Second quake rocks Mexico City; 10 ND students ‘okay’

Associated Press

MEXICO CITY - Exhausted rescue teams worked through the night Saturday, digging into the rubble of collapsed buildings for more victims of the big earthquake that ravaged the world’s most populous capital. The government put the death toll at 2,000, but unofficial estimates said it could reach five times that.

A second quake hit Mexico City and four states Friday night, spreading panic and toppling some buildings damaged by Thursday’s devastating quake.

All 10 of the Notre Dame students enrolled in the Mexico City program were reported safe by an unidentified man who had visited the students Saturday and telephoned a parent from Houston, according to Isabel Charles, assistant provost and director of the Foreign Study Programs. The Notre Dame program operates through the Universidad Iberoamericana, located in a southern section of Mexico City. This area was not reported to have been heavily damaged.

Mexico City police said Saturday that at least 2,000 people were killed, 15,000 were injured and 20,000 were homeless. They said 190 damaged buildings were a threat to safety and would have to be demolished.

Mexico City’s mayor, Ramon Aguirre, told The Associated Press late Saturday that 1,641 bodies had been recovered from under collapsed buildings in the capital, but that 3,000 people were still believed pinned under debris and possibly dead.

The back-to-back tremors collapsed 411 buildings in Mexico City alone, Aguirre said. Six thousand people were treated for injuries, and 5,000 capital residents remained homeless by the quakes being housed in refugee centers, the mayor told the AP.

U.S. ambassador John Gavin, who was en route from Saturday to tell reporters the death toll could reach 10,000, but that was “just a guess.” He said 1,000 people may have been killed or injured in one high-rise apartment complex in the earthquake’s epicenter.

Gavin also said that five Americans had perished. He did not release their identities, but said they were a couple staying at the devastated St. Regis Hotel, and a mother and her two children.

Earlier Saturday, Greg Lagan, spokesman for the State Department Earthquake Task Force in Washington, identified three of the victims as Mary Vallejo and her children from Nebraska.

Mrs. Vallejo’s brother, Mike Zgud of Kearney, Neb., said State Department officials told him Saturday that a second body found near the site of the collapsed hotel belonged to his sister, B. Vallejo, 34, and her children. B. and A., 5, were among those killed.

Two children, ages 5 and 3, 500 bodies had been identified by Saturday afternoon. Rescue workers continued looking for survivors, but said they would have to wait clear the rubble to avoid the possibility of an epidemic caused by rotting bodies in the debris.

People roam the street in front of a collapsed building after an earthquake hit Mexico City Thursday. The quake registered 7.8 on the Richter scale. A second quake struck Friday night. See story at left.

Aid from around the globe arrives in disaster relief effort

Associated Press

Aid ranging from U.S. helicopters, Soviet medicines and proceeds from a Polish soccer game were delivered for quake-ravaged Mexico City Saturday as nations around the world pledged help.

In Puerto Rico, businessmen formed the nonprofit Clemente Relief Committee and sent 500,000 pounds of food. Clemente, a Puerto Rican-born member of the baseball Hall of Fame who played with the Pittsburgh Pirates, was killed Jan. 1, 1972, in the crash of a plane he had chartered to deliver supplies to victims of the big Nicaraguan earthquake in 1972.

Following is a brief summary of aid being sent to Mexico City by various countries:

- ALGERIA The government sent a plane carrying tents, blankets and medicines, plus a team of civil defense rescue specialists who assisted in relief operations following the 1980 earthquake that devastated the Algerian city of El Amam and killed an estimated 6,000 people.
- BRAZIL The Mexican colony in Rio de Janeiro, estimated at about 40 families, opened a bank account to collect funds for victims.
- CANADA An air force Buffalo aircraft left Saturday for Mexico with communications equipment and more than a ton of blankets purchased by the Canadian Red Cross.
- ISRAEL The army is sending equipment designed to locate and dig out survivors from collapsed buildings. The equipment was designed in Israel and will be operated by Israelis experienced in its use.
- ITALY The Civil Defense Ministry is sending 35 tons of medicines and non-perishable food and dogs trained to search for victims.
- MEXICO The semi-official Notaulia news agency said the government would donate $10,000. The Turkish Red Cross said it would send an unspecified amount of food, medicine, cloth, tents and blankets.
- UNITED STATES The State Department said, including helicopters and mine rescue teams, was on its way. President Reagan is sending his wife, Nancy, to Mexico City to explore ways to deliver aid. Churches and corporations joined with relief agencies to commit at least $650,000. A fleet planned in Los Angeles hopes to raise $500,000.

Student government to study possible activity fee increase

By MARK PANKOWSKI
Copy Editor

Should the mandatory student activity fee be increased to improve students’ social life?

Student government is planning an in-depth study to decide this issue, and if it makes a recommendation favoring an increased fee, it is likely the administration and the Board of Trustees will approve it, according to Father David Tyson, vice president for student affairs.

But whether a favorable recommendation is made remains in question.

Director of Student Activities Joni Neal advocates increasing the mandatory fee, which she said now brings in approximately $257,000 per year.

Although Neal said she unsure how much the fee should be increased, she said doubling the $35 activity fee would be excessive. "It would affect all the groups bringing in good entertainment," she said.

An increase is necessary to provide adequate funding for all student organizations, Neal said.

"There are simply too many groups that (the funds) must be distributed to, so that no group is receiving adequate funds," Neal said. "These groups need a larger budget to bring in either more programming or more well known entertainment."

"Not just rock n’ roll stars but also lecturers," she said.

Student Senator Chris Aboud disagrees with Neal.

According to Aboud, the University provided the Student Activities Board last year with an increase in funds equal to $15 per undergraduate student that remains separate from the activities fee, yet there has been "no great impact on social life."

"There’s been a big increase in funds over last year and (social life) hasn’t seen that," he said. "In fact it has decreased.

Neal said students’ social life did benefit from the increase in funds and cited the Around The Corner club as one example of the improvement.

Approximately 80 percent of the University provided Student Activity Students went to finance the club, which has events planned for every weekend of the semester," Neal said.

When student government does study the issue, said Neal, it will take into account how fees other similar universities charge, whether those fees are mandatory or voluntary, and what student organizations that fee provides funding for.

A recommendation then will be made based on "what information they get and what this campus can and is willing to absorb," she said.

"If we raised it to $150, the students would revolt," she said.

If the recommendation is favorable to a fee increase, she said a request would be made to the office of student affairs. If Tyson approves the request, it would go to the board of trustees and then would be presented to the Board of Trustees meeting during its spring session.

Tyson supports an increase in the fee.

"I think if they make a recommendation to raise the activities fee, I would recommend it to the officers and the Board of Trustees," Tyson said. "If it’s well documented. I think we could get help from the officers as well as the board.

No student club or organization, except for the class governments, has made a presentation to the senate requesting more funds, said Neal. She said at last year’s debate, "Right now no one has shown me why they need more money for any specific reason," she said. "There has been no presentation to (the senate), except for the classes, claiming that they need more funds.

Neal, who is now in the process of allocating $2,000 saved for student groups appealing for more money, said she is hearing a lot of complain ing.

"So far during the September appeals, 30 organizations are asking for first-time money or appealing for more money than they received last spring," she said.

see MONEY, page 6

Second quake rocks Mexico City; 10 ND students ‘okay’
Kevin Hurley, the Howard Hall freshman injured in a hit-and-run accident on Sept. 7, remained in critical condition in intensive care last night, a Memorial Hospital intensive care nurse said. Coach Gerry Faust, the captains of the football team, Vice President for Student Affairs Father David Tyson and Student Body President Bill Healey will present the game ball from the Michigan State game to Hurley today. A mass, celebrated by University president Father Theodore Hesburgh, will be tomorrow at 5 p.m. in Sacred Heart Church. Hurley is recovering from a broken leg and multiple head and abdominal injuries suffered in the early morning accident. - The Observer

A Roman Catholic priest accused of supplying young people with cocaine, marijuana and alcohol at his suburban Detroit home has been removed from his position by the charges, state police say. Father Neil Kaila, 50, of St. Kieran Church in Shelby Township, in Rochester, Michigan, was freed on $12,000 bond Friday after arraignment on three counts of delivering cocaine, two counts of marijuana possession and two counts of providing alcohol to minors, said Trooper Corin Scheam. Scheam said he learned the priest was providing and using the drugs with young people after investigating parents' complaints that he was supplying alcoholic beverages to them. - AP

An early morning fire in Mount Clemens, Michigan destroyed a hotel Saturday, killing two people and forcing evacuation of 40 occupants, police said. The fire, which started about 3:30 a.m. in the lobby of the Turn-of-the-Century Lawrence Hotel in this Detroit suburb, was extinguished within an hour, said police Lt. Mike Uherky. The bodies of a man in his 20s and a woman in her 30s were pulled from the remains, Uherky said, adding that the cause had not been determined. One hotel occupant was seriously injured, officials said. - AP

Medical issues in the media: more harm than good?

From the National Enquirer to Newsweek, nearly every publication is screaming the same message: AIDS. We are deluged with pictures of Rock Hudson weeks before his death and graphic descriptions of hysteria in Hollywood and the local grammar school.

And lost somewhere in the degrading photos and screaming headlines are the patients and their problems. We read, or can read, as much about AIDS as we care to, but chances are, few of us have gained any real understanding of the problem or its solution.

It's not the first time an illness has been used to sell magazines. A few years ago eating disorders - anorexia nervosa and bulimia - were the darling of the medical media. We were treated to pictures of an emaciated Karen Carpenter and dozens of pseudo-informative articles in women's magazines.

In many cases these articles did more harm than they did good. Although the media is exploiting AIDS victims, the press cannot spread the disease itself. You can't get AIDS from reading an article. A story, however, inadvertently could push someone toward bulimia.

Ron Thompson, a psychologist at Notre Dame's Counseling and Psychological Services, said some of his patients "learned about it (bulimia) from some of the things they read in Cosmo and Redbook." Bulimia is a disorder that involves self-starving and purging to lose or maintain weight. For a woman desperate to improve her appearance, the suggestion of being thin is an appealing, painless way to lose weight.

"They know they're doing something wrong . . . They might be appealing," Thompson said that some bulimics never thought of trying these methods until they learned of them from magazine articles.

Thankfully, the media blitz on eating disorders has drawn a close to. But as the dust clears and the press moves onto the next disease the problem remains.

Eating disorders are "a problem that will be with us through the 80's," said Thompson. "It's a big, big problem." Thompson said most of the people he treats, the press cannot exploit "popular" diseases. We can only hope that somewhere in the stack of newswrap, those who need information are able to find it.

How you live may save your life.

The Observer

Monday, September 23, 1985 - page 2

The Observer (ISSN 599-2-000) is published weekly through Friday and on home football Saturdays, except during vacation periods. The Observer is published by the students of the University of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College. Subscriptions may be purchased for $36 per year ($60 per year in newsprint, those who need information are able to find it.

The Observer is a member of The Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.

IBM

EXPLORE THE TECHNICALWORLDAT IBM

SEE US AT INDUSTRY DAY!

IBM will be on campus September 25, 1985 participating in Engineering Career/Student Industry Day. We are combining our regularly scheduled November Career Day with this activity. If you are a 1986 graduate and your degree is in Electrical Engineering, Computer Engineering, or Math with Computer Science, please bring copies of your resume or profile form and stop by to see us at Fitzpatrick Hall Concours between 9:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m.

If you are unable to attend, IBM will be back on campus February 18-20, 1986 for our Spring Recruiting!

IBM is an equal opportunity employer.
Student government starts own 'ad agency'

By GREG STOHR
Staff Reporter 13

Notre Dame Student Government has announced the creation of Adworks, the Notre Dame Advertising Network, an agency which will specialize in all types of advertising for student organizations.

Student Government hopes that Adworks, originally the idea of Bob Vonderheide, former editor in chief of The Observer, will alleviate what it believes to be the inability of student organizations to adequately publicize campus events.

"In the past, for a lot of events, there has been a lack of coordination in publicizing," says Student Body President Bill Healy. "When Bob Vonderheide presented the idea to us last semester, we jumped at it." Vonderheide had noticed the ineptitude of groups trying to publicize events through The Observer and felt a need for a new body to coordinate student advertising. "You have to have a professional approach," he said. "There is a certain amount of skill involved. It (Adworks) works like an ad agency." Headed by junior Frank Vidergar, Adworks presently has a staff of approximately 15.

It now answers to the Notre Dame student government but Vidergar and Healy hope that Adworks will eventually become an independent organization. "I have as my goal to become autonomous," Vidergar says, "but it may not happen this year." Adworks' budget of $2500 comes partially from Student Government and partially from the Office of Student Activities. Vidergar says he hopes only to cover the budget, not to make a large profit. "It's a business, but we still look at it as a service to the students," he says. "We will make very little profit because we will keep our rates really low."

Though Adworks has yet to work with a medium other than The Observer, Vidergar plans to utilize posters, Scholastic magazine, radio, and perhaps The South Bend Tribune in the future. He expects that a growth in business volume will allow Adworks to explore these other media.

The professionalism of Adworks, Vidergar thinks, will make it beneficial to student groups. "Our people have marketing experience," he says. "Lots of our artists have worked in advertising agencies before."

Adworks will be open for business Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 3 until 5 p.m. The Adworks office is located on the second floor of LaFortune Student Center.

Saint Mary's students!

Need to publicize an event?
Need to place a classified ad?
Have a compliment or gripe?

The Observer
309 Haggar Center

SMC computer ability to expand

By KATHY CEPERICH
News Staff

The basement of LeMans Hall will house a new computer center at Saint Mary's, which will be operative next semester according to Associate Professor Peter Smith of the Saint Mary's Mathematics department.

Terminal labs, microcomputers and computers will be included in the east wing addition. Last spring, on the suggestion of Dr. Mark Bambenek of the Chemistry department, a petition was sent to the administration requesting the additional machines. "They indicated to the administration that they needed more micros on campus. The need had already been recognized and it (the petition) served as additional impetus," Bambenek said.

"We needed the space, it was a planned process. We had already planned to do it when the petition was submitted," said Smith. Additional Zenith 158 terminals, new printers and a new prime computer will be purchased, according to Smith.

Bambenek plans are underway to increase the power and capability of the present computer mainframe. Previously a room in Madeleva Hall held the computers. The move is being made mainly to give additional space.

Some of the terminals will be available to the students 24 hours a day in an overnight facility and the rest will be available from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m.

Students had been complaining about the shortage of computers, especially the Apple Microtoshes. According to juniors Leigh Ann Hendrickson and Colleen Walker, "There is a justifiable demand for Microtoshes. To write a paper one has to wait 2 to 3 hours. They (Microtoshes) are so easy to learn that the number of users is growing faster than the number of machines."

"The administration is trying to develop a long range policy for computer use (and what we're seeing now is that they're) starting to implement the policy. The computer lab at LeMans is one stage. Ultimately the entire computer operation will move into that area," said Bambenek.

Support the March of Dimes

GO FROM COLLEGE TO THE ARMY WITHOUT MISSING A BEAT.

The hardest thing about break ing into professional music is well, breaking into professional music. So if you're looking for an opportunity to turn your musical talent into a full-time performing career, take a good look at the Army.

It's not all parades and John Philip Sousa. Army bands rock, waltz and boogie as well as march, and they perform before concert audiences as well as spectators. With an average of 40 performances a month, there's also the opportunity for travel--not only across America, but possibly abroad.

Most important, you can expect a first-rate professional environment from your instructors, facilities and fellow musicians. The Army has educational programs that can help you pay for off-duty instruction, and if you qualify, even help you repay your federally-insured student loans. If you can sight-read music, performing in the Army could be your big break. Write: Chief, Army Bands Office, Fort Harrison, IN 46216-5005. Or call toll free 1-800-USA ARMY.
Development director chosen by Saint Mary's

By DIANE SCHODER
Staff Reporter

Fundraising at Saint Mary's has a new leader with Becky Drury named as Director of Development by Vice President for College Relations, Lawrence Daymer.

Drury is responsible for overseeing the annual fund and alumni fund, as well as direct mail campaign and state planning, she said.

Becky Saint Mary's is relatively new at fundraising, Drury said she was attracted to the challenge and "saw itself as a strong partner in the community," she said.

The development department has several new goals slated for the 25th anniversary, an anonymous donor has agreed to provide a $250,000 Endowment for Humanities Grant.

Drury, who sees fundraising as a parable to that of other woman's colleges, said she is looking forward to the success and continued growth of similar fundraising efforts.

"I hope to begin to develop and refine the methods of solicitation and to deliver the message to a broader base of constituents," stated Drury, who sees fundraising as a business. One way in which she plans to carry this out is by hiring the Institutional Development Council to organize solicitation funds.

"I want very much for coming to the concert for America," shouted Nelson, the driving force behind the 14-hour concert featuring performers, singer Willie Nelson has said the concert's proceeds will be used to help needy farmers and to increase public awareness of farmers' problems.

"We want everyone to call in and give a donation to the concert like Mike Love of the Beach Boys, told the audience.

Music styles ranged from the rock and blues of B.B. King to the classics of Roy Orbison. Carole King played a white piano on the front edge of the stage with the FarmAid curtain as a backdrop.

As darkness approached, John Fogerty — formerly of Credence Clearwater Revival — had the audience clapping and dancing, "We just had minor cuts, some concert goers arrived.

Despite the rain, the crowd expected to be treated by the time the concert ended at midnight, said Dr. Alan Baird, co-director of the health department.

The concert is expected to be treated by the time the concert ended at midnight, said Dr. Alan Baird, co-director of emergency services for the concert.

"We just had minor cuts, scratches, twisted ankles," he said.

A steady rainfall began shortly after the concert began, about 64,000 people were in the stadium at mid-afternoon, but said the number could climb as more fans arrived.

The stage, with a rotating center disk for quick act changes, was covered with a blue plastic roof to keep it dry.

The meeting is to prepare for the Nov. 19-20 summit meeting in Geneva, the first U.S.-Soviet summit since 1979.

In his meeting with Shevardnadze, the president slammed the Soviet peoples every week, "Which song was popular with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev, said Saturday the meetings were bent upon expansion," Drury said in his weekly radio address.

"Indeed, since the 1970s, the Soviet Union has been engaged in a military buildup which far exceeds any rational definition of defensive needs." Reagan said that "given the Soviet nature of the system and its ideology, we must not raise false hopes.

Speaking from his retreat at Camp David, Md., the president noted that he will meet Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze for the first time on Friday, a session Reagan said has "special significance."

The meeting is to prepare for the Nov. 19-20 summit meeting in Geneva, the first U.S.-Soviet summit since 1979.

In his meeting with Shevardnadze, the president said he plans to raise the issues of human rights, the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan, and bilateral concerns such as trade and security matters, as well as U.S. efforts to ac-

The Observer/Ann Hacker

Baron and free to Notre Dame and Saint Mary's students.

Reagan cautions U.S. against 'false hopes'

WASHINGTON — President Reagan, warning against "false hopes" about his upcoming summit with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev, said Saturday the meetings would not produce "false hopes".

"The Soviet Union frequently has serious about superpower cooperation."

"The Soviet Union frequently has been bent upon expansion," said Ken Lewis of Bloomington.

"What's a little rain. We'll dry out tomorrow," said Tom Parkinson, a University of Illinois spokesman, estimated that about 64,000 people were in the stadium at mid-afternoon, but said the number could climb as more fans arrived.

Despite the rain, the crowd rode the wave of "breathless" and waved at Arlo Guthrie did "City of New Orleans."

About 500 people received medical treatment by early evening, and another 300 were expected to be treated by the time the concert ended at midnight, said Dr. Alan Baird, co-director of emergency services for the concert.

"We just had minor cuts, scratches, twisted ankles," he said.

Nelson said marijuana use was widespread. "Mr. Gorbachev can change this," Reagan said.

"If there's comparable serious and flexibility on the Soviet part, cooperation between our two great nations will be enhanced," Reagan said.

The president slammed the Soviets for following policies that have "inflicted bitter costs upon the Soviet peoples every week," which he said included a mounting death toll among Soviet soldiers in Afghanistan and a decreasing standard of living at home.

"Mr. Gorbachev can change this," Reagan said, advising the Soviet leader to shift scarce resources from arms purchases to strengthening the economy.
Premier Fabius admits of French involvement in sinking

Associated Press

PARIS - Politicians and newspaper Saturday criticized President Francois Mitterrand and Premier Laurent Fabius for not clearing up allegations that a government espionage agency was responsible for the bombing of the Greenpeace environmental group flagship, the Rainbow Warrior.

Greenpeace campaign co­ordinator Steve Sawyer pressed the French government to accept "moral and financial responsibility" for the bombing following Fabius' admission.

"We hope this will open the eyes of world public opinion to the fundamental immoralities that lie at the base of the international nuclear arms race," Sawyer said in a statement from his headquarters in England.

Jet and ultralight collide; two dead

Associated Press

auburn, Ala. - A corporate jet and an ultralight one-man plane collided yesterday, killing two people and injuring five in what federal officials called the first fatal collision involving an ultralight.

The planes collided as they approached for landings at Auburn-Opelika Airport, said Herb White, a spokesman for Auburn University. The University owns the airport.

The ultralight pilot, who was killed in the crash, apparently did not have radio contact with the airport, White said. The co-pilot of the jet also died, said Lee County coroner William Williams.

The accident was the "first fatal collision involving an ultralight and an aircraft," said Ira Furman, a spokesman for the National Transportation Safety Board in Washington.

Ultralights usually are one-person aircraft with open cockpits and small engines, descended from hang-gliders powered by tiny engines. Their popularity increased rapidly in the mid and late 1970s, and by 1981, it was estimated there were 6,000 ultralights in the United States.

The jet, owned by Louisiana Pacific Corp. of Conroe, Texas, was "slipped down in the grass on the side of the runway," said White.

Five people injured in the crash were treated at East Alabama Regional Medical Center, said Sheriff Jon Williams.

She said the injured were relatives of an Auburn student to whom they were delivering furnishings from home.

Williams identified the ultralight pilot as R.J. Tweddell, of Auburn.

Marching band contest

Associated Press

Terrer Haute, Ind. - Ben Davis High School of Indianapolis walked away with the sweepstakes trophy and top honors in the Class A competition at the Mid­States Marching Band Contest at Indiana State University Saturday.

Ben Davis captured the sweepstakes trophy by collecting the most points among the 13 bands competing at ISU's Memorial Stadium.

Ben Davis also grabbed the honors for outstanding wind section.

Burford arrested on DWI charges

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Former Environmental Protection Agency administrator Anne Burford and her husband, Robert Burford, an Interior Department official, were arrested on driving-related charges late Friday night, officials in Virginia said.

Mr. Burford, director of the Bureau of Land Management, was arrested by Virginia State Police after they saw his car stopped in the middle lane of a highway outside Washington. He was charged with driving while intoxicated and refus­ing to submit to a breathalyzer test.

Two hours later, shortly before 1 a.m., Mrs. Burford was arrested by Arlington, Va., police on a charge of being drunk in public after making a scene at the Arlington County Detention Center, jail officials said.

Mrs. Burford was in the car with her husband at the time of his arrest, according to G.W. Grant, a spokes­man for the state police.

Arlington County Sheriff James Gondles said Mrs. Burford was run­ning a bun­ette in the state buses in­side the jail. She also insisted loudly over the lobby intercom that she be allowed to see her husband, and repeatedly said she was a lawyer who knew her rights.

Arlington police officers even­ually tired of Burford's behavior, Gondles said, and arrested her. "I would describe her behavior as abusive," he said. "Drunk-in-public charges are not very common anymore. You almost have to ask to be arrested." Gondles said Mrs. Burford was cooperative after she was arrested, but two hours later. She "became a problem" while inside her cell. She was banging her shoe on the cell, and when a deputy went to inves­tigate, he was "scratched up" by Mrs. Burford, Gondles said.

Burford arrested on DWI charges

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Former Environ­mental Protection Agency ad­ministrator Anne Burford and her husband, Robert Burford, an Interior Department official, were arrested on drinking-related charges late Friday night, officials in Virginia said.

Mr. Burford, director of the Bureau of Land Management, was ar­rested by Virginia State Police after they saw his car stopped in the middle lane of a highway outside Washington. He was charged with driving while intoxicated and refus­ing to submit to a breathalyzer test.

Two hours later, shortly before 1 a.m., Mrs. Burford was arrested by Arlington, Va., police on a charge of being drunk in public after making a scene at the Arlington County Detention Center, jail officials said.

Mrs. Burford was in the car with her husband at the time of his arrest, according to G.W. Grant, a spokes­man for the state police.

Arlington County Sheriff James Gondles said Mrs. Burford was run­ning a bun­ette in the state buses in­side the jail. She also insisted loudly over the lobby intercom that she be allowed to see her husband, and repeatedly said she was a lawyer who knew her rights.

Arlington police officers even­ually tired of Burford's behavior, Gondles said, and arrested her. "I would describe her behavior as abusive," he said. "Drunk-in-public charges are not very common anymore. You almost have to ask to be arrested." Gondles said Mrs. Burford was cooperative after she was arrested, but two hours later. She "became a problem" while inside her cell. She was banging her shoe on the cell, and when a deputy went to inves­tigate, he was "scratched up" by Mrs. Burford, Gondles said.

Staci Harris of Clay City was named outstanding drum major and Lafeyette Jeffers, of Ind., was named a team­mate to name the outstanding award winners. "Given the dimension this affair has taken, it appears dif­ficult to me that the highest aut­horities of the state were not informed," Sawyer said.

Two French espionage agents are under arrest in New Zealand, charged with murder, arson and conspiracy, and three others who fled to France are being sought under international arrest warrants.

Burford arrested on DWI charges

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Former Environ­mental Protection Agency ad­ministrator Anne Burford and her husband, Robert Burford, an Interior Department official, were arrested on drinking-related charges late Friday night, officials in Virginia said.

Mr. Burford, director of the Bureau of Land Management, was ar­rested by Virginia State Police after they saw his car stopped in the middle lane of a highway outside Washington. He was charged with driving while intoxicated and refus­ing to submit to a breathalyzer test.

Two hours later, shortly before 1 a.m., Mrs. Burford was arrested by Arlington, Va., police on a charge of being drunk in public after making a scene at the Arlington County Detention Center, jail officials said.

Mrs. Burford was in the car with her husband at the time of his arrest, according to G.W. Grant, a spokes­man for the state police.

Arlington County Sheriff James Gondles said Mrs. Burford was run­ning a bun­ette in the state buses in­side the jail. She also insisted loudly over the lobby intercom that she be allowed to see her husband, and repeatedly said she was a lawyer who knew her rights.

Arlington police officers even­ually tired of Burford's behavior, Gondles said, and arrested her. "I would describe her behavior as abusive," he said. "Drunk-in-public charges are not very common anymore. You almost have to ask to be arrested." Gondles said Mrs. Burford was cooperative after she was arrested, but two hours later. She "became a problem" while inside her cell. She was banging her shoe on the cell, and when a deputy went to inves­tigate, he was "scratched up" by Mrs. Burford, Gondles said.
NBC collects Emmy nominations and awards in 37th presentation

Associated Press

PASADENA, Calif. - "Cagney & Lacey," CBS' once-canceled policewoman show, and "The Cosby Show," the series that has sparked NBC's drive for top ratings, dominated the early awards at the 37th annual Emmys yesterday.

"Cagney & Lacey," which stayed on the air only because of a massive letter writing campaign, won as best dramatic series - upsetting NBC's much billed "Miami Vice," which took awards for best direction and best writing.

Tyré Dale, as Mary Beth Lacey, won best dramatic actress for the third straight year.

"Every year I come expecting to hear someone else's name called," she said. "I think it must be the part I get to play."

But NBC, which has topped the ratings for 16 of the past 17 weeks, dominated the awards with eight of the first 15. It led the nominations with 125, more than double the totals for both CBS and ABC.

"The Cosby Show," new last season, won best comedy writing for Ed Weinberg and Michael Lenson and best direction for JaySandrich. Bill Cosby, the star and driving force behind the show, rejected a nomination, saying he didn't believe in competing against other performers, and boycotted the ceremony at the Pasadena Civic Auditorium.

"So much of my work is shaped by Bill Cosby's wit and philosophy of what a family could be," Sandrich said in accepting his honor as a faster-paced, restricted awards show televised live on ABC.

William Daniels, the heart surgeon Dr. Mark Craig on NBC's "St. Elsewhere," won the award as best actor in a dramatic series.

Bette Thomas. Spt. Lucille Bates on NBC's "Hill Street Blues," won best supporting actress in a drama, but was upstaged when a prankster accepted the award for her, saying she couldn't be present - even though the camera had plainly shown her in the audience.

"Well, it is definitely hard to fol­low an act like that," she joked, after she finally took the podium after a commercial.

"Miami Vice," a pastel and neon blend of cop show and music video, won best supporting actor award for Edward James Olmos as the stone­faced Lt. Martin Castillo.

Yes. Lieutenant Castillo does smile," Olmos said.

The show, which had the most nominations with 15, won three technical Emmys announced earlier, but lost the first two awards for which it was eligible. John Addison's music for CBS's "Murder. She Wrote," best jazz Ham­meters' "Miami Vice" score and Karen Arthur won the dramatic directing Emmy for a "Cagney & Lacey" episode, defeating two "Miami Vice" nominees.

Robert Gouilhame, the star of ABC's " Benson," whose character has progressed from manservant to lieutenant governor, won the award as best comedy actor.

"I know we won last year, but I just lost my color," the black performer said. "This certainly beats going home empty-handed for a sixth time, and I'd like to thank Bill Cosby for not being here."

The women comedy performers were both repeats from last year: Jane Curtin, as the more insecure of the two "Kate & Allie," was best actress, while Rhea Perlman won supporting actress for her portrayal of the tough barmaid Carla on NBC's "Cheers."

"Twice is really a lot to be up here!" Miss Perlman exclaimed, concluding with a greeting to her hus­band, former "Taxi" actor Danny DeVito. "Danny, I love you. I got two and you only got one!"

John Larroquette, who plays Dan Fielding, the pompous, woman­chasing prosecutor on NBC's "Night Court," won best supporting actor on a comedy series.

"Hill Street Blues," which has dominated the Emmys the past four years, was eclipsed by "Miami Vice" in this year's Television Academy nominations, 11 to 15. Both "Hill Street Blues" and the NBC musical miniseries "Motown Returns to the Apollo" had 11.

"We're here to check out old battlefields, meet friends. We do respect criticism, and that's why we're not going to the cemetery alone. We of course do not condone Nazi atrocities."

Wolfgang Gottemoeller, director of the SS veterans organization, in­censed by the annual encounters with former enemies were meant to nurture friendships and "have nothing to do with politics."

Dr. Albrecht von Rokahr, the Nazi's chief administrator at the camps, said at the time: "The SS will use it as a weapon for millions of victims of Nazi oppres­sion."

Neil Sandberg, a top official in the American Jewish Committee, said last week that the Waffen SS, the military arm of Nazi dictator Adolf Hitler's elite guard, "included large amounts of people who ran con­centration camps."

Weili Wesier, an SS veteran who greeted the Americans at the airport Sunday, said his division had nothing to do with the death camps and was never accused of atrocities at the Nuremberg war crimes trial in 1946.

Nevertheless, Gottemoeller said any meetings with the U.S. veterans during their 1985 visit "will be in private settings to avoid any disputes or trouble."

Two 40th-anniversary reunions of Waffen SS veterans last May prompted violent rightist demonstra­tions outside the meeting places.

Jewish and veterans groups in the United States protested President Reagan's visit in May to a German military cemetery where SS mem­bers were buried.
Cavanaugh men ham up quadr with quote of the day

Mary Berger

features writer

The patrons of 131 Cavanaugh, Mark Hannon, Chris Thompson, Butch Gagliardi and Mike Ricker, proudly display their quote of the day.

"The quote that has received the best response is "When the load gets tough, the tough get loaded," said sophomore Chris Thompson, creator of the window attraction. "We decided to take advantage of our position and do something weird-at least amusing."

Thus, the "Cavanaugh Quote of the Day" was born. "Each night we go through a list of quotes we have and pick our favorite according to our mood," explained sophomore Mark Hannon, a member of the quote crew. "We begin with about 15 of our own quotes and now we see one suggested by people who walk by."

"We had to live by the quote so we thought we'd have some fun," said junior Chris Thompson, creator of the window attraction. "We decided to take advantage of our position and do something weird-at least amusing."

The occupants of 131 Cavanaugh, Mark Hannon, Chris Thompson, Butch Gagliardi and Mike Ricker, proudly display their quote of the day.

---

Features briefs

Restaurant for the dogs

Associated Press

MUCKVILLE, N.C. — When the customer at the curb of Miller's Restaurant asks for service employees jump. Every day for more than 10 years, the black, brown and white dog has trotted down the road to pick up his take out lunch. Then he makes the trip home to a shop behind the Western Auto store to dine in company.

Sometimes Mooch gets bread soaked in steak gravy with pieces of steak on the side. Sometimes it's chicken, his favorite.

One time, Miller's was so busy they didn't feed Mooch. Freeman said, after waiting half an hour, he took his business elsewhere. He went next door to Harders' and barked. They fed him.

Police chief hires wife as officer

LAUREL HILL, Fla. — Police Chief Malcolm Dreading didn't have to interview many candidates when he wanted to hire a patrol officer. His wife got the job.

Dreading had been the entire department until last week, when his 30-year-old wife, Cathy, became an officer. But the step from police wife to officer was a short one — she already had been handling the radio when her husband was away.

Laurel Hill has a population of 700, but there are 5,000 people in the surrounding unincorporated area and the town is bisected by a major highway.

Mrs. Dreading will get on the job training, riding with her husband for a few weeks. In January, she'll begin a 16-week course to prepare for state certification. State law permits new officers to work days before beginning formal training.

---

Town votes to dump Rolls-Royce

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — A man donated a $25,000 Rolls-Royce to Palm Beach County, and officials promptly voted to dump the classic car into the Atlantic Ocean.

But Greg Hauptner, 39, doesn't mind. He gave away the car in the hope the commissioners would look at it as the county's first artificial reef, and upstage neighboring Broward County, which boasts a sunken Mercedes — of sorts.

The Freighter Mercedez I, which ran aground last November, was promptly voted to dump the classic car. So Palm Beach officials decided to work toward forming their own artificial reefs, valued as prime sport fishing and diving spots.

"Where else but in Palm Beach County could you find a Rolls-Royce to sink as an artificial reef?" Commissioner Jerry Owens asked after accepting Hauptner's offer.

Hauptner's 1967 Rolls, which he bought himself as a 30th birthday present, has bad brakes and a dent in the front end.

---

Wedding - take 2

MANSFIELD Woodhouse, England — When Mark and Sandra Dreading had two months ago their wedding pictures got lost in the mail, they were in the real ceremony.

So on Saturday, they staged it all over again — complete with 200 guests including friends, relatives, four bridesmaids and the vicar.

The very special permission for the photographs to be taken inside the Anglican church, St. Edmunds at Mansfield, came at the last minute, as did the bad weather.

A florist sent a replica bouquet of the original 24 red roses carried by the bride.

---

Cavanaugh men ham up quadr with quote of the day

"The quote that has received the best response is "When the load gets tough, the tough get loaded," said sophomore Chris Thompson, creator of the window attraction. "We decided to take advantage of our position and do something weird-at least amusing."

The occupants of 131 Cavanaugh, Mark Hannon, Chris Thompson, Butch Gagliardi and Mike Ricker, proudly display their quote of the day.
When is something going to be done about the University. I see potential, for example, in this new fountain memorial. This majestic view of the library. I believe these are the sentimental. Concrete is the way for a truly grandeur, after all, is delicate to evoke the proper grief and respect to the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead of World War I, the Spanish-American war, the Rockne Memorial, though impressive, is too modest: Rockne's honor is remembrance daily by its use. Even the various statues on campus are too beautiful and too delicate to evoke the proper grief and respect the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be impressive, completely useless and the dead deserve. No, the modern monument must be intensive and linear. This would solve the problems of campus life and they should be given optimum space and facilities so they can research these problems more effectively. We would not need that many classroom anyway. We could just decrease the total number of classes and increase total class size to, say, a thousand. We could thus take advantage of such places as St. Peter's Center, the stadium and the ACC for classes. They are underused now as it is. This would solve the problems of class size by making them all uniform gigantic and by giving the professors fewer distractions as they work toward publication. By the way, the idea of a student-faculty lounge is ludicrous to me. At a great university

Donnesbury

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>RICK YOU UP!</th>
<th>RICK YOU UP!</th>
<th>KNOCKED DOWN!</th>
<th>KNOCKED DOWN!</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

Garry Trudea

Quote of the day

"The great man does not think beforehand of his words that they may be sincere, nor of his actions that they may be resolute, - he simply speaks and does what is right."—Mencius (372-289 B.C.)
Ellyn Mastako's article in the Sept. 17 issue of The Observer revealed that students at Saint Mary's believe homosexuals are discriminated against on both campuses. She further showed a large majority of Saint Mary's students don't want additional information about male and female sexuality. Could it be that these two findings are linked, maybe even as intimately as cause and effect? The basis of discrimination is fear, and fear has no roots in lack of knowledge. By this, I do not mean to say that Saint Mary's women have a monopoly (or even partial interest) in fear and ignorance. They are but a sample of the American population which, in general, would just as soon be reminded that homosexuals exist, much less take the effort to learn more about homosexuality.

My contention is most people are afraid of homosexuality. They may be afraid of having a gay or lesbian roommate or neighbor, or they may be afraid of being approached by a homosexual. The possibility that such things could occur may provoke feelings of discomfort, but there is something deeper, something darker here.

Perhaps homosexual is terrifying because it's not just the personal property of a few, isolated "perverts" but, instead, to varying degrees, a very real part of a large majority of the human race. Kinsey's landmark report (1954) only has been corroborated in its finding that feelings of physical attraction is sometimes a genuine problem, but in most cases all that is needed is a little more mental flexibility on the part of the listener.

When one walks around with such a burden of misinformation, it is very easy to dismiss homosexuals as sick, or sinful, or both and that homosexuals are child molesters, or transvestites or effeminate. There are not enough letters in the alphabet with which to catalogue all the myths and misunderstandings.

One does not even have to be a part of discrimination (and that is a very frightening thought). It is enough to learn more about the content of the communication and less about its form. Do you hear, y'all?

Brother Michael Dinzi
Notre Dame Graduate Student

Football fans watch the game and want to win

Dear Editor,

This letter is in response to Kelly Portolese's article on "Notre Dame-Saint Mary's: The 'Gryffindor' response." Being a student at Notre Dame, (not Notre Dame-Saint Mary's), I had a hard time reading the article without "shaking down the thunder." My main problem with the article is that it considers a Notre Dame football game a social catastrophe. The article was in no way a reflection of the "academic prestige" of either institution, but rather a humorous look at college life as it is and what it could be like.

To those of you who insist on taking a crude joke or a slur, rather than deal with the issue, you must assort additional information.

Congratulations to the Saint Mary's administration and Campus Ministry team, and especially to the respondents of the survey, who took that first critical step.

Brother Michael Dinzi
Notre Dame Graduate Student

Worry less about form and more about content

Dear Editor,

Sure Barton recently wrote a letter including comments on the use of the terms "guy" and "gay." She said the use of "guy" was inappropriate except when addressing mixed groups which include women, it seems sexist. Ideally, she would all start saying "y'all," as is done in the South.

Unfortunately, this brings up another problem, prejudices about accents, about which I am more seriously concerned. There is a widespread view in academic environments (including Notre Dame) that a Southern accent sounds "unschooled" and should be suppressed if a person is to gain intellectual respect.

This is a silly attitude, especially since most Southern accents are more pleasant to listen to than the nasal twangs coming from other parts of the country. There is nothing in cause and effect, however, between those latter accents, either. I've been accused of having such a Southern accent.

We ought to be tolerant of foreign accents as well. American students tend to complain and/or make fun of their forefathers' professed accents and fellow students' accents, saying they are weird and quaint. Granted, there is sometimes a genuine problem, but in most cases all that is needed is a little more mental flexibility on the part of the listener.

The important thing at a university is communication, and we should worry more about the content of the communication and less about its form. Do you hear, y'all?

Mike McCully
Notre Dame Graduate Student

Majority of students do not steal from peers

Dear Editor,

I am more sorry about your pessimistic attitude. I thought you, as well as the many young members of the class of 1989, to whom you directed your irrational warning, would like to know that my bracelet, which I thought was gone forever, was found and returned to me.

The girl who found it easily could have kept the bracelet. But because she's a sincere, thoughtful person, she realized what it meant to me and returned it. Yes, there are honest, trustworthy people at Notre Dame and I hope you find out before you graduate. It's unfortunate the loss of your bracelet caused such a hopeless attitude toward your fellow students.

I am no there may be thieves at Notre Dame, as there are everywhere. But, more importantly, there are honest, sincere people at Notre Dame as well. In fact, they are in the majority. And to the many young members of the class of 1989, I am sure you will find these honest people as I have found them.

Gretchen Froehlke
Notre Dame Sophomore

P.O. Box Q
Notre Dame, Ind. 46556 (219) 239-5303

P.C. Box Q

The Observer is the independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame, the LaC and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the University administration and objective recommendations are possible. unsigned editorials represent the opinion of the majority of the Editorial Board. Commentaries, letters and the inside columns present the views of their authors. Column space is available to all members of the community and the free expression of varying opinions on campus. Through letters, a encouraged.

Editorial Board

Editor-in-Chief: Mike McCully

Sports Editor: Mike McCully

Sue Barton recently wrote a letter including comments on the use of the terms "guy" and "gay." She said the use of "guy" was inappropriate except when addressing mixed groups which include women, it seems sexist. Ideally, she would all start saying "y'all," as is done in the South.

Unfortunately, this brings up another problem, prejudices about accents, about which I am more seriously concerned. There is a widespread view in academic environments (including Notre Dame) that a Southern accent sounds "unschooled" and should be suppressed if a person is to gain intellectual respect.

This is a silly attitude, especially since most Southern accents are more pleasant to listen to than the nasal twangs coming from other parts of the country. There is nothing in cause and effect, however, between those latter accents, either. I've been accused of having such a Southern accent.

We ought to be tolerant of foreign accents as well. American students tend to complain and/or make fun of their forefathers' professed accents and fellow students' accents, saying they are weird and quaint. Granted, there is sometimes a genuine problem, but in most cases all that is needed is a little more mental flexibility on the part of the listener.

The important thing at a university is communication, and we should worry more about the content of the communication and less about its form. Do you hear, y'all?

Mike McCully
Notre Dame Graduate Student

Majority of students do not steal from peers

Dear Editor,

I am more sorry about your pessimistic attitude. I thought you, as well as the many young members of the class of 1989, to whom you directed your irrational warning, would like to know that my bracelet, which I thought was gone forever, was found and returned to me.

The girl who found it easily could have kept the bracelet. But because she's a sincere, thoughtful person, she realized what it meant to me and returned it. Yes, there are honest, trustworthy people at Notre Dame and I hope you find out before you graduate. It's unfortunate the loss of your bracelet caused such a hopeless attitude toward your fellow students.

I am no there may be thieves at Notre Dame, as there are everywhere. But, more importantly, there are honest, sincere people at Notre Dame as well. In fact, they are in the majority. And to the many young members of the class of 1989, I am sure you will find these honest people as I have found them.

Gretchen Froehlke
Notre Dame Sophomore

P.O. Box Q
Notre Dame, Ind. 46556 (219) 239-5303

P.C. Box Q

The Observer is the independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame, the LaC and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the University administration and objective recommendations are possible. unsigned editorials represent the opinion of the majority of the Editorial Board. Commentaries, letters and the inside columns present the views of their authors. Column space is available to all members of the community and the free expression of varying opinions on campus. Through letters, a encouraged.

Editorial Board

Editor-in-Chief: Mike McCully

Sports Editor: Mike McCully

Sue Barton recently wrote a letter including comments on the use of the terms "guy" and "gay." She said the use of "guy" was inappropriate except when addressing mixed groups which include women, it seems sexist. Ideally, she would all start saying "y'all," as is done in the South.

Unfortunately, this brings up another problem, prejudices about accents, about which I am more seriously concerned. There is a widespread view in academic environments (including Notre Dame) that a Southern accent sounds "unschooled" and should be suppressed if a person is to gain intellectual respect.

This is a silly attitude, especially since most Southern accents are more pleasant to listen to than the nasal twangs coming from other parts of the country. There is nothing in cause and effect, however, between those latter accents, either. I've been accused of having such a Southern accent.

We ought to be tolerant of foreign accents as well. American students tend to complain and/or make fun of their forefathers' professed accents and fellow students' accents, saying they are weird and quaint. Granted, there is sometimes a genuine problem, but in most cases all that is needed is a little more mental flexibility on the part of the listener.

The important thing at a university is communication, and we should worry more about the content of the communication and less about its form. Do you hear, y'all?

Mike McCully
Notre Dame Graduate Student

Majority of students do not steal from peers

Dear Editor,

I am more sorry about your pessimistic attitude. I thought you, as well as the many young members of the class of 1989, to whom you directed your irrational warning, would like to know that my bracelet, which I thought was gone forever, was found and returned to me.

The girl who found it easily could have kept the bracelet. But because she's a sincere, thoughtful person, she realized what it meant to me and returned it. Yes, there are honest, trustworthy people at Notre Dame and I hope you find out before you graduate. It's unfortunate the loss of your bracelet caused such a hopeless attitude toward your fellow students.

I am no there may be thieves at Notre Dame, as there are everywhere. But, more importantly, there are honest, sincere people at Notre Dame as well. In fact, they are in the majority. And to the many young members of the class of 1989, I am sure you will find these honest people as I have found them.

Gretchen Froehlke
Notre Dame Sophomore

P.O. Box Q
Notre Dame, Ind. 46556 (219) 239-5303

P.C. Box Q

The Observer is the independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame, the LaC and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the University administration and objective recommendations are possible. unsigned editorials represent the opinion of the majority of the Editorial Board. Commentaries, letters and the inside columns present the views of their authors. Column space is available to all members of the community and the free expression of varying opinions on campus. Through letters, a encouraged.
Sutton wins on sudden-death hole

Associated Press

ABILENE, Tex. - Hal Sutton rolled in a 15-foot birdie putt on the first hole of sudden-death victory to beat Mike Reid for the $72,000 first-place check in the $400,000 Southwest Golf Classic.

It was Sutton's second victory in two years here, having won the 1985 event with David Ogilvy in a playoff at the Memphis Classic.

Reid, who finished second twice in his nine years on the tour but never won, missed a 3-foot birdie putt on the 309-yard, par-4 No. 1 hole but chipped to within a foot for a certain par.

Sutton hit the green in regulation regulation on the par-5 fourth hole, carried his ball over to a certain birdie on the par-4 fifth hole and, after missing a 10-foot birdie putt on the par-4 sixth hole, carried his ball over to a certain par on the par-4 seventh hole with a nine-foot birdie putt.

Reid had a birdie at four, a par at five and a birdie at six, only to miss four-footers for birdies at both seven and eight.

Reid and Sutton rolled birdie putts from 15 feet at nine and 10, respectively, only to have Reid miss a 12-foot birdie putt at 11 and Sutton miss a 15-foot birdie putt at 12.

Sutton's birdie at 12 was his 11th of the last 25 holes and began a stretch of 25 holes without a bogey since the 18th hole at five.

Sutton closed with a 66 for 272, Reid a 68 for 274 and Ben Crenshaw a 69 for 275.

Sutton won the $72,000 first-place check and Reid $42,000 in the second-place prize. Crenshaw, who shot a 64 on Saturday and a 71 on Sunday, shared third with Jay Sigel at 276.

The $400,000 event has previously been called the Southwest Classic, the Southwest Texas Classic and the Texas Classic.

In all, there have been 26 sudden-death playoff finishes in this Tournament of Champions event, which combined the best players from the most recent 30 events on the tour.

The last sudden-death playoff finish at the tour stop here was in 1982 when Hal Sutton beat Bob Eastwood and Doug Ford in a playoff to win the Texas Classic.

The 50th annual event was played in front of a new mayor, a new city manager, a new mayor and a new 1987 budget.

Big changes are afoot in this city of 149,000, including a new 35-foot water tower which was installed last week near the Abilene Civic Coliseum.

The 1986-87 annual budget was $17.3 million, up from $10.8 million the previous year.

Abilene is the 79th largest city in the state, and it is located in the north-central Texas Panhandle on an area of more than 600 square miles.

Sudden-death playoff finishes are not always popular with the participants, but this one was.

"It's the best one I've ever played in," Sutton said.

Reid, who had been leading, missed a two-foot birdie putt at 12.

"I'll take 276," Reid said. "It was a good day, and it was a hard day."

Sutton's birdie at four was his 11th of the last 25 holes and began a stretch of 25 holes without a bogey since the 18th hole at five.

Sutton closed with a 66 for 272, Reid a 68 for 274 and Ben Crenshaw a 69 for 275.

Sutton won the $72,000 first-place check and Reid $42,000 in the second-place prize. Crenshaw, who shot a 64 on Saturday and a 71 on Sunday, shared third with Jay Sigel at 276.

The $400,000 event has previously been called the Southwest Classic, the Southwest Texas Classic and the Texas Classic.

In all, there have been 26 sudden-death playoff finishes in this Tournament of Champions event, which combined the best players from the most recent 30 events on the tour.

The last sudden-death playoff finish at the tour stop here was in 1982 when Hal Sutton beat Bob Eastwood and Doug Ford in a playoff to win the Texas Classic.

The 50th annual event was played in front of a new mayor, a new city manager, a new mayor and a new 1987 budget.

Big changes are afoot in this city of 149,000, including a new 35-foot water tower which was installed last week near the Abilene Civic Coliseum.

The 1986-87 annual budget was $17.3 million, up from $10.8 million the previous year.

Abilene is the 79th largest city in the state, and it is located in the north-central Texas Panhandle on an area of more than 600 square miles.

Sudden-death playoff finishes are not always popular with the participants, but this one was.

"It's the best one I've ever played in," Sutton said.

Reid, who had been leading, missed a two-foot birdie putt at 12.

"I'll take 276," Reid said. "It was a good day, and it was a hard day."

The Observer's Sports Briefs:

Sports Briefs

The Saint Mary's soccer team dropped two games this weekend, losing 2-1 to Quincy yesterday and to Michigan State on Friday by a score of 3-1. Sue Charet scored on an assist from Maureen Murphy in yesterday's game while Beth Hallinan tallied for the Belles Friday. - The Observer

The Saint Mary's volleyball team travelled to Illinois Benedictine College this weekend to compete in a 16 team tournament. After losing 3 matches, the Belles beat Eureka College in the consolation round before being knocked out of the tourney. Details will appear in tomorrow's paper. - The Observer

The Notre Dame women's tennis team won on Bellie at 3:30. Details on the matches on last four matches will appear in tomorrow's paper. - The Observer

The Saint Mary's tennis team split two matches yesterday. In morning action, the Belles lost to Wisconsin- Milwaukee 7-2. They regrouped in the afternoon to sweep Illinois-Chicago 9-4 in singles matches. The Belles beat Anderson University 9-1 at 7:30 on Friday - The Observer

The weight room on the third floor of the Rockne Memorial Building is open Monday through Friday from 5:15 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. and Saturday and Sunday from noon to 5:30 p.m. - The Observer

The weight room on the third floor of the Rockne Memorial Building is open Monday through Friday from 5:15 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. and Saturday and Sunday from noon to 5:30 p.m. - The Observer

An ultimate frisbee tournament is being sponsored by NVA. The deadline for submitting frisbee requesters in tomorrow's NVA office. For more information, call 259-6100. - The Observer

An ultimate frisbee tournament is being sponsored by NVA. The deadline for submitting frisbee requesters in tomorrow's NVA office. For more information, call 259-6100. - The Observer

Observer Sports Briefs are accepted Sunday through Friday until 4 p.m. at the Observer office on the third floor of Lafontune Hall. Briefs should be submitted on the forms available at the office, and every effort will include the phone number of the person submitting the information. - The Observer

Novice Boxing Tournament workouts continue every day at 4 p.m. in the boxing room in the ACC. Anyone who is interested may attend. 'Uppersclassmen with experience are invited to workout, although they will be excluded from the novice tournament. - The Observer

The Observer's Sports Briefs:

Sports Briefs

The Observer's Sports Briefs:

An ultimate frisbee tournament is being sponsored by NVA. The deadline for submitting frisbee requesters in tomorrow's NVA office. For more information, call 259-6100. - The Observer

An ultimate frisbee tournament is being sponsored by NVA. The deadline for submitting frisbee requesters in tomorrow's NVA office. For more information, call 259-6100. - The Observer

Observer Sports Briefs are accepted Sunday through Friday until 4 p.m. at the Observer office on the third floor of Lafontune Hall. Briefs should be submitted on the forms available at the office, and every effort will include the phone number of the person submitting the information. - The Observer

The Observer's Sports Briefs:

Sports Briefs

The Observer's Sports Briefs:
Field hockey team beats Huskies

By CHRIS STARKEY
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame field hockey team turned a tight defensive struggle into a 2-1 victory over Northern Illinois yesterday on a soggy Cartier Field. The win evened the Notre Dame's record at 2-2. Coach Jill Lindenfeld had words of praise for her team.

"Today was the best we've played this year as far as game flow," she commented. "We had good teamwork, and strong ball movement."

"There are a few things we can do to improve, but overall, I was really happy with our effort."

While the game remained scoreless for much of the first half, Notre Dame scored on the end of the field for a disproportionate amount of time. The Irish hung tough, however, and some determined saves by senior goalie Jill Undenfeld had words of praise for her team.

"It really was a team effort," Undenfeld said. "Lake Forest gave us a good game last year, and we'll have to play well again," she said. "Last year we played on a poor field with poor officiating. Tomorrow it's on our field."

"They're a physical team, but I think we're a little better in the skill areas. On a field like ours (astroturf) that will work to our advantage."

The Observer

Junior Beth Bisignano reaches for the ball in yesterday's action against Northern Illinois. Bisignano tallied a goal to help lead the Irish to a 2-1 victory.

Field hockey team beats Huskies

By CHRIS STARKEY
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame field hockey team turned a tight defensive struggle into a 2-1 victory over Northern Illinois yesterday on a soggy Cartier Field. The win evened the Notre Dame's record at 2-2. Coach Jill Lindenfeld had words of praise for her team.

"Today was the best we've played this year as far as game flow," she commented. "We had good team work, and strong ball movement.

"There are a few things we can do to improve, but overall, I was really happy with our effort."

While the game remained scoreless for much of the first half, Notre Dame scored on the end of the field for a disproportionate amount of time. The Irish hung tough, however, and some determined saves by senior goalie Jill Undenfeld had words of praise for her team.

"It really was a team effort," Undenfeld said. "Lake Forest gave us a good game last year, and we'll have to play well again," she said. "Last year we played on a poor field with poor officiating. Tomorrow it's on our field."

"They're a physical team, but I think we're a little better in the skill areas. On a field like ours (astroturf) that will work to our advantage."

The Observer

Junior Beth Bisignano reaches for the ball in yesterday's action against Northern Illinois. Bisignano tallied a goal to help lead the Irish to a 2-1 victory.

Field hockey team beats Huskies

By CHRIS STARKEY
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame field hockey team turned a tight defensive struggle into a 2-1 victory over Northern Illinois yesterday on a soggy Cartier Field. The win evened the Notre Dame's record at 2-2. Coach Jill Lindenfeld had words of praise for her team.

"Today was the best we've played this year as far as game flow," she commented. "We had good team work, and strong ball movement.

"There are a few things we can do to improve, but overall, I was really happy with our effort."

While the game remained scoreless for much of the first half, Notre Dame scored on the end of the field for a disproportionate amount of time. The Irish hung tough, however, and some determined saves by senior goalie Jill Undenfeld had words of praise for her team.

"It really was a team effort," Undenfeld said. "Lake Forest gave us a good game last year, and we'll have to play well again," she said. "Last year we played on a poor field with poor officiating. Tomorrow it's on our field."

"They're a physical team, but I think we're a little better in the skill areas. On a field like ours (astroturf) that will work to our advantage."

The Observer

Junior Beth Bisignano reaches for the ball in yesterday's action against Northern Illinois. Bisignano tallied a goal to help lead the Irish to a 2-1 victory.
The Philadelphia Eagles ended an embarrassing touchdown drought and snapped Washington's game home winning streak yesterday with a 31-24 victory over the Washington Redskins.

The Eagles won their first game of the season behind four field goals by Paul Ackerson, two interceptions, 21 first downs and 413 yards, and their first touchdown this year, a 17-yard pass from rookie quarterback Randall Cunningham to Earnest Jackson. Washington, meanwhile, dropped to 0-2 with two double figures for the first time in 55 regular-season games.

Other first time winners yesterday were the New Orleans Saints, who defeated Tampa Bay 20-13, and the Indianapolis Colts, who took Detroit 14-6.

In the other game it was San Diego 44, Cincinnati 21; Dallas 20, Cleveland 7; Denver 44, Atlanta 28; Pittsburgh 20, Houston 0; New England 17, Buffalo 10; Pittsburgh 20, Albuquerque 1; Philadelphia 19, Washington 6; and Miami 31, Kansas City 0.

The Philadelphia Eagles defeated the Washington Redskins, 31-24, in the Nation's Capital yesterday. The Eagles had scored only one touchdown at home this season, but their 11-for-17 passing and 14 for 21 passing to 34 points, the first time since 1974.

The Eagles' success was a result of their offense's ability to control the clock, limit turnovers, and score on both the ground and through the air. The Eagles had 273 rushing yards and 343 passing yards, and their defense held the Redskins to 14 points on the strength of four turnovers.

The Eagles were led by quarterback Randall Cunningham, who threw for 344 yards and two touchdowns. Running back Earnest Jackson rushed for 129 yards and a touchdown, and tight end Tony Eason caught two touchdowns.

The Eagles' defense was also strong, forcing two turnovers and holding the Redskins to 14 points. Cornerback Lorenzo White and safety Dennis Coley each intercepted a pass, and linebacker George Wonsley rushed for a touchdown.

The Eagles' victory was a significant milestone, as it marked the first time since 1974 that the Eagles had scored more than 30 points in a home game. The team had entered the season with an 0-2 record and had been outscored 197-33 in their first two games.

The Eagles' defense was also impressive, holding the Redskins to 14 points on the strength of four turnovers. Cornerback Lorenzo White and safety Dennis Coley each intercepted a pass, and linebacker George Wonsley rushed for a touchdown.

The Eagles' victory was a significant milestone, as it marked the first time since 1974 that the Eagles had scored more than 30 points in a home game. The team had entered the season with an 0-2 record and had been outscored 197-33 in their first two games.
Irish soccer team ties MSU, loses to Hoosiers in weekend action

By PHIL WOLF
Assistant Sports Editor

There was a case of bad timing for the Notre Dame soccer team when it took to Alumni Field yesterday against Indiana. The Irish played poorly while the Hoosiers played their best game of the season and took a 6-0 victory back to Bloomington.

The loss dropped Notre Dame's record down to 1-6-1, including a 1-1 tie with Michigan State Friday night on Carter Field. The Hoosiers, who beat Ohio State, 4-1, Friday night, went to 3-4. "We have been improving with every game," Indiana Head Coach Jerry Yeagley said after yesterday's contest, "and I'd say this was (our best game of the year). I thought we played with intensity and concentration for the whole game."

"We kept our composure and poise, and we really moved the ball nicely," said Grace.

The Irish, meanwhile, lost their composure and let the Hoosiers take advantage of their tentativeness.

"As soon as the game started, we just gave them way too much respect," Irish Head Coach Dennis Grace said. "You have got to give the opponent respect, no matter who you play, but you can't fear them. We certainly did fear them, and it showed in the game."

"We never really went out to challenge them. We backed off. We were intimidated by them."

"I don't think we played well," Grace concluded. "We didn't even give them a good workout."

The Hoosiers established the lead early in the game when Han Roest scored off a corner kick with an assist from Rod Castro just 3:42 into the match. Pete Staynovich dribbled through a loose Irish defense and shot the ball past goalkeeper Hugh Breslin for the second goal of the game at 15:29.

Breslin made nine saves in the contest, while Bruce Kilough, his Hoosier counterpart, recorded three.

Chris Keenan added a goal at 60:37 with an assist from John Stolzmeier. Keenan then assisted as Barry Margolino knocked in the last goal at 69:29.

Indiana outshot Notre Dame, 29-6, and held a 6-0 advantage in corners en route to their eighth victory over the Irish in as many meetings.

"We played very well," Yeagley said, "and the things we wanted to do were able to. I'd say rather than a bad effort on Notre Dame's part, it was an extremely good effort on ours."

Grace, a former player and assistant coach under Yeagley at Indiana, disagreed.

"Midway through the first half the sun came out. That was the only bright spot I saw," he said.

There were more bright spots last Friday night, but the Irish still couldn't record a win. They tied Michigan State, 1-1, under Carter's lights.

Notre Dame ousted the visiting team, 25-7, but still managed only a tie.

The goal came at 62:21. Senior captain Dave Miles scored his first goal of the season from 30 yards out after receiving a cross from Joe Steenberg, who carried the ball down the right side of the field.

The Irish had numerous other scoring opportunities, but many shots were saved by Spartan goalkeeper Paul Zimmerman, who had 10 saves all night. Several other shots hit the goal posts or barely missed the opening.

"We had plenty of opportunities," Grace observed after the game. "We were all over that team. We had enough chances to win. And again (for the seventh time this season), we didn't win. A tie is just as bad as a loss."

The Spartans scored their goal at 78:11. Peter Crawley beat Irish goalkeeper Paul Zimmerman and passed to Jim Gallina, who shot the ball past the outstretched Breslin.

"There is no way we should have let them get back in the ballgame," Grace said. "They're very fortunate to get out of here with a tie. They didn't have too many scoring opportunities."

The Spartans forced Breslin to make only five saves.

The Irish continued to dominate play in the two overtime periods, but they could not get the ball in the net.

It was the third time Notre Dame had been in overtime this season and failed to win. The Irish previously had lost to Wisconsin-Milwaukee, 3-2, and Evansville, 4-2, in overtime contests.

It was the Spartans' first overtime game this season.

Last year, the Irish settled for a 2-2 tie with the Spartans in East Lansing.

Notre Dame will play next Saturday at Wisconsin-Green Bay on Saturday and Northwestern on Sunday.

The next Irish home game is Oct. 2 against Bowling Green.

Cardinals stretch lead over Mets

Associated Press

ST. LOUIS - Tommy Herr hit a two-run homer with two outs in the bottom of the ninth inning to give St. Louis a come-from-behind 6-5 triumph over the Montreal Expos Saturday night and solidify the Cardinals' lead in the National League East.

The victory, coupled with New York's 5-3 loss to Pittsburgh, extended the Cardinals' lead to three games over the Mets.

Here's blast, over the left field fence, came on a 3-2 delivery from reliever Jack O'Connor, 0-2.

Here's homer made a winner out of Ken Dayley, 4-2, who relieved Joquin Andujar to start the eighth.

Martin gets into fight with his own player in Baltimore

Associated Press

Baltimore - Billy Martin, the embattled New York Yankees manager, suffered a broken right arm in a fight with pitcher Ed Whitson yesterday at a Baltimore hotel.

Martin held an impromptu news conference when he reported to Memorial Stadium for yesterday's game against the Baltimore Orioles with his arm in a cast and a sling. Whitson, reportedly suffered a cut lip, had been sent home.

"I think it happened when he kicked me," Martin said of the broken ulna bone in the forearm. "He kicked me once in the groin and once in the arm."

The latest in a series of brawls involving the fiery Martin was described by a security guard at the hotel, where they yelled and cursed loudly at each other.

Martin continued that he became involved after trying to act as a peacemaker in a budding fight between Whitson and an unidentified patron.

"I was sitting at the end of the bar, talking with (catcher) Dale Berra and his wife, and Whitson was in a booth," Martin said. "A guy told me, 'You'd better get over there, Whitson's in trouble.'"

"Dale and I went over," Martin said, "and he had a guy straightened up, like he was going to beat him. I told him, 'Hey, don't get in trouble... you don't need it.'"

"I don't know what he said, but he turned on me and went crazy," Martin said. "He kicked me a couple of times. That's when Igot hot, and tried to pop him. I don't deny that."

There was speculation that Whitson may have been seething over a "one of the most brutal fights I've ever seen."

Members of the Yankees' travel party said the brawl started in the same hotel bar where Martin was involved in a shoving match with a patron Friday night.

Players and members of the media tried to break up the fracas. Butcutlinisersaid the fight continued each time Whitson broke free, and continued into the hotel lobby and the parking lot, finally ending with a shooting match on the third floor of the hotel, where they yelled and cursed loudly at each other.

---

The Observer

Monday, September 23, 1985 - page 14

Irish baseball team plays poorly, loses four games over the weekend

By BILL IRVIN

The rain came down on the Notre Dame baseball team this weekend, both literally and figuratively.

As clouds burst during the first game of yesterday's doubleheader against Western Michigan, the Irish exhibited soggy play in dropping an 11-2 contest. Western Michigan also won the second game handily, 9-2, thus completing a diabolical weekend for Notre Dame. Bettle College Again, the Irish tied up a win on Saturday, beating the Irish, 10-9 and 9-3.

The tone of the weekend's action was revealed in microcosm in that first game yesterday, as Western Michigan exploded for seven runs in the first two innings. After an infield out and a walk started the game, the next three batters knocked out singles, setting up an RBI sacrifice fly by Abe Walker and a run-scoring single by Jim Davis. The 'Irish' up 4-0, quickly iced the win by pushing across three more runs in the second, on two hits and two walks.

In addition to their inability to stop enemy hitters this weekend, the Irish also failed to generate much offense. In the fifth inning of Sunday's second game, the Irish started to mount a comeback when Scott Rogers blasted a tape-measure homerun to centerfield. Two walks followed the blast, and the runners moved up on a groundout to the right side. Ken Soo, however, just missed on a pitch as he flew out to left. Rick Vambournout then bounced out to end the inning.

As could be expected, Irish coach Larry Gallo was not pleased with his team's performance.

"It's very evident that we've got a tremendous amount of work to do," said Gallo. "We run into outs, pitchers weren't holding people on, batters were taking strikes. We played very poorly Saturday. I think we made eight errors."

Gallo indicated that he does not intend to accept continued losing.

"I'm not used to losing. I've gotten us an accelerated schedule and we're not going back to playing nobody."

Though unhappy about the losses, Gallo did find some bright spots in the action this weekend.

"I'm pleased with our young pitching. Madsen and Fitz did a good job, and Carriners did too. Shields hit two home runs, as did Rogers."

Gallo noted that perhaps the problems of some of the heretofore on the team can be traced to trying to do too much.

"Sometimes they try to do more than they can do."

The Irish mentor also responded to critics of the fall season.

"Playing intersquad ball is not like playing outside competition. And no way does losing in the fall develop a losing attitude. We're learning what we have to work on. It's true that we're not getting good pitching or good hitting. But I still feel we have the talent to do well."

"We need a lot of hard work and dedication - we have many games left."

Next week, the Irish will have the opportunity to redeem themselves, as they have another four-game weekend. Saturday, they take on Spring Arbor College in a pair of games, while battling St. Francis College on Sunday.

---

Get down to business faster. With the BA-35.

It's a powerful combination. Think business. With the BA-35 Student Business Analyst.

Texas Instruments

Creating useful products and services for you.
Hey Mate!
The Observer needs you. The newspaper is accepting applications for
Copy Editor
For more information contact Frank Lipo at 239-5313 or stop in at the Observer office. Deadline for applications is 5 p.m. Wednesday.

The Observer is now accepting applications for Assistant Systems Manager
This is a salaried position and responsibilities include:
• Supervise operation of 16 user Alpha Micro computer system.
• Routine software and hardware maintenance.
• Oversee operation of Linconron 101 phototypesetter.
• Monitor and coordinate typesetting staff and schedule.

For more information or an application, contact Mark Johnson at The Observer, 239-5303.

CANCER.
NOT KNOWING THE RISKS IS YOUR GREATEST RISK.

Hey Mate!
The Observer needs you. The newspaper is accepting applications for
Copy Editor
For more information contact Frank Lipo at 239-5313 or stop in at the Observer office. Deadline for applications is 5 p.m. Wednesday.

The Observer is now accepting applications for Assistant Systems Manager
This is a salaried position and responsibilities include:
• Supervise operation of 16 user Alpha Micro computer system.
• Routine software and hardware maintenance.
• Oversee operation of Linconron 101 phototypesetter.
• Monitor and coordinate typesetting staff and schedule.

For more information or an application, contact Mark Johnson at The Observer, 239-5303.

CANCER.
NOT KNOWING THE RISKS IS YOUR GREATEST RISK.
Notre Dame used tough defense to whip MSU

Sports Writer

Notre Dame uses tough defense to whip MSU

Brown's 93-yard TD return highlights Irish victory

By MARTY BURNS

The prodigal Notre Dame football team made a homecoming of sorts Saturday evening as it shook down an overmatched Michigan State team, 27-10, in front of a partisan sellout crowd in a predominantly illuminating Notre Dame Stadium.

When it was all over, those 59,075 fans in attendance were prepared to kill the fatted calf for their 1-1 Irish, who scored nicely for last weekend's flat showing against Michigan by correcting many of the mistakes on their own.

This time, a spirited Notre Dame unit used a more wide-open passing game, an aggressive defense, some bold coaching moves and even issued a complete reversal of form on the opening kickoff of the second half. And what's more, the Irish did all this before their home crowd, which had been witness to a mere four victories in the last twelve at home.

"It's a shame it takes a loss to wake you up," said Notre Dame tailback Mike Chmiel. "We did not defend our home stadium the way it should have been.

Irish outside linebacker Mike Larkin, who sprained his left ankle near the end of the game, and who is listed as questionable for next weekend's contest at Purdue, concurred with teammate Pinkett when asked about the enthusiasm shown by the squad.

"It was our stadium, our home," said Larkin, one of four captains on the team. "Michigan State wanted to take it from us, and they rightfully ours.

It appeared for awhile, however, that the 1-1 Spartans might just be a few more carbon copy performances of the Eastern Kentucky squad. Now Lambert only has to overcome a few more carbon copy performances of the Eastern Kentucky squad. Now Lambert only has to overcome a few more carbon copy performances of the Eastern Kentucky squad. Now Lambert only has to overcome a few more carbon copy performances of the Eastern Kentucky squad.

Freshman Bobby McAllister at quarterback since veteran Dave Yarons was injured in last week's game with Arizona State, the inexperienced McAllister promptly got the Spartans off the ground with his second play from scrimmage, a 27-yard pass-off of a play-action fake.

Following a run up the middle, off-tackle and a 14-yard pass completion, first-foot tailback Lorenzo White ran the ball around the left side of the line and into the endzone untouched from the four-yard line.

After the Spartans stopped a five-play Irish drive and got the ball on their own 20, the Notre Dame defense took over. The Irish held their opponents to only two first downs the rest of the half and 11 for the game. After completing his first three passes for 49 yards, the freshman completed only one of his next 14 for six yards and was intercepted twice.

He was also put out of the game for part of the third quarter with a crushing sack at the hands of Irish defensive tackle Wally Kleine.

"They're a real good team," said McAllister following the contest. "They're their strength is their defense. Their defensive line is good, and overall their whole defense is really tough.

"They've also got a good secondary. They play a basic cover-three and they play it well.

While the line played an important role in denying the freshman the time to pass, the Notre Dame secondary did well in denying the Spartans the space to maneuver. Faced with the talented White and a running McAllister, the Irish coaches went with a so-called "sub-defense" in which they brought an extra back up close to the line to help with containment.

"One of the things we did defensively was to go in our sub-defense," said Irish head coach Gerry Faust. "We put (Mike) Haywood out there as an extra back, like an outside linebacker. Most of the time, the side he (McAllister) sprinted, we were able to contain him in hopes that Haywood would come from the backside with his speed and run him down.

With this defensive scheme, Haywood was able to nail the sprinting quarterback and tuck back three times from his close-up position and

Irish volleyball team beats Eastern Kentucky to salvage one victory

By Chuck Ehrman

One out of three isn't all that bad. And one victory is all the Irish could manage in a weekend of volleyball down south at the Georgia Peach Classic in Athens. The Irish fell to both Georgia and Oklahoma, but were able to knock off Eastern Kentucky.

The Irish were given anything but a warm welcome by Georgia on Friday night. Once again, the script turned to familiar ending - a loss and an upset coach.

"It helped get the game away," said Coach Art Lambert. "We needed to them.

The Bulldogs whipped the Irish in three straight games, 15-5, 15-7, 15-12.

Saturday morning found the Irish stumbling again, this time at the hands of Oklahoma. By a score of 5-10, 15-8, 11-15, 15-5.

But the Irish changed their luck in the next match, taking Eastern Kentucky to town, opening the floodgates and sailing to victory in three games. The team won 15-12, 15-8, 15-8. The victory gave the Irish their second win of the young season.

The teams really bounced back against Eastern Kentucky," said Lambert. "The girls finally pulled themselves together. I think some of the freshmen found themselves and are beginning to settle down. We're improving.

Improving they are. Eastern Kentucky was no slouch. Earlier in the season they beat Kentucky, a team that wallowed the Irish in the season opener. So things are looking better.

Lambert also was able to finally come up with a starting lineup. Haywood has stopped his juggling act and decided to go in full-speed ahead with senior Mary McLaughlin, junior Karen Sapp, sophomore Jill Suglich, and freshmen Maureen Shea, Mary Kay Waller and Whitney Shewam.

Sophomore Kathleen Morris will now spell relief from the bench. Now Lambert only has to overcome the tragedy of unfulfilled potential.

Although it is too early to pronounce the Irish cured, the team will surely be content if it can turn in a few more carbon copy performances of the Eastern Kentucky squad.

Next up on the schedule is a road trip to Purdue this Wednesday. Hopefully the Irish can pick up where they left off.