Police have been forwarding the names of Notre Dame students arrested at raids of off-campus parties to John Goldrick, assistant vice president for residence life, according to Capt. Patrick Connell of the South Bend Police Department.

Connell said the police force met with the university at the end of the last school year and decided to bring the names of arrested students to Notre Dame Security. We take them to the head of Security right after each raid," he said at a meeting with off-campus students at the Northeast Neighborhood Center Wednesday night.

Connell, director of Security, confirmed that the police routinely bring the names of cited students to Security, he said the reports do not go to the Office of Student Affairs.

"We review them to look for particular problems," said Rakow, "but the reports stay here."

Connell did not return a call made to his office yesterday.

Rakow said Connell "misunderstood" what happened to the names of arrested students once they are delivered to Security. After reviewing the arrest reports, if Rakow determines a student has committed himself in a way "contrary to Notre Dame," he said he includes the student's case in a summary sent to the Office of Student Affairs.

The reports from the police are delivered the night of the raid or "in the next day or so," Rakow said. Sometimes the reports are nothing more than a list of names instead of a copy of the citations themselves, he said.

Security has been accompanying police during recent raids. "They call and say 'the party looks pretty bad,'" said Rakow. "So we go as observers. We really don't have any jurisdiction out there."

Rakow added that it is rare that security will get involved in law enforcement away from the campus. "We're there to see that everyone is protected," he said.

Rakow said that Goldrick was informed "left-handed" through Security that two citations were delivered to Notre Dame resident assistants last weekend.

The two resident assistants were dismissed Tuesday by Goldrick.

Rakow said a security officer who dates a policeman in the Roseland police force was looking for him that evening and discovered that he was involved in the raid at LaSalle and Douglas, where the two RA's were arrested. According to Rakow, she went there as an off-duty officer, looking for him.

"She just happened to be there," said Rakow. "She was there on her own capacity." She citations were issued by state police responding to the raid.

The security officer called in later and told Security about the raid. "She said a lot of students got arrested."

Rakow said. She informed Security that two students were wanted because they were RA's, according to Rakow. Later, this was reported by Security to the Office of Student Affairs.

Rakow said the newly-appointed assistant of security, Phillip Johnson, also attended police raids in a non-official capacity. Johnson went to a raid conducted near his home because he saw cars parked in the yard and the driveway.

According to Rakow, Johnson was at the Friday night raid on Main street "just to see RAID, page 4

Great traditions at Notre Dame do not end with football success

As the Irish take the field against Michigan this weekend, many Notre Dame students, parents, friends and alumni will be looking for a revival of the tradition for which this university is so often noted — a winning football program. With the exit of a seemingly hated Gerry Faust and the debut of godlike Lou Holtz, the hopes of the Irish are not unfounded.

For the past five years, the Irish football squad never could seem to break out of the endless mire in which they wallowed. The members of the team and staff worked hard, but the chips never quite fell their way. September, Sept. 13, 1986 may be the date that marks a new era, a new glorious winning tradition for Notre Dame football.

However, lost in all of this hoopla about Irish football victory is the simple, overused word of tradition. Severinghly every writer who ever sits down to pen a story about Notre Dame mentions the great Irish sports legends of Knute Rockne and George Gipp; never overlooked are The Four Horsemen or the golden era of Ara. But people often limit the great tradition of Notre Dame to the gridiron alone; ignoring the myriad of traditions upon which this school was built and nurtured.

Certainly, many of the great Irish traditions revolve around winning football programs; however, the tradition is hardly reserved for the victories themselves. There is the great tradition of the marching band's concert on the steps of the administration building on the morning of the games; there is the tradition of the Victory March and Notre Dame O'Gara being belted by Irish fans after the games to many Notre Dame alumni, students and fans. There are the tailgaters, there is spirit and there is a sharing in the love for a university unlike any other in the world.

A tradition loves Notre Dame does not stop after football weekends, either. In the evenings during the fall when the band is marching across campus on its way to or from practice, it is amazing to see the number of people who stop walking to watch and listen as the musicians strike up the Victory March.

Despite the fact that this is my third year at Notre Dame, that song still brings goosebumps to my skin every time it is played. The Notre Dame Victory March is to me, as I am assured it is to many people, all of the tradition and glory of Notre Dame put into music and words.

The tradition of the Notre Dame family's great spirit and zest also is evident in the everyday life on campus. Despite the fact that the explanation about the bookstore's prices, most students have a least a small part of their wardrobe composed of Fighting Irish shirts, shorts, shoes and my various paraphernalia. As gametime draws nearer and nearer this weekend, the stadium stands will become a mosaic of green plaid pants and ND sweatshirts.

All of these Irish traditions combine with Notre Dame's more sacrosanct rituals and customs to make this university the special place that it actually is. Regardless of the outcome of the game, the bells of Sacred Heart church will draw alumni, students and fans alike away from the playing field and into the heart of Notre Dame itself; its religious tradition.

Even though many of the people on the campus this weekend will have been drawn here because of the excitement and glamour of the Notre Dame football weekend, they will leave with the realization that Notre Dame is so much more. Win or lose, the spirit of Notre Dame will remain untainted and its tradition alive in the minds and hearts of these people who really understand its full richness.

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan -- Authorities questioned a man with a Libyan passport yesterday about last week's seizure of a Pan Am jetliner, and sought a companion who fled into a Palestinian mission.

Officials said a man identified as Salman Taraki was seized Wednesday at Islamabad airport in connection with the seizure of the Boeing 747 in Karachi last Friday.

They said his Libyan passport appeared to be a forgery, but that they had no evidence against him yet.

Twenty people were killed and more than 100 injured when the four hijackers of the Pan Am jet panicked and opened fire indiscriminately at the passengers and crew.

Inspector Javed Mirza, who arrested Taraki, said that police were watching the Palestinian Liberation Organization mission in Islamabad, the capital, for a man who had been traveling with Taraki. The man eluded authorities at the airport and went to the PLO mission, where police could not follow because of its diplomatic immunity.

The government, meanwhile, announced that Air Marshal Shabbir Hussain Syed, the deputy commander of the air force had been appointed to investigate the takeover and the way officials handled it.

It was the first official indication that mistakes may have been made in ending the bloody standoff, which came when the airplane's auxiliary power system failed and the hijackers began firing at their approximately 400 hostages.

Obladur Rehman, director general of the Federal Investigation Agency, said that Taraki was arrested at the airport Wednesday day after arriving from Karachi. Rehman gave no details, but said the man had been returned to the southern port city for questioning about the takeover of the giant jetliner.

Taraki had been in Pakistan for about six weeks and authorities were trying to determine his activity during that time, Rehman said without elaborating.

"He may have nothing to do with the hijacking," Rehman said.

Taraki was thought to be Palestinian but was carrying a Libyan passport, he said.

Israeli-Egyptian summit attempts to revive stalled Middle East peace

Associated Press

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt - Prime Minister Shimon Peres and President Hosni Mubarak held the first Israeli-Egyptian summit meeting in five years yesterday in an effort to revive the quest for Middle East Peace.

The two leaders, dispensing with aides and interpreters, talked privately in English for several hours in this Mediterranean port.

The two shook hands cordially as they met at the Lusia hotel, the residence of the prime minister's deputy, Ahmad Shafik, after being received by Foreign Minister Amr Moussa.

The meeting comes after weeks of shuttle diplomacy between Mubarak's aides and Mr. Shimon Peres' officials, to see if there is a basis for resuming peace talks.

Egypt is the only Arab nation with which Israel has diplomatic relations, but the commitment to the 1979 peace treaty has grown weaker as the nuclear arms race continues.

The two leaders opened the talks by sharing their doubts about the viability of the peace process.

Ezzat Abu Al-Aswad, a labor leader, said that the oil-rich Arab states would not support any peace effort that did not include their concerns about the rights of the Palestinians.

"But a political solution for the Palestinian issue is not possible with force," he said.

The meeting is held in the context of the current Arab-Israeli conflict over the occupation of the Gaza Strip and the West Bank.

The two leaders met in Cairo in 1975 and 1980, but since then no meeting has taken place.

Relations between the two countries have improved since the Israel-Palestine summit in 1981, and the current meeting could pave the way for an upgraded talks.

The two leaders are expected to discuss the implementation of the 1979 peace treaty, and the status of the Palestinian territories.

The meeting is expected to last for two days.

Motorists safer in large autos, says insurance report

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Motorists are likely to be safer and face lower collision repair costs in large, four-door cars, station wagons and luxury cars according to an insurance industry report released yesterday.

The study by the Highway Loss Data Institute, an affiliate of the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety, shows small 2-door models, police cars and very small or mid-size sport or specialty cars as having the worst injury and repair costs. Many of those small cars show injury claims, total repair costs, and repair losses at least 50 percent higher than average, while many large sedan wagons and vans typically show 40 to 50 percent better than average claim records, according to the analysis.

Government crash tests on a variety of cars over the years have shown little direct relationship between car size and how well occupants are protected from serious injury.

But auto safety experts emphasize that these tests crashed were included in a fixed barrier, which does not take into account the differences in size and weight among cars. A crash into a fixed barrier would be the same as a crash into another car of the same size and weight travelling at the same speed.

Most actual auto accidents do not occur that way. The Highway Loss Data Institute report compared the frequency of insurance claims and average repair cost of 165 vehicles with adjustments made for factors such as driver characteristics. The study reflects claims filed on 1983-84 model cars.

The examination of claims shows very wide variations in the injury and collision loss experience of various vehicles on the nation's highways, the study concludes.

Among small, non-sporty cars, the Saab 9000 was shown to provide the best protection against injury. 24 percent to 32 percent below average - but it also was found likely to have 31 percent to 41 percent higher repair costs, depending on whether it's a 2-door or 4-door model.

Generally, however, the large cars had the best claims record. According to the insurance industry analysis, a motorist in a 4-door Oldsmobile Delta 88, for example, is 41 percent less likely than average to be hurt in an accident. Repair costs for the Delta 88 are 40 percent better than average.

Similar top ratings were reported for the Buick LaSabre, Ford Crown Victoria and a dozen mid-size and large station wagon passenger vans and large luxury or specialty cars.

The worst were: In the large luxury car or sports car category, the Mercedes 300 SD and the Cadillac Brougham 2D showed a likelihood of injury 45 to 49 percent below average. By comparison, most small 2-door models as well as many small 4-door cars showed significantly higher chances of injury and substantially higher than average repair costs. Of all small 2-door or 4-door cars, 19 had injury losses of 30 percent or more above average and 17 had repair costs substantially above average.

Among the worst in protecting passengers as well as incurring high repair costs were three Mitsubishi models, the Frelia, Corolla and Starion - the Nissan Pulsar and 200 SX, Ford EXP, 2-door Toyota Corolla, and the Mercury Capri.

Of the 37 large cars examined, including all models from station wagons to luxury cars, 25 provided substantially lower than average injury protection and 18 had substantially better-than-average repair costs.

The highest collision repair costs among all the cars included in the analysis went to Mitsubishi Starion, which had repair costs 159 percent above average. The lowest was attributed to three cars: the Pontiac Parisienne station wagon, Plymouth Voyager van and 4-door Mercury Grand Marquis - all of which had costs 45 percent below average.
Pinochet blasts Catholic Church and orders ousting of three priests

Associated Press

SANTIAGO, Chile - President Augusto Pinochet angrily criticized Chile's Roman Catholic Church, the United States and his political opponents yesterday in a speech that marked the 13th anniversary of the coup that brought him to power.

Pinochet was giving his nationally televised address, three French Catholic priests who had been detained and ordered expelled following a assassination attempt on Sunday were placed by police on an airliner to Rio de Janeiro.

Pinochet also announced the government was suspending reconsideration of decrees banning 3,708 Chilean exiles from their homeland, and said he had signed a law to open voter registries by early next year for a 1989 plebiscite for which he is expected to seek armed forces nomination as the lone presidential candidate.

"Today, after suffering the most evil attacks, I invoke Almighty God to permit me to continue living to fight for the freedom of my country," Pinochet shouted at the end of his more than two-hour speech.

"As long as He lets me, I will put all my energies to the service of this land," said the 70-year-old Pinochet, who headed 1979 military coup that toppled elected Marxist President Salvador Allende and resulted in Allende's death.

Pinochet, wearing a white general's uniform, spoke inside an auditorium in downtown Santiago before 3,000 government officials, supporters and diplomats.

At the same hour, about 30 people gathered around the tomb of Allende. Riot police surrounded the seaside cemetery in Vina del Mar, searched visitors and barred some journalists.

Chilean newspapers listed the expelled priests - Fathers Pierre Dubois, Pierre Vincent and Daniel Carriou - and had been accused of "distributing written" material: leaflets against the authorities.

The three were seized in an army raid on their Santiago slum parish Monday and deported on Sunday. Their arrest was prompted by the recycled and printed attack Sunday that slightly injured Gen. Pinochet's left hand and killed five of his bodyguards, but officials said none of the priests were considered a suspect in the attack.

The government has blamed the Communist-backed Manuel Rodriguez Patriotic Front for the ambush near Santiago.

Comment on Hoffman invited

Special to the Observer

Faculty, staff, students and parents are invited to comment on the work of Prof. Emil Hofman as Dean of the Freshman Year of Studies over the last five years.

Input is being solicited at this time because Article 8 of the faculty manual states that the work of the Dean of the Freshman Year of Studies each five years.

Those who wish to comment on Hoffman's performance may send a letter to Dean's Review Committee, c/o Prof. John Derwent, Department of Mathematics, Notre Dame, IN 46556.

Letters should be sent by Oct. 1.

The review of Hofman will be conducted by a committee elected by the Academic Council. The committee, formed last spring, consists of Derwent, Anne Marie Finch, a first-year law student, and Edward Rine, professor and chairman of English. It also includes Jerry Paine, the associate professor and chairman of the Law College of Engineering, Thomas Swartz, professor of economics, and James Wittenbach, professor of accounting.

U.S. soldiers will remain in Bolivia to assist in battle against narcotics

Associated Press

LA PAZ, Bolivia - The 170 U.S. soldiers and six helicopters helping to fight the drug trafficking in Bolivia will remain in the South American nation for 30 to 60 more days, the interior minister indicated Wednesday.

The Americans were scheduled to leave Sunday at the end of the two-month anti-drug campaign agreed upon last July by Bolivia and the U.S. government.

The government says up to 90 percent of the drug trafficking in Bolivia has been halted since the American troops arrived to help local police uncover clandestine operations in the jungles of the Beni region.

Interior Minister Fernando Barthelmy said his government had not officially requested a continued U.S. presence, but he said if the Americans left now it would 'provide drug traffickers with a truce during which time they could arm themselves and return with greater force.'

Said one U.S. official, speaking on condition of anonymity, 'Most cocaine labs have shut down and traffickers taken a forced vacation waiting for the raids to end.'

Edward Rowell, U.S. ambassador to Bolivia, said recently, 'We cannot pressure traffickers for one or two months and then leave.'

Barthelmy said the American soldiers, six Black Hawk helicopters and communications equipment would remain at least 30 days but no more than 60 days. He said that would be long enough to train Bolivians to use the equipment the U.S. government would provide.
Two Resident Assistants were relieved of their positions this week. Although we realize that a mistake was made, we feel that this mistake does not merit the punishment received. We resent the fact that the example made by The Administration of these two people affects us through the loss of two fine leaders in our residential life. We would like to express our regret that Notre Dame has lost its perspective on the complete Catholic education.

Reagan decries U.S. drug 'culture of license'

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - President Reagan, preparing to unveil new measures to combat drug abuse, decided yesterday: 'a culture of license that encourages drug use, promising kicks but delivering only despair and destruction.'

The president spoke to 150 business leaders a few hours before going into a lengthy Cabinet meeting to receive recommendations for steps to curb drug abuse, both on the trafficking and consumption side.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said that Reagan would decide on the recommendations this week and disclose some of his decisions in a nationally broadcast speech that he and his wife Nancy will make Sunday.

White House spokesman Albert R. Brashier said after the Cabinet meeting, 'The president has made no decisions. He took it all under advisement.'

Brashier declined to say what recommendations were made.

The first lady, joining in the buildup for the Sunday speech, traveled to Harpers Ferry, W. Va., yesterday for an anti-drug picnic and rally with school children and adults.

In his speech to chief executive officers of corporations, Reagan said he and the first lady would be 'addressing the nation with an urgent message: that now is the time to stand up and get involved and do something about drugs.'

'We must hold the sellers and users of illegal drugs accountable for their actions. We must seek ways to help users quit using and accept no excuses.'

"None of us can rest while our children are still prey to pushers and a culture of license that encourages drug use, promising kicks but delivering only despair and destruction," said Reagan, who last month took a drug test to lead the way in his administration's quest to encourage drug testing in the workplace.

Speakes said the recommendations being presented to the president, which were prepared by the White House Domestic Policy Council, were mostly unanimous, but that some of them gave him a choice among options.

"He will, I assume, probably take them under advisement and make a decision on the options before the weekend," Speakes said of Reagan.

The title reads: "The Green Grass of Notre Dame," a curious but accurate headline when considering the endless spending and maintenance. I thought. The American University newspaper, editorial, though, was not about sprinklers; its subject has become my own editorial about misperceptions.

Scott Beary

but wait, there's more

The author chose Notre Dame's system of rules and compared it to those of other American universities, where, according to the article, they have "complete freedom to have radical frat parties, protest against the firing of a teacher, hold rallies for South Africa, sleep with anyone in anybody's dorm room and even walk on the grass" if they want to.

However, in comparing lifestyles the author uses information which he admits is "secondhand." This is a dangerous tool and the end result was a Notre Dame I didn't even recognize. True, we don't have the ability to legally "sleep with anyone in anybody's dorm room," but we did protest the removal of a half-rolled last year, we held rallies on South Africa, and let's not overlook the alcohol policy rebellion of the early 1970's. And, yes, we can even generally walk on the grass when we want to. The parties? Well... we do what we can.

Information becomes distorted secondhand and easily becomes twisted to fit the need. Our plentiful rules were made even more severe when it was said "no members of the opposite sex are permitted in dorm rooms" at any time. The author further cited a case where brother and sister were kicked out of school when they fell asleep in the same room. Despite the quirks in the policy, I would hope the administration would find it possible not to expel them.

No, Notre Dame is not noted for regular protests. But the editorial focused on an unidentified rally which was broken up because students were protesting on the grass. The author must not have been around enough, because events or even weekend alumni invasions when the grass is fair and square.

The misperceptions in everyday life are everywhere; and facts are not exactly as you need them, exaggerate. Not only is Notre Dame the victim, but the problem extends beyond the world and unfortunately, even in the media. Take for example, the tiny town of Waterville, Maine. The town's reputation suffered a blow this summer, as a magazine article presented the image of Waterville and other schools as drug-infested.

It seems Parade obtained second hand information from a West Virginia Criminal Justice Department handbook which cited the problem of child prostitution existing from Waterville. MI to Patchickin, UK. Using this information, the magazine apparently staged a "dramatization," according to the Parade managing editor. The dramatization consisted of a 15-year-old model, in mini-skirt, on the streets of Waterville. One of the staged photos then ran on the front cover of the publication with photos taken of real child prostitutes from New York City and Los Angeles under the title "Kids for Sale".

In the photo credits, there was no indication that the Waterville photo was indeed staged. Parade, according to the Waterville mayor, never bothered to talk to anyone in the surrounding area of the town to see whether there was prostitution exploitation in the area. Instead, the magazine claimed it had talked with an unidentified police officer, "not the most solid of sources." We went off-cam and staged the dramatization to prove a point that symbolically child prostitution exists from coast to coast. As an issue as serious as this deserves thorough investigation, however, not just symptomatic of the nonexistent real evidence that child prostitution occurs in Waterville, according to the Waterville mayor.

Unfortunately, having "no real evidence" does not stop people, even reputable publications, from sometimes straying from the facts in order to prove a point.

At the end of the American University piece on Notre Dame, the writer tells the reader to "take a deep breath and compare" the view of Notre Dame, as presented by an anti-American University, Parade magazine piece leaves with the impression that serious social problems in Waterville compare with those in New York City and Los Angeles. A few assumptions and misplaced facts, and myths are started.

Before going out to prove a point, we all have an obligation to think about from where the information comes. Is it secondhand? Is it reliable?

The argument may be won in the short run with inaccurate information, but in the long run someone will catch on and the real facts will be discovered.

Communication is probably the single most important part of our lives. Unfortunately, miscommunication is as well.

RASTA ban because of alcohol abuse ironic

Dear Editor:

It is ironic that the University allows the student group RASTA to be banned from existence because of "alcohol and drug abuse at a RASTA concert last year." Alcohol abuse at football games is rampant. Abolish football games? No way. The "tradition" would never be allowed to end. Besides, it is okay for contributing alumnae and alumnae to abuse alcohol. Why should Notre Dame do without all the donation?

A student organization created to help alleviate world hunger is now gone. How appropriate that Notre Dame, a Catholic Institution, bans a student group created to help feed the starving while alcohol abuse at Notre Dame football games continues.

Fairness called for in recent RA firing

Dear Editor: I hate doing this, writing this letter. For one thing, the moral letters end as ammunition for comic-quips by cynics over lunch, and letters like this appear too familiar, too often, too close to the bone even except a frenzy of anti-administration rhetoric that cannot get through the brick walls of the Administration Building.

Most importantly, however, I am saddened writing this letter, because it means another inner-jerk reaction by the Office of Student Affairs has unfairly and alarmingly removed Anne DeWald and Kurt Petersen from their RA posts for a trifling. This concerned an off-campus party swooped down upon by Indiana State Police and Notre Dame Security. What Security was doing there, I have no idea, but that is another question.

I cannot understand either why anyone would wish to be an RA; they seem to be more and more policemen for the administration. But I realize that in a community I would not want to exist, these rules must rule, and these rules must in turn be enforced. Communities should have quick and standard punishments for the laws broken, but Notre Dame dares to pose as more than a simple community and calls itself a family. A family should have more than a standard punishment; each as must be concerned with merits. Leniency can be shown when appropriate. But no leniency is needed or appropriate in Kurt and Anne's case, only fairness and common sense. How they have lost their jobs and their rooms and perhaps have to move off-campus.

I cannot understand the rationale be hind the administration's action to punishment. Who are they trying to impress with such harsh line? I truly believe the police wouldn't care if Kurt and Anne were not expelled. And I just can't see an uproar by the South Bend community or any alumni for that matter.

Dooesbury

As a Notre Dame student, I am amazed that you think it is possible to ignore the facts in order to prove a point.

Question of the week:
As a new year of social activity begins, there must be student input on what events they would like to see on campus. Students have complained of lack of variety and events uninteresting to the campus in previous years. What would you suggest be done to get a greater variety of activities and to increase participation in campus events? What type of activities would you like to see?

BEAT WOLVERINES
Notre Dame Victory March

Rally sons of Notre Dame:
Sing her glory and sound her fame,
Raise her Gold and Blue
And cheer with voices true:
Rah, rah, for Notre Dame
We will fight in ev-ry game,
Strong of heart and true to her name
We will ne’er forget her
And will cheer her ever
Loyal to Notre Dame

Cheer, cheer for old Notre Dame,
Wake up the echoes cheering her name,
Send a volley cheer on high,
Shake down the thunder from the sky.
What though the odds be great or small?
Old Notre Dame will win over all,
While her loyal sons are marching
Onward to victory.
Great pacifists are faithful to the end.

The exhibit "Tamarind: 25 Years," with which I attended the Tamarind Museum, marks the 25th anniversary of the establishment of the Tamarind Workshop. Opened in Los Angeles in 1960, Tamarind's goals were multiple: to create a pool of master print makers in the United States; to stimulate American artists' interest in lithography; to develop and expand the technical aspects of the medium. Since 1970, Tamarind has affiliated with the University of New Mexico and continues the objectives of the original program.

Works by the following artists will be included in the show: Joseph Albers, Richard Diebenkorn, Sam Francis, Philip Guston, David Hockney, John Alton, Louise Nevelson, Rufino Tamayo, Judy Chicago, Martin Puryear, Fritz Scholder, Roy De Forest and Joseph Raffael and others prominent in the print field.

Museum hours are 10-4 p.m. today and tomorrow. Admission is free.

Also at the Smile Museum is an "Artists' Intention" exhibit located in the Print, Drawing and Photography Gallery. The works of sculptor Ren Flinne will be on display this weekend in the Woman's Art League Gallery at the Cen­

Kevin Hurley comes back to visit ND

By KEITH CORNELL Staff reporter

Kevin Hurley, the Notre Dame student who was injured in last year's football accident, will visit campus this weekend. Hurley was injured in a hit-and-run accident the evening of September 13, 1986, while walking in Harvard Square, Cambridge, Mass. He underwent surgery to amputate his left leg and has been undergoing rehabilitation since last December.

According to Kevin's father, Richard Hurley, the family has been hoping to make the trip for several months, but only recently did they think it was possible. "We had no idea that this winter would be a special one for us," said Hurley. "I'm really looking forward to seeing this town."

Hurley's visit. "There was a great deal of enthusiasm about his visit," said Hurley. "He has a lot of fans."

Hurley's convalescence. "We'd be happy if we could just get him on the sidelines to talk in person," said Hurley. "It's not quite as easy as we thought it would be."

Hurler's weekend visit included several events. Yesterday he took one step and today he took a couple more. "I'm really liking it. We could get a lot more," said Hurley. "He really appreciated it."

Mets head to Philadelphia to party

Associated Press

NEW YORK The champagne is going with them on the short trip down the New Jersey Turnpike, along with the old joke about spending a weekend in Philadelphia one day.

The New York Mets, one victory from clinching their first division pennant in 13 years, say they can’t wait to get to Philadelphia and celebrate.

"That crew out there knows how to party," Mets Manager Dave Johnson said.

Philadelphia, which fell to 22 games out of first and helped the Mets reduce their magic number to two by losing a three-game series against the Chicago Cubs in New York for a three-game series beginning Friday night in what could formally finalize the National League East race.

"We smell the end," said first baseman Keith Hernandez. "Right now we’re just looking to get it over with as quickly as possible.

The Mets missed their chance to wrap up the division at home when they dropped the first two games of a three-game series to Montreal this week.

"It will be nice to clinch in Philadelphia," Johnson said. "It gives us a chance to beat the only team in our way. This way, we won’t back in. It’s exciting. I have a nice warm feeling about this."

New York ace Dwight Gooden, 14-5, will oppose rookie left-hander Bruce Ruffin, 7-5 in the series opener. Although the Mets are 4-2 against the Phillies in Philadelphia (7-5 overall this season), the Phillies are 12-3 when the 22-year-old Ruffin pitches and Ruffin has beaten the Mets in his only outing against them, an 8-4 victory on Aug. 13.

"It’ll be awesome," said Gooden. "All my life, I dreamed of pitching the clincher. I’m glad the way this came out, falling right into my hands. It’ll make up for some of my losses this year."

Even if the Mets don’t clinch Friday, they will have two more shots with Bob Ojeda, 16-5, against rookie Mike Maddux, 2-6, on Saturday and Sid Fernandez, 15-4, going on Sunday against Kevin Gross, 9-11.

"All we have to do is win one game in Philly," Hernandez said. "I don’t think they’ll sweep us, but if they do, winning it in St. Louis wouldn’t be bad."

The Mets are longtime tenants of first place in the NL east. They took over the division lead from the defending champion Cardinals on April 23.

Patriots remain unbeaten at 2-0 after handing Jets a 20-6 setback

Associated Press

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. Tony Collins caught two touchdown passes, one on an option pass from fellow running back Craig James, as the New England Patriots beat the New York Jets 20-6 last night in an early-season AFC east showdown.

The Patriots, who defeated the Jets 26-14 in December in the AFC wild-card game and then marched to the Super Bowl where they lost to Chicago, are 2-0 this season and alone atop the division. They have allowed just nine points and no touchdowns in the two games.

The Jets, who lost star running back Freeman McNeil with a right elbow injury in the second quarter, are 1-1.

Collins was wide open for a six-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Tony Eason in the first quarter. He and James combined to clinch the victory at 6:25 of the third period on a gutsy fourth-and-1 call from the New York 10.

The Patriots called a timeout before Eason pitched to James, who was sweeping to the right. James stopped and lofted a pass over two defenders to the uncovered Collins at the goal line. Tony Franklin added a 45-yard field goal at the end of the third quarter and a 42-yarder with 5:12 remaining.

The Jets got two field goals from Pat Leahy, who has hit on a club-record 14 consecutive attempts. Leahy hit from 33 and 47 yards.

McNeil was injured after gaining seven yards on a second-period running play. He fell forward, hit his right arm and was helped from the field with a possible dislocated elbow. He was taken to a hospital for an examination.

Things did not start well for the Patriots as Eason fumbled on the third play from scrimmage. Looking back at his own 37, he was hit by none tackle Joe McKee and the ball bounced toward the New England end zone. Linebacker Lavelle Neil fell on it at the 10.

But the Jets gave the ball back on the next play when Patriots nose tackle Toby Williams stripped fumble Tony Palige and end Brent Williams recovered.

New England scored first on a eight-play, 55-yard drive, culminating with Eason's pass to a wide-open Collins in the left flat. New England has thrown a touchdown pass in 27 straight games.

Patience

has received overshadow their efforts.

All attention fans the anxious flames of Irish fans.

To prognosticate an eight- or nine-win season at this stage may be premature. Rather than place an unfair burden on Holtz and the team, fans should rally around them with patience and support, no matter what the situation.

The only prediction I'll offer here about Saturday's game is to expect the unexpected. While Holtz has said the game won't be won with trickery, he kept last Friday's final scrimmage and the last few days of practice closed to the media. Other than just keeping down the crowd around the practice field, Holtz probably wouldn't have done it if he didn't have something planned that he didn't want to become public information. It's safe to say that the familiar sequence of Pinkett, Pinkett, Pass and Punt won't be seen Saturday and it doesn't mean because Pinkett isn't here.

New England QtWidgets' schedule throughout the semesters at the university. The Irish will travel to Hillsdale, Mich., to compete in the Hillsdale Invitational, and I wish them good luck.

While Notre Dame petitioned the NCAA for a waiver to the 12-credit rule for David Rivers, the point is probably moot. According to Assistant Basketball Coach Matt McVickler, Rivers is now registered for 12 hours this semester and will carry this schedule throughout the semester for basketball. Rivers said Rivers' playing status won't be known until November.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. - For sweeper Pat Szanto, the goal has basically remained the same - three three-time monogram winner for Notre Dame. And in this, his final year, Szanto would like nothing better than to get to the NCAA playoffs.

"It's really tough because there are usually two automatic and one at-large bids from our region (the Midwest)," noted Szanto. "Usually Evanston, Indiana and Akron get those. But we've taken the steps to get there."

One step is the upgrading of the Irish schedule. Opponents this year include second-ranked Evansville, 10th-ranked Penn State, and 13th-ranked Connecticut. And tonight the team is in Bloomington to face the 18th-ranked Indiana Hoosiers.

Because Indiana is traditionally one of the teams to get the NCAA bid from the Midwest, a victory for the Irish would be the first step toward reaching that goal.

Another step was taken by Szanto. A proven forward, he scored 27 goals and registered six assists in his first two seasons. But going into his senior year he and the rest of the team will need a change in position from forward to sweeper.

"I was requested it," he said. "We were facing a tough schedule and we lost a lot of people on defense."

Head Coach Dennis Grace is happy with the change.

"I never doubted his ability to go to the goal," said Grace. "But we needed a sweeper, and Pat's good enough to make that transition."

Due to the position and his seniority, Szanto has emerged as a director on the field.

"The sweeper position naturally makes you a defensive leader," he said. "I just try to get the others going, getting them to mark up."

The rest of the defense includes keeper Hugh Breslin, who is the only other senior starter, and co-captain Steve Lawon, who is stationed at wingback. John Guignon has played excellent soccer from his stopper position.

Together this defense has only allowed one goal in three games. The defense was the main reason for the Wisconsin-Milwaukee upset.

"The Milwaukee game was the high point of the season so far," he said. "We didn't let them score, so they couldn't win."

Although he was not happy with Minnesota breaking the defense's shutout streak, he feels that it may work out for the best.

"A good thing came out of it," he noted. "Because if Indiana would score against us, the shock might have been so great that we'd fold."

But Szanto assures everyone that he is not afraid of anyone. In fact, one look at Szanto on the field would show you that he intimidates the opponents. His rough appearance and lumbering style accents his defensive ability, and his speed aids his intensive contributions, where he already has two goals and an assist.

But as Szanto and the rest of the Irish take the field at Bill Armstrong Stadium at 7:30 tonight, they will be facing a more familiar squad. Indiana will be looking for its first victory of the season after emerging from the Adidas-Metropolitan Life Soccer Classic with an 0-1-1 record.

"That is a big disadvantage for us," said Grace, himself a former player under Indiana head coach Jerry Yeagley. "They are always prepared, always hungry.

I know there is a lot of work he wants to do with his team, a lot of questions he wants answered.

So while the circumstances may not be the best, Grace would still like nothing better than to beat his former coach.

"We've had a good week of practice," he said. "We'll be more than ready.

Grace also added that the longer the game goes with the score 0-0 or 1-1, the better the chances are for his squad. And with the experienced defense led by guys like Szanto, his reasoning is understandable.

Red Sox drop one, finally

Associated Press

BOSTON - Pinch hitter Lee Lacy singled home the tiebreaking run in the eighth inning Thursday night and the Baltimore Orioles beat Boston 6-0, ending the Red Sox's 11-game winning streak.

The Orioles, who scored twice in the seventh for a 6-5 tie, loaded the bases in the eighth on a double by Mike Young, a walk to John Steffo and an error by reliever Steve Crawford, 0-1, on Floyd Rayford's bunt.

Lacy singled to center against Joe Sambito, and Juan Beniquez hit a sacrifice fly off Bob Stanley.

Pep rally tonight

Special to The Observer

While Head Coach Lou Holtz and the Notre Dame football team will not kick off the 1986 season until tomorrow, plenty of action should be on hand outside Gate 9 of the ACC tonight at 7. That’s when the first pep rally of the year will take place, and a large crowd is expected to help the team open the season in grand fashion.

Scheduled to speak at the rally are Defensive Coordinator Foge Fazio, Irish captain and inside linebacker Mike Kowaleski and, of course, Holtz himself.

Counseling Volunteers Needed!!!

Students needed to staff the information tape service of the university Counseling Center for a two hour time block. 1 day a week, Monday - Friday, between 4-12pm.

If interested, call Mary Reeker or David Seid (239-7336).

Candy, flowers, gifts, or letters, don’t send them ’cuz a BELLYGRAM IS BETTER.

For a gift that is unique, send a Bellygram to your shiek!

ND women face difficult schedule

By SHEILA HOROX Sports Writer

At the end of the 1986 Notre Dame women's tennis season, the win-loss record might not stand up to last year's 28-6 finish, but that's because this year's competition is 50 percent tougher.

Head Coach Michele Gelfman recognizes that if the Irish are to gain respectability, they must compete against the top teams.

This weekend the Irish open the season by hosting two formidable opponents, Illinois and Miami (Ohio). Match play with Illinois begins today at 3 p.m. and Miami is next up tomorrow morning at 9 a.m.

So far, Gelfman says her team is playing extremely well. "Last week at the Midwest Invitational, our returning players were steady and consistent throughout," Gelfman said, "and the freshmen got progressively better as the tournament went on. If we remain healthy, we should have a successful season."

"Notre Dame players got a preview of Illinois and Miami at the Midwest Invitational, going 1-1 against the Illini and 1-1 against Miami. According to Gelfman, both teams post a solid lineup in singles and doubles, especially Miami. Last year both teams beat the Irish in close matches and this duel will meet undoubtedly give Gelfman some indication of her team's mental toughness, which she sees as the key to this season."

Michelle Dasso, Stephanie Tolstedt, Alice Lohrer, and freshman Tom O'Rourke has impressed Pane and figures to be among the top eight competitors for the Irish.

The Ohio State team "had a banner recruiting year and will add a 4-10 and 4-13-miler to a team that has the bulk from last year returning," Pane said. "Michigan State lost one person from a year ago and has brought in a couple of high school state champs."

The Irish open their season today at 4 p.m. with a five-outer starting on the second fairway of Burke Memorial Golf Course."

"The guys know the score and running in front of friends and roommates is a plus," Pane said.

Women's cross country now varsity...

By PETE LAFLEUR
Sports Writer

The women's cross country team opens its first season of varsity competition tomorrow at the Hillsdale Invitational in Hillsdale, Mich. The sport has been club-organized for the past 12 years and will compete in three additional competitions before the North Star Conference Meet in late October.

Head Coach Dan Ryan, a third year Notre Dame law student, expressed confidence that the team will be able to compete on the Division 1 level. He said the team will be led by seniors Kathleen Lehman and Julia Merkel and freshman Linda Flair. Ryan is a graduate of the University of Detroit, transferring from the University of Michigan his junior year. He ran varsity all four years and was a second team All-American. Ryan is currently on The Athletic Congress' Elite List, which denotes the top 10 percent of runners in the nation.

"Kathleen is our No. 1 runner and by far the most improved. Based on this year's time trials, she's running a minute and 27 seconds faster than last year," Ryan said. "Linda was an All-American in high school and is our No. 3 runner. She will be extremely good down the road."

The Hillsdale Invitational will consist of 11 Midwest teams, including Michigan State and Wisconsin-Faribault, which are both ranked in the NAIA top 10. Ryan said he also expected good competition from the University of Detroit and Akron.

According to Ryan, who was also last year's coach, the goal of the 1985 squad was to gain Division 1 status.

...while men's team will rely on youth

By GREG ANDRES
Sports Writer

It will be a very young Notre Dame cross country team running on Burke Memorial Golf Course today.

Five runners with sophomore eligibility and three freshmen will represent the Irish against Michigan State and Ohio State to open the 1986 season.

Head Coach Joe Plane must piece together his cross country team after losing All American Jim Tyler, monogram-winner John Magill and Indiana Intercolligate 10,000-meter champion Tom Warth. Plane calls this a "rebuilding year that will be very interesting and open to many pleasant surprises."

However, his young team conceends nothing.

The goals of this season remain consistent with those of past teams. "To win every dual meet, the National Catholic Invitational, the Notre Dame Invitational and qualify for the NAIA's," Plane said. "This team is a close-knit group of guys who run well in a pack."

Two juniors with two remaining years of eligibility, co-captain Rick Mulvey and monogram-winner Dan Garrett, return after sitting out last year with injuries. The leadership roles of this team will rest heavily upon Mulvey and Garrett.

Mulvey calls the 1985 Irish "are a legitimate team, with a legitimate chance of qualifying for the NAIA's."

The Irish team that will be supported by former optioner Ron Marcikiez, an accomplished runner from Williamsport, Ind., and Shawn O'Flaherty, a proven runner from Santa Clara, Calif. Another runner with two remaining years of eligibility is Steve Lunney, a transfer from LaSalle, who was ineligible last year. Lunney, like Marcikiez and O'Flaherty, should prove to be competitive among Notre Dame's top eight runners.

Filling spaces vacated by graduating seniors from last year are a group of very talented freshmen. Mike Reagan and Mike O'Conner come to Notre Dame impressive.

For all the details on Notre Dame's opener against Michigan, see VARSITY, page 16.

CSC programs offer
a new view of world

The future is of primary concern to people who live and work in the academic world. The goal of students is to prepare for "life." As students move through the tangle of intellectual pursuits they sometimes forget that while they are "preparing" they are also living. They love and laugh. They are able to find time for parties and dates between the long nights with the books. They ponder the large questions of life while muddling through such details as laundry and roommate problems. It is clear that one cannot wait to live, and the best preparation for life is risking involvement.

Fortunately, here in the Notre Dame/Saint Mary's community we have an opportunity to integrate the preparation for life with involvement in the real nitty gritty issues that life presents. Through the Center for Social Concerns there are a variety of service/social action opportunities available - over 24 opportunities for students to find time for parties and dates between the long nights with the books. Some programs demand as little as one night a semester while offering students a new view of the world. Other opportunities are more demanding. They range from working with children to visiting older adults, from repairing the houses of the poor and elderly to offering CPR instruction and an opportunity to donate blood. Some programs offer students an opportunity to take stands and make statements about issues that are important. Some of the service/social action opportunities are organized and regular. Others are one time events that happen in response to an urgent need. Sometimes there is just the place for one student to work in one special area or with one special person.

The exciting and invigorating effect of these opportunities is that it enables members of the Notre Dame/Saint Mary's community to break out of the protective bubble that surrounds those who are "preparing" for life and allows the wonderful, frightening living world to invade and color that preparation.

Group allows reflection

The Senior Reflection Group provides an arena for senior men and women to meet and discuss some common feelings and reflections as they near the end of their four years at Notre Dame and Saint Mary's. The group offers them the opportunity both to look back on their college experience and to articulate their hopes for the future, and provides students to examine how social concern is and will be integrated into their lives.

Each group of 12 students - six men and six women - meets five times during the spring semester. The first four sessions are held from 6 to 9 p.m. in the home of a faculty or staff host and consist of a meal prepared and paid for by the students followed by discussion. The final meeting is an overnight retreat at Lake Michigan or some other place chosen by the group. Past retreats have been a stimulating mixture of fun, serious discussion, and prayer.

The group belongs to the students, who are responsible for sharing the tasks of shopping, meal preparation and clean-up, selecting topics and leading the discussion, and offering a prayer before the meal. A critical ingredient to the success of a group is student commitment to participate fully in all sessions throughout the semester as well as planning the retreat.

Big Brothers/ Big Sisters

Big Brothers/ Big Sisters of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's is a non-profit social service organization primarily focusing on student volunteers. It supports branches in the Center for Social Concerns, Activities Board, in conjunction with activities on campus. The branch at Saint Mary's operates under the jurisdiction of Brother J. Donohue, O. F. M. Vinculorum. Big Brothers/Big Sisters directly addresses the needs of a youngster in the South Bend community who is experiencing uncomfortable "growing pains." These youngsters desire a "big brother," a role model, a friend, an adult companionship, to supplement those within the home. It is hoped that Big Brothers make a match. The purpose is to establish a one-to-one relationship to provide the child with the guidance and emotional support that is needed.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's provides a service to the student volunteer and the child and can meet and enjoy themselves together in the home as they cookout to roller skating parties, and have picnics. The volunteer is meeting the student and child experience on their own.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters Program represents all backgrounds. What all big brothers and sisters share is a desire to help children through their loneliness, confusion, social experiences, and youth adolescence. Each student and child does not get the same background, personalities and interests in their program which establishes the foundation for a growing friendship.

Big Brothers/Big Sisters have cared time and friendship can last a lifetime, and the price is just a few hours a week. Please share the experience with us.

Fun and Learn

The Fun and Learn Program is a recreation/socialization program for children. The volunteer performs services that may be needed in the Saint Joseph County area and assist people in any way possible. In addition to providing first-aid stations, the branch operates its primary "Quick Response Squad." Using our blue van in conjunction with Notre Dame Security, we are able to respond to medical emergencies on campus between the hours of 6 and 11 p.m. and to provide non-emergency transportation to the hospital if necessary.

The ND/SMC Branch also averages 100 hours of on-campus recreation and social services that may be needed in the Saint Joseph County area. Lastly, the ND/SMC Branch provides first aid and training in all areas of lifesaving, including CPR, standard and advanced First Aid and Water safety.

Literacy Center

The Literacy Center, located in St. Palatine, West Colfax, began operation in 1981 and is under the jurisdiction of the Benjamin D. Foulois Squadron, here at Notre Dame. The Literacy Center works with adults with an opportunity to acquire basic learning skills—reading, writing, spelling and math.

The assistance of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's volunteers in this program has been invaluable. The patient, persevering work of these volunteers with individuals who have either been reading for a long time but needs help or are learning to read are greatly to the forward thrust of this program.

Because of schedule changes, some of the students will not find it possible to volunteer second semester. No doubt, other generous social-minded adults will replace them. Classes at the Center are held from 1:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Interested students may volunteer for one of these days. For further information, contact the Center before 1:15. If interested, call Sister Maria or Sister Evodina at 259-5427 before 9 a.m.

Legal Services

The Legal Services Program of Northern Indiana is a private non-profit legal service organization providing legal representation to low income individuals in northern Indiana. We cannot afford a private attorney with legal problems in areas such as housing, public benefits, consumer, health and family law. No doubt, finding counsel forced Legal Service to restrict the client interview system as to provide maximum legal representation with minimum personal contact. Therefore, do you think what is going on now conduct these client interviews.

Volunteers are trained to record background information for statistical purposes of which financial and legal services are the main purposes. The most important, the volunteer listens to the client's statements and capabilities to the legal problem into a narrative for a staff attorney to review. Nearly all of the interviewing done by volunteers is over the telephone. The volunteer with Legal Services is interesting and challenging work full of learning opportunities.

Northern Indiana State Development Center

Northern Indiana State Development Center is a small residential facility for mentally retarded children and adolescents. The residents of NSIDC go to special education classes at the schools of the South Bend Community. Their education does not stop in the schools, however, as the children also participate in a variety of training and recreational programs. Located across from the University of Notre Dame, NSIDC offers an excellent opportunity for students interested in working with the handicapped as volunteers. Students may perform various tasks such as speech therapy, physical therapy, occupational therapy, and training programs. The speech therapy program incorporates training in various communication methods such as sign language, symbol language, and computer assisted speech.

Northern Indiana State Development Center has a large and diverse group of students, both male and female. This diversity includes students from all walks of life. The center is a great place to meet new people and make friends. The center has a lot of different activities, including sports, music, and art. The center also has a lot of special events, such as picnics and holidays. The center is open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. every day. The center is located in South Bend, Indiana.

Plunge participants gain insight from experience

The Urban Plunge program is a unique learning experience offered at the University of Notre Dame which enables students to gain a glimpse of inner-city life - its problems, but also its possibilities. It is a 48-hour immersion into the kind of life that most Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s students have never seen. For two days during the first week of January, students go to urban areas across the nation for brief encounters with persons and organizations working for social justice in the United States. Caring individuals, concerned communities and willing agencies show a new perspective on urban poverty to those who have had little contact with the unemployed, the homeless, the hungry.

The program has three goals:
1. To enable students to experience and learn for themselves the problems of injustice, poverty and apathy in the urban areas of the United States.
2. To increase awareness of and contact with those who are working to improve situations, and to evaluate their strategies.
3. To gain fresh insights into issues

Misa en Espanol

On the first Sunday of every month, while school is in session, the Center works with a group of Hispanic students in presenting a Mass celebrated in Spanish. This is done in order to give the Hispanic community a chance to worship in accordance with its cultural traditions as well as offer an opportunity to non-Hispanics to learn about Hispanic culture. Celebrants are Spanish speaking members of the Notre Dame community or an occasional visitor from Hispanic countries. A special feature of these masses is a choir with guitar accompaniment. The Mass is held at the Chapel of the Holy Cross and in the Chapel. We invite all Faculty, staff and students to join us in these monthly celebrations.

Summer Service

Summer Service Projects are intended to provide ND students and Alumni an opportunity to address the injustice of poverty. The projects are available to ND students who will be returning to campus in the fall. Projects last eight weeks during the summer months at sites in cities where there is a sponsoring Notre Dame Alumni Club. 1986 SSP sites included Chicago and Puerto Rico.

The Summer Service Projects are underwritten by Notre Dame Alumni Clubs and the James F. Andrews Scholarship, Social Concerns Scholarships which are tuition credits totaling $1,200 are awarded to the students who apply and are chosen to take part in the SSP program.

The Center for Social Concerns has more information. Application forms are taken in January for the following summer.

NCAA Volunteers for youth
For some Notre Dame varsity athletes, the commitment to excel in their sport reaches beyond academic and athletic competition.

For many young people, junior high school is a time of change, new responsibilities, loneliness or insecurity.

The Notre Dame/NCAA Volunteers for Youth is a unique community program that brings together these student-athletes and junior high school-aged youths in special one-to-one friendships.

Athletes and youths are matched according to mutual interests. Each pair develops a friendship through simple, everyday activities.

NSHP
The Neighborhood Study Help Program is the largest volunteer service organization on the Notre Dame/Saint Mary's campuses. We tutor South Bend area school children from preschoolers to the high school level. Each tutor is assigned one child. The tutor visits the

CULTURAL ARTS SERIES

This year the Center for Social Concerns is initiating a new Social Concerns Cultural Arts Series. This series will replace, and is an outgrowth of, the Social Concerns Film Series. Through it we plan to move into other creative realms such as dance, theater, and music to help raise issues of social concern. This series is made possible through collaboration with Student Government and co-sponsorships by such organizations as the Center for Student Activities.

Our inaugural performance will be held Thursday, September 18 at 6:00 p.m. in Washington Hall. Don McLeod, the world's foremost modern mime, will perform a series of topical pieces including 'The Creation' which portrays God's creation of the world, humanity's growth in it and its eventual destruction by 'the bomb.' Many people are already familiar with Don through his part as the gorilla in the American Tourists Luggage commercial. Other dates in the series will be announced as the year progresses.
Students network for peace and justice Groups organize for campus-wide action

The Network for Peace and Justice is an organization which brings together leaders from various campuses and community groups concerned with issues of peace and justice. The Network serves as a clearinghouse for coordinating campus events, alerting groups to opportunities outside the University community, and co-sponsoring major events such as the Call to Peacemaking Week during fall semester and the "Peacemaking" emphasis during spring. Membership is also open to individuals who are concerned with these issues and who want to work on the various activities.

more information contacts Mary Jose Lottman, Atiana Numilt or Miguel Mendez.

Pax Christi

According to Pax Christi International, "Pax Christi has as its primary objective 'to work with all those who can for peace for all humanity; always maintaining the right to bear arms, because Pax Christi springs from a Gospel vision of peace, it asks its members to ground their peacemaking in prayer and ongoing reflection on the peace message of Jesus.'"

More specifically, we meet five times a month to pray for peace. We presently are studying the life of Thomas Merton, and plan to have David Grant speak to us next month. If you would like to speak and give a retreat on Christian nonviolence, please join us for prayer every other Wednesday at 10 p.m. Our forum on violence takes place every other Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the Center for Peace and Justice.

Dismas House

The Dismas House student group is a relatively new project working in cooperation with the Dismas House of South Bend to establish a community of former prisoners and students. This community would provide an opportunity for friendship between students and former prisoners and would serve as an experimental rehabilitation program for the former prisoners who often need to be reconciled with society. Any student who is interested in living in Dismas House should contact us, or write Kathy Rorer at the Center for Social Concerns.

World Hunger Coalition

The World Hunger Coalition works to educate and inform the students of hunger issues on campus. Through speakers, films and participation in hunger aware­ness events, we hope to bring the Notre Dame community to a greater understanding of world hunger. This Wednesday, Lunch Fast Program of­fer students the opportunity to give up one lunch a week, helping others who are hungry throughout the world. This is a yearly event, and the money raised by the fast goes directly to rural development projects in different parts of the world. WFC works with the John Augustin Soup Kitchen in South Bend, preparing meals for local homeless people. Food baskets are distributed to hungry families in South Bend. Food baskets are collected at Haas Messes. The Hunger Coalition will be meeting to discuss further hunger problems through speakers and question-and-answer sessions. When we meet, we will plan how to help alleviate hunger! What is hunger, and how is it affecting the world, and Latin America? Please join us as we continue to search for ways to help our hungry sisters and brot hers.

Kerry Gill (Notre Dame '87)

I believe that Kerry speaks for most of us in characterizing her recent experiences with the Social Concerns Seminar, now in its fifth year. This year's seminar took place in Washington, D.C. over the fall break to explore the relationships between social concerns, public policy formation and the Catholic traditions concerning peace and justice.

This year the three issues around which the seminar was organized were: South Africa, the nuclear dilemma and the environment and corporate responsibility.

Once again, Congressman Romano Mazzoli (Notre Dame '56) and his aide, Jane Kirby (Notre Dame '80), provided invaluable assistance in helping to put together a program which exposed students to elected political leaders (Henry Hyde and Sen. Lugar), government officials (Center for Defense Information, Environmental Defense Fund and United Nations), and social service organiza­tions (Center of Concern, Sojourners, Network). The local Notre Dame Club also extended its hospitality in the form of a Sunday afternoon picnic.

In reflecting upon the week, the students have expressed both a sense of frustration.

"To conclude, I have to say that I was pretty much frustrated with the whole thing. It seems we're neither going to be polluted by death nor naked, and that the blacks in South Africa are going to die anyway, and also hope.

"Enthusiasm might best express the personalities of both Peter Hesbiran and Sister Pinkerton. They seemed to be living for their work and working for what they believed in. It was very en­couraging to see what they had made. They were ex­amples of Christian teaching in action, which I feel is the most important aspect of Christian life. They had seen a call and attempted to satisfy it by immersing themselves in issues and activities related to the Christian concern for the poor and hungry.

I think part of this frustration came from a sense that many of the men and women that we spoke to had lost touch with the human fac­ed within the reality they are facing. Speaking of one such encounter, Sue Yaldah comments:

"He had been given certain numbers and assumptions and quotations, took them as basic tenets of life, and tried to incorporate those into policy. Somehow along the line, people became numbers, foreign policy became a game, and world destruction became something much more accessible, therefore possible."

But an important corollary to this feeling was the sense that this human factor has not disappeared from the scene totally, and as a mat­ter of fact, exists very powerfully in their own Christian tradition. Through the experience of this week I feel the students were exposed to a unique and very real manner to some of the very difficult struggles faced by us as we live in this world.

Right to Life speaks for those who can't

Notre Dame's Mary's Right to Life is a student organization ded­icated to promoting greater respect for human life at conception and at end of natural human life. The organization strives to destroy that gift through abortion, infanticide, euthanasia, or any other means. Our campus activities focus on educating, legislation, fundraising and organizing. We attempt to in­crease awareness of the erosion of society's reverence for human life by residing in such wrongs as war, abortion on demand, etc. Our educational efforts take the form of films, seminars, speakers and the utilization of the student weekly, "The Observer. We support pro-life legislation and annually lobby for such during the National March for Life in Washington, D.C. Fund raisers are im­portant for financing our education activities and for our continued assis­tance to the Women's Care Center/Germany/Center of Concern. Most importantly, through prayer and determination, we affirm the personhood of the unborn." It is a participation in God's plan for the natural ordering of society. We earnestly desire to see society regain its respect for the sanctity of human life. Through "sidewalk counseling" in front of the local abortion clinic and our support of the work of the Women's Care Center, we attempt to respond to the many needs of pregnant women who are looking for someone to care for. There are many worlds which come to mind, and it is hard to explain myself fully. Community for the Lay Apostolate

The Education Committee sponsors discussion groups on such topics as economic justice and the troubles of northern Ireland. Students currently are working on a project with Posawasime Indians of the area, and are making plans for a winter workshop.

Other CILA activities include Masses and a spaghetti retreat. This past fall we traveled to Appalachia during Christmas break. Last summer we sponsored students who did projects in Puerto Rico and Mexico. Thinking globally and acting lo­cally. This is a kind of theme that CILA uses. CILA holds general meetings every week, and all our activities are all open to anyone interested.
