Moments of Reflection

Father Hesburgh receives the offerings from four of the many students who attended the Mass at Sacred Heart Church held in memory of the Zahm Hall junior Michael Cogswell on Wednesday at 5 p.m. Students were reminded to reflect upon the fragility of life in the homily given by Father Thomas King, rector of Zahm Hall.

American renovations to alter graduation plans

By BUD LUEPKE

Families of 1987 graduates planning to stay in the Americas Inn during commencement weekend will have to search elsewhere for overnight accommodations because of a six-month renovation project scheduled for that building by new ownership. The Americas Inn, 213 W. Washington St., has been sold to Inns America Corp. of Braintree, Mass., and will become a Holiday Inn after renovations are completed, according to a press release issued by Americas general manager John Wilson. Wilson said that the hotel will close until the end of July due to renovations. Reservations set for days of the renovation period will be cancelled, Wilson added. The renovation period will include the May 17 commencement exercises.

Wilson did not say the Americas would try to find alternate accommodations for those whose commencement reservations will be cancelled.

CIA chief denies knowledge about arms sale profits sent to Nicaragua

By CHRIS BEDNARSKI
Assistant News Editor

WASHINGTON - CIA Director William Casey, in five hours of secret, sworn congressional testimony, denied Wednesday that he knew the profits from U.S. arms sales to Iran were being transferred to Nicaraguan Contra rebels, lawmakers reported.

But Rep. Dante Fascell, D-Fla., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said Casey did offer specifics "with regard to a lot of information which we did not have on the record before" concerning the unraveling scandal that has engulfed the Reagan administration.

Fascell added, "When all of the facts are eventually linked on this, it will be, I won't use the word incredible, but it certainly will be extraordinary." He added that he hopes the whole story will be uncovered soon.

Rep. William S. Broome of Michigan, the senior Republican on the committee, said, "The good news is that Mr. Casey was pretty candid with us and none of what he had to say in any way indicates that the president knew or should have known of any wrongdoing." The bad news is that what Mr. Casey told us indicates serious errors of judgment by senior CIA personnel," Broomefield said, adding, "That needs to be corrected."

Casey testified as Republicans and Democrats sparred over whether congressional committees investigating the Iran-Contra connection should grant immunity from prosecution to key witnesses who have refused to discuss what they know.

One of those witnesses, Vice Adm. John Poindexter, President for Student Affairs, said Sunday that approval for extending parietals on Sunday nights will continue until 12:30 a.m. on Sunday.

Student aid qualifications could be tightened by new law

By MIRIAM HILL
Senior Staff Reporter

A change in federal laws could make it tougher to qualify for student aid, according to Notre Dame Financial Aid Counselors Tina Cunningham and Kathy Keener-Han. Cunningham said students applying for Guaranteed Student Loans will be most affected by the new law, called the Higher Education Amendment of 1986.

For some students, the 1987-88 Guaranteed Student Loan could be less than the amount received in previous years, she said. The new law requires all students hoping to receive financial aid to fill a Financial Aid Form with the College Scholarship Service. This represents a change for Guaranteed Student Loan applicants, who previously had to complete a form called the Simple Needs Test. "Many students at Notre Dame have only the Guaranteed Student Loan, and for those students, the big change is going to be that they can't do it the way they used to before," Keener-Han said.

In general, the new method of determining need is more rigorous than that used by the Simple Needs Test. As a result, some students' Guaranteed Student Loan eligibility may be more restricted.

The new law also raises the amount of money a student can receive through the

FINANCIAL AID GUIDELINES

• No Financial Aid Form, no money. It's that simple.
• Financial need is based on financial status and family circumstances. Both change on an annual basis.
• Don't assume your eligibility or ineligibility.
• The Financial Aid Form should be filed as soon as possible after Jan. 1, 1987. It must reach the College Scholarship by Feb. 28, 1987.
• A completed 1986 tax return is not necessarily needed in order to file.
• If the Financial Aid Form is filed after Feb. 28, 1987, it will be considered a late application.
• Send signed copies of both your and your parents' 1986 federal tax returns to the Financial Aid Office.
Journalists in limbo over whose rights to protect

The ethics of journalism.

Does a newspaper have the duty, ability and basic right to print everything that is news in its area? If I ask myself this question in regards to printing the names of victims, the names of those arrested for crimes, those people, students rather, who are living among us on our campus. Some people say it is its duty, as a newspaper to print and report all news regardless of its harshness, or its probable effects on the lives of students, and others in our small community. In addition to this, some ask, "where does a newspaper get the power set to print the names, facts or content of stories?" They may say the newspaper has a duty, a responsibility to the public.

This duty can be abused, however, and the results are ugly. Journalism sometimes attracts a certain amount of people, and they exist all over the United States, who are news mongers; people who only want the facts, now. If it's news, it's news, no questions asked. These people do not consider the news value in relation to other factors: like people's feelings or the effects the article might have on an entire community.

I feel a human factor must be considered. One must ask, by printing this story, or name, is the story any more credible? Do the positive effects of printing this story, on the public, outweigh the negative effects? A newspaper is not here to exploit, or sensationalize the news; instead, must consider the effects. I wonder how the newspaper would weigh the negative effects? A newpaper is not here to exploit, or sensationalize the news; instead, must consider the effects. I wonder how the newspaper would weigh the news content, it must be reconsidered.

However, if the negative effects of the story, or a particular content of the story might outweigh the news content, it must be reconsidered. What if, by printing a person's name who was charged with drunk driving and had hit another Saint Mary's or Notre Dame student, he or she was "sent over the edge?" One must remember the small community we all live in. The Observer is the only news source of several students.

On the other hand, "It's a hard, cold world out there." "That's life some people say." You don't have the power, as a newspaper, not to print the names. It's the public's right to know. I say to myself, yes this makes sense, but does it make any difference that The Observer is a student newspaper, serving Catholic institutions? I am left with a dilemma: whether or not to protect the innocent, the guilty, or the public?

Elie Wiesel gets Nobel Peace Prize

Associated Press

OSLO, Norway - Holocaust survivor Elie Wiesel, an American writer and human rights advocate, received the 1986 Nobel Peace Prize Wednesday and said the honor belonged to all survivors of the Nazi death camps and their children.

Norwegian Nobel Committee Chairman Egil Aarvik gave Wiesel the gold medal and diploma at ceremonies in Oslo University's Aula Festival Hall attended by 800 people, including King Olaf V and government leaders. The prize also includes $290,000.

The award was "in recognition of this particular human spirit's victory over the powers of death and degradation, and as a support to the rebellion against evil in the world ..." Aarvik said.

The Nobel prizes for physics, chemistry, medicine, economics and literature were presented Wednesday in Stockholm, Sweden.

In a departure from tradition, Wiesel's teen-age son, Shlomo Elisha, was invited to join his father on the podium for the awarding of the prize.

"Thank you, oh Lord, for giving us this day," he said.

In an emotional acceptance speech, Wiesel said: "Do I have the right to represent the multitudes who have perished? Do I have the right to accept this great honor on their behalf? I do not. No one may speak for the dead, no one may interpret their mutilated dreams and visions ..."

"This honor belongs to all the survivors and their children, and through us, to the Jewish people with whose destiny I have always identified ..."

Wiesel said it "would be unnatural for me not to make Jewish priorities my own: Israel, Soviet Jewry, Jews in Arab lands ... but there are others as important to me."

He said Palestinians were a people "to whose plight I am sensitive but whose methods I deplore when they lead to violence."

"Both the Jewish people and the Palestinian people have lost too many sons and shed too much blood. This must stop, and all attempts to stop it must be encouraged," he said.

"I couldn't prove it." Aarvik noted it has been 50 years since the peace prize was awarded to Karl von Ossietzky, the German pacifist who, prior to World War II, warned of the Nazi threat to democracy.

Weekly Crime Stoppers segment to feature robbery of ND students

By MIRIAM HILL
Senior Staff Reporter

This is Lt. Sam Walsh for Crime Stoppers. The robbery of Notre Dame students in South Bend is the Crime of the Week.

These words will be broadcast on area radio and television stations next week, as Crime Stoppers turns its attention to crimes committed against Notre Dame students.

The segment will depict the robbery of two Notre Dame students that occurred at 11:30 p.m. Oct. 17 in the parking lot of The Commons, a bar at 800 N. Eddy St.

The students were getting out of their car when three men approached them, said Walsh. One man displayed a knife while another man pulled a sawed-off shotgun and demanded the victim's wallet and money.

The suspects grabbed one of the students, took his wallet, and left the area. The suspects escaped with $150 and some credit cards, Walsh said.

Walsh said two of the suspects are black males between 25 and 30 years old, standing 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighing 160 pounds. The third suspect is a black male between 25 and 30 years old, standing 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighing 180 pounds.

Walsh said the suspects demanded the victim's wallet and money.

"If there's been a crime against a Notre Dame student, or against anyone, that's of concern to us," said Walsh, who is in charge of Crime Stoppers.

"Notre Dame students are easy prey, because the thugs know they're not armed and that they're carrying money," he said.

As the holiday season approaches, robberies tend to increase because people need more money, Walsh said. He said he hopes next week's segment of Crime Stoppers "will act as a deterrent to the guys who are doing the robberies up here."

To prevent robberies, Walsh advised students to walk in well-lit areas. In addition, he said students should keep wallets out of sight and be suspicious of activity around them.

"The most important thing to remember is that if a robbery does take place, don't resist. Give them what they want," he said.

Crime Stoppers is an international not-for-profit organization that solicits information on unsolved crimes. The South Bend Area Crime Stoppers program began in May of 1983 and has since received information that helped solve 850 felony cases and led to the arrest of 800 felons, Walsh said.

Information on the crimes appears in five area newspapers and on 12 radio stations. Walsh said Channels 16, 22 and 28 film the segments for free as a public service.

If you call Crime Stoppers this week with information leading to an arrest or indictment you could receive a $1,000 reward. South Bend callers call 388-STOP. You will be assigned a code number and we won't ask your name.

Logan Center to get toys

By JOHN SCHMIT
News Staff

The last of the toys collected by the Marine-sponsored Toys for Tots program will be delivered today to the children at Logan Center and the Memorial Hospital in hopes of bringing the less fortunate some added Christmas cheer, according to Marine Corps representatives Brian Dean and Pat Kelleher.

Through fundraisers at Theodore’s and Senior Bar, the club has raised almost $2,000 used to buy toys for Children’s Palace, said Kelleher. New toys were also collected on campus and at the Credit Union, he said.

The Semper Fidelus Marine Club has been sponsoring the program this year with Dean heading the drive.

The Marine Corps Reserve have annually sponsored the nationwide charity drive to collect toys for underprivileged children," Kelleher said.

Air strike on Nicaragua confirmed

By JOHN SCHMIT

WASHINGTON - Reagan administration officials confirmed Wednesday that Honduran jets struck targets inside Nicaraguan territory last weekend.

But they denied charges by Nicaraguan President Daniel Ortega that Honduras carried out the raids at the request of the United States.

The Los Angeles Times quoted sources in Honduras on Wednesday as saying U.S. officials were not told the Hondurans planned to attack positions inside Nicaragua and that the Americans were disturbed to learn of the bombing runs.

But U.S. officials, who asked not to be identified, said the administration had not taken any position on the propriety of the Honduran action.

The Honduran government denied again Wednesday that it had undertaken any raids inside Nicaragua but Sandinista military officials showed reporters craters and shrapnel in the town of Wiwili that they attributed to Honduran bombing runs.

The Sandinistas said that the air strikes left seven soldiers killed and 12 wounded. The town is located about 16 miles from the border. Nicaragua said an army of 6,000, 11 miles northwest of Wiwili, also was attacked.

The raids apparently were in response to recent border crossings by Nicaraguan troops into Honduran territory. An administration official said Thursday U.S. intelligence agencies had confirmed the cross- border incursions, but he did not know what damage had been inflicted.

Meanwhile, another U.S. official described a report that the Honduran government has reached an understanding with Nicaraguan rebels that they would withdraw from Honduran territory by next spring as "exaggerated."

The reports said the rebels had pledged to Honduras they would carry out their fight against the Sandinistas from Nicaraguan territory. Rebel use of Honduran territory has been a sore point with that government for years.

Asked about the report, State Department deputy spokeswoman Phyllis Oakley said, "It is the view of the United States that the Nicaraguan resistance belongs in Nicaragua. The government of Honduras has ex-

volved."

"Thus, I am directing the Residence Life staff to reword the statement in such a way that an overnight parietal violation will not automatically result in suspension or dismissal but that the penalty assessed will be dependent on the circumstances of the case which could include suspension or dismissal," he later said.

Student senator and chairman of the Student Senate Committee on Parietals Brian Holst said he is pleased with the decision to extend Sunday parietals.

"It's a good sign. It shows that the administration is receptive to student input when it is well formulated," he said.

Grace Hall Rector Father Gerald Lardner said the decision to extend Sunday parietals is "not of major importance. "It's not that big a deal. I think it's a common sense type thing. Lardner said he will probably extend parietals until 10:30 p.m. in Grace Hall, although he said he would talk it over with the Resident Assistants and Hall Staff first.

"I would rather have had parietals stay the same, " said Father George Roman, Alumni Hall rector. He also said he will consult with his hall staff before deciding whether or not to extend Sunday parietals in Alumni Hall.

At the time the proposal was passed by the CLC, Holst said the reason for extending Sunday parietals an extra half-hour is to accommodate "co-ed associations.""It allows students to relax and socialize after mass in one another's rooms," he said.

Holst, however, said he is disappointed with Tyson's decision to reject the final part of the proposed policy statement. "We were looking for a concrete lessening of the penalty and the penalty was only redefined," he said.
Study shows hormone could increase life span

Associated Press

BOSTON - High levels of a mysterious hormone have been linked for the first time with longevity, and finding ways to increase this natural chemical might someday be a key to helping people live longer, researchers say.

The hormone, produced by the adrenal gland, is called dehydroepiandrosterone sulfate, or DHEAS. No one knows precisely what it does, although it's the most abundant steroid hormone in humans.

Researchers at the University of California at San Diego found that older men who had high levels of the hormone were far less likely to die, especially of heart disease, than were people with low levels of the substance.

"There is no way to either raise or lower DHEAS levels with medicine or behavior, although it is conceivable that we could develop a therapy to alter levels of the hormone," said Dr. Elizabeth Barrett-Connor, who directed the study.

In their report in Thursday's New England Journal of Medicine, the researchers cautioned that DHEAS could merely be a marker for some other attribute that truly helps people survive longer. But they added, "It is also plausible that DHEAS confers protection against death in general and against death from cardiovascular disease in particular."

In the early 1970s, the researchers drew blood samples from 242 San Diego men who ranged in age from 50 to 79. After 12 years, the doctors compared the levels of DHEAS in the men's blood with their survival. The initial DHEAS levels among the 76 who had died were lower than those of the men who were still alive.

Although no one knows how DHEAS works, the researchers speculated that it might prevent obesity and hardening of the arteries.

Debate heard over teaching creationism in schools

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Teaching creationism alongside evolution in public schools was attacked as an attempt to "give God equal time" and defended as true academic freedom in a lively Supreme Court debate Wednesday.

The court is to decide by July whether lower courts were right in striking down a Louisiana law that required the teaching of evolution to be "balanced" by teaching creation science.

The lower courts said the law violates the constitutionally required separation of church and state by disguising religion as science.

But Atlanta lawyer Wendell Bird defended the law, telling the justices, "Creation-science is scientific material, non-religious material."

He said the law mainly separated church and state by disguising religion as science.

Bird's portrayal of the law and its purpose was attacked by Jay Topkis, a New York City lawyer.

"Oh sure, academic freedom -we've got to give God equal time." That's their idea of academic freedom," Topkis argued.

The Louisiana Legislature enacted the Balanced Treatment for Creation-Science and Evolution-Science Act in 1981 but it was struck down before ever being enforced.

creationism parallels a literal translation of the biblical version in Genesis, stating that Earth and most life forms came into existence suddenly about 6,000 years ago.

WHEN IS THE RIGHT TIME TO CALL HOME BEFORE THE HOLIDAYS?

a) When another hour of cramming for the stats exam isn't going to help anyway.

b) When that Xmas Club money is almost gone, and you haven't even started buying presents.

c) When you just keep thinking about unwrapping after finals with the whole family together again.

Okay, maybe exam time 'saint the season to be jolly. But a call home might be just the thing to bring a little early holiday cheer. And there's no more reliable way to call than using AT&T.

You can count on AT&T's high quality service all year round.

But there's no time like those weeks before vacation to talk to your parents. It's a time to make plans. A time to talk about gifts. A time to talk about what you're thinking of buying. A time to reminisce about other years when the family came together. And a time to warn them that bombing out in statistics is, well, a probability.
Alcohol situation on campus must be faced

Dear Editor:

It is with infinite sadness that I read of the death of Notre Dame Junior M．Vogel. He was an intelligent young man who had to suffer his pain on asmallmarchingband．injune．He was a responsible, hardworking student and we all feel his loss. Nor will the person responsible for his death ever be the same.

Don't misunderstand. I do not consider myself superior to anyone else, but I do want to take this opportunity to bring to the attention of the student body something we all need to learn. We all need to care about each other. We all need to care about ourselves. We all need to care about the world outside of ourselves.

This is not a new concept. It is one that we have been aware of for a long time. But it is one that we have not taken seriously enough. It is one that we have not taken seriously enough.

The art of listening should be appreciated

Listening is a virtue rather than an art because it lies in both the human and the divine. It is a ministry to which we are called. How often have we ourselves sought in vain for a special someone - not just anyone - to listen to our hearts? Our past history, or the obstacles we face in our lives? How many times were there successes, joys, and personal good news that we longed to share with "a person," not just anyone or anyone. Would that more of us responded to the quiet call to be ministers of a healing listening? By listening, we aren’t going to be solvers of people’s problems. They will solve their own. Simply put, as Christians and people of other religious persuasions we believe that it helps the business of the Gospel to also be compassionate listeners. It is a beautiful gift a caring person can offer. It is something the people who often frequent a bar to seek out someone who will listen to them instead of a religious place, because no one ever seems to be available or at home or one must wait that long to be heard. Suffering doesn’t have office hours.

I understand that hairdressers and bartenders are now being offered courses in the art of listening. Bartenders, barmaids - and hairdressers, must be excellent listeners. God bless those who realize this! After all, they are only people but it may be good for business. Christians and people of other religious persuasion believe that it helps the business of the Gospel to also be compassionate listeners. It is an expression of love and compassion. How often people fast to a bar to seek out someone who will listen to them instead of a religious place, because no one ever seems to be available or at home or one must wait that long to be heard. Suffering doesn’t have office hours.

How often people fast to a bar to seek out someone who will listen to them instead of a religious place, because no one ever seems to be available or at home or one must wait that long to be heard. Suffering doesn’t have office hours.

I understand that hairdressers and bartenders are now being offered courses in the art of listening. Bartenders, barmaids - and hairdressers, must be excellent listeners. Well it's December again. And if you're like most college stu­dents, you haven't even thought of Christmas shopping yet. But don't despair. We all are going to have to do our shopping during those few hours between the end of finals and the start of the big day.

Finding the right gift for a per­son has always been a challenge. Of course, if you're like me, all of your friends will be receiving a McDonald's 01ft Certificate this year, maybe even two. They also give you a cute little Christmas stocking decorated with Fivel Mouseketeers. Who's Fivel? Well, he's the animated rodent starring in an American Tale. The story is all about a little, poor, Jewish immigrant mouse who... Jewish? On a Christmas stocking? Forgive me, oh, great hamburger mecca, but I'm con­fused.

Shopping for a dormer is per­haps the hardest task of all. Everyone has a Notre Dame sweatshirt, as well as most everything else in the bookstore. As a veteran of the Cabbage Patch Wars of 1985, I would like to offer a few unique suggestions for some ideal dormer gifts. Do you know someone in the College of Arts and Letters? Then you know how long they slave with me is (a. a communist, b. your roommate's name, c. Ann Pettifer, d. Theodore Hesburgh, probably). Anyone who disagrees with me is (a. a communist, b. damned to hell for eternity, c. a fellow Hoosier).

Sincerely, (a. your real name, b. your roommate's name, c. Ann Pettifer, d. Theodore Hesburgh.

"University of Notre Dame: a Contemporary Portrait" is not only a book new to Notre Dame. It is, according to its author Robert Schmuhl, the first time any university has tried anything like it. Published this year by the Univer­sity of Notre Dame Press, Schmuhl's book is not simply a chronicle of Notre Dame's past, and you'll find nothing of the Gip­per here. Instead, "University of Notre Dame: a Contemporary Portrait" focuses on the intellec­tual life of Notre Dame at the mo­ment.

After a chapter describing the origins of the University, Schmuhl addresses each col­lege, the law school and the graduate school. The book ex­plores the various programs of study and research endeavors and emphasizes the underlying philosophies of the colleges. Schmuhl calls his volume a "book of parts." He says the reader gets "narrative and pic­tures and profiles about and from the people." The people in­­erviewed in the book include University Provost Timothy O'Meara, who originally had the idea for such a book. Father Theodore Hesburgh and the deans of all the colleges. There are also comments from numerous professors.

"University of Notre Dame: a Contemporary Portrait" portrays the school in a very favorable light but still manages to high­light what Schmuhl calls "cross­currents" at Notre Dame. These include the questions such as whether the University can remain an excellent teaching institution while becoming a cen­ter of research and whether the Catholic character of Notre Dame helps or hinders its academics. A combination of facts and opinions addresses these issues effectively. This is not a book that throws out isolated fun facts about Notre Dame. Instead, it is a portrait of the character and goals of the University, with a definite emphasis on academics.

Schmuhl, an assistant profes­sor of American Studies, spent three years researching, con­ducting interviews, and writing this book. "Provost Timothy O'Meara wanted to see a volume to bring together the history of the University with a focus on what is happening now and plans for the future," he explained. "University of Notre Dame: a Contemporary Portrait" is just that, and the abundance of inter­views and photographs make it an enjoyable as well as an in­formative book.

Baseball meetings

Dawson, Morris to leave teams

Associated Press

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. - Jack Morris will not play for the Detroit Tigers next season and Andre Dawson will leave the Montreal Expos, their agent promised Wednesday.

The declaration that Morris and Dawson would challenge the free-agent system came minutes before the first major trades of baseball's winter meetings.

Seattle made two deals, sending outfield basem an Danny Tartabull to Kansas City for pitchers Scott Bankhead and Steve Shields, and trading reliever Matt Young to Los Angeles for pitcher Dennis Powell.

The Dodgers also acquired pitcher Tim Leary from Milwaukee for first basem an Greg Brock.

But the big news concerned the big free agents, Morris and Dawson.

Agent Dick Moss, who successfully argued the Andy Messersmith case that essentially created free agency, said Morris and Dawson were committed to leaving.

Morris and Dawson have both been offered salary arbitration by their teams. The All-Stars have until Dec. 19 to accept or reject the proposal, and if they say no, their teams must sign them by Jan. 8 or lose that right until May 1.

Moss said Morris, a 21-game winner, gave him a list of four teams he would like to pitch for - the New York Yankees, California, Philadelphia and Minnesota - and would try to sign a new contract within a week.

Morris, who made $950,000 last season, rejected Detroit's lone offer since the season ended, a two-year contract for $2.5 million. Moss said the Tigers "have indicated no change" and that Morris turned down Detroit's offer to meet again Thursday.

Dawson, who batted .284 with 20 home runs and 78 runs batted in, has rejected the Expos' contract offer of $2 million for two years.

Later in the day, as several teams including Detroit began leaving the meetings, Seattle sent Young to the Dodgers for pitcher Dennis Powell and a minor-league basem an. Powell went 2-7 for Los Angeles, his first year spent mostly in the minors. Powell, 23, is a hard thrower who enjoyed considerable success in the minors.

The Mariners also received second basem an Mike Watters, who hit .285 in Class AAA.

Brock, who didn't attain the numbers the Dodgers expected, has hit 71 home runs in parts of five seasons with the Dodgers, but has had trouble making contact.
Women's IH basketball begins with Farley edging B.P.

BY SHEILA HOROX
Sports Writer

The 1986-87 women's inter-half basketball season began in dramatic fashion this past Sunday with Farley A edging Breen-Phillips A, 51-50.

Good teams always find a way to win and no other team typified that notion more so than Farley. Although trailing throughout most of the game (Farley managed to take the lead on only four occasions), it seized a lead when it counted most—at the buzzer.

Breen-Phillips jumped out to a quick 7-0 lead until an Ann Marie Reilly basket sparked a Farley rally that cut the deficit to 7-6. Farley took the lead 16-15, but Breen-Phillips reasserted its inside game to resume command. With the inside scoring of Ann Curoe and Cynthia Guckien, and the outside shooting of Carolyn Burke, B.P. surged to a 20-19 halftime advantage.

Farley, however, made several key adjustments. Marci Almeida, who led all scorers with 19 points, was moved from guard to forward in the second quarter. The scenario then went as follows: Almeida grabbed an offensive rebound, was fouled on the follow-up and went to the foul line. After missing her first free-throw attempt, Almeida made 11 straight.

B.P. coach Jeff Peters conceded that the game was decided at the foul line. "Final shots definitely made the difference in the game," said Peters. "We missed a few one-and-one's late in the second half."

Still trailing by a point, Farley opened the fourth quarter with a trap defense that resulted in several turnovers by Breen-Phillips. Farley briefly led 57-56 but B.P.'s Vicki Buth and Curoe combined to put their team up, 48-41, with three minutes left.

In an attempt to pressure the ball, Farley abandoned its 2-3 zone for a man-to-man defense. Farley then made the most of every scoring opportunity, relying on Almeida and point guard Mary Beth Borkowski (18 points).

Finding themselves down 49-48, B.P. called a time out with 40 seconds remaining. Following this break, Guckien's jumpshot with 20 seconds left put B.P. back in the lead.

"I probably should have told my team to hold the ball a little longer," said Peters. "We shot with 20 seconds left and that gave Farley a chance to score."

Boilermakers went 1-8 in 1942. Purdue had only one winning season under Burtlett—1984-85 when the Boilermakers were 7-5 with a Peach Bowl loss to Virginia, and Burtlett was named Big Ten Conference coach of the year.

Akers coached the past 10 years at Texas, where his teams compiled an 89-32 record and appeared in nine straight bowl games before this past season. Former Texas Tech Coach David McWilliams was hired last Friday as Akers' successor.

Akers played defensive back, quarterback and placekicker at the University of Arkansas from 1962-66. He coached high school football in Texas before joining the Longhorns' staff in 1966 as an assistant to Darrell Royal.

Burtlett compiled a 21-34-1 record in five years.

Farley did exactly that. Borkowski got the ball into the hands of Kerin White, who sank a 14-foot jumper with eight seconds remaining to give Farley the win.

With the victory Farley takes the early lead in the women's race. There may not be much of a race after Christmas break, however, if Farley continues to pull out the big wins.

"There's no reason to complain," said one Farley coach, "when you're coaching a team that always finds a way to win."

The season has just begun, however, and Farley will have nine other teams fighting it for the chance to go to the playoffs in February. The top four teams at the end of the season, as determined by record, will advance into the playoff tournament.

Several other teams also began their seasons on Sunday, among the more notable being defending champion Lewis A, which crushed Badin, 96-14.

The teams will resume play after the semester break.

Irish swim teams get schedule break after winning weekend

By PAT KEARNS
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame men's and women's swimming teams are looking forward to their next meets, but they'll have to wait a while.

Both squads will be traveling to Philadelphia to practice and to compete in the meets, which will take place on Jan. 9 vs. LaSalle and on Jan. 10 vs. Villanova.

"We expect to have our work cut out for us in both meets," said Irish swimming coach Tim Welsh. "Both schools are very well-coached, and we expect them to be very, very fast."

Both the men's and women's teams are 2-1 and are coming off particularly strong individual and team performances last weekend.

The men's team scored an impressive victory over Mankato State last Friday and took the Irish Invitational on Saturday.

Roger Miro, Charles Neidhoffer, and Eric Bobhan keyed the Irish wins with impressive outings in both meets. The men's squad is especially deep, leading to first-place showings in several events, including the 100-yard breaststroke, the 200-yard backstroke and the 100-yard freestyle.

The women's swimming team also had quite a weekend, breaking three school records in the process of beating Mankato State on Friday and winning their Irish Invitational on Saturday.

Senior Monica Walker, freshman Kathy Quirk and junior Nancy O'Brien, among others, are swimming quite well, leading the Irish to victory in their events.

But coach Welsh is not over-confident heading into Christmas break. Both the men's and women's teams can count on hard practices, beginning December 28 in Philadelphia, in order to stay in shape for their upcoming meets.

"The team is in very good shape now," said Welsh. "I think both teams are stronger, faster, and more capable than last week, but we need to maintain a good level of conditioning over the exam and Christmas period."

Both teams are looking at the championships as their final and most important goal, and coach Welsh expects them to improve steadily until the team can bring forth its best effort at that time.

"The progression of improvement for both teams has been parallel," said Welsh. "This is an opportunity to get a feel for the championship."
Ditka names Tomczak starting QB
Associated Press

LAKE FOREST, Ill. - Chicago Bears Coach Mike Ditka said Wednesday that Mike Tomczak will start at quarterback Monday night against the Detroit Lions in the Pontiac Silverdome.

Ditka said Doug Flutie also will see considerable action in the game as the Bears, 12-2, hope to nail down home-field advantage for their first playoff game, either Saturday, Jan. 3, or Sunday, Jan. 4th.

"I feel like I've got three good quarterbacks. The situation right now is I'm going with Tomczak as my starter," said Ditka, who also has veteran Steve Fuller as backup to Tomczak and Flutie.

"I'm not saying I wouldn't play Steve but I just want to find out right where we are so we'll be okay when that first weekend in January rolls around," Ditka said in a telephone interview with Bears sportswriters and sportscasters.

Video cameras catch cheaters at marathon
Associated Press

NEW YORK - The 24 people who took shortcuts in last month's New York City marathon probably didn't think about the video cameras recording the race.

They were caught, and officials from the three biggest marathons said Wednesday that cameras and vigilance are increasingly needed to combat the cheaters.

It was the disqualification of Hoosier John Bell, winner of the Master Division for runners over 40, that led New York race officials to review their videotapes from the race and disqualify 23 other runners. Officials estimate that the 41-year-old Bell, of Marion, Ind., took a 10-mile shortcut for his time of 3:25:15.

Three of the 24 runners were among the top 100 finishers. Bell was the fifth and 69th runner to cross the finish line out of 19,689 who finished the 26.2-mile race on Nov. 2.

E. Michigan next test for 2-2 Irish tonight

By RICK RIETBROCK
Sports Writer

Notre Dame's basketball team has gotten back to even and now looks to move another step above in tonight's game against Eastern Michigan. The 2-2 Irish will be trying for their third straight victory against the 3-3 Hurons.

The Irish played three games last week, playing well in a loss to Cornell. While taking three games overall, they were looking for their third straight victory against the Hurons.

Wrestling downs Wis.-Parkside

By STEVE MEGARGEE

After two-plus weeks of competing in tournaments against some of the top schools in the country, three Notre Dame wrestlers last night showed their home fans just what they'd learned while they were away. Notre Dame coach Fran McCann was more than grateful to see the exhibitions by Jerry Durose, Pat Boyd, and Ron Wisniewski, as they keyed the Irish win over Wisconsin-Parkside last week, playing well in a loss to Indiana and a win against Brigham Young, while taking on a lackluster look in a 60-66 squeaker over Cornell.

Sean Conner

Notre Dame head coach Dick Ger Phelps indicated that he doesn't want another flat performance, like the one the Irish put together against Cornell, against the underdog Hurons. "This is a game where we need to concentrate early and come out and take control," he says. "If we let them come in and play well early the way Cornell did last week, it could and play well early the way Cornell did last week, it could be a long night for us. We've got to play our game and do the things we want to do.

Leading the way for Ben Braun's squad will be 6-4 sophomore forward Mike McCaskill and 6-8 junior center Grant Long. McCaskill, one of the team's co-captains, averages 13.2 points and 7.4 rebounds to lead the team in both categories, while Long chips in 12 points and 7.2 rebounds per contest.

Completing the frontcourt is 6-6 junior Chuck King, who sports a 9.4 scoring average. The backcourt features the other co-captain, 6-5 senior Lewis Scott (5.1 field goals, 3.2 free throws) and 5-11 sophomore junior-college transfer Rick Hardesty, who contributes 8.2 points per game and leads the team with 22 assists. Brad Soucie, a 6-5 freshman, provides some scoring punch from the bench with a 10.2 average.

In quelling the Huron upset bid, the Irish will most likely return to the smaller of their starting lineups. That means 6-7 sophomores Sean Conner about nine, and the timing appears to be perfect. Conner has hit nine of his last ten shots from the field in the last two contests.

Mark Stevenson will start at the other forward spot and carries a 9.3 average. Gary Vorce gets the nod in the pivot, averaging 1.5 points and 2.8 rebounds.

The strength of the squad has been in the backcourt and for the first time since the two teams started matching each other.

Despite getting off to a slow start, the Irish wrestling team defeated Wisconsin-Parkside.

I Hockey season starts with Alumnin win, tie

By ORLANDO RUBIANO
Sports Writer

Interhall hockey began its initial week of play with a partial slate of games. As expected, there were some blowouts which came at the expense of Sorin. But several nail-bitters produced two one-goal decisions and a tie.

This year season's edition of interhall hockey is expected to have more of the latter, which should prove to be very entertaining.

On Tuesday night, the night's lone game pitted Alumni and Stanford. Alumni (6-0), a final four participant last year, was too much for outmanned Stanford (0-2). Alumni had several good scoring opportunities in the first half but could not find the net until Steve Vairo picked up a loose puck inside the blue line. With his back to the goal, he turned and shot, surprising the Stanford goalie as the puck went past him.

While there was no further scoring in the half, Stanford blew several golden opportunities as they twice wasted two-man advantages.

Goalie Matt Roy, who according to Alumni coach Brian Aquadro played tough in the net, came up big as he thwarted Stanford's power play time and again.

After Stanford's Jim Roll tied the match on a three-on-one power play break, Alumni put it all together in the second half. Vairo again when he picked up a loose puck in Stanford's end and fired it into the short side of the goal. Minutes later after an Alumni penalty, Nick Penna scored short-handed when he beat a defender one-on-one, faked the goalie to his left and went in front of him right for the score.

With a 3-1 lead, Alumni continued its attack and scored four number four when a scramble in front of the Stanford goal resulted in a goal by Alumni's Scott Kahney. The final goal was beautifully set up as Bill Harrington took a nice feed from a teammate racing into the slot area, and flipped it into the upper left corner.

"We hustled well after the puck and I thought all the lines played well," said Aquadro, who was quite pleased with the effort.

On Monday night, Cavanaugh-Howard (2-0) twice had to come from a goal down to beat each of the 2-2 Cross (0-2) squad by a 3-2 score. The Observer/Greg Kisses
