Resident assistants to meet with Tyson regarding du Lac

*By MARK PANKOWSKI
Assistant News Editor*

Associate Vice President for Residence Life John Goldrick has agreed to meet with all the resident assistants in early December to discuss du Lac's rules, in particular those regarding parietals, according to Doug Griffiths, a resident assistant in Alumni Hall.

The meeting followed a request which came after approximately 65 resident assistants attended a quasi-secretive meeting Nov. 17 and discussed the possibility of meeting with Goldrick, said Griffiths, who telephoned Goldrick with the request, and said he also asked Goldrick that Vice President for Student Affairs David Tyson, Assistant Vice President for Student Affairs Jean Levu and Assistant Vice President for Student Services Father Francis Callardelli attend the December meeting.

Griffiths said he did not know whether they would attend, and Tyson, Levu, and Callardelli were unavailable for comment when contacted late Friday afternoon.

Goldrick declined comment.

The meeting "will be an open invitation to all R.A.'s to speak with him (Goldrick) about anything," Griffiths said.

Griffiths and several other resident assistants requested a meeting with Goldrick because "he's our boss," Griffiths said, adding that he believed the meeting will be "the last straw." Griffiths said he expected parietals to be the focus of the December meeting, which will be "in a question-and-answer format."

The main reason for the meeting is "to create a meeting between the administration and students so we could explain the rules to students," he said.

The resident assistants requested a meeting with Goldrick because "he's our boss," Griffiths said, adding that he believed the meeting will be "the last straw." Griffiths said he expected parietals to be the focus of the December meeting, which will be "in a question-and-answer format."

The main reason for the meeting is "to create a meeting between the administration and students so we could explain the rules to students," he said.

The resident assistants requested a meeting with Goldrick because "he's our boss," Griffiths said, adding that he believed the meeting will be "the last straw." Griffiths said he expected parietals to be the focus of the December meeting, which will be "in a question-and-answer format."

The main reason for the meeting is "to create a meeting between the administration and students so we could explain the rules to students," he said.

The resident assistants requested a meeting with Goldrick because "he's our boss," Griffiths said, adding that he believed the meeting will be "the last straw." Griffiths said he expected parietals to be the focus of the December meeting, which will be "in a question-and-answer format."

The main reason for the meeting is "to create a meeting between the administration and students so we could explain the rules to students," he said.

The resident assistants requested a meeting with Goldrick because "he's our boss," Griffiths said, adding that he believed the meeting will be "the last straw." Griffiths said he expected parietals to be the focus of the December meeting, which will be "in a question-and-answer format."

The main reason for the meeting is "to create a meeting between the administration and students so we could explain the rules to students," he said.

The resident assistants requested a meeting with Goldrick because "he's our boss," Griffiths said, adding that he believed the meeting will be "the last straw." Griffiths said he expected parietals to be the focus of the December meeting, which will be "in a question-and-answer format."

The main reason for the meeting is "to create a meeting between the administration and students so we could explain the rules to students," he said.

The resident assistants requested a meeting with Goldrick because "he's our boss," Griffiths said, adding that he believed the meeting will be "the last straw." Griffiths said he expected parietals to be the focus of the December meeting, which will be "in a question-and-answer format."

The main reason for the meeting is "to create a meeting between the administration and students so we could explain the rules to students," he said.

The resident assistants requested a meeting with Goldrick because "he's our boss," Griffiths said, adding that he believed the meeting will be "the last straw." Griffiths said he expected parietals to be the focus of the December meeting, which will be "in a question-and-answer format."

The main reason for the meeting is "to create a meeting between the administration and students so we could explain the rules to students," he said.

The resident assistants requested a meeting with Goldrick because "he's our boss," Griffiths said, adding that he believed the meeting will be "the last straw." Griffiths said he expected parietals to be the focus of the December meeting, which will be "in a question-and-answer format."

The main reason for the meeting is "to create a meeting between the administration and students so we could explain the rules to students," he said.

The resident assistants requested a meeting with Goldrick because "he's our boss," Griffiths said, adding that he believed the meeting will be "the last straw." Griffiths said he expected parietals to be the focus of the December meeting, which will be "in a question-and-answer format."

The main reason for the meeting is "to create a meeting between the administration and students so we could explain the rules to students," he said.

The resident assistants requested a meeting with Goldrick because "he's our boss," Griffiths said, adding that he believed the meeting will be "the last straw." Griffiths said he expected parietals to be the focus of the December meeting, which will be "in a question-and-answer format."

The main reason for the meeting is "to create a meeting between the administration and students so we could explain the rules to students," he said.

The resident assistants requested a meeting with Goldrick because "he's our boss," Griffiths said, adding that he believed the meeting will be "the last straw." Griffiths said he expected parietals to be the focus of the December meeting, which will be "in a question-and-answer format."

The main reason for the meeting is "to create a meeting between the administration and students so we could explain the rules to students," he said.

The resident assistants requested a meeting with Goldrick because "he's our boss," Griffiths said, adding that he believed the meeting will be "the last straw." Griffiths said he expected parietals to be the focus of the December meeting, which will be "in a question-and-answer format."

The main reason for the meeting is "to create a meeting between the administration and students so we could explain the rules to students," he said.

The resident assistants requested a meeting with Goldrick because "he's our boss," Griffiths said, adding that he believed the meeting will be "the last straw." Griffiths said he expected parietals to be the focus of the December meeting, which will be "in a question-and-answer format."

The main reason for the meeting is "to create a meeting between the administration and students so we could explain the rules to students," he said.

The resident assistants requested a meeting with Goldrick because "he's our boss," Griffiths said, adding that he believed the meeting will be "the last straw.
The Observer

In Brief

The Anti-Apartheid Network set in front of the Administration Building Friday afternoon. Senior Pat Mullen detailed last week's events in South Africa to the group of more than 45 people, reporting that 718 people had been arrested and 28 shot and killed. Graduate student John Fitzpatrick told the group, "You should not diminish your work just because you can't do everything." The meeting ended with the group cheering, "Antisuda, Antisuda," three times after the meeting. Network organizers Mullen and Margaret Rose presented a letter from the Network to University President Father Theodore Hesburgh. Mullen said the group plans to meet in front of the Administration Building every Friday at 12:15 p.m., except next Friday, when classes will not be in session. The Observer

Renee C. Lee, a senior accounting major at the University of Notre Dame, has been awarded a scholarship for the 1985-86 academic year by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A native of Springfield, Pennsylvania, she is one of 500 undergraduate and graduate minority students in accounting selected to receive the award. The Observer

Timothy McCarthy, sheriff of Porter County, was the recipient of the 1985 St. Thomas More Award Sunday at the Fisher Hall Anniversary Brunch. The Award is given annually by the residents of Fisher Hall to a member of the Notre Dame/Saint Mary's community who exemplifies the teachings of St. Thomas More. McCarthy is famous for his humorous safety messages delivered during Notre Dame games for the past 21 years. The Observer

Of Interest

"Adoption: Indiana and Beyond" will be the topic of a program tonight at 7 in Saint Mary's Carroll Hall. A film show will follow by a four member panel discussion. The adoption program is co-sponsored by Saint Mary's Sociology Club and the Association for the Rights of Children. It is being held in the context of National Adoption Week. The Observer

College Bowl All students interested in participating in Notre Dame's College Bowl tournament are invited to attend a short organizational meeting tonight at 6:30 in Room 202 of the Center for Continuing Education. Information on rules and play will be available. The Observer

The Psychology Club will meet tonight at 7 in the LaFortune Little Theatre. There will be an election for officers followed by a talk on strategies for getting into graduate school. The Observer

Winter bike storage will take place on Monday and Tuesday afternoons from 3:30 to 5:30 at Gate 14 of Notre Dame Stadium. All bikes must be registered with Notre Dame Security. There is no cost for storage. The Observer

A Kellogg Institute Brown Bag seminar will be held tomorrow at noon in Room 135 in Decio Hall. Kwan S. Kim, associate professor of economics, will speak on "Industrial Policy and the Problem of Industrialization in Mexico." The Observer

The Saint Mary's Society for Entrepreneurship and New Ventures is sponsoring a lecture on business plans tonight at 7 in the LaFortune Little Theatre. "You can do everything, but you can do nothing well." The conversation in the Administration Building Friday afternoon centered around this adage. The Saint Mary's Society for Entrepreneurship and New Ventures is sponsoring a lecture on business plans tonight at 7 in the LaFortune Little Theatre. "You can do everything, but you can do nothing well." The conversation in the Administration Building Friday afternoon centered around this adage.

Weather

Turkey hunting will be a moeny venture today, as there is a chance of freezing rain or sleet in the morning. Rain likely in the afternoon. High near 60. Chance of precipitation 60 percent during the day with a 70 percent likelihood of rain at night. Temperatures rising into the lower or mid 60s Thursday. Mostly cloudy and warmer with a 50 percent chance of showers. High in the upper 70s. Chance of rain or snow with a high near 40 on Thanksgiving Day.

Success should be recognized

Sharon Benker
Managing Editor

During one of her first breaks at Notre Dame, a fresh­man found herself riding home with two seniors. The seniors, as is typical, began to reminisce about their college careers. One, a double major in English and engineering, spoke about her various interviews. She said she sometimes was embarrassed about C's she'd received in classes she knew she did not want. But before she realized, his other successes and what is really important to you.

Yet success, even marked by many blemishes, remains success. One of the seniors received a lucrative job offer from an engineering firm in California. The other will graduate from law school this year. Both are, by their own standards, successful individuals.

Sometimes, when the workload seems impossible, our A's have slipped out of reach and finals are looming, it is all too easy to focus on our mistakes. It is easy to sit back and lament that we cannot possibly do everything we'd like to do as we'd like to do it. It is much more difficult to decide what is really important to us and do our best to achieve that. It is much more difficult to pull ourselves outside of mediocre performances and continue to give life our best effort.

Yet this is what success really consists of. Not being the best at everything, but being good at something worthwhile.

Chinese, Vietnamese & American Food

Oriental Express Carry Out
Dining Room
272-5702
6329 University Commons
Just West of University Park Mall on State Road 23, Next to Kroger with this coupon only

Rocco's Hair Styling
531 N. Michigan St.
Phone 233-4957

Mon. & Weds. 10'off

SENIORS

Learn, Grow, Give and Love
Take a Chance!
Holy Cross Associates

A chance of a lifetime to be involved in Christian service and community living.

Avondale, Arizona
Colorado Springs, Colorado
Hayward, California
Portland, Oregon

APPLICATION DEADLINE – JANUARY 31.
True Loyalty

These two courageous individuals braved the cold temperatures Saturday and showed their spirit in a way different than that of most fans at the Notre Dame/LSU football game. Although they could not manage a victory at the last home game, the two may have managed to get frostbite.

FRANKFURT, West Germany - A powerful car bomb exploded outside a busy U.S. military shopping center yesterday, injuring 36 people, most of them Americans, authorities said.

The blast at 3:20 p.m. damaged 42 cars in the center's parking lot, shattered windows and blew a gaping hole in the back wall of one shop.

"We suspect leftist terrorists because the attack was similar to the car bombing at the U.S. Air Force Base in August," said spokesman Alexander Prechel of the Federal Prosecutor's Office in Karlsruhe.

That Aug. 1 car-bomb attack at the U.S. Air Force Rhein-Main Air Base killed two Americans and injured 20 people.

The terrorist Red Army Faction asserted responsibility for the August attack but there was no immediate claim of responsibility for yesterday's bombing.

"Like in August, Americans were the target of the attack," Prechel said.

Frankfurt police spokesman Kurt Kraus said the bomb was packed in a blue BMW sedan that was bought by a "Moroccan-looking man" Saturday at a second-hand car dealership near Frankfurt.

The BMW was parked in a lot behind the shopping center that is for the use only of U.S. military personnel.

"All of a sudden there was a real loud crash. I turned around to look and see where it came from. It was coming from right over my head. I looked and there was a big yellow flash from between the two buildings," Chalko said.

Chalko said those entering the shopping center were among a military police checkpoint five yards from the blast site.

"A guard who was on duty at the time was one of the people injured in the blast," he said.

Chalko was asked how much evidence has been collected. He said, "We assume it's as much as you can load into the luggage compartment."

West German police and U.S. soldiers in full battle gear immediately shut down the shopping center, which is located in a residential area in northern Frankfurt, and sealed off the area.

Police with guard dogs searched the area.

The Observer, he said.

For the other two who were treated here we still don't have any personal details," he said. The identities of the injured were not released.

"Many people just walked off and took themselves in, said a U.S. army spokesman, Major Christopher Chalko. "Most of the injuries seem to have been bruises and cuts from flying glass."

At least the contacts have been made selection was stalled in the Lebanese hostage crisis. "It was easier to do this with the kidnappers "we're making progress," he added that he expected "to be back soon."

"Worse, swamped in west Beirut's Commodore Hotel with scribes of journalism for three days while Druse and Shiite Moslem militants fought savage street battles around the seven-story building. He was sent to Beirut after four American hostages in Lebanon were freed by letter to the Rev. Runcie, the archbishop of Canterbury, for work to their release.

The Briton made a 15-minute dash to the airport in a sedan pocked with bullet holes. Following him, at gunfire cracked around the city, was a fast-moving convoy of journalists and television crews.

Police with guard dogs searched the area.

"That's not what we were trying to do," said Lewis. "What we were trying to do was establish a dialogue between us and our hostages."

Several other resident assistants declined to discuss the Nov. 17 meeting.

"We are proud to present.

Continued from page 1

The Observer, he said.

The Anglican troubleshooter, a shadowy group of Shiite fun­damentalists, said he was "optimistic" about his attempts to negotiate the release of American hostages in Lebanon.

"Worse, the archbishop of Canter­bury's envoy, was due to leave for New York early today to meet U.S. officials on his efforts to free the hostages. His one-man mercy mis­sion was stalled in the Lebanese capital because of fighting between rival Moslem factions.

"I'm optimistic but it takes time. At least the contacts have been made and the kidnappers identified," Wait mane added.

Wait was asked how much ex­perience. Kraus said the BMW was bought at a second-hand car dealership near Frankfurt.

sition" was stalled in the Lebanese hostage crisis. "It was easier to do this with the kidnappers "we're making progress," he added that he expected "to be back soon."

"Worse, swamped in west Beirut's Commodore Hotel with scribes of journalism for three days while Druse and Shiite Moslem militants fought savage street battles around the seven-story building. He was sent to Beirut after four American hostages in Lebanon were freed by letter to the Rev. Runcie, the archbishop of Canterbury, for work to their release.

The Briton made a 15-minute dash to the airport in a sedan pocked with bullet holes. Following him, at gunfire cracked around the city, was a fast-moving convoy of jour­nalists and television crews.

Police with guard dogs searched the area.

"That's not what we were trying to do," said Lewis. "What we were trying to do was establish a dialogue between us and our hostages."

Several other resident assistants declined to discuss the Nov. 17 meeting.

"We are proud to present.

Continued from page 1

The Observer, he said.

The Anglican troubleshooter, a shadowy group of Shiite fun­damentalists, said he was "optimistic" about his attempts to negotiate the release of American hostages in Lebanon.

"Worse, the archbishop of Canter­bury's envoy, was due to leave for New York early today to meet U.S. officials on his efforts to free the hostages. His one-man mercy mis­sion was stalled in the Lebanese capital because of fighting between rival Moslem factions.

"I'm optimistic but it takes time. At least the contacts have been made and the kidnappers identified," Wait was asked how much ex­perience. Kraus said the BMW was bought at a second-hand car dealership near Frankfurt.

sition" was stalled in the Lebanese hostage crisis. "It was easier to do this with the kidnappers "we're making progress," he added that he expected "to be back soon."

"Worse, swamped in west Beirut's Commodore Hotel with scribes of journalism for three days while Druse and Shiite Moslem militants fought savage street battles around the seven-story building. He was sent to Beirut after four American hostages in Lebanon were freed by letter to the Rev. Runcie, the archbishop of Canterbury, for work to their release.

The Briton made a 15-minute dash to the airport in a sedan pocked with bullet holes. Following him, at gunfire cracked around the city, was a fast-moving convoy of jour­nalists and television crews.

Police with guard dogs searched the area.

"That's not what we were trying to do," said Lewis. "What we were trying to do was establish a dialogue between us and our hostages."

Several other resident assistants declined to discuss the Nov. 17 meeting.

"We are proud to present.

Continued from page 1

The Observer, he said.

The Anglican troubleshooter, a shadowy group of Shiite fun­damentalists, said he was "optimistic" about his attempts to negotiate the release of American hostages in Lebanon.

"Worse, the archbishop of Canter­bury's envoy, was due to leave for New York early today to meet U.S. officials on his efforts to free the hostages. His one-man mercy mis­sion was stalled in the Lebanese capital because of fighting between rival Moslem factions.

"I'm optimistic but it takes time. At least the contacts have been made and the kidnappers identified," Wait was asked how much ex­perience. Kraus said the BMW was bought at a second-hand car dealership near Frankfurt.

sition" was stalled in the Lebanese hostage crisis. "It was easier to do this with the kidnappers "we're making progress," he added that he expected "to be back soon."

"Worse, swamped in west Beirut's Commodore Hotel with scribes of journalism for three days while Druse and Shiite Moslem militants fought savage street battles around the seven-story building. He was sent to Beirut after four American hostages in Lebanon were freed by letter to the Rev. Runcie, the archbishop of Canterbury, for work to their release.

The Briton made a 15-minute dash to the airport in a sedan pocked with bullet holes. Following him, at gunfire cracked around the city, was a fast-moving convoy of jour­nalists and television crews.

Police with guard dogs searched the area.

"That's not what we were trying to do," said Lewis. "What we were trying to do was establish a dialogue between us and our hostages."

Several other resident assistants declined to discuss the Nov. 17 meeting.

"We are proud to present.

Continued from page 1

The Observer, he said.

The Anglican troubleshooter, a shadowy group of Shiite fun­damentalists, said he was "optimistic" about his attempts to negotiate the release of American hostages in Lebanon.

"Worse, the archbishop of Canter­bury's envoy, was due to leave for New York early today to meet U.S. officials on his efforts to free the hostages. His one-man mercy mis­sion was stalled in the Lebanese capital because of fighting between rival Moslem factions.

"I'm optimistic but it takes time. At least the contacts have been made and the kidnappers identified," Wait was asked how much ex­perience. Kraus said the BMW was bought at a second-hand car dealership near Frankfurt.

sition" was stalled in the Lebanese hostage crisis. "It was easier to do this with the kidnappers "we're making progress," he added that he expected "to be back soon."

"Worse, swamped in west Beirut's Commodore Hotel with scribes of journalism for three days while Druse and Shiite Moslem militants fought savage street battles around the seven-story building. He was sent to Beirut after four American hostages in Lebanon were freed by letter to the Rev. Runcie, the archbishop of Canterbury, for work to their release.

The Briton made a 15-minute dash to the airport in a sedan pocked with bullet holes. Following him, at gunfire cracked around the city, was a fast-moving convoy of jour­nalists and television crews.

Police with guard dogs searched the area.

"That's not what we were trying to do," said Lewis. "What we were trying to do was establish a dialogue between us and our hostages."

Several other resident assistants declined to discuss the Nov. 17 meeting.

"We are proud to present.
Viewpoint

Raising questions about Hoffman’s remarks at ND

Monday, November 25, 1985 — page 4

As the excitement dies down and as the crowd disperses, there are seeds of liberation remaining after Abbie Hoffman’s speech. While he was very entertaining, his facts and opinions appeared to this confused individual to be somewhat tainted. I say that I am confused because I am no expert on international affairs, but I do find that subject immensely intriguing. It is my purpose here not to assail Hoffman’s character but to raise a few questions which I did not get to ask after his speech.

Brendan Daniels

---

Guest Column

It seems to me Hoffman supports immediate divestiture of all investments of the University from all corporations in South Africa. This would send a message to the government of that nation that we are actively going to be minimized; other nations are going to divest, the actions of one nation are going to be mirrored. Roughly 70 institutions across the country will use it as a joke at my five year reunion. It has told whether or not these investments were reduced costs. Roughly 70 institutions across the country have divested, but nobody has told whether or not these investments have been taken up by other institutions or by other governments. Nor has anyone said, “Why not?” I cannot say for I do not know. Another thing I cannot say is that I know the answers to the problems with U.S. foreign policy in Latin America. Since Hoffman concentrated on the Nicaraguan situation, so shall I. I cannot argue the correctness or morality of the position taken by the U.S. government is separating itself from the Sandinistas for overthrowing Somoza in the extremely popular 1979 revolution is a moot argument; the situation six years ago is unchangeable.

The fact remains that governments of the United States and of Nicaragua are unfriendly toward each other and that Nicaragua has received much aid from the Soviet Union. If we were to pull out aid from the Contras, they probably would be defeated quickly. The Sandinistas would probably have a chance to resist of order as soon as possible, and the Soviets would want to collect the returns of their investments in Ortega’s government immediately after the Sandinistas would probably destroy the Contras. Their trickles the United States didn’t need to be interfering in Nicaragua. Well, the way i see it: at best, unwise; at worst, wrong. In the interests of national security, we need to prevent the Soviets from gaining another military foothold to our south which could threaten the Panama Canal and Caribbean trade routes.

Hoffman also mentioned that the revolutionary government still is popular, but he failed to mention that many of the revolutionaries feel that Ortega and Co. have betrayed the movement and these people have joined the Contras. They are not, as Hoffman implied, united. The remnants of the Ortega regime, the Catholic Church in Nicaragua, and Nicaragua in the region are in a state of uncertainty because of the harsh suppression of human freedoms in many areas — a suspension which Hoffman tried to justify. When I began my trip to South Africa, we were involved in bringing about a change in the government, and in both cases, Hoffman is opposed to the policy of the United States. His message seemed to be clear that night: “Be heard, be read, swear if you must to get some attention because you cannot use the system of the ‘King’s Court’ nor can you use the ‘King’s English’ to communicate.”

It seems that he feels rational, intelligent discussions are useless and violence is the answer. One last question Hoffman, if I may. If you are so opposed to the deplorable conditions of poverty in these nations, where do you get the nerve to put a $100 bill on the podium to help destroy the costs of stolen sheets to be used in the anti-apartheid “rally” at the Notre Dame/Ole Miss. Football game from where I was, it seemed like your roll of bills was rather thick, but I cannot say for sure.

Brendan Daniels is a junior government major at Notre Dame.

---

The final word given on battle of the sexes’ at ND

“Absolutely the four Irish guys go leering by, we see their eyes are fixed on female thigh. "And as those Irish guys go leering by, ..."

Pete Pranica

---

Viewpoint Policy

- All letters to the editor submitted to The Observer become the property of The Observer. Letters must be typed, not necessarily reflect the opinions of The Observer. Letters must be typed, and may not respond directly to previous commentaries appearing in The Observer and may not exceed 700 words.
- The Observer encourages commentaries from all members of the Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s community.
- Guest columns may not respond directly to previous commentaries appearing in The Observer and may not exceed 700 words.
- All letters to the editor submitted to The Observer become the property of The Observer. Letters must be typed, and may not exceed 700 words.

---

Gunny Trudeo

“The world will learn that a million men are of no importance compared with one Man!”

Henry David Thoreau

(letter to Emerson, June 8, 1843)
Reacts to commentary on ND maternity policy

Dear Editor,

In response to the article written by Jenni Delfava and Thomas Ring regarding the shortcomings of Notre Dame's maternity policy, I quote directly from the Notre Dame handbook:

"Leaves of absence is also granted to members for causes of childbirth, incapacitating sickness, or serious disability. The University obliges itself to pay a member's salary for a period of six months during this period medical reports are to be submitted to the Provost at two-month intervals. The University reserves the right to discontinue payments after the six-month period.

Although it does depict a case of rape, it does not depict a case of date rape.

Date rape occurs when a male takes advantage of a female in a date situation, not necessarily taking advantage of the victim "hardly knew" leaving an unsuspecting girl in his car. While it is possible that "rape has happened even here at Notre Dame," here are the facts.

There has been one rape, not date rape, reported here in the last ten years. Going by Coffey's statistics, Women's Day, "forty-seven percent of all goope are sorprented." It means there actually have been two rapes committed at Notre Dame in the past decade. We agree two rape cases are too many, but this should not cause the women here to fear for their safety. If precautions should be taken, but those of

Fr. Theodore Hesburgh guest column

Thanksgiving Day is an opportunity for all of us to catch up on our gratitude. We do well to begin with God, thanking Him for life, present and eternal, for home and family, for America and freedom, for so many peace and often neglected graces, for peace thus far despite ever-simmering nuclear disasters.

And then to all those people who give us so much, mom and dad, teachers through all the long years of our education, friends who put up with our foibles and love us none less, all the people we take so much for granted; farmers and cooks and dish washers, maids and jiuers, and other workers and groundkeepers. The list gets longer: rec­ make your mark on generation

By the way we were

It was this council that destroyed the idea of the Latin Mass. It changed that ageless formula in the false hope that a Mass in the vernacular would bring more people to Church. Church attendance, however, was higher in the 1960's (while the Mass was still in Latin) than it is today. This is an absurd notion that if the people do not understand what is being said they will not go. As a priest once told me, "If somebody really wants to go to Mass, he will go. If the Mass is said in English, Latin, Hebrew, or any other language." The Latin Mass was one of the most beautiful Church traditions that Vatican II destroyed.

Another tradition that was destroyed by Vatican II was the set order of authority. Priests followed the orders of the bishop, and the bishop followed the orders of the synod. It was a matter of who was in authority. Now we have the people running the Church. The synod does not understand why Christ did this, but He did it to serve Mass, instead of alterboys. When told to put their public relations machines aside and depart from the ways of the past and substitute them with the idea that whatever the occasion, these experiences times, what we were feeling and what was running through our minds.

Rich Coglianse

The Catholic Church has, since 1962, been one of the most traditional organizations the world has known. Many parts of the Mass date back to the time of Christ and none of the changes Vatican II followed them to the letter. Then came the Second Vatican Council. This Church council tried to bring the people into the rest of the world and depart from the ways of the past and substitute them with the idea that whatever the occasion, these experiences times, what we were feeling and what was running through our minds.

Rich Coglianse

To commemorate the 50th anniversary of the end of World War II, the Vatican has made changes to prepare the Church for another millennium. On the other hand, if the synod fails to meet them, the Church will continue farther away from the path that Christ has dug and the Church's third millen­

Remember: Don't fix something that ain't broke.

Rich Coglianse is the Freshman Year of College of Arts and Letters at Notre Dame.

P.O. Box Q
Notre Dame, IN 46556

Chairman

Thanksgiving Day noted as special by Hesburgh

Dear Notre Dame men and women:

One thing I learned from my mother, long ago, was to say "Thank you" for the gift I received. I've tried to practice that lesson ever since, but must admit that I really don't say it often enough to all the different people to whom I am indebted for so much.

Fr. Theodore Hesburgh

Notre Dame du Lac and Saint Mary's College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administration of either institution. The news is reported as accurately and objectively as possible.

Key days remembered

In examining my own lifetime, I can think of there seems to be certain events in one's lifetime that are particularly notable. So much so that we can remember exactly where we were when the event occurred, what we were thinking when a certain loved one passed away. Whatever the occasion, these experiences times, what we were feeling and what was running through our minds.

Cappo's Inside column confuses the whole issue

There seems to be certain events in one's lifetime that are particularly notable. So much so that we can remember exactly where we were when the event occurred, what we were thinking when a certain loved one passed away. Whatever the occasion, these experiences times, what we were feeling and what was running through our minds.

There seems to be certain events in one's lifetime that are particularly notable. So much so that we can remember exactly where we were when the event occurred, what we were thinking when a certain loved one passed away. Whatever the occasion, these experiences times, what we were feeling and what was running through our minds.

There seems to be certain events in one's lifetime that are particularly notable. So much so that we can remember exactly where we were when the event occurred, what we were thinking when a certain loved one passed away. Whatever the occasion, these experiences times, what we were feeling and what was running through our minds.

There seems to be certain events in one's lifetime that are particularly notable. So much so that we can remember exactly where we were when the event occurred, what we were thinking when a certain loved one passed away. Whatever the occasion, these experiences times, what we were feeling and what was running through our minds.

There seems to be certain events in one's lifetime that are particularly notable. So much so that we can remember exactly where we were when the event occurred, what we were thinking when a certain loved one passed away. Whatever the occasion, these experiences times, what we were feeling and what was running through our minds.
I woke up early for my 8 a.m. class. Things had hit a low point for the Notre Dame black community. This year, Boykin and Rodgers say they hope to halt the increasing apathy among black students toward the BCAC by revitalizing the organization with new plans and ideas. The problem and cause of much frustration: the relatively small percentage of black students at Notre Dame. "It is a serious morale problem among the Notre Dame black community," said Lisa Boykin, co-leader of the campus' only black organization for black students last year, in the midst of what they saw as a serious moral problem among the Notre Dame black community. This year, Boykin and Rodgers say they hope to halt the increasing apathy among black students toward the BCAC by revitalizing the organization with new plans and ideas. The problem and cause of much frustration: the relatively small percentage of black students at Notre Dame. "It is a serious morale problem among the Notre Dame black community," said Lisa Boykin, co-leader of the campus' only black organization for black students last year, in the midst of what they saw as a serious moral problem among the Notre Dame black community. This year, Boykin and Rodgers say they hope to halt the increasing apathy among black students toward the BCAC by revitalizing the organization with new plans and ideas. The problem and cause of much frustration: the relatively small percentage of black students at Notre Dame. "It is a serious morale problem among the Notre Dame black community," said Lisa Boykin, co-leader of the campus' only black organization for black students last year, in the midst of what they saw as a serious moral problem among the Notre Dame black community. This year, Boykin and Rodgers say they hope to halt the increasing apathy among black students toward the BCAC by revitalizing the organization with new plans and ideas. The problem and cause of much frustration: the relatively small percentage of black students at Notre Dame. "It is a serious morale problem among the Notre Dame black community," said Lisa Boykin, co-leader of the campus' only black organization for black students last year, in the midst of what they saw as a serious moral problem among the Notre Dame black community. This year, Boykin and Rodgers say they hope to halt the increasing apathy among black students toward the BCAC by revitalizing the organization with new plans and ideas. The problem and cause of much frustration: the relatively small percentage of black students at Notre Dame. "It is a serious morale problem among the Notre Dame black community," said Lisa Boykin, co-leader of the campus' only black organization for black students last year, in the midst of what they saw as a serious moral problem among the Notre Dame black community. This year, Boykin and Rodgers say they hope to halt the increasing apathy among black students toward the BCAC by revitalizing the organization with new plans and ideas. The problem and cause of much frustration: the relatively small percentage of black students at Notre Dame. "It is a serious morale problem among the Notre Dame black community," said Lisa Boykin, co-leader of the campus' only black organization for black students last year, in the midst of what they saw as a serious moral problem among the Notre Dame black community. This year, Boykin and Rodgers say they hope to halt the increasing apathy among black students toward the BCAC by revitalizing the organization with new plans and ideas. The problem and cause of much frustration: the relatively small percentage of black students at Notre Dame. "It is a serious morale problem among the Notre Dame black community," said Lisa Boykin, co-leader of the campus' only black organization for black students last year, in the midst of what they saw as a serious moral problem among the Notre Dame black community. This year, Boykin and Rodgers say they hope to halt the increasing apathy among black students toward the BCAC by revitalizing the organization with new plans and ideas. The problem and cause of much frustration: the relatively small percentage of black students at Notre Dame. "It is a serious morale problem among the Notre Dame black community," said Lisa Boykin, co-leader of the campus' only black organization for black students last year, in the midst of what they saw as a serious moral problem among the Notre Dame black community. This year, Boykin and Rodgers say they hope to halt the increasing apathy among black students toward the BCAC by revitalizing the organization with new plans and ideas. The problem and cause of much frustration: the relatively small percentage of black students at Notre Dame. "It is a serious morale problem among the Notre Dame black community," said Lisa Boykin, co-leader of the campus' only black organization for black students last year, in the midst of what they saw as a serious moral problem among the Notre Dame black community. This year, Boykin and Rodgers say they hope to halt the increasing apathy among black students toward the BCAC by revitalizing the organization with new plans and ideas. The problem and cause of much frustration: the relatively small percentage of black students at Notre Dame. "It is a serious morale problem among the Notre Dame black community," said Lisa Boykin, co-leader of the campus' only black organization for black students last year, in the midst of what they saw as a serious moral problem among the Notre Dame black community. This year, Boykin and Rodgers say they hope to halt the increasing apathy among black students toward the BCAC by revitalizing the organization with new plans and ideas. The problem and cause of much frustration: the relatively small percentage of black students at Notre Dame. "It is a serious morale problem among the Notre Dame black community," said Lisa Boykin, co-leader of the campus' only black organization for black students last year, in the midst of what they saw as a serious moral problem among the Notre Dame black community. This year, Boykin and Rodgers say they hope to halt the increasing apathy among black students toward the BCAC by revitalizing the organization with new plans and ideas. The problem and cause of much frustration: the relatively small percentage of black students at Notre Dame. "It is a serious morale problem among the Notre Dame black community," said Lisa Boykin, co-leader of the campus' only black organization for black students last year, in the midst of what they saw as a serious moral problem among the Notre Dame black community. This year, Boykin and Rodgers say they hope to halt the increasing apathy among black students toward the BCAC by revitalizing the organization with new plans and ideas. The problem and cause of much frustration: the relatively small percentage of black students at Notre Dame. "It is a serious morale problem among the Notre Dame black community," said Lisa Boykin, co-leader of the campus' only black organization for black students last year, in the midst of what they saw as a serious moral problem among the Notre Dame black community. This year, Boykin and Rodgers say they hope to halt the increasing apathy among black students toward the BCAC by revitalizing the organization with new plans and ideas. The problem and cause of much frustration: the relatively small percentage of black students at Notre Dame. "It is a serious morale problem among the Notre Dame black community," said Lisa Boykin, co-leader of the campus' only black organization for black students last year, in the midst of what they saw as a serious moral problem among the Notre Dame black community. This year, Boykin and Rodgers say they hope to halt the increasing apathy among black students toward the BCAC by revitalizing the organization with new plans and ideas. The problem and cause of much frustration: the relatively small percentage of black students at Notre Dame. "It is a serious morale problem among the Notre Dame black community," said Lisa Boykin, co-leader of the campus' only black organization for black students last year, in the midst of what they saw as a serious moral problem among the Notre Dame black community. This year, Boykin and Rodgers say they hope to halt the increasing apathy among black students toward the BCAC by revitalizing the organization with new plans and ideas. The problem and cause of much frustration: the relatively small percentage of black students at Notre Dame. "It is a serious morale problem among the Notre Dame black community," said Lisa Boykin, co-leader of the campus' only black organization for black students last year, in the midst of what they saw as a serious moral problem among the Notre Dame black community. This year, Boykin and Rodgers say they hope to halt the increasing apathy among black students toward the BCAC by revitalizing the organization with new plans and ideas. The problem and cause of much frustration: the relatively small percentage of black students at Notre Dame. "It is a serious morale problem among the Notre Dame black community," said Lisa Boykin, co-leader of the campus' only black organization for black students last year, in the midst of what they saw as a serious moral problem among the Notre Dame black community. This year, Boykin and Rodgers say they hope to halt the increasing apathy among black students toward the BCAC by revitalizing the organization with new plans and ideas. The problem and cause of much frustration: the relatively small percentage of black students at Notre Dame. "It is a serious morale problem among the Notre Dame black community," said Lisa Boykin, co-leader of the campus' only black organization for black students last year, in the midst of what they saw as a serious moral problem among the Notre Dame black community. This year, Boykin and Rodgers say they hope to halt the increasing apathy among black students toward the BCAC by revitalizing the organization with new plans and ideas. The problem and cause of much frustration: the relatively small percentage of black students at Notre Dame. "It is a serious morale problem among the Notre Dame black community," said Lisa Boykin, co-leader of the campus' only black organization for black students last year, in the midst of what they saw as a serious moral problem among the Notre Dame black community. This year, Boykin and Rodgers say they hope to halt the increasing apathy among black students toward the BCAC by revitalizing the organization with new plans and ideas. The problem and cause of much frustration: the relatively small percentage of black students at Notre Dame. "It is a serious morale problem among the Notre Dame black community," said Lisa Boykin, co-leader of the campus' only black organization for black students last year, in the midst of what they saw as a serious moral problem among the Notre Dame black community. This year, Boykin and Rodgers say they hope to halt the increasing apathy among black students toward the BCAC by revitalizing the organization with new plans and ideas. The problem and cause of much frustration: the relatively small percentage of black students at Notre Dame. "It is a serious morale problem among the Notre Dame black community," said Lisa Boykin, co-leader of the campus' only black organization for black students last year, in the midst of what they saw as a serious moral problem among the Notre Dame black community. This year, Boykin and Rodgers say they hope to halt the increasing apathy among black students toward the BCAC by revitalizing the organization with new plans and ideas. The problem and cause of much frustration: the relatively small percentage of black students at Notre Dame. "It is a serious morale problem among the Notre Dame black community," said Lisa Boykin, co-leader of the campus' only black organization for black students last year, in the midst of what they saw as a serious moral problem among the Notre Dame black community.
The Observer

Sports Briefs

SMC Turkey-Trot will take place today at Angela Athletic Facility at 8:30 p.m. Races will include a 5-mile run, a 5-mile run, and a 1.12-mile walk. The half will give the same percentage of participation a trophy will receive, The Observer.

The ND / SMC ski team will hold a meeting tonight between 6:30 - 7:30 p.m. in the Lafaurine Little Theatre. Fund raising materials will be distributed and all members should attend. For more information call Tony Jordan at 283-9057. The Observer.

The ND Weight and Fitness Club will sponsor a bench press competition on Sunday, Dec. 9 at a time and location to be announced. Sign-ups are being taken at the third floor weight room of the Rockne Memorial Building, and any member of the ND/SMC community is welcome. For more information call Pat Bronwe at 283-2056. The Observer.

NVA one-on-one basketball tournament registration forms must be turned in by Wednesday to the NVA office in the ACC. The double-elimination competitions will be held Monday, Dec. 2 at 7 p.m. on the ACC Arena floor. Separate contests will be held for men under and over six feet tall and for women. The Observer.

Ski Trip deadline has been extended until 2 p.m. -1lam Saturday: 4pm -10pm Sunday. Pandora's is open 3pm -1am Saturday: 4pm -10pm Sunday. The Observer.

Observe Sports Briefs are accepted Sunday through Friday until 4 p.m. at the Observer office on the third floor of the Rockne building. Submissions should be submitted in the forms available at the office, and every brief must include the phone number of the person submitting it. The Observer.

Alumni continued from page

"In the first half we beat our­ selves," said Puetz. "We were allow­ing them to gain too much yardage. If we want to win, we had to overcome penalties and big plays on the part of Planner's offense."

"We drove on them through­ out the first half," said Milkovich. "We had many opportunities that we did not capitalize on such as the block of the field goal."

The second half belonged to the Dogs, both offensively and defensively. On their opening drive the Dogs drove down the field and scored the only two points of the half.

The main part of the drive con­sisted of Schwaner's move for Bill Kelly. The first pass covered 49 yards to set up the bigger one two plays later when Kelly was batted in a pass, span around one man, and scored the only touchdown.

The point after attempt was blocked by John Haydin making the score 6-0.

Following this impressive first drive, the Alumni defense stopped the Planner offense in just three plays with Joe Puetz picking up a key sack. Following the punt by Frank Mahler, the Alumni offense went on to get things started again only to be stopped on the 4-yard line by John Kelly and Greg Smith.

Out the next drive possession, it appeared to be a loss of yardage on the ball on the ground, but again was forced to give the ball to Alumni as when Gibbs tackled a Planner receiver short of the first-down marker on a fourth down play.

The fourth quarter was marked by more strong defense. After one first down, the Planner defense, led by Bob DiDoreti, stopped the Alumni offense forcing a punt.

The Alumni defense then rose to the occasion. On Planner's first play of the quarter a strong front lead by Matt Byz, Bill Smith, and Joe Puetz stopped the drive after only one yard. After a holding penalty put the ball on the 9-yard line, Roy burst through the line of scrimmage and chassed Bridgehammer into the end zone, making the score 13-0.

The final scoring as Planner's final drive was stymied by an interception from Gibbs. Planner ended as Alumni had posted an 80-0 win.

Roy thought that the alumni's Planner's quarterback would prevent him from getting a good idea of the offense. He said, "I don't think that I was able to get an idea of him. He's very quick. After I bought off the initial block no one picked me up and I tried to get rid of the ball, but I was there to tackle him."

Joe Milkovich, Thought that Alumni had no stand outs but the team played together which helped them to victory. He also felt that a few Planner players should recognize that they are serviceable players.

"No player really stood out for Alumni. They played as a team putting forth a 100 percent effort," said Milkovich. "As for our play, Tom Sol­ levain, Jim Kelly, John Haydin and Bob DiDoreti played extremely well. Tom Sollevain was our MVP of the team. He brought the team together the good work he did on the field the past two years."

Although the Tar Heels raced away to a triumph in their season opener, it was the Bulldogs who held the upper hand in the first 10 minutes. On Corey Game's baseline jumper at the 9:42 mark, UCA took its biggest lead at 24-16.

The UCA had relied on perimeter shooting to overcome North Carolina's height, but the Tar Heels stormed back. After being slowed in a short jumper at 6:44 to tie the score at 28, then Kenny Smith's corner jumper was a 13-point swing as North Carolina's first lead at 30-28.

UCLA led 44-38 at halftime.

Ski Trip deadline has been extended until 2 p.m. -1am Saturday: 4pm -10pm Sunday. Pandora's is open 3pm -1am Saturday: 4pm -10pm Sunday. The Observer.

The Observer Notre Dame, located on the 3rd floor of Lafayette Student Center accepts classified advertising from 9 a.m. until 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday. The Observer Notre Dame, located on the Rockne Hall, College, accepts classifieds from 12:30 p.m. until 5 p.m. Mon­ day through Friday. Deadline for new classifieds must be prepared either in person or by mail. Charge is 10 cents per five charac­ ters per day.

The Observer

Classifieds
By DENNIS CORRIGAN
Sports Writer

The Observer
Monday, November 25, 1985 — page 8

Notre Dame hockey team picks up 1st road win

By GREG STOHR
Sports Writer

The Observer
Monday, November 25, 1985 — page 8

Sports Information Dept.

SID receives acclaim

Editor's note: Today The Observer concludes its four-part series on the various offices within the Notre Dame athletic department. Part four focuses on the sports information office.)

By GREG STOHR
Sports Writer

The Observer
Monday, November 25, 1985 — page 8

Sobering Advice can save a life

Fly Home to New York with The Long Island Club

FRESHMEN & SOPHOMORES
ONLY! scholarships, grants,
student financial aid available
WRITE for Free Details
Scholarship Research Service
803 S. 34th Ave.
Hastings, Minn. 55033

FREE!
REGULAR RAX
WITH PURCHASE OF GENERAL FRIES AND MEDIUM DRINK

FRESHMEN & SOPHOMORES
ONLY! scholarships, grants,
student financial aid available
WRITE for Free Details
Scholarship Research Service
803 S. 34th Ave.
Hastings, Minn. 55033

Our famous Rax roast beef, sliced thin, piled high, and served on a sesame seed roll. Please present coupon before ordering. One coupon per order, one per customer per order. Rax is served all day long (11 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.).

FREE!
REGULAR RAX
WITH PURCHASE OF GENERAL FRIES AND MEDIUM DRINK

N.D. phone home... for less with

CLARKTELE
COMMUNICATIONS, INC.

DAYTIME RATES  EVENING RATES  NIGHTTIME RATES

714 LESS 714 LESS 714 LESS

714 CALL
DAYTIME RATES  EVENING RATES  NIGHTTIME RATES

714 CALL
DAYTIME RATES  EVENING RATES  NIGHTTIME RATES

LESS COST: Clark Telecommunication rates are 7½% below AT&T rates all the time. 7½% below daytime, evening and nighttime rates.

LESS BASILE: Because Clark bases your billing for each individual, there is no more guessing as to your roommate's calls.

LESS NOISE: Clark long-distance is clear, quality communications. No more strange echoes, funny noises, delayed, or low volumes with Clark.

LESS RUMOUR: Because Clark was chosen by the Administration of the University of Notre Dame to handle long-distance service for students, we have an on-campus representative to answer questions and respond to problems right away.

YOUR VOICE COUNTS...

Notre Dame hockey player Dave WALDHBILLIG, shown here in action Friday against Lake Forest, could not make the trip to Lake Forest for Satur- day's rematch because of injury. The Irish picked up the win, though, by outscoring the Foresters, 6-3. Dennis Corrigan has details above.

The Long Island Club

Leaves South Bend Airport
December 21 at 12:40 am
(a little after midnight ya's dummies)

Return Flight leaves N.Y.L.G.A.
January 12, 10:30 pm

Saves $195.

Transportation from South Bend Airport Included

Reservations: $ 20.00 deposit to Rm. 33 Pangborn Hall

Call 2440 for details. Deposit required by Dec. 2.
ASU hands Irish loss

By C.W. EHRRMAN
Sports Writer

For the Notre Dame volleyball team, the weekend brought the final home match of the year. The Irish went up against nationally-ranked Arizona State and lost in straight games, 15-6, 15-8, 15-5.

"By far, they were the best defensive team we've played against all year," said Notre Dame head coach Art Lambert. "But we're a young team and we've got a way to go." The Irish are young indeed.

Lambert started a lineup showcasing three sophomores and three freshmen. Juniors Mary McLaughlin and Tracy Bennington, both of whom were playing in their last home game, each made appearances off the bench.

All that is left for the 12-19 Irish this season is the Ramler Invitational in Kalamaazoo, Mich., over Thanksgiving weekend.

That four-team tournament will feature the likes of No. 5 UCLA and No. 15 Western Michigan as well as the University of Houston.

Happy Thanksgiving

CAMPUS VIEW
Renting Now For Fall '86

CALL 272-1441

BANKING...

ON CAMPUS AT SAINT MARY'S

1st Source Bank's office, located at Saint Mary's College in Haggar College Center, offers free checking to Saint Mary's and Notre Dame students and faculty.

In addition, this office brings you the convenience of 24 hr. banking locations to serve you!

Banking Hours - Monday through Friday
Mon. thru Thurs. - 11:30 a.m. - 3:30 p.m. Friday - 11:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m.

Join Michiana's 1st Team for unsurpassed banking service!

Irish continued from page 12

Messes continued from page 12

a lack of execution at critical times that did them in. Beuerlein was interrupted twice in the final two minutes, and John Carney had two field goal tries blocked by LSU's Henry Thomas and missed a third after it was tipped at the line of scrimmage.

"It was especially tough on the seniors, but the way it happened it was tough on everybody," said Beuerlein. "We played well, but it just wasn't meant to be. It makes you wonder what it takes to win. It's frustrating."

In addition to being the last home appearance for the 24 Irish seniors, this game also was most likely the last Notre Dame Stadium contest for Irish head coach Gerry Faust. But afterwards Faust, who is in the final year of a five year contract and is not expected to be offered an extension, tried to downplay his situation.

"I never even thought of that," Faust replied in the post-game press conference when asked if he considered this to be his last game at Notre Dame Stadium. Everyone else apparently did think of it, however.

Faust said he had no idea as to whether or not he would be back to coach the team next season. And announcers on that subject should be forthcoming next week. But Faust's post-game philosophizing in the past tense about his tenure at Notre Dame, a few eyebrows.

"I've gotten a lot of breaks in life," Faust said. "I'm healthy. I've got a healthy family. I've represented a great university. I'm just happy to have had that opportunity.

Faust's five-year record now stands at 30-5-1. He has lost more games than any coach in Notre Dame history.

As for the game, it looked as if it might be a long day for the LSU defense when Notre Dame scored on its opening drive on an 8-yard end-around run by Brown. But as things turned out, those were the only points the Irish would get. "It wasn't a question of putting the ball in the end zone," said Beuerlein. "It was just a question of putting the ball in the end zone." The Irish got one last gasp when Faust's post game philosophizing in the past tense about his tenure at Notre Dame, a few eyebrows.

(Continued from page 12)

"We had a couple of breakdowns in the line," explained holder Hal Von. "The loss of Underwood and Shawn Heffner were key losses." While Thomas was able to penetrate the line and get at the blocked kicks, credit also should be given to the Tiger defensive line which created the openings for the junior noseguard to keep the Irish score at seven.

While the Irish saw late drivers fall after the Tigers established a 10-lead, the kicking game proved to be a crucial ingredient. Of the seven field goal attempts for the day, only one was successful, an unwarranted for the Irish, that was the difference in the match.

BIRD

THE EARLY BIRD

PREPARE FOR

CLASSING STARTING SOON

Source Bank Member F.D.I.C.

The Early Bird...
Rivers

continued from page 12

("off"-15 from the floor, 6-6-6 from the line.) The sophomore guard with the flashy moves even was moved to attempt a few new moves.

"You have to try some new things at some point in time," he said. "This was a good game to do that. As the season goes on, you're going to see more and more things.

"We really didn't play well tonight, though, and I think that was due to a lack of mental concentration. Mentally, we didn't really prepare for it, I suppose because they didn't come in here with that big of a reputation."

St. Joseph's, 0-1, was paced by Stan Kappers' 18 points and 13 rebounds. Mark Wingard added 13 points for the Pumas.

With the game well in hand, Phelps had no opportunity to clear the bench and give his reserves plenty of playing time. Walk-on Steve Nicgorski even managed to get in for the game's final minute, taking the opportunity to register the first field goal of his college career.

The Irish take the week off now, not playing again until Saturday when Butler visits the ACC for a 1 p.m. start. The game is not included in the student season ticket package because it is over 2000 miles away.

SMC basketball team loses 58-57, on last-second Kalamazoo prayer

By JILL SARBENOFF

Sports Writer

The Saint Mary's basketball team lost a heartbreaker Saturday night at Kalamazoo, 58-57, on a last-second desperation shot from 25 feet out.

The Belles completed 22 percent of their shots from the floor for a total of 56 points. They suffered at the foul line, however, completing only one of three free throw attempts, for one point. Kalamazoo, on the other hand, went 1-2-3-5 in the team's free throw line, completing only one of their three free throw attempts, for one point.

Even though the team lost this first game of the season, St. Mary's head coach Marvin Wood was still pleased with the Belles performance.

"I really felt we played pretty well most of the time and our quickness created some difficulties for them."

"Offensively, the Belles made relatively few mistakes and had only 19 turnovers. Leading scorer for St. Mary's was senior forward Beth Krieger out of Columbus, Ohio with 20 points. Sophomore Tammy Radke from Saint Joseph, Mich., was next with a total of 12 points. In addition, Krieger helped pace the defense with her eight rebounds. Freshman center Jennifer Hart out of Oak Park, Ill., had seven rebounds, while sophomore center-forward, Stephanie Duke, had six. The Belles also had a total of 22 assists and 16 steals in the game.

According to Woods, there are three goals he would like to see the team accomplish this year.

"First of all, we'd like to win a tournament."

"Also, we'd like to win a tournament," continued Woods. "Thirdly, we'd like to get in the NAIA playoffs. Getting in means being one of the better teams in the area."

The Belles, nevertheless, will be tested a number of times in the upcoming games on the schedule. Among their opponents are Valparaiso University, which is in Division I, St. Joe's College, a Division II member, and Aquinas College.

That's how Kalamazoo prepared for this game and to average this weekend's loss. "We are going to go over things (Huntington) did last year," said Woods. "Then we will prepare for what they did to us last year and, hopefully, we will be ready for them."

---

What Should Catholics Know About...

PRAYER, FR. JOHN DUNE

SACRAMENTS, FE. ANDREW LEVEILLE

SCRIPTURE and TRADITION, FR. DAN JENSEN

MORALITY and CHURCH, FR. JOHN MALLOT

CHURCH, FR. TOM O'NEILL

The Catholic Faith Program will present these speakers and topics Sundays (January 19 - February 16 in Eannes - St. Francis Chapel and again on THURSDAYS (January 23 - February 15 in Eannes - St. Francis Chapel) - 7:30 P.M.

Pre-registration Necessary... deadline December 9th

Contact: OFFICE OF UNIVERSITY MINISTRY Newman Library - 239-4555

SKILFUL PIZZA

12" Medium PIZZA (any topping) with extra cheese

PLUS

Garlic Bread with cheese

$5.25

(plus delivery and tax)

Godfather's Pizza

52909 U.S. 31 North

Delivery available only in South Bend area.

Good for Sundays and Mondays only with coupon
It could have been a perfect ending in a not-so-perfect season, but it turned out to be another one of those disappointing finishes that have become all too familiar to Notre Dame fans this year.

It wasn't until the final minute and a-half, when Steve Beuerlein's pass bounced off Tim Brown's chest and into the hands of Tiger strong safety Steve Rehage, that LSU could breathe a sigh of relief. The 1-7th-ranked Tigers had to stave off two Notre Dame comeback drives in the final three minutes to preserve their 10-7 victory before a capacity crowd of 59,075 in Notre Dame Stadium.

The Irish lost at home for the first time in six games this season, and saw their record drop to 5-5. LSU went to 7-1-1 with the victory.

Lost in the frustration of the loss was another fine effort by Allen Pinkett. The senior tailback picked up 103 yards on 30 carries, the 21st time in his career that he had to stave off two Notre Dame comeback drives in the final three minutes to preserve their 10-7 victory before a capacity crowd of 59,075 in Notre Dame Stadium.

The Irish lost at home for the first time in six games this season, and saw their record drop to 5-5. LSU went to 7-1-1 with the victory.

It wasn't until the final minute and a-half, when Steve Beuerlein's pass bounced off Tim Brown's chest and into the hands of Tiger strong safety Steve Rehage, that LSU could breathe a sigh of relief. The 1-7th-ranked Tigers had to stave off two Notre Dame comeback drives in the final three minutes to preserve their 10-7 victory before a capacity crowd of 59,075 in Notre Dame Stadium.

The Irish lost at home for the first time in six games this season, and saw their record drop to 5-5. LSU went to 7-1-1 with the victory.

Lost in the frustration of the loss was another fine effort by Allen Pinkett. The senior tailback picked up 103 yards on 30 carries, the 21st time in his career that he had

The bottom line is the success of the team and winning the football game," Pinkett said when asked about his accomplishments. "Personal achievements don't mean that much to me in a loss. If we lose I'll look back

But as has been typical of many of Notre Dame's games this season, the Irish were not really lacking in the quality of their performance Saturday. Rather it was

The quality of their performance Saturday. Rather it was