Students across the nation protest CIA recruiting, foreign espionage

By TRACY SCHINDELE

Students at the University of Michigan, Northwestern University, and Brown universities have greeted CIA recruiters with protest signs and arguments from senators-elect John Ginty and K.C. Culum debate with Student Body Parliamentarian Brian Hold, President Rob Bertrin, and Vice President Cathy David. Story at right.

McDonald's delivery service begins without approval

By TRACY SCHINDELE

The Campus Airlift, which operates without official University approval, is a fast food and grocery delivery service operated by the Roseland McDonald's. The service began last Thursday.

McDonald's employees Greg Watson and Jerry Schmidt delivered preordered McDonald's items, as well as miscellaneous groceries, on Thursday and Friday evening to the back door of Keenan and Found Hall.

The McDonald's items average approximately 50 cents above normal prices to include tax and delivery expenses. The Airlift also offers a grocery service, designed to include products ranging from toothpaste to potato chips.

The delivery of alcoholic beverages is not included in the grocery service.

"We are trying to keep this very controlled. We have limited the amount of items ordered and have provided a separate phone line for the service," said Charles Watson, owner of the Roseland McDonald's.

Watson said he obtained permission to deliver on campus through campus security. Although the delivery service has been in operation since Thursday, neither Director of Student Activities Joni Neal nor Vice President for Business Affairs Thomas Mason was familiar with the service.

"I don't think student affairs would have approved this. If McDonald's is going to deliver, they must make their service available to all students in all dorms," said Neal.

Greg Watson indicated the service set for CIA recruiters to return. She said she does not expect trouble in relation to future CIA visits.

see CIA, page 5

Kempton busted with Rockne bust

By THERESA GUARINO

Son of Notre Dame Basketball Coach Digger Phelps, South Bend police officer Tim Kempton was pulled over by police near the Americana Hotel after attending Saturday night's formal at Century Center.

A bust of Notre Dame football great Knute Rockne was confiscated from Irish basketball center Tim Kempton, after the breakup of the game. When Kempton broke up the party, I was bringing it down to the car," he said. "I had nothing to do with it."

The bust was taken to the American Hotel and is about two feet tall. Its worth is estimated at $500.

When reached for comment at the NCAA Final Four in Lexington, Ky., Notre Dame Basketball Coach Digger Phelps refused to comment.

Both Kempton and Robinson are being referred to John Goldrick, as vice president for residence life.

see SENATE, page 5

Students arrested at hotel after formal on Saturday

By THERESA GUARINO

Three Notre Dame students were arrested for public intoxication at the Americana Hotel after attending Saturday night's formal at the Century Center.

The students - Matthew Roy of Muncie, Ind., and Keenan halls in the Century Center that night.

Kempton was stopped by a South Bend police officer when he got off the elevator in the hotel lobby. The officer called Notre Dame security, who came to the American Hotel.

Kempton was said to be holding the bust for a friend, Dave Robinson, a senior from St. Edward's Hall.

"I was up in the room that the bust was in," said Kempton. "When they broke up the party, I was bringing it down to the car.

Kempton claims he "never had possession" of the bust, and was only carrying it for Robinson. "I have no idea where the bust came from," he said. "I had nothing to do with it."

University Security Director Glenn Terry said Robinson, a manager of the basketball team, told police he had permission to take the bust from a storage room in the ACC.

When contacted by The Observer, Robinson refused to comment.

Kempton and Robinson were both questioned by security officers and police, but neither was arrested.

Terry said Kempton told Officer Eugene Oyster of the South Bend Police Department that he was with someone else, who said he had permission to have it.

Terry said he was unsure of how Kempton busted with Rockne bust.
In Brief

Lose a glove this winter? How about a scarf? Or hat? Then stop by the Lost and Found Office in the Notre Dame Administration Building. The winter clothes are piling up and will be donated to charity if not claimed soon. The office, located on the north end of the first floor, is open 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. - The Observer

Weather

Sunny and mild for a change with a high in the middle and upper 40s. Temperatures will drop into the 30s tonight. Sun and temperatures in the 50s and 60s predicted for tomorrow. - The Observer

The Notre Dame Glee Club

The Notre Dame Glee Club will be performing a selection of modern and traditional music in its annual spring concert on Thursday, April 2, at 8 p.m. Tickets for the concert, which will be in the University Hall at 18 p.m., will be available at the Washington Hall Box Office from 3 to 6 p.m. today. As usual, there will be no charge for admission, but patrons will be allowed no more than two tickets each. Any remaining tickets will be distributed at the door. - The Observer

MTV promised top concert, but who is Tommy Shaw?

Saturday, the winner of the Millions for MS competition will be announced, and Notre Dame, with an average contribution of $329 per student, has a good shot at first place and a free concert. But, should Notre Dame win, Madonna won't be dancing toward the Golden Dome, and the Boss won't be performing at the ACC. The school will have the most money per student in the Millions against MS campaign will be blessed with a free MTV concert by a major performer. According to Bill Healy, a member of the campaign committee, "we were promised a top act." The winning school will receive a free MTV concert, as promised. That concert, however, is one that many students would term mediocre at best. Students entered the competition thinking they were vying for some "dream concert." One widely circu­lated rumor indicated that the winning school would be able to choose any concert they wanted at their campus, free. MTV never promised the concert the winner could choose at a pric­e. Bruce said authorities are weighing a tougher stance toward individual states that are using drugs, and we have not broken that curve." Blau, who has been practicing in the area for 10 years, said yesterday that "we want to help eliminate Multiple Sclerosis." A great concert would be nice, but we all know that's not the point. The purpose of the drive was to raise money to fight MS, and that's what we've achieved. Anyone who has ever seen a television commercial knows the contest was a well-planned tool to inspire us to give. But, should Notre Dame win, Madonna won't be dancing toward the Golden Dome, and the Boss won't be performing at the ACC.

Of Interest

The Reagan administration said yesterday that Justice officials have no plans to try to curtail on-campus gambling, despite the warnings from the Justice Department that despite cooperative law enforcement efforts which have made headway in busting narcotics rings, but a high-ranking offi­cial said authorities are weighing a tougher stance toward individual states that are using drugs, and we have not broken that curve." Blau, who has been practicing in the area for 10 years, said yesterday that "we want to help eliminate Multiple Sclerosis." A great concert would be nice, but we all know that's not the point. The purpose of the drive was to raise money to fight MS, and that's what we've achieved. Anyone who has ever seen a television commercial knows the contest was a well-planned tool to inspire us to give. But, should Notre Dame win, Madonna won't be dancing toward the Golden Dome, and the Boss won't be performing at the ACC.

The Justice Department said yesterday it is making headway in busting narcotics rings, but a high-ranking offi­cial said authorities are weighing a tougher stance toward individual states that are using drugs, and we have not broken that curve." Blau, who has been practicing in the area for 10 years, said yesterday that "we want to help eliminate Multiple Sclerosis." A great concert would be nice, but we all know that's not the point. The purpose of the drive was to raise money to fight MS, and that's what we've achieved. Anyone who has ever seen a television commercial knows the contest was a well-planned tool to inspire us to give. But, should Notre Dame win, Madonna won't be dancing toward the Golden Dome, and the Boss won't be performing at the ACC.

Indiana House Speaker J. Roberts Dailey surprised his colleagues last night when he announced he was hand­ing the rotunda the lottery resolution for a vote. Before the lawmakers had announced their intent was to pass the lottery bill for universal and immediate approval, Ms. Saturday's announcement of the winning school will probably go only because it's free or because it's being filmed by MTV. So why not give up a concert that no one much cares about in order to further the real purpose behind the campaign? Why not give up the concert, should we win, and donate the money to help fight MS? Such a move would make two definitive statements. First, we could demonstrate our dedication as a student body to eliminating Multiple Sclerosis. Second, we could very effectively express our dissatisfaction with MTV. Notre Dame has already done well in its fight against MS. Saturday's announcement of the winning school could give us an opportunity to do even more.

The views expressed in the Inside column are the views of the author, and do not neces­sarily reflect the views of the editorial board or staff.

The 1986 DOME

Now accepting applications for:

- Photography Manager
- Editing Manager
- Copy Editor
- Section Editors
- Business Manager

Applications are available in the Student Activities Office and must be returned before Easter Break
Plagiarism exists, but not severe, claim ND/SMC administrators

By MARK S. PANKOWSKI
Copy Editor

Plagiarism. It is defined as the feting of another's work as one's own, and it is a problem at Notre Dame and Saint Mary's. To what extent it is a problem, however, remains uncertain.

"There's probably as much plagiarism at Notre Dame as at other universities," said Michael Loux, dean of the College of Arts and Letters at Notre Dame. "My guess is that there is some cheating, less than most would claim. It's tough to get statistics though."

"I have caught it and many of my friends have caught it," said Thomas Bonnell, assistant professor in Saint Mary's English department. "I wouldn't attempt to venture a guess as to how widespread it is, however. There's no way of knowing."

Judging from the number of reported cases to administrators, plagiarism does not seem to be a significant problem at either Notre Dame or Saint Mary's.

"In the last two to three years we've had about six to seven cases in the freshman writing program," noted Edward Kline, chairman of the Notre Dame English department and director of the freshmen writing program. "In three years that I've been chairman of the English department, we've had nothing."

"I think plagiarism happens at all schools, certainly at Saint Mary's," said Susan Vanek, freshman academic counselor at Saint Mary's. "I haven't seen many cases, so perhaps it's not as big a problem. I do occasionally run into it, but it's not prevalent."

Plagiarism, however, may be more widespread than the number of reported cases seems to indicate. According to Loux, if a teacher at Notre Dame determines that a student has plagiarized an assignment, the teacher must take the matter to the Honesty Committee of his or her department. Nevertheless, some instructors choose not to go through this potentially long process, and thus the plagiarism goes unnoticed.

"I have a feeling that many professors don't want to deal with the Honesty Committee procedure," said Michael Francis, chairman of the government department at Notre Dame. "Professors prefer to settle the matter on their own, which I think is the best way, unless the student wants to take it to the Honesty Committee."

At Saint Mary's, although many teachers do inform the freshman academic counselor or the dean of academic affairs when they discover plagiarism, they are not required to do so.

"Teachers who settle the matter on their own most often do so because they believe that plagiarizing is a private matter between student and teacher. They feel they can punish the student adequately without involving the administration, thereby allowing the student to be punished without having the incident go on the student's file."

Instructors also may not report a case of plagiarism if they believe the student simply forgot to document a source or was unaware of what constitutes plagiarism.

Several steps have been taken by Notre Dame and Saint Mary's in order to curb the incidence of plagiarism. Teachers, for example, are encouraged to explain to their students what constitutes plagiarism and what the punishment is for the offense. In addition, some professors employ a different approach to solving the problem.

"When looking up references, students tend to plagiarize," said Robert Lordi, English professor at Notre Dame. "If I give complete freedom on assignments outside of class, I have a tendency to find plagiarism. I now give my students assignments that don't require them to depend on outside sources. That usually eliminates the possibilities of plagiarism."

Despite their best efforts to curb the problem, in the end, teachers must rely somewhat on students' integrity not to plagiarize.

"Individual teachers take the issue seriously, and I hope students take it seriously as a result of the teachers' talking to them about it," said Loux. "I would hope that this being a Catholic university and students being aware of plagiarism, that they wouldn't violate honest practices."

In his own world
Flanner Hall freshman Joe Farrell avoids the library tensions and the rainy night to study in the smaller and quieter world of his room.

Ford
GET OFF TO A GREAT START

An event you won't want to miss. As part of this campus community, you participating Ford dealer will talk with you about the special values available on Ford's 1985 model cars and trucks. GET OFF TO A GREAT START WITH FORD ON THE DATES LISTED BELOW! Co-Sponsor
STUDENT ACTIVITIES BOARD

FOOD THEATER

THURSDAY, APRIL 18TH FRIDAY, APRIL 19TH

52200 U.S. 31 N., South Bend

Help Prevent Birth Defects

BEST HOUSE OFF CAMPUS:

52200 U.S. 31 N., South Bend

THIRD COUPON GOOD FOR REGULAR BEEF TACO BELL.

THIS COUPON GOOD FOR 50 OFF THE Regular Price of any "THE WORKS" COMBINATION PLATTER

THIRD COUPON GOOD FOR 50 OFF THE Regular Price of any "THE WORKS" COMBINATION PLATTER

THIS COUPON GOOD FOR 50 OFF THE Regular Price of any "THE WORKS" COMBINATION PLATTER

OFFER EXPIRES APRIL 21, 1985.
K. of C. elects officers, describes future goals

By AIMEE STORIN

The Notre Dame chapter of the Knights of Columbus geared up for its 1985-86 year by electing Joseph Creely III to the top position of Grand Knight.

In addition to fulfilling the Grand Knight's role as general overseer, Creely cited three specific goals for the chapter during his tenure.

"I'd like to work on integrating the Knights with other activities on campus, especially charitable groups' activities. Now that we have the contract for our building (located next to the bookstore, on South quad), we have the freedom to offer facilities for the events of other campus groups," Creely said.

In early March of this year, the building became available to rent, subject to the approval of the University Food Services.

"My second goal is both to increase the membership and to raise the percentage of members actively participating," said Creely. At present 25 percent of the knights are active members.

The officers intend to encourage the involvement of all knights and ladies in events such as movies and charity fundraisers. "Last year, among other things, the group raised $500 for the Corvilla home for the retarded, and this year we're hoping to increase the number of members involved in these kinds of events, as well as the amount raised," Creely said.

Airlift

continued from page 1

vice is just a test. "We got the idea from the success of a similar set-up at Indiana University called Fast Break. If all goes well, we will hire more people and work several nights a week in all the dorms, including Saint Mary's."

Despite the single delivery site, any Notre Dame student may place a phone order for the service.

Assistant Director of Student Activities Paul Marjoy was also enthusiastic about the new operation.

Other newly elected leaders are: Deputy Grand Knight Scott Mor-

Nute, Chancellor Jim Daugherty, Recorder James Bleyer, Treasurer Thomas Darrow, Advocate Timothy Theleen and Warden Brian Aquallo. Performing the duties of Inside and Outside Guard are Robert Walsh and John Rodgers, respectively.

Creely stated that "bolstering the Ladies of Columbus" by increasing their membership is his final goal. All Catholic Notre Dame and Saint Mary's women are eligible to join the Ladies of Columbus.

"Right now the officers (of the Ladies of Columbus) are all Saint Mary's students, which is probably just a fluke," said Creely. The new officers are: President Ellen Murray, Vice President Kathy Bolonin, Treasurer Patty Mihm, and Secretary Amy Soil.

Joining Brian St. Clair and Thomas Duffy on the Board of Trustees of the Knights and Ladies of Columbus is William Hickey, director of University Food Services.

"He has considerable financial experience," said Creely, commenting on Hickey's appointment. "Also, we don't want to be solely a student organization (Hickey's position) helps to present somewhat of a more mature face."

The Knights also announced that Eli Shaheen, benefactor of the Knights and Ladies of Columbus, has been elevated to the position of Trustee Emeritus. Shaheen's gift of $500,000 to the University paid for the renovation of the K. of C. building, which was formerly the post office.

New Jerusalem program offered

By LISA M. BOYKIN

A chance to study in Jerusalem will be offered to Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students when the University opens its Ecumenical Institute there next September.

The program is open to undergraduates and selected graduate students, and provides the opportunity to spend a semester or an entire year in the Holy Land.

"It is at Father Hesburgh's request that the program was initially considered," according to Charles Grubert, assistant to the director of the foreign study programs. The program includes courses in comparative religions, Christianity, Judaism, Islam, biblical studies, archeology, contemporary Middle East politics, and introductory Hebrew and Arabic.

"Right now, six out of 12 courses offered to undergraduates are theology courses," commented Grubert. The campus is located on Tantum hill, along the main road from Jerusalem to Bethlehem, and consists of small stone buildings surrounded by olive and pine trees. Campus facilities include a lecture hall, a 50,000-volume library, seminar rooms, a dining room, a chapel, common rooms, and a tennis court.

Professors from American, Canadian, Israeli, and Arab universities will staff the program at Tantum. Grubert said, "Adequate precautions have already been taken to prevent security problems, especially since the program has been in existence as a graduate ecumenical research institute since 1972.

Admission to the program requires at least sophomore standing, an academic average of 2.5, and three letters of recommendation.

New Jerusalem program offered

By LISA M. BOYKIN

A chance to study in Jerusalem will be offered to Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students when the University opens its Ecumenical Institute there next September.

The program is open to undergraduates and selected graduate students, and provides the opportunity to spend a semester or an entire year in the Holy Land.

"It is at Father Hesburgh's request that the program was initially considered," according to Charles Grubert, assistant to the director of the foreign study programs. The program includes courses in comparative religions, Christianity, Judaism, Islam, biblical studies, archeology, contemporary Middle East politics, and introductory Hebrew and Arabic.

"Right now, six out of 12 courses offered to undergraduates are theology courses," commented Grubert. The campus is located on Tantum hill, along the main road from Jerusalem to Bethlehem, and consists of small stone buildings surrounded by olive and pine trees. Campus facilities include a lecture hall, a 50,000-volume library, seminar rooms, a dining room, a chapel, common rooms, and a tennis court.

Professors from American, Canadian, Israeli, and Arab universities will staff the program at Tantum. Grubert said, "Adequate precautions have already been taken to prevent security problems, especially since the program has been in existence as a graduate ecumenical research institute since 1972.

Admission to the program requires at least sophomore standing, an academic average of 2.5, and three letters of recommendation.
concluded from page 1

The University administration recognizes the right of students to protest, but, a 1969 letter to students written by University President Theodore Hesburgh said, "Any group that substitutes force for rational persuasion, be it violent or nonviolent, will be given 15 minutes of meditation to cease and desist." If students refuse to halt their activity after this time, they will be suspended from the community.

CIA

Protesters at Northwestern, Brown, and Tufts limited their protests to picketing when recruiters visited their campuses. These methods led to the arrest of five people at Northwestern and 50 student at Brown faced disciplinary action by the administration.

CIA officials said they were "concerned for the safety of (their) personnel." Student sentiment seems to favor the protests, but is concerned with the potential for violence, according to a Michigan Daily spokesman.

by LYNN R. STRAND

A new Carrara marble statue of Brother Andre, the Holy Cross brother beatified by Pope John Paul II in May 1982, has been completed and will arrive at Notre Dame from Italy soon after Easter.

Often called "the Miracle Man of Montreal," Brother Andre is credited with curing thousands of sick people through the intercession of St. Joseph, patron saint of Canada. Brother Andre is currently the only member of the Holy Cross order who is beatified and a candidate for sainthood.

Although Brother Andre stood five feet four inches, the statue stands six feet tall. When looking at the statue, said Father Anthony Lauck, professor emeritus of art and creator of the original clay model for the statue, "Notice Brother Andre's kindly face, which is not like typical saints. He always had a nice, friendly smile. Also look at his hands, which are quite large," and appear outstretched, as if offering to help the sick.

The statue was enlarged by Giovanni Raffo studio artists. The studio, located in Pietrasanta, Italy, is also the origin of the Carrara marble in Ivan Mastrovic's "Pieta," which currently stands in a Sacred Heart side chapel. Lauck's statue of Brother Andre will be placed next to the "Pieta."

Lauck is not a newcomer to Notre Dame art. One of his most famous works is the statue of "Our Lady, Notre Dame" at the main circle. He began work on the statue of Brother Andre a year and a half ago at the request of University President Father Theodore Hesburgh and Father Daniel Jenky, rector of Sacred Heart Church.

For approximately four months, Lauck worked on the three foot original of the statue. He chose Raffo because he was "the most reliable person" he knew of, and Raffo's studio was the home of the same Carrara crystal-tinged marble as Mastrovito's "Pieta."

"It shows what importance Brother Andre has when this is the one shrine the Pope kneeled at, along with 3,000 priests, when he was visiting Canada," said Leveille.

Leveille was a priest and seminarian at the shrine. He saw people in "absolute despair, people who are crippled or with cancer." Although Leveille said he never saw a miracle credited to Brother Andre, he has seen people "healed inside."

It's Army O.C.S. (Officer Candidate School)" is a 14-week challenge that will make you dig deep inside yourself for mental and physical toughness. And when you finish, you'll be a trim, fit, resourceful commissioned officer in the Army, ready to exercise leadership.

Correction

Because of an editing error, yesterday's Observer incorrectly reported the length of time allocated for University President Father Theodore Hesburgh's Palm Sunday homily. The time was actually 9 minutes, 50 seconds.

Senate

continued from page 1

the rules," said Culum. "They didn't extend their terms legitimately."

Berlingo, however, said the senators-elect were arguing from "personal ambition. They didn't know what the hell they were talking about. They have their facts all jumbled." He said he neither has been more relieved to complete something.

Domagalski and Christy were the only senate members who voted against the new constitution. Domagalski said the new constitution "ignores the important interests of the classes of Notre Dame."

Christy argued, "How can a sophomore or junior representative know what a senior wants?"

Correction

Senators-elect were arguing from "personal ambition. They didn't know what the hell they were talking about. They have their facts all jumbled." He said he neither has been more relieved to complete something.

Domagalski and Christy were the only senate members who voted against the new constitution. Domagalski said the new constitution "ignores the important interests of the classes of Notre Dame."

Christy argued, "How can a sophomore or junior representative know what a senior wants?"

Correction

Senators-elect were arguing from "personal ambition. They didn't know what the hell they were talking about. They have their facts all jumbled." He said he neither has been more relieved to complete something.

Domagalski and Christy were the only senate members who voted against the new constitution. Domagalski said the new constitution "ignores the important interests of the classes of Notre Dame."

Christy argued, "How can a sophomore or junior representative know what a senior wants?"

Correction

Senators-elect were arguing from "personal ambition. They didn't know what the hell they were talking about. They have their facts all jumbled." He said he neither has been more relieved to complete something.

Domagalski and Christy were the only senate members who voted against the new constitution. Domagalski said the new constitution "ignores the important interests of the classes of Notre Dame."

Christy argued, "How can a sophomore or junior representative know what a senior wants?"
Duarte proclaims landslide victory

Associated Press

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador President Jose Napoleon Duarte yester­day claimed a landslide election victory that would give his moderate party control of the gov­ernment for the first time since he took office in 1989.

The results of Sunday’s legislative elections were a severe blow to the right-wing administration and had hammered Duarte, who had ex­pected to keep or increase the majority they held in the assembly for the three years of its existence.

Duarte told journalists yesterday that opposition Christian Democrats represented “a stance of the people against the far left and right.” He said he would continue seeking peace in the 5-year-old war with leftist guerrillas through dialogues with the political right and left and with the business commu­nity.

Although the president was not a candidate, the election was widely considered to be a referendum on his first 10 months in office.

Christian Democrats said yester­day that with 86 percent of the vote tabulated, their figures gave them 33 seats and 25 to their main opposition, a coalition of the far­ right Republican Nationalist Al­liance, ARENA.

ARENA and the conservative National Conciliation Party

Duarte’s party held 24 seats in the old assembly, the rights had 34 and a small party not aligned to either side held the other two. The Christ­ian Democrats lacked the majority necessary to enact legislation and the rights did not have the two­ thirds necessary to override a veto.

Life was the only publication allowed to send a photographer to the recording session (Billboard is using pictures supplied by USA for Africa) and the issue “will be one of our best sellers ever,” Whittingham said in a telephone interview.

The foundation is in the collecting phase now, but Rogol is already talking with relief agencies about the problems they have distributing

Ten percent of the money raised in the drive will be fed to the hungry in the United States, and the rest will go to Africa for medicines, seeds and other agricultural supplies and for what Rogol called “long­ term economic development.”

Notre Dame Avenue Apartments

Complete furnished, balconies, laundry, and off-street parking.

On site management & maintenance, all deluxe features

ASK ABOUT OUR SPECIAL SUMMER RATES (good deals for Summer Season)

Office at 820 ND Ave

or call

234-6647

or Evening Classes

APPROVED FOR VETERANS

Graduation from John Marshall meets the requirements for admission to the Bar Examination in Georgia and Indiana ONLY

(404) 872-3593

877-997-3593

JOHN MARSHALL LAW SCHOOL

1393 Peachtree St. N.E. Atlanta, GA 30309

APPLICATIONS TAKEN NOW

February, June, September Admission

Day or Evening Classes

John Marshall Law School admits without regard to national or ethnic origin

John Marshall Law School
Plan is not a good deal

Last night, the current student senators passed a new constitution two days after the new senators were to have replaced them. Handling last minute objections, the senate sent the proposal to the Hall Presidents’ Council for approval. If the HPC concurs with the senate, a radically new constitution will take effect for the coming student government term. Elections would be held for dorm senators then on April 15, the day that elected senators would join Bill Healy, student body president-elect, to form the 1985-86 student government.

In the latter part of August of last year, I boarded a train and headed for Notre Dame for my first semester as a college student. For the longest time, I, like many others, had dreamed of life under the Golden Dome. I had heard of all of the fantastic traditions and effective spirit that this University has. Now I was ready to live in this world called Notre Dame.

When I walked through the gates of my family, I was almost beside myself with excitement. The train ride from New Orleans had been trying on my nervous nerves, and the car ride from Chicago towards the Student Activities Board. I would be an extension of the president’s cabinet. The SAB manager would be appointed by the student body president and would become an executive coordinator. All executive coordinators would need senate confirmation before holding office.

The proposal has its merits. The senators would be more accountable to their constituents because they would reside at the same location. The committee structure would give the senate’s specific duties to perform within the committees. The student body president would not place a vote on the senate. He should be a check on their power, not a participant in their politics.

The HPC, with fewer political concerns, could concentrate on Notre Dame’s social activities. It would readily focus itself on dorm life.

The president, with his veto threat, would have the potential to be a more imposing figure who would give the president the power to realize the proposal. Unfortunately, the drawbacks overshadow the merits. Four weeks ago, the idea of restructuring was on the backburner. Now, less than 25 days later, student leaders have emerged with what they think in a panacea for government, but what is more likely a Pandora’s box.

The restructured senate of 26 voting members, counting the student body vice president, would not be much larger than the current 17-member senate. The present senate, however, really only has five senators whose sole function is to represent their districts. The remaining 12 senators serve only in a secondary capacity and their interests are limited to the institutions they represent. The proposal calls for 25 senators who would have specific responsibilities.

Having senators represent their dorms will better define their interests, but perhaps too well. Senators would have to worry how an issue affects varying segments of the campus. They represent a significant segment of the campus. The new constitution, senators would represent only the self-interest of their dorms. They would have no reason to reach outside their narrow interests.

Also, the student body would be misrepresented because each dorm would have one senator regardless of its size.

Removing the class officers as voting members eliminates a channel for class sentiment to be expressed. Most senators would be upperclassmen whose interests tend to be different from the concerns of the freshmen who depend heavily upon campus activities.

The Student Activities Board, under the new plan, loses much of its independence. The SAB manager would be appointed by the president, who also would control the SAB’s purse strings because the president would head the finance committee. That would be too much power for one person to have.

While the need to restructure student government is apparent to almost everyone, the Observer editorial board and the methods student government has taken so far to achieve this goal. In light of the above objections, the leader of student government should cease all further action upon the proposed new constitution and open the matter to extensive campus discussion.

Pandora’s box must be opened with what they think is a panacea for government, but what is more likely a Pandora’s box.

Kevin Becker

to the point

Union Station seemed to take an eternity. I think that I could have qualified as the perfect six-year-old with myincrement “are we there yet?” How could I not be excited? I was headed for the place that would be my home for the next four years. I wanted to see my new world.

The image of the Dome as I first saw it still stands out clearly in my mind today. The sun reflected off of it radiantly, and I knew that Notre Dame would be all that I had imagined it to be. I can remember my thoughts at that time vividly. The people who were sitting in front of the tower were the preeminent students of a great university.

The remaining senate members serve only in a secondary capacity and their interests are limited to the institutions they represent. The proposal calls for 25 senators who would have specific responsibilities.

Having senators represent their dorms will better define their interests, but perhaps too well. Senators would have to worry how an issue affects varying segments of the campus. They represent a significant segment of the campus. The new constitution, senators would represent only the self-interest of their dorms. They would have no reason to reach outside their narrow interests.

Also, the student body would be misrepresented because each dorm would have one senator regardless of its size.

Removing the class officers as voting members eliminates a channel for class sentiment to be expressed. Most senators would be upperclassmen whose interests tend to be different from the concerns of the freshmen who depend heavily upon campus activities.

The Student Activities Board, under the new plan, loses much of its independence. The SAB manager would be appointed by the president, who also would control the SAB’s purse strings because the president would head the finance committee. That would be too much power for one person to have.

While the need to restructure student government is apparent to almost everyone, the Observer editorial board and the methods student government has taken so far to achieve this goal. In light of the above objections, the leader of student government should cease all further action upon the proposed new constitution and open the matter to extensive campus discussion.

Pandora’s box must be opened with what they think is a panacea for government, but what is more likely a Pandora’s box.

Kevin Becker

Growing accustomed to life at ND takes stamina

The Bertino administration and the present senators should step aside and let those new senators were to have replaced them.

Growing accustomed to life at ND takes stamina.

The new constitution provides for 25 senators and a framework of two standing committees. Senators would need senate confirmation before holding office.

There is no longer a voting member of the senate. Then on April 15, the newly elected senators would join Bill Healy, student body president and would become an executive coordinator. All executive coordinators would need senate confirmation before holding office.

The proposal has its merits. The senators would be more accountable to their constituents because they would reside at the same location. The committee structure would give the senate’s specific duties to perform within the committees. The student body president would not place a vote on the senate. He should be a check on their power, not a participant in their politics.

The HPC, with fewer political concerns, could concentrate on Notre Dame’s social activities. It would readily focus itself on dorm life.

The president, with his veto threat, would have the potential to be a more imposing figure who would give the president the power to realize the proposal. Unfortunately, the drawbacks overshadow the merits. Four weeks ago, the idea of restructuring was on the backburner. Now, less than 25 days later, student leaders have emerged with what they think in a panacea for government, but what is more likely a Pandora’s box.

The restructured senate of 26 voting members, counting the student body vice president, would not be much larger than the current 17-member senate. The present senate, however, really only has five senators whose sole function is to represent their districts. The remaining 12 senators serve only in a secondary capacity and their interests are limited to the institutions they represent. The proposal calls for 25 senators who would have specific responsibilities.

Having senators represent their dorms will better define their interests, but perhaps too well. Senators would have to worry how an issue affects varying segments of the campus. They represent a significant segment of the campus. The new constitution, senators would represent only the self-interest of their dorms. They would have no reason to reach outside their narrow interests.

Also, the student body would be misrepresented because each dorm would have one senator regardless of its size.

Removing the class officers as voting members eliminates a channel for class sentiment to be expressed. Most senators would be upperclassmen whose interests tend to be different from those of younger students, especially freshmen who depend heavily upon foreign lands. I have become accustomed to the effervescent spirit that this University boasted and is the assistant Viewpoint editor at The Observer.
Lisa Young
features staff writer

Dorm rooms - big or small, Moroney or Pasquariella, West, or East, are equally as much a part of college life as Chem 115. Our "homes away from home" are rarely what we expect them to be. Whether a freshman with an assigned room, or a junior with the "choice" quad, they somehow don't compare to a Fifth Avenue apartment.

Most students do the "usual" decorating to salvage the atmosphere as best we can: touch up the paint on the walls, buy some second-hand carpet, and fill the room with "borrowed" milk crates. We bring our stereos and some photos and maybe even a throw pillow or two. But it's still just a dorm room.

Unless creativity intervenes and a look around campus will certainly show that creativity abounds here under the Dome.

The "Howard Penthouse," better known as room 621, is the unique creation of roommates Mark Huber, Bob Lee, Jim Chmiel, and Carl Gebo. Three this-room quad is also referred to as the "social hub of Howard Hall." The guys were lucky in the respect that Chmiel, a junior, received the Number 1 room pick. But from there, it was nothing but hard work.

The four arrived at Notre Dame in the fall of last year, along with Bob's dad from Galena, Illinios. The first step was by sanding and painting the walls and refinishing the woodwork. It seems, though, that with all of this hard work, some things were left out. There is not a visible desk, sink, or bed in any of the three rooms.

The lack of desks is easily explained, the atmosphere of the room doesn't lend itself to studying. But sinks and beds? A closer look shows the sinks concealed behind carefully constructed tables and a TV console. The tables move, allowing the guys to brush their teeth, and then return to hide the sink.

The hinged beds make up the most interesting aspect of the rooms. In the bedroom, a fake floor was constructed. The floorboards are on hinges which lift up in an almost "coffin" fashion to expose the mattresses. With the floorboards down, the beds are virtually invisible.

The details with which the room was finished are exquisite. The hardware necessary for these details, as well as the lumber for the beds and console, cost the roommates close to $1,000. Why all this work and money? "We like luxury. We're college yuppies," they replied.

All four are juniors and had planned on keeping their room next year, until Huber and Chmiel were chosen as resident assistants. The other two say, "We're taking applications for two new roommates if interested, stop by 621 Howard."

But Howard's creativity is rivaled by that of Sorin Steve Divney and Mike Cannotti occupy 102 Sorin. Because of the 18-foot ceilings, the guys were able to build a full-scale loft. Nearly a second story, the idea is similar to the room they lived in last year. The lumber cost some between $800 and $1,500.

Why did they do it? Says Divney, "It makes for a nicer lifestyle. We wanted to use our engineering knowledge before graduation. This set-up allows us to have two respectable social gatherings at the same time. "Because both are seniors, the loft will be for sale for next year."

Down the hall in 109 Sorin, live Tim Labor, Jim Callaghan, Dick Prusin, Jim Felsman, Steve Brainerlein, and Chris Kvochak. They have a similar layout in their room, which they planned at the end of last year. Their set-up is also for sale come May.

The room's uniqueness lies in the decor of one of the walls. It is covered with autographs of nearly everyone who has visited the room. Is that okay with their rectors? "Sure! He signed it, too. It's alright as long as we paint over it at the end of the year," the guys said.

Upper in 346 Sorin is home to Pat Loughran, Craig Berry, and John Gleason. This two-room triple contains "the stages." By putting all of the beds in one room, the other room was open for ideas. Gleason came up with the stage idea. The upper stage is their couch and TV console. Underneath is a "sturdy" armchair and assorted books. The lower stage has more room for seating, and for storage underneath, says Berry, "It was the only place to keep Pat's sobs."

The wall above the lower stage is decorated with everyone's favorite mascot, the Notre Dame leprechaun. The outline was there from previous years and the guys repainted it this year. The room cost approximately $120 and followed all University regulations. As for next year, says Berry, "We'll keep it, but probably put it together differently."

North Quad also has its share of unique rooms. Kirk Kimberly and Mark Worscheb live in 316 Stanford, and have done some unusual things to their room. No beds are visible upon entering the room. They are rigged so that they fold down out of the wall, similar to banks in a boat. The bottom is paneled to blend in with the wall and the top is a fabulous shotglass collection. They started it their freshman year and they now have nearly 150 glasses. The room, including the bed frame, entertainment center, and shotglass case, cost approximately $550.

While men seem to be creative, Tammy Kruse has turned 316 Walsh into a miniature Notre Dame. Decorated completely in green, blue, and gold, Tammy has captured that alumni spirit already. From the ND blanket on her wall to the campus photos to her little brother's drawing of the Fighting Irish, every inch says something about Notre Dame.

Why did she decorate with this theme? "I was already such a Sooner when I came here," she said. She plans to keep the idea for next year, because of the time and money that she has put into decorating. The handmade curtains, chairback and blue and gold afghan show how handy she is.

Well, if you're looking around your room and wondering what went wrong, just remember, "There's always next year!" A little imagination and creativity can turn your "ho-hum" abode into an interior designer's dream.
Eric Bergamo

Television review

This year, NBC has found new frontiers to explore in the family with "The Cosby Show" and "Family Ties," two shows that have shot the network's Thursday night lineup to the top of the Nielsen ratings. The "Cosby Show" marks the triumphant return of Bill Cosby to prime time television. His last series was the highly popular "I Spy" of the sixties. Cosby plays a successful and respected doctor, Cliff Huxtable. The plotline for each episode is standard family sitcom fare, nothing glaringly new in this department. Yet the series is different, startlingly different in its format. Network television has had its share of troubles in presenting blacks in a favorable light. It is a shameful fact that black role models are limited on television, a problem that needs to be eliminated in the honest view of equality.

"The Cosby Show" is a reversal on the format that made "All in the Family" such a large hit in the seventies. Instead of having the conservative parents against the changing morals and social values of their liberal kids, the roles are reversed. The liberal parents are opposed to the changing morals and social values of their conservative kids. If there was ever a sitcom that expressed the changing times since Ronald Reagan took office, "Family Ties" is that sitcom.

Each week is a new dimension in the widening generation gap between liberal parents and conservative children. The views and opinions of each age are put forth and conflicts emerge. The conflicts are not quite as loud and violent as they were on "All in the Family." It is quite humorous to watch the parents attempt to keep the peace with the children. The stories are all well written and are more appealing to us. The change from Yippee to Yuppie, from flower power to the power of one's bank account. Another fine cast graces this program. Michael Gross and Meredith Baxter Birney portray the parents with the emotion and savvy that sitcoms call for. It is quite humorous to watch the parents attempt to keep the peace with the children. Instead of having the conservative parents against the changing morals and social values of their liberal kids, the roles are reversed. The liberal parents are opposed to the changing morals and social values of their conservative kids. If there was ever a sitcom that expressed the changing times since Ronald Reagan took office, "Family Ties" is that sitcom.

Eric Bergamo

Tuesday, April 2, 1985 — page 8 — page 9

Football's future: transmitters

Marc Ramirez

Strange days indeed

PONTIAC, Mich. - Bud Kilroy here. Middle of January, 1986. I don't think they ever thought it would come to this. But it has. The big guy just got through prepping us and we're ready to head out onto the field.

Yeah, I've seen so much pain and suffering I don't even blink anymore. Kids just can't take college crises for their mothers. The veterans who thought they'd be ready for anything - anything but this. Now such a thing could happen in an advanced society like ours eludes me.

They call me Chief. I am the quarterback of the Houston Oilers. And I'm definitely in the catbird seat out there. This is the Super Bowl, and we're playing the Bears.

Here's the deal. First they put these little transmitters in our helmets - just so the rest of the players could hear me calling signals. That was okay. But pro football, like everything else, has gone too far.

They decided the rest of the good ol' U.S. of A. would like to hear us too, so they made it so everyone at home could hear me barking signals. That was early in the season. And now - this. They can hear everything we say.

Wait - time to go. We're lining up, single file, ready to be introduced.

QB: Breaker one-nine, this here's Chief. We've been 'bout to be introduced, come on!

FB: I bear ya, good buddy. We're all lined up behind younice and pretty, like ants on a sidewalk.

QB: Mercy sakes alive, Night Train, looks like we got us a corvy.

TE: You got the Barrethouse here. Gonna have to put the beats to the turf tonight, buddy - there's a lot of Bears out there.

QB: That's a big 10-four. Barrethouse. Look like we're gonna need us some good defense. Hey Double Nitches, you're yer ears on?

MLR: You got 'em. Chief. Let's tell us some Bears. Fyre you got a chance to get back to Shytown, y'hear?

FB: Hey, wait a minute. Chief. What's yer 20?

QB: The middle linebacker of the field, you dastard. They just announced my name.

We're on the offensive. We've set up bzuve on the 20-yard-line, but we can't hold our position much longer. Thirty seconds is all we've got to make our next move.

QB: Ok, gang, we're ready to roll. You copy?

LT: We read you. Chief, Ten-bolt.

QB: No, you both. But one, but two.

C: Take a hike, Chief.

QB: Thanks, Snapper. I'm justalin' back.

C: Roger, Chief. I'll stand my ground.

IE: Chief, I've bit an open area. Send me the ball.

QB: Coordinates, Football:

IE: I'm at the 35-yard-line and the left bahk mark - uh, disregard last transmission. Chief. The heavy artillery is almost on my nam.

BG: Houston, we have a problem. Chief, you're gonna have a 2-ground Lineman coming your way in a few seconds, do you read?

QB: I read you LOUD AND CLEAR, Rambo! Requesting backup!

Help!

TE: Chief, this is Barrethouse. I've reached a temporary clearing at the 30-yard-line. Fire away.

QB: Here goes, Barrelhouse. Air alert.

TE: I can see it coming, Chief. I think I've got it. I think the ref's blown the whistle. Play is dead. Bodies are everywhere.

Barrethouse never caught the ball. He couldn't hold on. Hit at full speed by a free safety. He'll be out for a long time.

Oh well. Life goes on.

Hiya, I'm the Bears' defensive team captain. They call me the Hunter. I'm at the middle linebacking position. I'm really into all the pros. They call me Chief. I am the quarterback of the Houston Oilers. They call me Chief. This here's Chief. We're fixin' to be out there.

Excuse me while I spat.

MLR: Okay, guys, time one. We stopped 'em good on the 20-yard-line, but we can't hold our position much longer. Thirty seconds is all we've got to make our next move.

QB: Ok, gang, we're ready to roll. You copy?

LT: We read you. Chief, Ten-bolt.

QB: No, you both. But one, but two.

C: Take a hike, Chief.

QB: Thanks, Snapper. I'm justalin' back.

C: Roger, Chief. I'll stand my ground.

IE: Chief, I've bit an open area. Send me the ball.

QB: Coordinates, Football:

IE: I'm at the 35-yard-line and the left bahk mark - uh, disregard last transmission. Chief. The heavy artillery is almost on my nam.

BG: Houston, we have a problem. Chief, you're gonna have a 2-ground Lineman coming your way in a few seconds, do you read?

QB: I read you LOUD AND CLEAR, Rambo! Requesting backup!

Help!

TE: Chief, this is Barrethouse. I've reached a temporary clearing at the 30-yard-line. Fire away.

QB: Here goes, Barrelhouse. Air alert.

TE: I can see it coming, Chief. I think I've got it. I think the ref's blown the whistle. Play is dead. Bodies are everywhere.

Barrethouse never caught the ball. He couldn't hold on. Hit at full speed by a free safety. He'll be out for a long time.

Oh well. Life goes on.

Hiya, I'm the Bears' defensive team captain. They call me the Hunter. I'm at the middle linebacking position. I'm really into all the pros. They call me Chief. I am the quarterback of the Houston Oilers. They call me Chief. This here's Chief. We're fixin' to be out there.

Excuse me while I spat.

MLR: Okay, guys, time one. We stopped 'em good on the 20-yard-line, but we can't hold our position much longer. Thirty seconds is all we've got to make our next move.

QB: Ok, gang, we're ready to roll. You copy?

LT: We read you. Chief, Ten-bolt.

QB: No, you both. But one, but two.

C: Take a hike, Chief.

QB: Thanks, Snapper. I'm justalin' back.

C: Roger, Chief. I'll stand my ground.

IE: Chief, I've bit an open area. Send me the ball.

QB: Coordinates, Football:

IE: I'm at the 35-yard-line and the left bahk mark - uh, disregard last transmission. Chief. The heavy artillery is almost on my nam.

BG: Houston, we have a problem. Chief, you're gonna have a 2-ground Lineman coming your way in a few seconds, do you read?

QB: I read you LOUD AND CLEAR, Rambo! Requesting backup!

Help!

TE: Chief, this is Barrethouse. I've reached a temporary clearing at the 30-yard-line. Fire away.

QB: Here goes, Barrelhouse. Air alert.

TE: I can see it coming, Chief. I think I've got it. I think the ref's blown the whistle. Play is dead. Bodies are everywhere.

Barrethouse never caught the ball. He couldn't hold on. Hit at full speed by a free safety. He'll be out for a long time.

Oh well. Life goes on.

Hiya, I'm the Bears' defensive team captain. They call me the Hunter. I'm at the middle linebacking position. I'm really into all the pros. They call me Chief. I am the quarterback of the Houston Oilers. They call me Chief. This here's Chief. We're fixin' to be out there.

Excuse me while I spat.
Sports Briefs

The Notre Dame baseball team will play a doubleheader today at 1:30 p.m. at Jack Kline Field. The Observer

The Notre Dame women's tennis team will play a home match today against Western Michigan at 10 a.m. at Courtenay courts. The Observer

The ND Rowing Club will be meeting tonight at 8 p.m. in room 123 of Neuwland Science Hall. All members should attempt to attend and receive tickets. The Observer

The ND Women's Water Polo Club will hold practice tonight from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. in the Rockne Memorial Swimming Pool. Anyone interested in trying out is encouraged to attend. For more information, call Marjory Bailey at 283-5981. The Observer

Women's Bookstore Basketball schedules have been distributed and interested participants may pay the $5 registration fee in the An Student office from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m. For more information, call the office at 239-7660. The Observer

Bookstore Basketball schedules will be available today from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m. in the An Student office on the second floor of Lafortune for all teams who are willing to attend Sunday's captain's meeting. Only those teams who have not already picked up a schedule will be able to register. No schedules will be distributed after tomorrow. The Observer

Anyone interested in scorekeeping for the Bookstore Basketball tournament should attend a meeting tonight from 7 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. in the Lafortune Little Theatre. Those who are interested must call Suzanne LaCroix at 283-1365 or Marc Ramirez at 283-2504 before the meeting. The Observer

Notre Dame baseball players Jackie Morton and Joe Dobbs will be the guests on "Speaking of Sports" when it airs tonight at 8 p.m. on WWFM 64. Listeners may call in with questions and comments at 239-6400. The Observer

An Tostal mud volleyball signups will be held today through Thursday from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. in the An Student office in Lafortune. Each team must consist of at least two players, two of whom must be women. For more information, call Janet Tabit at 277-3967 or Matt Corrigan at 283-2465. The Observer

An Tostal innercourt water polo signups will be held between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. in the O'Shaughnessy Hall lobby. A $3 registration fee will be collected with team rosters. The Observer

Classifieds

NOTICES

TYPING CALL CHRISS435997
TYPING AVAILABLE 2397000
WORDPROCESSING 2397091

TYPING

JAMIE ROGER 640-7932

PRO TYPE
Over 10 yrs. experience in legal and sporting. Available anytime. 239-5983.

West Processing: Call Annette at 283-3800 from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. weekdays and 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday.

RURAL COMPUTER CENTER
NOTARY & ACCESSORIES
FOR MACINTOSH, IBM SELECTORS
SUPERB PROD AGAIN ALL SOFTWARE
20-30% OFF 336 MARYWADE AVE
20-30% OFF

TYPING: Two pages, regular rate, longer rates negotiable. Maresa Jones. 226-7878. Call her after 9 p.m., or before 9 a.m. weekdays. 239-7714.

FOR RENT

WHERE HAVE YOU BEEN!!! 1/2 BLDG. NO EASTERN RESTRICTIONS. Call 237-4134.

WANTED

PLEASE SHARE YOUR GOALS!!! Contact for details.

LOST/FOUND

HELLO FROM IRELAND!! Need to reac tch my son.his name is hooked. He is 23. I am in the town of Enfield in Ireland. My son lives in New York. I need to hear from him. If you are calling in under the same name please let me know.

FOR SALE

THE OBSERVER NOTRE DAME OFFICE. Located on the third floor of Lafortune Student Center, accepts classified advertising from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. The Observer Notre Dame office, located on the third floor of Haggie College Center, accepts classifieds from 12:30 p.m. until 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. For more information, call 234-8465.

INTER-HALL BASEBALL UMPIRES are being sought by NVA. Anyone interested in umpiring at the baseball field. The Observer

Cheerleading applications due by 5 p.m. Thursday in the basketball office inside Gate 1 of the ACC. The Observer

The Observer Notre Dame office, located on the third floor of Lafortune Student Center, accepts classified advertising from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. The Observer Notre Dame office, located on the third floor of Haggie College Center, accepts classifieds from 12:30 p.m. until 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. For more information, call 234-8465.

An interhall lacrosse league is being formed by NVA. The deadline for entries is Monday. For more information, call the NVA office at 239-6100. The Observer

The Irish Spring Ruls, road races of six and three miles, will be held on the Notre Dame campus on Sunday, April 20. Winners will be awarded to all finishers, and a trophy will be awarded to the top finisher in each of the five divisions of men's undergraduates, women's undergraduates, men's graduate, women's graduate, and faculty and staff. An entry fee of $4 is due by Friday, April 12, in the NVA office. The Observer

An interhall tennis tournament will be held by NVA on Saturday, April 20. Each hall may enter two singles players and two doubles teams; no player may play both singles and doubles. Team members for the single-elimination tournament are due by Friday, April 12, in the NVA office. The Observer

The Pepsi 10k pep race will be held Sunday on South Bend on April 20. Runners can compete for a chance to participate in the national championships in May. For more information, call 234-8465.

INTER-HALL BASEBALL UMPIRES are being sought by NVA. Anyone interested in umpiring at the baseball field. The Observer

Cheerleading applications due by 5 p.m. Thursday in the basketball office inside Gate 1 of the ACC. The Observer

Forsale

An Tostal mud volleyball signups will be held today through Thursday from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. in the An Student office in Lafortune. Each team must consist of at least two players, two of whom must be women. For more information, call Janet Tabit at 277-3967 or Matt Corrigan at 283-2465. The Observer

An Tostal innercourt water polo signups will be held between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. in the O'Shaughnessy Hall lobby. A $3 registration fee will be collected with team rosters. The Observer

FOR SALE

The Observer Notre Dame office, located on the third floor of Lafortune Student Center, accepts classified advertising from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. The Observer Notre Dame office, located on the third floor of Haggie College Center, accepts classifieds from 12:30 p.m. until 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. For more information, call 234-8465.

The Observer Notre Dame office, located on the third floor of Lafortune Student Center, accepts classified advertising from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. The Observer Notre Dame office, located on the third floor of Haggie College Center, accepts classifieds from 12:30 p.m. until 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. For more information, call 234-8465.

FOR SALE

The Observer Notre Dame office, located on the third floor of Lafortune Student Center, accepts classified advertising from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. The Observer Notre Dame office, located on the third floor of Haggie College Center, accepts classifieds from 12:30 p.m. until 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. For more information, call 234-8465.

THE IRISH SPRING RULS, road races of six and three miles, will be held on the Notre Dame campus on Sunday, April 20. Winners will be awarded to all finishers, and a trophy will be awarded to the top finisher in each of the five divisions of men's undergraduates, women's undergraduates, men's graduate, women's graduate, and faculty and staff. An entry fee of $4 is due by Friday, April 12, in the NVA office. The Observer

An interhall tennis tournament will be held by NVA on Saturday, April 20. Each hall may enter two singles players and two doubles teams; no player may play both singles and doubles. Team members for the single-elimination tournament are due by Friday, April 12, in the NVA office. The Observer

The Pepsi 10k pep race will be held Sunday on South Bend on April 20. Runners can compete for a chance to participate in the national championships in May. For more information, call 234-8465.

INTER-HALL BASEBALL UMPIRES are being sought by NVA. Anyone interested in umpiring at the baseball field. The Observer

Cheerleading applications due by 5 p.m. Thursday in the basketball office inside Gate 1 of the ACC. The Observer

FOR SALE

The Observer Notre Dame office, located on the third floor of Lafortune Student Center, accepts classified advertising from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. The Observer Notre Dame office, located on the third floor of Haggie College Center, accepts classifieds from 12:30 p.m. until 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. For more information, call 234-8465.
second-year manager Davey Johnson has kids like Calvin Schiraldi, Roger McDowell, Rick Aguilera, and Randy Myers in camp to pitch. Johnson is in his third season as manager, but like any other manager, he will jump at the chance if one of the pitching candidates does not live up to expectations. The Pirates have a strong pitching staff, headlined by Nolan Ryan and Rick Sutcliffe, who have been replaced by Brock, Sax, Anderson, and Dan Gladden is one of the brightest in California to fold up like an accordion. Mike Schmidt has been replaced by Brock, Sax, Anderson, and Dan Gladden is one of the brightest in California to fold up like an accordion. Mike Schmidt has been replaced by Brock, Sax, Anderson, and Dan Gladden is one of the brightest in California to fold up like an accordion. Mike Schmidt has been replaced by Brock, Sax, Anderson, and Dan Gladden is one of the brightest in California to fold up like an accordion. Mike Schmidt has been replaced by Brock, Sax, Anderson, and Dan Gladd
Saint Mary’s tennis team has no problems with Wisconsin focus in action over weekend

By PAM CUSICK
Sports Writer

The Saint Mary’s tennis team opened its season in Marquette this past weekend by defeating Marquette University 7-2, and by shutting out the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee 6-0. The Belles current spring record, following the dual match this weekend, is now 2-0.

In singles competition against Marquette, the Belles split sets in three matches, while winning both of four matches from Sophomore Mary Carol Hall led the Belles at No. 1 with an impressive 6-2, 6-2 win. Second singles player Deanna Broadnax broke up a tie in the second set back in the first two, 6-1, 6-1 to claim the victory. Meanwhile, third singles player Kristen Beck easily overcame her opponent by a score of 6-1, 6-3, to keep pace with sophomore Caroline Cardenas who also won her No. 2, 6-2, 4-6 set. In tiebreaker matches, both singles players Renee Yang and sixth singles player Kate McDevitt were unable to bounce back against tough opponents, falling 5-7, 6-4, 7-6, 7-6, 6-3, 6-4, respectively.

The Belles doubles teams swept Marquette by winning all their matches. Laverie and Hall paired up to win 6-0, 6-2, and the Zern and Yang duo worked on their opponents 6-2, 6-0, 6-2 in three sets. The Beck and McDevitt doubles team, meanwhile, was able to wrap up the victorious day with a 7-6, 6-7, 7-5 victory.

“Marquette beat us in the fall and it was nice to beat them,” said Head Coach and Athletic Director Jonet Nester.

Against Wisconsin-Milwaukee, the Belles were able to shut out all of their singles and doubles matches with ease. Hall won a shut out 6-0, 6-0, 1-0, while teammate Laverie dominated her opponent, 6-2, 6-1 in the second singles slot. Third singles player Beck rallied to win 6-2, 7-5, and Zern slammed her way to a 6-1, 6-0 at No. 4. To complete the sweep, Yang overcame her opponent, 6-4, 3-6, 5-0, and McDevitt matched the feat 6-1, 6-5, to win the number five and six slots.

In doubles play, the Belles continued to smash the opponents. Laverie and Hall earned a 6-1, 6-4 victory, while the duo of Yang and Zern swept their opponent, 6-2, 6-1 in the second doubles slot. This identical score was matched by teammates Beck and McDevitt to complete the doubles sweep.

The Belles’ strong performances against Marquette and the University of Wisconsin enabled the team to walk away proudly from the dual meet experience.

“They (Wisconsin) were not as strong as us, and we performed well,” concluded Nester.

Also, we were psyched-up after beating Marquette.

Things have started out well for the Belles this season, after a successful fall season which saw the squad qualify for the Nationals. A post-season tournament to be held on May 20-21 at both singles and three passengers.

“Looking forward to a strong, successful spring season,” notes Nester.
Men's tennis team rolls to easy win over Valpo, takes on Butler today

By SEAN MURPHY
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame men's tennis team, which scored an impressive 9-0 victory over Valparaiso on Saturday, will play host to Butler University today at Courtney Tennis Courts. Even tougher competition will follow the Butler match, as three Big Ten teams will challenge the 9-0 Irish.

Saturday's rout of an overmatched Valparaiso squad did not see a single match go farther than the minimum two sets. Although, obviously, Valparaiso could not give the Irish the toughest competition, they did give the young Notre Dame tennis team a chance to gain some much-needed experience.

"Our lack of experience has hurt us this year," says head coach Tom Fallon. "This team needs as much competition as possible."

Only two players - junior captains Joe Nelligan and senior Mike Gibbons - of the six regulars on the squad have lettered previously.

The tennis team will have the chance to gain even more experience, however, as they take on four teams in the next eight days. Following today's match with Butler, Notre Dame will face Indiana at home, then Ohio State and Michigan on the road.

"Big Ten schools are always tough," says Fallon. "Thursday's match against Indiana is big for us. They have a very strong program this year."

Gibbons, a three-year letter winner, agrees with his coach's assessment.

"This is the important part of our schedule," says Gibbons. "Last year, we lost 5-4 to Ohio State and 5-4 to Michigan. We would definitely like to beat them this year."

This year's Irish team consists of Nelligan and Gibbons in the one and two singles spots, respectively. Freshman Dan Walsh earned the number three singles position this season, while senior Dave Obert follows in the number four slot. Sophomore Tom Grier is number five this year, followed by another freshman, Paul Daggs, in the sixth and final singles position. These six players also make up Notre Dame's three doubles teams.

Because of the transfer of sophomore Paul Ghidotti, who was the number three singles player and a doubles player as well last semester, the Irish doubles teams have had to be repaired.

"Doubles was a problem last year because of (Ghidotti's) transfer," says Gibbons. "This is the important part of our schedule." The Irish doubles teams have had to be repaired.

"This is the important part of our schedule," says Gibbons. "Last year, we lost 5-4 to Ohio State and 5-4 to Michigan. We would definitely like to beat them this year."

This is the important part of our schedule," says Gibbons. "Last year, we lost 5-4 to Ohio State and 5-4 to Michigan. We would definitely like to beat them this year."

Villanova celebrates win

Associated Press

VILLANOVA, Pa. - Wild cheering erupted from dormitories, rolls of toilet paper arched across the sky and firecrackers exploded last night at Villanova upset top-ranked Georgetown for the NCAA basketball championship.

"I'm ecstatic. I knew they were going to do it!" said freshman Doug Camburn as he was covered with a spray of beer. "This is the world's suppose to be a dry campus, but this is amazing!" If this is college life, this is great!"

In five minutes after the final buzzer in Lexington, Ky., signaled the 66-64 win and Villanova's first basketball championship, at least 500 students filled the quadrangle in尖叫ing, their screams echoing with rock music blasting from dorm windows and honking car horns.

A chant of "Eddie is God" went up throughout the Roman Catholic campus as a homage to tribute to 6-9 senior center Ed Pinckney was illuminated in a dorm window.

"Every expert was proved wrong," said junior Cedric Vaughn of Los Angeles. "I'm so glad I went to Villanova. This is the world's greatest university!"

The celebration will continue today when the team arrives at Philadelphia International Airport and heads downtown for a noon parade and ceremony.

Sobering Advice can save a life

Think Before You Drink  Before You Drive

SUMMER STORAGE SPACE

(5 x 10 spaces available)

Call 259-0335 to reserve space self lock storage of McKinley

816 East McKinley

Mishawaka

Security Patrol Checks

Off Campus Seniors

Pick up your senior month booklets

April 2nd & April 3d from 11:00-1:00 at the South Dining Hall or 5:00-7:00 in LaFortune at the Ombud Desk
Offensive coaches busy reading 1985 Notre Dame attack

By MARTY BURNS
Sports Writer

The remaining three weeks of spring football will be critical to the construction of the Notre Dame offense. In fact, if things go well, the Irish could hit new heights this year in offensive production.

The foundation of any success that occurs, though, will not rest solely on the arm of quarterback Steve Beuerlein or the legs of tailback Allen Pinkett.

Much of success will depend on the five architects of the Notre Dame offense—the coaching staff. These men are Offensive Coordinator Mike Stock, Assistant Head Coach Mal Moore, quarterback coach Ron Hudson, and offensive line coaches Carl Selmer and Jim Higgins.

From all indications, the Irish of 1985 season will be Stock's third season of duty under Faust, but it promises to be a unique challenge in that he will be serving as offensive coordinator as well as pass receivers coach. Last year's offensive coordinator, Ron Hudson, gave up the duty to concentrate more closely on the young quarterbacks.

In spring practice, we're just looking for their development, says Hudson. "We're not asking them to do too much. We're just trying to get the idea of the basics across." That will be easier to explain, but not simple itself.

"Quite simply, I only watch the quarterbacks," says Hudson. "We're making sure they're going the right way. We're getting them into the personality of this team." Stock, who spent six years as an Irish assistant under Ara Parseghian, was one coach who took a coaching job in the USFL. The Northwestern graduate returned to Notre Dame a year later, however, in the capacity of pass receivers coach under Faust.

"I've been doing this for more than one season," says Stock. "I'm comfortable enough so that they can be comfortable enough. When I first came here, I was a little bit nervous. But I'm more comfortable now."

"We've got to move things along slowly for we don't want to put too much on them too fast," says Hudson.

"But they have all played well so far. They certainly still have a bit to go, but they are coming along." Selmer has come a long way, himself. A veteran of over 25 years in the college coaching ranks, he has served as the head coach of Miami (Fla.) and as an offensive coach for the University of Nebraska. His title at Notre Dame is Head Offensive Line Coach, but he realizes that the work of his fellow line coach, Higgins, is just as important.

"(Head Offensive Line Coach) is just a fancy title," Selmer says. "Basically, we divide the line up into such units that I take the strong-side players, while Coach Higgins takes the quick side. I deal with the strong tackles, the strong guards, and the right ends when they work on blocking."

In spring practice, we're just working on the basics, and trying to fill in the gaps left from graduation," says Selmer. "We're working on the offensive blocking schemes for the offense, Selmer will be attempting to find a replacement for all America guard Larry Williams this spring.

"In spring practice, we're just working on the basics, and trying to fill in the gaps left from graduation," says Stock. "We're working on the offensive blocking schemes for the offense, Selmer will be attempting to find a replacement for all America guard Larry Williams this spring.

"There is an awful lot of experience among the coaches here, on both sides of the ball," says Stock. "Everyone's input is a benefit, and that mixture of ideas will be filtered into the personality of this team."
The Daily Crossword

ACROSS
1 Island east of Zion 5 Blind as — 9 Prosperous period 13 A bit open 14 Red herrings 16 — maker 17 An amur 20 — Hawer 21 Whale 22 — Fjords 23 Greco or Martin 24 Can — (music direction) 25 Hangar areas 26 They give up 32 Sites 33 Long unused 35 Randall or — Rision 36 Fasten in one's cap 37 Verilaw 38 — Gart a Secret 42 Bird feed 45 Lachen for 46 A Fury 50 Do something 52 Blame — 55 Thrive 57 Ornament 59 — Pound or Stone 60 Then or Bishop 61 Harbor craft 62 — frame of mind

DOWN
14 — matra or — Mauser 15 Red herrings 16 — Stuffed 17 An arum 18 Revered 19 — Material 20 — Marks 21 Marauder 22 Site of Brig 23 Garret 24 Flops 25 — House 26 Site of Brig 27 — Hayes Healy Lobby 28 — Baked sole with rice dressing

Monday's Solution

Y O U  S M J , W H A T ' S T H A T ' S 60 Church area 59 Tug 58 Pound or Stone 57 Ornam ent 53 Do-all 49 Lachen for 45 Exits 43 Reveille mar 42 Wild Bill 40 Odd 38 Feathers in 37 Verifiable 36 F eath ers in 35 Randall or 34 Go bad 33 Long unused 32 Silva 31 Man the helm 30 P ostm a n ' s 29 A ctor Flynn 28 C ollege sites 27 Extend an 26 Site of Brig 25 Garret 24 Flops 23 Garret 22 Site of Brig 21 — House 20 — House 19 — Hayes Healy Lobby 18 Revered 17 An arum 16 — mate 15 Red herrings 14 — marks 13 A bit open 12 Willy and 11 N eglec. 10 W ine flask 9 P rosperous 8 Pipe join 7 Nov ember 6 — Mary 5 —(hero) 4 — Trojans 3 — Tempo 2 — E-mail 1 — W oman

TV Tonight

8:00 p.m. 22 NewsCenter 22 23 Love Connection 28 Newswatch 28
11:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 22 Moonlighting 22 12:30 a.m. 28 Late Night With David Letterman 28
11:00 p.m. 22 Limeshine 22 12:00 a.m. 28 Late Night With David Letterman 28
10:00 p.m. 22 Moonlighting 22 12:30 a.m. 28 Late Night With David Letterman 28
9:00 p.m. 22 Movie A.D. (Pt. III) 22 23 Movie A.D. (Pt. III) 22 34 Waiting For Guffman 34 28 Three's A Crowd 28
8:00 p.m. 28 Harry Belafonte 28 11:00 p.m. 28 Moonlighting 28 2:30 a.m.
7:00 p.m. 28 Moonlighting 28 2:30 a.m. 28 NewsCenter 28
6:30 p.m. 28 Moonlighting 28 2:30 a.m. 28 Nightwatch 28
6:00 p.m. 28 Moonlighting 28 2:30 a.m. 28 NewsCenter 28
5:00 p.m. 28 Moonlighting 28 2:30 a.m. 28 NewsCenter 28
4:00 p.m. 28 Moonlighting 28 2:30 a.m. 28 Nightwatch 28
3:00 p.m. 28 Moonlighting 28 2:30 a.m. 28 NewsCenter 28
2:00 p.m. 28 Moonlighting 28 2:30 a.m. 28 NewsCenter 28
1:00 p.m. 28 Moonlighting 28 2:30 a.m. 28 NewsCenter 28
12:00 p.m. 28 Moonlighting 28 2:30 a.m. 28 NewsCenter 28
11:00 p.m. 22 Moonlighting 22 12:00 a.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
10:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 11:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
9:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 10:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
8:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 9:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
7:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 8:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
6:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 7:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
5:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 6:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
4:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 5:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
3:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 4:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
2:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 3:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
1:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 2:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
11:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 12:00 a.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
10:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 11:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
9:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 10:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
8:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 9:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
7:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 8:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
6:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 7:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
5:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 6:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
4:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 5:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
3:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 4:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
2:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 3:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
1:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 2:00 p.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
11:00 a.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 12:00 a.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
10:00 a.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 11:00 a.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
9:00 a.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 10:00 a.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
8:00 a.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 9:00 a.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
7:00 a.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 8:00 a.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
6:00 a.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 7:00 a.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
5:00 a.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 6:00 a.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
4:00 a.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 5:00 a.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
3:00 a.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 4:00 a.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
2:00 a.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 3:00 a.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
1:00 a.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 2:00 a.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
12:00 a.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22 1:00 a.m. 22 Late Night With David Letterman 22
You Can Buy This Baby A Lifetime!

Custom-designed Imprinted Sportswear
T-shirts * Pullovers * Sweatshirts * Polos * Sweaters * More
SE corner of LaFortune Basement (Below the Deli)
OPEN MWF 2:30-4:30 T T 3:30-5:30
239-5157

Formerly the N.D. T-Shirt Shop

IRISH GARDENS * IRISH GARDENS
FOR ALL YOUR FLORAL NEEDS
MON - SAT 12:30-5:30 or
DIAL 283-4242
Order early for corsages and wrapped flowers
Sports

Can anyone beat the Hoyas? Better believe it!

Associated Press

LEXINGTON, Ky. - Coach Rollie Massimino said unraveled Villanova would have to play a perfect game at No. 1 Georgetown to keep the Hoyas from winning their second straight national championship.

Ralph Steinmeyer, a three-time All American, Patrick Ewing to a title in his final game. The 7-0 center was voted player of the game and was kept from dominating the action.

"You can't be intimidated in a game like this," said Villanova's Ed Pinckney, who battled Ewing in the pivot all night. "It was the last game of the year - of my career. I had to play my hardest.

Villanova had won 17 straight games, and completed the season with a 35-3 record and a 121-23 record during Ewing's four-year career. Pat has beaten twice in the Big East during the regular Big East season, 52-50 in overtime and 57-50, and Georgetown entered the game a nine-point favorite.

Sorry about that, Patrick Ewing, but the Hoyas were going to win. "Can anybody beat Georgetown?" by knocking off the Hoyas, 66-64, last night in Lexington, Ky. Led by seniors

Donnie McClain, Ed Pinckney and Gary Lumpkin, the Hoyas whipped the Wildcats in the NCAA Tournament by making 79 percent of their shots from the field.

Michael Sullivan
Sports Writer

Some predictions for the 1985 baseball season

Michael Sullivan
Sports Writer

AL East

During the past several years, most of the teams in the American League East have been cursed at one time or another by knocking off the Hoyas, 66-64, last night in Lexington, Ky. Led by seniors

Donnie McClain, Ed Pinckney and Gary Lumpkin, the Hoyas whipped the Wildcats in the NCAA Tournament by making 79 percent of their shots from the field.

Michael Sullivan
Sports Writer

Can anyone beat the Hoyas? Better believe it!

Associated Press

LEXINGTON, Ky. - Coach Rollie Massimino said unraveled Villanova would have to play a perfect game at No. 1 Georgetown to keep the Hoyas from winning their second straight national championship.

Ralph Steinmeyer, a three-time All American, Patrick Ewing to a title in his final game. The 7-0 center was voted player of the game and was kept from dominating the action.

"You can't be intimidated in a game like this," said Villanova's Ed Pinckney, who battled Ewing in the pivot all night. "It was the last game of the year - of my career. I had to play my hardest.

Villanova had won 17 straight games, and completed the season with a 35-3 record and a 121-23 record during Ewing's four-year career. Pat has beaten twice in the Big East during the regular Big East season, 52-50 in overtime and 57-50, and Georgetown entered the game a nine-point favorite.

Sorry about that, Patrick Ewing, but the Hoyas were going to win. "Can anybody beat Georgetown?" by knocking off the Hoyas, 66-64, last night in Lexington, Ky. Led by seniors

Donnie McClain, Ed Pinckney and Gary Lumpkin, the Hoyas whipped the Wildcats in the NCAA Tournament by making 79 percent of their shots from the field.

Michael Sullivan
Sports Writer

Some predictions for the 1985 baseball season

Michael Sullivan
Sports Writer

AL East

During the past several years, most of the teams in the American League East have been cursed at one time or another by knocking off the Hoyas, 66-64, last night in Lexington, Ky. Led by seniors

Donnie McClain, Ed Pinckney and Gary Lumpkin, the Hoyas whipped the Wildcats in the NCAA Tournament by making 79 percent of their shots from the field.

Michael Sullivan
Sports Writer

Can anyone beat the Hoyas? Better believe it!

Associated Press

LEXINGTON, Ky. - Coach Rollie Massimino said unraveled Villanova would have to play a perfect game at No. 1 Georgetown to keep the Hoyas from winning their second straight national championship.

Ralph Steinmeyer, a three-time All American, Patrick Ewing to a title in his final game. The 7-0 center was voted player of the game and was kept from dominating the action.

"You can't be intimidated in a game like this," said Villanova's Ed Pinckney, who battled Ewing in the pivot all night. "It was the last game of the year - of my career. I had to play my hardest.

Villanova had won 17 straight games, and completed the season with a 35-3 record and a 121-23 record during Ewing's four-year career. Pat has beaten twice in the Big East during the regular Big East season, 52-50 in overtime and 57-50, and Georgetown entered the game a nine-point favorite.

Sorry about that, Patrick Ewing, but the Hoyas were going to win. "Can anybody beat Georgetown?" by knocking off the Hoyas, 66-64, last night in Lexington, Ky. Led by seniors

Donnie McClain, Ed Pinckney and Gary Lumpkin, the Hoyas whipped the Wildcats in the NCAA Tournament by making 79 percent of their shots from the field.