Bizarre chase scene awakens Grace Hall; student nabs intruder

By MARK PANKOWSKI

A Fort Wayne man was placed in police custody after a Grace Hall resident chased a woman he believed to be a thief down 16 flights of stairs before apprehending her Thursday morning.

Although the suspect admitted to being in the hall, he was released later that day because Fort Wayne police neglected to read him his rights, said Glenn Terry, Notre Dame Security director.

While Grace Hall residents slept, the suspect was allegedly entering unlocked rooms and stealing items ranging from after-shave lotion to buffalo hats and suitcases, said Terry.

A female acquaintance of the suspect, believed to be a "victim of circumstance," was standing in the hallway at the time of the thefts, he said.

After she was apprehended and questioned, the 19-year-old led investigators to the suspect whom then had made his way to Fort Wayne, Terry said.

The circumstance then was allowed to go, Terry said.

In the meantime, all possessions allegedly stolen were found in the dorm's storeroom, and will be returned to the owners after being checked for fingerprints, he said.

The suspect and his acquaintance were interviewed by police in the dorm to a propped-open door, said Father Gerald Landrard, Grace Hall rector.

The bizarre incident, in which Vice President for Student Affairs Father David Tyson vanquished a pair of pants to the underwear- clad student, began when sophomore Joe Hills was woken up by "someone knocking around my desk," Hills said.

"I guess he heard me because he asked me if I was awake," recounted Hills. "He then said, 'I'm bored, let me walk in front of me,' he said.

"It was weird because he was in my underwear and I told him this girl had been stealing. He was in his bathrobe," Hills said. "He told her to come inside this room (his room) and he gave her some pants.

"But they were too big." Tyson then called Security, said Hills.

Investigators were sent to Fort Wayne with the woman, who was pointed out where she lived to official, he said.

The woman then was let go, said Terry, because "we felt like she was a victim of circumstance. She didn't know what was going on.

"The suspected thief was at the woman's home, but when searched, no stolen property was found," Terry said.

Terry blamed Fort Wayne police for allowing the suspect to go free. "When the Fort Wayne police began interviewing him, they didn't read him his rights," Terry said.

"The police couldn't even word an edgewise," he said. "Now we can't use his admission.

Security is continuing its investigation in the hope that new evidence can be found, said Terry. "We're gathering all the information we can so we can get a warrant from the prosecutor's office."

Terry is not worried about the suspect, Hills, and his acquaintance leaving town, he said.

We know who both of them are.

quote copyeditor

Holy Cross lease won't be renewed as plans for new dorms progress

By MARK DILLON

Residents of Holy Cross Hall at Notre Dame will be moving in the future.

"Holy Cross Hall will be vacated as soon as funds can be raised for a new dormitory," Thomas Mason, vice president for business affairs said.

Previously a high school seminary for the Congregation of Holy Cross, Holy Cross Hall was leased to the University of Notre Dame for a ten-year period beginning in 1967. In 1977, the lease was renewed for another 10 years. The lease apparently will not be renewed.

In a 1981 architectural study of all dormitories on the Notre Dame campus, Holy Cross Hall was found to be in need of major renovations.

"The roof, walls, exterior skin, plumbing, electricity and life safety systems were all in need of renovation," Physical Plant Director Donald Dedrick said. Approximately $2 million was needed to renovate the building.

Following the 1981 study, Notre Dame renovated those components of Holy Cross Hall essential to maintain current safety standards. All life safety systems, including fire alarms, hall calls and stairwells, meet current regulations.

The Congregation of Holy Cross offered Notre Dame a long-term lease at the time of the study. Notre Dame, however, rejected the offer.

"We felt the money needed for the renovation would be better utilized in constructing new dormitories," Mason said.

Holy Cross Treasurer Father Carl Ebey said, "The Congregation of Holy Cross is in need of more space. It is safe to assume that both Notre Dame and the Congregation would be well served if the lease is not extended."

"The lease for Holy Cross Hall is up in 1987 at which time Notre Dame will have 18 months to decide on renewal," Ebey said.

Ebey, however, expects a decision within the next six months.

The major concern with this decision will be availability of funds. The University fundraising committee is looking into possible donors for the proposed buildings.

Although there are no definite plans on the drawing board for the new buildings, a conceptual view already has been formulated.

"We are looking in two dorms similar to the Pasquerillas only slightly larger. Each would have a capacity of about 300 students and would be located between the Pasquerillas and the library," Dedrick said.

"Picture the Pasquerillas flipped horizontally to the space by the library. There would be courtyards and a landscaped area facing the library instead of the towns," he added.

It is not known yet whether one of the dorms will be for women.

ND/SMC security increased in wake of last spring's rape

By LAURA S. GRONEK

The rape of a Saint Mary's student last year has caused the Notre Dame/Saint Mary's community to focus more attention on personal safety.

The girl, who was raped during commencement week last year, had been walking alone wearing a Walkman along the road between Notre Dame and Saint Mary's, and was approximately 100 yards away from E.S. 31 when a man attacked and raped her, Director of Notre Dame Security Glenn Terry said.

The报表 evidently had been lurking in the area for some time that the girl was waiting for a lonesome, Terry said.

The girl was the first rape victim on either the Notre Dame or Saint Mary's campus in seven years. "It's an unusual, isolated case," Terry said. "We haven't had this type of thing reported in years."

Both campuses, however, believe that one incident is one too many. Terry said, and strongly encourage stu­dents to guarantee their own safety. Sister Carol Jackowski, Saint Mary's dean of student affairs, issued a newsletter at the outset of this year which encouraged students to protect themselves against assault.

One way to learn how to prevent personal assault is to participate in Personal Safety Week to be held Oct. 3 through 8. Activities during the week will address various aspects of personal safety and crime prevention.

An informative pamphlet entitled "Sexual Assault" also is available from the Department of Residence Life. Besides tips on how to defend oneself, the handout offers information on how to contact campus if an assault should occur, steps to take in reporting the crime, and ways to deal with the emotional effects of an attack.

In a similar attempt to help students, Notre Dame Security purchased a slide and tape set called "An Act of Violence." Associate Director of Security Rex Rakow said this 20-minute presentation is "a good basic report on being aware of what's around you. We're hoping to get them out in the dorms if there is any interest."

Notre Dame Security offered the following tips to prevent personal assaults:

• Take advantage of the Transpo shuttle service that runs between Notre Dame and Saint Mary's.

• Call security for an escort on foot or by car to and from both campuses.

• Walk in large groups (four or more). Don't travel alone.

• "Traveling alone is just leaving yourself open to an assault. Remember that you are your own best guarantee of safety," Jackowski said.
Finding food remained a major problem yesterday for thousands of people along the Mississippi Gulf Coast in the wake of Hurricane Elena's onslaught that wrecked stores and turned off refrigerators. An additional 150 utility linemen were called in from Alabama and Georgia by Mississippi Power Co. to help restore electricity to more than 50,000 customers still powerless since the hurricane hit land on Labor Day. At the height of the storm, Missis­issippi Power had 80,000 customers out of service. For a second straight day, there were long lines at the few grocery stores and supermarkets that had reopened in Harrison and Jackson counties, and lines of 15 cars were common at gas stations. —AP

Of Interest

The Observer, the student insurance policy inquiries will be answered today by Dan Newman, manager for G M Underwriters, Inc., when he visits campus this afternoon from 1 to 6 the University Health Services. -The Observer

The Notre Dame Army ROTC group will be honored with a ceremony this afternoon at 4:30 in the Memorial Library auditorium. -The Observer

No more Emill will be the cry tonight when sop­homore celebrate their thesaurin. The engineering auditorium will be the place from 10 to midnight for Emill impersonations, a bonfire, and an Emill parade. -The Observer

Judge Richard Posner of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit will speak on "The Ethics of Wealth Maximization" today at 4:30 in the Law School student lounge. The Thomas White Center on Law and Government is sponsoring the lecture. -The Observer

The ND-SMC Young Democrats will have their first meeting tonight at 7 in the New Orleans room in LaFon­the Observere. -The Observer

Interested debaters are requested to attend an in­formational meeting of the Notre Dame Debating Club today at 4:15 in Room G2 of the Memorial Library. -The Observer

Weather

Another steam bath. Mostly cloudy today with a 40 percent chance of thun­derstorms. High around 85. Partly cloudy with the low in the lower 70s tonight. Hot and humid tomorrow with a 20 percent chance of afternoon thunderstorms. High in the lower 90s. —AP

Tickets for the Alabama concert will go on sale at the CHS desk in LaFon­there Observerere tomorrow morning at 9. Only 500 of the $15/50 tickets are available for the Oct. 6 concert at the ACC. There is a limit of two tickets per person, and a valid Notre Dame or Saint Mary's ID is required for purchase. -The Observer

With the demise of the Nazz, late night studying fades away

It's after midnight and you realize that you have eight hours of reading ahead of you before you can possibly lead the discussion in class tomorrow morning on St. Augustine.

Knowing your chances of staying awake all night are slim in the same area as your sleeping roommate, you head for the Nazz. The company might be just the thing you need except for another cup of coffee. There may be no one there to keep you awake when you do stumble over to the Nazz, mainly because it does not exist anymore. The 24-hour study lounge in the stu­d­the Observerdent center has entered the history books.

According to Balt Sealy, director of student activities, none of the renovated student center will be open 24 hours. "The building is not being built as a giant study hall," she said.

Although late-night study was discussed while the renovation plans were being made, it was decided not to include an area for this activity in the building. "This is not an academic building. It is designed to enhance sociability," she said.

These decisions were not made without reason, however. Neal cited a liability problem as one of the reasons the Nazz, or an area with a similar use, was eliminated from renovation plans. Anything that occurs in the student center, regardless of the time of day, is the responsibility of the University. "It's a lot harder to find people if there is potential," she said.

Neal also cited examples of robbery which have occurred in LaFon­there Observerere, ranging from furnitures to posters.

Glen Terry, director of Notre Dame security, said there are also security risks involved in a late-night study area. "Non-campus people tend to stroll around and create an impression of an empty building," he said. He said the manpower needed to patrol an area where late-night study occurs is just not present at the University. "We have three groups of people, most of the time two, to patrol the grounds," she said.

"If there's a group of students, which is a small group congregating, there are going to be risks," Terry said.

All of these leaves the student of St. Augustine, or any student for that matter, with a bit of problem. With the elimination of the Nazz, there really is no other place to study all night. Dorm rooms often are not conducive to study because of roommates and inviting beds. If you plan on using dorm study lounges, you had better make sure that your study group is single-sex because parti­ents eliminates mixed groups.

I am a famous ND Alumnus; I pitch for the L.A. Dodgers.

You've heard my songs on the radio. I sell used cars at Barney's. WHO AM I?

Answer: Pat Sajak. Check tomorrow's paper for answer.

Think Before You Drink

For A Relaxed Evening Out

Homestyle Italian Food

Innoco Poppole's

BEGROTTO

Restaurant

Only 7 Blocks

From Campus

ND Ave.

S.B. Ave.

"Come once—we know you'll come back."
Saint Mary's plans fall activities

By THERESA GUARINO
Saint Mary's Executive Editor

College activities for the first half of the fall semester were outlined at last night's Programming Board meeting.

Traditional Events Commissioner Sonni O'Dell described some of the events presented in conjunction with the College's annual Oktoberfest and Founder's Day.

Oktoberfest, Oct. 9 and 10, will include the traditional beer garden for those 21 and older, and the root beer tent. A deejay will entertain students at both tents. Also on the agenda for Oktoberfest is a bonfire, a tentatively planned pig roast, and a German dinner, served outdoors this year. "The Sound of Music" will give way to a double feature of "Raiders of the Lost Ark" and "Indiana Jones and the Temple of Doom."

Founder's Day, Oct. 15, is the day traditionally celebrated as the birthday of the College. A "walk through time" picture show, a special dinner catered by SAGA and birthday cakes will be part of the festivities. New this year is a writing contest with a Founder's Day theme, which carries a $50 prize for the winner.

Trudie Landfield, entertainment commissioner, described the new "That's Entertainment" series of programs this semester. "It's a monthly program to utilize the Har­gar Center," she said. "We'll use lo­cal and professional talent. It will be a type of coffeehouse."

The series will begin September 25 with John Kennedy, an Irish singer.

Three crosses stolen from St. Ed's

By MARK PANKOWSKI
Copy Editor

Notre Dame Security is continuing its investigation into the Monday night theft of three "irreplaceable" stations of the cross at St. Edward's Hall chapel.

Theft occurred away from the entrance, security said.

Pedi said, "They had to walk across the chapel to steal it."

Terry said he believed students may have stolen them as a prank, but Pedi had no idea who had taken the stations.

Pedi will not purchase a new set of stations.

"What one has to have for each station is a small wooden cross, the rest is decoration," he said. "It was a case of someone seeing something they wanted and taking it."

The stations, numbers one, two and eight, were discovered missing at approximately 10 p.m. Monday, according to senior Kevin McEllan, president of the WHC.

The problem is they're irreplaceable because when one goes through the devotion, one stops at each station, all 14 of them," he said.

"You can't pick and choose them."

World Hunger Coalition continues Wednesday fast

By DAVID T. LEE
News Staff

Many students will feel a hunger pang once a week during lunch this semester.

No, it is not a protest boycott of the dining halls. Instead, it is Notre Dame's version of USA for Africa - the World Hunger Coalition. The campaign will be held weekly on lunch this year. The WHC's version of USA for Africa - the World Hunger Coalition. The campaign involves a voluntary fast by students during lunch each Wednesday, according to senior Kevin Moser, president of the WHC.

In return, University Food Services has agreed to pledge $5 for every meal that a student skips.

A coalition of student groups is to have solidarity with poor people around the world to help the hungry. The project involves a voluntary fast by students during lunch each Wednesday, according to senior Kevin Moser, president of the WHC. In return, University Food Services has agreed to pledge $5 for every meal that a student skips.

"Notre Dame's version of USA for Africa - the World Hunger Coalition. The campaign involves a voluntary fast by students during lunch each Wednesday, according to senior Kevin Moser, president of the WHC. In return, University Food Services has agreed to pledge $5 for every meal that a student skips.

Although the Wednesday fast is the primary project for the WHC, the group also operates various functions throughout South Bend and Notre Dame during the year. The coalition helps out a soup kitchen downtown, and sponsors such projects as a Thanksgiving food basket, the Crop Walk on Palm Sunday, and simple meals at the dining halls.

Students can sign up for the fast today and tomorrow during dinner at both dining halls. Sign ups will also be held during mass in the halls on Sunday. Students interested in joining the WHC can attend the next meeting which will take place Mon­day at 7:30 in the Center for Social Concerns.
Police believe suspect in custody gets stay of execution

Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Calif. - Fingerprints found in the apartment of an elderly woman killed 15 months ago match those of Richard Ramirez, the man accused of being the "Night Stalker" linked to at least 14 slayings this year, police said yesterday.

Police Chief Daryl Gates said police are reviewing all unsolved homicides, burglaries, kidnappings and molestations since 1981 to determine any link to the recent six-month string of violent attacks that have terrorized California.

Investigators are "looking back on all of our homicide files that have strange circumstances," Gates said.

Religious groups criticize Reagan

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Prominent religious groups, while praising President Reagan for trying to revive a "jungle-of-injustices" tax system, are complaining his plan would still do too little for the poor and too much for the rich.

In broadsides issued as members of Congress began returning from summer recess, a large coalition of religious groups also said further help for the poor should not come at the expense of middle income Americans.

The bishops' statement was submitted to the House Ways and Means Committee.

And the Protestant-Jewish coalition, Interfaith Action for Economic Justice, called Reagan's plan "an assault on the progressivity of the tax system," referring to the skewing of the system so wealthy people pay a higher percentage of income in taxes.

Barbara Letcher, an attorney for the Coalition of Cooperating Congregations, said, "The administration is not addressing the issue of social justice."

But the group also contended in a nine-page "evaluation" sent to the congressional tax-writing committee that the plan "would only partially make up for the tax increases sustained by the poor since 1978 and would continue to allow some families to be taxed into poverty."

The coalition's membership list includes agencies of the United Methodist Church, the Presbyterian Church, the Evangelical United Brethren Church, the United Church of Christ, the American Baptist Churches in the United States, the Church of the Brethren (Disciples of Christ) and the Union of American Hebrew Congregations.

The bishops' statement was submitted to the House Ways and Means Committee by Monsignor Daniel Roye, general secretary of the U.S. Catholic Conference.

Death row prisoner gets stay of execution

Associated Press

STARKVILLE, Miss. - Convicted murderer Willie Darden, spared by the U.S. Supreme Court from execution 2 ½ years before his scheduled execution yesterday, returned his life on Florida's death row, where he has lived longer than any inmate except one.

Just before midnight Tuesday, a sharply divided U.S. Supreme Court granted him an indefinite stay, blocking the execution in the electric chair set for 7 a.m. at Florida State Prison near Starke.

Darden, convicted of gunning down a Lakeland furniture store owner in a robbery that netted $15, was with his girlfriend, stepson and brother-in-law when word of the stay was received.

He had rates was to be his last meal of scallops, oysters, shrimp and lobster and his belongings had been handled up and labeled for disposal.

They said he was immediately relieved," said Vernon Bradfield, spokesman for the Department of Corrections. "He's been relieved, but the suffering will go on because he knows it's (an execution) date is coming back."

Darden has survived three death warrants, a record that officials said previously was held by convicted police killer Carl Ray Seeger, who remains on death row.

When Gov. Bob Graham signed the first death warrant, the names were those of Darden and John Speakman, executed in May 1979 for the murder of a travelling companion.
Chemical leaks threaten Midwest

Associated Press

Fumes at a Kentucky plant sickened at least 72 people yesterday, an estimated 2,000 people in Ohio evacuated after an acid leak, and crews in Illinois righted a tank car of a potentially hazardous chemical after a train derailment.

In New Jersey, 71 construction workers at a nuclear power plant site were treated for neck pains, chills and nausea, said Kevin Barnett, public relations director for Mary Chiles Hospital in Mount Sterling. None of the 72 people sent there were admitted.

The state Occupational Safety and Health Program had received two complaints about employees being ill and passing out at the plant before yesterday's incident, said Michael Salyers, director of compliance.

The agency tried to investigate, but the firm refused to allow inspectors inside, Salyers said. A search warrant was obtained and an inspection of classes at three elementary schools and one junior high.

Police Maj. James Fetterman said no injuries were reported, other than eye, throat and skin irritation, after the leak at the Gregory Galvanizing and Metal Processing Inc. plant.

Jim Irwin, an emergency response worker with the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency, said about 3,000 gallons of the acid leaked from a crack in a 5,000 gallon fiberglass tank outside the plant.

Cowden officials at the company's offices in Lexington declined comment.

Hydrochloric acid leaking from a ruptured tank at a galvanizing plant in Canton, Ohio, formed a dangerous cloud and forced a three-hour evacuation of about 2,000 people. The leak also forced cancellation of classes at three elementary schools and one junior high.

Police Maj. James Fetterman said no injuries were reported, other than eye, throat and skin irritation, after the leak at the Gregory Galvanizing and Metal Processing Inc. plant.

The state Occupational Safety and Health Program had received two complaints about employees being ill and passing out at the plant before yesterday's incident, said Michael Salyers, director of compliance.

The agency tried to investigate, but the firm refused to allow inspectors inside, Salyers said. A search warrant was obtained and an inspection of classes at three elementary schools and one junior high.

Police Maj. James Fetterman said no injuries were reported, other than eye, throat and skin irritation, after the leak at the Gregory Galvanizing and Metal Processing Inc. plant.

Jim Irwin, an emergency response worker with the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency, said about 3,000 gallons of the acid leaked from a crack in a 5,000 gallon fiberglass tank outside the plant.

Cowden officials at the company's offices in Lexington declined comment.

Hydrochloric acid leaking from a ruptured tank at a galvanizing plant in Canton, Ohio, formed a dangerous cloud and forced a three-hour evacuation of about 2,000 people. The leak also forced cancellation of classes at three elementary schools and one junior high.

Police Maj. James Fetterman said no injuries were reported, other than eye, throat and skin irritation, after the leak at the Gregory Galvanizing and Metal Processing Inc. plant.

Jim Irwin, an emergency response worker with the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency, said about 3,000 gallons of the acid leaked from a crack in a 5,000 gallon fiberglass tank outside the plant.

Cowden officials at the company's offices in Lexington declined comment.

Hydrochloric acid leaking from a ruptured tank at a galvanizing plant in Canton, Ohio, formed a dangerous cloud and forced a three-hour evacuation of about 2,000 people. The leak also forced cancellation of classes at three elementary schools and one junior high.

Police Maj. James Fetterman said no injuries were reported, other than eye, throat and skin irritation, after the leak at the Gregory Galvanizing and Metal Processing Inc. plant.

Jim Irwin, an emergency response worker with the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency, said about 3,000 gallons of the acid leaked from a crack in a 5,000 gallon fiberglass tank outside the plant.
Carnage in Lebanon continues to mount

Associated Press

BERUIT, Lebanon - A car bomb exploded yesterday at a market in Zahlé, a Christian enclave in the Syrian-controlled Bekaa Valley. A Christian radio station said at least 10 people were killed and 50 wounded.

Israeli airplanes attacked a Palestinian guerrilla base about six miles southwest of Zahlé three hours later, in their 11th raid inside Lebanon this year. The Tel Aviv military command said the base at Qubb Elia was a key post of the Palestinian Arab Revolutionary Committee, a Libyan-backed group.

In Beirut, Shiite Muslims kidnapped a Palestinian guerrilla bastioned around a refugee camp in the southern district. Police said five civilians were killed, including two Shiite children, and 27 were wounded.

The Zahlé car bomb was the sixth in Lebanon since Aug. 14. At least 140 people were killed and 250 wounded by the five earlier explosions in Christian and Moslem areas.

Yesterday's bombing, at Zahlé's vegetable market, occurred at 3:20 p.m. The Christian radio Voice of Lebanon said the bomb also set a fuel depot afire in the Christian city of 100,000 in the predominantly Moslem area of eastern Lebanon.

It said Red Cross and civil defense teams pulled out 10 bodies from the rubble, and 50 wounded people were taken to hospitals in the mountain resort city 25 miles east of Beirut.

Police said the bomb, estimated at 350 pounds of TNT, was rigged in a Renault sedan. The blast tore a 3-foot deep hole in the street.

Women smokers may lessen chances of uterine cancer

Associated Press

BOSTON, Mass. - Older women who smoke heavily may actually lower their risk of cancer of the uterus, possibly because cigarettes reduce their estrogen secretions, a new study suggests. But the researchers caution that the dangers of smoking far outweigh any potential benefits.

"The significance of this is the lead that it provides for potentially understanding the cause of endometrial cancer," said Dr. Harvey Fineberg, dean of the Harvard School of Public Health.

"To consider smoking in order to decrease your risk of uterine cancer is like looking for a gas leak with a lighted match. It would be foolish," he added in an interview.

The study found that the risk of cancer of the lining of the uterus, or endometrium, is lower than usual among heavy smokers who have passed menopause, the researchers wrote in today's New England Journal of Medicine.

The researchers speculated the reason could have something to do with lowering estrogen secretions.

In general, the risk of endometrial cancer was 30 percent lower among smokers than non-smokers. However, virtually all the difference was seen among postmenopausal heavy smokers, whose risk was cut in half.

There was no significant protective effect for light smokers or premenopausal women who smoked.

Dr. Noel Weiss of the University of Washington, in an accompanying editorial, noted that about 100 of every 100,000 women past menopause in the United States get cancer of the endometrium yearly, and about 20 percent of them die of the disease.

2 killed, 6 injured during Sikh attack

Associated Press

NEW DELHI, India - Three suspected Sikh extremists firing machine guns burst into a city council office yesterday and killed a prominent politician who was a close friend of the prime minister. A bodyguard also was slain and six people were reported wounded.

Maj. Arjun Dass, 40, said he had been injured and a member of the Congress Party of Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi. Gandhi called an emergency meeting to review security in New Delhi.

In the state of Punjab, which has been beset by Sikh violence for more than a year, two terrorists riding a motor scooter opened fire in an industrial area of Jalandhar city. Police in the northern state said two people were injured, but gave no further details.

A series of coordinated attacks Tuesday by Sikh extremists in Punjab villages took the lives of four Hindus and injured 12 others. Hindus are a religious minority in all of India except the Punjab.

Authorities believed the spate of violence was intended to sabotage Punjab's Sept. 25 elections, which are being boycotted by Sikh militants.

Officials responded by ordering a dusk-to-dawn curfew on a section of Punjab's border with Pakistan. An official announcement said the curfew would remain in force until Sept. 30.

Dass, a member of the Delhi Metropolitan Council, was named by civil liberties groups as one of 16 Congress Party leaders who allegedly instigated anti-Sikh riots following the assassination last Oct. 31 of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi.

At least 2,700 people died in the four-day riots, including almost 2,200 Sikhs in New Delhi alone. Another Congress Party politician linked to the riots, national lawmaker Lalit Maken, was assassinated at his home July 31.

No arrests have been made. Police said they did not know whether Dass was slain because of his alleged role in the riots or as part of attempts to undermine the elections for a new 111-member Punjab legislature and 13 seats in the national parliament.

Police last night released photographs of four men, three bearded and turbaned and one clean-shaven. A television announcer said the four, who were not named, were believed involved in a number of crimes, but he did not say they were suspects in Dass's murder.

The clean-shaven man was Lai Singh, a Sikh terrorist wanted by the FBI for allegedly plotting to kill Rajiv Gandhi during the Indian leader's visit to the United States in June. Indian police also were seeking Lai Singh in connection with Maken's death.

Women smokers may lessen chances of uterine cancer

Associated Press

BOSTON, Mass. - Older women who smoke heavily may actually lower their risk of cancer of the uterus, possibly because cigarettes reduce their estrogen secretions, a new study suggests. But the researchers caution that the dangers of smoking far outweigh any potential benefits.

"The significance of this is the lead that it provides for potentially understanding the cause of endometrial cancer," said Dr. Harvey Fineberg, dean of the Harvard School of Public Health.

"To consider smoking in order to decrease your risk of uterine cancer is like looking for a gas leak with a lighted match. It would be foolish," he added in an interview.

The study found that the risk of cancer of the lining of the uterus, or endometrium, is lower than usual among heavy smokers who have passed menopause, the researchers wrote in today's New England Journal of Medicine.

The researchers speculated the reason could have something to do with lowering estrogen secretions.

In general, the risk of endometrial cancer was 30 percent lower among smokers than non-smokers. However, virtually all the difference was seen among postmenopausal heavy smokers, whose risk was cut in half. There was no significant protective effect for light smokers or premenopausal women who smoked.

Dr. Noel Weiss of the University of Washington, in an accompanying editorial, noted that about 100 of every 100,000 women past menopause in the United States get cancer of the endometrium yearly, and about 20 percent of them die of the disease.
Lunch fast helps ND students understand hunger

By pledging one meal a week, we do two things. First, we are making a financial contribution to the World Hunger Coalition, which distributes the funds to development projects around the world. Second, and more important, we come to understand, if only temporarily, what it is like to go hungry.

When we fast each Wednesday, we leave the breakfast table with the understanding that the next meal is long in coming. A cavernous feeling will be echoing in our stomachs by 1 p.m. By 2 p.m., our energy levels will decrease to something below normal, and by 4 p.m., "Italian Night" will be the only thing tugging at our clothes.

By 6:30, the lines will be too long at the dining hall, aggravating the hunger scouting at the sides. By 8, however, we will be happily satisfied, food once again filling our stomachs. We will take this day by the horns and make a World Hunger Coalition lunch faster and multiply the emptiness, pain and frustration of missing one meal one hundred fold, we begin to understand how dire is the need of most of the people on this earth.

Conversely, the fasteners experience at 5 p.m. Wednesday can be multiplied in the same terms to approximate the pleasure of millions of starving people satisfying their needs. In this way, we come to understand how necessary is our commitment to the hungry.

Hesburgh should divest apartheid investments

The choice today is not between violence and non-violence. It is either non-violence or non-existence.

The editorial board of the Observer urges every Notre Dame student this opportunity. To do so will help us to a lively opportunity. So far, Bloustein and administration, still felt that the position described in their policy statement of 1978 was their optimal strategy, viz, continued support for those who have much for the majority who have so little. Once we experience hunger, and come to understand the seriousness of its ramifications, then we can intelligently make a judgment based on how to respond to the needs of all our people, not just the few for whom we have the means.

Regardless of where we stand on the political spectrum, hunger must be a central concern of all of us. Our involvement in South Africa is not a luxury many can afford, but it is a necessary investment for mankind necessities and our temporary experience of hunger on Wednesdays confirms it.

Tim McLellan and Kevin Moser are seniors in the College of Arts and Letters and are active in the World Hunger Coalition.
Last night I saw Weird Al in concert at the Stepan Center. Let me revise that. Last night I went to Stepan Center and listened in horror as a squirrel died a horrible death in a blender. OK, OK, I'll be honest. I DID go to Stepan and I DID see Weird Al. He was really great. What? I have to say more? Alright, alright, these are the parts I remember.

Weird Al and his Stupid Band hit the stage at exactly 8:30 p.m. He was a half hour late and Stepan Center was only half full but there was tension in the air. The kind of tension one feels on a sinking ship. Things were about to get ugly. The first song was "I Lost on Jeopardy," and the audience loved it even though it was too loud to make out any of the lyrics. Oh darn.

Things got better when Al began to dance and the host of "Jeopardy!" Art Fleming suddenly appeared on the giant video screen that was set up behind the stage. The Stupid Band instantly asserted itself as a power to reckon with as two keyboards, one guitar, bass and drums pounded away harder than the Sex Pistols ever did. They also did their best to back up Weird Al's vocals which could only be described as "intense."

"I Lost on Jeopardy" ended suddenly and Weird Al called for his microphone. As he stepped up behind the stage the Stupid Band introduced his "Polka Party" and launched into "State of Shock." This was easily one of the night's better moments as Al introduced "Slime Creatures From Outer Space" which came complete with eerie sound effects and a film full of flying saucers. If you had any idea how stupid this reviewer feels trying to explain a song about slime creatures you probably would feel really sorry for me when you would see me and how much money to my dorm room. Instead, you are reading this paper instead of eating your lunch (good move) and hopefully getting a good idea of what Weird Al was like last night.

Actually "Slime Creatures" worked so well because Al seemed to drown out audience liked the flying saucers. If you had any idea how stupid this reviewer feels trying to explain a song about slime creatures you probably would feel really sorry for me when you would see me and how much money to my dorm room. Instead, you are reading this paper instead of eating your lunch (good move) and hopefully getting a good idea of what Weird Al was like last night. Actually "Slime Creatures" worked so well because Al seemed to drown out the subject matter and the audience liked the flying saucers.

The band seemed to deteriorate quickly after "Slime Creatures" ended. The synthesizers became almost inaudible and the drums seemed to be keeping a beat of their own. None of that kept Al from his version of "King of Suede" (to the tune of "The Safety Dance"). He seemed determined to drown out all of the lyrics though and without his lyrics Al is boring. Al without lyrics is sort of like yogurt without fruit.

He did not however, give up. In his green Hawaiian shirt and scrub pants he announced that it was time for audience participation: "Well Al, Lemme hear ya say... Yeah!" Audience: Yeah! Weird Al: Lemme hear ya say "No!" Audience: No! Weird Al: Lemme hear ya say maybe?

The world's shortest drum solo (two beats) followed this and then Al introduced "Safety Dance" (to the tune of "The Brady Bunch") which came complete with eerie sound effects and a film full of flying saucers. If you had any idea how stupid this reviewer feels trying to explain a song about slime creatures you probably would feel really sorry for me when you would see me and how much money to my dorm room. Instead, you are reading this paper instead of eating your lunch (good move) and hopefully getting a good idea of what Weird Al was like last night. Actually "Slime Creatures" worked so well because Al seemed to drown out the subject matter and the audience liked the flying saucers.

The band seemed to deteriorate quickly after "Slime Creatures" ended. The synthesizers became almost inaudible and the drums seemed to be keeping a beat of their own. None of that kept Al from his version of "King of Suede" (to the tune of "King of Pain") which he delivered in a voice that made him sound like he was in labor. The tune was quite stirring and the darkness of Stepan Center was pierced by the glow of cigarette lighters. Two of them. Al came into the audience to sing his big slow number, "One More Minute" which more than a few members of the audience took as their cue to leave and go to Senior Bar. With lyrics like "I'd rather spend eternity eating shards of broken glass/Than spend one more minute with you" this song deserved something more forceful than polite listening and it was too slow to dance to.

Things picked up again with "I Want a New Duck" which was punchy, comparatively well played, and complete with a Greek chorus of "Quick, quick, quick, quack." "Like A Surgeon" got a good reaction but the joke had just about run its course and no tears were shed when Weird Al and company left the Stepan stage. Weird Al is genuinely funny at times but he is better at being tedious. He's sort of like an obnoxious little brother who won't go away. I left Stepan Center hoping that I wouldn't hear much from Weird Al for a while because a little is enough, sort of like mono. I'll probably curl up with my old Clash albums and try to forget the whole thing. Now stop reading this and get back to your lunch. It might be getting warm.

Deliver us from Emil.

Psalm 23 (revised)
The Emil is my teacher; I shall not pass. He makes me sit to sit in an assigned seat. And causest me to answer seven questions, He confuseth my mind. For his name's sake. You, though I walk through the Shadow of the Valley of Death I fear no Emil, for thou art with me. Your review sessions and your staff. They comfort me. You set a periodic table before me in the sight of my classmates. You inundate my head with facts; My notebook runneth over. Surely worries and anxiety shall follow me All the Thursdays of my life. And I shall dwell in the Hall of Cushing For months to come.

This psalm/prayer can be said in the place of the usual "and deliver us from Emil" prayer at the start of class. You freshmen may even want to clip out this article and keep it in your text to remind you that things aren't so bad. Maybe it will keep you from "making those mistakes all freshmen make." I could write more about Emil T. But maybe anything but a prayer would be useless. Good luck... you'll need it!

Editor's note: This poem is reprinted from a column by Jim Green published in the Sept. 10, 1982 issue of The Observer.
Philosophizing, and it sure beats almost all of the mainstream competition around today. So take a break from your Wham! and Madonna, and get tuned on to Dire Straits.

---

Philo 101 - rock’n’roll style

Brothers in Arms is something for money

Tim Adams

Brothers in Arms

by Dire Straits

★★★★

Records are rated on a four-star scale, four being the best

With its first studio LP in three years, the band once again tops the Top 40 chart at number one. The album has an understated yet solid, no synthesizers please, sound. The album features the single "Money for Nothing," which boasts a rockin' rhythm, dream-like vocals, and a mellow, mellow, mellow sound. The result is something new, but it's hard to say whether it's better or not.

On the title track, the message is more obvious, and also more interesting. It addresses the basic fact of human nature: that people gravitate together and become "brothers in arms." This same fact also accounts for why we have wars, people tend to group together, resulting in factionalism. Knopfier performs a neat play on words here. "Arms" could be taken to mean the part of our body with which we hold each other, or it could mean the buildup of weapons that could cause the end of the world, which is what happens in this song. The final message: "We're fools to make war on our brothers in arms." This is also one of the better anti-nuclear songs written recently.

Brothers in Arms, then, is a very accessible amalgamation of tunes, some ultra-serious, some not. It's great for both partying and philosopheing, and it sure beats almost all of the mainstream competition around today. So take a break from your Wham! and Madonna, and get tuned on to Dire Straits.

---

Midwestern spokesman cries out

Scarecrow

by John Cougar Mellencamp

★★★★

Records are rated on a four-star scale, four being the best

Scarecrow could be the name of a low-budget horror flick or it may be the title of a song from the album. John Cougar Mellencamp is a rocker. The latter, a mellow, mellow, mellow sound. The result is something new, but it's hard to say whether it's better or not.

On the whole, however, Mellencamp has constructed a collection of strong, no-frills rock songs. He may never rival the Boss musically, but Scarecrow's lyrics place him well in front of the pack of Springsteen clones.

---

Psycodelic rock above radio garbage

Arrive Without Travelling

by The Three O'Clock

★

Records are rated on a four-star scale, four being the best

Psycodelic rock conjures up many things to many people. Some people picture hallucinations caused by mind altering drugs. The word conjures up many other things, too. One of the most common is the image of a man's words, not revealing whether or not he himself believes that making videos "ain't working."

Knopfier hides behind this salesma's words, not revealing whether or not he himself believes that making videos "ain't working.

On the title track, the message is more obvious, and also more interesting. It addresses the basic fact of human nature: that people gravitate together and become "brothers in arms." This same fact also accounts for why we have wars, people tend to group together, resulting in factionalism. Knopfier performs a neat play on words here. "Arms" could be taken to mean the part of our body with which we hold each other, or it could mean the buildup of weapons that could cause the end of the world, which is what happens in this song. The final message: "We're fools to make war on our brothers in arms." This is also one of the better anti-nuclear songs written recently.

Brothers in Arms, then, is a very accessible amalgamation of tunes, some ultra-serious, some not. It's great for both partying and philosopheing, and it sure beats almost all of the mainstream competition around today. So take a break from your Wham! and Madonna, and get tuned on to Dire Straits.

---

Reagionomics has yet to bring prosperity.

"In 'Rain on the Scarecrow,' for example, Mellencamp Matters over a dark, brooding guitar: 'Well there's 97 crosses planted in the courthouse yard. Nineteen seven families who lost 97 arms.' I think about my grandpa and my neighbors and my name. And some nights I feel like dying, like that scarecrow in the rain."

There is little in rock & roll to suggest in the face of adversity weave together and become "brothers in arms." This same fact also accounts for why we have wars, people tend to group together, resulting in factionalism. Knopfier performs a neat play on words here. "Arms" could be taken to mean the part of our body with which we hold each other, or it could mean the buildup of weapons that could cause the end of the world, which is what happens in this song. The final message: "We're fools to make war on our brothers in arms." This is also one of the better anti-nuclear songs written recently.

Brothers in Arms, then, is a very accessible amalgamation of tunes, some ultra-serious, some not. It's great for both partying and philosopheing, and it sure beats almost all of the mainstream competition around today. So take a break from your Wham! and Madonna, and get tuned on to Dire Straits.

---

The highlight of the album is the second side is "The Girl with the Guitar."

On the whole, however, Mellencamp has constructed a collection of strong, no-frills rock songs. He may never rival the Boss musically, but Scarecrow's lyrics place him well in front of the pack of Springsteen clones.

---

John Cougar Mellencamp

Scarecrow

- 97 crosses planted in the courthouse yard.
- Nineteen seven families who lost 97 arms.
- I think about my grandpa and my neighbors and my name.
- And some nights I feel like dying, like that scarecrow in the rain.
- There is little in rock & roll to suggest
- Reagionomics has yet to bring prosperity.
- "In 'Rain on the Scarecrow,' for example, Mellencamp Matters over a dark, brooding guitar: 'Well there's 97 crosses planted in the courthouse yard. Nineteen seven families who lost 97 arms.' I think about my grandpa and my neighbors and my name. And some nights I feel like dying, like that scarecrow in the rain."
- "In 'Rain on the Scarecrow,' for example, Mellencamp Matters over a dark, brooding guitar: 'Well there's 97 crosses planted in the courthouse yard. Nineteen seven families who lost 97 arms.' I think about my grandpa and my neighbors and my name. And some nights I feel like dying, like that scarecrow in the rain.
- There is little in rock & roll to suggest
Interhall soccer rosters are due in the NVA office by Wednesday. An entry fee of $25 must accompany each hall's roster. - The Observer

Graduate touch football teams of six players each may register as a department until Wednesday at the NVA office in the ACC. - The Observer

An open water polo tournament will be held by NVA. Teams of 10 players (with at least four women) may register by Wednesday by paying a $10 fee at the NVA office in the ACC. - The Observer

An outdoor volleyball tournament will be held by NVA. Teams of at least nine players may register until Wednesday at the NVA office in the ACC. This elimination tournament is limited to 32 teams. - The Observer

A scramble golf tournament will be held by NVA on Sunday, Sept. 15. Students, faculty and staff may register as individuals or pairs. The deadline for submitting $4 greens fees to the NVA office is Wednesday. - The Observer

More NVA information is available by calling 239-6100 or by stopping by the NVA office in the ACC. - The Observer

Free! Get our new $49 software module when you buy an HP-41.

It's a deal that has no equal, for a calculator that has no equal.

Our new HP-41 Advantage software module packs 12K of ROM. One and a half times the capacity of any other HP-41 module. Large enough to hold the most popular engineering, mathematical and financial programs ever written for the HP-41.

You get comprehensive advanced matrix math functions, roots of equations and polynomials, integrations, base conversion and logic functions, and time value of money functions. Our new module is also sub-programmable. So you can do what you like and how you like. It's a deal that has no equal, for a calculator that has no equal.

Get our new $49 module when you buy an HP-41.

BEAT the LSAT!

Get 96 pages of tips, tricks and advice for higher scores.

The LSAT Exposed:

Tricks from 12 Tests

Can you afford to gamble with the LSAT, GMAT, GRE, or MCAT?

Probably not. Great grades alone may not be enough to impress the grad school of your choice.

Scores play a part. And that's how Stanley H. Kaplan can help. The Kaplan course teaches test-taking techniques, reviews course subjects, and increases the odds that you'll do the best you can do.

So if you've been out of school for a while and need a refresher, or even if you're fresh out of college, do what over 1 million students have done: Take Kaplan. Why take a chance with your future?

KAPLAN

SOUTH BEND AREA

Stanley H. Kaplan Ed. Ctr.

1777 E. South Bend Ave.

South Bend, Indiana 46637

(219) 272-4135

BEAT the LSAT!

Get 96 pages of tips, tricks and advice for higher scores.

The LSAT Exposed:

Tricks from 12 Tests

Can you afford to gamble with the LSAT, GMAT, GRE, or MCAT?

Probably not. Great grades alone may not be enough to impress the grad school of your choice.

Scores play a part. And that's how Stanley H. Kaplan can help. The Kaplan course teaches test-taking techniques, reviews course subjects, and increases the odds that you'll do the best you can do.

So if you've been out of school for a while and need a refresher, or even if you're fresh out of college, do what over 1 million students have done: Take Kaplan. Why take a chance with your future?

KAPLAN

SOUTH BEND AREA

Stanley H. Kaplan Ed. Ctr.

1777 E. South Bend Ave.

South Bend, Indiana 46637

(219) 272-4135
Defensive units in the game of football often refer to themselves in animal-like terms. The linebackers are the heart and mind of the beast, while the defensive line figures to be the 'teeth' of the unit, chewing up yards and sopping up the goop on unsuspecting quarter­back's.

Throughout summer workouts, the defensive line of the Notre Dame football team was successfully sharpening up and looking polished. Then two weeks ago, the unit lost a tooth.

Rick Lantz

practices where they have not made strides. We will become a dominating force this season."

To fill the gaping hole left by Griffin, 6-2, 248-pound Mike Kiernan will step up into the middle at nose tackle. Kiernan, a senior, saw action in five contests last season at nose tackle after missing both of the previous two campaigns because of injuries.

Flanking Kiernan in the starting three-man front will be tackles Eric Dorsey and Wally Klein. The 6-6, 278-pound Klein is being tabbed as a potential All-American at right tackle by many experts, while the equally imposing Dorsey, at 6-5, 265 pounds switches over to the left tackle spot after playing the previous three seasons at the nose tackle. Dorsey was forced from his natural position to the nose tackle those years because of the presence of Mike Gann, who has now departed to the ranks of the professionals.

"Dorsey was a nose tackle all last season simply because we wanted our best men to play," says Lantz. "We had to do that because Gann was already at left tackle. But we'll continue to play some defenses with (Dorsey) at nose tackle."

Senior Greg Dinger, at 6-5, 254 pounds will provide some needed versatility to the line by coming in to spell his teammates. Dinger's role will be, in the eyes of Lantz, much more than that of merely a reserve player.

"We consider Greg Dinger a starter," says the second-year Irish assistant. "He can play left or right tackle, and we want fresh people in the game, because fresh people make a difference. In fact, right now, we plan to play six defensive linemen throughout the course of the game."

The other pair of linemen who will be called upon to help out in the trenches are sophomores Matt Dingens and Jeff Kunz. The 6-6, 230-pound Dingens, brother of fellow lineman Greg, moved over this summer from tight end and has progressed rapidly. Although this has impressed observers, Dingens still has no game experience at his new position. Kunz, meanwhile, got his feet wet last season in preparation for his more contributory role this year.

Although the injury to Griffin meant that these six players would be called upon to work a bit harder, Lantz feels that their development this summer and their past experience will have prepared them sufficiently to face their opponent's challenges.

"We're experienced and talented," says Lantz. "And we have not made many changes in our coaching staff or scheme this year. But we have to prove ourselves. Right now, we're not ready to play Michigan, but we're not supposed to be ready yet. We're simply coming along and moving on schedule."

If the teeth of the Irish line can align themselves properly, it will be Notre Dame football fans who will be wearing the beautiful smiles.

ND alumnus Younger on National crew team

By MARTY BURNS
Sports Writer

Defensive units in the game of football often refer to themselves in animal-like terms. The linebackers are the heart and mind of the beast, while the defensive line figures to be the 'teeth' of the unit, chewing up yards and sopping up the goop on unsuspecting quarter­back's.

Throughout summer workouts, the defensive line of the Notre Dame football team was successfully sharpening up and looking polished. Then two weeks ago, the unit lost a tooth.
Soccer
continued from page 16
be long before Virginia was going to be down our throats again.
"Our transition to defense was good because we were on the defensive posture most of the game due to caliber of the team we were playing."
Overall, Grace is pleased with the efforts on the part of his players and is looking to build a strong and youthful team with good freshman talent and a strong schedule.
"Our idea is that we want to get as good as we could be as fast as we could be," said Grace, "and we're not going to do that by playing a lot of the teams that used to be on the schedule. Our schedule is awesome, and the kids are going to have to survive and fight for every game.
"The kids are fighters," continued Grace. "The one thing that I was really pleased about over the weekend was that we never gave up and we never let down."

Choosing a long distance company is a lot like choosing a roommate.

It's better to know what they're like before you move in.

Living together with someone for the first time can be an "educational" experience.
And living with a long distance company isn't any different. Because some companies may not give you all the services you're used to getting from AT&T.
For instance, with some companies you have to spend a certain amount before you qualify for their special volume discounts. With some others, voice quality may vary.
But when you choose AT&T, there won't be any surprises when you move in. You'll get the same high-quality, trouble-free service you're used to.
With calls that sound as close as next door.
Guaranteed 60% and 40% discounts off our Day Rate—so you can talk during the times you can relax. Immediate credit for wrong numbers.
Operator assistance and collect calling.
So when you're asked to choose a long dis­tance company, choose AT&T. Because whether you're into Mozart or metal, quality is the one thing everyone can agree on.
Reach out and touch someone.®
Carter's two HR's tie record, help red-hot Mets pound San Diego, 9-2

Associated Press

SAN DIEGO—Gary Carter of the New York Mets tied a major league record last night when he belted a pair of home runs, giving him five in his last two games, to lead the Mets in a 9-2 rout of the San Diego Padres.

Carter belted homers in each of his first three times at bat Tuesday when the Mets defeated the Padres 8-3.

Carter became the 11th player in major league history to hit five home runs in two games, a feat last accomplished by Dave Kingman of the Chicago Cubs, July 26, 1979.

The two home runs gave Carter a major league record last night when he belted a pair of home runs, giving him five in his last two games, to lead the Mets to a 9-2 victory at Candlestick Park.

The victory kept the Mets one and-a-half games behind the front-running St. Louis Cardinals.

Candlestick Park in San Francisco, where the Giants were running on empty attendance-wise for Tuesday's game with Philadelphia. Fans stayed away in the record numbers, with only 13,342 turning out to see the hapless Giants lose to the Phillies, 4-3, in 15 innings. The crowd was the smallest at Candlestick since just 10,633 watched the Giants play the Houston Astros on Sept. 14, 1977.

Carter homered off Padres starter Roy Lee Jackson in his first at bat yesterday when the Mets defeated the Padres 8-3.

Carter homered off Padres starter Roy Lee Jackson in his first at bat yesterday when the Mets defeated the Padres 8-3.

Carter hit his second home run the third time at bat last night when he belted a two-run homer to back the combined seven hit pitching of John Candelaria, 4-1 since the Angels acquired him in a trade with the Pittsburgh Pirates on Aug. 2, allowed one run and five hits in six innings. Loser Jack Morris, 14-9, gave up just three hits but four runs in seven innings.

The victory kept the Royals one and-a-half games behind California in the American League West.

Yankees 4, Mariners 3

NEW YORK—Surprise starter Rich Bordi hurled 6 2-3 innings in his first start of the season and Don Mattingly and Andre Robertson each drove in two runs as the New York Yankees defeated the Seattle Mariners 4-3 last night for their fifth consecutive triumph.

Carter went 1-for-3 with a walk, moving him within four hits of Ty Cobb's all-time major league hit record of 4,191.

Assts 11, Cubs 6

CHICAGO—Pinch-hitter Jerry Murphy started a sixth-inning uprising with a two-run double and pinch-hitter Tim Tolman finished it with a three-run home run as Houston pounded the Chicago Cubs 11-6.

Mumphrey doubled to pull Houston within 6-5. Todd Worrell, 1-0, the third St. Louis reliever of the night, started a sixth inning uprising with a two-run double and Mumphrey doubled to tie the game.

The two home runs gave Carter a pair of home runs, giving him five in his last two games, to lead the Mets to a 9-2 victory at Candlestick Park.

Carter became the 11th player in major league history to hit five home runs in two games, a feat last accomplished by Dave Kingman of the Chicago Cubs, July 26, 1979.

The two home runs gave Carter a major league record last night when he belted a pair of home runs, giving him five in his last two games, to lead the Mets to a 9-2 victory at Candlestick Park.

The victory kept the Mets one and-a-half games behind the front-running St. Louis Cardinals.

Yankees 4, Mariners 3

NEW YORK—Surprise starter Rich Bordi hurled 6 2-3 innings in his first start of the season and Don Mattingly and Andre Robertson each drove in two runs as the New York Yankees defeated the Seattle Mariners 4-3 last night for their fifth consecutive triumph.

Carter went 1-for-3 with a walk, moving him within four hits of Ty Cobb's all-time major league hit record of 4,191.

Assts 11, Cubs 6

CHICAGO—Pinch-hitter Jerry Murphy started a sixth-inning uprising with a two-run double and pinch-hitter Tim Tolman finished it with a three-run home run as Houston pounded the Chicago Cubs 11-6.

Mumphrey doubled to pull Houston within 6-5. Todd Worrell, 1-0, the third St. Louis reliever of the night, started a sixth inning uprising with a two-run double and Mumphrey doubled to tie the game.
Sports

By JOHN COYLE

There are many new faces on the Courtesy Courts as the Notre Dame women's tennis team prepares for the fall season, which opens Saturday with matches against Evansville and Marquette. Not only did several fine players from last year graduate, but the team also lost the guidance and expertise of seven-year head coach Sharon Petro, who has moved on to become an assistant at Georgetown.

If all the players are as enthusiastic and spirited as the new head coach, Michelle Gelfman, however, the rebuilding process should be a quick one. Gelfman, who had been the head coach of both the women's and men's tennis teams at West Virginia University the last two years, is extremely excited about the upcoming season.

Gelfman considers herself a hard worker, qualities that is dedicated to her team. The young coach also prides himself on being fair and always available for her players. In return for her efforts, the lively coach expects a lot from her players.

"I give 150 percent and I work my girls hard. I have total control for all until they prove otherwise. Everyone gets a fair shot," says Gelfman.

Michelle Gelfman

So far, the team appears to be responding very well to Gelfman's hard-work approach and their enthusiasm is spreading among her players.

"We're all very happy with our new coach," says captain Sue Panther. "She works us really hard but we need it. We're looking forward to a really good season."

Several key players from last year are back and Gelfman will be depending heavily on them for the first few matches. The Irish have moved up to the Division I level after making it to the Division II finals last spring, so their schedule will be more difficult than it was in the past.

Coaches Panther, Mary Colligan and Jody O'Leary along with juniors Johnne Baguley and Tammy Schmidt and sophomore Michelle Datola will be a big help to their new coach. The squad will gain some added depth with newcomers such as freshmen Natalie Tili, junior transfer, Carol Rader and freshman walk-on, Julie Burke.

While the Irish will be vying for the North Star Conference championship in October, the fall season is mainly a preparation for the spring season and the NCAA Championship.

The Evansville match starts at 9 a.m., with the Marquette match slated for 1 p.m.

Grace pleased with his team's effort in losses to VA., George Mason

By MICHAEL J. CHMIEL

After playing its first two games of the young 1985 campaign on the road, the Irish soccer team returned to the Notre Dame campus Saturday night with only two losses to show for its efforts. The games, however, were season openers for both Virginia and George Mason. Both teams lost, 2-1.

"Success is relative," commented Grace. "We weren't successful as far as winning a ballgame, but considering the competition and the beginning of the year and the number of freshmen we have, I was very happy and very pleased with the way we did."

Sunday, the Irish traveled to Charlottesville, Va., where associate head coach Tom Rehder will be facing his second game as the starting tight end for Virginia. "Virginia's an awesome squad," said Grace. "They sparked on, they just gave us some lessons. But as long as we learned from those lessons and showed some improvement in that game, I would have been happy. And I happened." Tuesday, the Irish stayed in Virginia to meet the highly-ranked George Mason Patriots in Fairfax. And according to Grace, they were able to take a lot of things that they learned in the Virginia game and use them to their advantage.

Larry Burke

Football Notebook

"Joel had an outstanding preseason," notes Stock. "I know he's ready to play, and he's going to be a big factor for us this season. Along with Tom, he gives us a strong threat and a good chance to score a late goal to win the contest."

Rehder, a 6-7, 245-pound converted defensive tackle, heads into the Michigan game as the starter at tight end for the Michigan nine days from now, former Notre Dame star Mark Bavaro will be 300 miles away in Green Bay preparing for his second game as the starting tight end for the Packers. Mike Stock wouldn't mind having his former all American in Washington, D.C., however, because of the intense competition among his tight ends. "Success is relative," commented Grace. "We weren't successful as far as winning a ballgame, but considering the competition and the beginning of the year and the number of freshmen we have, I was very happy and very pleased with the way we did."

While both Rehder and Williams have a long way to go towards filling Bavaro's shoes, Stock feels a lot more confident that he will be successful. "This group has a lot of athletic ability to draw from, " says Stock. "We really are going to make a lot of improvements. And we're going to continue to improve as "a team."

Offensively, Grace believes that his team is going to "be a little better offensively than we were last year. We're going to be as good as we can be because of the competition." Defensively, Grace believes that his team is going to "be a little better defensively than we were last year. We're going to be as good as we can be because of the competition."

Well, it just so happens the Wolverines have never lost a season-opening game since Bo Schottenheimer took over as head coach in 1981. This streak reached 11 games last year when Michigan knocked off defending-champion Miami, 22-14.

In fact, the Wolverines have lost only one opening game under Schottenheimer. That loss came in 1981 - by a 21-14 count in Wisconsin.

Irrish coach Jerry Faust, meanwhile, is 5-1 in season openers, 3-1 on the road. The Michigan game marks Faust's return to the sight of his first loss as a college coach. His first Irish team opened the 1981 season with a 27-10 thrashing of LSU in Notre Dame Stadium and then went on to close out the top spot in both the AP and UPI polls. The Irish fell just as quickly, however, when the Fighting Irish played Minnesota, 27-7, in Arrowhead the following week.

The '85 Irish will face the toughest schedule of any college football team in the nation, according to College and Pro Football Newsweekly. The magazine rates a team's schedule by ranking each opponent on a 1-10 scale, adding extra points depending on where the game is played and for particularly difficult road teams.

Notre Dame received a score of 105 points for its slate, which features eight 1984 bowl teams. Baylor finished second in the ratings with 103 points, followed by Michigan and Florida State, both with 102 points, Tennessee (Fla.) and Florida, both with 101. Five teams tied for seventh in the ratings with 100 points. (They were Maryland, Pittsburgh, George Mason, UCLA and Alabama.)