Summit ends 'on optimistic note,' no breakthrough

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - President Reagan today said his Soviet counterpart Mikhael Gorbachev grappled with differences over Afghanistan and cutbacks in strategic nuclear arms Wednesday in a summit meeting that ended "on a very optimistic note" but failed to produce any breakthroughs, U.S. officials said.

One administration source, speaking privately, said it was unlikely there would be any progress on withdrawal of Soviet forces from Afghanistan, but it was possible there could be some movement "at the margins" on arms control.

Reagan, in an interview with columnists, noted Gorbachev has said publicly he wanted to pull troops out of Afghanistan. Without revealing details of the talks, Reagan said the two sides have people "working on that particular question right now as to when and how.

"Asked to describe his mood after the signing of an arms treaty Tuesday, Reagan said, "Well, I felt good. I think that yesterday was quite a day, after years of debate and discussion and walking away from things without settlement. I thought it was quite a day." Reagan and Gorbachev are to wind up their discussions with an Oval Office session and a working lunch on Thursday. The White House said Reagan would address the press after he returns from the Oval Office, just hours after Gorbachev sums up the meetings at a Soviet Embassy news conference.

Reagan and Gorbachev discussed the Iran-Iraq war, the seven-year-old Soviet occupation of Afghanistan and prospects for cutting strategic nuclear arms, Fitzwater said.

"The president and the general secretary were very pleased with the meeting this morning. They left on a very optimistic note . . . There's a very good feeling on where we are going," Fitzwater said.

Soviets give thumbs-up on summit

MOSCOW - Soviets shed tears of joy and looked hopeful - to a visit by President Reagan next year as they spoke words of goodwill Wednesday following the signing of the nuclear arms treaty by the two superpowers.

"There hasn't been any other president who has gone so far to meet us," said a 35-year-old man from Rostov in southern Russia who identified himself only by his initials.

"We, two great powers, will trade and live in friendship and peace," he told The Associated Press as he waited for a train in Moscow's Kiyev railroad station.

At the Cheremushkinsky Factory, 87-year-old Maria in the northern part of the capital, Moscow, other people interviewed at random also spoke warmly of the United States.

"I think whatever party is in the union-everybody runs off for governor - has a program to improve the quality of life," said Tatiana Loginovskikh, who was selling apples at the market, burst into tears when she

The Student Senate is waiting for John Goldrick, vice president for residence life and William Hickey, director of food services, to explain why the student body should pay the $1,400 in damages from a food fight earlier this semester before taking action on how to pay the bill.

According to Student Senate President Michael Carrigan, "The senate rejected a plan to use Student Activities fees to pay the bill, Carrigan said. The senate is waiting for a plan proposed by the Hall Presidents Council that would have used Student Activities fees to pay the bill, Carrigan said. The plan had the residence halls, the classes and student government paying for part of the bill."

Malloy: U.S. must place high priority on education

Associated Press

NEW YORK - The United States will be like the British Empire - "celebrating the past" - if American education does not improve, University of Notre Dame President Father Edward Malloy said Tuesday.

"The student's standing in the world and the cohesiveness of society are at risk if urban public schools are not upgraded and higher education is not given higher priority," Malloy said.

"The only way we're going to be able to hold our own in this world is to invest in education, particularly higher education with its research capacity, in order to stay ahead in science and technology in the delivery of services," he said in an interview.

"If we fall behind there, we will find ourselves like the British Empire, rhetorically and romantically celebrating the past and maybe a little bit of the present, but worried about the future."

Malloy said the United States has the best educational system in the world, but is threatened economically by improved schooling in other nations, including Japan and Korea.

"We are five percent of the world's population," he said. "We are in a highly competitive international situation. We have all experienced the pullback of industry and moving more to the service orientation. But you can only service so much if you don't have the basics."

"If students are not prepared well in grade school and high school, "what we get in the upper educational levels are going to be a threat to the detriment of the system," Malloy said.

He expressed hope that correlations will be made.

"What I'm finding around the country is that corporate leadership in the business community and higher education are forming coalitions to argue the case of the priority of education in general and attempt to find remedies for the atrocious condition of the urban public school systems. I think we're going to find some success."

He predicted the next president and Congress also will put a new stress on education.

"I think whatever party is elected in the new presidential election and the congressional, we're going to find a reassertion of the priority of education," he said.

"Almost every state in the union - everybody running for governor - has a program to improve the quality of life," he said. "The welfare system is seen as the source of economic competitiveness," he said.

Howard Beach jury was urged by the prosecutor yesterday to convict four white teen-agers in the "wanton, callous, and brutal" death of a black man allegedly chased into the path of a car. Michael Griffin was "hooliganically propelled down a tunnel, a chorus of death" by the four teen-age defendants on trial in state Supreme Court, spe- cial state prosecutor Charles Langdon. Howard testified in his closing argument. The jury is expected to get the case Thursday.

'Strikes college students

Money makes the world go 'round ... or so they say. But if that is the case, many of our college campuses everywhere are contributing to the end of the world as we know it.

Being broke is a shared experience among students, and it is particularly frustrating at this time of the year when the semester winds down and the Christmas season begins.

Expenses seem to creep up on us unexpec- tedly and we're caught with our hands search- ing through empty pockets.

People heard similar stories: "I have two dollars and eight cents to my name until next week. I've got a dead battery in my car that won't recharge, a stack of parking tickets that would choke a horse because my car decided to die in the wrong parking lot, I owe more than ninety dollars to friendly creditors, my best friend's birthday is a week before Christmas, not to mention gifts that I want to buy for family and friends, and a phone bill that would make me weep. I have no way to get home because even if I do get my car fixed, I'll have no money for gas to get me there."

Great. Stuck in South Bend for Christmas alone. I'd rather get a jump of credit cards. That's Financial Hell, or moneylessness, the disease. And you know it's really bad when you walk into the Financial Aid Office and they call you by your first name.

Dazed and confused, you walk around check- ing paypads and needing money, negelcted quarters, dimes or nickels - anything.

You look around the floor in bridged's, sober of course, your friends hereby, to find that ten dollar bill that fell when some drunk missed a pocket after buying a seventh pitcher.

And the worst things go through your mind. "Maybe I could rob a bank. Maybe I could just take it from the snack bar drawer at work when nobody's looking. Or maybe I'll win the lottery." Yeah, that's it.

Playing the lottery is probably more stupid in this situation than robbing the bank or grab- biting a twenty from the cash register. Note that the two latter solutions are excusable or acceptable - they are not.

They're irrational. Acts of desperation, however, are much easier to understand and actually setting out to collect vending machine quarters to pay for a lottery ticket that yields a slimmer chance at bringing the big one home than Christmas snow in Miami.

But people do this. They stand in line with countless others who share their aspirations of landing a bundle. They begin sentences with

Deaver alcohol defense nixed

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - Michael Deaver's defense lawyers were told Wednesday they couldn't argue to jurors that the former presidential aide's alcoholism impaired his memory when he was questioned about his lob­bying business.

U.S. District Judge Thomas Penfield Jackson, presiding at Deaver's perjury trial, said the defense had presented only hearsay evidence that Deaver suffered from alcoholism.

The defense has contended that Deaver's memory was so clouded by alcoholism that he honestly couldn't recall key lobbying contacts when ques­tioned by a House subcommit­tee and a grand jury.

"I'm not letting it go to the jury," Jackson said. "I'm taking that away."

"The issue of alcoholism is not going to be injected into the arguments," Jackson said.

Deaver's lawyers did not comment publicly on the deci­sion, which was a major blow to their case. There can be no appeal of the trial judge's ruling unless Deaver is con­victed.

Several months ago, Jackson ruled that the defense could present testimony from medi­cal experts that Deaver suf­fered a memory impairment from his bouts with alcoholism. Prospective jurors were ques­tioned about whether they thought alcoholism was a dis­ease or a sign of personal weak­ness.

In his opening statement to jurors, defense lawyer Herbert Miller Jr. said Deaver had a serious drinking problem but had heroically overcome his al­coholism after joining Al­coholics Anonymous.

In an excerpt from his memoir that was published in the current issue of Life Mag­azine, Deaver said he was drining up to a quart of scotch a day during the final weeks of his White House service.

The defense rested without calling any witnesses, includ­ing medical experts who would have testified about the effects of excessive alcohol use on memory.

During cross-examination, three former employees of his lobbying firm, testified that Deaver's erratic, moody be­havior and problems with memory were explained once they learned he was a recover­ing alcoholic.

But Jackson ruled that tes­timony did not prove Deaver was an alcoholic.

"That is hearsay ... self­ serving declarations," Jackson said.

No charges filed in ND auto mishap

No charges were filed Wednesday against the ad­ministrator whose car struck a student on Juniper Road Monday, said Phil Johnson, assistant director of Notre Dame Security.

"Unless we develop new information, at this time we will not be pursuing charges against the driver," Johnson said.

The student, Katherine Green, was still a patient at the University Health Cen­ter Wednesday, according to a nurse there. Green was taken there Monday night after being released from St. Joseph Medical Center, Se­curity said. She had suffered a concussion and a fractured ankle, Security said.

The accident occurred Monday night at the traffic light in front of the Hesburgh Library. The student was crossing the street with the light when she was struck by the car, Security said Tuesday.

No one else was injured in the accident. Security said the accident was not alcohol­related.

The student government funds would have come directly from the Student Activity fees.

Carrigan said the RPC plan would have set "a poor prece­dent" if carried out.

"Next year they'll be able to take the money (the fees) because of damage to the grill­ posts or the snow ball fight," he added. "That's why we didn't want to use the Student Activity fee."

The plan would also punish those students who did not take part in the food fight, he said.

The senate has not ruled out payment through "indirect" means, Carrigan said.

The methods include having the dining halls not serve deserts for a weekend or hold­ ing a fundraiser, he said.

Another proposal was for those caught throwing food to pay the bill, he noted, but those people have already paid a $100 fine.

Goldrick did not set a date for when the bill had to be paid, Carrigan said, but "members of the senate are getting tired with this issue as well as the student body."

The food fight occurred in both dining halls following the Notre Dame-Michigan game. The in­cident prompted Hickey to say he would cancel special dinners for the rest of the semester.

Crash kills Peru soccer team

Associated Press

LIMA, Peru - A navy plane carrying Peru's top soccer team crashed into the ocean off a popular Lima beach, and a crewman was believed to be the only survivor among 44 people aboard, navy officials said Wednesday.

A spokesman said the survivor pulled from the choppy waters was believed to be a pilot and was being treated at a military hospital.

He said 12 bodies had been recovered since the plane crashed late Tuesday night after having trouble with its landing gear and circling the Lima airport for two hours.

Aboard the twin-turboprop Fokker F-27, owned by the navy and chartered by the Alianza Lima professional soccer team, were 38 players, the team manager, eight team employees and seven crew members, the spokesman said.

Other officials said the passengers included Marcus Calderon, the team's internationally known coach.

Only 16 passengers were identified as players in a later navy statement and the relationship to the team of the others on the list, except for the manager, was not clear. A soccer team fields 11 players.

The F-27, which can carry 30 passengers, was returning to the capital from a game in Pucallpa, a jungle city 325 miles northeast. Alianza had defeated Deportiva Pucallpa 1-0 earlier Tuesday to gain first place in Peru's soccer league.

"None of the players stayed in Pucallpa. All of them were on the plane," club President Agustin Merino told a news conference Wednesday.

Gun found in plane wreckage

Associated Press

CAYUCOS, Calif. - Searchers found a gun Wednesday in the wreckage of a jetliner, and FBI officials said flight recordings showed someone entered the cockpit without authorization just before the crash that killed all 43 people aboard.

Hampered by fog and wet ground, 44 searchers going through jet debris and body parts strewn over the 15-acre site found the gun around 11 a.m. in two or three inches of mud, FBI agent-in-charge Richard Bretzing said.

"We have located a weapon," Bretzing told reporters during a news conference at the site where Pacific Southwest Airlines Flight 1711 crashed Monday on a flight from Los Angeles to San Francisco.

"There was evidence there was unauthorized entrance into the cockpit," said Bretzing.

News reports have said that David Burke, fired last month by USAir, the owner of PSA, may have carried a .44 Magnum handgun aboard the plane seeking revenge against former boss Ray Thomson. Both were among the victims of the crash.

In the Spring of this year Fr. Malloy appointed a task force on Whole Health and the Use and Abuse of Alcohol. At that time he asked me to chair the group. Our final report is due on March 15 and we decided early on against announcing our recommendations until after they have been presented to the President. Over the past month articles have appeared in the Observer and in other sources which have commented on our work. I propose to the task force that I provide the community with an updated view of what we are and what we propose to do. The task force consists of: Five full-time librarians who also hold faculty rank, two rectors, one archivist, and myself, a counseling center director who also holds faculty rank. A Holy Cross seminarian and graduate student serves as a consultant. As you can see, we are hardly an "administrative committee." Students play a very significant role in the group, including developing the questions that were used for our hall forums.

Our first meeting, a planning session, took place last May. At that time we agreed to use the summer as a learning period. We developed a file of hundreds of articles in the area of alcohol use/abuse, alcoholism, treatment approaches, policy issues, educational programming, and legal concerns. These materials have been circulated through the committee. We also have been able to test all of the materials gathered by the committee which was chaired by Fr. Beauchamp in 1983-84. When we have completed our work these materials will be placed in the office of Alcohol and Drug Education. Thus, our first major goal was self-education.

We have met weekly since the beginning of the Fall semester. These have been typically one-hour meetings with one or more invited guests. Fr. Malloy attended one session to clarify the mandate. Staff from the Office of Residential Life, Dr. Philip Facenda (University Counsel), Michael Barnes (County Prosecutor), and Rex Rakers (Director of Security) presented their perspectives on these issues. The whole group is divided into six smaller groups and these have been meeting biweekly. Each group is focusing on one of the following topics: (1) education, (2) legality, (3) wellness, (4) policy approaches, (5) campus concerns, (6) community concerns. Each group has been assigned one major problem to work on and the group has been asked to develop a working paper for presentation to the full group. The first paper was due last month and the second will be due this month. Then we will begin the task of putting together a final report.

The question that we will be asked to answer is the following: How do we decide what are our major problems and what are our major goals? How do we decide what a final report should look like? That is not an easy task. The months of January, February, and March are not a happy time for me! It is difficult to focus on the question of what we want the report to say. But that is our job now. That is our work.

Glee Club: music and fraternity

JAYME STAYER

In 1915 Notre Dame students organized a group devoted to informal song. Since that time, the Notre Dame Glee Club has evolved into a 75-voice ensemble famed for its demanding schedule, varied repertoire, and professional musicianship. Under the skilled direction of Carl Starn, the Glee Club presents an interesting array of musical styles. Any Glee Club concert usually includes a Gregorian chant, a polyphonic piece from the Renaissance, secular 20th century compositions, spirituals, and collegiate songs.

Speaking about the sound of the Glee Club, Starn comments, "There is something very appealing about the pure sonority of male voices." Starn also expressed his excitement about the Glee Club's invitation to the American Choral Directors Association in Cleveland. This association consists of a group of objective musical listeners which invites superior choirs to sing at its convention. The Glee Club was also invited to an equally prestigious conference in Kansas. The National Seminar of Intercollegiate Men's Choruses. Though many domers have only heard the Glee Club sing the "Victory March" and other football songs, these accomplishments prove the true musical merit of the "Singing Irish."

In addition to the musical aspect of the group, the Glee Club has a fraternal side. Glee Club president, Scott Lipak, says, "We are much more than just a musical organization. We have our own formal, SYS (Screw Your Section), and a hayride, as well as pizza parties and bowling games." As is typical of the Glee Club, these types of social events inevitably include some informal singing. One member, Rob Thompson, adds, "As a freshman, the social aspect of the Glee Club made my transition from high school to college very easy. I automatically had 70 close friends."

Perhaps because of the pre-alcohol policy era, the Glee Club has been fighting the image of being a bunch of rowdy fraternity members who can harmonize a few songs. Senior Gordon MacLauchlin responds to this misconception, "We are not a fraternity, he says. "We are professional; we are fraternal; and above all, we are musicians." The Glee Club's difficult repertoire substantiates this claim. Some of the serious composers whose music it sings this semester include Poulenc, Milhaud, Tal- lis, and Thompson. The members will also tackle the chorale to Beethoven's "Ninth Symphony" when they join forces with the Notre Dame Chorale, and South Bend Civic Opera and Orchestra.

The Glee Club likes to think of itself as an organization dedicated to entertaining the student body. This attitude is reflected in its free campus concerts, caroling at women's dorms, various student government activities, such as the Hesburgh and Malloy picnics, and other university functions and liturgical celebrations. At many of its concerts, the Glee Club will collect a donation and give it to a worthy charity. In an effort to maintain its image as a group for students, it will hold the popular Christmas concert in Stepan Center this year in order to accommodate more people. It is also having a special concert for faculty members and their families. Christmas season is an especially hectic time for the Glee Club, and this season is no exception. In the span of 13 days in December, the Glee Club has 12 performing engagements and 7 rehearsals. Along with frequent appearances in South Bend throughout the year, the lee Club visits. Glee Club takes several weekend tours to neighboring states. Last month they traveled to the University of Michigan to perform with the Michigan Glee Club. These shorter weekend tours serve to finance longer trips the Glee Club takes each year. During spring break, they will be traveling to Buffalo, N.Y., and Boston, Mass. The Glee Club also tours Europe tri-annually. This past summer it took a whirlwind tour of seven European countries. Watching the Glee Club perform, one is struck by its commanding stage presence and sophisticated style. The members easily create an intimate rapport with their audiences while keeping their professional poise. "Maestro Kenneth Kelser of the South Bend Symphony sums up the essence of the Glee Club with, "This organization has stimulated a fraternal bond while developing admirable musical skills and an appreciation for the performing arts." Encore, Glee Club, encore!"

Irish meet Prairie View A&M as Panthers face rebuilding year

By BRIAN O'GARA
Assistant Sports Editor

When a team comes off a big win, it has the tendency to suffer a letdown in the next outing. When a team faces a relative no-name before meeting a Top 20 foe, it has the inclination to look past the weaker opponent.

The Notre Dame basketball team avoided that first tendency in Tuesday night's 74-49 victory over Boston University after beating Louisiana at the Superdome on Saturday. The Irish hope to bypass the second mistake tonight, as they face Prairie View A&M in a 7:30 game at the Joyce ACC.

"I don't know anything about them until we hear a report on their game against SMU tonight," said Notre Dame head coach Digger Phelps Tuesday after the win over Boston. "We'll know more then. But I do know they've got some good athletes, and they're a Division I school."

Leading the way for the Panthers this winter will be forwards Reginald Jones and Marc Horne, who are each averaging nearly 15 points per outing. Jones is the only returner this winter who will be for¬ward for all the season.

"As we have done in the past," continued Phelps, "we play the people we think we should play: the teams like Louisville, Kentucky, Kansas, North Carolina and Duke."

The Panthers have added a pair of talented big men to their effort in the form of freshman centers Steve Stevenson (6-10) and Jeffrey Junigan (6-7). Both should help bang the boards against a taller and more experienced Notre Dame frontcourt. Stevenson is a product of Milwaukee. Wise, while Junigan hails from nearby Gary, Ind.

"We have brought in some talented freshmen," said sixth-year Panther head coach Jim Danty. "But balancing that is the fact we lost four starters. We have improved ourselves significantly, though, and we have more depth than we have had in the past.

On Tuesday night as the Irish easily handled Boston, Southern Methodist held off Prairie View A&M, 91-75, in Dallas. Four Panther players scored in double digits, however, led by forward Michael Krivin who came off the bench to pour in 22 points. Stevenson clipped in 11 while pulling down 12 rebounds.

"We have a goal of mine," said forward Napoleon McCallum and "I'm very happy with the team."

Respect

The $25 for tickets to the Big Four Classic also seemed too high for many.

Many people were also turned off by the weak home schedule. The crowd in last year's North Carolina upset was unbelievable, but Prairie View A & M and Hardin Simmons don't turn a lot of heads, and there were a lot of empty seats for Tuesday's game against Boston University.

If the players took opponents for granted like the fans do, there would be a lot of losses to teams like Butler, Yale and Valparaiso. Well, maybe not Valpo. Notre Dame's independent status makes it very difficult to get any highly-ranked oppo¬nent to take time from its conference schedule to visit the JACC, and a glance at other major independents' schedules will feature more teams like Loyola (Marymount) and Texas-San Antonio than top-20 caliber teams.

And for those who wanted to see good basketball teams in action, the Big Four Classic featured four teams ranked in the top 25. Perhaps the overriding prob¬lem is that basketball games do not have the football game atmosphere. Pre-game tail¬gaters, friends that come in from out of town and warmer weather all make football games a special event.

But the basketball atmosphere should be a lot better than it is. The team, with its winning tradition, deserves a better crowd than it gets. Maybe fans just can't react as in two sports as well as Bo Jack son can.

FALCONS' HENNINGS WINS OUTLAND

Associated Press

NEW YORK - Chad Hennings, who arrived at the Air Force Academy as a 215-pound tight end and built himself into the nation's top interior lineman, has been named the nation's top offensive tackle. Hennings' next goal is to fol¬low Naval Academy running back Napoleon McCallum and basketball star David Robin¬son from the midwest to the pro football ranks.

"I do realize that I have a lot of quality, but the hardware is what I've been looking for," Hennings said.

Gibson, pitching coveted at pro baseball meetings

Associated Press

DALLAS - Baseball moved forward on expansion Wednesday while Kirk Gibson, Bob Welch and Phil Bradley dominated trade talk on the final day of the winter meetings.

After all 30 owners met, Commissioner Peter Ueberroth announced that the American and National League expansion committees had merged.

"Both committees felt there was enough interest and the timing was now to discuss this whole subject and come up with something that's more formative than there has been in the past," AL president Dr. Bobby Brown said.

This is the farthest baseball has advanced on the subject since Toronto and Seattle were added in 1977.

Ueberroth cautioned, however, that expansion was not imminent. He said baseball first had to resolve its labor and television contracts in December 1988, making any new franchises unlikely until the early 1990s at the soonest.

Several teams faced the prospect of leaving the meetings without making any moves. There were five trades involving 11 major league players through Tuesday.

For more information about the whole idea of going to Arizona, however, will be the key. It's not the main event," said Welsh. "We're excited about the whole idea of going to Arizona."

The whole idea consists of practicing hard in addition to swimming a meet. According to Welsh, they plan to stay in Arizona and practice because they will be able to take advantage of time without swimmers having to be in school.

The dorms will be closed at Notre Dame, so they won't be able to practice here, and because Arizona will be an entirely new atmosphere, getting away should be good for the swimmers.

The Irish squads recently played host to the National Catholic Championships, consisting of quality Catholic swim teams throughout the nation. The Championships, held last weekend, saw both Irish teams finish second.

The competition featured 11 University records broken by the men's team. The astounding fact about this is that there were only 18 events in the meet, something that has to make Welsh very pleased.

Swim teams to face ASU, SMU

During Christmas vacation, the men's and women's varsity swimming teams will keep themselves very busy as they will spend the bulk of their time in Arizona, competing and practicing there for almost two weeks.

The team is scheduled to compete in a four-school meet on January 6 held at Arizona State University.

The men (2-1) will be competing against perennial powerhouse Arizona State and Southern Methodist, as well as a team from British Columbia. Indiana was supposed to compete, but has been unable to do so.

However, the team plans to be in Arizona from Dec. 28 until January 10, practicing.

"Both Arizona State and SMU are national powers. As we become more ambitious in our future schedules, it is important to get in the water with some nationally competitive teams now," said Welsh.

Welsh, however, will be the first to admit that the team has more plans than just winning a swim meet.

"A meet like this is very low-key. It's not the main event," said Welsh. "We're excited about the whole idea of going to Arizona."

Same crime, different punishment

What started as a homicide in Detroit triggered an investigation into the inequities and injustices being committed in the courts throughout the state of Michigan. Records showed similar crimes did not receive similar punishment. And proved punishment rested more on a judge's philosophy than the crime committed.

Within days after the publication of a story that documented this information, the Michigan Supreme Court made some changes. Changes that wouldn't have occurred if a few reporters at a Detroit newspaper hadn't been looking for a story.

It's an example of how individual rights can be protected when the public is kept informed. It's an example of how a free press works in a free society.

If the press didn't tell us, who would?

The Irish have suffered knee injuries to 145-pound junior Pat Boyd and freshman heavyweight Jeff Massey.

Notre Dame will still bring a full lineup to Miami, but most of the wrestlers will be moving up a weight class. "You're always taking a chance when you do that, but with finals coming up, you don't want everyone worrying about their weight," said McCann.

Andy Radenbaugh (118) and Dave Smith (126) both will start at their normal weight classes. The other starters tonight are Dave Carlin (134), Jerry Durso (142), Ron Wisniewski (150), Todd Layton (158), Mark Gerardi (167), Todd Tomazic (177), Chris Genese (180) and George Logdon (heavyweight).

"We're giving them an edge because we're wrestling out of our weight classes, but hopefully our talent will prevail," said McCann.

Last year, two injuries meant the Irish probably would have forfeited at least one of the weight class competitions. Even though McCann has a few more people to use this year, he still realizes the team lacks depth.

"We don't have much depth at all," said McCann. "Once we have our team stabilized, we'll start recruiting for depth."

"When you're limited in scholarships, you've got to rely on walk-ons for your depth and we haven't had a lot of guys come out. We've got two wrestling right now in Smith and Logdon, but we could use more."

After the meet with the Redskins, Notre Dame goes west during the winter break. The Irish have two dual meets in Colorado, facing Adams State College on Jan. 8 and Air Force on Jan. 10. The team also will compete in the Wyoming Invitational on Jan. 10.

Not even the Faust years could drown out football enthusiasm. No matter how bad it was, it was still Notre Dame football, something held very sacred.

Digger Phelps has guided the Irish to 326-147 mark in just over 16 years. Notre Dame has appeared in the national rankings during a season.

The Irish ran onto the floor, ran out to a lead, and ran away with a big win-all to polite applause. Louisville shot bricks all day, had tough handling the easiest of passes and showed all of the normal first-game flaws you'd expect, and a lot more. The fans' reaction? Two loud standing ovations with nine and three minutes remaining to try to coerce a late comeback out of the Cardinals.

"If you can control the team, you control the game," said McCann. "Once we control a team averaging over 80 points per outing last night, we'll have to rebound from last night's 100-49 thrashing of previously-unbeaten Oakland. Notre Dame raises its record to 4-1."

Karen Robinson (20) brings the ball up for the Irish in last night's 100-49 thrashing of previously-unbeaten Oakland. Notre Dame raised its record to 4-1 with the win. Greg Guffey has the details at left.

The Irish basketball tradition, in comparison, seems to get precious little respect. And nowhere was that more evident than at last Saturday's Big Four Classic at the Hoosier Dome in Indianapolis.

Indiana, Kentucky, Louisville and Notre Dame got together put on a real basketball show in the "Final Four" atmosphere, according to several coaches and players.

In the first game, Notre Dame versus Louisville, the difference between the sections was much more than color. The Irish thoroughly outplayed the Cardinals, but no one would have known by watching the stands.

Now that three strong tournament finishes have propelled the Notre Dame wrestling team to a Top 28 ranking, the Irish get to see tonight whether they can have similar success in dual matches.

Notre Dame goes to Miami of Ohio tonight for its first dual match of the season. While the Redskins are traditionally one of the toughest teams in the Mid-American Conference, they will have to rebound from a tough 1986-87 season.

"They're pretty young, and they were kind of down last year," said Irish coach Fran McCann. "I really don't know a whole lot about them. I know they've really been promoting this meet, and they're going to be in really good shape."

Notre Dame also is rebounding from a poor 1986-87 campaign, when the injury-plagued Irish finished with a 1-11 record. With fewer injuries so far this season, the Irish have won the Michigan State Invitational and turned in impressive performances at the St. Louis Open and the Las Vegas Invitational. Notre Dame goes into tonight's match ranked 16th in the nation, its first-ever national ranking during a season.

"We really got our break going tonight," said McCann. "Once we get our team stabilized, we'll start recruiting for depth."

"When you're limited in scholarships, you've got to rely on walk-ons for your depth and we haven't had a lot of guys come out. We've got two wrestling right now in Smith and Logdon, but we could use more."
