Nicaraguan insurgents denied aid by Congress

Associated Press

WASHINGTON The Democratic-controlled House last night rejected 248-180 President Reagan's proposal for $114 million in direct military aid to Contra insur­gents seeking to overthrow the left­ist government of Nicaragua. The same resolution was approved 53-46 by the Republican-controlled Senate only a few hours earlier.

Combined, the two votes set up a congressional confrontation over whether to allow Reagan to provide non-lethal assistance to the rebels.

In both houses, Reagan won some additional support with a last­minute pledge to reopen direct negotiations between the United States and the Sandinista govern­ment, a key issue in Democratic opposition to the so-called policy toward Central America.

Reagan also promised not to use the money until the end of the current fiscal year on Sept. 30.

The House vote was the first of three on aid to the Contras, and the two remaining alternatives were ex­pected to be much closer when votes are taken today.

One choice sponsored by House Democrats would require that the $114 million be spent through the United Nations or the International Red Cross for Nicaraguan refugees and to enforce any peace negotiated by countries in the Central American region.

The second alternative, proposed by House Republican leader Robert Michel of Illinois and supported by the president, would give recogni­tion to the Contras by distributing non-lethal aid to them through the United States Agency for Interna­tional Development.

In the Senate, 45 Republicans and 10 Democrats voted for the Contra aid proposal; 37 Democrats and nine Republicans voted against. Sen. John East, R-N.C., did not vote because he is in the hospital.

Specifically, the Senate approved an appropriation for "military or see AID, page 3

HPC to ask administration 'Why?' about rectors

The recent alleged firing of Car­roll President Steve Kears by Father Steve Gibson and the lack of published criteria by which the University chooses and evaluates rectors prompted the Hall Presidents' Council to address the issue at their meeting last night. An official statement will be given to Vice President for Student Affairs Father David Tyron later this week.

Carroll President Steve Kears brought up the fact that Gibson is stepping down from his position because he "does not fit the mold" of a rector in the University's eyes.

Recipe for a good time: Watch hockey, enjoy.

An excerpt from my favorite cookbook.

Take 12 slightly crazed French Canadians walidng long poles of timber, a slab of ice, a frozen rubber disc, and three men in zebra-striped shirts. Let night fall, stand their gritty shift at 15,000 noisy janitors. As a final touch, add a dash of champagne from Lord Stanley's favorite mug for incentive.

That, for the uninitiated, is the formula for The Playoffs, National Hockey League style. For the last six months, the NHL's 21 teams have skated their way through 80 regular season games. Now it's time to find a champion.

The race for the right to drink from the Stanley Cup, hockey's equivalent of the Super Bowl, becomes more exciting than in Canada and the U.S. join the Stanley Cup playoffs. Certainly, there are other diversions, but do you really want to sit out winter while the other teams compete at Tostal?

Ruckelshaus, former EPA chief, contrasts past agency experiences

By MARY CAROL CREADON Senior Staff Reporter

Public involvement in environmental issues is the answer to environmental Protection Agency effectiveness, said former EPA administrator William Ruckelshaus at last night's public talk in Washington Hall.

The agency's first administrator in 1970 and fifth in 1984, following Ann Burford's resignation, contrasted the issues facing the EPA in the 1970s with those of the 1980s.

"The people in Denver were desiring to see the mountains again while the people in LA were desiring to see each other," Ruckelshaus said of the agency's first years. Those days may be over.

"The only way progress will be made is if the American people learn to trust that the EPA is doing the right thing," Ruckelshaus stressed.

Ruckelshaus explained the EPA is being used by the public and industry "80 percent of the time" because there are so many conflicting interests.

The only way progress will be made is if the American people learn to trust that the EPA is doing the right thing, Ruckelshaus stressed.

"The only way progress will be made is if the American people learn to trust that the EPA is doing the right thing," Ruckelshaus stressed. "If you have 80 percent of the public massing to go trust a public agency in the way they are doing this, then there is something wrong with the EPA."

"The EPA needs to devise a system through legal action by which the people will be forced to respond to the real choices," said Ruckelshaus.

Why Cornell?

A great location. Study at one of the most beautiful by leaf campuses and spend the summer in the magnificent countryside of the Finger Lakes region. Located on forty-mile-long Cayuga Lake, Ithaca is a small cosmopolitan city with restaurants, nightlife, and all the urban advantages.

A great university. Choose from a remarkable variety of classes and learning opportunities--more than 300 courses taught by distinguished Cornell faculty members. The curriculum includes computer science, fine arts, pre-law and pre-med studies, and languages. Sign up for a few weeks or the entire summer. Courses are offered in three, six-, and eight week sessions.

A great adventure. Explore beautiful lakes and parks, a spectacular campus, and the Finger Lakes region. Enjoy swimming, sailing, tennis, golf, climbing, camping, scenic drives, biking, birding, and hiking. A rich and lively schedule of free outdoor concerts and theater makes Cornell an ideal place to meet people and make friends.

thinks the group of hall presidents can make positive steps in getting the administration to divulge what they want in a rector, therefore helping to determine why Gibson did not meet the criteria.

"Howard plans to invite Tyson to the next meeting to inform him of the council's concerns about the underfunded rector criteria," one hall president, who requested to remain anonymous, said. In other business, Howard announced that tomorrow is the last day to donate blood if it is to be counted on hall totals. Anyone can donate tomorrow between 10 a.m. and 3:50 p.m. at the infirmary.

"We are trying to work with the Red Cross," said Tyson. "We have to follow the rules by verifying what we're thinking about and what we think our objectives are. We need to see what kind of initiatives we are going to take."

With respect to U.S. Soviet relations, Rosati called for a freeze on testing, deployment, and research in the field of both nuclear and conventional weapons. "He also alluded to the possibility of a Reagan-Gorbachev summit." Rosati said. "I believe that (a summit) is a possibility and that there seems to be a desire on both sides that this happens," Rosati said.

The prevailing opinion overseas of Reagan and U.S. foreign policy is critical, Rosati said. He explained that many see confrontations throughout the world as confrontations between the two superpowers. "They (those overseas) are very critically especially about the fact that America's foreign policy seems to begin from a deductive position that very often is not based on certain principles," Rosati said.

In regard to the state of his own country, Rosati strongly supported the idea of a democracy and believes this form of government is working well in Italy. He explained that all of the different factions in Italy have been able to work with the democratic government ever since the adoption of a democratic constitution in the 1948 referendum.

"Over the years, both communists and the Catholics - have always had difficult moments but have always made references back to the democratic constitution," Rosati added.

"Please since Vatican II and Pope John XXIII, there has been a greater emphasis on the part of Catholics in regard to the importance of values such as justice and the fight against poverty," Rosati said.

He also explained that the traditional idea of peace as the fruit of justice for the poor is an "American idea of peace as the fruit of justice for the poor.

Retired ace discusses experiences, God, country, war

By BUD LUEPAGE
Senior Staff Reporter

America's top living air ace, retired Col. Francis Gabreski spoke last night on topics of God, country and war. Recalling several war stories, Gabreski's lecture focused on the timely use of war in defense of freedom.

Gabreski was a sophomore at Notre Dame when he joined the Air Force to fly in 1940. "I knew America would get into the war eventually and I wanted to make sure I was fighting in the air not on the ground," he said.

Gabreski was in Hawaii when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor. In 1943, Gabreski was sent to England, and in 1944, he volunteered to lead his squadrons into Germany. After bombing an airfield, he was forced to make a crash landing. He was a prisoner of war for 10 months.

During his tour in the European Theater of Operations, Gabreski destroyed 31 enemy fighters in aerial combat and three more on the ground. In Korea, Gabreski claimed 6.5 more enemy jets and became the eighth "pug ace" in history with over 5000 hours flying time, 4000 of which were in jet.

"We want to see what impact our policy has nothing to do with our students' needs. In the future, they may aid we realize that coffee does not sober a alcoholic. For example, do our students habits of our students and what our want to find out about the drinking said, "This is a follow-up survey. The students concerning drinking sample survey of 400 Saint Mary's students' drinking habits. "The enemy's gun and formed during the day," Rollman said. "The cause of death was attributed by his doctors to respiratory failure which occurred when his plane began to smoke with a German pilot in pur- pursuit. Gabreski said he prayed, "Lord, I am now in your hands." Gabreski's fear left him, and he put his plane in a tail spin to foil his adversary and escape in a cloud.

Among many other awards, Gabreski has received the Distinguished Service Medal, the Distinguished Service cross, and the Bronze Star as well as other decorations from Great Britain, France, Belgium, and Poland.

Gabreski said he fought against "the enemies of freedom" and for "the defense of Christianity." He said that while war should only be used as a last resort, it should not be avoided when values of God and country are at stake.

"Timely application of force of arms can be morally justified when other methods cannot. It comes down to a matter of civilization or no civilization," said Gabreski. It was said to the students of universities such as Notre Dame to help insure peace in the future. He appealed to international law and negotiations, but said that too many times after a just war, "we have come away from negotiations without a piece of the peace table."

"A pproximately 219 hogs escaped from the stock trailer. A few hogs were dead at the scene and the rest are running loose," Watts said. He added that officials weren't sure exactly how many hogs were killed.

"I am now in your hands," Gabreski's fear left him, and he put his plane in a tail spin to foil his adversary and escape in a cloud.

Engineers and scientists should also contribute to peace efforts. In times of national emergency, he said, "high technology has never failed us." He said the atomic bomb saved thousands of lives and that it was best for America to use it first because Hitler was so close to having it.

Gabreski stressed faith in God and values of freedom and democracy. But he also stressed the need to defend these beliefs against other beliefs existing "where vodka and caviar flow freely and human minds do not." Gabreski's lecture was sponsored by the Air Force ROTC.

After a question and answer session, Gabreski was given an Air Force ROTC jacket and a diploma.

There will be a mandatory meeting for all those still interested in being on the 1985 committee. April 24 at 7 p.m. New Orleans Room LaFortune.

All committee members must attend. Anyone staying over summer especially needed.
Tommy Shaw may not be the star in this weekend's MTV bash at the ACC. The life of the party is likely to be a Domer from New Jersey. His name is Kevin and he looks like just another guy from the Garden State — until he does his magic transformation. He becomes The Boss.

Herbert, a k.a. Bruce Springsteen, was the winner of Notre Dame's Rock-Alike contest and will represent the University in the national Rock-Alike finals to be held before the Shaw concert Saturday night.

In anticipation of his performance, MTV took Kevin Herbert, a Stanford Hall freshman, to dinner on Monday evening. Then they took him to lunch on Tuesday. Then they introduced him to a girl named Nina and put him in front of a camera. Better than that, they did all that in New York City. And best of all, you can see it on television.

Tonight at 6 o'clock, MTV will broadcast a Nina Blackwood interview with Notre Dame's own Boss. Monday morning, Kevin was already mentally preparing for the Rock-Alike competition. "I'm really excited about Rock-Alike and performing and about the home crowd advantage." The event is being held at Notre Dame to reward the University's victory over 12 other schools in the MS fundraiser drive.

Although the performers will be judged by a panel of five judges including Tommy Shaw, Nina Blackwood, and MS Organizer Bev Noyes, Herbert said, "The biggest thing for me is the student support at this thing. I want everybody to let MTV know that there is support of their candidate." He hopes "the 12 million American households watching have a good impression of the MS campaign, because they're trying to expand it for next year."

His competition includes "a really good Billy Idol from the University of Iowa and a girl from the University of Wisconsin as Cyndi Lauper." Herbert added, "altogether there are three Billy Idols, another Bruce, Huey Lewis, and Mick Jagger" among the competition.

But Herbert is confident he has at least a 50-50 chance, because "I do look a lot like Bruce," He even wants to work an American flag into his act. "I think it will really be an awesome performance. If I don't knock the microphone over when I swing around with my guitar, I think I will be alright." Herbert explained that he became involved in the Rock-Alike Contest after the Millions Against MS committee publicized the event. "People had told me I look like Bruce Springsteen," Herbert said. "And I like Bruce so I thought I'd give it a shot and be Bruce for a song.

Herbert was introduced to Springsteen music by his older brother, Gus, who also lives in New York. In preparation for the performance, Herbert said he will perform "Born in The U.S.A." It always makes him think of his guitar. "I listen to the song a couple of times a day. I look in the mirror to see if the words, the lip sync, is right. The key is getting the words down, but the biggest problem was getting used to the guitar."

Herbert doesn't plan to do anything special for Saturday night. "I just try to put myself in Bruce Springsteen's shoes." Herbert said, "We look alike, plus we're the same height and from the same state."

"I think about the words in the song," Herbert continued. "I think about what he's saying about Vietnam. There's a lot of emotion. It gets me psyched up."

The peak of the concert, with the crowd at its most packed, was the song "Dirty White Boys" and "Hot Blooded." The audience went nuts. Lead guitarist, Mick Jones jammed furiously until the song ended, and so did the juke box, in a flash of smoke. The audience went home very pleased.

Opening the concert was Giufre, a hard rock quintet from New Jersey. His name is Kevin and he looks like just another guy from the Garden State — until he does his magic transformation. He becomes The Boss.

Notre Dame has lost the activism of the past era

An old friend, a Notre Dame alumnus, is coming to town. We met in the late 60s in a course on church history taught by Professor William Storey. Twelve years have gone by since we last met: I was out of the country when he returned to campus for his tenth year reunion.

Narrowing down to the Elite Eight . . .

BY FRANK HUERMER (Sports Writer)

With final exams fast approaching, interest in intramural activities is hitting a lull. Teams are giving it one last shot to carry their team into the various tournaments and divisions.

Only four teams remain in the 22- team field for the men's basketball tournament. In the Backs Division, Holy Cross owns the top spot with an 8-0 victory and the division crown. Meanwhile, 1-0-0, was able to steal the win from Catholic University in the first round.

The Terrier Division saw two teams with the same record of 1-0-0. These teams will meet tomorrow night to compete for the championship. In the last round of the tournament, the Sweet Sixteen will pair off the eight teams in the tournament.

One sport that is growing quickly in popularity is lacrosse. However, only one can go on to capture the top spot.

The men's basketball tournament is fierce, however. Holy Cross has been on top of the Blue Jay Division as it has defeated all of its opponents. Reaching the final four, the Blue Jays battled both at 2-1-2. Carroll (1-1).

The top four teams will capture the top spot. Keenan, Off-Campus, Cunningham and Flanner all are 2-1-2. Grace (2-1-2) and St. Ed's (0-0-3) complete the Blue Jay Division. The team open soccer round robin is fierce, however. Holy Cross holds three of the top four spots. The remaining spot belongs to Morrissey and Planner. Following close behind are Rice and St. Ed's.

Irish linebackers continue progress over spring

By MARTY BURNS
Sports Writer

The injuries which decimated the Notre Dame football team a year ago could mean it may never have been a total waste after all.

The fact that several raw talents emerged into capable players with the exception of a few, among those the injuries mean that the Irish linebacking corp should be an extremely strong one this season.

"There will be a battle between Weissenhofer and Kovaleski for the inside linebacker spots," says Kelly. "Mike has the knack for making the switch from nose tackle. Although McCabe played rather well in his injured teammates, his progress has been hindered by nagging injuries. The 6-3, 221 lb. Buffer, meanwhile, saw less action than did McCabe, but made significant strides this spring toward getting some game time."

To the side of these players will be another inside linebacker - the strong side linebacker. A lot of this comes from 6-2, 218 lb. Mike Kovaleski and 6-3, 224 lb. Ron Weissenhofer are neck-and-neck in the race.

Kovaleski, who broke his calf before the end of the year, and who has to continue to work hard, "Weissenhofer, unlike many from the inside linebacking spots are 6-1, 218 lb. sophomore Greg Harris, and 6-0, 205 lb. sophomore Tom Galoway."

In all, Kelly seems pleased with the play of his men this spring, and he notes that many more players missing in the past couple of years are returning.

"This has been a very good spring for us, but we've had so many more players missing in the past, just so many have been able to participate this spring has given us a better look at the personnel we have," says Kelly.

"It's difficult these days for one set of linebackers to play the entire game. We have much more confidence this spring in the backup positions.

Confidence is what Bishop Harris must have felt when he looked at his array of experienced outside linebackers this spring. He saw returning starters Robert Banks and Rick Dillernard, plus substitute Cedric Figaro, and newcomer Mike Larkin, who moved over to the outside after starring at the inside linebacker last season.

Actually, Harris has seen little spring from the 6-5, 236 lb. Dillernard. The junior from Garden City, Kans., had surgery recently to his wrist, and is expected to remain out of action until the fall. But, then again, Harris has already seen Dillernard's 30 tackles last season, and he knows his extensive capabilities.

"Dillernard will definitely play a major role," says Harris. "He played an awful lot for us last fall, and we'll count on him heavily again this year.

The 6-1, 221 lb. Larkin, meanwhile, has used the spring to its fullest to ratchet himself to the same outside position where he had worked last spring. Injuries to key personnel on the inside, however, forced Larkin to abandon the experimental and move back over to his old position.

Robert Banks, and 6-3, 235 lb. Freshman Cedric Figaro. Banks has seen a great deal of action this spring, and he has continued to play like he did in the fall when he started all 11 contests and registered 68 tackles.

"Banks improved every game last year," notes Harris, "and he has a great attitude this spring. He's a much improved player."

Harris even has more inspiring words for Figaro, who made 30 tackles last year while filling in for injured starters.

"Figaro is probably one of the best freshmen in the nation," says Harris. "He has the potential to be a great player. He just has to keep working hard like he's in the spring so far."

6-3, 190 lb. freshman Darrel Gore don and 6-4, 200 lb. sophomore Lee Rizaeu also have played some downs this spring at the position.

Inside and outside, this spring the Fighting Irish appear to have the quality athletes and the necessary depth.

Notre Dame baseball squad splits a twinbill

By SEAN MURPHY
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame baseball team split a twinbill with the Flyers of Louisiana University yesterday, bringing its record to 16-22-1 in the process. After losing by a score of 9-4, the Irish bounced back to score an impressive 11-5 victory in game 2.

In the first game, Irish pitcher Dan Saccio (3-5) lasted only two-thirds of an inning, giving up four walks and a two-run double. Lebanese native Kevin Fournier, playing the run, saw the Irish in the middle for the Irish as he saw six innings and gave up only three earned runs. Senior Jason Schumacher came on in relief and was awarded the save. For the Flyers, junior Pat McRae was pulled in the second inning after giving up five runs.

The Irish took the lead in the third for the Irish in game 2, two belonged to senior captain Jackie Moran and sophomore John Loughran. Moran was 4-for-5 and scored three times, while Loughran collected three hits on four as bases.

One of Moran's runs was batted in by junior Rich Vanhouten, on a record-tying line drive hit to centerfield. The hit was Vanhouten's seventh of the season, tying the record set by Mike Metzler last year.

The Irish moved to 16-22-1 with the win, while the Flyers fell to 30-15. Notre Dame will travel to Ohio State Thursday to face Bowling Green in another non-conference doubleheader.

Exciting action marks yesterday's play as Bookstore field cut to 16

By PHIL WOLF
Assistant Sports Editor

Most of the games were not as close as might have been expected this far into the tournament, but the fifth round of Bookstore Basketball XIV did have its share of nail-biting action.

There were a few close contests, a couple blowouts and some great individual efforts. There was crowd support and refereeing errors. And there was some good basketball as the “Sweet Sixteen” emerged from the original field of 56 teams.

One of the most closely contested games of the day was on Stepan 4 at 5:00, when The Chairmen of the Board met Four Fags and a Zahnmbie. It took 22 points, but the Howard-Zahn combination put the Chairmen out of the tournament with excellent outside shooting. The winners disqualified their opponents, 22-20.

Zahnmbie Chris Campbell hit 6-of-7 for his team, while Howard's Dan Michelinelli were 6-of-10. Jeff Jones was 6-of-15 for the Chairmen, and trammeur Dan Kerrigan pegged 6-of-14.

The Board members were able to outboard the freshmen, 17-16. Howard’s John Pannit hit all four of his shots, while Chairman Dave DET- mer was a perfect 3-of-3.

The next game on Stepan 4 pitted Mr. Coffey and the Non Dairy Creamers against Revenge of the Red Barons, shown reaching for the ball yesterday.

The Creamers got creamed would be as puns are getting worn out). At the half, Mr. Coffey was a perfect 3-of-3. The Non Dairy Creamers against Revenge of the Red Barons, 21-15, with a 26-19 margin on the boards and some good shooting. Keith Sawasya hit half of his 20 shots, mostly from the outside, for the Warriors and pulled down seven rebounds. Allyn Morris hit 6-of-8 and crashed the boards successfully six times. Steve Veselick got inside well to hit 6-of-12 and grabbed six rebounds for the clockless losers.

Eight teams advance in Women's Bookstore; action continues today

By MICHAEL FLANNERY
Sports Writer

Four of the ‘Elite Eight’ have been chosen. Four others will make it today. But those teams who were victorious yesterday won’t have long to celebrate. The women’s 1985 Bookstore Tournament is winding down to a furious finish.

Four games played yesterday pitted ‘Sweet Sixteen’ teams against each other, with the winners gaining a spot in the final eight-team bracket. Yesterday’s four other winners merely gained entrance into the “Sweet Sixteen” and will face each other in the quarterfinal games on Wednesday.

The other four games yesterday were for a spot in the ‘Elite Eight’.
