Parietals extended at Saint Mary's

By THERESA GUARINO
Saint Mary's Executive Editor

Extensions for the existing parietals system at Saint Mary's were approved by College President John Duggan yesterday, according to Student Body President-elect Anne Marie Kolman. The approval was announced to the outgoing Board of Governance and Programming board at a joint meeting of the two last night.

Monday through Thursday, parietals will now begin at 4 p.m. and end at 12 a.m. Each Friday, they will be in effect from 6 p.m. to 2 a.m. On Saturday, hours will be from 12 p.m. until 2 a.m.; and Sunday, parietals will begin at 12 p.m. and end at 12 a.m. Hours will vary on football weekends, when parietals will begin at 10 a.m. on Saturdays and Sundays. The new policy provides for parietals during football games, and during final exams on weekdays.

The new extensions will take effect after next break.

The parietals changes were first suggested last fall, when student government surveyed students for their opinions on the existing parietals policy. Survey results showed that a majority of the students were not satisfied with the existing system and would be in favor of a change.

student Body President-elect LeAnn Franko, Vice President for Academic Affairs Julie Strazzabosco, and Vice President for Student Affairs Kolman together took charge of the student government parietals proposal, working together with Board of Governance members for input.

"We first found our channels we had to go through," said Kolman. "We tried to cover every base in our efforts." Writing up the proposal occurred after interviews with teachers, administrators, and College staff to gather different views on changes, and any problems arising from them. Conflicts such as time changes in locking the dorms were covered in the final proposal, written by Franko, Strazzabosco, and Kolman.

All dorms will now be locked at 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The proposed changes first went to the Student Affairs Committee of the Student Affairs Council, and was approved there. The council, consisting of administrators, faculty, students, and chaperated by Duggan, also passed the proposal unanimously.

The new policy finally went to Duggan and was approved by him yesterday, according to Kolman. "I'm very pleased at how receptive the two committees we had to go through were," said Franko. "This has definitely been the long-range, intercontinental missiles, which critics now say could be destroyed by the first barrage of a Soviet strategic nuclear attack.

Reagan and other supporters say the MX missiles are critical to the success of the German arms control negotiations and are more accurate and powerful than the fleet of Minuteman missiles built in the 1960s.

Under a congressional decision to change the handful of votes needed to reverse the effect of a slim 219-213 pro-MX victory for President Reagan in the House on Tuesday.

A required second House vote will be taken at noon today on the final approval of authorization and appropriations measures.

The Senate gave its approval in identical 55-45 votes last week, so one more House vote will settle the issue for now, although still another MX flight test on Capitol Hill this summer.

There were differing assessments among House leaders on chances for a last round defeat for the MX. Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Texas, said yesterday the earlier House vote should end the fight. "I don't know any reason to prolong the debate," Wright said. "I don't know any reason to believe that the vote would be substantially different on appropriations than on authorization." O'Neill acknowledged that "it's not an easy thing to turn once" the House has voted once on an issue.

But the speaker said he knows of three Republicans who have said publicly that they would vote for the authorization measure, thus showing congressional resolve for the American negotiations at the Geneva arms control talks - while opposing the spending measure. MX foes also lobbied Democratic House members from southern agricultural states, seeking to convince them that farmers hit hard by a credit crunch would support an anti-MX vote because it helps to ease the economic crisis caused by high interest rates brought on by the federal deficit.

And at the White House yesterday, spokesman Larry Speakes said "the outcome on the MX vote tomorrow is by no means certain."

O'Neill begins final campaign to block MX missile funds

WASHINGTON House Speaker Thomas O'Neill Jr. yesterday opened the final campaign by opponents of the MX missile to block release of $1.5 billion to build 21 more of the nuclear weapons.

O'Neill pledged an "all-out effort" to change the handful of votes needed to reverse the effect of a slim 219-213 pro-MX victory for President Reagan in the House on Tuesday.

Grand jury overturns prior ruling; indict Goetz on attempted murder

NEW YORK Bernhard Goetz was indicted by a grand jury on four counts of attempted murder yesterday, a month after a first panel charged him only with illegal gun possession for shooting four youths on a subway train.

The indictment in the internationally publicized case was announced by District Attorney Robert Morgenthau on the day that he met with the defense of Goetz to try to settle the grand jury case in a dispute over how much immunity he should be granted.

The second grand jury also charged Goetz with four counts of fourth-degree assault, one count of first-degree reckless endangerment and one count of second-degree crip-

Medium-range missile talks begin

Associated Press

GENEVA, Switzerland - U.S. and Soviet negotiators met for two hours yesterday for the first detailed superpower talks on strategic nuclear weapons in 15 months. A bargaining session on medium-range missiles was set for today.

Yesterday's session opened just after the House of Representatives voted $3.5 billion to build 21 more MX nuclear missiles, and as NATO defense ministers announced unanimous approval of U.S. research into space-based missile defenses.

The session at the Soviet mission by the group on space and defensive weapons, in which the U.S. team is led by chief delegate Max Kampelman. Negotiators specializing in medium-range rockets were scheduled to open discussions at the Soviet mission today.

A schedule for next week's meetings is expected to be announced after today's session.

Reagan administration officials had said support for the MX and the anti-ballistic research program, popularly known as "Star Wars," would strengthen the hand of U.S. negotiators in Geneva.

MX missiles are designed with 10 nuclear warheads and can travel distances of more than 8,000 miles.

Kampelman, chief negotiator for the space arms set of talks as well as U.S. team leader, had been recalled from the arms talks to try to woo members of Congress who were reluctant to vote for the MX money.

He returned to Geneva on Monday, two hours before the opening of the first discussions on space and defense weapons.

Large crowd prompts Senior Formal security

By DIANE SCHROEDER

Students attending this weekend's Senior Formal at the Palmer House in Chicago can expect a capacity crowd of 750 "the larger the better" because of the amount of participation, eighty seniors present to discourage the attendance of those who have not purchased formal bids.

Special meal tickets must be obtained in order to be seated for dinner, and according to Steve Smith, one of four committee chairmen, those tickets, along with flowers, may be picked up on Saturday afternoon between one and three, outside the Grand Ballroom of the Palmer House.

Students may attend the cocktail hour before the dinner and dance. The hour begins at 6 p.m. with entertainment provided by a pianist and violinist. Dinner will follow immediately, with champagne served at each table. There will be a cash bar during both the cocktail hour and dinner/dance.

Check-out must be completed by 1 p.m. Sunday. Those who fail to comply will be charged the regular room rate of $115. Students who cannot meet this deadline should contact the manager.

Because of Palmer House deadlines, no refunds or changes will be made. Complete details are available in the booklet distributed by the Senior Formal Committee.

Last year's attendance was 726 students.

Gorbachev plans reply to Reagan

WASHINGTON - Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev plans to reply to President Reagan's summit proposal and their foreign ministers will likely discuss summit arrangements when they meet in mid-May in Austria. European socialist leaders said Tuesday.

"Mr. Gorbachev told us he was going to answer Mr. Reagan's letter, and we hope it (the reply) will be positive," Kalev Sorn, the prime minister of Finland, told a news conference.

Walter Hacker of the Austrian Socialist Party, who also attended a summit audience with Gorbachev last Friday, said he believes Secretary of State George Shultz and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko will "discuss arrangements for a summit" when they meet in Vienna at the 30th anniversary of the treaty marking the emergence of post World War II Austria.

"We will reply (to Reagan), we are polite people," Hacker quoted Gorbachev as saying.
WASHINGTON - Nearly every chemical company responding in detail to a congressional survey said its plants are leaking "significant levels" of known and suspected cancer-causing substances into the air, a House subcommittee chairman said Tuesday.

Rep. Henry Waxman, D-Calif., also said the large companies providing data on leaks reported routine releases of 204 chemicals that industry experts consider to be "proven hazards" to human health.

Waxman, speaking at a health subcommittee hearing attended by chemical industry executives, noted that only five of the substances now are regulated by the Environmental Protection Agency.

He said finding this many toxins considered hazardous by the chemical industry is "a serious condemnation of the EPA's abdication of responsibility to protect the public health."

"Many of the routine release rates are extremely high, far greater than we expected even in the unregulated world of air pollution," said Waxman, whose subcommittee got detailed replies from 54 of the 86 firms sent questionnaires in January.

"Almost every chemical plant that provided information on its leak rates is releasing significant levels of compounds proven or suspected of being hazardous to public health," a summary of the responses said.

"How much of which poisons are coming from companies ... which did not respond to our information request is not yet known," the summary added.

FBI investigates bank's collapse

Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Ohio - The FBI, in its investigation of the collapse of Home State Savings Bank of Cincinnati, has subpoenaed Ohio Department of Commerce records, a state official said Tuesday.

Ohio Savings and Loan Superintendent Robert McAlister said the subpoena had been served to the department when he took over his new post March 22, and the FBI is asking that the records be delivered no later than April 4.

The records being sought were not specified, but McAlister said: "I understand they (the FBI) are investigating everything.

McAlister said he is devoting most of his time to "trying to protect the depositories" of the S&L-ordered closed temporarily by Gov. Richard Celeste following Home State's demise.

Home State, based in Cincinnati, closed March 9 after massive withdrawals by depositors alarmed by the court-ordered closing of a Florida securities dealer. A week after Home State's closing, Celeste declared a banking emergency, closing Ohio's 69 other thrift institutions whose deposits were privately insured.

Three more institutions opened Tuesday under emergency legislation enacted March 20. The law allows the institutions to do so upon obtaining federal insurance or demonstrating that they are eligible for it, McAlister said.

In all, 23 have been authorized to conduct full-scale business. The others formerly insured by the privately owned Ohio Deposits Guarantee Fund have been allowed to open to allow customers withdrawals of up to $500 a month. While some institutions have reported heavier than normal transaction, the increased demand has been attributed to customers' needs for cash - not panic about the safety of their deposits.

Pentagon denies blame in army major's death

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - The U.S. army major shot by a Soviet sentry in East Germany was taking photographs of military equipment in an area that earlier was off-limits to American observers, senior State Department and Pentagon officials said yesterday.

However, the officials said, the Soviets removed the restriction on Feb. 20, apparently after completing military maneuvers there, notified the U.S. mission and did not deter other American observers present a week to 10 days later.

Challenging a Soviet account, the two officials reiterated there was no justification for the slaying of the unarmed officer, Arthur D. Nicholson Jr.

"We feel that the use of deadly force, as the Soviet serry did in this case, is a tragic event, it is totally out of keeping with the rules," a State Department official said.

At the White House, spokesman Larry Speakes said the Reagan administration is considering diplomatic steps against the Soviets.

The Soviets called the shooting "regrettable" but said Nicholson had been spotted by a sentry taking photographs through the window of a storage building on a restricted Soviet military installation.

According to the Soviets, the U.S. major had been spying, which the press agency said was a violation of the 1974 agreement under which the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France maintain military liaison missions in their respective zones of Germany.

The U.S. officials rejected the account by the Soviet press agency Tass as "designed to obscure the killing of Maj. Nicholson." They insisted he was not in an area restricted or engaged in espionage. In fact, one of them said, the Soviets notified the U.S. mission in writing that the area was no longer out of bounds.

"He had the right of access, of free travel," the Pentagon official said of Nicholson. At most, he said, the Soviets could have detained Nicholson - as Soviet observers were held in West Germany only a few days earlier.

The briefing was held on condition the officials would not be identified by name or title. Copies of the instructions for U.S. army personnel in West Germany were distributed to reporters.

Child shoots playmate

Associated Press

BEIRUT, Lebanon - British metalurgist Geoffrey Nash, kidnapped in west Beirut nearly two weeks ago, was released unharmed early yesterday near his home in the capital's mostly Moslem western sector.

Nash's daughter, Nadia, said her 60-year-old father appeared at their home shortly after midnight, and said he had been released from a car nearby after "hours of driving" during which he was blindfolded.

She quoted Nash as saying he was questioned during his captivity, but that he had not been harmed. She said her father, who suffers from a heart condition, was given the medicine he needed while he was held.

The day after Nash was kidnapped, a radical Jihad Island organization, which has been described by U.S. officials as a Moslem militant group that includes some former members of the Black September group that kidnapped Americans and British during the 1970 Olympics, claimed responsibility for the kidnapping.

"Detention may be effected by the Soviet authorities in accordance with the instructions for U.S. army personnel in West Germany only a few days earlier.

Missile explosion rocks Baghdad; Iran claims responsibility in attack

Associated Press

BAGHDAD, Iraq - Western Baghdad was shaken by a huge explosion yesterday that Iraqi said was caused by one of its missiles. Witnesses said the blast occurred beside two schools and a bus station, and may have caused hundreds of casualties.

The explosion came shortly after Iran said it had fired a ground-to-ground missile at the Iraqi capital. Iraq struck back with an air raid on Tehran that the Iranians said killed at least 10 people and wounded 50.

Iraqi officials said nothing about the cause of the Baghdad explosion or the number of casualties.

A witness said the victims of the explosion were students, pedestrians and people driving by in cars. About 50 cars and buses were wrecked in the blast, according to the witnesses, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

Military police and secret service agents sealed the capital's western sector, over which a huge cloud of white smoke billowed, and barred reporters.

Iran has claimed to have fired six ground-to-ground missiles into Baghdad since March 14. During an escalation of the 4-year-old war between the Persian Gulf neighbors, Iraq said two of the explosions were caused by saboteurs' bombs, but has made no comment on the other three.

Iraq's official Islamic Republic News Agency said yesterday's missile attack was retaliation for an overnight air raid on Tehran that killed nine people and wounded 14. The report was monitored in Nicosia, Cyprus.

According to the London-based Jane's Defense Weekly, the missiles being fired are Soviet-made SS-1 Scud B missiles, which were introduced about 20 years ago and have a maximum range of about 160 miles.

It quoted Western intelligence sources as noting that Tehran announced the missile attacks three to seven minutes before the explosions happened, indicating the blasts were not due to sabotage.

Iraq said that, after the Baghdad explosion, it sent warplanes to attack Hamadan, 240 miles southwest of Tehran.

The official Iraqi news agency quoted an unidentified military spokesman as saying the raid on "selected targets" in Hamadan brought to six the number of cities attacked by Iraqi jet fighters since dawn.

Earlier, the Iraqi military command said Tehran and four other Iranian cities were "dealt devastating blows."

Both sides have stepped up attacks on residential areas in recent weeks. Iraq has said it is accelerating raids on cities to force Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's regime to end the war.

Iran has made statements recently that, despite their bellicose language, also indicate a willingness for peace.

In a statement monitored yesterday in London, the military command said that if Iraq stopped attacking civilian targets, "commercial shipping and using chemical weapons, Iran's Islamic combatants would immediately end their retaliation in kind."

But the statement adds: "should these wicked acts continue, the response will be even tougher and this time it would be rockets that would pound Baghdad to a pulp."

Clinic attacks denounced by attorneys

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - An organization of state attorneys general urged the Justice Department Tuesday to investigate abortion clinic violence, saying such incidents "interfere with the exercise of constitutional rights."

At a policymaking meeting, the National Association of Attorneys General passed a resolution saying "there has been illegal harassment and intimidation of people who work in or visit abortion clinics."

It called for "a swift and forceful response by all levels of law enforcement" and said the Justice Department should "investigate and prosecute" people engaged in such activities.

Francis Bellotti, Massachusetts attorney general and association president, said leaving abortion clinic violence probes to the Treasury Department's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms is unsatisfactory.

He said no one opposed the resolution.

P.O. Box Q

Could it be Reagan's selections are not bad?

Dear Editor:

I am writing in response to that highly educated article by John Neblo which appeared in The Observer on March 26. The article, entitled “No President Can Rival Reagan's Appointments,” was scathing among my fellow students and me. For the past four years, I have heard a sneaky suspicion that Reagan appointees were human. However, I was appalled by the events which were chronicled in such accurate detail by Neblo. The deterioration of our government’s leadership has gone too far.

Some particularly threatening news is that Clarence Pendleton’s opinions regarding racial quotas, and the like, “initiate the civil rights movement.” Can you imagine that? A government leader expressing an opinion that civil rights leaders hate. How can we let this happen?

We learned of more bad news when Neblo informed us William Bennett had “angered students and their parents” with his comments on student loans. My God! It is bad enough that he angered me, but my parents that is just un-American. If the government does not give me another student loan, I might have to get a job and work my way through school. That is not just fair. I think we should raise everyone’s taxes and give me a bigger student loan. Furthermore, I might have to go to state university.

Dear Editor:

I would like to express my dismay over Frederick Everett’s disparaging comments about women’s liberation. I have not listened to the alleged “poisonous” tapes but I would like to argue that they are not evil as he professes.

As an alternative form of psychological services offered to students, the rendering of these services does not necessarily represent a support of behaviorism regarding the issues of concern to the student. One would not necessarily assume moral support of abortionists, regarding with development of an alcoholic anonymous, group, but rather see the service developed in the interests of psychological support for people with a drinking problem. One should not equate extension of psychological services with moral support of the client’s actions.

To Everett, whether you approve of it or not, ten percent of the university population is gay.

The Counsellors tapes are one minute attempt of the counseling center aimed at promotion of healthy psychological adjustment for this battered group. Effective “counseling” necessitates non-judgmental acceptance of one’s total being. Accepting and condoning behavior(s) is not synonymous idea. As concerned Catholics, do we deny this troubled minority group’s existence and cheat them of any form of professional counseling, because we are the judges we make about their behavior? Or do we recognize their emotional needs rather than be judgmental about why, they need support?

Nobody wants to ride with a backseat driver

When was the last time your parents rode in a car with you and tried to tell you how to drive? Did you ever stop to think that your parents were only trying to promote safety?

Heidi Cerna

in the driver’s seat

Yet, it is irritating when you are driving along with you and tried to tell you how to drive. If you choose to speed and you accept the risk of getting a ticket. Still, your parents had no right or need to question your driving ability.
The big match: wrestling MS

Karen McCloskey features staff writer

You've heard about it . . . you've seen it . . . at last, you can see it.

This Sunday at 1 p.m., Wrestle Mania comes to Stepan Center live, direct from Madison Square Garden via closed circuit television. Billed as the "closed circuit TV sports-entertainment spectacular of all time," Wrestle Mania is the answer to the Super Bowl, the Stanley Cup, Wimbledon ala McEnroe and the RollerDerby Championships. In fact, there's a little bit of each in Wrestle Mania.

What exactly is Wrestle Mania? If you head over to Stepan this weekend, you'll find it's more than just an afternoon of professional wrestlers pitted against each other in classic confrontations between the good guys and the bad guys. It's a potpourri of tag team matches, body slamming, world titles, celebrities, ego, insult, athletics and more.

The entire afternoon is a series of grudge matches to settle quarrels between opponents. The quarrels began when Captain Lou Albano publicly insulted rock celebrity and former wrestler, Cyndi Lauper, after these two were reconciled, and (badly) working together to raise money for the fight against MS, insult and injury wars began between other wrestlers involved in the conflict. Wrestle Mania was devised to finish the quarrels once and for all.

The main event of the afternoon will be a tag team match with Hulk Hogan and Mr. T of "The A-Team" challenging Roddy Piper and Paul "Mr. Wonderful" Orndorff. The guest referee will be Mohammed Ali, the guest time keeper, Liberase, and the guest announcer will be Billy Martin.

For those who are unfamiliar with professional wrestling, the tag team event is much like a relay race. One person from the team wrestles the opponent and the other team member waits, patiently or otherwise, in his or her respective corner until the teammate tags his or her hand. Then, the teammates switch positions.

Both boys and girls participate in professional wrestling. In fact, another important match in the Wrestle Mania afternoon will pit Wendi Richter, managed by Cyndi Lauper, against Lelani Kai, protege of The Fabulous Moolah, in a contest for the World Wrestling Federation's Women's Crown.

Another "biggie" for the afternoon will be the $15,000 Body Slam contest between Andre the Giant and Big John Studd. Body Slamming is the practice of one person, usually a gentleman weighing over 300 pounds, running into another portly person, holding him over his head, and slamming him down on the mat.

Is there any redeeming athletic value to this type of competition? "You got to be a skilled wrestler to throw 300 pounds around in the ring," says Ted Mandell. The Planner Hall judge is single-handedly responsible for bringing this closed circuit event to Notre Dame and for arranging to have proceeds donated to the MS drive.

"It's like a big soap opera," he continued. "I'm not saying it's all true. It's entertainment. But, it's got to hurt." Mandell, a longtime professional wrestling fan, called World Wrestling Federation (WWF) headquarters in Greenwich, Connecticut and arranged to have Notre Dame included as a market in the nationwide broadcast of Wrestle Mania.

Although the WWF is paying for all the publicity for the event, Mandell paid for ticket printing costs out of his own pocket. He hopes to be refunded from the proceeds that will go to MS.

Tickets are on sale for $8 and $10 each. Twenty-five percent of the gross will be donated to MS. The remaining money will go to the promoters. "To break even, we need to sell about 500 tickets," Mandell said. "If we sell 500, we could make over $6000 for MS.

By Monday of this week, over 1000 tickets had been sold. To encourage the students to attend the event, Mandell plans to visit dorms and show videotapes of the wrestlers in action. He thinks that it is important for people to see the wrestlers and not just hear about them.

"Some of these people are so ridiculously obnoxious, it's unbelievable," Mandell said. "It's really funny just watching it. It's hilarious. It's like a real live cartoon, you can do anything you want.

Asked why he had become so involved in this effort, Mandell said it was not only because he liked professional wrestling.

"I guess it's for a good cause, too. Entertainment money should go for a good cause," Mandell said. "You can raise money from an ice cream social; he continued, "but the big money is in entertainment. I hope that this is for the MS drive, that people aren't giving money for the MTV concert. You should always give. To me it makes sense, to others it might not."

Czechoslovakia presents its finest

Special to The Observer

Czechoslovakia's title Czech Chamber Soloists to Perform at Saint Mary's

Czechoslovakia has been called "The Conservatory of Europe" and with good reason: more musical ensembles of high quality have come out of Czechoslovakia than almost any other country. The Czech Chamber Soloists, an orchestra known in its own country and throughout the world as the epitome of the finest ensemble playing, will perform at 8 p.m., Friday, March 29, in O'Laughlin Auditorium at Saint Mary's College.

Founded in 1965, the group is comprised of leading players of the Brno State Philharmonic Orchestra. Their first North American tour, in 1977, was highly acclaimed by critics. The New York Times acclaima the Czech Chamber Soloists to be "wonderful, proof of the high level of Czech musical culture," and The Washington Post reports, "The ensemble performed with such dedication that a receptive audience awarded them with unceasing applause."

The Czech Chamber Soloists' repertoire ranges from the Baroque through the Classical and Romantic periods to the Contemporary. In addition to the usual complimant of strings, the Orchestra features a harpsichord and soloist in its current tour of North America.

Mirouza Matyas, artistic director of the Czech chamber soloists, studied violin and conducting at the Brno Conservatory and graduated from the Janacek Academy of Music and Dramatic Arts under Dr. Alexandr Plocek. He was made leader of the Brno Symphony Orchestra in 1951 during the 1961-62 season, conducted the Tokyo Symphony Orchestra. Matyas is currently assistant conductor of the Brno State Philharmonic Orchestra.

The performance at Saint Mary's includes "Concerto Grosso in F Major, Op. 6 No. 2" by George Frederic Handel; "Adagio for Strings" by Samuel Barber; "Concerto for Flute and Strings, in G Major" by Franck and "Concerto in A Minor for Two Violins, Opus 3 No. 8" by Antonio Vivaldi; E. Zamecnik's "Elegy for Violin and Strings" and Leos Janacek's "Suite for Strings."

The performance is part of Saint Mary's Performing Arts Series. Tickets are $4.50, $5.50 and $6.50, with a $1 discount to students and senior citizens. Saint Mary's students are admitted free. Tickets may be reserved by calling Saint Mary's College Ticket Office at 284-4626.
Icy excitement

Another weekend approaches. There may not be any basketball games scheduled, but there's plenty of action to be found on the courts of the ACC. The hoops have been temporarily replaced by ice, the costumes are not your basic blue and gold but pink, orange, fluorescent green... and lots of smurfy blue.

The Ice Capades, the traveling extravaganza on ice, is renowned for its bright lights, flashy get-ups, ala Rockettes routines and, of course, Smurfs. Last night's performance was no exception. There was an abundance of the above, but a few surprises helped make the show anything but predictable.

From the show's opening international themes, including a Hungarian dance number and a couple dancing to a romantic rendition of 'Spanish Eyes,' to 'For Your Ice Only,' a skit featuring not James Bond, but Barbie Smith as 'Jane Blonde', the show's aims were unmistakably clear: variety and flair... blind in g flare.

It seems the Ice Capades' weaknesses may arise from what most would expect to be its strengths. The show is a feast for the eyes but, after all, gluttony is a sin. There were moments when there seemed to be too many people on the ice, too many props and far too much glitter and fluorescents for the retinas to handle.

Simplicity is beauty, as the old saying goes. This is probably why my favorite parts of the show were the solos, like world-class champion Charlie Tickner or Canadian champion Kay Thomson, as well as the couples. These acts present figure skating in its most polished, graceful and professional form as the skaters glide across the ice.

The Smurfs cannot go unmentioned. A good chunk of the show is actually an exciting episode in the continuing saga of life in Smurfville. Smurf may not be on the top of your favorite people... or whatever list, but you won't mind watching the reactions of the more avid Smurf fans. The small faces all lit up and concerned for the welfare of a Smurf in despair might just melt the ice, not to mention your heart.

If Ice Capades is on your agenda for the weekend, I don't want to spoil all of the surprises. So I'll just warn you - be prepared for a colorful, fast-moving two hours featuring among other things, fireworks, new cars and butterflies... big butterflies.

Even if the ice spectacular is not on the agenda, your curiosity should be peaked by now, and I encourage you to experience Ice Capades first hand. Without a doubt, it will brighten up your weekend and chase away the March blues for at least a year.

Rice's three doubles pace Red Sox past Chisox, 8-7, in exhibition play

Associated Press

Jim Rice showed his midseason Fenway Park form by belting three doubles to highlight a 15-hit attack that carried the Boston Red Sox over the Chicago White Sox 8-7 in exhibition baseball yesterday.

Rice doubled down the right field line in the first inning, hit a 400-foot drive to the wall in left-center in the second and belted a 430-foot double to center in the fourth. The Red Sox slapper drove in two runs and scored three before leaving after four innings.

In other games, Eric Show pitched six shutout innings and allowed three hits as the San Diego Padres halted the Seattle Mariners 7-1. Darryl Motley and Jim Sandberg drove in fourth-inning runs off Atlanta starter Len Barker to help the Kansas City Royals beat the Braves 6-2.

Rob Knepper pitched six strong innings and singled home a run as the Houston Astros tripped the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-1. Knepper gave up three hits. Fernando Valenzuela started for the Dodgers and retired the first 12 Houston batters before the Astros scored twice in the fifth to saddle the left-hander with his fourth loss of the spring.

Toronto's Lou Thornton homered on Ted Power's first pitch in the bottom of the ninth inning to give the Blue Jays a 3-2 triumph over the Cincinnati Reds.

Rookie Hermy Winston and Mike Banney contributed three hits apiece to a 15-hit attack that carried the Montreal Expos past the Texas Rangers, 9-3.

Jim Gantner's bases-loaded single in the 10th inning drove in the winning run that gave the Milwaukee Brewers their sixth straight victory, a 7-6 triumph over the Cleveland Indians.

Geoff Zahn, Donnie Moore and Curt Kaufman blanked Oakland on seven hits as the California Angels romped over the San Francisco Giants 10-2.

In night games, Jason Thompson and Doug Frobel combined on a three-hitter as the Pittsburgh Pirates break an eight-game losing streak with a 6-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Mike Boddicker and Ken Dixon combined on a three-hitter as the Baltimore Orioles edged the New York Yankees 2-1.

Frank Viola pitched seven scoreless innings and Greg Gagne and Gary Gaetti hit home runs to give the Minnesota Twins a 4-0 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

The Yankees got some medical news yesterday, with shortstop Andre Robertson undergoing arthroscopic surgery on his left knee that should put him out of action for three weeks, and outfielder Dave Winfield being discharged from the hospital after being treated for an infected elbow.
Tulane stars nabbed for point-shaving

Associated Press

NEW ORLEANS - David Dominique and Bobby Thompson, Tulane basketball players accused of shaving points in a gambling case, surrendered yesterday for fingerprinting and booking.

John Williams, Tulane's star center, was arrested Tuesday night, as was Gary Kranz of New York, a Tulane student accused of the gambling law violations and cocaine dealing.

Cocaine was the apparent motivating factor, not money, said District Attorney Harry Connick, who added that it is possible other players are involved.

He will take the case before a grand jury Thursday. All four were released without bail.

At the grand jury hearing, two Tulane basketball players who will be granted immunity from prosecution will testify about the three teammates accused of shaving points, according to a New Orleans newspaper.

The Times-Picayune, The States Item said in its Thursday edition that the two players gave statements implicating themselves and their teammates. The newspaper, which did not identify the two players, did not identify its source, except to say that it was a source close to the investigation.

U.S. attorney John Volz said his office has been involved in the case for several weeks. He said he has asked the FBI to investigate possible federal violations.

He gave no details about possible links to federal gambling raids in Memphis, Tenn., during the weekend.

Dominique shook his head "no" when asked if he'd done anything wrong, but would not comment beyond that. Thompson paid no attention to the questions.

They were instructed not to talk by their attorney, Russell Schonekas, who also declined comment.

Williams, after his arrest on Tuesday, denied any wrongdoing.

Williams, Dominique and Thompson were booked on charges of violating Louisiana's sports gambling law. Kranz, of New York, 21, was booked on the gambling violations plus possession and distribution of cocaine. Connick said Tuesday:

"I'm very confused. I want to see what evidence they have," Tulane Coach Ned Fowler, said Tuesday night.

Kranz answered his telephone yesterday, but hung up after a terse statement.

"I'm sorry, right now it's a big farce, and I have no comment on this," he said.

Williams, 23; Thompson, 21; and Dominique, 19, were accused of controlling the outcome of home games against Southern Mississippi and Memphis State in February. Point shaving means a player agrees to keep his team's score lower than gamblers predict, either winning by a lower margin or losing by a greater margin than the established "line" on the game.

Tulane was a ten and a half point favorite over Southern Mississippi and won 64-63 on Feb. 2.

Colts deal QB Herrmann to San Diego

Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS: The Indianapolis Colts yesterday traded quarterback Mark Herrmann to the San Diego Chargers for three draft picks in the National Football League draft choice.

"I'm excited. It's a good opportunity with a great organization and a great offense and quarterback," Dowhower, starting his first

I could work out well for both Mark

But I'm going to be able to go out and start fresh."

The departure of Herrmann leaves Mike Pagel and Art Schlichter as the quarterbacks for new Coach Rod Dowhower. Pagel started the first seven games and nine of the 16 games last season, while Schlichter started the final five games in his first season back after a year's suspension for gambling.

The Colts, since in Baltimore, acquired Herrmann from Denver in a trade for quarterback John Elway.

Herrmann was originally picked on the fourth round by the Broncos in the 1981 college draft.

He did not see any action his rookie season and played only two games with Denver in 1982. He also played in two games with the Colts in 1983 after suffering a broken collarbone.

Herrmann, who was in San Diego last week to showcase his skills for the Chargers, was re-signed by the Colts a few days after the NFL draft.

The Colts, then in Baltimore, acquired Herrmann from Denver in a trade for quarterback John Elway.

Herrmann, who was in San Diego last week to showcase his skills for the Chargers, was re-signed by the Colts as a free agent on Tuesday and then traded yesterday.

Downhower, starting his first season with the Colts, said the trade "could work out well for both Mark and the Colts. We will have to locate a quarterback or a couple of quarterbacks for training camp to provide competition for Pagel and Schlichter."

Whether the trade would affect the Colts' draft, Dowhower said, "It depends on where a given player comes up. I don't see taking a quarterback high in the draft, because we're committed to certain weak areas we have to fill - receivers, offensive line and cornerback."

Indiana, UCLA reach NIT final

Associated Press

NEW YORK - The Indiana Hoosiers held off Tennessee's "Comeback Kids" last night, showing some grit of their own in the semifinals of the 48th National Invitation Tournament.

"We have a tendency to let the lead get away that happened tonight, but we were lucky enough to turn it back on," said Indiana center Uwe Blab, whose 24 points helped the Hoosiers post a 74-67 victory over Louisville.

Tennessee Coach Don DeVoe, who saw his team wipe out a 13-point deficit early in the second half to take the lead midway through the period, said Indiana earned a berth in tomorrow night's championship game at Madison Square Garden against UCLA, which beat Louisville last night.

"I'm proud of the team, especially the comeback," DeVoe said. "But I'm not pleased with the way we were led.

Tennessee, which was making a habit of thrilling comeback victories in the NIT tournament, seemed about to do the same against Indiana by rallying from a 13-point deficit early in the second half to take the lead midway through the period. But Indiana held off that furious charge with some clutch play by Blab and U.S. Olympic team guard Steve Alford, who scored 23 points.

"I don't think we have lost our composure," said Indiana Coach Bobby Knight. "We've been in some tough games this year and I don't think we're in trouble now.

Knight also said this was perhaps one of the least talented teams he's had at Indiana.

"We're not a good team, but opponents will come at us as if we were in the top echelon," Knight said. "We can blow leads - tonight we did."

"Comeback Kids" last night, UCLA led 36-33 at intermission. But the Hoosiers had to hold on as Tennessee rallied behind Tony White.

White scored 14 of his 22 points in the second half to bring the Southwest Conference team back. The Volunteers finally took the lead at 57-56 with 9:54 remaining with a 9-0 streak keyed by their sharp-shooting guard.

There were four lead changes and two ties before the Hoosiers went ahead for good at 66-64 on a basket by reserve Dan Dakich with 4:49 left.

White made a foul shot with 2:36 remaining to bring Tennessee within a point before Blab conversation two free throws with 1:52 left to give Indiana a 68-65 cushion. The Indiana center then blocked a shot by Michael Brooks with 28 seconds left with Indiana holding a 68-67 lead.

Bruins win

NEW YORK - Brad Wright scored 23 points and keyed an 11-2 game-breaking burst in the final five minutes to lead UCLA to a 75-66 victory over Louisville in the semifinals of the 48th National Invitation Tournament last night.

The Bruins earned a berth in tomorrow night's championship game at Madison Square Garden against Indiana, which earlier in the night defeated Tennessee 74-67 as Uwe Blab scored 24 points and Steve Alford added 23.

UCLA led 36-33 at intermission and six times held nine-point leads before Louisville pulled even behind a run led by Billy Thompson, who scored 16 points. Thompson scored four straight points as the Cardinals made it 56-56 with 5:50 left in the game.

Then, in the last five minutes, Wright took charge, scoring six points during the decisive streak to propel UCLA to a 67-58 margin with 1:00 remaining.

The first half was closely played, with UCLA holding the biggest lead of the half at five points.

Nigel Miguel scored 20 points, including seven foul shots in the final minute, for UCLA, 20-12. The Bruins, of the Pacific-10 Conference, have won 11 of their last 12 games.

NHL all league standing

In this year's NHL playoff format, the top four teams in each division make the playoffs, regardless of overall performance.

Buffalo defenseman Timo Jutila (16) helped the Sabres to a 3-2 victory over the New York Rangers in an NHL game played last night. The win helped Buffalo move to within one point of Montreal and Quebec, which are tied for the top spot in the Adams division. Standings are above.

after opening its season over break against some strong Western competition, the Notre Dame lacrosse team was ready to play a weaker Midwestern opponent. Yesterday on Carter Field, the Irish got their wish as they easily handled Lake Forest College, 9-2, to begin their defense of the Midland Lacrosse Association championship.

Notre Dame moved to 1-0 in the MLA (2-3 overall) on the strength of a strong first quarter in which it moved out to a quick 5-0 lead. The Foresters, who fell behind by as much as 7-0 in the second quarter, never were able to erase that five-goal burst despite some poor play by the Irish in the second half.

"We started out well, but we really let up," said Irish coach Rich O'Leary. "We were making fundamental mistakes. Our catching and passing really fell apart after the first quarter. I'm not sure why, but if we do it against a tougher opponent, we'll lose."

Despite the less-than-impressive showing, though, the Irish never were seriously threatened. Lake Forest was supposed to challenge Notre Dame after playing very well during its trip to the East, but the threat never materialized as the Irish took advantage of many Forester mistakes in the early going.

As has been the case in the first four games this season, attackmen Bob Trocchi and Joe Franklin were responsible for most of the Notre Dame scoring. With Trocchi scoring four goals and Franklin adding another, the Irish were able to score seven unanswered goals in a 19-minute span of the first half, putting their visitors in a hole from which they never could climb.

It was a 7-2 Irish goal 3:35 into the game that got the Irish rolling. The senior co-captain dodged a Lake Forest defender and bounced a shot into the net with about 7-6, 6-7, 7-5.

"Up until then, we were taking advantage of Lake Forest's mistakes and we weren't making very many ourselves," said O'Leary, who watched his team struggle with the Foresters after halftime. "They kept making mistakes in the second half, but we couldn't take advantage of them because we were making our own mistakes, too."

Fortunately for the Irish, their defense did a good job of keeping Lake Forest from scoring in both the first and second halves. Matt Talso of the Foresters did score twice in the first quarter—one on a fast break and once on a power play—to cut the lead to 7-2, but that was as close as they could get against Irish goalie Rob Simpson who stopped nine shots before being relieved by Matt McQuillan, who picked up two saves of his own.

"Notre Dame needed all the defense that it could get because the offense disappeared in the middle of the second quarter. After Trocchi's fourth goal, 7-2 before halftime, the Irish could manage only two goals the rest of the way, one of them scored by a Lake Forest defender that deflected a Trocchi pass into his own net."

The lack of offense is obviously a major concern of O'Leary's. In five games, the Irish have scored just 31 goals—20 of them by Franklin and Trocchi. Unless they can increase their offensive production, especially from the midfielders and the backup lines of attack, they will be very hard for them to repeat as MLA champions.

"Our biggest problem on offense is the lack of teamwork," explained O'Leary. "We're not looking for the guy with an open shot because there are too many people trying to go on one person. Hopefully, we can get things straightened out."

"You take wins whenever you can get them, but we still haven't put together a whole quarter. Lake Forest isn't an Ohio Wesleyan or a Lake Forest. They're just two of them operated a 5-0 record on their western swing to raise their overall record to 8-3. Any way, the team finished fourth in the Claremont College Tournament.

The first stop for the Irish was Cal State-Los Angeles on March 16. This was the first meeting of the two schools and the Irish emerged victorious by an 8-1 score. Junior captain Joe Nagle led the way with 6-0, 6-0, 6-2 win over Clay Redwood. In the closest match of the day, Cal State-LA's Bruce Ward outlasted Tom Green, 6-7, 6-7, 6-7.

The Irish boat the Foresters, 9-2, yesterday afternoon at Cartier Field to their conference opener. Mike Sullivan has details at left.

While many Notre Dame students headed to Florida last weekend for Spring Break, the Notre Dame men's tennis team headed west to San Diego. The Irish compiled a 5-0 record on their western swing to raise their overall record to 8-3. Any way, the team finished fourth in the Claremont College Tournament.
