Reagan announces success in air raids as Libya retaliates
Associated Press
WASHINGTON - The White House proclaimed U.S. air raids on Libya a success that "struck a blow against terrorism," but Libya apparently retaliated by aiming a hit-and-run strike at a remote U.S. Coast Guard station in the Mediterranean yesterday.

President Reagan said "the United States won but a single engagement in the long battle against terrorism" and pledged to continue with more strikes if necessary.

Diplomats here estimated 100 people were killed in the attack on Tripoli, killing Libyan leader Col. Muammar Khadafy's 15-month-old adopted daughters Hana Two of Khadafy's sons, aged 3 and 45, were injured in the raid.

But Libyan officials said Khadafy himself was not hurt.

"We would prefer not to have to repeat the events of last night," Reagan told a group of business executives. But he said that would be up to Khadafy, whom he labeled an archterrorist.

"What is required is for Libya to end its pursuit of terror for political goals," said Reagan. "The choice is theirs."

President Reagan's office, Canadian Prime Minister Brian Mulroney said Monday that at least two missiles were fired from an unidentified ship or place at the long-range navigation station on the Italian island north of the Libyan coast.

The Libyan news agency JANA transmitted these photographs of a U.S. jet downed over Tripoli in the attack, while news agencies released footage of a building in Tripoli Tuesday. JANA did not clarify whether the victim was alive or dead.

Foreign reaction mixed on attack
Associated Press
At least one U.S. ally said Monday it was told in advance about the American air attack on Libyan targets, but most foreign governments did not react immediately to news of the strike.

In a statement released by his office, Canadian Prime Minister Mulroney said his government "has been fully consulted by the United States all along and was notified in advance of its mission with respect to Libya."

"We accept President Reagan's statement that Libya was involved in the perpetration of terrorist attacks," Mulroney said.

It was past midnight Monday in Europe when the White House announced the bombing raids at British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's office in London, press officer Maury Horne said. "Until I get full details I shall not be able to comment. I don't think if we will have any comment until tomorrow morning," Opposition leaders, however, assailed the decision.

Elsewhere in Europe, anti-American protesters demonstrated outside U.S. diplomatic missions in West Germany, Greece, Austria and Cyprus.

Soviet cancels diplomatic meeting as protest of U.S. 'bandidt action'
Associated Press
MOSCOW - The Soviet Union yesterday called off a planned meeting between U.S. Secretary of State George Shultz and Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze because of the U.S. bombing raids on Libya, according to a government statement carried by the official Soviet news agency Tass.

The statement announcing the Soviet decision demanded an immediate halt to the United States' attacks on Libya, a sovereign state and a member of the United Nations organization, and demands an immediate end to it. Otherwise, more far-reaching conclusions will have to be drawn in the Soviet Union," according to the statement.

The White House called the Soviet decision "a mistake."

"The Soviet decision shows where they stand on the important issue of international terrorism. It also says something about their commitment to work constructively on issues on the U.S.-Soviet agenda, including arms reductions and regional cities," said presidential spokesman Larry Speakes.

U.S. diplomat wounded in surprise attack in Sudan
Associated Press
WASHINGTON - An American employee at the U.S. embassy in Sudan was shot and seriously wounded yesterday in Khartoum, the State Department said.

A State Department spokesman said U.S. officials do not know who was responsible for the assault, and no group has claimed responsibility. However, the incident followed a series of anti-American incidents in the U.S. bombing of neighboring Libya.

The White House said it had few details about the attack, but spokesman Dan Petrosky said President Reagan had been told of the shooting.

State Department spokeswoman Anu-stockman said she would not identify the victim. She initially identified him by name, Deputy State Department spokeswoman, Diane Kelly later described him as a lower-ranking embassy employee who was not in a policymaking position.

The British Broadcasting Corp. reported that the victim was a technician, Kelly would not confirm that, however.

Stockman said he was shot in the head by unknown assailants and has been hospitalized in serious condition.

Robert Bruce, another State Department spokesman, said the American was leaving the embassy in his car when another car drove up beside him and shots were fired.

Bruce, who works on the depart-ment's Africa desk, said the attack took place in the afternoon or early evening, Eastern Standard Time.

Earlier yesterday about 200 demonstrators shouting "Down, down U.S.A.", marched through In Brief

Robert O'Brien has been honored for his 34 years as director of the Notre Dame Bands by a resolution authored by Michael Madigan, speaker of the Illinois House of Representatives. The resolution proclaimed April 2 as Robert O'Brien Day in Illinois. O'Brien, a native of Breese, Ill, has announced his retirement at the end of this academic year. As director, he conducted the concert band in recent performances in Illinois on the way to and from a tour of southern states. - The Observer

Of Interest

Senior Month activities advance registration will take place today and tomorrow from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. at the LaFortune Information Desk - The Observer

Co-Ed Living Abroad will be the subject of Radio Free Notre Dame tonight on WYFAM from 11 p.m. to 1 a.m. WYFAM Station Manager Sheila McDaniel will host studio guests and take questions and comments at 259-6400.

An Tostal Canoe Race signups for two-member teams are now being taken at 285-5200. The race is limited to the first 40 teams that sign up - The Observer

Mike Sswicke and Don Montanaro, student body president and vice president respectively, will be the guests on WYFAM's Campus Perspectives tonight from 10 to 11. Lyne Strand will interview them on their presidential campaign and their future plans for student government. Calls from listeners will be taken at 259-6400 - The Observer

"Women and the Word: The Gender of God in the New Testament and the Spirituality of Women" will be the topic of Saint Mary's second annual Madera Lecture tonight at 7:30 in O'Traughin Auditorium. Sandra Schmidt, North American professor of New Testament Studies, Jesus School of Theology/Graduate Theological Union, Berkeley, California, will deliver the lecture which is open to the public and is free of charge. - The Observer

"Suing the CPA for Fun and Profit" will be the topic of a lecture by Michael Garret, CPA of Cooper's and Lybrand, New York, tonight at 7 in Room 127 of Newswald Science Hall. The meeting is sponsored by the Beta Alpha Psi - The Observer

"Politics and Society in Contemporary Latin American Theater" will be discussed by Carlos Miguel Suarez Radillo, author and critic, today at 4 p.m. in Room 122 of the Law School. The lecture is sponsored by the Helen Kellogg Institute - The Observer

"Shoa - A Polish Perspective." a critique on the movie "Schoa," will be held tonight at 7:30 in St. Adalbert's Convent, Grace Street. The discussion, sponsored by the Polish American Congress of South Bend, will feature Jan Marcinkowski, national vice president of the Polish American Congress, and Dr. Wojciech Wieczorek, journalist and film critic. - The Observer

The 1986 College of Science Lectureship in Biology will be held today, tomorrow, and Friday at 4 p.m. in the Grace Lindley Conservatory. Dr. Bernard Moss will discuss "Biology of Poisons" today, "Regulation of Vaccinia Virus Genes" tomorrow, and "Recombinant Viruses as Live Vaccines" Friday. - The Observer

Weather

More snow is not expected. Mostly cloudy today with highs in the low 50s. Partly cloudy and cool tonight with lows in the upper 40s. Mostly sunny and warmer Thursday with highs in the low 60s. - AP

Americans must try to understand European reaction to U.S. air raid

This sure isn't the '60s. The United States attacks Libya in an overnight bombing raid, and people are literally chattering. A banner hanging outside of Hammer Hall reads United States - 2. Libya: 0. The nation less its collective frustrations. Reagan is still a god, and Americans are wondering why the rest of the world - specifically our European allies - aren't exactly rejoicing with us in our victory.

What's the matter? Don't they want to stop terrorism, too? Terrorist acts are taking place directly on European soil, not why have none of our European allies, except for Great Britain, come out publicly in support of our actions?

One answer is that Europeans in general are afraid - frightened as much by the United States as they are by the Soviet Union. As a civilization whose power is in decline, Europe has been caught in an uneasy bind between the two superpowers, both geographically and ideologically.

Europeans must exist on the same continent as the Soviet Union; therefore, the threat of destruction to their homes and countries looms overhead, contributing to a more widespread policy of appeasement toward Russia than we have in the U.S.

They fear any aggravation which might bring the powers of both World Wars which were fought on European soil, back down on them again. Directly attacking the Soviet-supported Libya, they most likely think, can only increase their dependence in the world of affairs.

On the other hand, western Europe has ideological and historical ties to the U.S, which bind them to our national tenets of freedom and democracy. But they feel that they have no control in U.S. policy affairs, which contributes to their sense of helplessness. European destiny, many of them feel, is being guided by the insensitive, nationalistic hand of American foreign policy.

The gulf between the American and the European Weltanschauung widens.

Who's right? Should America have retaliated or should we have refrained from escalating the violence? Neither side - American or European - fully understands how passionately the other feels about the subject.

Last year when I was studying in Austria through Notre Dame's Innsbruck program, Europeans constantly challenged my beliefs as an American. Unfortunately, I probably sounded more like an ideologue than any "brain-washed" Russian, because my German was only on an approximately second-grade level, and my German was only on an approximately second-grade level. It remains for the historians to look back and judge the prudence of America's action against Libya. In the meantime, a more subtle approach toward the complexities of national psychology might prove fruitful.
Make-a-Wish
Senior Heather O'Shea, left, green Michelle, a spinal cancer patient sponsored by Notre Dame in the Make-a-Wish foundation program, at the Michiana Airport last night. The Foundation, which grants the wishes of terminally-ill children, financed a trip for Michelle and her family to Disney World. Also in attendance to welcome Michelle were Student Body President Mike Swidt and approximately 10 other Notre Dame students involved in the project.

Congress votes against Contra aid

WASHINGTON - President Reagan lost a key battle over aid to Nicaragua's Contra rebels yesterday as the House rebuffed a Republican bid to separate the aid proposal from a spending bill Reagan might choose to veto.

The House in a near-party line 223-202 vote thwarted an effort by furtive Republican leaders to substitute new ground rules for votes imposed by the House Democratic leadership.

The rules drafted by the Democratic majority on the House rules committee were then approved in a narrow 212-208 vote.

Republican leaders said the decision to tie the Contra aid plan to an unrelated $1.7 billion supplemental appropriations bill was a blatant political move designed to kill the aid program and leave the rebels with no U.S. support of any kind.

But Democrats said the GOP should be grateful for a second chance of obtaining aid for the anti-Sandinista guerrillas in light of their 222-210 defeat on the issue last month.

Only one Republican joined 220 Democrats to oppose Reagan's position. Twenty-seven Democrats and 175 Republicans supported the White House.

Earlier, President Reagan implored the House to approve $100 million for the rebels in Nicaragua, saying Libyan leader Muammar Khadafy has sent weapons and advisers there to "bring his war home to the United States."

As the House opened consideration of Reagan's request for military and other assistance for the rebels, the president told a group of business executives that Khadafy "has bragged that he is helping the Nicaraguans because they fight America on its own ground."

Addressing the American Business Council on the day after U.S. warplanes bombarded a host of targets in Libya in reprisal for terrorist acts against American citizens, Reagan said: "I would remind the House voting this week that this arch-terrorist has sent $400 million and an arsenal of weapons and advisers into Nicaragua to bring his war home to the United States."

"We do not underestimate the brutality of this evil man," Reagan said. "Col. Khadafy ought not to be deterred either the capacity or the legitimate anger of a free people."

The parliamentary jockeying came as lawmakers began to consider anew Reagan's Contra aid program, which was defeated in the House 222-210 last month. The bill subsequently expired at the end of March by a narrow margin, but with several conditions on how and when the money could be spent to the counterrevolutionaries.

As the House opened its session, a man stood in the public galleries and yelled at Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., who was presiding.

"The blood of the Contra will be on your conscience if you don't give them the money," he shouted, addressing the speaker by his nickname.

As police ejected the man from the chamber he shouted, "God bless America." He was not immediately identified.

In advance of the House debate, presidential spokesman Larry Speakes said that if the present rules arrangement prevailed, "we're going to be given the shaft as far as an opportunity for the American people to have a vote" on the sole question of whether to approve military and other assistance for the rebels opposing the Sandinista government in Managua.

As the Contra aid plan appeared on the House agenda for the second time in less than a month, House Minority Leader Robert Michel, R-Ill., assailed as an "abominations" the effort by Democrats to link the aid bill to a $1.7 billion supplemental appropriation bill.

Republican Whip Trent Lott of Mississippi said he would offer a "fairer substitute rule that would prevent the Contra aid provisions from being incorporated in (the spending bill) and would guarantee separate votes on the various Contra aid alternatives."

The Observer
Wednesday, April 16, 1986 - page 3

HPC discusses aspects of council organization

By CHRIS SKORCZ
Senior Staff Reporter

The Hall Presidents' Council, comprised largely of newly-elected presidents, met last night at Fisher Hall for what turned out to be a brief, organizational meeting.

The evening's lone item of business involved the amendment of current HPC, by-laws under which the HPC is run thanks by a chairperson and an executive coordinator. By a 10-3 vote, far exceeding the necessary two-thirds majority, the Council voted to allow for co-chairpersons.

The passed amendment reads as follows: "The Co-chairpersons of the HPC may be elected in place of a chairperson and executive coordinator. The established duties of the chairperson and executive coordinator will be divided between the two co-chairpersons as they see fit."

The co-chairpersons will retain one vote between them, according to the amended by-laws.

Following the passage of the amendment, the Co-chairpersons, Joanie Cahill and Sheila O'Connor, railed for volunteers from the council to represent the HPC on the Student Senate. Three hall presidents will be chosen. Cahill and O'Connor also requested volunteers from the council to compete the HPC Bow-der Award Committee for which five hall presidents will be chosen.

Each month the Sowder Award Committee selects a hall for its outstanding spirit or community service.

The HPC representatives for the council will be chosen later in the week, according to O'Connor.

Also present at the meeting were Bruce Lohman and Maria Conron. Lohman, a member of the student committee designed to aid in the selection of the next University president, stated concerns over is being completed by hall presidents conducting the criteria for the new president.

Conron, chairman of the Judicial Committee, requested that hall presidents, particularly those on the South Quad, keep a representative to serve on the Undergraduate Student Council. This council represents students facing disciplinary action.

HPC discusses aspects of council organization

By CHRIS SKORCZ
Senior Staff Reporter

The Hall Presidents' Council, comprised largely of newly-elected presidents, met last night at Fisher Hall for what turned out to be a brief, organizational meeting.

The evening's lone item of business involved the amendment of current HPC, by-laws under which the HPC is run thanks by a chairperson and an executive coordinator. By a 10-3 vote, far exceeding the necessary two-thirds majority, the Council voted to allow for co-chairpersons.

The passed amendment reads as follows: "The Co-chairpersons of the HPC may be elected in place of a chairperson and executive coordinator. The established duties of the chairperson and executive coordinator will be divided between the two co-chairpersons as they see fit."

The co-chairpersons will retain one vote between them, according to the amended by-laws.

Following the passage of the amendment, the Co-chairpersons, Joanie Cahill and Sheila O'Connor, railed for volunteers from the council to represent the HPC on the Student Senate. Three hall presidents will be chosen. Cahill and O'Connor also requested volunteers from the council to compete the HPC Bow-der Award Committee for which five hall presidents will be chosen.

Each month the Sowder Award Committee selects a hall for its outstanding spirit or community service.

The HPC representatives for the council will be chosen later in the week, according to O'Connor.

Also present at the meeting were Bruce Lohman and Maria Conron. Lohman, a member of the student committee designed to aid in the selection of the next University president, stated concerns over is being completed by hall presidents conducting the criteria for the new president.

Conron, chairman of the Judicial Committee, requested that hall presidents, particularly those on the South Quad, keep a representative to serve on the Undergraduate Student Council. This council represents students facing disciplinary action.

Heller suggested that there be greater communication between the hall and student body officials.

Heller also expressed student government's desire to aid the adm inistration in recruiting and accommodating minority students at Saint Mary's. She said tile board is waiting to talk with the administration before they take action.

The board also highlighted some of next year's specific plans, including Safety Week, to be held Sept. 8-12, and defense courses and a heightened awareness of date rape.

In other business, Judicial Commissioner Sandy Cerimele anounced that hall elections will be held from 4 to 7 p.m. on April 25 in Hugger College Center.

Cerimele said that a "Meet The Candidates" night will be held April 21 in the Hugger College Center parlor.

Pick Up Forms In Student Activities Office
1st Floor Lafayette
DEADLINE IS APRIL 18, 1986

ALL COURTS/ORGANIZATIONS
FOOTBALL CONCESSION STANDS

CLUB REGISTRATION

All clubs and organizations must now register with the Student Activities Office for the 1986-87 academic year.

Forms are now available for:
1. Registration
2. Fundraiser
3. Football Concession Stands

Deadline is April 18, 1986

APPLIED FOR PLACARD
DEADLINE IS APRIL 18, 1986

OFFICIAL newfoundland POSTAGE FEE

M.C. LOU HOLTZ

+ all proceeds go to

World Hunger

May 2, 8-10pm, ACC

FREE!

REGULAR RAI

WITH PURCHASE OF REGULAR FRIDAY AND MEDIUM DRINK

Our famous Rais must beelt, sliced

bun, plain, high, and served on a

Hamburger or hot dog.

Do not eat before ordering.

Due to labor shortage, the line may be slow. After your purchase, please wait in line to pay at the cashier.

!ST MARY'S UNIVERSITY

SUBMITTED TO THE POST OFFICE AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER

NOTRE DAME * SAINT MARY'S CHARITY BALL

S.A. Family Charitable Trusts

M.C. LOU HOLTZ
5770 Family Charitable Trusts

M.C. LOU HOLTZ

+ all proceeds go to

World Hunger

May 2, 8-10pm, ACC

FREE!

REGULAR RAI

WITH PURCHASE OF REGULAR FRIDAY AND MEDIUM DRINK

Our famous Rais must beelt, sliced

bun, plain, high, and served on a

Hamburger or hot dog.

Do not eat before ordering.

Due to labor shortage, the line may be slow. After your purchase, please wait in line to pay at the cashier.

!ST MARY'S UNIVERSITY

SUBMITTED TO THE POST OFFICE AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER

NOTRE DAME * SAINT MARY'S CHARITY BALL

S.A. Family Charitable Trusts

M.C. LOU HOLTZ
5770 Family Charitable Trusts

M.C. LOU HOLTZ

+ all proceeds go to

World Hunger

May 2, 8-10pm, ACC
Misfired Libyan missiles caused damage to cities, U.S. pilots say

Associated Press

Aboard the U.S.S. America, Mediterranean Sea - Libyan forces may have inflicted damage on their own citizens with badly aimed anti-aircraft missiles, according to American military and diplomatic officials who were on a full alert, and Speakes said yesterday that he was surprised Libyan planes were not bombing raid. He said when they're traveling."

"We don't like to see Americans blown away in an airplane, or an Army sergeant blown away in a discotheque in Berlin," Kelso said, referring to recent terrorism. "We'll certainly take pride in sending a signal that our country is not going to live with indiscriminate killing of our citizens."

The nine airmen who spoke with reporters also expressed pride. One pilot, whose identity was withheld, said, "I think we all feel it was done in reaction to innocent people getting killed in Germany. It's a good response to what Khadafi is doing around the world."

Life returned to near-normal aboard the ship just hours after the attack. The only unusual precaution noted was extra surveillance flights to make sure no Libyan attack was in the offing.

Libya

continued from page 1

Speakes also confirmed that a truck laden with rocket launchers had exploded outside Yokota U.S. Air Force Base in Japan at 6:40 a.m. yesterday but said it was too early to say whether the incident was the result of a terrorist attack. He said there were no injuries.

American military and diplomatic installations throughout the world are on full alert, and Speakes said Americans have been constantly advised "to be prudent and cautious when they're traveling."

An estimated 400 Yankees are still believed to be in Libya, despite President Reagan's previous order that they depart by Feb. 1. Approximately 15,000 Italian and tens of thousands of other Europeans are on full alert, and Speakes said when they're traveling.

"We don't like to see Americans blown away in an airplane, or an Army sergeant blown away in a discotheque in Berlin," Kelso said, referring to recent terrorism. "We'll certainly take pride in sending a signal that our country is not going to live with indiscriminate killing of our citizens."

The nine airmen who spoke with reporters also expressed pride. One pilot, whose identity was withheld, said, "I think we all feel it was done in reaction to innocent people getting killed in Germany. It's a good response to what Khadafi is doing around the world."

Life returned to near-normal aboard the ship just hours after the attack. The only unusual precaution noted was extra surveillance flights to make sure no Libyan attack was in the offing.

Libya

continued from page 1

Speakes also confirmed that a truck laden with rocket launchers had exploded outside Yokota U.S. Air Force Base in Japan at 6:40 a.m. yesterday but said it was too early to say whether the incident was the result of a terrorist attack. He said there were no injuries.

American military and diplomatic installations throughout the world are on full alert, and Speakes said Americans have been constantly advised "to be prudent and cautious when they're traveling."

An estimated 400 Yankees are still believed to be in Libya, despite President Reagan's previous order that they depart by Feb. 1. Approximately 15,000 Italian and tens of thousands of other Europeans are on full alert, and Speakes said when they're traveling.

"We don't like to see Americans blown away in an airplane, or an Army sergeant blown away in a discotheque in Berlin," Kelso said, referring to recent terrorism. "We'll certainly take pride in sending a signal that our country is not going to live with indiscriminate killing of our citizens."

The nine airmen who spoke with reporters also expressed pride. One pilot, whose identity was withheld, said, "I think we all feel it was done in reaction to innocent people getting killed in Germany. It's a good response to what Khadafi is doing around the world."

Life returned to near-normal aboard the ship just hours after the attack. The only unusual precaution noted was extra surveillance flights to make sure no Libyan attack was in the offing.

Sudan

continued from page 1

Khartoum's streets to protest the U.S. air raids on Libya.

Marchers, who included some Libyans, also shouted for the government to close the U.S. embassy in Khartoum. They filed past the residence of U.S. Ambassador Hume Horan, with a truck filled with riot police trailing behind, officials said.

Correction:

Because of an editing error, the incorrect number of requests for a seminar in the Of Interest column in yesterday's Observer. The seminar, to be conducted by two officials of the Bennett's Information Group, will begin at 1 p.m. today in the Center for Continuing Education auditorium.

Date: Thursday, April 17, 1986

Time: 12:pm, faculty seminar

Place: Hayes-Healy auditorium rm122

University of Notre Dame College of Business Administration

The O'Neil Lecture Series

SPEAKER: Dr. Koji Taira, Professor of Economics, Institute of Labor and Industrial relations, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

Hope you enjoy these flowers!

Flowers Say It Best!

Erdahl's
Flowers
& Gifts

In Roseland
Crosses from Wendy's

272-NDND

WSND-FM

88.9

WSND-FM

88.9

Notre Dame Public Radio begins training announcers soon for the '86-'87 school year. If you know classical or jazz music, or would like to begin learning, then make it a point to stop by the WSND studios in the O'Shaughnessy tower and complete an application.

Do not miss this opportunity to involve yourself with the great people and excellent programming of WSND-FM, Public Radio for Michiana.

SUMMER STORAGE SPACE

Special discount for N/D/SMC students

CALL 289-0339 to RESERVE SPACE

SELF LOCK STORAGE OF MCKINLEY

816 East Mc Kinley
Mishawaka

Security Patrol Checks

Professor Taira was formerly a member of the faculty at the University of Washington and Stanford University receiving his Ph.D. from the latter. He has also worked as a Member of the Economic Division of the International Labor Office.
American protesters mark day of aid vote

Associated Press

Demonstrators clocked to federal buildings, congressional offices and national monuments in at least 18 cities Monday to protest U.S. aid to Nicaraguan rebels, and more than 180 people were arrested.

The rallies by military veterans and church and anti-war groups were held on the eve of consideration by the House of Representatives on President Reagan's $100 million aid package.

"The position that a nation of less than 3 million people of Nicaragua could possibly be a threat to the United States is ludicrous - with or without aid from the Soviet Union, or Cuba, or both," Bill Corrigan, a 63-year-old Army veteran said at a Cleveland rally at a monument to Civil War veterans.

The House yesterday took up Reagan's plan to give $70 million in military and $30 million in non-lethal, humanitarian aid to the U.S.-backed Contra rebels fighting Nicaragua's leftist Sandinista government.

Last month, the House voted 222-210 against Reagan's plan, but the Republican-controlled Senate later gave 55-45 approval of a modified version of the package, sending it back to the House.

New York City police arrested 127 people for blocking an entrance to the major federal office building in Manhattan, and two Boston protesters were arrested on charges of trespassing at the Central Intelligence Agency office.

In Washington, D.C., police arrested 57 people who refused to end a vigil near a monument to slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr. in the Capitol Rotunda. Protesters in Atlanta greeted public health professionals arriving at the national Centers for Disease Control for a conference on violence, urging them to wear armbands to protest U.S. military involvement in Central America.

About 50 anti-Contra demonstrators gathered outside City Hall in Tampa, Fla., where former Costa Rican Vice President Mario Rojas was speaking in favor of the aid package, and an appearance by a Contra official in Des Moines, Iowa, drew about a dozen protesters from a church group.

In Boston, hundreds of demonstrators jammed offices of the Internal Revenue Service, forcing taxpayers to file through a police barricade to get inside, then marched through downtown to the CIA office.

About 500 people, part of a coalition called Pledge of Resistance, gathered at the federal building in Chicago, some of them covered with red paint to symbolize blood. The Rev. Donald Schupp of Solid Rock Baptist Church, who came dressed as the Angel of Death, said the protesters were risking arrest because "we are getting into another Vietnam." None was arrested.
not just for musicians

ANDY KINNEY
features writer

"Catholics, an Unfashionable, Unapproved, Illustrated Guide" takes a comical yet mean look at what hopefully is not a typical Catholic upbringing.

First impressions are formed very quickly, and sometimes it takes a second, third or fourth look before we can even get to the starting block with someone. In those few seconds when observers would classify you as type A, B or C, it's important to pick them with a look that will make you absolutely unforgettable. This season's fashion line offers a wide variety of options to do exactly that.

Women's fashion, as of late, has plainly been influenced by our fave feminine fatale, Madonna. For those of you who might pale at the thought or perhaps turn a delicate shade of green, maintain control for a moment. If you look carefully, you will find that the current style is not Madonna per se. It is more a subtle sense of her style that pervades this season's fashions, lending a feeling of femininity without clichés to the hottest looks available. The starting point is the body.
Dreams can come true even for 'normal' people

Fasting a way to test strength of convictions

A friend of mine confronted me with a question this past weekend: How is that you are able to fast and do a total fast living off prayer, and I am still searching for an answer. Can you please help with your words of wisdom?

While you are at it, there's another question on which I seek insights. When we are confronted with a problem, do we begin by understanding the situation and then take a stand on how we wish to change it? Or do we take a position and then try to build an argument to support our opinion?

So, I wonder how is that you are able to fast and do a total fast living off prayer, and I am still searching for an answer. Can you please help with your words of wisdom?

Mike Wilkins
here, there and back

In the four and a half years I have been here, I have taken several trips to Chicago, visiting magnificent Chicago Stadium or paying homage to the Wrigley Field shrine. Last summer I spent a good deal of my time driving into Chicago twice a day. I even came this close to going to school there. But none of my trips to Wrigley Field was more enjoyable than my most recent one.

Two weeks ago I was lucky enough to see another dream in Chicago. It wasn't Ryne Sandberg or Dennis Savard or one of my other modern heroes taking their team to glory. Instead it was a neighbor of mine, dancing her way through a dream of her own. I went to see, of all things, the ballet. A neighbor of mine from home had just made the Joffrey Ballet and was performing at Chicago's beautiful Civic Opera House. I had never been to a ballet before, but this time I saw this as the perfect opportunity to see my friend dance, visit my favorite city and pick up a little culture all at the same time.

I must admit, I was more than a little skeptical about my desire to dance for something more than entertainment. But we all know that life is a series of choices and that sometimes we must choose the unexpected. So I went to see the ballet.

As I watched my friend dance, I thought of the long hours she had put in and the frustration and pain that accompanied the development of a God-given and. I thought about a friend who graduated from Notre Dame last year who is trying hard to become a writer and the patience and dedication she has to have to stick with it. In some small way I was envious of these two friends, each with a dream within their grasp while our own dreams elude the rest of us. But in a much bigger way I was happy for them, happy to the point of sharing in the pride they must feel each day, their dreams continue to become reality. After the performance, my mom and I took my newest hero out for a drink. It was kind of how I imagine it would be to take Ryne Sandberg out for a beer after the game. Here we were, sitting at a table in a bar in Chicago talking to someone who hundreds of people had just paid good money to see perform. I listened intently to every word she said stories of where she had been and where she was going next. I asked her questions about living in New York City and about the pressures of dancing at this new level. She was very good to me, answering every question, the little girl of a dream.

But as she sat there behind a big bowl of salad and a mug of beer, she still the little girl across the street. Her pulled back hair, her strange. But I've always gone to Chicago champaine in their velvety chairs seemed rat­

I must admit, I was more than a little skeptical about my desire to dance for something more than entertainment. But we all know that life is a series of choices and that sometimes we must choose the unexpected. So I went to see the ballet.

As I watched my friend dance, I thought of the long hours she had put in and the frustration and pain that accompanied the development of a God-given and. I thought about a friend who graduated from Notre Dame last year who is trying hard to become a writer and the patience and dedication she has to have to stick with it. In some small way I was envious of these two friends, each with a dream within their grasp while our own dreams elude the rest of us. But in a much bigger way I was happy for them, happy to the point of sharing in the pride they must feel each day, their dreams continue to become reality. After the performance, my mom and I took my newest hero out for a drink. It was kind of how I imagine it would be to take Ryne Sandberg out for a beer after the game. Here we were, sitting at a table in a bar in Chicago talking to someone who hundreds of people had just paid good money to see perform. I listened intently to every word she said stories of where she had been and where she was going next. I asked her questions about living in New York City and about the pressures of dancing at this new level. She was very good to me, answering every question, the little girl of a dream.

But as she sat there behind a big bowl of salad and a mug of beer, she still the little girl across the street. Her pulled back hair, her strange. But I've always gone to Chicago champaine in their velvety chairs seemed rat­

I must admit, I was more than a little skeptical about my desire to dance for something more than entertainment. But we all know that life is a series of choices and that sometimes we must choose the unexpected. So I went to see the ballet.

As I watched my friend dance, I thought of the long hours she had put in and the frustration and pain that accompanied the development of a God-given and. I thought about a friend who graduated from Notre Dame last year who is trying hard to become a writer and the patience and dedication she has to have to stick with it. In some small way I was envious of these two friends, each with a dream within their grasp while our own dreams elude the rest of us. But in a much bigger way I was happy for them, happy to the point of sharing in the pride they must feel each day, their dreams continue to become reality. After the performance, my mom and I took my newest hero out for a drink. It was kind of how I imagine it would be to take Ryne Sandberg out for a beer after the game. Here we were, sitting at a table in a bar in Chicago talking to someone who hundreds of people had just paid good money to see perform. I listened intently to every word she said stories of where she had been and where she was going next. I asked her questions about living in New York City and about the pressures of dancing at this new level. She was very good to me, answering every question, the little girl of a dream.

But as she sat there behind a big bowl of salad and a mug of beer, she still the little girl across the street. Her pulled back hair, her strange. But I've always gone to Chicago champaine in their velvety chairs seemed rat­

I must admit, I was more than a little skeptical about my desire to dance for something more than entertainment. But we all know that life is a series of choices and that sometimes we must choose the unexpected. So I went to see the ballet.

As I watched my friend dance, I thought of the long hours she had put in and the frustration and pain that accompanied the development of a God-given and. I thought about a friend who graduated from Notre Dame last year who is trying hard to become a writer and the patience and dedication she has to have to stick with it. In some small way I was envious of these two friends, each with a dream within their grasp while our own dreams elude the rest of us. But in a much bigger way I was happy for them, happy to the point of sharing in the pride they must feel each day, their dreams continue to become reality. After the performance, my mom and I took my newest hero out for a drink. It was kind of how I imagine it would be to take Ryne Sandberg out for a beer after the game. Here we were, sitting at a table in a bar in Chicago talking to someone who hundreds of people had just paid good money to see perform. I listened intently to every word she said stories of where she had been and where she was going next. I asked her questions about living in New York City and about the pressures of dancing at this new level. She was very good to me, answering every question, the little girl of a dream.

But as she sat there behind a big bowl of salad and a mug of beer, she still the little girl across the street. Her pulled back hair, her strange. But I've always gone to Chicago champaine in their velvety chairs seemed rat-
SPORTS BRIEFS

Any SMU varsity athlete interested in applying for president of the Student Athletic Council may pick up an application form from Angela Facility. The deadline for returning forms is today.

Dancin’ Irish tryouts will be held Friday, April 18, from 6 to 9 p.m., with the final cut to be made Sunday, April 20, from 3 to 5 p.m. in gym 2 at the ACC. All tryouts and clinics are open to the public.

The ND windsurfing club will meet tonight at 7 in the Lafayette Little Theater. Anyone interested in learning how to windsurf is invited for more information. Contact Keven Laracy at 283-1184. The Observer

The An Tostal slam dunk contest will hold sign-ups today from 3 to 5 p.m. at the Lafayette information desk. The event takes place April 23 at 2 p.m. and both men and women are invited to participate at either the nine-foot or 10-foot level. For more information call Dan Sullivan at 283-1184. The Observer

In American League baseball action yesterday, the New York Yankees downed Cleveland, 6-2, and the game between Detroit and Chicago was called off because of snow in the windscreen. The National League, meanwhile, beat the Cubs, 4-3. In Toronto, Houston defeated San Francisco, 8-3, Cincinnati topped Atlanta, 3-1, and Philadelphia and Pittsburgh were postponed by rain.

SPORTS CLASSIFIEDS

WE NEED ONE OR TWO ROOMMATES SUMMER ROOMMATE
FOR NEXT SCHOOL YEAR 287-6389

Want to rent a furnished apartment near campus? The Bear is out of hibernation!!

JACK IS BACK!!

CONGRATULATIONS to the winners of the Nov. 7-8 Tourney: STU JOHNSON, MikeT and Jim F. for the Individual Match Play; the Members Team of Don Pasquesi and Bryan Eggers for the Members Team; and the Partners Team of Mike T and Brian Frulio for the Partners Tournament and the Net Division.

MID-MICHIGAN TURF AND FIELD

ENSEMBLE ORCHESTRA FALL LL.

GREAT ORCHESTRA FESTIVAL

THE LAST BUS MAY BE SEEN...U NDER THE BRIDGE...¢

CLASSROOM CREDIBILITY St. Louis Club

3 P.M. COLLEGE

BEAUVOIR 937 South Bend Ave.

DORA'S BOOKS

SELL YOUR CLASS BOOKS FOR $$$

COMMENCEMENT TICKETS. PLEASE NEED ONLY ONE TICKET TO COM­ MENCEMENT WILL PAY $$$$ CALL

MBA SL's over Frank by 7

3:05 - Sikhs v. the Coaches

3:15 - The Bears v. The Mustangs

FACULTY EXERCISES. WILL PAY ($$,)

5:00 - Masterpieces over Masters of Cash by 16

Mishawaka Experience over Team Cheese by 12

Their Mates

 unsere, Lisa, Barb & Amy- JULY 14) TRAVEL IN FRANCE, GERM .

LaFORTUNE!

ardi, Lisa, Barb & Amy- JULY 14) TRAVEL IN FRANCE, GERM .

LaFORTUNE!

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 16, Air Force - 10

Army - 1066 Pontiac 6000 LE - $10,744

A C Cease to learn, Cease to live!!

PETER WALKER Senior Fellow St. John's College, Tula. What a help it will be to me.

PETER WALKER Senior Fellow St. John's College, Tula. What a help it will be to me.

PETER WALKER Senior Fellow St. John's College, Tula. What a help it will be to me.

PETER WALKER Senior Fellow St. John's College, Tula. What a help it will be to me.

PETER WALKER Senior Fellow St. John's College, Tula. What a help it will be to me.
The Observer

Wednesday, April 16, 1986

Knights sees five fouls, three-point rule as ills

NAHsville, Tenn. - Indiana coach Bobby Knight complained yesterday about how he perceives college basketball's ills, including the three-point shot and antiquated foul rules.

"If there were only one thing that would change in the structure of college basketball, it would probably be the foul situation," Knight said. "I don't think the players should foul out," he said.

He said college basketball allowed four fouls per player until the 1940s, when a fifth foul was allowed before an athlete fouled out of a game.

"We've gone 40 years with five fouls. At the same time, with the same number of fouls, the (abilities of) athletes who play the game have increased tremendously," he said.

"There's a point where I think we're not kept up with what's happening in the game. I would give another foul, at least a sixth foul, to the game and maybe even any foul after that committed by that person was an automatic two-shot foul," Knight said during a news conference at Vanderbilt University, where he was to address a dinner gathering.

He also criticized the three-point shot.

"I honestly think that rule helps people who have good shooters and hurts people who don't have good shooters. Consequently, I don't particularly like to see a rule go into effect that doesn't have the same effect on all teams," he said.

Next season will mark the first time that the three-point rule has been used by all college teams. Until now, various conferences had experimented with it. The Big Ten Conference had the three-point shot two seasons ago, and Indiana guard Steve Alford was one of the league's best outside shooters.

Knight also said college teams are playing too many games.

"You are talking about Duke just having played 40 games. It could be possible for a team to play a minimum of 35 games. I just think that's too much."

Winningest Teams in the 1980s

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>Wins</th>
<th>Losses</th>
<th>Perc</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Yankees</td>
<td>516</td>
<td>400</td>
<td>.563</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Orioles</td>
<td>519</td>
<td>395</td>
<td>.586</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dodgers</td>
<td>508</td>
<td>413</td>
<td>.552</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tigers</td>
<td>507</td>
<td>411</td>
<td>.552</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Royals</td>
<td>491</td>
<td>422</td>
<td>.538</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Cardinals</td>
<td>489</td>
<td>423</td>
<td>.536</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Phillies</td>
<td>485</td>
<td>432</td>
<td>.529</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7.36</td>
<td>480</td>
<td>436</td>
<td>.524</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Applications Available for the 1987 Dome

Photography Editor

Copy Editor

Section Editors

Business Manager

Applications in Student Activities Office (R-30:4:30) first floor LaFortune

Applications due by 2pm, Monday April 21 at the Student Activities Office

EVERYONE ENCROURAGED TO APPLY

Pre-Weekend Celebration

LEE'S Ribs Thurs., April 17th

featuring

The Rhythm Methods

The only campus band approved by the Pope

$2 cover charge

$1 Molsens

$1 Wine Coolers (21L.D. required)

Sponsored by Overseas Development Network

By MIKE SZYMANSKI

Assistant Sports Editor

A commitment to excellence. This well known phrase is often as associated with the L.A. Raiders of the NFL, but it also best describes the attitude that Notre Dame outside linebacker coach Kurt Schottenheimer inherited a very experienced team defeated Notre Dame once, when LSU won last season. Now the tables are turned.

"I decided to come to Notre Dame because I was excited to have a chance at what seemed like the type of challenge I would enjoy," says Schottenheimer. "We do have a lot of work to do before the season starts."

"The people here are willing to work, and they want to be the very best. We have exceptionally good kids. I am impressed with the commitment in the classroom, and the admiration and respect for the University that people have to have here."

When comparing LSU with Notre Dame football, Schottenheimer stressed the similarities rather than the differences.

"All good (college) football teams are basically similar in ability at this level," he said. "Notre Dame has a different type of kid who is more committed to academic (pursuits), but that is not meant to lessen the academics in the LSU football program in any way."

"When we played Notre Dame, we were aware of its great tradition," contines Schottenheimer. "We had great respect for Notre Dame (because) it was a team that you had to play very well against."

"Schottenheimer inherited a very inexperienced linebacking corps, with the exception of returning sophomore Cedric Figaro. So spring training has become a time to not only evaluate and to plan but to also instruct. Schottenheimer stresses knowledge of fundamentals, technique, assignments and situations that his players will see in a game."

"We have to start from the beginning," says Schottenheimer. "I am optimistic about this upcoming season." Schottenheimer adds "The challenge will be a difficult schedule, but the fun part should be playing."

Schottenheimer has been associated with great defensive minds during most of his career, including Bill Arnsparger (inventor of the famous "4-3" defense of the Miami Dolphins) and his brother Marty, head coach of the Cleveland Browns.

Outside of the fact that I am a better golfer and am better looking than Marty, we are very much alike," said Schottenheimer. "He is a good family man, and he is in very demanding in that he asks the best from everyone."

Born on Oct. 1, 1949, Schottenheimer is a native of McDonald, Pa. He is a graduate of Ft. Cherry High School and attended Coffeyville (Kan.) Junior College, where he was an all-America quarterback. He completed his collegiate career at Miami (Fla), starting two seasons as a defensive back and graduating in 1971 with a bachelor's degree in Education.

He started his coaching career in 1974 at William Paterson State College in New Jersey. In 1977 he joined the staff at Ridgefield Park (N.J.), where he spent one season. He moved to MUS in 1978 as a graduate assistant and secondary coach. In his third year he switched to linebacking coach and worked under current head coach Tom Yelovich. He stayed with the Big Ten school through the 1982 season, coaching one season at Tulane.

TEACH IN JAPAN

Persons with a degree and job experience in such fields as advertising, publishing, engineering, business administration, pharmacology, linguistics and languages wishing to teach English to Japanese adults for one or two years in Tokyo and other parts of Japan should write to:

Personnel Manager
International Education Services
Shin Taiso Bldg.,
10-7, Dogenzaka 2-chome, Shibuya-ku
Tokyo, Japan 150

We are tentatively scheduling interviews in Seattle, San Francisco, Chicago and Boston in May, June and July 1986.

Further information on the position, qualifications, salary, benefits, transportation and housing can be obtained by airmailing a detailed resume with a recent photograph to I.E.S.
SMC track sets record; softball team is swept

By ANDREA LaFRENIERE
Saint Mary's Sports Editor

There was plenty of activity at Angela Field over the weekend as the Saint Mary's softball and track and field teams played host to their opponents. The softball team lost both games of a doubleheader to St. Francis (Joliet) last Saturday but swept two games from DePaul on Sunday to bring their record to 9-5. The track team dropped its record to 2-1 on Saturday when it lost to Hope College.

Head Coach Scott Beisel cited poor defense as the primary reason for the softball team's 1-1 loss in its first game against St. Francis. Freshman Mary Malina's single in the second inning was the only hit for Saint Mary's shortstop Kris Pantella, a junior, had two put-outs and three assists in the game.

The Belles lost the second game to St. Francis, 8-1. The score was tied at 1-1 until the ninth inning, when the opponents scored seven runs. Saint Mary's failed to make a comeback in the bottom of the inning.

Freshman Amy Cull, sophomore Margie Reynolds and junior Janette Adamo each singled in the game. Junior Lori White had eight put-outs and two assists, while Pantella had four put-outs and six assists.

On Sunday the Belles played an entirely different brand of ball, defeating DePaul 10-4 and 9-2. Senior Cathy Logsdon, now 5-3 for the season, was the winning pitcher for Saint Mary's. Shortstop Kris Pantella recorded the win in the second game.

While Holmes is favored, he is not the solid choice he was for the first fight last Sept. 15 in which he was trying to match the late Rocky Marciano's record of 49-0. "It's different to a certain extent," Spinks said. "I'm the defending champion. But I'm still the underdog."

"I really don't know if people accept my victory," Spinks said. "While Holmes is favored, he is not the solid choice he was for the first fight last Sept. 15 in which he was trying to match the late Rocky Marciano's record of 49-0."

"I got sick to death of people asking me what I thought my chances were," said Spinks, recalling his bid to become the first light heavyweight champion to win a heavyweight title. "I wasn't supposed to last according to the experts...so-called experts.

Two judges favored Spinks by one point each, both scoring the 15th round for him. The third judge gave Spinks a three-point margin.

Spinks has new role in upcoming heavyweight bout

Associated Press

LAS VEGAS, Nev. - Michael Spinks is aware of a change in his status since his upset of Larry Holmes for a piece of the heavyweight championship.

"It (being a heavyweight champion) carries a lot more respect and prestige than being a light heavyweight champion did," Spinks said yesterday.

"People say, 'You're the one to beat Larry Holmes.'"

But there's a sammenseness for Spinks in his remark against Holmes for the International Boxing Federation heavyweight title Saturday night at the Las Vegas Hilton.

"It's different to a certain extent," Spinks said. "I'm the defending champion. But I'm still the underdog."

"I really don't know if people accept my victory."

"But there's a sammenseness for Spinks in his remark against Holmes for the International Boxing Federation heavyweight title Saturday night at the Las Vegas Hilton."

"It's different to a certain extent," Spinks said. "I'm the defending champion. But I'm still the underdog."

"I really don't know if people accept my victory."

"While Holmes is favored, he is not the solid choice he was for the first fight last Sept. 15 in which he was trying to match the late Rocky Marciano's record of 49-0."

"It's different to a certain extent," Spinks said. "I'm the defending champion. But I'm still the underdog."

"I really don't know if people accept my victory."

"While Holmes is favored, he is not the solid choice he was for the first fight last Sept. 15 in which he was trying to match the late Rocky Marciano's record of 49-0."

"It's different to a certain extent," Spinks said. "I'm the defending champion. But I'm still the underdog."

"I really don't know if people accept my victory."
The Student Activities Board Movies are looking for workers for 1986-87.

Feature for short

Most dense

Sleeve cards

Nick

High regard

• 3:30 P.M. - meeting, John Godnick, associate vice president for residence life, 411 Administration Building. Sponsored by Foundation Study, free.

• 6:15 P.M. - meeting, Center for Social Concerns, sponsored by Circle K.

• 6:45 P.M. - lecture, Miguel Suarez Radillo, author and critic, Room 112 Law School. Sponsored by Kellogg Institute, free.

• 7:00 P.M. - meeting, sponsored by Student Activities Board.

Tuesday's Solution

10:30 P.M.

11 P.M.

1 A.M.

Tuesday, April 16, Thursday, April 17th

The Sting

$1.00

SPONSORED BY: THE STUDENT ACTIVITIES BOARD

The Student Activities Board Movies Commission and Publicity Commission are looking for workers for 1986-87.

If interested, contact the SAB office at 239-7757.

It pays!
Top-seeded teams advance despite weather conditions

By MICHAEL KEEGAN
Sports Writer

Of course it wasn’t snowing yesterday. This is in the middle of April. Yesterday’s precipitation was caused by a catastrophic event that occurred four years ago. Believe it or not, yesterday’s Bookstore action was hindered by the cosmic ray fallout caused when Bill Murray mooned the Stay-Put Marshal of the low man. It happens every year in April, just as the basketball tournament gets underway.

Yesterday’s action saw four top-seeded teams advance to the second round.

Of course it wasn’t snowing yesterday. This is in the middle of April. Yesterday’s precipitation was caused by a catastrophic event that occurred four years ago. Believe it or not, yesterday’s Bookstore action was hindered by the cosmic ray fallout caused when Bill Murray mooned the Stay-Put Marshal of the low man. It happens every year in April, just as the basketball tournament gets underway.

Yesterday’s action saw four top-seeded teams advance to the second round.

Of course it wasn’t snowing yesterday. This is in the middle of April. Yesterday’s precipitation was caused by a catastrophic event that occurred four years ago. Believe it or not, yesterday’s Bookstore action was hindered by the cosmic ray fallout caused when Bill Murray mooned the Stay-Put Marshal of the low man. It happens every year in April, just as the basketball tournament gets underway.

Yesterday’s action saw four top-seeded teams advance to the second round.

Of course it wasn’t snowing yesterday. This is in the middle of April. Yesterday’s precipitation was caused by a catastrophic event that occurred four years ago. Believe it or not, yesterday’s Bookstore action was hindered by the cosmic ray fallout caused when Bill Murray mooned the Stay-Put Marshal of the low man. It happens every year in April, just as the basketball tournament gets underway.

Yesterday’s action saw four top-seeded teams advance to the second round.