Mexican earthquake injures thousands; 10 ND students safe

Associated Press

MEXICO CITY - A devastating earthquake struck central Mexico yesterday morning, toppling buildings, triggering fires and trapping hundreds in rubble in the world's most populous capital. Police said at least 170 are dead and hundreds injured, but a far higher toll is expected.

None of the 10 Notre Dame students involved in the Mexico City program were injured, according to Isabel Charles, assistant provost and director of the Foreign Study Program.

The Notre Dame program operates through the Universidad Iberoamericana, located in the southern section of the capital city. This area was not reported to be heavily damaged.

Notre Dame students Paul Oeschger and Jeff Woode contacted their parents by ham radio from Mexico City, where they were staying, and knew the students' parents will be notified of any problems.

"I expect to hear from program director Nancy Gareula as soon as communications are restored," said Charles. "She is a responsible person and knows the students' parents will be notified immediately.

Hours after the quake, the army and police patrolled ruined streets and areas of the city before dawn and by early morning, toppling buildings continued to collapse and debris from others was falling into buildings along the way. Reports on the state of the injured are not expected to be given until this evening.

At least 60 are dead in Mexico City, a city of 17 million people, where schools, hotels, hospitals and high-rises were flattened. Snapped gas and power lines touched off dozens of fires.

At least 170 are dead and thousands injured.

"Unfortunately there appear to be many dead," de la Madrid said on Mexican television. "All of the hospitals are on a state of alert to take care of the injured. The army is in a state of alert.

"Dozens of aftershocks rumbled the area through the day. Reports on the Mexican City TV station Televisa said buildings continued to collapse and debris from others was falling into streets hours after the quake.

By nightfall half the city lacked electrical power. Local telephone service had been restored but international telephone lines are still down.

In the state of Jalisco, 100 miles to the northwest, 110 to 150 people were killed and about 1,500 injured. Lt. Juan Manuel Sanchez said from the fire department's headquarters in the state capital of Guadalajara.

The Mexican Embassy in Washington reported damage in the states of Guerrero and Michoacan, which lie to the south of Jalisco along the coast.

Within the state, State President Miguel de la Madrid confirmed that in two states, reports were that 100 were injured and about 1,100 were missing.

Not all the buildings were the town of Guzman and Atenique. Sanchez said in a telephone interview broadcast live by the Bogota radio station Caracol.

"In Atenique a part of a mountain slid away, falling on several presents..." see QUAKE, page 7

I n s i d e : I r i s h E x t r a

Anti-apartheid group formulates petition

By ELLYN MASTAKO

Staff Reporter

The Notre Dame Anti-Apartheid Network formulated a petition last Friday calling for the Board of Trustees to issue a progressive policy on investment in firms operating in South Africa.

The network, a coalition of students, faculty and staff, is working to increase campus awareness of the situation in South Africa.

The petition is now circulating on campus and will be presented to the Board of Trustees by network members at the board's October meeting.

An ad hoc committee of trustees has been formed to study the issue and make a recommendation to the board.

The petition calls for the University:

• to revise its policy regarding investments in firms operating in South Africa and to include the revised Sullivan Principles, which call for the elimination of apartheid;

• to put pressure on these firms to demand that the South African government begin negotiations with legitimate black leaders, and commit itself to the elimination of the entire apartheid system;

• to initiate shareholder resolutions demanding that pressure be placed on the South African government to implement the above measures.

"We are aware that Notre Dame will begin divesting its stock in these firms by Feb. 1, 1986, the South African government has not committed itself to the dismantling of apartheid and began negotiating with legitimate black leaders," said conference.

"The Feb. 1, 1986 deadline was set in light of the escalating violence in South Africa. Things are moving so quickly that reform must move as quickly to see APARTHEID, page 7

World must return to natural law according to civil rights lawyer

By MARY REYNOLDS

West Staff

The working class must participate more in world order, said civil rights attorney Daniel Sheehan last night, lecturing at the Center for Social Concern.

He said the United States needs to return to natural law, "the sharing of authority in the decision-making process.

Sheehan spoke in support of church workers prosecuted for giving sanctuary to illegal aliens, and said the denial of political asylum to refugees is a violation of the law.

Sheehan is nationally known for his participation in the Karen Silkwood Supreme Court case, also has been involved in the Pentagon Papers and Wounded Knee cases.

A primary reason for his visit was to get students "on board the movement toward social justice," he said. Sheehan said he also wanted to encourage law students to consider civil rights rather than corporate law.

Sheehan is the general counsel and public policy director of the Christic Institute, an ecumenical public interest law firm in Washington, D.C. The Institute seeks to arouse public support for human rights, both in the U.S. and abroad.

As part of its program to increase public awareness of these issues, Sheehan said the Institute will be conducting religious education seminars starting next year. The seminars will be conducted in local churches and synagogues in six states.

Sheehan received his undergraduate education at Harvard University, and went on to graduate from Harvard Law School in 1970. He later studied at Harvard Divinity School.
Negative 'fan' shows what Notre Dame does not need

The moron, he's a stupid idiot. You call that coaching? It was not even five minutes into the first quarter of the first game of the season and this loyal Notre Dame fan couldn't help but voice his thoughts. "Look at that. My mother could call better plays," the fan quipped. The Notre Dame fan, who had been following the team for years, continued to show his respect for the team from his seat in the stadium. He was a real Notre Dame fan. These are the fans who won a most-valuable player award at a basketball game a few years ago. These fans are winners.

"If I could apologize to you now, and you can apologize to me when they lose," the fan said. This man, probably had been following Notre Dame football for years. He had probably been to many games in the past. He had seen Devine bring in a national championship.

In all those years and all those games Notre Dame had not always looked great and the coaches' actions did not go unquestioned. Devine was questioned when the number one Irish player number two Michigan State to a tie in 1966. Could the Irish have scored the game out on the last drive rather than just killing the clock? Devine did not use Joe Montana as a starting quarter-back for a long time, causing many to question his coaching sensitivity.

Through it all Irish had managed to win. The alumni, students and friends who cheered, hoped and prayed for the team couldn't have hurt the chances of the Irish. This man at Ann Arbor not only insulted the coach and the players, but he insulted Notre Dame. He was right that Notre Dame would lose. The "fan" seemed to take this as a personal insult. He did nothing to help the team; he just took a seat in the stadium from someone who might have been willing to cheer.

Other fans yelled their lungs out and clapped their hands together until the end. With no regrets.

Tonight the Irish play here - home. Most of the 59,075 people who will attend tomorrow's game consider themselves fans. Most will show that they are real Notre Dame fans. These are the fans who win a most-valuable player award at a basketball game a few years ago. These fans are winners. Notre Dame is place to win. Over the past four years there has not been as much winning as anyone - students, faculty, alumni, players and coaches - would like.

The campus will be full of people looking for a win. They would all be disappointed if the Irish lost, but if they come with a positive attitude they deserve to lose.

Negative attitudes are the last thing Notre Dame needs. Home football weekends have so much to offer. The excitement of the band, the crowd, the anticipation of a win and the beauty of this campus are just part of what Notre Dame is all about.

Tonight at 7 there will be a pep rally. Tomorrow at 6:45 p.m. the Irish will play Michigan State. Notre Dame fans will be there and they will be strongly (loudly) supportive.

And if you see that guy from Ann Arbor, buy his ticket and give it to someone who really wants to cheer.

The weather continues today, the first day of the official fall season. Highs today between 85 and 90. Clear tonight with a low around 60. Mostly sunny and warm for tomorrow's pre-game parties with a high between 85 and 90. - The Observer

Weather

The Observer
Student government appointee should promote communication

By MARK PANKOWSKI

Student Body President Bill Healy, citing a need to "open communication channels" with students and the administration, named Charles Beretz to the newly-created position of student government press secretary.

Beretz's primary responsibility as press secretary will be to issue press releases to The Observer, the administration and student leaders, Healy said.

Observer reporters will not have to go through Beretz to speak to student government leaders, Healy said.

Beretz said he will "not be like Larry Speakes is for Reagan" but will act in the same capacity for student government leadership, Healy said. "We felt we should let people know about it," Healy said. "We all work hard up here and we felt we should let people know about it."

Beretz, who also is serving as editor-in-chief of the new student government newsletter and as vice president of Adworks, agreed with Healy. "People don't really understand what student government does," Beretz said. "Hopefully this will make us more accessible to the students."

The purpose for the press releases, Healy said, is to get better coverage from The Observer for events sponsored by student government. "We want enough people to know about events so they can show up," Healy said.

In addition to The Observer, the press releases will be sent to student leaders to "keep them informed of what's going on" and to administrators to increase the level of communication, Healy said.

Because The Observer sends reporters to student government meetings, Healy said, Beretz normally will not issue press releases of those meetings.

But, Healy added, "If I don't think something is adequately covered, we'll issue a press release."

"It's not like The Observer prints only the bad news and we'll print only the good," Beretz said. "(The press releases) will not be rah, rah, rah, here's all the good things we're doing."

"Confront psalms," scholar suggests

By ANNE MARIE WOLF

Confront the psalms. Have the courage to let yourself enjoy the psalms," urged Father Roland Murphy, scripture scholar, at a packed O'Laughlin Auditorium last night.

Murphy, an internationally-known expert on scripture, is spending the semester at Notre Dame as a John A. O'Brien Chair of Theology visiting scholar.

He is a faculty member at Duke University.

"One has to confront the psalms and make a decision, either that the psalm is meaningless or that the psalm is boring. You are allowed to have boring psalms, but that hint should decrease as you are aware of the Old Testament situation," he said.

It is the task and the gift of modern scholarship to give the psalms," urged Father Roland Murphy, scripture scholar, at a packed O'Laughlin Auditorium last night.

"Confront psalms," scholar suggests

By ANNE MARIE WOLF

We simply must go to Fables and see the Maavelous new and exciting objects d'art."

514 Lincolnway East Mishawaka 255-9191
Open Tues. Sat. 10:00-5:30 Thursday till 8:00pm
Open this Sunday 1-4pm.

Red Lobster
201 West McKinley, Mishawaka, 255-3555

Restaurant And Cocktail Lounge
Authentic Szechuan and Hunan Taste

The Student Activities Board presents

IMMY STILL Renowned Ventriloquist
and
MAX

Tickets available at SAB Record Store
Friday, September 20
8:30 Washington Hall
$2 ND/SMC $4 Gen. Admission

The Christian liturgy is filled with Old Testament imagery, he added, "We have to learn to savor and recognize that Hebrew scripture is part of that."
SMC faculty locked up by parietal hours

By MARY FRAN GISCH
Staff Reporter

Saint Mary's faculty, administration and staff who have expressed their unhappiness with building doors locked at 4 p.m. because of the parietal hours apparently will have to put up with the inconvenience.

"We are making no plans to change the current hours," said Sister Karol Jackowski, dean of student affairs.

To monitor entrances and exits, all residence halls are locked when parietals begin.

The parietal hours were extended in April 1985 from 5 to 10 p.m. to the current 4 p.m. to midnight on weekdays.

Anne Marie Kollman, student body president, said, "I have heard many complaints from people about side doors in the residence halls being locked. Since the doors are locked when the administration and staff are still in the building, they have been upset by this change."

"We sent out questionnaires to all faculty, staff and administration in the residence halls to ask them, simply, if this was an inconvenience to them or not. The response we got was excellent," she said.

Of the 74 respondents, 29 said they were inconvenienced by the parietal time. "Some of those that were unhappy wrote pretty extensive reasons explaining why they were inconvenienced by this earlier time," said Kollman.

In a study to determine if the parietals extension had proved worthwhile, the residence halls were monitored on an average week to estimate the number of students who used parietals during the 4 to 5 p.m. hour.

"The results were that 1.8 to 4.2 percent had male visitors during that time on Monday through Friday. Those results are pretty low. It would certainly be busier on football weekends, but this was a typical week," said Kollman.

"Most of the people inconvenienced are in LeMans," said Jackowski. "I don't think all of them are aware that in addition to the front door being open, there is also an east door open at the other end of the building."

"It has nothing to do with parietals itself. It's a very minor inconvenience to a handful of people," Jackowski said.

"The needs of the students supersede the slight inconvenience," she said. "Just because the number of students that use parietals during that time is not great does not mean we will cut hours. Nor should we adjust parietals for convenience's sake. It's the principle of the thing."

Jackowski said a letter will go out to the staff who responded informing them of the doors which are open during parietals.

Out to Pasture

A cardboard horse was tied to the new wood fence outside Zahm Hall yesterday, giving the area a feeling of authenticity.

ENJOY "The Best Coffee In Town"

Taste...
The Big Difference
Really Good Coffee Makes

• We proudly carry the largest selection of the World's Finest Superior Gourmet Coffee Beans
• Whole or custom ground to your order
• Always Fresh
• 100% Satisfaction Guaranteed - Mail Order
• Safe to drink, water processed-Decaffeinated
• Also delicious tea, coffee makers and filters

Gourmet Coffee and Tobacco Shop
6502 Grape Road, University Center Mishawaka, Indiana (219) 277-6887

Behind Jeremiah Sweeney's

While on campus, visit the 2nd floor of the N.D. Bookstore. We have non-fiction, religion, the Best-sellers, sports, cooking, fiction, AND children's books & calendars.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Store Hours:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Friday 9-5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Saturday 9-630</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
80,000 expected in Champaign for FarmAid concert

Associated Press

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — As this heartland college town braced yesterday to house and police 80,000 visitors at the star-studded FarmAid benefit concert, a top Ford administration agriculture official questioned the need for it.

"There is still a rainbow in agriculture," former Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz told agricultural "gloom," he said. "There are some bright spots. It's not all across the state in Sterling. "There is still a rainbow in agriculture," FarmAid chairman, Ford Motor Co. executive vice president John A. W. Clark, said. "I think we've overdone it," he said. "Butz said there is no doubt that farmers are in distress. But while federal officials say at least 25 percent of American farming is in distress, the nearly 80,000 tickets for Sunday's FarmAid concert are expected to gross about $4 million, half of it earmarked for the benefit of farmers.

"I think we've overdone it," Butz said. "We've never done anything like this before - we're not really equipped as a campgrounds," said Drury. "Newness lends itself to模 of something new and essential to the College." The director is responsible for various aspects of campus fundraising. She oversees the annual fund and alumni fund, and also controls the direct mail campaign and state planning. The development department has several new goals slated for the 1985-86 school year, Drury said, the most important of which is to build an endowment at Saint Mary's College.

Correction

Because of an editing error, the photographer of the picture appearing on page 3 of yesterday's paper was incorrectly identified. The photo was taken by Paul Pahesteski.

Development director named at Saint Mary's

BY DIANE SCHROEDER

Staff Reporter

Funding activities at Saint Mary's now will be under the charge of Becky Drury, the newly-named director of development. Drury was attracted to the job by the challenge of fund-raising at Saint Mary's, a college relatively new at the task, she said.

"I like to be a part of something new and essential to the College," Drury said. "Newness lends itself to molding," Drury said. "I like to be a part of something new and essential to the College." The director is responsible for various aspects of campus fundraising. She oversees the annual fund and alumni fund, and also controls the direct mail campaign and state planning.

The development department has several new goals slated for the 1985-86 school year, Drury said, the most important of which is to build an endowment at Saint Mary's College. The development department has several new goals slated for the 1985-86 school year, Drury said, the most important of which is to build an endowment at Saint Mary's College. Among colleges in this specific category, Saint Mary's ranks among the top in fundraising, Drury said.

Assistant Vice President of Col-
Welcome Home, Fighting Irish!

Polk Audio Monitor 7
State-of-the-art technology, performance and value

Sound quite magnificent with a good mid-powered popular brand receiver. They make the popular speakers in their price range seem dim, colored, boxy and just plain insufficient. Our advice is not to buy speakers until you've heard the Polks.

Polk's key design goals have definitely been realized.

Musician Magazine
Reg $500pr
$199 ea.

MITSUBISHI

Our Best Buy in Stereo Receivers
The Mitsu DAR-25 has 60 watts per channel into 8 \( \Omega \) from 20 to 20K with no more than 0.015% THD. Quartz tuning accuracy with presets and seek tuning, variable loudness contour, tape dubbing with 2 decks in either direction, subsonic filter and much more.

3 years parts, 2 years labor limited warranty. Reg. $600

$319

CAR STEREO
Alpine, Nakamichi, Proton, PolkAudio, Boston Acoustics, Panasonic, Pioneer, JVC, Sherwood, Yamaha, Sentrek, Sanyo, and much more.

HOME AUDIO & VIDEO

YAMAHA

YAMAHA CD-2

The CD-2 represents the pinnacle of digital audio technology. It's the ultimate in user convenience with an incredible array of controls which make operation both easy and secure. The beam pickup offers exceptional tracking accuracy for dazzling clarity and fidelity. The three-way play mode gives you the flexibility of playing in stereo AUTO, NORMAL or SINGLE mode. Mountain high copy. Touch tone "聲" enables a disc for the playback of a disc with AUTO, NORMAL or SINGLE mode. Extraordinary range of controls and settings and a convenient remote control allows you to operate your system from a seated position.

Yamaha's Best CD Player
Reg $600

Now

$499

Save

$100

HURRY!
Limited Supply

YAMAHA K-220

Yamaha's K-220 cassette recorder is not designed for the individual who wants buzzers, bells, lights and whistles, but rather for the serious audiophile. It's two-motor transport is very reliable and Dolby B/C NR lets even Jazz and Classical buffs enjoy quiet passages without annoying tape hiss.

Yamaha's K-220 recorder
Reg $600

Now

$179

Hurry!
Limited Supply
Quake continued from page 1
who were just getting up to go to work," Sanchez said.
In other Jalisco towns "the streets split open as people ran in panic.
Many people died, crushed inside churches," he said.
Televiza said in Guzman 25 people celebrating Mass in the cat­ chedral were killed when the church collapsed.
In Ixtapa, a resort just north of Acapulco, two tourists reported their 10-story hotel was shaken and collapsed.
"Huge chunks of cement and glass
started crashing down and people ran out into open lobby," said Dale Zulak, 45, a Defense Department
staff specialist, who returned to Dallas yesterday.
State Department Spokesman Ber­ hard Kalt said the U.S. Embassy in Mexico City was undamaged and
communications with the embassy
had been restored.
First reports of the quake, which occurred just before rush hour at 9:18 a.m. EDT, came from the U.S.
Geological Survey, which said it measured 7.9 on the Richter scale of ground motion. The survey put the epicenter on the Pacific Coast, 150 miles northwest of Acapulco and about 250 miles southwest of Mexico City.
Radio station XEQ in Mexico City
said it had confirmed reports of 250
deaths, and the SIN television network said without attribution that deaths were estimated up to 500.
The center of the city appeared to be hardest hit. Dust clouds surrounded collapsed buildings, broken glass and concrete chunks littered the streets everywhere, and people gathered in crowds on the streets, many weeping and some fainting.
Interviews seen on government­ owned Channel 15, monitored in Bogota, Colombia, were sometimes drowned as people screamed out
the names of loved ones. Men, women and children could be heard crying and wailing as they wandered through rubble strewn streets.
The report said there had been 10
aftershocks by 4 p.m.
The Hotel Regina in downtown
Mexico City had split in two and was still burning yesterday afternoon.
Firemen, the Red Cross and volunteers had pulled 14 bodies from the building, said Channel 15.
A spokesman for the Mexico City police said on Channel 15 that at least 100 multi-story buildings were destroyed or heavily damaged.
A ham radio buff in Mexico
City offered free checking to Saint Mary's College students and faculty and Notre Dame students and faculty.
"It was really bad," said Tom
Church, a marching band member
and Catholic student.
"The Hotel Regina in downtown
Mexico City was undamaged and Martha Kalb said the U.S. Embassy in Mexico City was undamaged and
communications with the embassy
had been restored.
"It was really bad," said Tom
Church, a marching band member
and Catholic student.
"The Hotel Regina in downtown
Mexico City was undamaged and
"At first I heard a tremendous noise and I grabbed my daughter and jumped out the window. I had no chance to help my wife, who was killed when she was buried by rubble," said a young man shown on Mexican television, his voice choked with emotion and tears streaming down his dust-covered cheeks.
Charles Young, a 26-year-old freelance reporter from Madison, Wisc., and Andy Datome, 26, a historian from Milwaukee said they saw the 12-story Principado Hotel collapse a block from the monument to the Mexican Revolution.
Apartheid continued from page 1
prevent a bloodbath," said Margarita
Rose, a graduate student and chairman of the Anti-Apartheid Network.
"We want the trustees to know that the student body is concerned about this issue. We want to help create a mandate," Rose said.
She added, "We want the trustees' statement to be more formal than the 1978 University Principles.
"The University Principles state that Notre Dame can influence company policy more effectively by correspondence, shareholder resolutions, and public statements
than by divestiture.
"If they were active shareholders, pushing firms to put pressure on the government, then that could be eff ective," Rose said.
"To our knowledge, The University of Notre Dame has not initiated any resolutions calling for the firms
to put pressure on the government.
Therefore, we are calling for more rigorous and progressive actions," she said.
John Devlin, chairman of the Notre Dame Issues Cabinet would not comment on the petition.
Students! Parents!
Get Back to the Future
General Micro announces the last month of its’ Back to school bundle
Includes: 512K Mac
Imagewriter w/ Accessory Kit
External Drive
Carrying Case 2,382.60
* Save $255.00 over the cost of buying the individual components.
* Think to your future. Buy the 512 K Now!
Notre Dame athletes win both on and off the field

Students should appreciate support of ND alumni

This weekend hosted the first Notre Dame football game of the season. It also welcomes back all the ones I may be slightly biased (having many alumni in my immediate family). I truly believe we have the most unique group of alumni of any college or university I know. What makes them so different? First, they are supportive and very entertaining, but most importantly they have an overabundance of pride.

Joan Wrappe

This institution could not survive without its alumni. Financially they provide much of what we have. Many students could not afford to study here without the many alumni contributions. Many of the buildings would not have been built or would the teacher student ration have remained as low as it has if Notre Dame received no funds from the alumni. Yes, Notre Dame is like many universities from respect to financial support from its alumni; however, unlike some others ours continues to be a source.

Not only are Notre Dame alumni a source of monetary support, but they are also a source of knowledge and opportunity. They are concerned with the present and the future of the students. Alumni clubs across the country express their views on policies which the administration considers and enforces. Their influence on the financial status of the school is not generally their opinions favor our needs and policies, but they are in agreement with the alumni.

Graduates benefit from alumni contacts entering the job market. Notre Dame has the reputation of preparing students well for their professions. This encourages companies and institutions to recruit Notre Dame graduates. This reputation and the recommendation of many alumni aid many students in getting positions which might have been out of reach without alumni assistance.

Definitely, the camaraderie between alumni and students is a valuable asset. A home game is quite an experience. The main reason I believe in the Notre Dame football team is that all the alumni do.

Often, the alumni are more obnoxious than the students. Do you expect to park your car for a tailgate a week in advance? Alumni do. Are you going to rent a helmet balloon that will be a marker for your friends to find your tailgating party? Alumni do. Are you going to wear a pair of corduroy green pants with leprechauns all over them and dance on top of your RV? Alumni do. Just watching all their antics outside the stadium is a spectator sport in itself.

Along with their bizarre actions at football games, Notre Dame alumni have an excessive amount of pride. Otherwise, they would not care to drive across the country for a game they could see on television, contribute money annually or express their opinions on policies which concern the students. Had it not been for the enthusiasm expressed by many alumni, Notre Dame would not be home to many who are enrolled here now. Just think how many of your friends come from families which in some way are connected with an alumnus. Almost all, I would bet.

Garry Trudeau

Quote of the day

"History repeats itself, that's one of the things wrong with history."

Clarence Darrow (1857-1938)
Scopes Trial, July 1925

Contact with an Important Part of College

How do you make a college student happy? Send a care package with a letter or phone him.

Most freshmen spend the greater part of their lives in their dormitories, where they let their every friend, relative and acquaintance who is literate. It is amazing how acquaintances become such good friends when they write letters.

Kim Yuratovac

St. Mary's should not pay same for tickets

Dear Editor:

Kelly Portovuce, in her article of Sept. 18th, complained that St. Mary's students who had been recently admitted received football and basketball tickets. In my opinion, these tickets are not at all with Saint Mary's girls. I think everyone tempered his or her official. Let us keep several mint in the pocket, do not force them to high school coaches if they can bring their.

In conclusion, before equality can end (as you are going to win every game, make endless freshmen council campaign

Robert D. Stock

P.O. Box Q

Joe Schmitt

Editorial Board

Operations Board

The Observer

Policy

The Observer accepts letters to the Editor at the above address. All letters received become the property of The Observer. Each letter should be no longer than 250 words and signed by the author.

It's storming - and it's sink or swim for the Irish team

Editor's note: This is the first episode in The Observer's serial publication of "The Gipper's Ghost," written by Notre Dame graduate Robert Quakenbush. Every Friday's Accent section will contain one or two chapters of the story, which follows the fortunes of a fictional Irish football team.

No more time outs for the Fighting Irish. Hart Collins called his own number and scrambled to the Michigan 7-yard line. The Irish had scored 21 straight points, and the score was 21-14. Turner homered in a 4-yard pass to Ryan O'Connor. O'Connor fought off the Wolverine defender and slipped out of bounds to stop the clock at 4:12.

Collins took a deep breath. Again, the ball was snapped. He rifled a bullet to O'Connor at the goal line. The ball skittered off his fingertips. Two seconds left.

The snap...the throw. TOUCHDOWN NOTRE DAME!

The Irish had avenged an opening day shutout. An extraordinary start to the Notre Dame season.

"The Irish had avenged an opening day shutout. An extraordinary start to the Notre Dame season." - Joe Kelly

Mary Healy features editor

Senior Lisa Brown relaxes for a moment in her Breen-Phillips room. By permission.

"I learned a valuable lesson. You have to live day by day. I'm not on a religious kick. I'm still Lisa. Yes. I don't want a good marketing job. I don't want any things," she said. "But I still think, am I going to get this job? I have an interview on the 30th. Well, I don't even know if I'll live to tomorrow."
Kleine stacks up Miami’s Warren Williams last year.

Irish defensive tackle Kleine was destined to play for ND

By MICHAEL J. CHMIEL
Sports Writer

When deciding on a college to attend, most students either know right from wrong or they make a choice in their final year of high school.

Irish defensive tackle Wally Kleine, however, was destined to attend Notre Dame from early on in life. His “destiny” was to the advantage of the Irish, as he has become a mainstay on the Notre Dame defensive line.

“My growth in the Notre Dame tradition forever,” explains Kleine. “While my dad never went here, he was what you call a 'subway alum' and he grew up the same way I did—his dad always loved Notre Dame and rooted for Notre Dame. Since I was born and came home from the hospital, I was dressed in Notre Dame T-shirts.”

Kleine, a Midland, Tex., native, was rated the best tight end in the state of Texas during his senior year in high school, catching 16 passes for 237 yards and three touchdowns. Recruited as a tight end by Notre Dame, Penn State, Texas and SMU, Kleine picked the Irish.

“I sat back and thought about it, and I realized that I’ve dreamed of this all my life,” says Kleine. “I could never pass (the chance to play at Notre Dame) up, and I’m glad to be here.”

When first joining the Irish, Kleine had envisioned the running of short, quick passes over the middle and blocking from the end of the line. Realizing that he did not necessarily fit the role of the collegiate tight end, though, Kleine explored his options so that he might get some playing time and contribute to the efforts of the team.

During his freshman year, a rash of injuries and a lack of sufficient back-up strength on the Irish defensive line influenced the 6-9, 274-pounder to utilize his skills on the other side of the line, despite his exclusive play on offense throughout high school.

“I got recruited as a tight end, and I really see KLEINE, page 2-3

Kleine stacks up Miami’s Warren Williams last year.

Computer spits out decision: Irish football tradition No. 1

By ERIC SCHEUERMANN
Sports Writer

Great tradition. It is something every football program covets and hopes to protect. And according to statistics dating back to 1936, Notre Dame heads the list of college football programs with the greatest football tradition.

A year-and-a-half ago, a poll of 60 college coaches was taken to decide the top 10 football traditions. The results placed Nebraska in the No. 1 slot, followed by Penn State, Notre Dame, Texas and Michigan. Alabama ranked sixth, ahead of Tennessee, Georgia, Southern California, Oklahoma and Alabama.

But Timothy Sauls, a longtime football fan, questioned the validity of these judgements made by the coaches.

"The results never rang true with me,” Sauls said. "The fact Nebraska could nose out Notre Dame or Alabama did not sit well with me. I began to think of a way to subjectively determine which program has the greatest tradition." So Sauls merely placed the significant data into a computer and waited for the results. His Top 20 was as follows:

The criteria were simple. The Associated Press national championship was worth 10 points in the calculations. Five points were earned for a second-place finish. Third place was worth four, fourth place three points, fifth place two and sixth through 10th place one point each.

Two points went to a winner of the UPI national championship, but no other points were awarded for lower finishes in the coaches’ poll.

A program that produced a Heisman Trophy winner received four points. A major bowl appearance gave a program one point, while one-half point was awarded for a minor bowl appearance. A half-point also was given to a program with an Oakland Trophy winner.

See TRADITION, page 2-3
Faust looks for answers before Michigan State

Chuck Freeby

Irish Items

Hello again everybody!

On Sunday night, long after the last racquetball had been smashed off the ACC walls, the lights in the football office were burning brightly. Through the window of an outside corner office, you could see a lone figure talking on the phone, running his hands through his hair. As one would expect, a befuddled Gerry Faust was hard at work.

He was looking for answers to questions. Questions like "Why?" and "How?" Questions that don't have easy answers, but that must be answered quickly...and preferably before tomorrow night.

Gerry Faust looked tired in that office Sunday, mainly because he is tired. He's tired of having to look for answers to problems that should have been solved a week ago. He's tired of seeing his team get whipped. As he said himself, he's tired of this "horse crap."

"Horse crap" is a good phrase to describe the entire situation after last week. At least it's a good one that's printable. Some would use other synonyms of horse crap to describe the play calling, the mistakes and the general attitude of the Irish during the game. While those phrases can't be printed here, rest assured they carry the same general idea.

Now is the time for the horse crap to stop. The field has had enough. The Irish have been told. No more "horse crap." The Irish have been told. It may come down to heart and desire. If the Irish want to win, it will take more than just talent or coaching. It may come down to what Rockne and Leahy meant by "heart and desire." What will it take to realize that potential? It may be something as simple as working the right way. "Horse crap" is a good phrase to describe the entire situation after last week. At least it's a good one that's printable. Some would use other synonyms of horse crap to describe the play calling, the mistakes and the general attitude of the Irish during the game. While those phrases can't be printed here, rest assured they carry the same general idea.

It has worked with some players. Irish quarterback Steve Beutler said after the loss to the Wolverines, "It's a real slap in the face. We can all sit down and get ticked off." That quote must have made Rockne and Leahy roll in their graves.

Take for instance the comments of quad captain Tim Scannell. Scannell described the loss to Michigan as "frightening Irish," putting the Irish in a bad light. "It jolts you into reality. Maybe we're not as good as we think we are."

What will it take to realize that potential? It may be something as simple as working the right way. "Horse crap" is a good phrase to describe the entire situation after last week. At least it's a good one that's printable. Some would use other synonyms of horse crap to describe the play calling, the mistakes and the general attitude of the Irish during the game. While those phrases can't be printed here, rest assured they carry the same general idea.

Still, it seems the only way to get this team inspired is to get them mad. Remember last year when the students boarded the Irish off the field after the South Carolina game? The Irish got mad and won the next four in a row. It shouldn't take that, but maybe it does.

Take for instance the comments of quad captain Tim Scannell. Scannell described the loss to Michigan as "frightening Irish," putting the Irish in a bad light. "It jolts you into reality. Maybe we're not as good as we think we are." That's a distinct possibility, although one must wonder why it should jolt the Irish into reality. What visions of greatness could a team that has compiled an 18-1-4 record over the last three years possibly have? If the Irish thought they were world-beaters, they only need to look at the game films of last October to see that just isn't so. Notre Dame has the potential to be a great team. That's the problem. It has the potential, but it has yet to be realized.

What will it take to realize that potential? It may be something besides talent or coaching. It may come down to heart and desire. If that's the case, some of the Irish seem to have their work cut out for them.

Tomorrow we will know if the Irish have that last ingredient. The students will cheer from the stands (remember if you go on the field at any time this year, it's at least five and maybe 15 yards), and it will be up to the players to do the job on the field.

We shall see if the Irish have the horses to win or just the "horse crap" to lose.

Pick of the Week. Michigan State will also kick off a big weekend for the Irish soccer team this weekend, as it faces two toughest games of the home season.

The Irish and Spartans meet under the lights of Carter Field tonight at 7:30. Notre Dame has played well against some good teams in the early part of the season, but it hasn't been able to notch a victory.

Notre Dame will try to win its third straight game, but it will be difficult. Michigan State is a tough team to beat. The Spartans have won their last two games, and they are looking for their first victory of the season.

Hopefully, they can pull off the upset tonight in front of a big crowd. They shall see if the Irish have the horses to win or just the "horse crap" to lose.
Tradition

continued from page 1

The analysis started in 1936 because most of the structure of modern football was in place then, said Cusack. The Associated Press began its national poll that year. The Rose Bowl was, of course, long established. The Cotton Bowl and Sugar Bowl were in business. The Cotton Bowl was to join them the following year.

"The Heisman Trophy was awarded for the first time in 1953, and the Southeastern Conference was three years old.

With these criteria in mind, one can easily see how Notre Dame ended up on top. Since the beginning of the survey, the Irish have won seven championships (1945-46-47-49-66-75-77), more than any other team in the country. Oklahoma and Alabama rank second with four each.

Two times the Irish have taken the UPI title (1966, 1977), with the coaches voting on a national champion each year since 1950. USC has finished first in five of those poll titles.

Irish Extra — page 3

Weekend edition, September 20-21, 1985

on tradition of old-fashioned Irish football

The Irish coaches tend to be a valuable resource, and each week Cusack's role became even greater as the season went on. The coaches and the players and the loss of Alvin Miller. The only place in which the coaches are confident enough to play me when the game is on the line.

One man who knows him well is Notre Dame assistant coach Pat Cusack. He's around, both on and off the field, and has been for the past three years. But the road from a walk-on to a scholarship player certainly hasn't been an easy one.

"I began on the prep team as a receiver and got my butt knocked around, but it was the only way I could contribute," he says. "I then became a wedge breaker on the special teams, and as one thing led to another I also began to play at receiver." Despite earning a scholarship, Cusack didn't use that as a means of judging himself. "I built it." Every player knows if they've done it by the battle, not by a scholarship. Cusack doesn't explain. "I don't get it wrong, the scholarship felt nice, but that's not the way I could contribute," he says. "I then became a wedge breaker on the special teams, and as one thing led to another I also began to play at receiver."

"There are no great skills with experience." Pat Cusack won or lost on the play of his team. Cusack says.

"It's a high to be so psyched up to run down the field as fast as I can and run head on to the goal line as a wedge breaker," he says. "There are no great skills with experience."

Cusack entered Notre Dame as a walk-on and eventually ended up on the special teams, and as one thing led to another he became a wedge breaker on the special teams.

"I began on the prep team as a receiver and got my butt knocked around, but it was the only way I could contribute," he says. "I then became a wedge breaker on the special teams, and as one thing led to another I also began to play at receiver."

As a junior, Cusack is looking at another strong season. He's on the defensive front as its No. 1.

With these criteria in mind, one can easily see how Notre Dame ended up on top. Since the beginning of the survey, the Irish have won seven championships (1945-46-47-49-66-75-77), more than any other team in the country. Oklahoma and Alabama rank second with four each.

Two times the Irish have taken the UPI title (1966, 1977), with the coaches voting on a national champion each year since 1950. USC has finished first in five of those poll titles.

Six Notre Dame players have won the Heisman Trophy award, also more than any other university.

1943, QB Angelo Bertelli
1947, QB John Lattner
1949, E Leon Hart
1953, HB John Huarte
1956, QB Paul Hornung
1964, QB John Huarte

Although the Irish have been able to garner only one Top Twenty finish in any poll since 1980 (1983 in the New York Times Computer poll in 1983), their past successes have kept them on top of the heap.

There will always be debate as to the most successful program of all time, though.

"Any true football fan might have his own ideas as to the relative worth of these factors," said Sauls. "But they do represent concrete accomplishments that all programs aspire to. They provide an unbiased method to rank tradition."

And so, for now at least, Notre Dame boosters have the computer to back up their booms.

Time Capsule

Marty Burns

It was the best of games and the worst of the games. The 80-011 frenzied fans who packed into Spartan Stadium in East Lansing, Mich. on Oct. 14, 1983, had never seen a better college football game ever played, but still came away angry enough to start a revolution.

The tale of two great teams, top-ranked Notre Dame vs. No. 2 Mich. State, was supposed to decide the national championship. In the end, though, the bloodied and weary squads had only a 10-10 tie to show for their efforts. Fans would have to wait a week and look to Southern California to see which program had the best team to decide the final game of the season, to see which of the two teams would be national champion.

Frightened viewers and media after the game, however, were looking to Irish head coach Ara Parseghian for an explanation. Their dander was up because the respected coach had ordered his team to stay on the ground and tackle. The Spartans had received a spring punt at the Notre Dame 30-yard line with just over a minute remaining in the game.

Until this point there had been no complaints from the fans. Head Coach Duffy Daugherty's Michigan State squad, playing in the last contest of an undefeated season, came out of the tunnel prepared to wrench control of the top spot from the Irish. After a scoreless first quarter, the Spartans took a 10-0 lead on fullback Regis Cavender's four-yard run and on a booming 47-yard field goal by Dick Kenney.

The Irish came back, however, despite playing without three of their better players. Ferocious Spartan Bobbina Smith had used two hard tackles to sideline Notre Dame quarterback Terry Hanratty and center Garry Gristick. Those players joined outstanding Irish halfback Nick Eddy on the injured reserve list.

Eddy had been hurt the day before when he slipped getting off the bus at East Lansing.

Notre Dame reserve quarterback Coley O'Brien, who received in-sinus shots every day for his diabetes, sparked the comeback with a 54-yard touchdown run and a 47-yard field goal by Tom Ikard.

Excitement intensified with five minutes remaining when Notre Dame safety Tom Schoen intercepted a Spartan pass and ran it to the Michigan State 18-yard line. The strong Spartan defense stymied the Irish, however, and Azario Alfred a 2-yard field goal try.

Notre Dame got the ball back on its own 50-yard line, though, with just over a minute left. Everyone who had witnessed the wide-open battle and the daring play calling of both coaches figured the Irish would look good for the win. Parseghian, however, after noticing that the Spartans had seven defensive backs in the game with the desperate hope of intercepting a pass, stayed on the ground and took the sure in.

This move did not make the fans happy, but it helped to make the Irish national champions as they steamrolled over USC, 5-0, the following week.
Although the Spartans lack a true blocking fullback, 5-10, 199 pound junior Bobby Morse to catch the football and we plan to throw to the Spartans have lacked in past seasons. Perles feels the sophomore sensation needed them, because the offense could rarely punch the ball across the goal line. This was the 1983 upset of Michigan State quarter­back. Bob McAllister, at 6-3, 205 pound free safety, and a sure bet for post­season honors, will be all over the field as he attemps to replace both of their other linebackers from last season.

The Spartan defense vs. Notre Dame's offense: When Perles was an assistant coach at the Pittsburgh Steelers he con­structed the famed Steel Curtain defense which led the Steelers to four Super Bowls victories. It was no surprise then two­years back when he immediately trans­formed the Spartans into one of the storied defenses in the college game. What is surpris­ing is how he did it.

Michigan State plays a 4-3 "must" defense, which relies on quickness and intelligence rather than brute strength. In fact, the Spartan defensive line of 5-11, 205 pound tackle Joe Curran, 6-2, 228 pound tackle Mark Nichols, 6-5, 240 pound end Warren Lester, and 6-2, 232 pound All-America candidate Anthony Bell is definitely the leader. The rest of the line will be filled by seniors Tim Scannell and Shawn Heffern at center, and Ron Plant at guard.

But the key to the Irish defense will un­doubtedly be whether quarterback Steve Beuerlein (11 completions in 23 attempts for 160 yards last week) can exploit the young corners of the Spartans. Michigan State's defensive backs are aided by the return of 6-5, 271-pound free safety, and a sure bet for post­season honors, will be all over the field as he attemps to replace both of their other linebackers from last season.

The offensive line, which the Irish coaches felt was also a bit slow off the ball last week, will be aided by the return of 6-5, 219 pound tackle Tom Doeger. Doeger did not start against the Wolverines, but he will be in for the better pass rush and we've got to get tougher in the middle.

There were few problems with the Irish line­backers last week, and 6-0, 194 pound free safety Steve Lawrence so impressed the Irish coaches with his tackling that they expect him to move to 5-10, 194 pound Hafron Fran­cis back to the backfield to help the defense. Veteran Pat Ballyage will play at the other safety spot, while the corners will be manned by junior Marv Spencer and Troy Wilton. The flip­side to the backfield position to help the offense.

Notre Dame's offense vs. Michigan State's defense: While Michigan State quarterback Dave Yarema would have started last year against the Spartans. He'll get plenty of help from sophomores Todd Krumm and Keith Faust, and the huge, experienced offensive line.

Everywhere else, the Spartans are solid but not unbeatable. Phil Parker, a 5-11, 180 pound free safety, and a sure bet for post­season honors, will be all over the field as usual. Parker picked off two passes and recorded 11 tackles in the 1983 upset of Notre Dame. Linebacker, 6-3, 241 pound junior Anthony Bell is definitely the leader. The Spartans will need Beil's speed, however, as they attemps to replace both of their other linebackers from last season.

Offensively, the Irish will count once again on the legs of elusive tailback Allen Pinkett. Pinkett, who had to fight for all of his 89 yards last week against Michigan, will need blocking help from sophomore center Rob Miller and the huge, experienced offensive line.

Michigan State will play two other major college football games this season. Records are compiled as to how each person does against the spread. In other words, it isn't enough to pick the winner of a given game: The person must pick the winner and give the underdog points. Home team is in CAPS.

PITTSTON over Boston College by 1-0 Cougars Eagles Panthers

GEORGIA Tech over Virginia by 3 Eagles Cavaliers Patriots

ARMY over Navy by 1-0 Eagles Cavaliers Panthers

Navy over Indiana by 2-5 Eagles Cavaliers Panthers

NAVY over Maryland by 5-5 Eagles Cavaliers Panthers

Ohio State over COLORADO by 9-0 Eagles Cavaliers Panthers

CLEMSON over Notre Dame by 10-0 Eagles Cavaliers Panthers

SOUTH CAROLINA over Michigan by 3-0 Eagles Cavaliers Panthers

OHIO STATE over Texas by 10-5 Eagles Cavaliers Panthers

TEXAS over Minnesota by 10-5 Eagles Cavaliers Panthers

MARYLAND over West Virginia by 7-0 Eagles Cavaliers Panthers

SOUTHERN CAL over Baylor by 11 Eagles Cavaliers Panthers

BRIGHTON over TEMPLE by 16 Eagles Cavaliers Panthers

NOTRE DAME over Michigan State by 6 Eagles Cavaliers Panthers

Each week, the Observer sports staff, a random student picked by the sports editor and some well­known figure in the Notre Dame community create the outcome of the week's major college football games. Records are compiled as to how each person does against the spread. In other words, it isn't enough to pick the winner of a given game: The person must pick the winner and give the underdog points. Home team is in CAPS.
Kerry is one of our local writers who treats us as a senior professional of the craft be belong to. Our lunches together are like seminars on the ways life and language work together to are like seminars on the ways life about. He would be satisfied, raising two wonderful little boys in loners with the Alone, baring their reverence of nature, like that of heads to the Spirit Father, who makes the brave and the buffalo the children are assembled about as laughed at him as a romantic. I probably stoned on drugs.

continued: "The Indians think the boyfriend (Philippe Leotard), involving Auditorium. This successful crime drama feisty hooker (Nathalie Baye) and her investigating a series of drug related murders.

stars Richard Berry as a tough cop investigating a series of drug related murders.

"Gorky Park" is a gripping thriller that examines the inner workings of the Soviet Union while exploring the complicated personal lives of those who live there. This action packed series excites especial­ lively. Additional to the 5:30 and 9:30 p.m.

shows is 4:30 and 7:30 p.m.

Enjoy the suspense of "La Balance," tonight's movie at the Annenberg Auditorium. This successful crime drama

Rick Barry at a tough cop invesigating a series of drug-related murders. To obtain certain information, he hits on a

"The exhibition "Eleanor and Barbara," photographs by Harry Callahan, is still on display at The State Museum.

Callahan, well known for his multiple exposures and high contrast printing

qualities, shot a series of photographs of his wife, Eleanor, and their daughter

Barbara. The exhibition will be on display through Oct. 27 in the Print, Drawing and

Photography Gallery between 1 and 4

p.m.

"Four Woman Photographers" is the title of an exhibition opening today in the Saint Mary's Moreau Gallery. This show features the works of Joan Salingor, Andrea Eus, Constance Bruner, and Freedom Liaison, all of whom work with light and texture. The exhibit is free to the public.

The Saint Mary's art department will host Linda Plotkin in her artist-in­ residence program. Plotkin, a New York printer, will hold talks and lectures until this Saturday at Saint Mary's.

"The metaphysical proofs would have disappointed Kerry. He wanted affidavits, signed by archangels, certifying the Unmoved Mover. In the Middle Ages, you got syllogisms, because the monads were in love with logic. Natural theology is too disappointing for a mind that wants God's truth to be pure poetry.

We had now reached the dying moments of the meal, which for me are always sad. It was time to face the real world again. We hadn't found love, but the trip to the woods had a good time. Kerry, in his kind, good­ natured way, would find highlights worth returning for. I would make me feel like a militant单元 when he told me he was grateful for helping him to be a wiser father.

We creatures come and go, in and out of darkness. Existence, as we know it, is brief and temporary; none of us, time wise, amount to anything. Existence is too much of a will of the wisp to be called eternal or godlike. So what credentials of existence does an ultimate reality need?

I can't fool Kerry. He knew I was showing off as though I were practicing to be a Jesuit. He said: "Is He then when I lay me down to sleep. I pray the Lord of my soul to keep? Or was the world's creation just an idea whose time had come?

"Myself you at the Student Activities Board presentation of "Gorky Park" tonight and tomorrow night at the Student Auditorium in the Print, Drawing and

Photography Gallery between 1 and 4

p.m.

Fare includes hot dogs, hamburgers and non-alcoholic drinks.

"Hungry for something other than dining hall food? Step by the junior class­ sponsored concession stand in front of Alumni Hall this Saturday after 12 p.m. Fare includes hot dogs, hamburgers and non-alcoholic drinks.

While we grapple with faith, He gives us love.
Sports Briefs

A pep rally is planned for tonight at 7 p.m. in Student Center. Featured speakers will be Head Coach Gerry Faust, defensive line coach Rick Lusti and defensive lineman Greg Dingens. - The Observer

The ND/SMU Gymnastics Clubs will be meeting Monday at 6:15 p.m. in the new Student Activities Facility. Anyone who is interested may attend. - The Observer

Interhall officials are needed for football and soccer. For more information, contact the NVA office in the ACC. - The Observer

see BRIEFS, page 34
Soccer
continued from page 20
combination. To complicate matters, starting Hoosier goalkeeper
Chris Paddock was injured last Sun­
ters, starting Hoosier goalkeeper
combination. To complicate mat­ up this season is sophomore Bruce
Kurt Roemer and tri-captain Jock
Mutschler have not practiced this week, and the status of all three is questionable.

if the Irish can take advantage of their friendly surroundings this weekend and overcome the loss of some players, they may come away with two important victories in regional play.
The Irish also will be playing withour the services of some players
this weekend. Freshman John Gognon, who has two goals this season,
is recovering from mononucleosis
in the Student Health Center and will be unable to play. Randy Morris,
Kurt Roemer and tri-captain Jock
Mutschler have not practiced this
week, and the status of all three is
questionable.

Top goalkeeper
Breslin walks into big role for Irish

By GREG STOHR
Sports Writer

Notre Dame soccer coach Dennis
Grace was sitting at his desk last January when a tall, lean, young man stepped into his office.

"He introduced himself and told me he wanted to go out for the team," says Grace. "So I decided to give him a tryout. And I'm certainly glad I did." Grace is glad because now, eight months later, that same young man, Hugh Breslin, is the top goalkeeper on his Irish soccer team. The junior finance major has started all six of the squad's games this season, posing a 2.6 goals against average and saving 47 shots.

"He's done a tremendous job," says Grace. "He has a great com­petitive nature, and his work rate is extremely high." Under former Irish coach Rich Hunter, Breslin spent most of his freshman year on the bench.

"It was frustrating," says Breslin.
"I wanted to hang out with my friends more," he explains. "Plus, I had a tough freshman year scholastic­ally." Hugh could not remain separated from soccer for very long, however.

"There was something missing, I had been playing soccer every fall since I was about ten," says Breslin. "So I talked to Dennis (Grace) over the winter." The hard-working Breslin impressed Grace enough during spring competition that he started the final two spring games. His hopes for fall playing time, though, suffered a setback in June of that year when he broke his leg playing soccer in Ireland. Sidelined for six weeks, Hugh was concerned about how the injury would affect his play. "I was worried coming into the season," he says. "I wasn't sure I would be in the shape I wanted to be in." In shape or not, Breslin overcame the leg injury as well as preseason shoulder problems to claim the starting position. Hugh's aggressive style of play helped him to beat out fellow junior Jim Flynn and sop­numore Tim Herigan for the job.

"I try to be as aggressive as pos­sible," Breslin. "I'm good coming out and blocking the ball. That was one of the big reasons why I won the job. Coach (Grace) likes aggressiveness."

Hugh Breslin, is the top goalkeeper on Notre Dame soccer team. The junior finance major has started all six of the squad's games this season, posting a 2.6 goals against average and saving 47 shots.

Though happy about obtaining the starting role, Breslin is not fully satisfied with his play this season and still sets goals for himself.

"I've been playing well, but I also know I can do better," he says.

"We've got to start shutting people out. I'd love to shut out Indiana (Sunday). All I've been thinking about is shutting out Indiana." When not dreaming of shutouts, Breslin enjoys listening to new wave music, especially before games.

"I always listen to music to get psyched," he explains. "It relaxes me."

Whatever it takes to keep Breslin "psyched", Grace and the Irish soc­cer team will do their best to help. For the Irish to do turn their season around, they will need the con­tinued steady play of Breslin.

"He seems to be growing in con­fidence," says Grace. "He really wants to win."
Gallagher fills ND field hockey net

By TOM YOON
Sports Writer

When the Notre Dame field hockey team opened its 1985 season this fall, its two-year program was not at goalie. Patti Gallagher began her final season at Notre Dame.

"I am very happy about changing because goalkeeping is very fun, and I enjoy being the last-line of defense," says Gallagher. "I just saw a challenge in front of me, and as a person who loves challenges, I decided to make that drastic change," says Gallagher.

"In my sophomore year here," continues Gallagher, "when I began playing goalie, there wasn't anyone to fight over the job. So as soon as I started playing field hockey as a sophomore in high school, that's the position I played. But goalkeeping is really a lot of fun."

"This year's team should be really good because we have most of our starters back," says Gallagher. "But we also have a much tougher schedule because we play a lot of teams from the Big Ten. With the help of Coach [Jill] Lindenfeld, though, who is in her second year as coach, this season will be a good one."

Lindenfeld, in Gallagher's eyes, is the type of coach who can criticize, and then be a good friend off the field.

"Jill is the best," says Gallagher. "She is a great coach on the field, but once practice or a game is over, she leaves coaching on the field and becomes a good friend to me as well.

"She is a great coach on the field, but once practice or a game is over, she leaves coaching on the field and becomes a good friend to me as well."

Gallagher and her teammates will see plenty of stiff competition from opponents this year. Still, she feels that the Irish will have few problems.

"This year's team should be really good because we have most of our starters back," says Gallagher. "But we also have a much tougher schedule because we play a lot of teams from the Big Ten. With the help of Coach [Jill] Lindenfeld, though, who is in her second year as coach, this season will be a good one."

Lindenfeld, in Gallagher's eyes, is the type of coach who can criticize, and then be a good friend off the field.

"Jill is the best," says Gallagher. "She is a great coach on the field, but once practice or a game is over, she leaves coaching on the field and becomes a good friend to me as well."

With the 1985 season just four games old, Patti is looking forward to a big year for the team, and hopefully, for herself as well.
ND-SMC
sports weekend

Friday
soccer
vs. Michigan State
7:30 p.m.
Carrier Field
Saint Mary's soccer
vs. Michigan State
5 p.m.
Angela Field

Saturday
football
vs. Michigan State
6:45 p.m.
Notre Dame Stadium
baseball
vs. Bethel (2)
12 p.m.
Jake Kline Field

Sunday
soccer
vs. Indiana
2 p.m.
Alumni Field
baseball
vs. Western Michigan (2)
12 p.m.
Jake Kline Field
field hockey
vs. Northern Illinois
1:30 p.m.
Carrier Field
Saint Mary's soccer
vs. Quincy
1 p.m.
Angela Field

Help the
March of Dimes
Fight Birth Defects

Baseball Standings

AMERICAN LEAGUE

East

West

NATIONAL LEAGUE

East

West

Chicago 8, California 7
New York 5, Chicago 1
California 15, Atlanta 5
Houston 6, Los Angeles 5
Los Angeles 15, Cincinnati 7
Detroit 10, New York 3
Milwaukee 5, Baltimore 2
Philadelphia 7-1, Chicago 4-6
Pittsburgh 8, Montreal 6 (10)
Montreal 4, Philadelphia 3
St. Louis 5, Pittsburgh 2
Pittsburgh 9, St. Louis 1
San Francisco 9, Atlanta 5
San Francisco 6, Pittsburgh 2

What makes Sunday special?

One call, three friends ... and our $7.99 Sunday special.

One call to DOMINO'S PIZZA® gets you our Sunday special — a 16-inch, single topping pizza for just $7.99.

It’s a great way to get together with three other students and enjoy a hot, custom-made pizza for about $2 each.

And Domino’s Pizza Delivers® Free. In 30 minutes or less, or you get $3 off your order.

So make Sunday special with our $7.99 Sunday special. It’s available all evening this Sunday. Only from Domino’s Pizza®.

Belles fall to 0-3
Kalamazoo tops Saint Mary’s, 4-1

By ANDREA LaFRENIERE
Sports Writer

The Kalamazoo College women’s soccer club handed the Saint Mary’s soccer team its third straight loss Wednesday, defeating the Belles by a score of 4-1.

The Belles, now 0-3, were able to keep up with Kalamazoo early in the competition but lost momentum in the later stages of the game. Host Kalamazoo scored the first goal after about 25 minutes of play, but the Belles tied it up immediately with a goal by junior Ann Nora Ehret.

Saint Mary’s, however, was not able to match the next three goals by the home team. Belles’ coach John Akers attributed the loss to the same defensive weaknesses that have caused the team problems in earlier games.

“We played a pretty fast, aggressive Kalamazoo team,” said Akers. “Again we were hurt by the same defensive errors we’ve made in previous games. We allowed the other team too many opportunities at the goal.”

The Belles play two games this weekend. The first is today at 5 p.m. at Angela Field, where Saint Mary’s plays host to the Michigan State women’s soccer club.

Sunday, the Belles are scheduled to compete at 1 p.m. against the Quincy College women’s varsity soccer team, a National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) team that went to post-season play just last year.

According to Akers, both these teams are very competitive.

“We have to set our sights for these games,” says Akers, “and hope we can use our defense to prevent them from scoring.”

Baseball Standings

AMERICAN LEAGUE

East

West

NATIONAL LEAGUE

East

West

Chicago 8, California 7
New York 5, Chicago 1
California 15, Atlanta 5
Houston 6, Los Angeles 5
Los Angeles 15, Cincinnati 7
Detroit 10, New York 3
Milwaukee 5, Baltimore 2
Philadelphia 7-1, Chicago 4-6
Pittsburgh 8, Montreal 6 (10)
Montreal 4, Philadelphia 3
St. Louis 5, Pittsburgh 2
Pittsburgh 9, St. Louis 1
San Francisco 9, Atlanta 5
San Francisco 6, Pittsburgh 2

Hunan
Authentic Chinese Cuisine

Our dishes vary less than $30.00. No reservations required. All Major Credit Cards accepted. All prices subject to change. Lic. No. 000-3590. © 1984 Domino’s Pizza, Inc.
Tyler emerges as No. 1 CC runner

BY MIKE SZYMANSKI
Sports Writer

Cross Country and track are two different sports, but Notre Dame senior co-captain Jim Tyler, an already accomplished track performer, is well on his way to mastering both.

Tyler, a three-year monogram winner, has emerged as the number-one Irish runner by virtue of his victory at the triangular meet with Ohio State and Michigan State in which he led his team to a first place finish. In that race, after running with the pack through two miles, Tyler broke one MSU man at four miles and later kicked down the other MSU man in the last half mile.

"Since I have been traditionally a track performer, I expected to be one of our top runners, though not necessarily number one," says Tyler. "I have had my best summer of training ever this year simply by building a distance base with a 66 mile average per week."

Notre Dame coach Joe Plane has stressed the importance of closing the time gap between the top five Notre Dame finishers. Tyler would like to stay out in front and compete to win the race while still counting on the No.2 through No.6 men to lower the time spread.

"As co-captain, meanwhile, Tyler sees his responsibility as that of a 'role model'." The captains must say the right things to the team before meets and practice," says Tyler. "Off the course, the younger guys look to us for advice on academics, running, injuries, and coaches.

"This team does not require very much motivation," continues Tyler, "because everyone is pumped to win."

With regards to team goals, Tyler wants to see Mike Collins, Craig Maxfield, and Rick Mulvey come from injuries. He rates this year's healthy squad as stronger than last year, and feels this may help the Irish down the stretch.

"Victories in the remaining meets and a return to Nationals as a team are realistic goals," says Tyler. "Personally, I would like to win the State meet and the Midwestern Conference meet, which are well within my grasp. I also plan to attend Nationals, and hope to finish among the top 20 Americans."

Tyler will face tough individuals this season. He rates the No.2 through No.6 men in the country as of equal value.

"Since I have been traditionally a track performer, I expected to be one of our top runners, though not necessarily number one," says Tyler. "I have had my best summer of training ever this year simply by building a distance base with a 66 mile average per week."

With regards to team goals, Tyler wants to see Mike Collins, Craig Maxfield, and Rick Mulvey come from injuries. He rates this year's healthy squad as stronger than last year, and feels this may help the Irish down the stretch.

"Victories in the remaining meets and a return to Nationals as a team are realistic goals," says Tyler. "Personally, I would like to win the State meet and the Midwestern Conference meet, which are well within my grasp. I also plan to attend Nationals, and hope to finish among the top 20 Americans."

Tyler will face tough individuals this season. He rates the No.2 through No.6 men in the country as of equal value.

"Since I have been traditionally a track performer, I expected to be one of our top runners, though not necessarily number one," says Tyler. "I have had my best summer of training ever this year simply by building a distance base with a 66 mile average per week."

With regards to team goals, Tyler wants to see Mike Collins, Craig Maxfield, and Rick Mulvey come from injuries. He rates this year's healthy squad as stronger than last year, and feels this may help the Irish down the stretch.

"Victories in the remaining meets and a return to Nationals as a team are realistic goals," says Tyler. "Personally, I would like to win the State meet and the Midwestern Conference meet, which are well within my grasp. I also plan to attend Nationals, and hope to finish among the top 20 Americans."

Tyler will face tough individuals this season. He rates the No.2 through No.6 men in the country as of equal value.

"Since I have been traditionally a track performer, I expected to be one of our top runners, though not necessarily number one," says Tyler. "I have had my best summer of training ever this year simply by building a distance base with a 66 mile average per week."

With regards to team goals, Tyler wants to see Mike Collins, Craig Maxfield, and Rick Mulvey come from injuries. He rates this year's healthy squad as stronger than last year, and feels this may help the Irish down the stretch.

"Victories in the remaining meets and a return to Nationals as a team are realistic goals," says Tyler. "Personally, I would like to win the State meet and the Midwestern Conference meet, which are well within my grasp. I also plan to attend Nationals, and hope to finish among the top 20 Americans."

Tyler will face tough individuals this season. He rates the No.2 through No.6 men in the country as of equal value.

"Since I have been traditionally a track performer, I expected to be one of our top runners, though not necessarily number one," says Tyler. "I have had my best summer of training ever this year simply by building a distance base with a 66 mile average per week."

With regards to team goals, Tyler wants to see Mike Collins, Craig Maxfield, and Rick Mulvey come from injuries. He rates this year's healthy squad as stronger than last year, and feels this may help the Irish down the stretch.

"Victories in the remaining meets and a return to Nationals as a team are realistic goals," says Tyler. "Personally, I would like to win the State meet and the Midwestern Conference meet, which are well within my grasp. I also plan to attend Nationals, and hope to finish among the top 20 Americans."

Tyler will face tough individuals this season. He rates the No.2 through No.6 men in the country as of equal value.

"Since I have been traditionally a track performer, I expected to be one of our top runners, though not necessarily number one," says Tyler. "I have had my best summer of training ever this year simply by building a distance base with a 66 mile average per week."

With regards to team goals, Tyler wants to see Mike Collins, Craig Maxfield, and Rick Mulvey come from injuries. He rates this year's healthy squad as stronger than last year, and feels this may help the Irish down the stretch.

"Victories in the remaining meets and a return to Nationals as a team are realistic goals," says Tyler. "Personally, I would like to win the State meet and the Midwestern Conference meet, which are well within my grasp. I also plan to attend Nationals, and hope to finish among the top 20 Americans."

Tyler will face tough individuals this season. He rates the No.2 through No.6 men in the country as of equal value.

"Since I have been traditionally a track performer, I expected to be one of our top runners, though not necessarily number one," says Tyler. "I have had my best summer of training ever this year simply by building a distance base with a 66 mile average per week."

With regards to team goals, Tyler wants to see Mike Collins, Craig Maxfield, and Rick Mulvey come from injuries. He rates this year's healthy squad as stronger than last year, and feels this may help the Irish down the stretch.

"Victories in the remaining meets and a return to Nationals as a team are realistic goals," says Tyler. "Personally, I would like to win the State meet and the Midwestern Conference meet, which are well within my grasp. I also plan to attend Nationals, and hope to finish among the top 20 Americans."

Tyler will face tough individuals this season. He rates the No.2 through No.6 men in the country as of equal value.
Volleyball team hopes for better things

By CHUCK FREEBY
Sports Writer

In the words of that noted volleyball expert Howard James, "things can only get better."

At least that's what Notre Dame volleyball coach Art Lambert is hoping this weekend as he takes his beleaguered Notre Dame volleyball team to Athens, Ga. for the Georgia Peach Classic.

The Irish will take their 1-1 record to the hardwood tonight against Georgia in the tournament opener. On Saturday, Notre Dame faces a busy day, meeting a powerful Oklahoma squad at 1 p.m. before taking on Eastern Kentucky at 3 p.m.

Despite his team's lack of success thus far, Lambert is maintaining bright prospects for the weekend.

"We're not out of our element playing teams of this caliber," notes the second-year Irish boss who has been frustrated by his team's inconsistent play early in the season.

"This team has the ability to do good things, and it has even shown it at times. We just need a winning attitude and to get our confidence higher."

It will be tough to get that confidence up playing this field, though, as all three schools have outstanding volleyball programs. Georgia returns seven letterwinners from last year's squad which won 26-11 and defeated the Irish in straight games at the Illini Classic.

Meanwhile, Oklahoma and Eastern Kentucky are first-time opponents for the Irish, but both bring impressive credentials to the tournament. Oklahoma carries a mere 4-6 record, but they handled a tough Loyola team easily. Eastern Kentucky enters the tourney at 6-2 and is coming in after winning their own tournament last weekend.

"When you look at Georgia, Oklahoma, and Eastern Kentucky, you're looking at three quality teams," notes Lambert. "I believe at least one of these teams will be in the top-20 by the end of the season."

If the Irish are going to pick up a victory over the weekend, they will have to find a lineup which can produce consistently. Lambert promises to try different combinations over the weekend to try and find a successful blend.

"We've tried to place people where they're strongest, but it hasn't worked out that way," sighs Lambert. "We've got to find people who will get the job done."

That will place a lot of pressure on an adjusted lineup consisting of four freshmen and two sophomores.

Look for first-year performers Zanette Bennett, Whitney Shewman, Maureen Shea and Mary Kay Waller to get the nod against the Bulldogs, along with sophomores Jill Suglich and Kathy Morin. The main thing Lambert wants from this group is some capitalization on opponents' errors - something the Irish have been unable to do.

"We can't convert their gifts to a plus," explains Lambert. "We'll get a free ball coming over the net, and we won't do anything with it. We don't make teams pay for their mistakes, but we wind up paying for ours."

That was the story on Tuesday night, as the Irish lost to Bowling Green in four games, 15-4, 15-4, 6-15, 15-8. Notre Dame dug itself early holes in all three losses and could never get back on track.

"They didn't beat us; we beat ourselves," commented Lambert. "By the time we got things going, we were too far behind to get into the game."

One of the few bright spots for the Irish was an outstanding performance by Bennett, who had not produced in the first four matches. The San Antonio spiker drilled home seven kills to pace the Irish offense.

Suglich also continued the fine play which has earned her the setter slot for keeps. The Chicago native collected 24 assists and 12 digs to maintain the team lead in both categories.

Tennis continued from page 20

up a set. Gelfman is not quite so optimistic.

"It's going to be hard work just to win each point this weekend," she explains. "We're not expecting to win every set, we're just looking to make a good showing." Tomorrow's match should prove especially meaningful for Gelfman. She coached the Western Illinois team for two years before taking the job at Notre Dame this season.

The Irish return to their home courts Monday for a match against Butler.

...thousands of calories. Then throwing up so I wouldn't have to worry about gaining weight. But my game turned into something else. A way of life. Bulimia had taken over. Making me feel guilty. Alone. And out of control.

One phone call helped me begin to change all that. When I contacted HOPE, I discovered a special program designed by Memorial Hospital of South Bend that helps people like me who have eating disorders.

The San Antonio spiker drilled home seven kills to pace the Irish offense. The main thing Lambert wants from this group is some capitalization on opponents' errors - something the Irish have been unable to do.

"We can't convert their gifts to a plus," explains Lambert. "We'll get a free ball coming over the net, and we won't do anything with it. We don't make teams pay for their mistakes, but we wind up paying for ours."

If you or someone you know has an eating disorder, call 284-7151. And discover how HOPE can help.

Meanwhile, Oklahoma and Eastern Kentucky are first-time opponents for the Irish, but both bring impressive credentials to the tournament. Oklahoma carries a mere 4-6 record, but they handled a tough Loyola team easily. Eastern Kentucky enters the tourney at 6-2 and is coming in after winning their own tournament last weekend.

"When you look at Georgia, Oklahoma, and Eastern Kentucky, you're looking at three quality teams," notes Lambert. "I believe at least one of these teams will be in the top-20 by the end of the season."

If the Irish are going to pick up a victory over the weekend, they will have to find a lineup which can produce consistently. Lambert promises to try different combinations over the weekend to try and find a successful blend.

"We've tried to place people where they're strongest, but it hasn't worked out that way," sighs Lambert. "We've got to find people who will get the job done."

That will place a lot of pressure on an adjusted lineup consisting of four freshmen and two sophomores.

Look for first-year performers Zanette Bennett, Whitney Shewman, Maureen Shea and Mary Kay Waller to get the nod against the Bulldogs, along with sophomores Jill Suglich and Kathy Morin. The main thing Lambert wants from this group is some capitalization on opponents' errors - something the Irish have been unable to do.

"We can't convert their gifts to a plus," explains Lambert. "We'll get a free ball coming over the net, and we won't do anything with it. We don't make teams pay for their mistakes, but we wind up paying for ours."

That was the story on Tuesday night, as the Irish lost to Bowling Green in four games, 15-4, 15-4, 6-15, 15-8. Notre Dame dug itself early holes in all three losses and could never get back on track.

"They didn't beat us; we beat ourselves," commented Lambert. "By the time we got things going, we were too far behind to get into the game."

One of the few bright spots for the Irish was an outstanding performance by Bennett, who had not produced in the first four matches. The San Antonio spiker drilled home seven kills to pace the Irish offense.

Suglich also continued the fine play which has earned her the setter slot for keeps. The Chicago native collected 24 assists and 12 digs to maintain the team lead in both categories.

Tennis continued from page 20

up a set. Gelfman is not quite so optimistic.

"It's going to be hard work just to win each point this weekend," she explains. "We're not expecting to win every set, we're just looking to make a good showing." Tomorrow's match should prove especially meaningful for Gelfman. She coached the Western Illinois team for two years before taking the job at Notre Dame this season.

The Irish return to their home courts Monday for a match against Butler.
Irish experiment during fall ball

By KEVIN HERBERT
Sports Writer

"We are trying a lot of different people and lineups, trying to develop a winning attitude."

This is how Notre Dame baseball coach Larry Gallo describes his strategy for this year's fall baseball season.

The fall season is equivalent to major league baseball's spring training.

The year opened last week when the Irish dropped two games to Bradley while earning a split with Valparaiso.

Against Bradley, Notre Dame committed some crucial mistakes which turned a close 1-0 game in the fourth inning into a 15-4 Bradley romp.

"A defensive play was not made, and our pitchers did not do the job," said Gallo.

"I am really proud of the kids rounding into shape. Some of them have not played for a month or so."

This weekend, Notre Dame will be playing four more games, two against Bethel and a pair versus Western Michigan.

"Bethel is a scrappy squad," says Gallo. "There should be a large crowd there because of the football game."

The Irish opened last week when Bethel will be pumped for the crowd and our pitchers did not do the job," said Gallo.

"We are trying a lot of different people and lineups, trying to develop a winning attitude."

The fall season is equivalent to major league baseball's spring training.

The year opened last week when the Irish dropped two games to Bradley while earning a split with Valparaiso.

Against Bradley, Notre Dame committed some crucial mistakes which turned a close 1-0 game in the fourth inning into a 15-4 Bradley romp.

"A defensive play was not made, and our pitchers did not do the job," said Gallo.

"I am really proud of the kids rounding into shape. Some of them have not played for a month or so."

This weekend, Notre Dame will be playing four more games, two against Bethel and a pair versus Western Michigan.

"Bethel is a scrappy squad," says Gallo. "There should be a large crowd there because of the football game. Bethel will be pumped for the contests."

The games will start at 12:00 on Jake Kline field.

Sunday, the Irish again will be playing a doubleheader, this time against Western Michigan.

"This is the first time that they have been allowed to play fall baseball," says Gallo. "We beat them twice last spring and I hope that we can continue that success."

These games also will begin at 12:00 p.m. on Jake Kline field.

Gallo is in his sixth year of coaching at Notre Dame. In his six years, he has compiled a 575 winning percentage. This seems quite an accomplishment when one considers the fact that the Irish had enjoyed a winning baseball season only once in the nine years preceding his arrival.

I have tried to give us the highest caliber competition possible," says Gallo. "I am really proud of the kids and how hard they have worked to improve themselves."
Zeto

LEAF ALERT!! LEAF ALERT!!

WELL... I SHAME. I'M VERY SORRY. I SORRY IT'S... I'M SORRY... I CANT CONTINUE...

---

SUNDAY, SEPT. 12

- 7:00 P.M. - Football, Notre Dame vs. Michigan State
- 7:30 P.M. - Soccer, Notre Dame vs. Michigan State
- 8:00 P.M. - Baseball, Notre Dame vs. Michigan State
- 8:30 P.M. - Field Hockey, Notre Dame vs. Northern Illinois
- 9:00 P.M. - Field Hockey, Notre Dame vs. Western Illinois
- 9:30 P.M. - Baseball, Notre Dame vs. Michigan State

---

TUESDAY, SEPT. 14

- 7:00 P.M. - Baseball, Notre Dame vs. Michigan State
- 7:30 P.M. - Field Hockey, Notre Dame vs. Northern Illinois
- 8:00 P.M. - Field Hockey, Notre Dame vs. Western Illinois
- 8:30 P.M. - Baseball, Notre Dame vs. Michigan State

---

THURSDAY, SEPT. 16

- 7:00 P.M. - Baseball, Notre Dame vs. Michigan State
- 7:30 P.M. - Field Hockey, Notre Dame vs. Northern Illinois
- 8:00 P.M. - Field Hockey, Notre Dame vs. Western Illinois
- 8:30 P.M. - Baseball, Notre Dame vs. Michigan State
ND tennis team gets tune-up, beats Illinois-Chicago, 9-0

By MARTY STRASEN
Sports Writer

Call it a tune-up. That's what the University of Illinois-Chicago provided for the Notre Dame women's tennis team yesterday, as the Irish improved their season record to 4-0 with a convincing 9-0 victory.

For Notre Dame head coach Michelle Lazzaro, the only disappointment comes with the fact that her squad has not yet been challenged this season.

"I really wish they could have given us a little more competition," said Lazzaro. "The girls did about what I expected against a team like this. They just played consistently and did a solid job."

Top-seeded Susan Panter started things for the Irish with a 6-1, 6-1 pasting of Illinois-Chicago's No. 1 player, Gigi Otto. Otto was one of three women from the visiting squad who was able to capture as many as two games in the six singles matches.

Kerry Melarkey managed to give Notre Dame sophomore Mary Collins a 6-2, 6-0 match, while junior Jo-Anne Biator defeated Mary Lazzaro by the same score.

"I think we'll do really well," Lazzaro says. "We've beaten these teams before and I hope we can continue winning. We need some good competition for the North Star Conference tournament (Oct. 11 and 12) and I'm sure this will help.

For as far as we're concerned, the competition begins right now."