Term extensions unconstitutional; constitution void

By MARK S. PANKOWSKI

A five-member Judicial Council committee ruled early this morning that "the extension of the 1984-85 senate term was unconstitutional," and therefore any action taken by the senate after April 1 is invalid.

Because the new student government constitution was passed by the senate April 1, like other proposals passed after that date, it is invalid. The Judicial Council committee meeting became necessary Monday after Student Body President-elect Healy sent a letter to Judicial Co-ordinator, Tim McDowell, asking him to investigate the "constitutionality of the recent senate's vote to extend their terms." If the senate's action was not constitutional, Healy requested "that all actions since April 1 be nullified.

McDowell, acting in line with the constitution, "supervised the random selection" of a committee composed of Judicial Council chairpersons to "decide the issue at hand.

The issue at hand, according to Healy's letter, was whether two-thirds of the entire senate is needed to amend the constitution or if two-thirds of those senators present is sufficient.

The constitution states that "An amendment to this constitution may be proposed by a two-thirds vote of all the voting members of the Student Senate.

The senate had voted on March 25 to extend their terms, thereby amending the constitution, by a margin of 10-1. This was two-thirds of those present but one vote less than required by the constitution.

President Rob Bertino, acting according to the precedent set during the year, accepted the senate's vote, thus giving the senate an additional two weeks to finish their work on the restructuring of student government.

"(The two-thirds of members present) is the way I've been interpreting it all year and no one ever questioned that interpretation," said Bertrons, after learning of Healy's petition Monday night. "If nobody questioned it then, then they shouldn't question it now."

In his letter to McDowell, Healy stated, "I feel we are doing a great disservice to the student body by making and breaking rules constantly. The senate is bound by the constitution, not vice-versa.

Bertino said the senate extended their terms "basically because if we had not extended our terms there would have been no senate to take over as the constitution was amended. It was more or less a formula. We could have easily said that we're not going to extend our terms and spend the new constitution through.

This (petition) will prevent there being an election this week for new senators. It'll allow the newly elected people to come in and assume office, sit down, and discuss what the role of student government is," said Healy. "It'll give us the time to find that role and implement something that can facilitate what we are doing, and vice-versa.

"Many people will ask, "Why bring this up now?" said Healy, referring to his filing of his petition one week before the new constitution was to take effect. "(Not bringing this up earlier) was my first major mistake as an elected official and I do apologize to everyone involved."

I don't think it's time to leave this issue hanging," he said. "I was thinking of this over Easter break and I thought the best thing to do is to see VOTE, page 8

Teaching the basics is urged for philosophy and theology

By TOM MOWLE

Senior Staff Reporter

Tonight at 8, Benjamin Hooks will lecture in the Library Auditorium on what his host describes as "far-reaching problems that everyone must face."

Hooks is the executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. His visit is part of this year's Black Cultural Arts Festival. Todd Young, the member of the Student Union Activities Board who invited Hooks, said the NAACP director will speak on "the black history of unemployment, poverty, and job discrimination. How these problems are being dealt with and how they should be dealt with."

Sociology Professor Joseph Scott advised all students to attend because "enlightenment is better than ignorance."

While recognizing that great strides have been made in this country toward equality and equal rights, Scott noted that there is still a long way to go.

Hooks' lecture, he said, will "enlighten the audience about the imperfections still in our system and the consequences if these problems are not addressed."

Scott said "the Reagan Administration and the Civil Rights Committee Invites Hooks, page 3

Bandits cleanup an impromptu mess. The donkey was, however, not offensive to the scoring sense as the Bandits lose to Revenge of the Fun Bunch, 21-8.

NAACP Director Hooks to lecture about black problems, solutions

By TOM MOWLE

Senior Staff Reporter

Tonight at 8, Benjamin Hooks will lecture in the Library Auditorium on what his host describes as "far-reaching problems that everyone must face."

Hooks is the executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. His visit is part of this year's Black Cultural Arts Festival. Todd Young, the member of the Student Union Activities Board who invited Hooks, said the NAACP director will speak on "the black history of unemployment, poverty, and job discrimination. How these problems are being dealt with and how they should be dealt with."

Sociology Professor Joseph Scott advised all students to attend because "enlightenment is better than ignorance."

While recognizing that great strides have been made in this country toward equality and equal rights, Scott noted that there is still a long way to go.

Hooks' lecture, he said, will "enlighten the audience about the imperfections still in our system and the consequences if these problems are not addressed."

Scott said "the Reagan Administration and the Civil Rights Committee Invites Hooks, page 3
Weather

Yuppie versus Yuppie: differences are few

What does the term "Yuppie" mean?

"Yuppie" has become as synonymous with Young Urban Professionals as it is a general term which refers to the frame of mind held by a group of upwardly-mobile, predominantly white, young adult college graduates. Many people who consider themselves to be Yuppies have furthered their education by earning Masters degrees in law, medicine or business. Young urban professionals define themselves as beings free of high income jobs and "smart" portions of income generating assets.

"Yuppie" was born out of the similar term "Yippie," which was also used by young people to define themselves. The Yuppies reached the peak of their popularity during the 1960s. There are many similarities between the people that consider themselves Yuppies and the people that considered themselves Yuppies in their heyday. Yuppies could be seen in public places wearing red-in-died shirts. Today, Yuppies can be seen wearing red-died ties, usually silk.

Yuppies used to wear multi-colored headbands and lovebeads. Yuppies wear multi-colored Walkmans and the obligatory connecting cords. Yuppies protest for peace and racial equality. Yuppies protest against South African apartheid. Where do the Yuppies come from?

They come from universities like Notre Dame and colleges like Saint Mary's all across America. They started out like any other student, but through peer comparison and the power of the Yuppie-targeted media they adopted the attitudes and values of the Yuppie.

Like the Yuppies, the Yuppies of the 60s came from centers of intellectualization. They, too, were influenced by their peers and the media they adopted the attitudes and values of the Yuppies. The Yuppie-targeted media the Yuppies were exposed to are the same.

When did Yuppie come into existence?

There is no definite date for the birth of the Yuppie. Yuppies have infiltrated American society discreetly. The advertising and entertainment industries have only gradually changed the younger audience as their primary target. But if the change was to be attributed to one event it would have to be the release of the film, "The Big Chill."

The Vietnam War will be the topic of a lecture by Charles Tull, professor of history at Indiana University tonight at 7:30 in Student Union. Charles Tull, this month marks the tenth anniversary of the end of the Vietnam War, and Tull's lecture will be an appraisal of the war after ten years. Tull holds a doctorate from Notre Dame and is the author of numerous publications dealing with American history. The lecture is sponsored by Saint Mary's Department of History and is open to the public at no charge.

Hatha Yoga will be taught in a class at Pro Health of Saint Joseph's Hospital, Theatre. The class will meet for six consecutive Thursdays from 7 to 8:30 p.m., and will be taught by Dorothy Chamblee. Preregistration is required. For more information, call Pro Health at 232-3504.

Join America's Leading Pizza Chain

We have full and part-time positions available for Delivery Drivers

Drivers must be 18 with a valid driver's license, proof of insurance and reliable transportation. You can make between $3.35 and $8.00 an hour in wages, tips and commission.

277-2662

Between 2 p.m and 8 p.m.

APPLY:

1381/5 Dixie Way, Roseland
2406 Schumacher, Mish.
315 Lincolnway West, Mish.
3608 W. Southern, So. Bend

The Observer

Today's issue was produced by:

Design Editor: Andy Nall
Design Assistant: Alix Peltzer
Layout Artist: Matthew Wood
Photographers: Paul Keister

The Observer (USPS 599 2400) is published Monday through Friday and on the 1st and 15th of each month, except during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is published by the students of Saint Mary's College, a Roman Catholic, Catholic University, Notre Dame, Indiana. The editorial offices of The Observer are located in the same building as Saint Mary's College. Subscriptions to The Observer do not constitute membership by seeing The Observer, P.O. Box 716, Notre Dame, Indiana.

The Observer is a member of the Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.
The Observer

Classes

continued from page 1
tion era," according to the curriculum committee's final report.

The second course focuses on "a single doctrinal theme, or cluster of themes in order to see how the total

Corpus of Christian thought and life

must be approved by the department's final report.

The theology changes, similar to theology department. "I found a
great number of students whose
background was poor, particularly
in Church history. They also had a lot of misinformation, which is very
harder to cope with than no information at all," he said. A quiz given in an introductory theology course showed that 11 out of 32 students did not know what Augustine was,
and some students said Mark, Peter,
and Revelations were books of the Old Testament.

In May 1983, the theology department formed an ad hoc committee chaired by Weaver, to review the content of the two-course theology requirement. The committee was made up of faculty that taught the Introduction to Theology course.

The committee submitted a proposal for curriculum change to the ology faculty on Nov. 14, 1983.

"What I found when teaching the
introductory theology course was that
the background of the students was
very uneven," said Ellen Weaver, assistant chairman of the
theology department. "I found a
great number of students whose
background was poor, particularly
in Church history. They also had a lot of misinformation, which is very
harder to cope with than no information at all." A quiz given in an introductory theology course showed
that 11 out of 32 students did not know what Augustine was, and some
students said Mark, Peter, and
Revelations were books of the Old Testament.

The College of Science believes
that dealing with the study of Scripture
and theology as a framework for
theology courses that suit their interests, "he said.

Theology changes, similar to
the proposed philosophy changes
arose because students seemed to
lack basic knowledge of the history
and doctrine of the Catholic faith.

"What I found when teaching the
introductory theology course was that
the background of the students was
very uneven," said Ellen
Weaver, assistant chairman of the
theology department. "I found a
great number of students whose
background was poor, particularly
in Church history. They also had a lot of misinformation, which is very
harder to cope with than no information at all." A quiz given in an introductory theology course showed
that 11 out of 32 students did not know what Augustine was, and some
students said Mark, Peter, and
Revelations were books of the Old Testament.

The College of Science believes
that dealing with the study of Scripture
and theology as a framework for
theology courses that suit their interests, "he said.

Theology changes, similar to
the proposed philosophy changes
arose because students seemed to
lack basic knowledge of the history
and doctrine of the Catholic faith.

"What I found when teaching the
introductory theology course was that
the background of the students was
very uneven," said Ellen
Weaver, assistant chairman of the
theology department. "I found a
great number of students whose
background was poor, particularly
in Church history. They also had a lot of misinformation, which is very
harder to cope with than no information at all." A quiz given in an introductory theology course showed
that 11 out of 32 students did not know what Augustine was, and some
students said Mark, Peter, and
Revelations were books of the Old Testament.

The College of Science believes
that dealing with the study of Scripture
and theology as a framework for
theology courses that suit their interests, "he said.

Theology changes, similar to
the proposed philosophy changes
arose because students seemed to
lack basic knowledge of the history
and doctrine of the Catholic faith.

"What I found when teaching the
introductory theology course was that
the background of the students was
very uneven," said Ellen
Weaver, assistant chairman of the
theology department. "I found a
great number of students whose
background was poor, particularly
in Church history. They also had a lot of misinformation, which is very
harder to cope with than no information at all." A quiz given in an introductory theology course showed
that 11 out of 32 students did not know what Augustine was, and some
students said Mark, Peter, and
Revelations were books of the Old Testament.

The College of Science believes
that dealing with the study of Scripture
and theology as a framework for
theology courses that suit their interests, "he said.

Theology changes, similar to
the proposed philosophy changes
arose because students seemed to
lack basic knowledge of the history
and doctrine of the Catholic faith.

"What I found when teaching the
introductory theology course was that
the background of the students was
very uneven," said Ellen
Weaver, assistant chairman of the
theology department. "I found a
great number of students whose
background was poor, particularly
in Church history. They also had a lot of misinformation, which is very
harder to cope with than no information at all." A quiz given in an introductory theology course showed
that 11 out of 32 students did not know what Augustine was, and some
students said Mark, Peter, and
Revelations were books of the Old Testament.

The College of Science believes
that dealing with the study of Scripture
and theology as a framework for
theology courses that suit their interests, "he said.

Theology changes, similar to
the proposed philosophy changes
arose because students seemed to
lack basic knowledge of the history
and doctrine of the Catholic faith.

"What I found when teaching the
introductory theology course was that
the background of the students was
very uneven," said Ellen
Weaver, assistant chairman of the
theology department. "I found a
great number of students whose
background was poor, particularly
in Church history. They also had a lot of misinformation, which is very
harder to cope with than no information at all." A quiz given in an introductory theology course showed
that 11 out of 32 students did not know what Augustine was, and some
students said Mark, Peter, and
Revelations were books of the Old Testament.

The College of Science believes
that dealing with the study of Scripture
and theology as a framework for
theology courses that suit their interests, "he said.

Theology changes, similar to
the proposed philosophy changes
arose because students seemed to
lack basic knowledge of the history
and doctrine of the Catholic faith.

"What I found when teaching the
introductory theology course was that
the background of the students was
very uneven," said Ellen
Weaver, assistant chairman of the
theology department. "I found a
great number of students whose
background was poor, particularly
in Church history. They also had a lot of misinformation, which is very
harder to cope with than no information at all." A quiz given in an introductory theology course showed
that 11 out of 32 students did not know what Augustine was, and some
students said Mark, Peter, and
Revelations were books of the Old Testament.
DUI war continues

By JOHN HINES
Copy Editor

The war against drunk driving continues.

The Commons, Senior Bar and the Shamrock Business Association announced the "I'm Driving Club" Thursday morning before break.

The announcement was made during press conference at the Northeast Neighborhood Services Center on Notre Dame Avenue.

"We care. We value your business and want you to have fun while you're here. But most of all we want your drive home to be a safe one," read the sign to be placed in the Commons and Senior Bar.

Cathy David, student body vice president, coordinated the effort along with students Karen Nill and Brian Dedrick.

At happy hours "soda is often more expensive than alcoholic drinks. The idea is not to penalize anyone if they choose not to drink," explained David.

Customers of The Commons and Senior Bar who sign up for a free membership receive a membership card and an "I care" club button. By presenting the membership card, the club member serving as host driver for their friends will receive free soft drinks.

"The whole idea of the 'I'm Driving Club' is to provide a safe alternative to drinking and driving," commented Larry Tert, president of the Shamrock Business Association.

"I don't think it will change people's perception of the bars. The goodwill value is incredible," said David.

Sixty college communities in 17 states are initiating such programs, including Marquette University, which brought the program to David's attention.

It was started in Wiscoin by restaurant owners who wanted to curb traffic fatalities, noted David. So far the program has been extremely popular. "We ran out of cards the first night," commented John Bowie, manager of Senior Bar.

Including in his goals were a more interacting campus with more jointly-sponsored hall mixers and better student/faculty relations, Howard said he plans to implement HPC role which will specifically seek to improve hall life and govern- ment and to leave campuswide con- cerns primarily for the senate to address. However, Howard does plan to continue the HPC lecture series which was implemented under immediate past chairman Chris Teybjak's council. With the group of newly elected presidents, Howard hopes to also implement a HPC ser- vice project, similar to the recently completed raffle, which benefitted the "Millions for MS" campaign.

Howard feels he is qualified to serve as HPC chairman for the com- ing year due to his previous experi- ence in student government. In addition to being a former hall presi- dient, Howard served as a member of the student senate and the govern- ment restructuring committee. Before being retired as HPC Chairman, Teybjak announced the recipient of the "Recto r of the Year" award. Sister Joris Binder, first year rector of Pasquerilla East, was named for her outstanding ac- complishments during the year.

The award is designed to re- cognize the rector who serves as an example for all other rectors.

According to past Pasquerilla East President Joanne Chavez, Sister Joris maintained "an open door policy" im- mediately upon coming to the hall, helped to form senior reflection groups, and raised hall spirit by in- troducing a senior weekend and by dressing as Santa Claus for the Pasquerilla East Christmas party.

Carroll Hall Rector Father Stephen Gibson and Pasquerilla West Rector Dickson Ward received honorable mentions.

Teybjak also announced to the group that University of Notre Dame President Father Theodore Hes- burgh is scheduled to speak on the role of leadership in avoiding nu- clear war at 7:00 PM in the Library Auditorium.

---

Merry, uh, Easter

Snow rests on a bush outside Howard Hall yester- day, and unfortunately it rested on many of us throughout the day. Much of the country received snow over the Easter weekend, which continued into the beginning of this week.

Howard elected HPC chairman; Chavez gets rector award

By SCOTT BEARBY
Assistant News Editor

Former Keenan Hall President Kevin Howard was elected to chair the Hall Presidents Council for 1985-86 at the council banquet last night.

Howard was elected by the hall representatives on the first ballot, receiving a majority of votes over former Lewis Hall President Debbie Doherty and past Alumni Hall President Arnie Whelan.

During his candidacy speech preceding elections, Howard pledged to narrow the focus of HPC and eliminate what he termed previous "overextension".

Included in his goals were a more interacting campus with more jointly-sponsored hall mixers and better student/faculty relations. Howard said he plans to implement the HPC role which will specifically seek to improve hall life and govern- ment and to leave campuswide con- cerns primarily for the senate to address. However, Howard does plan to continue the HPC lecture series which was implemented under immediate past chairman Chris Teybjak's council. With the group of newly elected presidents, Howard hopes to also implement a HPC service project, similar to the recently completed raffle, which benefitted the "Millions for MS" campaign.

Howard feels he is qualified to serve as HPC chairman for the coming year due to his previous experience in student government. In addition to being a former hall presi- dient, Howard served as a member of the student senate and the government restructuring committee.

Before being retired as HPC Chairman, Teybjak announced the recipient of the "Recto r of the Year" award. Sister Joris Binder, first year rector of Pasquerilla East, was named for her outstanding ac- complishments during the year.

The award is designed to recognize the rector who serves as an example for all other rectors.

According to past Pasquerilla East President Joanne Chavez, Sister Joris maintained "an open door policy" im- mediately upon coming to the hall, helped to form senior reflection groups, and raised hall spirit by in- troducing a senior weekend and by dressing as Santa Claus for the Pasquerilla East Christmas party.

Carroll Hall Rector Father Stephen Gibson and Pasquerilla West Rector Dickson Ward received honorable mentions.

Teybjak also announced to the group that University of Notre Dame President Father Theodore Hes- burgh is scheduled to speak on the role of leadership in avoiding nu- clear war at 7:00 PM in the Library Auditorium.
Nominations being accepted for four Notre Dame awards

By MICHAEL J. CHMIEL
Staff Reporter

Every year, numerous people in the Notre Dame community donate their time and energy for the betterment of Notre Dame and its academic and social atmosphere. Most of these people go about their business of helping others without seeking or obtaining recognition for their service to the community.

Each year, however, a select group of these people are recognized for their year-long efforts with four awards: These awards are given to the faculty member who "outstandingly and without seeking or obtaining recognition for their service to the Notre Dame community donate without seeking or obtaining their time and efforts for the betterment of the Notre Dame community.

The Reinhold Niebuhrr Award was established in 1979 by Father Theodore Hesburgh and the University Reinhold Niebuhrr was a Protestant theologian and author who concentrated his lifelong studies in the area of social justice and modern life. In September of 1979, Father Hesburgh received the Reinhold Niebuhrr Award from friends of Niebuhrr at a ceremony in New York City at the Union Theological Seminary. His initial award of $5,000 was turned over to the Notre Dame endowment to underwrite the current award of $250 presented on the area of Notre Dame campus.

This award is presented annually to the student, faculty member, or administrator whose life and writings promote or exemplify the concerns of Niebuhrr. All members of the Notre Dame community are allowed to recommend people for this award. Recommendations are reviewed by a selection committee composed of representatives from each of the colleges, the Law School, Campus Ministry, the rectors, Ladies of Notre Dame, and the student body.

Last year, John Hoek and Father Oliver Williams, both of whom are professors of Management in the College of Business, were the recipients of this award. The Grenville Clark Award was established in the 1978-79 academic year in a similar way that the Reinhold Niebuhrr Award was established On October 20, 1978, Father Hesburgh was one of three to win a Grenville Clark Prize of $5,000 given by the Grenville Clark Fund at Dartmouth College.

Father Hesburgh donated this award to the University in 1978 in order to establish a $250 award given annually on the Notre Dame campus. The award is given to the student, faculty member, or administrator whose life and writings promote or exemplify the concerns of Niebuhrr. All members of the Notre Dame community are allowed to recommend people for this award. Recommendations are reviewed by a selection committee composed of representatives from each of the colleges, the Law School, Campus Ministry, the rectors, Ladies of Notre Dame, and the student body.

The Pop Farley Award was established in September of 1976 by Father Hesburgh in order to honor the person who has distinguished himself or herself outside the classroom in matters pertaining to the religious, social, recreational, and physical welfare phases in the life of the students of the University of Notre Dame. This award is given in honor of Father John (Pop) Farley, former rector of St. Paul Hall. The citation and stipend are awarded annually.

Corby's to close, can reopen when license is sold

By CHRIS BELNARSKI
Staff Reporter

Corby's Tavern, which handed over its liquor license to the Indana Alcoholic Beverage Commission on April 3, was forced to close. The bar can reopen under the appropriate circumstances, according to a selection committee formed to lift the bar's license.

After losing an appeal in court, Corby's "Voluntarily gave the permission to the ABC. He said the bar had already filed an application for the license.

The bar cannot reopen until the 1979-80 academic year. The license cannot be sold to anyone with an interest or affiliation with CTI, according to a selection committee similar in composition to that of the Niebuhrr Award field recommendations for the award from any member of the Notre Dame community.

This honor last year was awarded to the Indiana Alcoholic Beverage Commission, in recognition of its "Mandatory not to take chances," because of an order from the Commission. The bar cannot return under the appropriate circumstances," he said. The bar had a number of violations and was warned repeatedly over the years. The Beverage Commission revoked its license on March 22, 1984. The bar was raided and an underaged person was arrested.

The bar remains open while this decision was appealed. On February 8, 1984, after an administrative hearing, Corby's, 4210 North St., was found guilty of four violations and an $500 fine for the 1984 violations and another $500 for the February 8 incident. By agreeing to hand over their license to the Beverage Commission, Corby's could be able to profit from the sale of the license.

SMC commissioners chosen

By KAREN BRADY
News Staff

The Saint Mary's College Commissioners for the 1985-86 school year were chosen by the students, the faculty, and the government board consisting of Student Body President Ann Marie O'Dell; Public Affairs Jeanne Heller and Vice President for Academic Affairs Julie Hammer; and Judicial Commissioner Margaret Calacci. The parking ticket situation at Saint Mary's will most likely be a main issue for next year.

The new commissioners are: Anne Calacci, with public affairs with plenty of fresh faces. The new commissioners are: Anne Calacci, with public affairs with plenty of fresh faces. The new commissioners are: Anne Calacci, with public affairs with plenty of fresh faces.
Curs. That could mean giving birth also dam age a fetus if conception of the womb of women using spermicides - chemical agents in jelly, be used alone, but arc most effective use spermicides for birth control, from reaching the egg, are not the cal cap device, such as a diaphragm or cervical cap. "Basically we are doing the same things as what ABC and NBC do ex cept our affiliates are on campuses. One thing that is very gratifying the fact that student-produced shows can be used to. C. Churches also shown. The schools are allotted twenty hours per month which is theirs to use as long as no admission is charged for the showing of these events," Church said.

To qualify for the system, each school must have at least 7,000 students and an appropriate location for a television which can be seen by a large number of people. In order to have the system hooked up to several locations such as individual dorms, additional an tenna must be positioned and extra cable is required. However, most schools currently involved have their telecommunications in student centers or hallways.

Mary Anne O'Donnell, director of student activities at St. Mary's, said she is "only familiar with Campus Network through conferences and reading material. I have some of their reading material since I am on their mailing list but since we haven't really looked into it I don't wish to comment on it." O'Donnell added that "if we were to subscribe to our central location would probably be Hargar Student Center." Jane Neal, director of student activities at Notre Dame, could not be reached for comment.

Schools such as cooperative Campus Network service's include St. John's, M.I.T., Ohio State, the University of Texas, and California Polytechnic.

CHURCH went on to say the system costs "pretexts" compared to what such an equipment would cost if done independently. "Our equipment is strictly state of the art," he said. "We now have a giant TV picture. In the near future we will be using a high-definition TV quality of which is equal to 55mm film.

"Basically we are doing the same things as what ABC and NBC do except our affiliates are on campuses. One thing that is very gratifying the fact that student-produced shows can be used to. C. Churches arc also shown. The schools are allotted twenty hours per month which is theirs to use as long as no admission is charged for the showing of these events," Church said.

To qualify for the system, each school must have at least 7,000 students and an appropriate location for a television which can be seen by a large number of people. In order to have the system hooked up to several locations such as individual dorms, additional an tenna must be positioned and extra cable is required. However, most schools currently involved have their telecommunications in student centers or hallways.

Mary Anne O'Donnell, director of student activities at St. Mary's, said she is "only familiar with Campus Network through conferences and reading material. I have some of their reading material since I am on their mailing list but since we haven't really looked into it I don't wish to comment on it." O'Donnell added that "if we were to subscribe to our central location would probably be Hargar Student Center." Jane Neal, director of student activities at Notre Dame, could not be reached for comment.

Schools such as cooperative Campus Network service's include St. John's, M.I.T., Ohio State, the University of Texas, and California Polytechnic.

CHURCH went on to say the system costs "pretexts" compared to what such an equipment would cost if done independently. "Our equipment is strictly state of the art," he said. "We now have a giant TV picture. In the near future we will be using a high-definition TV quality of which is equal to 55mm film.

"Basically we are doing the same things as what ABC and NBC do except our affiliates are on campuses. One thing that is very gratifying the fact that student-produced shows can be used to. C. Churches arc also shown. The schools are allotted twenty hours per month which is theirs to use as long as no admission is charged for the showing of these events," Church said.

To qualify for the system, each school must have at least 7,000 students and an appropriate location for a television which can be seen by a large number of people. In order to have the system hooked up to several locations such as individual dorms, additional an tenna must be positioned and extra cable is required. However, most schools currently involved have their telecommunications in student centers or hallways.

Mary Anne O'Donnell, director of student activities at St. Mary's, said she is "only familiar with Campus Network through conferences and reading material. I have some of their reading material since I am on their mailing list but since we haven't really looked into it I don't wish to comment on it." O'Donnell added that "if we were to subscribe to our central location would probably be Hargar Student Center." Jane Neal, director of student activities at Notre Dame, could not be reached for comment.

Schools such as cooperative Campus Network service's include St. John's, M.I.T., Ohio State, the University of Texas, and California Polytechnic.

CHURCH went on to say the system costs "pretexts" compared to what such an equipment would cost if done independently. "Our equipment is strictly state of the art," he said. "We now have a giant TV picture. In the near future we will be using a high-definition TV quality of which is equal to 55mm film.

"Basically we are doing the same things as what ABC and NBC do except our affiliates are on campuses. One thing that is very gratifying the fact that student-produced shows can be used to. C. Churches arc also shown. The schools are allotted twenty hours per month which is theirs to use as long as no admission is charged for the showing of these events," Church said.

To qualify for the system, each school must have at least 7,000 students and an appropriate location for a television which can be seen by a large number of people. In order to have the system hooked up to several locations such as individual dorms, additional an tenna must be positioned and extra cable is required. However, most schools currently involved have their telecommunications in student centers or hallways.

Mary Anne O'Donnell, director of student activities at St. Mary's, said she is "only familiar with Campus Network through conferences and reading material. I have some of their reading material since I am on their mailing list but since we haven't really looked into it I don't wish to comment on it." O'Donnell added that "if we were to subscribe to our central location would probably be Hargar Student Center." Jane Neal, director of student activities at Notre Dame, could not be reached for comment.

Schools such as cooperative Campus Network service's include St. John's, M.I.T., Ohio State, the University of Texas, and California Polytechnic.

CHURCH went on to say the system costs "pretexts" compared to what such an equipment would cost if done independently. "Our equipment is strictly state of the art," he said. "We now have a giant TV picture. In the near future we will be using a high-definition TV quality of which is equal to 55mm film.

"Basically we are doing the same things as what ABC and NBC do except our affiliates are on campuses. One thing that is very gratifying the fact that student-produced shows can be used to. C. Churches arc also shown. The schools are allotted twenty hours per month which is theirs to use as long as no admission is charged for the showing of these events," Church said.

To qualify for the system, each school must have at least 7,000 students and an appropriate location for a television which can be seen by a large number of people. In order to have the system hooked up to several locations such as individual dorms, additional an tenna must be positioned and extra cable is required. However, most schools currently involved have their telecommunications in student centers or hallways.

Mary Anne O'Donnell, director of student activities at St. Mary's, said she is "only familiar with Campus Network through conferences and reading material. I have some of their reading material since I am on their mailing list but since we haven't really looked into it I don't wish to comment on it." O'Donnell added that "if we were to subscribe to our central location would probably be Hargar Student Center." Jane Neal, director of student activities at Notre Dame, could not be reached for comment.

Schools such as cooperative Campus Network service's include St. John's, M.I.T., Ohio State, the University of Texas, and California Polytechnic.

CHURCH went on to say the system costs "pretexts" compared to what such an equipment would cost if done independently. "Our equipment is strictly state of the art," he said. "We now have a giant TV picture. In the near future we will be using a high-definition TV quality of which is equal to 55mm film.

"Basically we are doing the same things as what ABC and NBC do except our affiliates are on campuses. One thing that is very gratifying the fact that student-produced shows can be used to. C. Churches arc also shown. The schools are allotted twenty hours per month which is theirs to use as long as no admission is charged for the showing of these events," Church said.

To qualify for the system, each school must have at least 7,000 students and an appropriate location for a television which can be seen by a large number of people. In order to have the system hooked up to several locations such as individual dorms, additional an tenna must be positioned and extra cable is required. However, most schools currently involved have their telecommunications in student centers or hallways.

Mary Anne O'Donnell, director of student activities at St. Mary's, said she is "only familiar with Campus Network through conferences and reading material. I have some of their reading material since I am on their mailing list but since we haven't really looked into it I don't wish to comment on it." O'Donnell added that "if we were to subscribe to our central location would probably be Hargar Student Center." Jane Neal, director of student activities at Notre Dame, could not be reached for comment.

Schools such as cooperative Campus Network service's include St. John's, M.I.T., Ohio State, the University of Texas, and California Polytechnic.

CHURCH went on to say the system costs "pretexts" compared to what such an equipment would cost if done independently. "Our equipment is strictly state of the art," he said. "We now have a giant TV picture. In the near future we will be using a high-definition TV quality of which is equal to 55mm film.

"Basically we are doing the same things as what ABC and NBC do except our affiliates are on campuses. One thing that is very gratifying the fact that student-produced shows can be used to. C. Churches arc also shown. The schools are allotted twenty hours per month which is theirs to use as long as no admission is charged for the showing of these events," Church said.

To qualify for the system, each school must have at least 7,000 students and an appropriate location for a television which can be seen by a large number of people. In order to have the system hooked up to several locations such as individual dorms, additional an tenna must be positioned and extra cable is required. However, most schools currently involved have their telecommunications in student centers or hallways.

Mary Anne O'Donnell, director of student activities at St. Mary's, said she is "only familiar with Campus Network through conferences and reading material. I have some of their reading material since I am on their mailing list but since we haven't really looked into it I don't wish to comment on it." O'Donnell added that "if we were to subscribe to our central location would probably be Hargar Student Center." Jane Neal, director of student activities at Notre Dame, could not be reached for comment.

Schools such as cooperative Campus Network service's include St. John's, M.I.T., Ohio State, the University of Texas, and California Polytechnic.
Salmonella outbreak causes milk recall, plant closing

Associated Press

CHICAGO, Ill. — A grocery chain whose low-fat milk was blamed for a salmonella outbreak that sickened more than 2,000 people in five states took all the milk off its shelves Tuesday and closed a plant linked to a possible second wave of the poisoning.

"All milk has been withdrawn from sale in all Jewel Food Stores, pending the determination of the presence of salmonella by the Illinois Department of Public Health," said Jewel Cos. spokesman Bill Newby.

The dairy was shut down Monday night, Newby said, and the 217th supermarketer operated by Jewel and its affiliates "will stock milk from other sources" until it is cleared. The stores normally stock only Jewel milk brands - Hilfarm and Bluebrook.

The grocery stores are located in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Iowa. Salmonella poisoning cases have been reported in those four states as well as Wisconsin.

The closing of the Hillfarm dairy in suburban Melrose Park came shortly after medical officials reported the death of a 61-year-old woman who had been hospitalized with salmonella poisoning.

It also followed reports that a second batch of 2 percent fat content milk was suspected in new cases of salmonella poisoning, Newby said.

State health officials last week started investigating 2 percent milk dated March 29 and marketed under the Bluebrook brand, suspected in the first wave of illness.

The investigation was expanded Monday to include 2 percent Hilfarm milk dated April 8 after patients in an apparent second wave of cases reported drinking it.

The stores normally stock only other sources until it is cleared.

The grocery stores are located in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Iowa. Salmonella poisoning cases have been reported in those four states as well as Wisconsin.

Further investigation is under way into the special values Sentinel dealer will talk with you about the special values available on Ford's 1985

Four of the six men identified were Air Force officers who were shot down in their aircraft over North Vietnam and subsequently listed as missing in action. The others - an Army officer and a Marine Corps officer - were listed as prisoners of war who were known to have died after being captured, the Pentagon said.

The Pentagon identified the men as:

- Army Sgt. Gerasimo Arroyo-Bust, of Maunaho, Puerto Rico, reported as having been captured in South Vietnam on March 24, 1969, and subsequently dying in captivity.
- Marine Sgt. Robert Sherman, of Danville, Ill., reported as having been captured in South Vietnam on June 24, 1967, and subsequently dying in captivity.

The investigation was expanded Monday to include 2 percent Hilfarm milk dated April 8 after patients in an apparent second wave of cases reported drinking it.

Seven people with symptoms of salmonella poisoning were admitted Monday to Good Samaritan Hospital in suburban Downers Grove. Three said they drank Hillfarm 2 percent milk, nursing supervisor Roberta Butler said Tuesday.

Patricia Larsen, assistant director of the Illinois Public Health Department, said state laboratories were testing suspect Hillfarm milk in one-gallon plastic jugs and half-gallon cardboard cartons.

Department spokesman Chet June said in Springfield investigators would look into the most recent cases in an effort to pin down their source.

Meanwhile, the Cook County medical examiner's office was investigat­ ing the death Monday of Mary Kierczek of Alsp at St. Francis Hospita­ l in suburban Blue Island.

Ms. Kierczek, admitted to the hospital April 2, was being treated for salmonella poisoning and had consumed some of the Bluebrook milk, said nursing supervisor Mary Alice Ryan.

"Her condition just deteriorated," Ms. Ryan said.

Soviets testing better version of missile aimed at Europe

WASHINGTON - Although the Soviets are testing an improved version of the SS-20 nuclear missile aimed at Western Europe, it remains unclear how soon they might start deploying it, a Pentagon spokesman said yesterday.

"We simply don't know what their intentions are," said spokesman Michael I. Burch. "We have watched them keep up with their building program, where they're building more and more (launch) sites. Now whether they put more SS-X-24s in those, or put 24s (SS-24 missiles) or this new 25 (SS-X-25 missile) in there .. . we simply don't know at this point."

The SS-X-24 and the SS-X-24 are two new intercontinental ballistic missiles that the Pentagon has said the Soviets will deploy this year and next.

Burch was asked about the Soviet missiles following a report in The Washington Post quoting private and government sources as saying the Soviet Union's announcement Sunday of a moratorium on SS-20 deployments might be a hollow gesture because Moscow was busy preparing a new version of the missile.

Burch, at a news briefing, declined to comment on that aspect of the report. But he said the Reagan administration has already made clear it places little stock in the moratorium and there is no way of knowing whether the Soviets had planned a slowdown in deployments while awaiting the improved missile.

"What all have noted is that the Soviets offered a freeze before (in 1982), but during the period of their self-imposed freeze they contin­ ued to deploy missiles," Burch said.

"The other thing is even if they would freeze right now, still, it gives them 9- or 10- to 11 advantage in the total number of warheads facing NATO forces.

"You have to weigh their freeze offer very carefully."

The question of SS-20 deployment is of crucial importance to the United States and its allies within NATO because the three-warhead SS-20 is the most modern intermediate-range missile in the So­ viet arsenal.

According to the Pentagon, the Soviets have so far deployed 14 of the missiles, at least two-thirds of which are aimed at Western Europe.

It was because of the buildup of the SS-20 force since 1977 that NATO agreed to deploy 572 U.S. Cruise and Pershing 2 missiles in Europe. More than 130 of those U.S. missiles have been deployed to date.

The fact that the Soviets were testing an improved version of the SS-20 was disclosed on April 2, when the Pentagon released its latest assess­ ment of Soviet military power.

Notre Dame Avenue Apartments

NOW RENTING FOR FALL

Completely furnished, balconies, laundry, and off-street parking.

On site management & maintenance, all deluxe features.

ASK ABOUT OUR SPECIAL SUMMER RATES

(good deals for Summer Session)

Office at 820 ND Ave

open Mon-Fri 9am-5pm

or call

Sat 11-3pm

234-6647

Happy B-Day, E.A. Awesome!

Yes, this is Liz Lawson.

She's had a rough time

Yes, this is Liz Lawson.

HAPPY B'DAY,

fitting it to the twenty year mark. Could you please help her celebrate? Stop by 423

Drive and Pershing 2 missiles in Europe. More than 130 of those U.S. missiles have been deployed to date.

The fact that the Soviets were testing an improved version of the SS-20 was disclosed on April 2, when the Pentagon released its latest assessment of Soviet military power.

The Observer

Wednesday, April 10, 1985 — page 7

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 18TH
FRIDAY, APRIL 19TH

The actual dealer will talk with you about the special values available on Ford's 1985

Co-Sponsor

Student Activities Board

GREAT START

Durant, of Little Rock, Ark., reported lost over North Vietnam on Sept. 24, 1967, and subsequently dying in captivity.

Butler said Tuesday.

SS-20 deployment in this year and next.

Burch was asked about the Soviet missiles following a report in The Washington Post quoting private and government sources as saying the Soviet Union's announcement Sunday of a moratorium on SS-20 deployments might be a hollow gesture because Moscow was busy preparing a new version of the missile.

Burch, at a news briefing, declined to comment on that aspect of the report. But he said the Reagan administration has already made clear it places little stock in the moratorium and there is no way of knowing whether the Soviets had planned a slowdown in deployments while awaiting the improved missile.

"What all have noted is that the Soviets offered a freeze before (in 1982), but during the period of their self-imposed freeze they contin­ ued to deploy missiles," Burch said.

"The other thing is even if they would freeze right now, still, it gives them 9- or 10- to 11 advantage in the total number of warheads facing NATO forces.

"You have to weigh their freeze offer very carefully."

The question of SS-20 deployment is of crucial importance to the United States and its allies within NATO because the three-warhead SS-20 is the most modern intermediate-range missile in the So­ viet arsenal.

According to the Pentagon, the Soviets have so far deployed 14 of the missiles, at least two-thirds of which are aimed at Western Europe.

It was because of the buildup of the SS-20 force since 1977 that NATO agreed to deploy 572 U.S. Cruise and Pershing 2 missiles in Europe. More than 130 of those U.S. missiles have been deployed to date.

The fact that the Soviets were testing an improved version of the SS-20 was disclosed on April 2, when the Pentagon released its latest assessment of Soviet military power.

Notre Dame Avenue Apartments

NOW RENTING FOR FALL

Completely furnished, balconies, laundry, and off-street parking.

On site management & maintenance, all deluxe features.

ASK ABOUT OUR SPECIAL SUMMER RATES

(good deals for Summer Session)

Office at 820 ND Ave

open Mon-Fri 9am-5pm

or call

Sat 11-3pm

234-6647

Happy B-Day, E.A. Awesome!

Yes, this is Liz Lawson.

She's had a rough time

Yes, this is Liz Lawson.

HAPPY B'DAY,
Bankrupt dealer’s assets frozen

Associated Press

NEWARK, N.J. — A judge froze the assets of a failed government securities dealer yesterday after it was placed under bankruptcy-law protection from customers who owe at least $40 million.

Savings and loan associations across the country tried to measure the impact of the Chapter 11 filing by Bevill Bresler & Schulman Asset Management Corp. of Livingston, N.J. But the Federal Reserve Board in Washington said no problems had been reported at financial institutions in the wake of the filing and related court action.

The Securities and Exchange Commission has alleged that Asset Management, four affiliates and five officers misrepresented the financial status of Asset Management and failed to disclose it could not meet obligations to customers. Regulators estimated it owes at least $40 million to customers.

The filing by Asset Management comes in the wake of the failure of a Florida government securities dealer that triggered a banking crisis in Ohio.

Most of Asset Management’s customers are small savings and loans and banks, but officials at several of the institutions said the loss would be minimal.

John Moffatt, vice-president at Fort Lee Savings & Loan in Fort Lee, N.J., which is owed $19.5 million, reported a “slight run” as his third yesterday.

Cold, snow cause problems from Michigan to Florida

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Up to 10 inches of snow fell in the central Appalachian Mountains yesterday and snowflakes clung to spring flowers in the nation’s capital, while thermometers hit record lows for the date from Michigan to Florida.

Freezing temperatures spread as far south as Huntsville, Ala., which tied its record of 32 degrees.

At least three traffic deaths were blamed on the snow.

Vote continued from page 1

gave the job of restructuring to the new incoming senate.

In a statement prepared after the committee’s decision, Bertino said that he has “serious doubts regarding Mr. Healy’s motives for appealing the decision.” He said the committee’s action would strike a blow to university autonomy.

Bertino also disagrees with Healy’s statement that the judge must consider the officers’ control of the university to be in the best interest of the university.

Healy, whose statement regarding the committee’s decision and “student government in general” will be issued April 15, said Monday, “Student government constantly restructures itself every three years or so. The problem is not the structure but (student government’s) role as Notre Dame.”

“The new constitution is just like putting a band-aid on a wound, but we don’t know how bad the wound is,” added Healy.

“Unfortunately I feel Bill is simply bowing to pressure put on him the last few days by a few individuals, and does not want to take a firm stand as was the case of this magnitude,” said Bertino’s statement.

“In a matter of days be shifted his opinion 180 degrees. It’s not always easy being in a position of leadership such as yours,” added Healy.

While prospective candidates for this Friday’s scheduled senatorial elections were meeting last night at the LaFortune Ballroom, one floor above them the Judicial Council committee ruled unanimously that seven members acted unconstitutionally when they extended their terms. Therefore, student leaders elected more than a month ago should have assumed their positions April 1 and another student senate election is unnecessary.

COLLEGE COSTS ARE GOING UP. THIS IS THE ARMY COLLEGE FUND.

The Healy Company is looking for bright, successful people interested in financial planning and life insurance sales. Do you qualify? If so, call the placement office today to schedule an interview for April 15th.

Edward M.E. Healy, CLU
General Agent, Minn. Mutual Life Insurance Co.

Student government, if you qualify.

Tuition, books, lab fees, college living expenses—all seem to be climbing relentlessly. Well, here's some good news from the Army. Today's Army College Fund is climbing too. You can now accumulate over $25,000 for college, if you qualify.

What's more, you'll study, learn and become proficient in a useful skill. It could be a skill with so wide an application in both military and civilian life that it might help you decide what to take in college.

If you're determined to go on to college, but you don't know where the money is coming from, pick up an Army College Fund booklet from your local recruiter. It offers several options you'll want to investigate.

Stop by or call:

Sgt Brennan 234-4187

ARMY. BE ALL YOU CAN BE.
Japanese announce long-range plan to open markets to imported goods

Associated Press

TOKYO — Japan announced a three-year plan Tuesday to open its markets to foreign products. Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone urged his people to buy imported goods, saying a trade war would bring economic disaster upon them.

No quick results were expected from the Japanese plan, and initial reaction from the United States was muted. Congress, frustrated by a $37 billion U.S.-trade deficit with Japan in 1984, has demanded the United States reevaluate if Japan does not ease trade barriers.

The Japanese also stressed the need to reduce the dollar's value against the yen, which contributes to the trade imbalance by making Japanese products cheaper to the consumer and U.S. goods more expensive.

Japan's three-year program deals with telecommunications, electronics and other major trade areas of most concern to the United States.

Nakasone urged the Japanese, in a nationally televised speech and news conference after the program was announced, to "please buy foreign products.

He said Japan must move rapidly toward freer trade because "terrible depression and unemployment" would result if such trading partners as the United States took protectionist measures. Japan has few natural resources and its economy is built on industrial exports.

Japan had an overall trade surplus of $44.2 billion last year, $36.4 billion of it with the United States. Congress has called for sanctions unless Japan makes it easier for American goods to enter its markets and redress the balance.

The report on "external economic measures" issued Tuesday includes the plan to open markets and says an outline of the program will be completed by July.

In the package are pledges to accept foreign clinical test data for medical equipment, eventually to lower tariffs on plywood products to simplify technical standards for computer equipment and to ease the way for the purchase of American communications satellites.

It also promises greater freedom for foreign lawyers to practice in Japan, another U.S. demand, more Japanese aid to developing nations, and attention to the interests of Southeast Asia and Europe in future tariff cuts.

The United States sees telecommunications, medical supplies and forestry products as areas in which American companies could compete successfully if they were let into the market.

The prime minister stressed the urgency of the trade issue with a candor that is rare in Japanese politicians.

He called on "every one of our citizens to please buy foreign products."

"He said that if each of Japan's 120 million people bought $100 worth of foreign goods, the trade surplus could be cut by $12 billion.

Nakasone, 66, used charts and graphs to illustrate his argument that Japan's tariffs are among the lowest in the world but that the Japanese buy far less per person than Americans and Europeans on foreign manufactured goods.

He praised President Reagan for defending free trade, and said it was "horrifying" that nothing happens to arouse the foundation of friendly U.S.-Japan relations."

Reagan plea for peace refused

Associated Press

MANAGUA, Nicaragua - President Daniel Ortega has rejected President Reagan's proposal for a cease-fire and peace negotiations, his office announced Monday.

The Presidential Press Office said Ortega announced his decision during weekend talks with Colombia's foreign minister, Augusto Ramirez Ocampo, whom he met in Havana. Ortega also met with Cuban President Fidel Castro.

Reagan made the proposal last Wednesday in Washington. He coupled it with a warning that he would seek resumption of military aid to and Sandinista rebels if the leftist government did not move toward a settlement within 60 days after opening negotiations.

During the meeting with Ramirez Ocampo, Ortega "expressed with crystal clarity he does not accept the ultimatum presented by President Reagan," the press office statement said.

It said Ortega urged a resumption of U.S.-Nicaraguan talks in Managua, Mexico, which the United States broke off in January.

French find arms cache

Associated Press

PARIS - French authorities found a cache of weapons and explosives that includes a pistol believed to have been used to kill an American military attaché and an Israeli diplomat in Paris, police sources said Monday.

They said the arms were found in an apartment in a working-class district of northern Paris and were linked to the Lebanese Revolutionary Armed Forces, a group suspected of attacks in Europe and kidnappings in Lebanon.

The sources, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said about 44 pounds of explosives, two rocket launchers, submachine guns and several pistols were found in an apartment traced to Georges Ibrahim Abdallah, who is in prison in Lyon, France.
The University of Notre Dame is perhaps the most well-known and respected university in the country. An exceedingly rich tradition of great athletes, scholars, and presidents have established Notre Dame as a renowned Catholic institution. The University is associated with honesty, equality, and a commitment to social justice. Needless to say, it is the dream of nearly every high school student to be accepted into Notre Dame. Each year, thousands of applicants are turned away in their bids to attend the school. Those who are accepted are of an elite sector, usually ranking at or near the top of their high school class. It is hard to understand why a university of such prestige and reputation as Notre Dame would encounter difficulty attracting any particular group of high school students. In the fall of 1984, however, the total black freshman class at Notre Dame consisted of a paltry 34 students, seven of which were scholarship athletes. A study of the history of black enrollment at Notre Dame revealed that the revelation of black enrollment at Notre Dame is more than a question of the financial package carefully prepared by "writing off" the University. Nevertheless, the image of the University to the inaccuracy of the economy, as well as the inaccurate perception of Notre Dame. Leonardi noted that inadequate guidance from high school counselors, competition from other universities across the nation, and the lack of an adequate tracking system to do follow-up recruiting are factors. "We certainly have a strong effect on black enrollment at Notre Dame, one cannot help but question the University's handiwork," said Chris Williams, a 21-year-old junior English and ALPA major at Notre Dame.

A study of the history of black enrollment at Notre Dame revealed that the revelation of black enrollment at Notre Dame is more than a question of the financial package carefully prepared by "writing off" the University. Nevertheless, the image of the University to the inaccuracy of the economy, as well as the inaccurate perception of Notre Dame. Leonardi noted that inadequate guidance from high school counselors, competition from other universities across the nation, and the lack of an adequate tracking system to do follow-up recruiting are factors. "We certainly have a strong effect on black enrollment at Notre Dame, one cannot help but question the University's handiwork," said Chris Williams, a 21-year-old junior English and ALPA major at Notre Dame.

Lester Flemons

because you have threshed my poor ones, because you forced into exile multitudes of mourning and cried for my soul, because you pursued your brother with arms and cut off compassion altogether, because you have ravaged the lips of the poor with wranglers, because you have handed over the bones of the poor and weak, because you have rejected the law of charity and goodness and love and kept to lie, because you sell the righteous for money and the needy for a harlotry and trample the heads of the poor into the dust of the earth, because you push the afflicted out of the way and cut off the rights of the poor and needy, and say to your husbands "Bring that which you have taken pledge of from the poor and build for yourselves ever higher houses," because you have fattened cow s oppress the poor and crush the needy, and say to your husbands "Bring that which you have taken pledge of from the poor and build for yourselves ever higher houses," because you have fattened cow s oppress the poor and crush the needy, and say to your husbands "Bring that which you have taken pledge of from the poor and build for yourselves ever higher houses," because you have fattened cow s oppress the poor and crush the needy.

Justice will come like a giant torrent rushing

Because you have threshed my poor ones, because you forced into exile multitudes of mourning and cried for my soul, because you pursued your brother with arms and cut off compassion altogether, because you have ravaged the lips of the poor with wranglers, because you have handed over the bones of the poor and weak, because you have

Soames Adorno, the prophet, the herdsman and dressler of sycamore trees of Tekoia to bet hel, but this was a long time ago in a foreign country and is not to be taken too literally.
Dear Editor:

Would like to thank all who aided in broadcast

Dear Editor:

When I first realize that the incident concerned Robinson and Kempston, seriously, I considered the lesson I had learned from the experience. A simple at home to brighten up a few people's day, giving them moments to reflect, they would not soon forget.

 Needless to say, being browed, the butt, with no one's knowledge, for a few nights, was wrong. "Never take anything that does not belong to you" could easily sum up this lesson, with the added qualifier, "even if you intend no harm, no one misses it, and intend to return it." Needless to say, it is questioned by the police, and Notre Dame community. So, I cooperated fully. I was more than happy to be quoted as Kempston. I was quoted as Kempston, and I was very respectful to all authorities. I ended up standing outside of the Amendment, if not all, but Kempston and I would have resembled the headlines, not mine. Can't people let him off as a sophomore as a common student? The spotlight focused on him and the microscopic look at his actions are large enough during the season. This last attempt to be continually analyzed and criticized throughout the year.

You would think that members of this community would understand the pressures on athletes here at Notre Dame. You would not expect to have some members make those one's that should be a common student, to expect them to understand the athletes' role and be considered. Do not totally forgive Kempston for his small part in this incident, because he is an athlete; just forget his role as a student. Anyone who is a student, a student is capable of making mistakes, just as we all are. Unfortunately, his part in all of the facts of this event, he is about Kempston stands out in the crowd. Besides his physical size, those who know him, know he has a laugh that you can hear from miles away. People who have read the article may have gotten a kick out of it and anyone else, it may have made The Observer, but definitely not the South Bend Tribune or Channel 16 News. As it was, his large size made the headlines, not mine. Can't people let him off as a sophomore as a common student?

Yes, Kempston stands out in the crowd. Besides his physical size, those who know him, know he has a laugh that you can hear from miles away. People who have read the article may have gotten a kick out of it and laugh. At least two of us, Kempston and myself, cannot laugh. Would it not be nice, in future, you could give Kempston the chance to laugh, as everyone laughed. Would it not be better if he is given the chance to laugh, the rest of his college days, as we all hope to enjoy them? This is what we ask from each other. How can we deny him this pleasure? This is one lesson that, unfortunately, was taught the very hard way.

Thank you very much for your time.

David A. Robinson
Flanner Hall

The MS Drive captured Notre Dame's heart

More fully, is all its job to report the news accurately, and news responsibility, I found it very good to read the articles. Because the fact that I would rather not be remembered w/y, I found errors in the articles. When your Assistant Resistor posts an article from the South Bend Tribune, light things you are "supposedly" said concerning the South Bend area, it does not make one sleep easily. Peo I read that he did not know me, did not get an accurate perspective of my life and my personality. With my contacts with the basketball team, I have made in my close friends from the South Bend area, and I can only hope that they did not believe that would make those comments.

Your desire for quality programming. Speaking on behalf of the Student Activities Office, the support and attitude of the Notre Dame community was very refreshing.

The MS Committee, co-chaired by senior Aline Goldberg and freshman Vince Willis, dedicated hundreds of hours and made in their efforts throughout the campaign. These people, with the support of the Notre Dame President, the Student Activities Board, student government and the residence halls, combined their enthusiasm for Notre Dame and their belief in the worth of the "Millions Against MS" campaign to generate programs that enriched the daily life at Notre Dame as well as raising money for a worthy cause. We would like to take this opportunity to publicly thank the students who voted, tirelessly, for the winning effort and express our admiration for their "stick with it" approach.

Our admiration extends to all the Notre Dame community for your support and enthusiasm, and for the proof, visible nationwide, that the Notre Dame Spirit lives in more than athletic competition.

Joni D. Neal Assistant Student Activities Director

The Student Senate is not acting properly

I am writing as an eyewitness of Student Senate actions of April 1, 1985. Future elect John Gotty and K. C. Kulmin pointed out to the Senate that the proposed-constitutional amendment was null and void. They did not have the language used in the existing Constitution.

Article VII, Section I, paragraph 3 reads, "An amendment to this Constitution may be proposed by a two-thirds vote of all the voting members of the Student Senate." On March 25 the Senate passed the amendment with a majority vote in the language used in the existing Constitution.

Therefore, it is clear that the proposal did not pass on March 25 and that the Senate voted in favor of the proposal. There are 17 voting members of the Senate. Two thirds of 17 is 11 votes, two short of what was obtained. Regardless, it is clear that the members of the Senate were not acquainted with the high est law of the Notre Dame student government. After nearly an hour of Senate redness, consecration, naming calling and childish behavior, all those things that make the Senate a mockery and unity that are hallmarks of the Notre Dame Family.

As a new member of the Senate, I have been encouraged to search for the solution to a problem of MS disease that strikes many young adults. At this time, when we celebrate the resurrection of Christ, let us continue to commit our efforts to the cause of the MS winner that is for and unity that are hallmarks of the Notre Dame Family.

As chair of the constituent committee, I have been encouraged to search for the solution to a problem of MS disease that strikes many young adults. At this time, when we celebrate the resurrection of Christ, let us continue to commit our efforts to the cause of the MS winner that is for and unity that are hallmarks of the Notre Dame Family.

John Halliday Fisher Hall

Make the concert a ND celebration of success

I am writing to congratulate the Student Body on its winning effort in the Millions Against MS campaign. The response of the student body to the tremendous effort of the coordinating committee was outstanding. All of us were once great teachers to Vince Willis, Aline Goldberg and who coordinated the campus campaign.

The free concert is a tribute to all Notre Dame students. I encourage all of you to make the concert a ND celebration of success.

The Student Senate is not acting properly

I am writing as an eyewitness of Student Senate actions of April 1, 1985. Future elect John Gotty and K. C. Kulmin pointed out to the Senate that the proposed-constitutional amendment was null and void. They did not have the language used in the existing Constitution.

Article VII, Section I, paragraph 3 reads, "An amendment to this Constitution may be proposed by a two-thirds vote of all the voting members of the Student Senate." On March 25 the Senate passed the amendment with a majority vote in the language used in the existing Constitution.

Therefore, it is clear that the proposal did not pass on March 25 and that the Senate voted in favor of the proposal. There are 17 voting members of the Senate. Two thirds of 17 is 11 votes, two short of what was obtained. Regardless, it is clear that the members of the Senate were not acquainted with the highest law of the Notre Dame student government.

After nearly an hour of Senate redness, consecration, naming calling and childish behavior, all those things that make the Senate a mockery and unity that are hallmarks of the Notre Dame Family.

As a new member of the Senate, I have been encouraged to search for the solution to a problem of MS disease that strikes many young adults. At this time, when we celebrate the resurrection of Christ, let us continue to commit our efforts to the cause of the MS winner that is for and unity that are hallmarks of the Notre Dame Family.

As a new member of the Senate, I have been encouraged to search for the solution to a problem of MS disease that strikes many young adults. At this time, when we celebrate the resurrection of Christ, let us continue to commit our efforts to the cause of the MS winner that is for and unity that are hallmarks of the Notre Dame Family.
Sports Briefs

The Notre Dame men's tennis team will travel to Ann Arbor, Mich., this afternoon to take on the Michigan Wolverines at 3:30. The Observer

The ND Squash Club will meet tonight at 7 p.m. in the LaFortune Little Theater. Elections will be held and t-shirts will be distributed. For more information, call Bill at 283-2502. The Observer

Women's Bookstore Basketball schedules will be posted outside the student government offices on the second floor of LaFortune Annex this week. Monday through Friday. The Observer

AnTostal mud volleyball schedules are posted outside the student government offices on the second floor of LaFortune Annex this week. Monday through Friday. For more information, call Janet Tabi at 277-5967 or Matt Corrigan at 283-2663. The Observer

AnTostal ultimate frisbee representatives should pick up their schedules tonight between 7:30 p.m. and 9 p.m. in the LaFortune lobby. The Observer

Interhall baseball umpires are being sought by NVA. Anyone who is interested may fill out an application at the NVA office. The Observer

Observer Sports Briefs are accepted Sunday through Thursday until 3 p.m. at the Observer office on the third floor of LaFortune Annex. Briefs must be clearly written. The Observer
Carter home run lifts Mets

Opening day continues in majors

New York - Gary Carter, in his first game with his new team, hit a two-out home run in the 10th inning to give the New York Mets a season-opening 6-5 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals on Tuesday.

Reliever Neil Allen struck out Keith Hernandez to start the 10th, then had one strike on Carter before the Mets catcher hit a line-drive home run into the Cardinal bullpen in left field.

Tom Gorman, the St. Louis Mets pitcher, worked a scoreless 10th inning for the victory.

Mets' starter Dwight Gooden, at 20 the youngest opening-day pitcher in modern baseball history, left the game after giving up consecutive singles in the seventh. Gooden yielded six hits, walked two and struck out six.

Cubs 2, Pirates 1

CHICAGO - Keith Moreland drove in two runs with a single and a home run and Rick Sutcliffe won his 15th consecutive regular-season game Tuesday to lead the Chicago Cubs to a 2-1 opening-day victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Sutcliffe, the 1984 Cy Young winner who had a 16-1 record for the National League East champions last year, went 7 2/3 innings, allowing six hits and striking out three.

Lee Smith struck out the final six batters he faced to earn the save.

Three-time All-Star shortstop Dale Murphy acquired his 300th hit to tie the career mark as the Atlanta Braves took advantage of six Philadelphia errors to beat the Phillies 6-0 Tuesday night in a National League opener.

Mahters struck out five and walked two. Suter, the free agent who left the Minnesota Twins after last season, $10 million contract with the Atlanta Braves.

Steve Carlton lost for the eighth straight season in opening-day assignments. He missed a chance to move into a tie for 10th place on the all-time victory list as he gave up six hits, struck out three and walked six in six innings.

White Sox 4, Brewers 2

CHICAGO - Tom Seaver, making a record 19th opening-day start, scattered five hits over 6 2/3 innings to lead the Chicago White Sox to a 4-2 victory over the Midwestern Brews on Tuesday.

Seaver, entering his 19th season, is 4-12 lifetime against the Brewers, aided by two wild pitches by Seaver, rallied for two runs in the seventh.

James relieved Seaver and picked up a save. Moose Haas mashed two solo shots.

Robertson remembers high school days as Mr. Basketball in Indiana

Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS - The thought came to thousands upon thousands of youngsters who have played Indiana high school basketball, the Big Ten, Oscar Robertson, was perhaps the greatest.

Robertson, who led Indianapolis Attucks to back-to-back state championships and was named Mr. Basketball as a senior in 1956, went on to earn All-American honors at the University of Cincinnati.

Then he played 14 seasons in the National Basketball Association, including 12 appearances in the league's All-Star game, for a career that placed him in the Basketball Hall of Fame.

During his professional career, Robertson averaged 25.7 points and topped the 40-point mark 77 times in regular-season play. He finished with 26,710 points and recorded a record 9,887 assists.

Robertson, 46, now lives in Cincinnati and is the father of three daughters.

"I have a construction company. I own a chemical company and a road trucking business. We've just got started in the past five years with a couple of interests. We're trying to get business through America. He's a recent client," he said.

But his recognition as Mr. Basketball hasn't been forgotten.

"It meant not only that you were the top player but also it meant that your team was very successful," Robertson said. "I don't think you can be a top player, no matter how great you are, unless your team has enjoyed some measure of success.

In 1955, as a junior, Robertson scored 30 points as Attucks defeated Gary Roosevelt 97-74 for the state championship. The following year, Attucks pounded Lafayette Jeff 79-57 in the title game as Robertson scored a then-record 39 points. The Tigers finished the season with a $1 0 record.

"We were the first team to go undefeated and win a championship. We were the first team from Indiana to win and the first black team to do it," says Robertson, pointing out that it took more than his superior basketball skills.

"I think it takes a group of individuals, people who can play basketball and work together to produce success," Robertson said. "That's the real key. You've got to have a lot of people who are going to put their effort together and you won't go anywhere.

Having been raised in the inner-city Robertson feels compassion for those less fortunate. He's recently joined with Basketball Hall of Famer Bob Cousy to help develop funding that would aid former NBA players who have financial problems and don't have big pension benefits.

"I think it's something that's been needed for a long time," he says about the NBA foundation to aid the former players.

"I think it will show that people care about something else. You've got to have compassion for your fellow man. When you don't, all is lost.

He still travels to Indianapolis frequently.

"My father lives here, my brother works for the Pacers and I have a lot of friends here," he said. "This is home for me.

And he says that no other state compares with Indiana for its support of the sport that brought him fame.

"There is no comparison to the way Indiana supports high school basketball," he said. "This state stops everything when the tournament comes on. I remember when Bob Knight came to Indiana, he was upset because they pre-empted the basketball game to put on the high school championship (on television)."
Louisville Redbirds unsure of Opening day team roster

Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, Ky. - Manager Jim Fregosi isn't sure what lineup he'll use Friday night when the Louisville Redbirds open defense of their American Association title.

That will hinge on the final reshuffling by the St. Louis Cardinals, the Redbirds' parent club.

Friday's first pitch will be thrown by right-hander Kevin Hagen, the team's only returning starter, against Indianapolis at 7:30 p.m. But nobody knows who will be backing him up.

The Cardinals' Claire Smith, National League All-Star shortstop, currently is playing the final season of a three-year contract of $1.3 million a year.

St. Louis tried to re-sign him, but offered a multi-year contract at $1.7 million a year and a $500,000 signing bonus, also to have included a $500,000 loan at 2 percent below the prime lending rate and an Anheuser-Busch distributorship.

Fregosi also had planned on shortstop Angel Salazar to return to the club, but Salazar was traded for the New York Mets' Jose Oquendo.

And on Saturday, the Cards swapped relief pitcher Dave Rucker for Philadelphia shortstop Ivan DeJesus. The team also gained veteran relief pitcher Bill Campbell.

The upshot is that Fregosi will have an infield with more defensive talent than any major league teams.

"Our infield defense should be fine," he said. "We've got a lot of experience, good ballplayers."

A week ago, Fregosi expected an infield of shortstop Salazar, second baseman Joe Pettinis, third baseman Tom Lawless and first baseman Ron Dejesus. The team also gained veteran relief pitcher Bill Campbell.

But now, in addition to a shortstop switch, second baseman Billy Lyons will replace Pettinis.

NBA Standings

Eastern Conference Atlantic Division

Eastern Conference Eastern Division

Wednesday, April 10, 1985 — page 14

Southern Illinois basketball coach resigns after finding of violations

Associated Press

CARRINGTON, Ill. - Southern Illinois University basketball Coach Al vern Van Winkle resigned Tuesday after disclosure that one of his assistants was aware of under-the-table payments to the Salukis' star center.

Van Winkle cited personal reasons for his resignation, which is effective today. "Dean Stuck, special assistant in charge of intercollegiate athletics at the school, said at a news conference.

The action came four days after Stuck announced the resignation of Stafford Stephenson, an assistant coach who admitted he knew about weekly $210 payments being made to 6-foot-11 center Kenny Perry.

Carbondale chiropractor Roy 8. White told university officials last Thursday he agreed to the payments in the summer of 1982, when Perry transferred from the University of Evansville.

White also contended Van Winkle was involved in the arrangement, but Stuck said an internal investigation launched after White's disclosure showed no wrongdoing by the coach.

"I have not uncovered any evidence to corroborate an allegation that Allen Van Winkle was involved in any payments to Perry," he said.

"My decision to resign is in no way based upon the allegations."

Van Winkle later Tuesday. He did not attend the news conference.

"I made any mistake at all, it was probably coming here in the first place," he said, citing frustration with budget cuts that "nearly broke my spirit" and the school's apparent decision to reduce the emphasis on basketball.

Perry, 23, from Rockport, Ind., was recruited by Stephenson when he was an assistant coach at Evansville, and transferred to Southern Illinois a year after Stephenson switched jobs.

Perry's brother, Clint, 28, said Saturday that Stephenson had taken him to meet White during a visit to the Carbondale campus three years ago.

But Clint Perry said neither Stephenson nor his younger brother were there when he worked out the deal with White, who agreed to provide Kenny Perry $210 a week and a $500,000 signing bonus in return for odd jobs.

Perry sat out the 1982-83 season because of NCAA rules regarding transfer students, but was named the Atlantic 10 Conference Rookie of the Year.

Stephenson was effective today," Dean Stuck, special assistant in charge of intercollegiate athletics. He already was looking for someone to replace Van Winkle and Stephenson.

Stuck assumed his job two weeks ago in a reorganization under which university President Vice President Bruce Swinburne relinquished control of intercollegiate athletics. He already was looking for someone to replace Athletic Director Lee Hartog, whose resignation takes effect Aug. 51.
The fortunes of the Montreal Canadiens and Boston Bruins have changed so much in the last 12 months that when they meet in the opening round of the National Hockey League playoffs, they will have reversed positions. The Canadiens were a weak fourth in the Adams Division last year, while the Bruins won the sec­ tor but Montrel knocked Boston in the best-of-five first round of the 1984 playoffs with a sweep. Ever since, the Canadiens have been moving up the NHL ladder and, this season, in what was expected to be a rebuilding year, they finished first in the division. At the same time, the Bruins have been sliding and their 36-4-10 mark and 82 points were considered poor numbers in Boston. The teams will square off Wednesday night in the second round of the eight divisional semifinals, the contest to see the story at right.

Kansas City likely to get CBA team when league expands later this year

Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - Kansas City appears likely get one of the two Continental Basketball Association teams when the league expands this year, Commissioner Jim Drucker said Tuesday.

"The prospects for a CBA franchise in Kansas City are better than 50-50," Drucker said at a news con­ ference following a meeting with Mayor Richard Berkley. "Kansas City is the league's first choice for expan­ sion..."

The CBA, which grew from eight to 14 teams during the last season, is also studying expan­ sion to Fort Wayne, San Diego, Beaumont, Texas, and Austin, Texas, said Drucker.

Drucker said he would meet Wed­ nesday with two ownership groups who have expressed an interest in acquiring a team. He declined to identify the groups, but said one would include 15 to 20 people while the other would be a partnership of three or four people.

The price of the expansion team would be $500,000, up from the $310,000 paid last year for the CBA entry in Kansas City. The CBA is expected to move to either Kemper Arena or Municipal Auditorium, both of which have "very favorable" sites, Drucker said.

The ownership group for Kansas City could be selected within three weeks, and the expansion would be voted on during the league meeting June 2 in Orlando, Fla., according to Drucker.

"We have discussed the idea of playing in Kemper, but we would not play the first game there due to the gym's construction schedule, which means we will likely get one of the two new teams," Drucker said.

The CBA team in Kansas City would play in a draft in which established teams would offer established players, and an un­ established team would take the first pick. A CBA team could break even by averaging 1,700 fans a game, said Drucker, adding that six of the CBA's 14 teams made a profit this year and nine were expected to make a profit next year.

The CBA is interested in Kansas City because it would continue a CBA move into larger markets, Drucker said. The CBA currently has a player development contract with the NBA, but may someday compete with the older league.

Drucker referred to the CBA as a "Triple A plus" league because its teams span the continent, it has a sliding scale and teams have the best game can beat their best game.

The team's $3 Million Super Shot, which gave fans a chance to win $1 million by making a full-court shot, Drucker said, was an attempt to "keep our fans interested with promotions such as the $1 Million Super Shot, which gave fans a chance to win $1 million by making a full-court shot.

Rules changes, such as sudden death overtime and figuring standing room only teams, also helped hold fan interest, Drucker said.

Football continued from page 20

The man standing in the shadows of Steve Meisel last year, Scott Grooms, will graduate in May, leaving only the three unsung freshmen, Terry Andrysiak, Tom Byrne and Pat Pesavento to fill the role of starting quarterback for the team. The three freshmen have pleased with the play of all three freshmen, Byrne and Andrysiak have shown considerable poise behind the offense.

Both Byrne and Byrne are running behind everyone right now," says Faust. "They both look like they have seen things very well. Andrysiak throws the ball well and runs well to the outside, while Byrne throws well and runs better inside. But as right now, they're both doing even better than we expected.''

The agenda for the second half of the spring includes more chances for the freshmen quarterbacks to win the back-up slot, more varia­ tions in offensive formations and the increased use of the special teams, which have not seen action in either of the two scrimmages.

"We're going to go into the offense and try to implement some new things," says Faust. "Also, we're going to start working on the kicking game.

Looking ahead to the next two weeks, Faust can only hope that his team will continue to move quickly through its slower, more fundamental tech­ nical practices, and that there will be no more injuries. And if the Irish can progress over the remaining two weeks of spring practice, they may not lose their cool once the real season begins.

Thanks to you... it works.

for ALL OF US.
Women’s tennis team wins three big matches

By MARY SIEGER

Members of the Notre Dame women’s tennis team will not be sitting back on their laurels. This year, Colligan and senior co-captain Lisa proved after Saturday’s 5-4 harding against Edwardsville.

NOSHA's chances of receiving an automatic bid vastly improved after Saturday’s 5-4 shutout against Evansville. Earlier this season, Edwardsville defeated the Irish during the regular season.

The Observer

Wednesday, April 10, 1985 — page 16

Sports Writer

Jimenez

When the last doubles team stepped off the court, the Irish were confident they would defeat Morehead State, they were not expecting an easy 7-2 win. Last year, Morehead State defeated the Irish in the regular season, tasting Notre Dame’s plans to gain the automatic bid to the National Championship. They would be playing well and they were not as strong.

High winds affected both teams’ performances on Friday, something that probably gave the Irish an edge over Morehead State. “We’ve never played in conditions like these before,” said Petro. “We kept our composure better than they did.”

On Saturday, the Irish traveled to the University of Miami Ohio for one of their toughest meets of the season. Last year, Notre Dame defeated Miami for the first time in the team’s history, 5-4, and the Irish will be looking to average the loss. The Irish tried to knock the Fighting Irish, Ohio, to tackle Central Michigan University and Bowling Green University on Saturday. They were a very tough battle and we’ll see what we’re made of,” said Petro.

Irish.

While tournament bids will not be assured you of having it when you Get Involved!

Attention Sophomores

Place your ring order before you leave for SUMMER VACATION. This will assure you of having it when you return to school in the fall.

HOURS: 1:00 P.M. to 4:30 P.M. Monday - Friday

IN THE OFFICE ON THE FIRST FLOOR
HAMMES NOTRE DAME BOOKSTORE

Three postgame page 20
crowd and began asking to see the Bandits’ green cards. All of the Bandits, much to the delight of Fun Bunch’s Pat Collins, who somehow missed getting his kiss during The Seducers’ first appearance. A voice in the crowd suggested that the only time Fun Bunch could score was when The Seducers were on the court. But that really was not the case as they soon led the Bandits’ 15-5 in the first period.

For the remainder of the game the Bandits were just as good, if not a little better than they had been before. Revenge of the Fun Bunch over Donkey Hody & 4 Guys Who Eatted Pigs & a Stud

Richardson to coach at Arkansas

Associated Press

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. - Nolan Richardson, who won his first NCAA basketball title, was named head coach Tuesday at the University of Arkansas.

Richardson will be the first black head coach in any sport's history in the history of the Southwest Conference.

He takes over for Eddie Sutton, who left Arkansas last week to take the coaching job at Kentucky.

Sutton, who coached at Arkansas 11 years and took the Razorbacks to nine straight NCAA tournaments, resigned to succeed Joe B. Hall as head coach at Kentucky.

Richardson, 45, compiled a 118-5 record over five years in Tulsa. His teams have been in the NCAA tournament three times, the NIT twice.

For the remainder of the game the Bandits were just all sitting around talking about team names,” says Barr. “They were just glad to score eight points. The donkey, named King Louis III, proved to be the highlight of the game.

Bookstore

Plans for Sophomore Literary Festival 1986 are beginning...

Positioned needed: Sophomore Literary Festival Chairman, executive committee members

Pick up applications 2nd floor LaFortune, SAB offices

Deadline for applications is Friday, Apr. 12
LACROSSE TEAM WINS ONE, LOSES TWO AGAINST NON-CONFERENCE OPPONENTS

By MIKE SULLIVAN
Sports Writer

Easter on Long Island may beat Easter in South Bend, but the Notre Dame lacrosse team found that the sweetest thing about its trip to New York was that it signified the end of its non-conference schedule. After a pair of one-goal losses to Holy Cross and Stony Brook over the weekend, following a win over Radford last Wednesday, the Irish have finished 2-6 against non-league opponents.

But when you are part of a conference—in this case, the Midwest Lacrosse Association—games against league rivals are the ones that really count. So it is no surprise that Notre Dame coach Rich O'Leary is looking forward to putting the losses behind the team as it begins the remainder of its MLA schedule with a game today at 3:30 p.m. on Carter Field against Mt. Union College.

"Mt. Union is not supposed to be too strong, but it's very important that we do well," says O'Leary, who has seen his team cruise to easy wins in its first two conference games. "We want to get back on the right track.

"It's important that we don't win just because they (Mt. Union) are a new program, but that we win because we played well.

Regardless of whether the Irish play well or not, they should have few problems with the Raiders of Coach Dave Goldstein. The teams have played twice, with Notre Dame winning Mt. Union both times by scores of 28-4 and 15-0. Like most MLA teams, the Raiders are in the midst of building up a respectable program. Obviously, though, they still have a lot of building before they can compete for the conference championship.

Today's game should be a welcome breather for the Irish, who lost two tough games within three days. After playing well against Holy Cross in an 8-7 defeat, the team allowed Stony Brook to erase a three-goal deficit in the final minutes of the fourth quarter before dropping a heartbreaking 15-12 decision after three overtimes.

More importantly, though, the game against the Raiders will be Notre Dame's final tuneup before the toughest part of the MLA schedule starts with games at Wooster (Saturday), Denison (April 20), and against Ohio Wesleyan at home (April 27).

The difficult non-conference schedule against more talented teams from the East should help prepare the Irish for their main rivals, Denison and Ohio Wesleyan, assuming, of course, that O'Leary's squad is not hit by another rash of injuries and illnesses like that which decimated the Raiders last weekend. Eleven Notre Dame players were operating at less than 100 percent, and two were left behind because of pneumonia.

Despite the reduced manpower, though, the Irish had chances to win both games on the trip, especially against Stony Brook on Monday. When leading scorers Bob Trochich and Joe Franklin scored their third and fifth goals, respectively, early in the fourth quarter, Notre Dame looked to be on its way to a 1-1 tie, but the Patriots fought back in the final minutes of regulation to forge a 12-12 tie.

In poor weather conditions, the two teams struggled through the entire game from minute number one through the final periods. The Irish had some good scoring chances in the first overtime, but one shot missed the goal completely, while another hit the post and bounced away.

With less than two minutes left in the third overtime, two Notre Dame players were whistled for slashing penalties, giving Stony Brook a two-man advantage. The Patricks' Chris Scadato put an end to the game with a 1-0 goal in the extra period.

"We probably should've had a little better," said O'Leary, "but they played tough and stayed with us. When we were up, 12-9, they did a good job creating unneeded situations and scoring on them."

As tight as the Stony Brook game was, though, the game against Holy Cross was even more hard-fought as the teams traded the lead back and forth for most of the game. Franklin's second goal of the day tied the score at five in the third quarter, and the score remained deadlocked until the Crusaders took the lead as time ran out in the quarter.

Holy Cross finally took control early in the final quarter by scoring two unanswered goals to move out to an 8-6 lead. The Irish did fight back and moved to within one, 8-7, on John McChlain's goal with 1:32 remaining, but they could not capitalize in the final three minutes.

We had some good opportunities in the last minutes to tie it up, but we didn't take advantage of them," said O'Leary. "Our guys played well in the end, but in the third quarter and first five minutes of the fourth we looked very bad. I think the freshmen took their toll because we were sluggish and slow, and they took advantage.

"Still, I was pretty happy because it was a game where we needed to be income for the whole game and we were."

Despite the losses, though, the work was not all bad as the Irish won their seventh straight home game last Wednesday by rolling to an 11-7 victory over Radford. It was a goal explosion in the first quarter that gave the game an early edge and allowed Notre Dame to coast through the final three quarters.

ITEMS: Arocchini, Trochich and Franklin provided most of the scoring punch. Arocchini took three goals and two assists in the game, while Franklin had nine goals and three assists in the three games, while Franklin added four goals and assists. Midfielder Joe Hart had a good game against Radford, scoring three goals, while Tom Gore chipped in three goals and two assists over the break. Goalie Rob Simpson stopped 35 shots while playing the entire Holy Cross game and splitting time with Matt McQuillan (17 saves) in the other two.
The Notre Dame baseball suffered through some tough times over break, and its record dropped to 3-1. For more on the Irish fortunes, see Kevin Herbert's story below.

Irish baseball team encounters hard times over past week

By KEVIN HERBERT
Sports Bureau

The Notre Dame men's baseball team did not fare too well this past week - winning two, losing five and tying one; bringing their season ledger to 7-13-1.

The action began Wednesday, when the Irish squared off against Northwestern. Last year's runaway in the Big Ten. In the first game of the twinbill Notre Dame gave up eight runs, the most the team would allow in any of its losses throughout the week. Unfortunately for the Irish, their offense was not up to the task, as Notre Dame was defeated in the first game of the double-header, 8-3.

In the second game, Notre Dame pitcher Dan Sacchini got off to a shaky start, but recovered and was saved by the offense. Sacchini gave up five runs in the victory while the offense provided him with eleven big runs. The final was Notre Dame 11, Northwestern 5.

On Thursday the Irish suffered two tough losses at the hands of Michigan State. In the first game, Brad Cross pitched a very good game, but the offense could not bring home enough runs to give him a victory, and the Irish lost 3-2.

The cancer that haunted the Irish over spring break returned on Thursday to once again plague Notre Dame. That cancer's name is a lack of timely hitting.

If Notre Dame had been able to capitalize on their numerous opportunities in the first game, the Irish would have had a whitewash to steal the game was very close, as evidenced by the final score of 3-2.

"We left too many men on base. We had the opportunities to score but we just did not cash in," commented head baseball coach Larry Gallo on the Irish double-header against the Spartans.

"Brad Cross pitched a great game, he deserved a win."

In the second game of the twin bill, Notre Dame lost again by one run - this time by the score of 6-5.

The Irish had Good Friday off, but returned on the diamond Saturday when they opened a four-game homestand against the Wisconsin Badgers.

In the game, freshman pitcher Kevin Chenail turned in seven innings of near perfect hurling as he allowed only three hits and one run. Chenail struck out eight batters over his seven innings. The .5 Irish victory broke a three game losing streak and gave Notre Dame a 7-12 record.

Gallo later praised Chenail's performance.

"He turned in one of the best pitching performances that I have seen around here in a long time. He will be seeing a lot more action in the future."

Sunday, the Irish played their final game of the series, as they concluded their four-game series with the Badgers. Notre Dame's one run "burst" continued in the opener as it was downed 6-5 in six innings.

Kevin Chenail's starting performance, however, was not enough to keep the Irish in the game. In the second game of the twin bill, Notre Dame played yet another close game. This one, however, would go no further than the eighth inning, as the game was called because of darkness with the score deadlocked at 1-1.

Kevin Chenail's starting performance, however, was not enough to keep the Irish in the game. In the second game of the twin bill, Notre Dame played yet another close game. This one, however, would go no further than the eighth inning, as the game was called because of darkness with the score deadlocked at 1-1.

Gallo was displeased with his team's output against Wisconsin.

"We should not have lost a game to Wisconsin. It should have been a four-game sweep. We hit the ball well. I believe the team's average is around .300. We just have not been able to get the key hit."

One other problem which spelled the Irish throughout break was a breakdown in their defense.

"It is very difficult to win when you are giving up the opposition four and five runs," commented Gallo.

Notre Dame will face Northwestern again today. The Irish will bring their 7-13-1 record and two of the Midwest's City Conference's best hitters into today's action. Mike Trailor is currently the MCC's leading batter with a .400 average. His teammate, Rick Morton is currently in third place, hitting at a .478 clip.

Associated Press

Crenshaw will try to defend Masters title

AL CUNTA, Ga. - The pressure's off for Ben Crenshaw.

Masters week is here.

He's been waiting for it for a year, coming to defend his cherished title with his game in tip-top shape, the product of self-imposed pressure and a smooth swing.

"There hasn't been a day go by that I haven't thought about the Masters," said Crenshaw, who will defend his title this week in the first round of play of the legends of the game. Crenshaw was, quite possibly, the most aggressive winner ever produced by the Masters.

If he deserved a win."

"It is a great tournament, I'm sure many who have been here before," commented Gallo. "It seems like a great place for us to come and win."

Crenshaw will try to defend his coveted title again this year. He is currently in fourth place, hitting at a .378 average in the Midwest. He lost his first round of play of the legends of the game. Crenshaw was, quite possibly, the most aggressive winner ever produced by the Masters.

Associated Press

The Observer/JOHANNES HACKER

Wednesday, April 10, 1985 - page 18

"I don't want to blame anything on the divorce. I don't think I should do that. But I'm a very emotional person, it hit me very hard. I had to reassess things, myself, my life," he said.

He played infrequently, and with indifferent success, following the divorce. He was troubled, both physically and emotionally. He lost weight to the point that he appeared gaunt.

In nine starts this season, he failed to qualify for the final two rounds six times. He's won $11,810 for the year. He has been a factor in the chase for a tournament win since late May. He went from seventh to the Top's putting statistics at 127th.

"We've been putting pressure on myself to perform. People, friends, have expected me to play better. That's pressure, too," he said.

A recent, week break from competition "helped me get things sorted out."

"I'm a little more settled now. I feel better about things in my own mind," he said.

Vocation Retreat
where is the Lord leading you? ...a chance to explore religious life as a sister of the Holy Cross...

April 19 and April 20
(7 pm. Friday to 7 pm. Saturday)
Mary's Solitude
St. Mary's College campus...it's free!

To register, call Sr. Pat McCabe, C.S.C. 284-4466/4427

Clubs / Organizations

Now is the time for all Clubs / Organizations to:

1. Register for the 85-86 Academic Year
2. Request Student Activity funding
3. Apply for a Football concession stand

All forms are available in the Student Activities Office, 1st floor of LaFortune. Deadline is Monday, April 15, 1985.
Today

Bloom County

"You're never too young to stand up and say:" "I'm not going to help you settle down and live your life!"

Zeto

Hang on guys, quick-fine me the bucks.

The Daily Crossword

| 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 | 7 | 8 | 9 | 10 | 11 | 12 | 13 | 14 | 15 | 16 | 17 | 18 | 19 | 20 |
| Z | S | T | S | T | S | T | S | T | S | T | S | T | S | T | S | T | S | T | S |

The Daily Crossword Solutions:

2. Maintainer.
3. Handler.
5. Walking sticks.
7. Positive pole.
8. Unmeaning.
10. Green.
13. Time differ.
15. Confront: Farms.
17. Jess or Peter.
18. Ruth.
19. 50 Royal abode.
20. 57 Therefore.
21. 59 Pole.
22. 60 Dueling weapon.
23. 61 Boy.
24. 62 Bigwig.
25. 63 Affirmative.

不得转载

Berke Breathed

"Dreams are not a dream if you just flow with it and hope for the best!" Okay.

The Far Side

Kevin Walsh

Great, over break... My rights become a Robert Redford.

Campus

- 4:45 p.m. - General Meeting, Environmental Concerns Organization, Elections & Film, Library of CSC.
- 7:00 p.m. - Presentation for Juniors, "Filling Out Your Profile Form For On-Campus Interviews," Kitty Arnold, Director, Career & Placement Services, Room 122 Hayes Hall.
- 9:00 p.m. - RASTA Meeting, CSC Coffeehouse.
- 9:00 p.m. - Lecture, Benjamin Hooks, Executive Director of the NAACP, Library Auditorium, Sponsored by Student Activities Board & Black Cultural Arts Festival, Free.
- 9:30 p.m. - Radio Call-In Show, "Campus Perspective," Jeff Blumb, Bookstore BasketBall Commissioner, WVF1 AM-64.
- 10:00 p.m. - "Airmen of Note," United States Airforce.
- 10:30 p.m. - "Campus Perspective," Jeff Blumb, Bookstore BasketBall Commissioner, WVF1 AM-64.
- 11:00 p.m. - Stiller anti-Judges Jam: (Fri)
- 11:00 p.m. - "Airmen of Note," United States Airforce.
- 11:30 p.m. - "Campus Perspective," Jeff Blumb, Bookstore BasketBall Commissioner, WVF1 AM-64.
- 12:00 a.m. - "Airmen of Note," United States Airforce.
- 12:30 a.m. - "Airmen of Note," United States Airforce.
- 1:00 a.m. - "Airmen of Note," United States Airforce.
- 1:30 a.m. - "Airmen of Note," United States Airforce.
- 2:00 a.m. - "Airmen of Note," United States Airforce.

TV Tonight

NOTE THE COLLEGIATE JAZZ FESTIVAL

THE ND STUDENT ACTIVITIES BOARD AND THE BLACK CULTURAL ARTS FESTIVAL present

Dr. Benjamin Hooks

Executive Director of the NAACP

Wednesday, April 10, in the LIBRARY AUDITORIUM at 8:00pm. Reception to follow.
Hello again, everybody! A friend of mine is going to watch the USFL, for Lent, to which I'm like giving up drinking to or to the dentist. Now that the Lenten season has passed, it's time to start watching the league, or if he becomes like so many other football fans and allows the USFL to tug in obscurity.

For that matter, I had better do it soon, because the USFL seems to be on the verge of "The Fall of the House of USFL." The USFL has faced numerous problems, from poor ticket sales to financial struggles, and many fans have lost interest. However, there are still teams out there, and the USFL is determined to survive.

The USFL should decide to opt for "no more." Chuck Freeby

Irish items

Making use of his distinct height advantage while sitting on the donkey and deploying a load of manure on the course, the bandits were prepared and quickly scooped up the manure and dumped it into a trash can. As they continued aggressive tackling in the first scrimmage and some strong tackles, Shawn Heffern and Tom Faust also seemed pleased with the play of the defense. This week we'll work from the option formation often out of the option formation and employ this year.

Bookstore XIV

The decision was made to go easy this spring, and to concentrate to a greater degree on the basic fundamentals. "We've moved a lot faster in the past in terms of putting things in," says Faust. "This spring we're mainly interested in the aggressiveness, the hitting, and the execution." The two Irish scrimmage so far this spring were positive indicators for Faust, who saw good hitting in the first scrimmage and some strong offensive line movement to go with the continued aggressive tackling in Wednesday's practice.

The offensive line is one of several key areas for the Irish this spring, as they attempt to fill the holes left behind by graduating seniors Mike Kelley (center) and Larry Williams (guard). Injuries, however, have impeded the progress of the line, as tackles Shaw Heffern and Tom Doerger, as well as guard John Askin, have been kept out of practice with nagging ailments. Center Ron Plantz, meanwhile, added his name to that list when he hurt his knee in Wednesday's scrimmage. Nevertheless, the fifth-year Irish rookie was pleased with the play of his makeshift line.

"The two things that impressed me most about Wednesday's scrimmage were the hitting and the play of the offensive line," said Faust. "We were missing Doerger, Plantz, Heffern and Askin, but the offensive line still came off the ball well." Faust also seemed pleased with the play of his defense against the option offense. The Irish have run out of the option formation often this spring for the benefit of the defense, who will see the formation often this season in their opponents' backfield.

"We've run a lot of options," admits Faust. "And I think the defense is still off the ball well." The Irish coaching staff this spring has been the back-up quarterback slot for Faust, who saw good hitting in the first scrimmage and some strong offensive line movement to go with the continued aggressive tackling in Wednesday's practice.

pick of the week

Speaking of seasons, the USFL doesn't even know which one they will be playing in next year. Not only are the teams not sure if they will try to play in the spring, and it has been failing miserably. Now the USFL wants to play in the fall, but the league can't afford to give anybody a new television contract, which proves that some people still believe in the USFL. Considering the fact that the Cubs have been averaging nearly 8,000 fans for these exhibition games at the Bi-Hi-Kam Park, the USFL's patience is wearing thin.

The USFL should consider the fact that its success or failure is dependent upon the fact that the USFL fans are watching the games. The USFL is not a national league and it is not a national team sport. The USFL is a local team sport and it needs local fans to support it.

Sure, the USFL has some solid players on their team, but if the USFL can't find a way to get more fans into the games, then it will be in trouble. The USFL should consider the fact that the USFL fans are watching the games. If the USFL can't find a way to get more fans into the games, then it will be in trouble. The USFL should consider the fact that the USFL fans are watching the games. If the USFL can't find a way to get more fans into the games, then it will be in trouble. The USFL should consider the fact that the USFL fans are watching the games. If the USFL can't find a way to get more fans into the games, then it will be in trouble.