Democrats gain control of Senate

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Democrats, picking off GOP seats around the nation on Tuesday, broke the Republicans' six-year hold on the Senate and served notice that the Democrats would regain control of the Senate for the first time in six years and that he would become majority leader.

Rep. Barbara Mikulski won handily in Maryland's two- woman race, picking up a seat vacated by a retiring Republican.

Democrats looked for victories in North Carolina and Georgia, two states where the television networks said GOP incumbents would fall. And an ABC poll showed Timothy Wirth running strongly for the Colorado seat of fellow Democrat Gary Hart.

Hunt's victory in Alabama's gubernatorial election came as the Republicans sought to présente their roster of governors from the current 16 to parity at 25.

Republican Rep. John McKernan Jr. led in the race to become Maine's governor, an outcome that would regain control of the Senate Republican Leader Bob Dole of Kansas conceded just lost a couple," said a Florida and were leading republican seats in Maryland and said, "I think Democrats, Dole said, "I think the Republicans' six-year hold pqquire "the art of government last two years in office will re­ make that judgment."

Bob Dole of Kansas conceded for the Senate under the compromise."

Democrats harvested Republican congressman John Ward, defeated third-term Re­ publican congressman John Hiler.

Democrats, Dole said, "I think it's up to Sen. (Robert) Byrd to make that judgment."
In Brief

"Wake Up to Prayer," a new project in Notre Dame’s Institute for Pastoral and Social Ministry, has named Julie Lytle, a telecommunications specialist from the Catholic Diocese of Raleigh, North Carolina, project manager. "Wake Up to Prayer" is a daily cable television, morning wake-up service to be produced by WNDU’s Golden Dome Productions. As presented, the service will include three to five minutes of music messages, including music, Old Testament scripture reading, and a brief prayer, be aired every ten minutes between 5:30 and 8:30 a.m. -The Observer

Despite demands by a "Red Sox Revenge Squad," New York Mayor Ed Koch will not have to dress up in a bunny suit to get back a stolen New York City flag. In a World Series promotion, Koch and Boston Mayor Raymond Flynn had agreed that the city whose team lost the World Series would fly the other's flag. A New York flag was raised Friday in Chicago by a group that demanded the Mets apologize “for the behavior of their security force and fans” and that Koch “dress up in a bunny outfit.” -Associated Press

Of Interest

Government and prospective government majors are invited to an informational meeting tonight at 7:30 in the Memorial Library Lounge. Pre-registration will be discussed, along with area studies, the Washington Semester Program, and the senior essay. Speakers will include Professor George Bridgeland and Professor Sharon O’Brien. The meeting is sponsored by Pi Sigma Alpha. -The Observer

A specialist on South Africa, Dr. William Minter, will discuss United States intervention in South Africa in a lecture tonight in Washington Hall. The speech, "With All Deliberate Delay: The West and South Africa Sanc­tions," is sponsored by the Ideas and Issues Commission of Notre Dame’s Student Council. An introduction will be given by Dr. Peter Walshe, director of African Studies at Notre Dame. -The Observer

Tonight's Thomas More Society lecture will feature Father Richard McCormick, S.J., O'Brien Professor of The­ology, at 8 in the Little Theater of LaFortune Student Center. All are welcome to attend. -The Observer

The Notre Dame Glee Club will present its Fall Concert on Thursday and its Alumni Reunion Concert on Friday at 8 in Washington Hall. Tickets were sold out and distributed today from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Washington Hall Manager's Office. Vouchers are good until 8:05 p.m. on concert night. -The Observer

Bread for the World, an organization to end world hunger, will have a representative from Washington, D.C. on campus Thursday to discuss the conference’s focus on global concerns. The representative will discuss how to lobby to eradicate world hunger. Everyone is invited to attend. -The Observer

The Time College Achievement Awards, which recognize the nation’s outstanding college students, are looking for 100 juniors who excel in academics and extra-curricular activities. Twenty winners will receive $250 each and their achievements will be showcased in a special promotional section of the next April campus edition of The Observer. Application forms will be best done within exam and vacation periods. -The Observer

Weather

Like many politicians, students will be able to sling mud if a 30 percent chance of light rain materializes today. Highs for the week will be in the mid to upper 60s and lows near 40. A 30 percent chance of rain Thursday with highs in the low to mid 70s.

Slowly but surely is the way to tackle life’s problems

“Hurry up and wait at the next gate,” the airline officials told a group of frenzied travelers last weekend.

What was happening about the whole incident was that most people methodically followed the man’s directions, rushed to the new gate, assembly, and waited for another two hours as the airplane sorted out the confusion. There was no thought to the contradiction “hurry up and wait” for it seems to be a part of everyday life.

People actually stood for the entire two hours hoping that being in the front of the line would be better than being last. My philosophy was that the plane could not leave until the last person was aboard anyway, so I avoided the lines and set to finish some reading. It would be a tough week, I thought, if I didn’t get work done, so I slipped into a “crisis prevention” frame of mind. In my case I couldn’t avoid the current crisis, but I was able to avoid lots of stress for the next week. These past few weekends I have had the opportunity to observe the significance of the phrase “hurry up and wait” in society. We are all in a hurry when it comes to daily routines and anxiety. We get our schedules that we fail to take a look at “the big picture” and what happens down the road. This mentality only developed when the first line ever formed, thereby showing that the first line was the mark of civilization’s true beginning.

We all operate under deadlines and are accustomed to rushing at the last minute to do what could have and should have been done on a more methodical basis. No, I’m not pre­aching; yes, I am guilty of slipping into the crisis mentality at times.

The adage about the tortoise and hare probably has been around for quite some time—the idea being to make progress but do it at a consistent pace.

Unfortunately, like many old adages, the stories are told but not followed. If we all too often run wildly toward the “end results” without considering how we are going to get there and without mapping ourselves carefully. Too often we reach a goal not knowing exactly what we have accomplished and more often away from the original purpose without even coming near it. Examples can be found everywhere.

Astronaut Neil Armstrong made “a small step for man” when he walked on the moon, but only after many other smaller steps were taken. This mentality probably developed when the first line ever formed, thereby showing that the first line was the mark of civilization’s true beginning.

We have been bred into putting things off until the last minute. I even put this article off until the deadline approached. There are already too many deadlines to meet and problems to solve for us to add “hurrying up and waiting” to the list. By the time both sides realized the situation would not take care of itself and that cooperation was in order, it was too late.

We have been bred into putting things off until the last minute. I even put this article off until the deadline approached. There are already too many deadlines to meet and problems to solve for us to add “hurrying up and waiting” to the list. But as long as we tackle this mentality slowly but surely, the problem will take care of itself.

Scott Beary
Viewpoint Editor

extra steps for granted and forget this philosophy.

While it is true that sometimes rushing is unavoidable and necessary, as the Challenger disaster proved, it can also be dangerous.

The crises attitude which we all carry not only adds extra stress but breeds a false sense of security. Oh, the situation will take care of itself.” we say.

Unfortunately, this is not true. One only needs to take a quick trip to the steel mills of Northwestern Indiana.

Last summer both union and management officials were quoted as saying the crisis over closing substantial portions of the mills could not be avoided. What they didn’t mention was that the crisis had been looming for many years.

Over the years, they rushed to deal with the little problems but never tackled the big ones. By the time both sides realized the situation would not take care of itself and that cooperation was in order, it was too late.

We have been bred into putting things off until the last minute. I even put this article off until the deadline approached. There are already too many deadlines to meet and problems to solve for us to add “hurrying up and waiting” to the list. But as long as we tackle this mentality slowly but surely, the problem will take care of itself.

Student Activities Board presents

WILLIAM MINTER
Specialist on South Africa
and "With All Deliberate Delay: The West and South Africa Sanctions" with an introduction by DR. PETER WALSHE
Professor says scholarly dissent may cause departure from Church

By CHRIS JULKA
Copy Editor

Ralph McInerny, professor of Medieval Studies at Notre Dame, said in a lecture Tuesday night that there is a point where scholarly dissent becomes departure from the Church. Those who hold to the fundamental claims maintained by the Pope and the majestirium, and those who deny these claims cannot logically be members of the same Church, according to McInerny. McInerny referred to Thomas Sheehan's article in the New York Review of Books, "The Liberal Consensus." In this review on theologian Hans Küeng, Sheehan said, a liberal consensus stands in direct opposition to the Pope and would soon come to dominate the Church, according to McInerny. Sheehan said this liberal consensus believes that the Church is not grounded in sacred revelation, "that Jesus didn't think he was divine, that Jesus had no notion of starting a Church, that Jesus didn't institute a priesthood, (and) that Jesus didn't rise from the dead," according to McInerny, adding that "the list goes on." Sheehan said, according to McInerny, that "the people who write the books, give the grants, and hold the positions of power in the Church and universities make up this consensus." Although McInerny discounted the article as "dramatic and triumphalist," he said such a liberal consensus, if it existed, would constitute a clear departure from the Church, rather than mere dissent. McInerny said he himself was a dissenter, citing his lay Catholic journal, "Crisis," as an example because of his criticism of the bishops' pastoral letter on nuclear weapons. "Of course I don't feel unruly or indolent in taking exception to the bishops' letters, because the bishops invited discussion of their view." "But this doesn't mean that the bishops were inviting dissent across the board." As an example, McInerny said "CardinalBernadine drew attention to at least one point in the pastoral about which he said there could be no disagreement, and that is, it is always and everywhere immoral to directly kill the innocent. ... (he) was making a distinction between things which are discernable--about which dissent is possible--within a framework of ordinary conversation among Catholics--and certain things which are not up to that certain kind of discussion." McInerny said Father Charles Curran did not practice dissent in the proper, traditional way of "exchanging of views," but was "politicizing theology" by appearing on national television. "I as an academic resent the invocation of academic freedom to cover activities that don't sound at all to me like the traditional activities that have been covered by academic freedom: that is, responsible discussion with one's peers about the difficulties in the argument (advanced by the Church). But it is quite another thing when theology is practiced in the media; when the first thing a theologian tends to do is to call a news conference... What was going on (with Curran) was not a discussion among theologians but rather an appeal to the laity as a potential constituency to mount a rebellion against the majestirium." McInerny said the Pope and his majestirium have the right to decide Catholic doctrine authoritatively. McInerny is a Michael P. Grace Professor of Medieval Studies and the Director of the Jacques Mauritan Center.

---

It's the family business

Joseph P. Kennedy, victorious yesterday in his bid to replace motorists in Massachusetts' eighth congressional district.

---

By CHRIS JULKA
Copy Editor

Ralph McInerny, professor of Medieval Studies at Notre Dame, said in a lecture Tuesday night that there is a point where scholarly dissent becomes departure from the Church. Those who hold to the fundamental claims maintained by the Pope and the majestirium, and those who deny these claims cannot logically be members of the same Church, according to McInerny. McInerny referred to Thomas Sheehan's article in the New York Review of Books, "The Liberal Consensus." In this review on theologian Hans Küeng, Sheehan said, a liberal consensus stands in direct opposition to the Pope and would soon come to dominate the Church, according to McInerny. Sheehan said this liberal consensus believes that the Church is not grounded in sacred revelation, "that Jesus didn't think he was divine, that Jesus had no notion of starting a Church, that Jesus didn't institute a priesthood, (and) that Jesus didn't rise from the dead," according to McInerny, adding that "the list goes on." Sheehan said, according to McInerny, that "the people who write the books, give the grants, and hold the positions of power in the Church and universities make up this consensus." Although McInerny discounted the article as "dramatic and triumphalist," he said such a liberal consensus, if it existed, would constitute a clear departure from the Church, rather than mere dissent. McInerny said he himself was a dissenter, citing his lay Catholic journal, "Crisis," as an example because of his criticism of the bishops' pastoral letter on nuclear weapons. "Of course I don't feel unruly or indolent in taking exception to the bishops' letters, because the bishops invited discussion of their view." "But this doesn't mean that the bishops were inviting dissent across the board." As an example, McInerny said "CardinalBernadine drew attention to at least one point in the pastoral about which he said there could be no disagreement, and that is, it is always and everywhere immoral to directly kill the innocent. ... (he) was making a distinction between things which are discernable--about which dissent is possible--within a framework of ordinary conversation among Catholics--and certain things which are not up to that certain kind of discussion." McInerny said Father Charles Curran did not practice dissent in the proper, traditional way of "exchanging of views," but was "politicizing theology" by appearing on national television. "I as an academic resent the invocation of academic freedom to cover activities that don't sound at all to me like the traditional activities that have been covered by academic freedom: that is, responsible discussion with one's peers about the difficulties in the argument (advanced by the Church). But it is quite another thing when theology is practiced in the media; when the first thing a theologian tends to do is to call a news conference... What was going on (with Curran) was not a discussion among theologians but rather an appeal to the laity as a potential constituency to mount a rebellion against the majestirium." McInerny said the Pope and his majestirium have the right to decide Catholic doctrine authoritatively. McInerny is a Michael P. Grace Professor of Medieval Studies and the Director of the Jacques Mauritan Center.

---

It's the family business

Joseph P. Kennedy, victorious yesterday in his bid to replace motorists in Massachusetts' eighth congressional district.
By Heather Miller

A 24 Hour Run for Special Olympics, sponsored by the Trident Naval Society, will be held November 7th and 8th on the Notre Dame campus, according to Midshipman Robert Henke, president of the Trident Naval Society.

The run will be held to raise money for the 1987 International Summer Special Olympics Games to be held July 30 through August 8, 1987, on the Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s campuses, Henke said.

The Trident Naval Society, a professional society at Notre Dame composed of future Navy and Marine Corps Officers, hopes to raise $1,000 for Special Olympics through individual pledges and corporate sponsorships from Coca Cola, Hardene’s, and Clark Telecommunications said chairman of the run Midshipman John Mosier.

“Student body support is paramount to the success of this run-a-thon,” he said.

Each dorm will have a representative collecting pledges this week and pledges will be taken in the dining halls on Thursday, November 6, Mosier said.

According to a fact sheet provided to Henke by the ISSOG, all proceeds will go to Special Olympics to help organize the 1987 games, the world’s largest event for mentally retarded persons.

Past International Summer Games have been held in Chicago, Ill., Los Angeles, Calif., and Baton Rouge, La. Athletes from some 60 countries, 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, Guam, the Virgin Islands and if he would spend the next two years leading a GOP minority, rather than the majority he has commanded since 1984.

Next door in Georgia, Democratic Rep. Wyche Fowler led incumbent Republican Mattingly in a Senate race, but by a narrow margin.

In another Dixie Senate race, former Democratic Gov. Terry Sanford took an early lead over Broyhill in North Carolina, and CBS said he would win. Rep. John Breaux led for the Louisiana Democratic Senate seat being vacated by Democrat Russell Long.

In the South Carolina governor’s race, GOP Rep. Carroll Campbell Jr. was locked in a close race with Lt. Gov. Mike Campbell Jr. was locked in a close race with Lt. Gov. Mike.
Church envoy says more hostages may be released soon

Associated Press

WIESBADEN, West Germany - Anglican Church envoy Terry Waite said Tuesday "reasonably strong suggestions" have emerged that two Americans will be the next hostages released in Lebanon.

He said he expected a message from their captors within 24 hours.

Waite, the emissary of the Archbishop of Canterbury, was asked if there had been indications that Associated Press correspondent Terry Anderson, 39, andeducator Thomas Sutherland, 45, would be the next American hostages freed.

He replied, "Those have been strong. Yes, I would say reasonably strong suggestions."

"At the moment, the two people specifically in my sights are Terry Anderson and Thomas Sutherland," Waite added. "That is where our best contacts lie at the moment."

He said he expected to hear within 24 hours from his contacts whether he will be going back to Beirut, the capital of Lebanon, to negotiate the release of the Americans and other Western hostages.

Both Anderson and Sutherland are being held by the Islamic Jihad organization, made up of pro-Iranian Shiite Moslem extremists. Waite emphasized that he was waiting for a message from the group.

It was Islamic Jihad that held Jacobsen hostage for more than 17 months. Jacobsen, 55, a hospital administrator from Huntington Beach, Calif., was freed Sunday. Jacobsen, Anderson, a native of Lorain, Ohio, and Sutherland, of Fort Collins, Colo., acting dean of agriculture at American University in Beirut, were kidnapped separately in Moslem-ruled Beirut in 1985.

In other developments on Tuesday:

Robert McFarlane, a special envoy of President Reagan, went to Tehran to try to improve U.S.-Iranian relations but was arrested, confined five days and expelled, Speaker Hashemi Rafsanjani of the Iranian Parliament said Tuesday.

Rafsanjani said McFarlane and four other Americans arrived in the Iranian capital aboard a plane carrying military equipment for Iran. Iran's official Islamic Republic News Agency reported.

His statements followed published reports in the Middle East that Jacobsen's release resulted from secret negotiations between America and Iran.

Reagan's chief spokesman, Larry Speakes, reaffirmed the United States' ban on weapons sales to Iran.

Jacobsen wept for joy Tuesday on seeing his grown children again - sons Eric and Paul, and daughter, Diane Duggan - and said he longed for the day other Americans held in Lebanon also are free. They were reunited at a one-hour meeting at the hospital and then appeared together on a balcony to talk to reporters.

Jacobsen, director of the American University Hospital in Beirut, the capital of Lebanon, was kidnapped in Beirut on May 28, 1985.

Waite was asked about a possible role by Syria in Jacobsen's release and whether Americans or Iranians were involved in the negotiations.

"I don't want to comment on the political dynamics," he replied.

But he addressed the issue of 17 men imprisoned in Kuwait for the December 1983 bombings of the U.S. and French embassies. Islamic Jihad, or Islamic Holy War, repeatedly has demanded freedom for its 17 comrades before it will release American hostages in Lebanon.
Dear Editor:

An Open Letter to Notre Dame Students from the Northeast Neighborhood:

There has been a lot of publicity lately about Notre Dame students and the Northeast Neighborhood. We wanted to voice our thoughts on the matter.

Many of us have lived in the Northeast Neighborhood most of our lives. We've invested in our homes and raised our families here. There are all kinds of people in the Northeast Neighborhood—blacks, Italians, Jamaicans, elderly people, students and Notre Dame faculty and staff. We have all lived together over the years. We know how we really feel about students in the neighborhood.

Over the years, more students have moved into the neighborhood. We don't have problems with all students—we have some really great students who are good neighbors. Students who have problems are hurting the neighborhood. People who live next to problem students will eventually move and new families won't move into the neighborhood if it becomes a student hangout.

You will only be living in the neighborhood a few years. We will be living here the rest of our lives. Our homes and community are important to us. So do what you can to be a good neighbor. If you work with us, we can look out for you and do what you can to be a good neighbor.

Maura Mandycz

frankly, my dear

Everyone screams. You throw your remaining popcorn into the air, having lost most of it already during the showing. And a good time is had by all.

WORKEP SO HARD FOR THIS...ANP TO ALL OF YOU WHO

P.O.Box Q

Keep it short

P.O.Box Q

Notre Dame, IN

Quote of the day

"Be courteous to all, but intimate with few, and let those few be well tried before you give them your confidence. True friendship is a plant of slow growth, and must undergo and withstand the shocks of adversity before it is entitled to the appellation."

George Washington

(1732-1799)
The Knights of Columbus was founded in 1882 in New Haven, Conn., by Father Michael J. McGivney, a Roman Catholic priest. The purpose in founding the organization was to establish an insurance program for widows of deceased members. This insurance program is still in effect and today, the Knights is currently in its 137th year. The K. of C. is the 120th largest company out of the approximately 2000 insurance companies in the United States.

Directing and governing the activities of the more than 800 local councils is the Supreme Council, which remains based in New Haven. The K. of C.'s "Chief Executive" is the supreme knight, currently Virgil E. Decatur. In addition to the national and state officers, each individual council has a grand knight. John Rodgers presently holds this position in Notre Dame's council.

Notre Dame's council presides over a number of different activities, some of which are sponsored by the Center for Social Concerns, such as Mardi Gras and the Bengal Bouts. The council has sponsored the Bengal Bouts since 1979 and held its first Mardi Gras in 1982. Both of these activities help to support the University's football team. The council also sponsors the Notre Dame Student Union's annual dance, which is attended by thousands of students and guests.

Notre Dame's council currently has approximately 150 members on campus and between 400 and 500 alumni members. One of the council's primary projects is its work with local Catholic charities, such as the Salvation Army and the local Food Bank. The council also sponsors a number of charitable events throughout the year, such as the annual "Knights of Columbus" fund raiser, which is held in conjunction with the University's home football games.

Notre Dame's council presides over a number of different activities, some of which are sponsored by the Center for Social Concerns, such as Mardi Gras and the Bengal Bouts. The council has sponsored the Bengal Bouts since 1979 and held its first Mardi Gras in 1982. Both of these activities help to support the University's football team. The council also sponsors the Notre Dame Student Union's annual dance, which is attended by thousands of students and guests. The council also sponsors a number of charitable events throughout the year, such as the annual "Knights of Columbus" fund raiser, which is held in conjunction with the University's home football games.

Notre Dame's council presently has approximately 150 members on campus and between 400 and 500 alumni members. One of the council's primary projects is its work with local Catholic charities, such as the Salvation Army and the local Food Bank. The council also sponsors a number of charitable events throughout the year, such as the annual "Knights of Columbus" fund raiser, which is held in conjunction with the University's home football games. The council also sponsors a number of charitable events throughout the year, such as the annual "Knights of Columbus" fund raiser, which is held in conjunction with the University's home football games.
JAZZ, NEW WAVE, CLASSICAL, THE WANT TO LATEN TO THE BEST BLUE'S 9024
WORD PROCESSING CALL Lavonne 287-BLUES BAND THE BULLDOG BLUES
EXPERT TYPING SERVICE. CALL RIB'S "CAUSE EVEN DOMERS GET THE 307831 01
BLUE STONE WITH GOLD NO. FOUND. HP BEFORE BREAK, CALL
CAMPUS VIEW 1031 IF FOUND. NO QUESTIONS ASKED.
LOST: BLACK, RAY-BAN KYOTO. I DESPERATELY NEED
LOST KONICA CAMERA AT 107 BETWEEN 4:30PM AND 8:00PM AT 1835
WANTED DOMINO'S PIZZA DELIVERY PERSONNEL $5.00 AN HOUR
COMPUTER STORE SEEKS RELIABLE PANSY BAKER. CALL 239-5294
EXHIBITION, ENGLAND. WE DID IT III
PERSONNEL TIX FOR TODD AT 1310 OR 1308
NEED 6 SMU TIX BIG $ CALL
NEED 2 PENNST TICKS MARIO 1173
NEED 2 SMU GA'S-JOHN 1722
NEED 2 PENNS TIX
NEED PENN ST. TIX: STUDENT OR
SMU CAMPUS CAMPS
SPORTS BRIEFS
The ND-SMC sailing club will have a meeting tonight at 6:30, in the beerhouse on St. Joseph's Lake. Details for Area A's regatta in Ann Arbor will be discussed.
The Observer

Sports Briefs

Clinkscale criticizes Colts' attitude despite winning season is through

Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS - Destroy Clinkscale is appalled by what he sees as a losing attitude among some of his Indiana Indians teammates. Clinkscale, a veteran strong safety who last week signed as a free agent with the NFL's only wireless team.

Clinkscale, 28, was a starter for the Dallas Cowboys the past three years. He had had a career-high 100 tackles and made three interceptions last season but held out for more money, was waived and eventually signed with Indianapolis after meeting with the Colts, Miami, Houston, Atlanta and Kansas City Chiefs and Los Angeles Raiders.

He was on the sideline but did not play Sunday as the Colts were beaten 24-6 by the Cleveland Browns on their ninth straight loss.

"It takes 45 guys and the coaching staff to go on offense for a football team. The only thing we can do is play hard, and even if we lose, it's maybe a molding of character these last seven games, getting that position down from four to one this season, I think it's something that it's going to help the Colts for a long time to come," said Clinkscale.

He signed a contract to play with the Colts through the 1988 season.

"I'm going to work slowly and probably start out with the special teams, maybe the prevent pass defense," Clinkscale says of his breaking in with the Colts. "There's only seven left in the season, and I'm in no rush. Right now, I think I'm basically a future player for the Colts.

"There's no doubt that the Colts can salvage this season," he continued. "Maybe if we get some games, we can gain a little respect from the people of Indianapolis. We'll see how the crowd is going to react against the league and the fans across the country. But as far as salvaging the season, there's no way possible."

Clinkscale, the third player signed by the Colts in the past few weeks in an effort to improve both the passing of offense and defense. Wide receiver Terry Haines signed a four-year pact and has played in the past two games, and free safety Mike Williams signed a contract through the 1987 season and has played in the past two games.

Coach Rod Dowhower has given no indication when Clinkscale will see his first action as a Colt.

"They're bringing him along slowly. At this point, he's learning the system. It's a wait-and-see proposition for Clinkscale's public relations director Bob Eller said yesterday.

The Observer - Notre Dame office, located on the third floor of LaFortune Student Center, accepts classified advertising from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. The Observer Sales Office Tuesday and Thursday, from Noon to 4 p.m. located in the Hopper College Center, accepts classifieds from 12:30 p.m. until 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. For next day publication, please be prepared, either in person or by mail. The charge is 10 cents per characters per line.
Long nets career-high as Pacers defeat Sixers

Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS - Veteran John Long scored a career high 44 points, including all 11 of his team’s points in the second overtime, as the Indiana Pacers defeated the Philadelphia 76ers 123-121 in NBA action last night.

Long scored the first five points of the final period as Indiana snapped an eight-game losing streak to the 76ers, giving the Pacers a 116-114 lead with 3:50 left.  Barkley Barley, who led Philadelphia with 34, pulled the 76ers to within two before Long hit a 15-footer with 1:46 remaining.

Long, traded to the Pacers just before training camp after eight years with the Detroit Pistons, then deflected a Julian Erving shot, recovered the loose basketball and drove the length of the court to make a layup that put Indiana ahead 123-116 with 1:02 remaining.

A layup by Erving left the 76ers down 123-119 with nine seconds remaining and Long scored the game’s final points on a pair of free throws with four seconds to go.

Philadelphia had a chance to win the game in the closing seconds of regulation and the first overtime. Maurice Cheeks gave the 76ers a 112-109 advantage with 1:09 left in the first extra period. A Barkley dunk with 33 seconds left, following a layup by Indiana’s Clark Kellogg, put the visitors ahead 114-110 with 11 seconds remaining.

Vern Fleming, who had played the entire game without a field goal, then hit the first-three point goal of his NBA career to tie the game with 26 seconds remaining.

The 76ers elected to play for the last shot, but Cheeks missed an 18-foot jumper.

The Observer

Wednesday, November 5th

$2.99 Dinner Special

BE THERE AT 6:00!
Britain takes close win in America's Cup race

Associated Press

FREMANTLE - White Crusader of Britain edged Canada II yesterday by about three feet in the closest race ever sailed in America's Cup yachting series.

Skipped by Harold Courmore, White Crusader won by .0295 seconds in the second round race which is part of the series to determine a challenger to the Australia.

Terry Nielson, skipper of Canada II, was not certain he had lost and said he would like to see a photograph of the finish.

He said his bowman thought they won, but the 28-year-old Olympic bronze medal winner from Toronto, said the race committee's decision is final.

"That's sailboat racing," he said.

The victory kept White Crusader in third place in the series, three points behind the two leaders, New Zealand and America II.

New Zealand, skippered by Chris Dickson, defeated Eagle of the United States, with Rod Davis at the helm. The Newport Harbor, Calif., boat finished third, 42 seconds behind the winner. America II, skipped by John Kolius, defeated Azzurra of Italy by one minute, 30 seconds.

In other races, French Kiss held off a late challenge by USA, Italy defeated Heart of America and Stars & Stripes routed Challenge France.

The first round robin series provided one point for each victory. The current series gives a winner five points. The third series will give winners 12 points.

The top four scoring boats move into the semi-finals starting Dec. 28. Italy's win over Ruddy Miles and Heart of America moved it into fourth place in the standings with 17 points, nine points behind the leaders.

WED - Buy your Senior Club Cups for $1

Little Kings Drafts $.50

THURS - Kahlua Specials

Correction

Because of a reporting error in yesterday's paper, the score of the Howard-Zahm international match was incorrect. Howard won the game 7-0.
Today

Bloom County

Beer Nuts

Mark Williams

Campus

11:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m.: The Center for Social Concerns lunch to benefit "Big Brother Big Sister." Menu: chicken with rice, salad, desserts and coffee/tea. Donation of $3

12:00 p.m.: Thomas J. White Center on Law and Government Lecture. "Broaden the Paradox: Moving Justice Further Left and Further Right," by Emily Albrink Fowler, attorney, Madison, Wisconsin. 101 Law School

1:15-2:30 p.m.: Dept. of Economics Labor Workshop, "Gender and Labor Markets," by Kim Montgomery, ND graduate student. Discussant: Jim Young. 131 Decio

7:30 p.m.: Exxon Distinguished Visiting Scholar Series. College of Arts and Letters, and the Dept. of Modern and Classical Languages. Workshop. Theme: Perspectives in Classics. Topic: "Reconstructing the Roman Countryside." Prof. Stephen Dyson, Wesleyan University, 109 O'Shaughnessy

4:30 p.m. Reilly Lecture in Chemistry, "Metal Clusters: Structure, Dynamics, and Catalysis," by Richard E. Smalley, 125 Nieuwland Science Hall

7:30 p.m.: Wednesday Night Film Series, "Destry Rides Again" (1939), BW, 84 minutes, George Marshall, USA, O'Shaughnessy Hall Loft

7:15-8:30 p.m.: Fellowship meeting, The Spiritual Rock of Notre Dame, Keenan-Stanford Chapel

7:30 p.m.: Meeting, Government Pre-registration. Speakers: Prof. George Brinkley, Sharon O'Brien, Library Lounge

7:30 p.m.: Exxon Distinguished Visiting Scholar Series, College of Arts and Letters, and the Dept. of Anthropology Lecture. Theme: Art in America: Values in the Marketplace, "The Sculptor and Nation," by Alan Sonfist, internationally known site sculptor and author of Art in the Land, Annenberg Auditorium

8:00 p.m.: SAB Lecture, "The West and South African Sanctions," by Dr. William Luther, Editor of Africa News Service, Washington, D.C., Washington Hall

Notre Dame Circle K will not meet tonight but will resume meetings next week.

Dinner Menus

Notre Dame

Chicken Fried Steak
Ham & Broccoli Rollups
Vegetable Stuffed Peppers
Grilled Pastrami & Swiss on Rye

Saint Mary's

BEEF PATTY ON BUN
Ravioli w/Marinara Sauce
Turkey Salad Croissant
Deli Bar

Beer Nuts

Throughout the ordeal, Mark Williams faced not only physical torture (when beer bottles were rammed into oral openings elsewhere) but mental torture as well. What you say you make real, 60... tell — — "SAY YOU'VE TOLD ME, AND ME CAME SOME BALL, ADJACENT TO THE FEMALE..."

Mark Williams

Better yet, let's go shoot a large wild animal, and eat it."

Far Side

Gary Larson

The Daily Crossword

Across
1. Jazz
6. Pub favorites
10. Forward pass
14. Counsel on the... to the
15. Ballet
16. Go by car
17. Express indication
19. Merit
20. Soto of "Star Wars"
21. Lots of animosity
24. Acrobat
26. Dice
27. Out of the way
29. Batt fish
33. By oneself
34. "Le Vie"... "La Vie"
35. Sch. subj.
37. Adhesive
38. Game on lawn
39. Talk tediously
40. Claim
41. Cabbage type
42. Court of music
43. Ruin
45. Awe-inspiring
46. Wrestling pace
47. Delay
48. Orange flowers
53. Army woman
56. Arabian gulf
57. Templar's gold
58. Folklore dwarf
60. Dem
61. "but the..."
62. Strange
63. Butter lamp
64. Hibb
65. Buckaroo's contest
down
1. Lively party
2. Arm bone
3. Snaggletooth
4. Long fish
5. Art lover
6. Turn away
7. Bank business
8. Raisin d'... 9. Judge's decision
10. Poet
11. Delay
12. Track figures
13. Direction
14. From Greece
15. United
16. Sound
17. Sew
18. Ice cream holder
19. Hindu music
20. Island, NY
21. In a poor way
22. United
23. Track figures
24. Wins
25. In a poor way
26. In a poor way
27. Aroma
28. Evasive
29. In a poor way
30. In a poor way
31. In a poor way
32. In a poor way
33. In a poor way
34. "...forever..."
35. In a poor way
36. In a poor way
37. In a poor way
38. In a poor way
39. In a poor way
40. In a poor way
41. In a poor way
42. In a poor way
43. In a poor way
44. In a poor way
45. In a poor way
46. In a poor way
47. In a poor way
48. In a poor way
49. In a poor way
50. In a poor way
51. In a poor way
52. In a poor way
53. In a poor way
54. In a poor way
55. In a poor way
56. In a poor way
57. In a poor way
58. In a poor way
59. In a poor way
60. In a poor way
61. In a poor way
62. In a poor way
63. In a poor way
64. In a poor way
65. In a poor way

Yesterday's Puzzle Solved:

Across
1. Jazz
6. Pub favorites
10. Forward pass
14. Counsel on the... to the
15. Ballet
16. Go by car
17. Express indication
19. Merit
20. Soto of "Star Wars"
21. Lots of animosity
24. Acrobat
26. Dice
27. Out of the way
29. Batt fish
33. By oneself
34. "Le Vie"... "La Vie"
35. Sch. subj.
37. Adhesive
38. Game on lawn
39. Talk tediously
40. Claim
41. Cabbage type
42. Court of music
43. Ruin
45. Awe-inspiring
46. Wrestling pace
47. Delay
48. Orange flowers
53. Army woman
56. Arabian gulf
57. Templar's gold
58. Folklore dwarf
60. Dem
61. "but the..."
62. Strange
63. Butter lamp
64. Hibb
65. Buckaroo's contest
down
1. Lively party
2. Arm bone
3. Snaggletooth
4. Long fish
5. Art lover
6. Turn away
7. Bank business
8. Raisin d'... 9. Judge's decision
10. Poet
11. Delay
12. Track figures
13. Direction
14. From Greece
15. United
16. Sound
17. Sew
18. Ice cream holder
19. Hindu music
20. Island, NY
21. In a poor way
22. United
23. Track figures
24. Wins
25. In a poor way
26. In a poor way
27. Aroma
28. Evasive
29. In a poor way
30. In a poor way
31. In a poor way
32. In a poor way
33. In a poor way
34. "...forever..."
35. In a poor way
36. In a poor way
37. In a poor way
38. In a poor way
39. In a poor way
40. In a poor way
41. In a poor way
42. In a poor way
43. In a poor way
44. In a poor way
45. In a poor way
46. In a poor way
47. In a poor way
48. In a poor way
49. In a poor way
50. In a poor way
51. In a poor way
52. In a poor way
53. In a poor way
54. In a poor way
55. In a poor way
56. In a poor way
57. In a poor way
58. In a poor way
59. In a poor way
60. In a poor way
61. In a poor way
62. In a poor way
63. In a poor way
64. In a poor way
65. In a poor way

SAB Presents

CASABLANCA

Wednesday, Nov. 5

7:00, 9:00, & 11:00

Engineering Auditorium

$1.00

Thursday, Nov. 6
Collins adds court savvy and volleyball experience to team

By BRIAN O'GARA

The Notre Dame volleyball team begins a busy five-day span of games tonight with a match against Loyola in the ACC Pit. This game is the first of four home games for the Irish this week, which also face Dayton, Northwestern and Pittsburgh over the weekend.

The Irish have met Loyola six times on the volleyball court since 1981; after losing the first three times, the Irish have defeated the Lady Ramblers the last three times they have met, including twice last year. The Irish seek to do the same thing tonight, but not without a fight from Loyola.

"They're gonna come in here all pumped up to play Notre Dame," says Coach Art Lambert. "We can't look beyond anybody—we have to take one game at a time." The Irish are off to their best start ever with a 21-6 record.

One of the main reasons for the volleyball team's success this year has been the addition of freshman Taryn Collins. A setter from Oak Park, Illinois, Collins has steadily improved her play and increased her playing time throughout the season. Coach Lambert notes that she has become, in a short time, a key part of the team.

"Taryn has become a determined addition to this team," he says. "She's a good competitor with a lot of court savvy, because of her tremendous volleyball background."

Collins attributes her success on the court to that vast background, particularly her experience in club volleyball in the Chicago area during her high school years.

"I played club ball in the offseason my sophomore thru senior years, so I was playing year round," she says. "We played three tournaments a month, three to five matches a tournament. It's almost essential now if you want to play in college."

Kathy Cunningham, the older freshman on the volleyball team, also is a product of Illinois club volleyball.

Coincidently, the two faced each other in club play last year. Does the success of the Irish volleyball team, which was 9-14 at this point last season, surprise Collins?

"We're (the team) not surprised at all," she says. "We had hoped to be better, but we're not disappointed. We knew in the pre-season that we had a good team."

Collins admits that the adjustment to college life as a freshman student and varsity athlete is a tough one.

"You're just trying to get into the swing of things and you're already behind," she says, as a nearly completed paper sits in the typewriter at her desk. Despite her quick success on the court, Collins looks for ways to improve her performance for the Irish.

"I've got to work on not giving away my sets," she says. "The middle blocker tries to read the setter and where the ball is going. I've got to try to hold the middle blocker in the middle when I set outside so the hitter is going up against one blocker, not two. When the hitter is one-on-one with a blocker, they'll probably get the ball."

Just another way for the Irish to pick up the key points. It's easy to see that Collins has high aspirations for herself and for the team, and her play indicates that she will do just fine.

Lower arena sold out

Once again, sophomores and freshmen will be able to purchase basketball tickets for upper arena seating. Tickets for lower-arena seating sold out yesterday afternoon, according to ticket manager Mike Bobinski. Bobinski also said that ticket sales were slightly behind last season's record pace.

Students who wish to purchase tickets must bring their application with a check or money order to Gate 30 of the ACC on a day prior to the one specified for your class. The price for upper-arena seating is $45.

Student basketball ticket applications have been sent out to all students with a campus or local address. Any student who has not yet received his or her application, or whose preprinted application contains an error in class status, should report to the Ticket Office on the second floor of the ACC on a day prior to the one designated for his or her class.

Students should note that the season ticket package does not include the opening game of the Coca-Cola NIT against Western Kentucky on Nov. 25. Tickets for that game will go on sale at a later date.

The schedule for ticket distribution is as follows:

Freshman/Law/Grad Students

Today

Sophomores/Underclassmen

Tuesday

McNamara takes award

Associated Press

BOSTON - This time, John McNamara won a close contest.

Eight days after his Boston Red Sox were edged by the New York Mets in the seventh game of the World Series, McNamara scored a narrow victory yesterday to become American League Manager of the Year.

"That was the furthest thing from my mind," he said of the award. "I would have rather had a win and let somebody else be manager of the year."

But the win didn't come in the sixth or seventh games of the World Series, even though Boston led both, and some of McNamara's decisions were questioned.

"You're going to be subject to second-guessers, but you stay with what you get there," he said at a news conference. "That's what we did."

McNamara, 34, is the man who got the Red Sox to within one strike of the 1986 world championship after they finished in fifth place in the American League East in 1985.

That accomplishment brought him the first manager of the year award in his 13 seasons as the helm of a major league team.

Remaining Irish foes take the shortcut

Notre Dame begins the abbreviated portion of its schedule this weekend against Southern Methodist.

It's not the abbreviated part that's the problem, but because of the teams the Irish will face, such as SMU, LSU and USC, with Penn State thrown in to keep it from getting out of hand. Notre Dame head coach Lou Holtz and Marvin Lett of the Irish soccer team.

"Bill will crack a joke to ease the tension," says Head Coach Dennis Grace. "He's good at that all the time."

The team remembers one time after a game in Madison, when the Irish had played poorly in a 2-1 loss to Wisconsin, Grace told the team.

By PETE GEGEN

Assistant Sports Editor

Remainder of text