisco 24.

Associated Press

STANFORD, CA. - Cancel out Don Shula and Bill Walsh.

Cancel out the Miami defense. The San Francisco defense.

Let's go back a month, to the game in which the Dolphins knocked the Dallas Cowboys out of the playoffs for the first time in a decade. The Cowboys, with a dreary offense, were in contention for a playoff spot only because of their defense, and they limited Miami to 14 points for the first three and a half quarters before Marino got hot.

San Francisco's defense is better than Dallas'. It hasn't allowed a touchdown in the playoffs. And while comparing Miami to the Giants and Washington, the 49ers two playoff victims, is like comparing a snail to a cheetah, the 49ers are talented enough on defense to hold the Dolphins to ... let's say somewhere between three and four touchdowns.

Enter the Miami defense, which has swung between good and awful this season. It's been most awful against the run, which means it will be fodder for Craig and Tyler, assuming he can hang onto the ball. If it adjusts too drastically, Montana, with Walsh calling the shots, can blow away by Duper and Clayton; or Keena Turner, Mike Walter and Todd Shell will stay with Tony Nathan and the Miami tight ends, and because Fred Dean, Gary Johnson and Dwaine Board will bury Marino just enough.

San Francisco defensive coordinator George Seifert has enough people to contain Marino - not stop him, just contain him.

It's no picnic. If Tyler fumbles or Montana continues his playoff rate of five interceptions in two games, the Dolphins will blow it.

But if the 49ers play to their standard and the Dolphins play to theirs, it should be San Francisco 31, Miami 27 (von Schamann misses an extra point).

Women

On the other end of the court, Notre Dame will try to continue to play the tough defense that has forced its opponents to shoot a poor 40 percent from the field. Detroit is not a particularly good shooting team (.424 percentage), so it is important for the Irish to use their height advantage to keep the Titans from getting second and third shots.

Indoor track team begins home season tomorrow

By NICK SCHRANTZ
Sports Writer

On Jan. 11 the Notre Dame indoor track team began its season at the Western Michigan Open, a non-scoring meet. Although no official team scores were kept, the Irish did well and gave hope for having a fine season.

Senior co-captain James Patterson led the Irish with victories in the long jump, with a school record jump of 24-9, and the triple jump, with a combined leap of 46-11. The Irish had two other individual winners, sophomore Robert Nobles and junior Lloyd Constable. Nobles won the 400-meter dash in a time of 49.5 while Constable captured the high jump with a jump of 6-10.

Freshman Nick Sparks was a second-place finisher in the 800-2 miles, while senior Phil Gilmore captured second place in the 300-meter dash in a time of 36.1.

Notre Dame also had four third place finishers. Senior Tim Cannon ran a 4.13 mile, sophomore Joe Aurry triple jumped 43.2. Freshman Chris Martin pole vaulted 15-0, and the 1600-meter relay team had a time of 3:26.6.

After the meet, Irish head coach Patane said he was satisfied with his team's performance. "The meet was as well as I thought it would be," Patane stated. "Patterson, Nobles, and Constable all look good when competing.

Nick Sparks didn't have a great time but he executed well, which is something you can't coach. Overall, I was very pleased with the meet.

The Irish must now prepare for a dual meet tomorrow at the ACC at 1:30 p.m. against Iowa. Four of the last five meets between these two teams had a margin of victory under seven points, with two of the meets being decided by one point. Last year, Iowa defeated the Irish by 68-63 score.

"The meet should be a real dogfight," Patane said. "It's always close, every year, and usually by less than ten points. Hopefully, it will be close again this year.

Iowa boasts an excellent group of sprinters and two fine middle-distance runners. In addition, the team has two good shot putters, one who has thrown 57 feet, and a pole vaulter that has vaulted 17 feet. Piane and assistant coach Ed Kuhns and Pointson, who is returning remodeling monograms from a team that in 1984 won the Midwestern City Conference Championships and placed third in the Indiana Intercollegiate Meet and the Central College Championships.

One of the strengths of the Irish this year will be the sprinters. Senior Dan Shannon and junior Mitch Van Eysen return in the 600 and 800-yard dashes, events in which each ranks in the top ten in Notre Dame history. Last year, Van Eysen set meet records by winning the 500 and 440-yard dashes at the Midwestern City Conference Meet, while Shannon won the 600-yard dash at that meet.

Alvin Miller tied the school record in the 400-meter dash with a time of 46.1, but he remains questionable after a knee injury suffered during football in the fall. Football players Mitt Jackson, Brady Wells, and Allen Piskett also should play big roles on the track as well.

Sprinters, senior Phil Gilmore, and freshman Tony Ragazin all will be helpful in the sprint. In fact, Gilmore is second on the all-time list in the 60-yard dash and last year he took third place in that event at the indoor ICA's.

Miller and junior Mike Brennan lead the Irish in the hurdles. Miller, an indoor school record holder in the 60-yard hurdles with a 7.53 time, while Brennan posted a 7.90 in that event last year.

Cannon, Bill Courtney, and Craig Mañe all throwers on the national ranked cross-country team, will be strong in the middle-distance events, especially the 1,000-yard run and mile run.

Sophomore Jeff Van Wie and Junior John McNells will see the 880-yard dash run is in good hands. Van Wie captured first place in the 880 at the Midwestern City Conference Meet, while McNells had last season's best time in the event (3:55.1). Also, Sparks will be looked upon to score points in any of the middle-distance events.

Along with Courtney, fellow cross-country members Mike Collins, Dan Garrett, Ed Willibrand and John Magill will make the transition to the track to lead the Irish in the two-mile- and three-mile runs.

The Irish also can have expectations for competitive relay teams. Last year, the 4x800 relay team won the event at the Central Collegiate Conference Meet in a time of 7:35.7. Also, Van Wie, Jackson, McNells, and Shannon return to lead the mile relay team that captured first place at the Midwestern City Meet in a time of 3:33.5.

Patterson, who holds first and second place on the all-time list for the mile and second place on the all-time triple-jump list leads the Irish in the field events. Aurry will help in the long jump, while Jeff rendering will be a factor in the triple jump.

Constable jumped 7-0 in 1982 to set a school record and return to provide points with his team.

Fencers start season on right track

By MICHAEL J. CHMIEL
Sports Writer

After capturing third place in the NCAA Championship Tournament last spring, the Notre Dame men's fencing team opened its 1985 season by sweeping six meets and a tournament during break.

The Irish, led by coach Mike DeCiccio in his 24th year with the Irish, have a winniable four on this year's team to capture their third national title in nine years.

Opening the season on Jan. 7 in Boston, the Irish easily handled Har­vard, 17-10. Following their initial success, the Irish then went on to down MIT, 18-9, and Penn, 17-10.

Traveling to Princeton, N.J., on Jan. 10, the Irish realized three more additions in the win column. They opened action by routing the host school, 24-7. They also knocked off Cornell, 20-7, and Temple, 22-7.

Last weekend in Philadelphia, Pa., Notre Dame captured the United States Fencing Association's Col­lege National Championship. This is the fourth perfect month of January in a row to early dual meets has been defending NCAA champion Charles Huga­mond. The sophomores has compiled a record of 13-1 in the full after going 43-6 last season. Junior captain Mike Van der Velden also has added his skill and established a 10-4 record.

In the saber, perhaps the strongest of the three squads for the Irish, senior captain Mike Janis is off to another good start with a 9-1 mark after an outstanding 1984 record of 40-3. Junior Don Johnson, a 1984 all­American, come in at 5-0 for the Irish.

In the épée, a proper three-pack of young, fast varsity players Andy Quaroni is anchoring the squad. He has a 13-3 record this season. And 10-2 in the 1984 season. Next for the Irish will be a tough opening tournament next weekend in Columbus, Oh. Among the competitors will be Big Ten rivals Ohio State, Purdue and Illi­nois, Cleveland State, Cornell. Case Western Reserve and Michigan-De­troit.
