Rezoning proposal may limit housing

By GREG LUCAS
Senior Staff Reporter

Discussion is intensifying on a controversial proposal that would rezone most of the area in the Northeast Neighborhood and possibly restrict future off-campus student housing.

Rezoning the neighborhood from "B" residential to "A" residential would restrict further development of rental properties and commercial business, said Councilman Ann Puzzello, who introduced the proposal to the South Bend City Council a few months ago.

The implementation of the proposal, which calls for a rezoning of the area roughly bounded between Hill Street and Eddy and Corby and Madison, could limit the amount of off-campus student housing that will be available in the future, Puzzello said.

The impetus to rezone came primarily from residents who desired a greater sense of control in their neighborhood, Puzzello said. Business interest is strongly opposed to the proposal because it would limit investment and speculation potential, she said, adding that in order for the proposal to be approved by City Council, the area slated for rezoning will be considered purchasing land in the area.

Although the issue directly involves off-campus student housing and the University, there has been no student participation in neighborhood meetings, according to Puzzello. "It would be wonderful if we could get some student input," she said.

"What they (supporters of rezoning) want to do is show power and control over the student population. As far as I see it, they are discriminating against the students," said James Anastos, a resident who is considering purchasing land in the area.

Steve Wene, off-campus senator, said that he had discussed the issue with a neighbor. "I don't want to lose my house," he added, however, that he had not read the proposal before speaking with anyone recently about the plan to rezone. "I think it's something he received a call about. I would do my best to support in the proposal," Wene said.

According to Charles Leone, a member of the Neighborhood Housing Services Board of Directors, the initiative for the proposal came from residents of the Northeast Neighborhood who asked the NHS for support. The NHS is a locally run organization that is affiliated nationally with, and helps fund, programs that work to improve deteriorating neighborhoods.

"I think it's helpful to have a mix of residents, renters and students," Leone said, see ZONING, page 4

3 charged with 25 OC break-ins

By ERIC M. BERGAMO
Senior Staff Reporter

South Bend Police arrested three juveniles during Christmas break who confessed to 25 break-ins in the Northeast Neighborhood, the majority of which were homes of Notre Dame students, a police spokesman said.

Two of the three were caught during an attempted burglary at 831 Madison Ave. on Dec. 23. Captain Patrick Curtell said.

Cpl. Gene Eyster had passed through the alley near the house only minutes earlier when he received a call about a break-in. He returned to the house and found a car parked in the backyard. One youth was handing items out a window to a juvenile by the officers, Eyster said.

A third juvenile at the scene escaped, Eyster said.

The car they were using had been stolen, he added.

One of the juveniles then escaped from the Parkview Juvenile Detention Center, Eyster said, but was recaptured along with the third juvenile in a stolen car after another burglary.

One juvenile confessed to 18 break-ins, and a second juvenile admitted to an additional seven burglaries and stealing the two cars, Eyster added.

The two also implicated another two juveniles and an 18-year-old in some of the break-ins, Eyster said.

The juveniles "would walk around the neighborhood at night and see where the parties were. They knew they were Notre Dame students and wouldn't be there on breaks," Eyster said.

The suspects chose student houses because of how the students "flaunted" their wealth and "the way the (students) treated the neighborhood kids," Eyster said.

One of the juveniles told Eyster they were passing a house where a party was going on and someone shouted racial slurs. The youths broke into the house and were not on breaks, the juveniles were on break.

The suspects knew "they (the students) all had stereo and good clothes," Eyster said.

"If we had five, five had radios," Eyster was told by one juvenile.

One suspect told Eyster "I don't feel bad because they get money from their parents and buy new stuff." The juveniles broke into some residences, Eyster said.

The juveniles would sell the stolen items immediately or throw the items away, Eyster said.

In some instances the juveniles would go to parties, Eyster said.

The University department responsible for the large discrepancy between the number of admitted freshmen and the number of available beds is the Central University Administration, according to Director of Undergraduate Admissions Kevin Rooney. Said Rooney, "The University asks the Admission Office to bring in a class of a particular size." The fact that so many freshmen are relegated to study lounges is just an "unavoidable consequence" of the University policy guaranteeing housing to upperclassmen, he said.

Rain of terror

Cloudy today, sprinkles, high 30s tonight. Winds 10-20. Windy tomorrow with a 70 percent chance of rain. High in the upper 30s.

3 freshmen yet to be housed

By PATRICK O'CONNOR
Staff Reporter

Only two Notre Dame freshmen remain assigned to temporary housing – down from 20 at the beginning of last semester.

The Office of Student Residences reported Friday that four freshmen remained in a study lounge in Grace Hall. Of these, two were moved to permanent housing within Grace over the weekend, leaving Jack MacMullen and Rick Pelliccio the final two students at Notre Dame without a permanent address, according to Father Gerald Lardner, rector of Grace Hall.

In previous years, all freshmen have been moved to permanent housing by or during Christmas break, according to the Office of Student Residences. This year, although dozens of students were relocated into permanent housing over break, not enough empty beds existed to accommodate all of them.

Lardner cited the cancellation of this semester's Jerusalem program and the tendency of more upperclassmen to live on campus during their years at Notre Dame as contributing to this year's acute housing shortage.

Nine beds for male students should have become available with the departure of Notre Dame students for Jerusalem, said the Office of Student Residences. With the cancellation of the program, however, freshmen must wait for room openings that come about through academic deficiency and disciplinary actions, which are rare in the spring semester, said Lardner.

The University department responsible for the large discrepancy between the number of admitted freshmen and the number of available beds is the Central University Administration, according to Director of Undergraduate Admissions Kevin Rooney. Said Rooney, "The University asks the Admissions Office to bring in a class of a particular size." The fact that so many freshmen are relegated to study lounges is just an "unavoidable consequence" of the University policy guaranteeing housing to upperclassmen, he said.

3 freshmen yet to be housed

Two freshmen have been moved to permanent housing by or during Christmas break, according to the Office of Student Residences. This year, although dozens of students were relocated into permanent housing over break, not enough empty beds existed to accommodate all of them.

Lardner cited the cancellation of this semester's Jerusalem program and the tendency of more upperclassmen to live on campus during their years at Notre Dame as contributing to this year's acute housing shortage.

Nine beds for male students should have become available with the departure of Notre Dame students for Jerusalem, said the Office of Student Residences. With the cancellation of the program, however, freshmen must wait for room openings that come about through academic deficiency and disciplinary actions, which are rare in the spring semester, said Lardner.

The University department responsible for the large discrepancy between the number of admitted freshmen and the number of available beds is the Central University Administration, according to Director of Undergraduate Admissions Kevin Rooney. Said Rooney, "The University asks the Admissions Office to bring in a class of a particular size." The fact that so many freshmen are relegated to study lounges is just an "unavoidable consequence" of the University policy guaranteeing housing to upperclassmen, he said.

2 freshmen still to be housed

Two freshmen have been moved to permanent housing by or during Christmas break, according to the Office of Student Residences. This year, although dozens of students were relocated into permanent housing over break, not enough empty beds existed to accommodate all of them.

Lardner cited the cancellation of this semester's Jerusalem program and the tendency of more upperclassmen to live on campus during their years at Notre Dame as contributing to this year's acute housing shortage.

Nine beds for male students should have become available with the departure of Notre Dame students for Jerusalem, said the Office of Student Residences. With the cancellation of the program, however, freshmen must wait for room openings that come about through academic deficiency and disciplinary actions, which are rare in the spring semester, said Lardner.

The University department responsible for the large discrepancy between the number of admitted freshmen and the number of available beds is the Central University Administration, according to Director of Undergraduate Admissions Kevin Rooney. Said Rooney, "The University asks the Admissions Office to bring in a class of a particular size." The fact that so many freshmen are relegated to study lounges is just an "unavoidable consequence" of the University policy guaranteeing housing to upperclassmen, he said.

New rules announced

Special to The Observer

Special parking regulations are in effect during the winter months according to Notre Dame Security.

These rules, which go into effect from Jan. 1 to March 15, have been implemented to facilitate quick and efficient snow removal. The guidelines require that student vehicles must be removed from all facility parking lots before 12 midnight each night from now until March 15.

This regulation also applies to PARKING, page 4.
In Brief

F-16 warplanes will be withdrawn by the United States from a base near Madrid within three years. The U.S. is said to begin hunting for another allied country where the jets can be based. Spain insisted on the withdrawal of the force, the largest one of its kind in southern European. U.S. officials speaking on condition of anonymity said there were no assurances another NATO country would take the wing. Pentagon officials were bluntly pessimistic and said the wing would probably have to be re-based in the United States, adding to the deployment time if a crisis occurred.

Associated Press

Post offices around the country will have to close an average of 1 hour per week as part of the U.S. Postal Service's plan to cut $160 million from its fiscal 1988 budget, officials said Friday. It will be up to the local postmaster to decide whether to close on Saturdays.

The cuts are not expected to affect regular mail deliveries. The postal service has been ordered to trim $430 million from its operating budget in the next 21 months. It also is scrapping or deferring $1.7 billion of a planned $2.3 billion in capital projects this year to comply with other cuts enacted by Congress.

Associated Press

Of Interest

Keenan Revue tickets will be distributed Friday. Distribution for Notre Dame students will start at 3 p.m. inside Gate 10 of the Joyce ACC. Saint Mary's students may pick up tickets at the O'Laughlin Auditorium box office beginning at 6 p.m. at both locations, no lines may be formed until one hour prior to distribution. The tickets are free, and the Revue will be held on Jan. 28, 29, and 30.

The Observer

On-Campus interviewing tips will be the topic of a presentation given this afternoon by Lois Krenz, personnel manager for the South Bend office of the legal firm Cooper & Lybrand. The presentation is sponsored by Career and Placement Services and will be held in the Heuberg Library Lounge from 4 to 5 p.m. Students of all majors are invited to attend.

The Observer

Freshmen ski trip sign-ups for the trip to Sugarloaf will be today Wednesday afternoon between 2 and 4 in Room 214 on the LaFortune Student Center.

The Observer

BCA Talent Show: If interested, have all acts ready by Tuesday, Jan. 19. Please contact: Agnes or Tracy at 823-6727; 204 Farley or Carla at 823-4384, 840 Pasquerilla East.

The Observer

The Juggler Art and Literary Magazine will be distributed Tuesday, Jan. 19 and Wednesday, Jan. 20 from 12 to 1 p.m. in the Great Hall and O'Shaunessy, and 7 to 8 p.m. in the Heuberg Library entrance.

The Observer

A lecture on "The Prisoners' Dilemma and Education Policy" by Tyll van Geel, professor of law at the University of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College, will be held Tuesday, Jan. 18, in Hesburgh Library Lounge from 4 to 5 p.m.

The Observer

Applications are now being accepted for The Observer's
tedly shows that Americans are down on greed and are spending more time with charities. These results are encouraging, and I hope accurate.

Nothing would be better than for Newsweek's prediction that "ethics" are the "in thing" to become true. The last thing we need is for "greed" to conquer ethics. But we have to be careful about sweeping generalizations.

Eighty percent of the people surveyed felt Wall Street was more "greedy" than five years ago. Is this because of the increased publicity and media coverage, however, or because there is a real perception that greed is more rampant? Further, there is the perception that greed is present, but will this translate into future preventative measures?

The Gallup poll shows 49 percent of the public surveyed is involved in some type of charity or social service activity. The article used the survey to indicate that social concern was "in," but the real encouraging news is that this figure has been rising steadily since 1982, right through the "greed" decade which Newsweek characterized. The same is true in the number of students in social work. The "sudden change" in developing a more concerned society has been in motion for five years.

Newsweek is right on target in ushering out the stylish margarita. Trends do happen overnight. However, only time will tell whether we really changed the values by which we live.

The Observer

The Observer is a member of The Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.

The Observer (ISSN 199 2-4000) is published Monday through Friday except during exams and vacation periods. The Observer is published by the students of the University of Notre Dame and Saint Mary's College. Subscriptions may be purchased for $40 per year ($25 for students) by writing The Observer, P.O. Box Q, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556, U.S.A.

The Observer is a non-profit entity. The Observer does not accept advertising.

The Observer is a member of The Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.

The Observer is a member of The Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.

Applications are now being accepted for The Observer's

Editor-in-Chief, 1988-1989

Scott Bearby
Assistant News Editor

Anyone who is interested in applying should submit a résumé and personal statement of no more than 5 pages to Kevin Becker. Applications are due by 5 p.m., Friday, January 22, 1987.
The Observer

More slain with onset of Philippine elections

Associated Press

MANILA, Philippines - Gunmen killed a gubernatorial candidate hours before polls opened today for regional elections, raising the number of people slain to at least 84 in a bloody six-week campaign.

Officials said seven other people were killed in three separate grenade attacks Sunday, but it was not known if five of those deaths were election related.

As far as how the damages to be settled for $1,400 food fight bill have been settled," said Student Body President Pat Cooke. According to Cooke, student government officers are working on a plan in which the dining halls would either serve a simple meal one day or refrain from serving dessert for one day in order to compensate for the damages.

"Technically we are not paying for the bill with any student money outright," he said. "We want to deal with this in the most painless way possible."

The exact details for the implementation of this plan, however, still remain to be worked out.

"We are going to sit down with Mr. Hickey (director of Food Services) this week and figure out exactly how much food to cut back to cover the bill," Cooke said.

"It looks like dessert will most likely be forfeited for one day," said Laurie Bink, student body vice president.

Bink expressed the desire to resolve the issue quickly. "It's time to make a decision about the bill and move on," she said.

The food fight occurred Sept. 12 in both dining halls following the Michigan Notre Dame game. Approximately 800 students participated in the fight that prompted Hickey to cancel picnics and special dinners for the fall semester. The question of who should pay for the food fight damages has remained the subject of Student Senate discussion since then.

"Let's do our best to have a peaceful and honest election," she added. "I would like to appeal to the candidates not to forget their responsibilities to the Filipino people and not to use force and that they should serve the people first, not their own self-interest."

The 54-year-old president was scheduled to attend a final political rally at the suburban Marikina district Sunday.

By KATIE KEARNEY
Assistant Saint Mary's Editor

Nearly four months after the food fight following the Michigan Notre Dame game, uncertainty over the status of the $1,400 bill for damages still remains.

As far as how the damages will be paid, "the whole issue three elections since Aquino assumed office, with voting postponed in 10 of the country's 73 provinces to prevent further bloodshed.

The rebels have acknowledged killing some candidates and admitted selling permits to enable others to campaign. They also promised to maintain order and protect life and property.

"We serve 22 months after a bloodiest and most intense of elections, raising the number of people slain to at least 84 in a six-week campaign.

"The military blames communist rebels for about half the killings during the campaign, but media commentators say rival political factions were responsible for most of the deaths.

"The campaign has been the bloodiest and most intense of elections, raising the number of people slain to at least 84 in a six-week campaign.

"We serve 22 months after a bloodiest and most intense of elections, raising the number of people slain to at least 84 in a six-week campaign.

Karen: Have a warm and lively BIRTHDAY!

Love, Janine, Julie, Ellen, Julie, Jane, Jean, Suzy, Maura, Colleen, Mary, and Jeff

Theft

continued from page 1

The police drove the suspects around the neighborhood and had them point out the homes they had broken into.

"They (the juveniles) knew where every student house was," Eyster said.

The juveniles would throw rocks and nickels at the residence's windows to see if anyone was home, Eyster said.

The suspects avoided entering houses when someone was at home because "that's Crime-stopper stuff," a suspect told Eyster.

Since the apprehension of the six suspects there has been a marked dropoff in break-ins, Eyster said.

"The burglaries have dropped off dramatically. We used to have eight to 10 a day, now we have one every other day," he said.

The suspects avoided entering houses when someone was at home because "that's Crime-stopper stuff," a suspect told Eyster.

Since the apprehension of the six suspects there has been a marked dropoff in break-ins, Eyster said.

"The burglaries have dropped off dramatically. We used to have eight to 10 a day, now we have one every other day," he said.

The suspects avoided entering houses when someone was at home because "that's Crime-stopper stuff," a suspect told Eyster.

Since the apprehension of the six suspects there has been a marked dropoff in break-ins, Eyster said.

"The burglaries have dropped off dramatically. We used to have eight to 10 a day, now we have one every other day," he said.

The suspects avoided entering houses when someone was at home because "that's Crime-stopper stuff," a suspect told Eyster.

Since the apprehension of the six suspects there has been a marked dropoff in break-ins, Eyster said.

"The burglaries have dropped off dramatically. We used to have eight to 10 a day, now we have one every other day," he said.

The suspects avoided entering houses when someone was at home because "that's Crime-stopper stuff," a suspect told Eyster.

Since the apprehension of the six suspects there has been a marked dropoff in break-ins, Eyster said.

"The burglaries have dropped off dramatically. We used to have eight to 10 a day, now we have one every other day," he said.
Judge prevents Gaza expulsions

Associated Press

Jerusalem - A Supreme Court judge Sunday blocked the eviction of Palestinians accused of fomenting anti-Israeli unrest in the occupied Gaza Strip.

Judge Shlomo Levin issued the temporary injunction as military authorities reported a lul in the six-week wave of violence in Gaza following incidents in the occupied West Bank.

Leaders of two Gaza refugee camps appealed to the army to ease curfews imposed on their communities and to free detainees, but were told that order must first be restored. At least partial curfews were in effect in about half the territories' refugee camps.

Cabinet members criticized authorities over the presence of the armed police on the Temple Mount, Islam's third holiest shrine, during demonstrations in Jerusalem on Friday.

A said Mohammed Abu Samra, 26, Frei al Kheirli, 39, Hassan Abu Shaqra, 37, and Khirli, 39, were allowed to stay in the Gaza Strip until the army issues the deportation of Palestinians.

Zoning

continued from page 1

Leone said, "The whole idea behind re-zoning is to stabilize things as they are," Leone said, claiming that rezoning the neighborhood would not eliminate opportunity for student housing in the future.

Leone explained that a group of violations in the proposal would allow properties that are currently being used for rental purposes to continue in that capacity until the residence is either left vacant for a year or converted to a single family dwelling.

Leone said that the increased sense of neighborhood stability that re-zoning would foster would create an incentive for home improvements and additions.

He said that a similar re-zoning plan was implemented in the near Northwest Neighborhood in 1979.

According to Leone, more than 80 percent of the structures in the Northwest neighborhood have seen some improvements since 1979. Leone said that an estimated $5 million dollars was spent for improvements by homeowners since the re-zoning. "This improvement betrays a confidence in the neighborhood," Leone said.

Anastos, whose father owns the Black Studies Program Office of Minority Student Affairs, said that an estimated more than 50 percent of the structures in that capacity until the residence is either left vacant for a year or converted to a single family dwelling.

Leone explained that a group of violations in the proposal would allow properties that are currently being used for rental purposes to continue in that capacity until the residence is either left vacant for a year or converted to a single family dwelling.

Leone said that the increased sense of neighborhood stability that re-zoning would foster would create an incentive for home improvements and additions.

He said that a similar re-zoning plan was implemented in the near Northwest Neighborhood in 1979.

According to Leone, more than 80 percent of the structures in the Northwest neighborhood have seen some improvements since 1979. Leone said that an estimated $5 million dollars was spent for improvements by homeowners since the re-zoning. "This improvement betrays a confidence in the neighborhood," Leone said.

Anastos, whose father owns the Black Studies Program Office of Minority Student Affairs, said that an estimated more than 50 percent of the structures in that capacity until the residence is either left vacant for a year or converted to a single family dwelling.

Leone explained that a group of violations in the proposal would allow properties that are currently being used for rental purposes to continue in that capacity until the residence is either left vacant for a year or converted to a single family dwelling.

Leone said that the increased sense of neighborhood stability that re-zoning would foster would create an incentive for home improvements and additions.

He said that a similar re-zoning plan was implemented in the near Northwest Neighborhood in 1979.

According to Leone, more than 80 percent of the structures in the Northwest neighborhood have seen some improvements since 1979. Leone said that an estimated $5 million dollars was spent for improvements by homeowners since the re-zoning. "This improvement betrays a confidence in the neighborhood," Leone said.

Anastos, whose father owns the Black Studies Program Office of Minority Student Affairs, said that an estimated more than 50 percent of the structures in that capacity until the residence is either left vacant for a year or converted to a single family dwelling.

Leone explained that a group of violations in the proposal would allow properties that are currently being used for rental purposes to continue in that capacity until the residence is either left vacant for a year or converted to a single family dwelling.

Leone said that the increased sense of neighborhood stability that re-zoning would foster would create an incentive for home improvements and additions.

He said that a similar re-zoning plan was implemented in the near Northwest Neighborhood in 1979.

According to Leone, more than 80 percent of the structures in the Northwest neighborhood have seen some improvements since 1979. Leone said that an estimated $5 million dollars was spent for improvements by homeowners since the re-zoning. "This improvement betrays a confidence in the neighborhood," Leone said.

Anastos, whose father owns the Black Studies Program Office of Minority Student Affairs, said that an estimated more than 50 percent of the structures in that capacity until the residence is either left vacant for a year or converted to a single family dwelling.
Ministries of:

Celebration

- Coordination of music and liturgy for campus liturgical events
- Sacramental ministry and pastoral care
- Scheduling of sacramental celebrations for Sacred Heart Church, the Grotto, and the Log Chapel
- Sacrament Supplies for residence halls
- Support services for residence hall liturgies
- Coordination of hall chapel renovations

Education

- Coordination of Marriage Preparation Program:
  *Engaged Retreat Weekends: Feb. 19-20; Mar. 4-5; Apr. 15-16, 1988
  *Host Couple Program (Call Badin Office for details)
- Coordination of Marriage Enrichment Series:
  "Managing Conflict in Relationships: "How to Fight Fair" March 23rd, 1988
  7:30pm Keenan/Stanford Chapel
- What's the Future of this Relationship? (Call Badin Office for details)
- The Catholic Faith Series:
  - On Prayer
  - On the Church
  - On Scripture
  - On Sacraments
  - On Morality
- The Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults (RCIA):
  A process of welcoming new members into the Catholic Church
- Preparation for the Sacrament of Confirmation

Spirituality

- Notre Dame Encounter (NDE):
  A weekend retreat experience guided by students, faculty & staff
  January 22-24, March 25-27, 1988
- Campus-wide retreats:
  - Hosted by members of the ND community
  Jan. 29-31 Fr. Jim Burchall, CSC
  Feb. 12-14 Fr. John Dunne, CSC
- Residence Hall retreats:
  Support services, guidance and direction for individual halls

Administration

- Direction and administration of the Campus Ministry staff
- Collaboration between University Administration, Sacred Heart Parish, & other campus departments
- Coordination of budget, personnel and office operations, and special projects
- Program communications and publicity

Outreach

- Outreach to University Village:
  Celebration of religious events & holidays
  Personal outreach, initiation, counseling, and social programming
  Information sharing, community resources, and advocacy
- Publication of the Notre Dame Religious Bulletin
  Informing, inspiring, and enlightening the Notre Dame community concerning spiritual issues of our times
AIDS infant refused help

Associated Press

ANAPOLIS, Calif. - A refusal by all volunteer firefighters to help a baby with AIDS at a monastery that cares for unwanted infants has left residents of this rugged coastal town wrestling with questions of compassion, communicable disease and fear.

"Some are lining up behind the fire department, and some are lining up behind Starcross (Monastery)," said Sonoma County Supervisor Ernie Carpenter.

Although the Annapolis Fire Department agreed last week to respond to such calls in the future, one firefighter quit, saying he was frightened because he had not been trained to deal with victims of acquired immune deficiency syndrome. Monastery leaders say the incident has fanned hostility that has flared occasionally since Starcross began accepting AIDS-stricken babies a year ago in this rural community about 100 miles north of San Francisco.

People are angry that firefighters did not respond, "but again they blame Starcross for not being ready for their own emergency," said Rae Brodjeski, a 21-year resident of Annapolis.

On the night of Dec. 21, workers at Starcross dialed 911 to report that 1-year-old Aaron appeared to be choking.

The county fire dispatcher radioed the Annapolis Volunteer Fire Brigade. When they declined to respond, the fire crew in Sea Ranch, about 15 minutes away, was called.

The Sea Ranch crew administered oxygen to the baby, who was taken to a hospital about 30 miles away and died of pneumonia two days later. Authorities said Aaron's death was not due to delays in medical treatment.

Delbert Thayarks, an 11-year veteran of the fire department, said he declined to answer the Starcross call because he hadn't been trained in emergency medical care or AIDS, and now he feels angry, misunderstood, misquoted and he's quitting.

"I said I wasn't going there, and I meant it," he said. "If I had the proper training and knew more about the AIDS virus, maybe it would be different. I don't know that much about it, and I'm scared."

Thayarks', 18-year-old son, Robert, recently became chief of the two-engine department. He said the only member of the volunteer squad who has had the training to deal with the AIDS baby was away the night of the call.

According to Mike Cahill, the county's director of fire services, Annapolis volunteers refused to participate in a county-sponsored AIDS training program.

"I said I wasn't going there, and I meant it," he said. "If I had the proper training and knew more about the AIDS virus, maybe it would be different. I don't know that much about it, and I'm scared."

"I don't know that much about it, and I'm scared."

Hogs on ice

Holy Cross residents play hockey on St. Mary's Lake. With the recent warm weather, however, anyone who tries to play hockey on the lake will soon become fish food.

HAPPY 22nd BIRTHDAY

DUKE, HAPPY 22nd BIRTHDAY
TO AMERICA'S FAVORITE SON!

Love,
Your Fan Club

PARSONS SCHOOL OF DESIGN

Special Summer Programs

FRANCE
WEST AFRICA
ITALY
GREAT BRITAIN
JAPAN
ISRAEL
NEW YORK

International programs are offered for students, teachers and working professionals. Courses include: architecture, art history, ceramics, decorative arts, drawing, fashion, fiber, metal and surface design, graphic design, painting and photography. Undergraduate and graduate credit is available to qualified students. Programs for high school students and June graduates are available in Paris, Israel and New York. For more information, please mail the coupon below to the Parsons Office of Special Programs: (212) 741-8975.

Name
Address
City State Zip

Parsons School of Design, Office of Special Programs
66 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10011

Please send me a brochure on Parsons Special Summer Programs.
For 24 hours, America will honor the memory of a black American. For 24 hours, America will remember the dream of the grandson of a former slave. For 24 hours, January 18, 1988, America will respect the vision of a man of ebony—a man who would lead a nonviolent army of love and brotherhood and bring a birth of freedom to America. For 24 hours, America will pay homage to the light that was Martin Luther King Jr.

Marty Rodgers

guest column

Today millions of Americans do not have to work and will find the national holiday a perfect opportunity to rest and relax. And today we here at Notre Dame will go through the routine of attending classes and calmly try to get back into the study groove. But today is a day neither for relaxation nor calmness, rather it is a day which beckons reflection and action and a day on which we must ask ourselves some troublesome and haunting questions.

Perhaps indeed these reflective questions and the implications of the to these questions are the very purpose of this holiday: How far have we come since King? Is his dream being actualized?

---

What does King day mean to ND?

Dear Editor:

I was recently discussing the Martin Luther King holiday with some friends, both black and white, who live near me and face the same community problems that we do. I mentioned that they planned to take the day off. This generated a discussion concerning the meaning of this day and the recognition of the holiday and the failure of Notre Dame’s administration to recognize it.

Certainly, there is little controversy over the fact that the nationally recognized President’s Day is uncelebrated at Notre Dame. And the day off in celebration of Dr. King’s “inauguration” (indisputably insignificant in comparison to the achievements of our national heroes) could be defended as an event of special and exclusive significance to the community of Notre Dame. But the day should not seem so much to be whether or not the University honors the holiday with a day off, but what Martin Luther King, Jr. Day means (or at least should mean) to the administration and student body of Notre Dame.

Will we (particularly, the majority) of the Notre Dame community recognize the courage and justice-loving spirit of the man who led the Montgomery bus strike of 1955-56 and the March on Washington, who captivated and challenged the world with his dream, his words, and his March at the Lincoln Memorial, the March on Washington; who was the first American to die for his country’s “content of character.” Today, in memory of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., we can try “to love and love somebody.”

Marty Rodgers is a senior in the College of Arts and Letters.

---

Quote of the Day

“"We must learn to live together as brothers or perish together as fools."”

Martin Luther King (1929-1968)

---

The Observer

Editorial Board

Editor-in-Chief
Kevin Becker
Managing Editor
Mark Pankowski
Sports Editor
Michelle Roos
Sports Editor
Dennis Corrigan
Arts Editor
Michael Naughton
Features Editor
Sandy Carlin
Copy Editor
Carol Schenck

Operations Board

Business Manager
John Grier
Advertising Design Manager
Molly Kien
Art Director
Barbara McCullough
Production Manager
Melissa Warming
Systems Manager
Shawn Sexton
Controller
Trace Schneideman
Graphic Arts Manager
Laura Blanton

P.O. Box Q, Notre Dame, IN 46556 (219) 284-5600

P.O. Box Q

Monday, January 18, 1988

How can we best remember King?

Has this nation risen up and lived out the true meaning of its creed that all men are created equal? What have we done personally to help the poor and the oppressed, to bring about peace, to erase the stain of prejudice and to overcome ignorance?

King said of his dream that we shall know when it has been realized because “the jangling discords of our nation will be transformed into a beautiful symphony of brotherhood and men everywhere will join hands to build a nation that America truly the land of the truly free."

Thus, I believe we will find upon our examination of ourselves and our introspection, that we are, regretfully far from attaining King’s dream as a nation and as a campus and so today we are called to rededicate ourselves to the struggle.

Today, we must also recognize the rich heritage and legacy of a people often forgotten and left out of our history textbooks. We must recognize the many other black Americans who in a real sense laid a foundation and framework for King: Crispus Attucks who was the first American to die for our independence from the British; Benjamin Banneker, an internationally recognized scholar and "rennaissance man" who could seemingly could do everything from astronomy to designing the city of Washington DC; the militant black "moores" who was Harriet Tubman; the ambassador and abolitionist Frederick Douglass; Carver, Hale, Metzinger and many others who would pioneer numerous scientific discoveries ranging from the simplicity of peanut butter to the complexity of blood plasma; Booker T. Washington, Dubois and Garvey who would seek to raise their people through education and knowledge of their culture; and the plethora of heroes and heroines that America has featured in her past and the arts from the devastating fists of the "Brown Bomber" and the swift feet of Jesse Owens who together would make a mockery of Arian supremacy to Marian Anderson, Paul Robeson, Dunbar and Wheatley; further we must venerate those others who would give fire to the flames of the Civil Rights Movement—Malcolm and Medgar, Parks and Abernathy, Jackson and Young.

Finally, today, we must give voice to the silent enslaved masses upon whose backs would be placed the burden of building a new nation which denied their humanity. We must pay tribute to the disenfranchised and oppressed masses whose blood and sweat would do often mix with the soil that its right of ownership changed—those who would give their lives so that today I and other blacks can vote and receive and education which is so often taken for granted.

King said in a tape played at his funeral that he wanted to be remembered as a person “who tried to love somebody” and who “tried to serve humanity.”

Today, we can remember King by remembering those who came before him. Today, we can remember the efforts made by committing ourselves to peace and non violence. Today, we can try to see each person as a brother and sister trying not to make assumptions based on race, color, or creed, but rather on each person’s “content of character.” Today, we can have “a dream!” and have hope.

Today, we as a nation and a campus can reflect on how far we have come and prepare for the long hard road we have yet to travel—allowing his life to inform us and his dream to sustain us. Today, we can dedicate our bodies and souls to fleshing out King’s beatific vision for a better America—to feeding the poor, clothing the naked, eradicating injustice and interposition, and hearing the “beautiful symphony of brotherhood.”

Today, in memory of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., we can “try to love somebody.”

Marty Rodgers is a senior in the College of Arts and Letters.

---

The Observer

P.O. Box Q, Notre Dame, IN 46556 (219) 284-5600

The Observer is the independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame de la Louisiane and Saint Mary’s College. It does not necessarily reflect the policies of the administration of either institution. The News is inspected as accurately and objectively as possible. Unsigned editors’ represent the opinion of the majority of the Editorial Board. Comments, letters, and the Inside Column present the views of individual authors. Column space is available to all members of the students’ community, and the free expression of varying opinions on campus. Through letters, an encouragement.
My freshman year here, music on the samplers. During Abowd in an interview before the tune or added more instrument played, Abowd either sang with that can be read music. The music was previously programed, which are computers but then read "live" on stage.

"The Whip" gets cracking at Washington Hall

MARK NEMEC
accent writer

Peter Abowd, a senior electrical engineering student better known as "The Whip," brought his unique style of music to Washington Hall Saturday night.

Abowd's one-man show was assisted by numerous digital samplers, which are computers that can read music. The music was previously programmed, but then read "live" on stage. As the computerized music played, Abowd either sang with the tune or added more instrumentation on stage.

I started studying the drums when I was in fifth grade," said Abowd in an interview before the concert. "Then during high school I moved on to the keyboards and started creating music on the samplers. During my freshman year here, though, I really started to feel I was becoming stifled because of my major and the tremendous workload. As the show went along, however, it became obvious that much of Abowd's inspiration came from his freshman year.

Abowd began his show by changing into Washington Hall with two escorts who were dressed like secret service men. As the concert developed, it became apparent that Abowd was very comfortable on stage. He liked to tell the audience where he got the ideas for each of his songs. Much of Abowd's subject material, which ranged from former girlfriends to suicide, was taken from experiences he'd had during his freshman year. The music varied from touchy piano ballads to upbeat dance tunes. Abowd liked to interject humor where he could.

At one point, he talked about the Cotton Bowl. "Did you all see who I'm famous?" said Abowd, who works as a trainer with the football team. "Yeah, it was fun having Tim escort me out of the stadium," he continued, referring to his walk out of the Cotton Bowl with Tim Brown while working as trainer during the game. "I've only seen it on videotape about 200 times," he joked.

Although Abowd gave an energetic performance, he proved that computers are not perfect. "Many mistakes, including one on his opening song, plagued his performance. However, 1 really started to feel I was very comfortable on stage.

As Abowd was about to start his tribute to Notre Dame football with "100 Years," a bat flew into the auditorium, startling the audience. Abowd, realizing what was happening, quipped, "It's O.K. He knows the words."

Abowd plans to continue writing music after graduation. He is thinking about attending graduate school in communication theory and possibly making an album. With a little more polish and precision, "The Whip" could be stirring many more audiences in the future.
Wall Street's perspective on October's stock crash

By MICHAEL J. FAEHNER

Business Writer

It will be remembered as the day which was not supposed to happen, Oct. 19, 1987 or Black Monday. The Dow dropped a record 508 points in one trading day. Many investors who had shares of stock changed hands on the New York Stock Exchange. It is a day that will remain in the minds of many people.

During all the hype of Black Monday the American public heard from a variety of individuals, but notably absent from the coverage were many of the people who did the actual trading.

Many traders also faulted supposed experts of the market. A broker who wished not to be identified said, "Experts or supposed experts only are right 20 percent of the time. You never hear from them the other 80 percent of the time. Everybody said the market would crash, but no one hit it on the nose when it did. So all the experts are cheering how great they are." Several brokers, specialists and clerks felt that media coverage lacked a great deal of substance and detail. Two presaging issues which many traders felt the media ignored was the changing marketplace place by foreign investors and the changing ethics on Wall Street.

A specialist said, "If foreigners ever do pull out of the stocks, the Great Depression of 1929 and Black Monday will become a holiday. Other traders feel that more should have been given to the decline in ethics on Wall Street.

A broker from a major brokerage firm was said, "Your word was your bond in the old days, but its a changing marketplace. The main focus is making a quick buck and really 'giving' to someone else. It's a sad day on Wall Street." Many traders were quick to offer additional comments on what they felt was significant about Black Monday and what lies ahead for the stock market.

Jerry Krystalshak, Vice President of floor operations for the NYSE, said "The media was the hard work and effort of these people on what has to be the most important day in the market's recent history."

President Ronald Reagan said it best right after Black Monday in a message to the trading floor of the NYSE, "In times such as these, it is often difficult to fail to appreciate that the heart and soul of any endeavor is the people who participate by offering rebates on the Cutlass Ciera and Cutlass Calais models. The number three automaker, Chrysler, is offering rebates of up to $700 on certain vehicles. These rebates are available through the end of February. Although they may sound attractive, potential purchasers may want to wait for future incentives due to the condition of the industry. Further price cuts or rebates may be forthcoming. Ward's Automotive Reports revealed that the car industry is sitting from excese inventories.

Wholihan and Murray

Business Briefs

The sales of the nearest Domino's Pizza store were analyzed by four Notre Dame students. They found that 61.16 percent of Domino's sales went to the Cora's Phantom, an export boom. We are going up. Others were not as negative. The media was the hard work and effort of these people on what has to be the most important day in the market's recent history."

President Ronald Reagan said it best right after Black Monday in a message to the trading floor of the NYSE, "In times such as these, it is often difficult to fail to appreciate that the heart and soul of any endeavor is the people who participate by offering rebates on the Cutlass Ciera and Cutlass Calais models. The number three automaker, Chrysler, is offering rebates of up to $700 on certain vehicles. These rebates are available through the end of February. Although they may sound attractive, potential purchasers may want to wait for future incentives due to the condition of the industry. Further price cuts or rebates may be forthcoming. Ward's Automotive Reports revealed that the car industry is sitting from excess inventories.

Five Most Profitable Companies

Source: Forbes Magazine

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Company</th>
<th>Percentage Increase</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Ford</td>
<td>39.3%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>General Motors</td>
<td>20.0%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chrysler</td>
<td>10.3%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

U.S. trade deficit shrinks

Associated Press

WASHINGTON - A record wave of U.S. exports helped narrow the country's trade deficit to $13.2 billion in November, a 25 percent improvement over the govern-ment said Friday. The deficit, $14.4 billion smaller than October's record $17.4 billion shortfall, was the best showing in seven months, the Commerce Department reported.

Analysts credited recent declines in the value of the U.S. dollar, making American goods cheaper abroad and im-porting more expensive, for much of the improvement. The dollar is worth 65.8 percent of its 1985 value against Japanese and key European currencies.

For the Reagan administra-tion, long searching for elusive turnabout in trade ac-counts, the report was "good news but it does not directly structuring rebates on the Cutlass Ciera and Cutlass Calais models. The number three automaker, Chrysler, is offering rebates of up to $700 on certain vehicles. These rebates are available through the end of February. Although they may sound attractive, potential purchasers may want to wait for future incentives due to the condition of the industry. Further price cuts or rebates may be forthcoming. Ward's Automotive Reports revealed that the car industry is sitting from excess inventories.

The nation's automakers have posted good sales results for the past month and a half. Retail sales rose 0.7 percent in December due to strong auto sales. In addition, U.S. car-makers announced that sales during the first ten days of 1988 increased 17.1 percent from year-earlier levels. Light truck sales rose 31.4 percent during the same period.

In order to maintain strong sales, some automakers are offering rebates. Ford reacted to General Motors' rebates by offering a $1,000 cash back on certain models included in the program are rebates for the hot selling Ford Taurus and Mercury Sable. General Motors is also offering up to $500 cash back on the Pontiac 6000, Bonneville, Piero, Sunbird, and Grand Am models. The Oldsmobile division of GM is offering rebates on the Cutlass Ciera and Cutlass Calais models. The number three automaker, Chrysler, is offering rebates of up to $700 on certain vehicles. These rebates are available through the end of February. Although they may sound attractive, potential purchasers may want to wait for future incentives due to the condition of the industry. Further price cuts or rebates may be forthcoming. Ward's Automotive Reports revealed that the car industry is sitting from excess inventories.

Wholihan and Murray

Business Briefs

The sales of the nearest Domino's Pizza store were analyzed by four Notre Dame students. They found that 61.16 percent of Domino's sales went to the Cora's Phantom, an export boom. We are going up. Others were not as negative. The media was the hard work and effort of these people on what has to be the most important day in the market's recent history."

President Ronald Reagan said it best right after Black Monday in a message to the trading floor of the NYSE, "In times such as these, it is often difficult to fail to appreciate that the heart and soul of any endeavor is the people who participate by offering rebates on the Cutlass Ciera and Cutlass Calais models. The number three automaker, Chrysler, is offering rebates of up to $700 on certain vehicles. These rebates are available through the end of February. Although they may sound attractive, potential purchasers may want to wait for future incentives due to the condition of the industry. Further price cuts or rebates may be forthcoming. Ward's Automotive Reports revealed that the car industry is sitting from excess inventories.

Five Most Profitable Companies

Source: Forbes Magazine

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Company</th>
<th>Percentage Increase</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Ford</td>
<td>39.3%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>General Motors</td>
<td>20.0%</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chrysler</td>
<td>10.3%</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Goal-line stands key Redskins win

Chuck Nelson's 18-yard field goal that tied the score 10-10.

From there, the Redskins went 70 yards in eight plays for the winning TD pass by Williams, who had an awful day and finished with nine incomplete passes in 26 attempts for 119 yards.

Then they stopped the Vikings after they reached the Redskins 6. Wade Wilson's fourth-down pass for Derek Nelson was deflected on the one by Darrell Green.

"We played zone on the last two plays," Washington Coach Gibbs said. "We tried to mix it up. We had blitzes on them a couple times and they caught them real quick, and they threw the ball away."

Sports Briefs

The fencing team defeated Penn, 15-12, Friday night. It was Coach Mike DeCocco's 600th career victory.

Details appear in tomorrow's Observer. - The Observer

The hockey team defeated Army Saturday, 8-4. Mike McCool recorded a hat trick to lead Notre Dame. The Irish are now 15-5-2 for the season. Details appear in tomorrow's Observer. - The Observer.

A WVFI sports staff meeting will be held tonight at 6:30 p.m. at the station. All staff members and anyone interested in becoming a part of the staff are expected to attend. The meeting will be open to the public, call Sean or Jamey at 2366. - The Observer

The women's softball team will have its first practice tomorrow at 3:30 p.m. at the Loftus Center. New members are welcome, no experience necessary. Call Greg Barron at 2180 for more information. - The Observer

Two new basketball courts are now available in the JACC. They are located by the ice arena and will be available on a first-come, first-served basis during regular JACC hours. - The Observer.

The Tae Kwon Do Club will have its first meeting for the spring season tonight at 7 p.m. in the JACC fencing gym. New members welcome. No experience necessary. Call Greg Barron at 2180 for more information. - The Observer

Varsity sports' rowers who are going to participate in the upcoming season must attend a practice tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. by the JACC track or they will not be placed on the final roster. - The Observer

The water polo team will have a practice tomorrow at 7 p.m. at the Loftus Center. New members welcome. Contact Tom Cashman (234-6727) or Marty Walls (286-6723) if you can't attend. - The Observer

By STEVE MEGARGEE

Sports Writer

Midway through Notre Dame's wrestling match with Illinois State, the lights at the JACC Pit began to malfunction. Minutes later, Notre Dame's Chris Geneser dingerprinted any chances the Redbirds had of taking the match.

The 177-pound junior needed less than two minutes to dispose of an outmatched Kevin Summerville. Geneser's pin, coming at 1:46 into the first period, upped his individual record to 13-2 and gave the Irish an insurmountable 26-7 lead. Notre Dame (3-1) won the match by a final score of 26-14.

"Chris is a potential All-American," said Irish coach Fran McCann. "He's like that (Summerville) he's got to handle, and he showed a lot of toughness in that match. He's right on schedule."

Geneser was far from the only standout on Notre Dame's side Saturday night. Senior co-captain Run Winiwarter recorded a superior decision with a 28-5 win in the 142-pound division. Fellow sophomore Andy Radenhaufen, 134-pound junior co-captain Jerry Duroso and 150-pound freshman Todd Layton all scored major decisions.

McCann acknowledged the Irish needed wins from those six people, and we did. We had to have big scores from those six people, and we did from everyone except Gerardi."

Tomazic and Gerardi both should be in action. in this week's dual matches with Michigan State and Clarion State. The Irish go to Michigan State on Thursday and return home to face Clarion's Golden Eagles on Friday.

"For us to beat Michigan State, we've got to win from those six guys again," said McCann. "Clarior's all a Top 10 to Top 20 school. Two years ago, they killed us. They're going to have some tough,streetfighting kids."

Defence

continued from page 16

For the game, Syracuse shot 38. Syracuse was hurt by injuries to key players. Captain Felisha Leggett has been out since early in the season, and the Orange went lost the services of Damone Hopkins just before coming to Notre Dame. "Hopson was one of their best players," said McCann. "We never even got a chance to practice without her. Leggett was probably their best player.

It's tough to have a schedule like that, but they picked us to win the Big East, and I still think they're going to have a great season.

Despite the victory and its importance to the Irish, McCraw says her team still has plenty to work on.

"We got sloppy toward the end," she said. "We had some problems with the pressure, we turned the ball over. We weren't always aggressive enough on offense.

The Irish will try for a fourth straight victory when they travel to Chicago to take on a tough DePaul team on Wednesday.

Wrestlers defeat Ill. State by winning 'must' matches

Jerry Duroso and the Notre Dame wrestling team defeated Illinois State Saturday, 26-14. Steve Massey left school for personal reasons leaving senior football player Dem Prinivallaw, who joined the wrestling team during its win tryout to Colorado, for the heavyweight for the Irish on Saturday. "He came right after the (Cotton) Bowl," said McCann. "He met us in Colorado Springs from Dal-

The Irish also were suffering from injuries to freshmen Todd Tomazic and Mark Gerardi. Tomazic missed the match with a shoulder injury, and Gerardi came up with a 6-3 win in the 158-pound division in spite of an injury.

"I was a little leery because Gerardi was hurt a bit," said McCann. "He wrestled really tentatively. If he was healthy, he'd have pinned the guy.

"We won the matches we had to," McCann said. "We had to win with our six solid guys. We had to have big scores from those six people, and we did from everyone except Gerardi."

Tickets

The Observer Notre Dame office, located on the third floor of LaForte Student Center, accepts classified advertising from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. The Observer Saint Mary's office, located on the third floor of Haggar College Center, accepts classifieds from 12:30 p.m. until 3 p.m., Monday through Friday. Deadline for next day classifieds is 2 p.m. All classifieds must be prepaid, either in person or by mail. The charge is 10 cents per five characters per day.

The Observer - 409 Haggar

MRS. COKER, 233-7009.

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON - The Washington Redskins are headed for their third Super Bowl in six years, thanks to a defense that wasn't ready to settle for a third straight overtime with the Minnesota Vikings.

The Redskins beat the wild-card. underdog Vikings 17-10 after Minnesota's shot at a fifth Super Bowl.

While the winning touchdown came on a 7-yard touchdown pass from Doug Williams to Gary Clark with 5:15 left, it was reality and Minnesota's shot at a fifth Super Bowl.

From there, the Redskins went 70 yards in eight plays for the winning TD pass by Williams, who had an awful day and finished with nine incomplete passes in 26 attempts for 119 yards.

Then they stopped the Vikings after they reached the Redskins 6. Wade Wilson's fourth-down pass for Darrell Nelion was deflected on the one by Darrell Green.

"We played zone on the last two plays," Washington Coach Gibbs said. "We tried to mix it up. We had blitzes on them a couple times and they caught them real quick, and they threw the ball away."

Washington coach Joe Williams, who had an awful day and finished with nine incomplete passes in 26 attempts for 119 yards.

"We can't have a schedule like that," Williams said. "We had to have big scores from those six people, and we did from everyone except Gerardi."

Tomazic and Gerardi both should be in action. in this week's dual matches with Michigan State and Clarion State. The Irish go to Michigan State on Thursday and return home to face Clarion's Golden Eagles on Friday.

"For us to beat Michigan State, we've got to win from those six guys again," said McCann. "Clarior's all a Top 10 to Top 20 school. Two years ago, they killed us. They're going to have some tough,streetfighting kids."

Defence

continued from page 16

For the game, Syracuse shot 38. Syracuse was hurt by injuries to key players. Captain Felisha Leggett has been out since early in the season, and the Orange went lost the services of Damone Hopkins just before coming to Notre Dame. "Hopson was one of their best players," said McCann. "We never even got a chance to practice without her. Leggett was probably their best player.

It's tough to have a schedule like that, but they picked us to win the Big East, and I still think they're going to have a great season.

Despite the victory and its importance to the Irish, McCraw says her team still has plenty to work on.

"We got sloppy toward the end," she said. "We had some problems with the pressure, we turned the ball over. We weren't always aggressive enough on offense.

The Irish will try for a fourth straight victory when they travel to Chicago to take on a tough DePaul team on Wednesday.
Why has Macintosh become the most popular computer among faculty and students in academia?

Well, maybe it's because:

You can get started right away since Macintosh™ is the easiest personal computer to use.

You can use the most productive software for word processing, publishing, business, graphics, science, and much more.

You can also communicate with other systems like DEC®, IBM® and Cyber®.

Although it comes with everything you need, you can expand your Macintosh even further without giving up true portability.

And as a fulltime student, faculty or staff member, you can buy one before January 15 at a price you won't want to miss.

Macintosh
The power to be your best.™

For information contact
The Notre Dame Computing Center
239 - 7477.
pointer of the game to put the Demons ahead, 65-60.

The visitors then looked as if they were willing to reciprocate Notre Dame's bewilderment in the last meeting between the two teams. In that game, the Irish turned the ball over numerous times and missed crucial free throws to enable DePaul to escape with a win in Chicago.

Stan Brundy missed the front end of a one-and-one twice, and Greene and Edwards hit one of two opportunities to keep the Irish hopes alive. But mainly because of Strickland, who scored 28 points, the only resemblance to the last game was the winner.

A Gary Voss dunk that pulled Notre Dame to within three and a DePaul timeout revved up the Irish fans, but the junior point guard responded with a pull-up jumper in the lane and later hit five of six pressure free throw attempts in the final minute to deny the Irish an opportunity to tie the game.

The effort by Strickland and the Blue Demons' performance under pressure made Greene, who finished with 10 points, take a fresh outlook on the remainder of the season.

"I told Coach it was just going to be an easy day at the office," said Greene with a content smile. "Well, if you want it easy, we did it. This is where we turn it around. It's a new season for us. We re 1-0."

"AFTER we lost the last two, people were down on us, but Coach Meyer stick with us. We appreciate the way he treated us."

Three-point shots were on display at the outset as each team connected on four bombs in the first 10 minutes of the game.

Sean Connor, starting in place of Mark Stevenson (foot injury), and Greene each hit one, but Strickland and David Rivers, the co-winners of the Wendell Smith Award as the outstanding players of the game, provided the real fireworks. Rivers was perfect in three attempts, while Strickland hit three-of-five to thwart Notre Dame's defensive strategy of giving up the outside shot to deny penetration.

"It's a situation where either you let them beat you outside or let them beat you with the penetration," said Notre Dame head coach Digger Phelps. "Greene, Edwards and Strickland are that good as perimeter players."

We knew Strickland could hit from out there, but last game their penetration hurt us," said guard Jamere Jackson, who scored a career-high 35 points. "We wanted them to beat us from the outside and that's exactly what they did."

IRISH ITEMS: Junior guard Michael Smith will not rejoin the team this season. Smith had arthroscopic surgery to repair torn cartilage and a partially-torn ligament and it was hoped he could return by February. The medical staff indicated that "Smith's progress has been largely impeded by his failure to adhere to a prescribed rehabilitation program," according to a sports information press release.

The TI-95 Technical Analyst™ offers all the built-in functions of the TI-95 plus a reprogrammable eight-symbol constant, Decision Programming (DIP), three calculators and 100 programming steps for repetitive calculations.

The TI-95 Advanced Scientific features such built-in functions as hexadecimal/octal conversions, integration using Simpson's rule, matrices and vectors, and file management in externally-readable text files. There are also 84 programming steps for repetitive calculations.

No matter how hard your science, math or engineering courses are, they're easier to take with TI Advanced Scientifics. For all those excruciatingly hard problems you're about to encounter in your math or science career, TI offers an easy solution. The Advanced Scientific calculator, from Texas Instruments. Each TI Advanced Scientific features large, color-coded keys and a simple keyboard layout, making them easier to use than any other scientific calculator. And we've packed our calculators with the right built-in functions and programming capabilities to solve even the hardest problems. Maybe that's why more students rely on TI calculators than any other brand.

So if you're the kind of student who's got science on the brain, get the calculators from the folks who've given their brains to science.

Texas Instruments

Free software for the TI-95. Visit your nearest TI Dealer now!
Associated Press

DENVER - John Elway's third touchdown pass, a 20-yarder to Sammy Winder with 4:01 to play, and a goal-line fumble by Cleveland lifted the Denver Broncos to a 38-33 victory over the Browns Sunday and into their second straight Super Bowl.

The Browns had rallied from an 18-point deficit to tie the game Jan. 31 in the Super Bowl. The Broncos lost to Dallas in 1978 and the New York Giants last year in previous Super Bowl appearances.

The last team to go to consecutive Super Bowls was the Redskins in 1980 and '81. The 75-yard drive was highlighted by a pair of 26-yard passes to rookie Ricky Nattiel. Denver's No. 1 draft pick began the drive with a sideline catch over All-Pro cornerback Harvard Dixon, then sped across the middle for another long gain to the 20. Winder scored on the next play.

Cleveland then launched yet another retaliatory drive, but it died at the 2 when Earnest Byner fumbled. Byner was on his way into the end zone when he was stripped by Jeremiah Castille, who recovered for the Broncos with 1:06 left.

Denver punter Mike Horan ran out of the end zone for a safety with eight seconds to play, giving the Browns their final two points.

The Browns, who trailed 21-3 at halftime and 28-10 in the third quarter, finally tied the score on Webster Slaughter's 4-yard reception 4:12 into the fourth quarter.

After Rich Karlis' 38-yard field goal had given the Broncos a 31-24 lead, Bernie Kosar guided the Browns 86 yards in nine plays. A 53-yard pass play over the middle to Kevin Mack keyed the drive.

Byner and a 14-yard run by Kevin Mack keyed the drive.

Earlier, Elway threw for two touchdowns, including an 80-yarder to Mark Jackson. That third-quarter broken play was the longest playoff touchdown in Broncos history.

Jackson, whose 5-yard touchdown capped the 98-yard drive to the tying score in last year's AFC championship game, took a 5-yard pass from the scrambling Elway and sped down the sideline, eluding two tacklers.

Jackson and Nattiel - two of the Three Amigos - were key elements in Denver's passing game. They made up for the absence of Vance Johnson, the third Amigo and Denver's leading receiver, who was out with a groin injury.

Jackson finished with 134 yards on four catches, and Nattiel - who had an 8-yard touchdown in the first quarter - wound up with 96 yards on five receptions. They dominated Dixon and Minnifield, a pair of Pro Bowl cornerbacks, as the high-powered Broncos offense, led by quarterback John Elway and sped down the sideline, eluding two tacklers.

The Broncos, who led the AFC in takeaways, nearly took Cleveland right out of the game with an interception by Freddie Gilbert on the Browns' first series and a recovery of Mack's fumble on the Browns' next possession.

Denver did virtually the same thing last week in eliminating Houston from the playoffs.
Rod
continued from page 16

their second win over the Irish in little over a month. "It inspires me going up against David Rivers because he is such a great player," said Strickland. "You always want to play well against a great player."

Rivers, who was perfect on five attempts from three-point player."

"I figured they would try to stop me from penetrating today," said Strickland. "I tried that if I could hit a couple jump shots I might be able to open things up for me and my teammates."

While Strickland's battle opened opportunities for the Blue Demons to stake a claim as the top independent in the nation, it also went a long way in closing a painful chapter in the team's five-on-five scrimmage. "I just wanted to play ball today," continued Strickland. "Because of my situation, I knew I'd have to go out there and be aggressive."

Strickland, third in career assists for DePaul, was certainly not shy about putting the ball up, especially during the pivotal moments of the second half. It was obvious, practice or no practice, that Strickland was the guy the Blue Demons would go to.

"Rod has always had that potential to hit the long shots," said Meyer. "He never looked for them because he was busy getting the ball to other people."

But he just felt it today, and rose up to the occasion."

In the Blue Demons' 73-69 overtime win over the Irish on December 12, Strickland's penetration through the lane allowed DePaul to tie the game in the waning moments of regulation and pull away in overtime.

"I think that if I could hit a couple jump shots I might be able to open things up for me and my teammates."

While Strickland's play opened opportunities for the Blue Demons to stake a claim as the top independent in the nation, it also went a long way in closing a painful chapter in the team's history. Ad

Strickland's play opened opportunities for the Blue Demons to stake a claim as the top independent in the nation, it also went a long way in closing a painful chapter in the team's history. Ad

Chicago's Michael Jordan, the NBA's leading scorer, claims the Detroit Pistons deliberately tried to hurt him. Jordan made his strong comments after the Bulls' 115-99 fight-marred victory over the Pistons Saturday night.

Jordan was the victim of rough physical treatment from Detroit's Rick Mahorn and Adrian Dantley in the second half. He was grabbed around the neck and tossed to the floor by Mahorn early in the third quarter, which precipitated the emptying of players from both benches and a fight between Mahorn and Chicago's Charles Oakley. "I don't think I've ever seen that," said Strickland.

Both Mahorn and Oakley were ejected, but not before Bulls Coach Doug Collins, in attempting to intervene, was flung over the bench and into the scorer's table by Mahorn.

Jordan went on to his fifth career triple double - 36 points, 10 rebounds and 10 assists. "There was no doubt in my mind but that Mahorn, and later Dantley, was trying to injure me," the angry Jordan said.

defined Processing of your 35mm, E-6 or C-41 color negative film.

ON CAMPUS
In
12:00pm out by 4:00pm
SAME DAY!!
Call 239-5465 or stop in for details!!

Photo/Graphics Dept. Rm. 13 CCE

Don't delay
Toll free SPRING BREAK INFORMATION AND RESERVATIONS
1-800-321-5911

In support of the United Negro College Fund or your favorite charity

The Observer
Monday, January 18, 1988

Attention Juniors: IF YOU THOUGHT YOU COULDN'T START AT THE TOP NOW YOU MAY

Explore Summer internships with an industry leader who

• Demands Entrepreneurship
• Emphasizes Career Growth Based on Individual Performance
• Offers Challenging Responsibility
• Provides a TOP-rated Internship Training Program

*Interviews to be held on Tuesday, February 9, 1988
*Profile form turn in date by Monday, January 25, 1988 at the Career and Placement Services Office

THE MAY DEPARTMENT STORES COMPANY EXCELLENCE IN RETAILING
Monday
7 p.m. Monday Night Film Series, “African Queen,” Annenberg Auditorium.
7 p.m. Tubing at Bendix Woods, sponsored by the Student Union Board. Buses leave library circle at 7 p.m. Cost is two dollars.
9 p.m. Monday Night Film Series, “The Graduate,” Annenberg Auditorium.

Wanted: the most ambitious junior at Notre Dame

- must be able to sell
- must enjoy business
- must want an excellent opportunity to make money and gain experience

If interested, call Kevin Becker at 239-5303 today to arrange an interview.

Campus

The Daily Crossword

ACROSS
1 Cats and dogs
5 Hog's cousin
10 Invitation
14 Locomotion
15 Coeur d'–
16 Duelling
17 Fishing
18 Climbing plant
19 Scott demoon
20 Ball
22 Dogs
23 Skin
25 Carried on 27 Helped
31 Drinking orgy
34 Tubes
35 Ringlets
37 A Gabor
38 W ar god
39 — Antoinette
40 Benzark
41 So- so grade
42 Man
43 Out of funds
44 Make believe
46 Come back
48 Conroy
50 Mrs. Charles
51 Marching
52 Record of
54 Approaches
55 Courage
56 Mellow
57 Ant old style
58 Rosen or
59 Lazarus or
60 Put In order
61 Courage
62 Mellow
63 Ant old style
64 Lazarus or
65 Fling
66 Mohammedan
67 Fabric worker
68 Ringlets
69 Indians
70 Indians
71 Indians
72 Indians
73 Indians
74 Indians
75 Indians
76 Indians
77 Indians
78 Indians
79 Indians
80 Indians
81 Indians
82 Indians
83 Indians
84 Indians
85 Indians
86 Indians
87 Indians
88 Indians
89 Indians
90 Indians
91 Indians
92 Indians
93 Indians
94 Indians
95 Indians
96 Indians
97 Indians
98 Indians
99 Indians
100 Indians

DOWN
1 Golf teachers
2 Roof edge
3 "A. Grows
4 Watchmen
5 Flare
6 MacDraw of movies
7 Legumes
8 Kind of tube
9 Legible
10 Indians
11 Rash motorist
12 Blood vessel
13 Throw stones at
21 Sound for a villain
23 Butt the folk singer
25 Transfer design
27 Hearty
28 Lorelei
29 Motorcyles hazards
30 - engraver
32 Summon
33 Collected fallen leaves
35 Ascended
36 Disciplinarian
38 Put in order
39 Foe
40 Put In order
41 Servant
42 Exchange
43 Set fire to
44 Make beloved
45 Came back
46 Make beloved
47 Browns bread
48 Corny
49 Foe
50 Foe
51 Role
52 Exchange
53 Umbrella
54 Record of
55 Horde
56 Rickey
57 Marquee name
58 Cookbook
59 Approaches
60 Old-time car
61 Ringlets
62 Ringlets
63 Ringlets
64 Ringlets
65 Ringlets
66 Ringlets
67 Ringlets
68 Ringlets
69 Ringlets
70 Ringlets
71 Ringlets
72 Ringlets
73 Ringlets
74 Ringlets
75 Ringlets
76 Ringlets
77 Ringlets
78 Ringlets
79 Ringlets
80 Ringlets
81 Ringlets
82 Ringlets
83 Ringlets
84 Ringlets
85 Ringlets
86 Ringlets
87 Ringlets
88 Ringlets
89 Ringlets
90 Ringlets
91 Ringlets
92 Ringlets
93 Ringlets
94 Ringlets
95 Ringlets
96 Ringlets
97 Ringlets
98 Ringlets
99 Ringlets
100 Ringlets

Monday, January 18, 1988

The Observer

Calvin and Hobbes

Bill Watterson

Bloom County

Berke Breathed

Far Side

Gary Larson

Calvin and Hobbes

Bloom County

Far Side

Gary Larson

Calvin and Hobbes

Bloom County

Far Side

Gary Larson

Bloom County

Far Side

Gary Larson

Winterfest '88

Monday
TUBING AT BENDIX WOODS
-7 pm - meet at Library Circle
-2 - includes transportation, use of hill & hot chocolate

Tuesday
lecture by:
Shirley Chisholm
"Protest, Order, and Justice"
-8 pm, Washington Hall
-2
-tickets available at The Cellar

Wednesday
POOL PARTY
-Rolf’s Aquatic Center
-8 pm -11 pm
-water volleyball, water polo, diving, music, intertubes, food -FREE

STRIPES
8:00 & 10:00
Cushing Auditorium
$1.00

Thursday
Comedian
BOB BATTLE
-former ND student
-9 pm Theodore's
-FREE

STRIPES
8:00 & 10:00
Cushing Auditorium
$1.00

Saturday
The ROMANTICS
-$3.00 -Stepan Center
-8:00 pm
-followed by BONFIRE
-Caddyshack

Friday
$1.00 - Cushing Auditorium
-8:00 & 10:30

Humphry Dumpty's final days

If interested, call Kevin Becker at 239-5303 today to arrange an interview.
DePaul hangs on to sweep series

By RICK RIETBROCK
Assistant Sports Editor

DePaul's Terence Greene's message to whoever would listen wasn't exactly accurate, but he had the general idea right.

The junior forward's claim proved to be true as the hot-shooting Blue Demons defeated Notre Dame Saturday afternoon, 77-71, to sweep the home-and-home series the top independents. Both teams are now 9-4.

"Terence came to me and said 'Coach, it's just going to be an easy day at the office, we're going to get the job done tonight,'" recalled DePaul's head coach Joe Meyer. "I think he did an excellent job of getting this team ready to play."

Someone certainly did. While it wasn't as easy as Greene had asserted, DePaul rebounded from consecutive losses to Georgetown and Dayton, and Rod Strickland bounced back from off-court difficulties in a business-like fashion.

The teams traded leads throughout, but DePaul claimed the lead for good with seven minutes left on a Kevin Edwards dunk. Kevin Golden then blocked a David Rivers attempt and Alux Laux nailed DePaul's seventh three.

DePaul took the lead for good, 68-62, with 6:12 left on a Kevin Price three. DePaul had 13 of its 22 makes from three on the day.

The Blue Demons took the lead for good with a scoreless streak of 10:10 over the final five minutes.

Men win, women lose in swim team meets

By BRYG GUFFEE
Sports Writer

It was a weekend of mixed results for the Irish swim teams.

The men's team downed Northern Illinois Friday and then came back to crush Western Ontario Saturday, while the women's team suffered setbacks against both schools.

The men came back from an early deficit to defeat the Huskies, 133-130. After falling behind by 12 points just three events into the meet, the Irish gained momentum. Jim Byrne won the 100 backstroke, and Paul Godfrey captured the 200 butterfly to boost Notre Dame to a 50-49 lead.

The Irish were victorious throughout, taking the second-place finish. Moston came back to claim the lead, winning the 200 back, 200 breast, and 200 individual medley.

The women's squad also performed well, taking six first places while dominating the second, third and fourth places. Moston won the 200 back, 200 breast, and 200 individual medley.

The Irish managed only six first places in their loss to Western Ontario. Amy Darlington won the 300 butterfly, Johnson the 50 freestyle, and Andrea Bonny the diving, but they trailed, 66-65.

Moston won the 200 backstroke to tie the score at 84-84, but the Irish could not pull ahead. Even though they won three of the final six events, the Huskies managed more swims to claim the win.

Moston added 10.

The womens squad, meanwhile, managed only six first places in their loss to Northern Illinois. The Orangewomen began to get their bearings, but the Huskies would not be denied.

The women's squad, meanwhile, managed only six first places in their loss to Northern Illinois. The Orangewomen began to get their bearings, but the Huskies would not be denied. The Irish managed only six first places in their loss to Western Ontario. Amy Darlington won the 300 butterfly, Johnson the 50 freestyle, and Andrea Bonny the diving, but they trailed, 66-65.

Moston won the 200 backstroke, Wood the 200 breaststroke and Moston the 200 freestyle.

The 400 medley relay team of Moston, Wood, Darlington and Johnson also took first place.

Both squads travel to the East Coast this weekend, swimming at Boston College Saturday and Providence Sunday.

ND women start strong again, run over Orange women, 81-64

By THERESA KELLY
Sports Writer

Anyone who stayed to watch the basketball game that took place after the men's game saw what they came for, Saturday afternoon-a big win for the Irish.

It was the Orange women of Syracuse, not the Blue Demons of DePaul, who fell victim to a quick start and an impressive shooting performance by a Notre Dame team—the women's basketball team.

Syracuse came into the Joyce ACC with a 13-3 record and a four-game winning streak. It left with an 11-4 score and a one-game losing streak. The Irish had an important one for Notre Dame, which showed its true colors against a very tough opponent.

The Irish rolled up ten points before Syracuse got a basket and were leading 19-3 before the Orange women began to get into the game. The Irish were hitting the basket at an amazing clip, shooting 18 of 27 (67.2%) for the half.

"We've come out strong every game," said Irish head coach Muffet McGraw. "We've always started out well, even in the games we've lost."

Late in the first half and throughout the second, the Orange women tried to quicken the pace and put pressure on the Irish to try to get back into the contest. Although the Irish did finish with 23 turnovers, guards Mary Gavin, Karen Robinson, and Sara Leibscher were successful in beating the tough Syracuse pressure throughout most of the game.

The Orange women, like all the teams the Irish have played this year, had trouble dealing with Notre Dame's strong inside game. Heidi Bunek led the Irish in scoring for the seventh time this season with 23 points, and frontcourt mate Sandy Roth added 16. However, the Irish did not rely entirely on the inside game, as the jump shots were falling almost as easily as the layups, giving Syracuse even more to worry about defensively.

"Diondra (Toney) hit a few long jumpers early," said McGraw. "That was good. That was something that she should do a little bit more. Karen Robinson hit a few too, and Lisa Kuhns is always ready to shoot from long range. Our perimeter game was a little bit better today."

Toney and Kuhns both tailed 13 points for the Irish, and Robinson added 10.

The Irish rebounding effort was balanced well. Toney and Botham each brought down nine boards, Bunek added eight, and freshman Krissi Davis grabbed seven in just 21 minutes of play.

The Irish played good defense, especially in the first half, when they held the Orange to .282 (11 of 39) from the floor.

The Observer / John Studebaker

see DEFENSE, page 10

see DEMONS, page 12

see ROD, page 14

Strickland's return bad news for ND

By BRIAN O'GARA
Assistant Sports Editor

When DePaul head coach Joey Meyer didn't play Rod Strickland in the Blue Demon's loss to Dayton Thursday night, it was like dangling a steak in front of a caged lion.

On Saturday, Meyer's star point guard was hungry to close the door on his most difficult week in three stellar years at DePaul. After the Blue Demons 77-71 win over Notre Dame on Saturday, the question was not would Rodney want to play, but how well would he play.

The 6-3 junior tied a career-high with 28 points against the Irish, carring four three-point shots to keep DePaul close and coolly sinking five free throws in the final minute to ice the victory.

Strickland's matchup with Notre Dame's David Rivers was a game in itself, as the two stars steered their teams through a nailbiting contest which featured 12 lead changes. Barricading a meeting between the two schools in postseason play, Strickland came away with the upper hand in the final collegiate meeting between two of the nation's top guards. Strickland tallied 28 points to Rivers' 26, but more importantly the Blue Demons came away with...