Administration changes alcohol policy

Revisions result from task force recommendations

By REGIS COCCIA

After more than a year of reviewing the recommendations of students and task force members, the University has issued a new alcohol policy barring alcohol at hall formal.

"Of all the things that have been decided in Notre Dame's history, there's probably been more student involvement and input in this policy," said University President Father Edward Malloy. "One of the alternatives was going dry."

The new policy was finalized during a five-day meeting of 12 University officers in July at the University's own research center in Land O'Lakes, Wis.

The Task Force on Whole Health and the Use and Abuse of Alcohol made its report on March 15, after a year-long study. Reaction to the report was solicited by various campus groups and given serious consideration during the Land O'Lakes meetings, Malloy said.

The recent nationalization of the 21 drinking age indicates the need to confront the problem of alcohol abuse, he said. "Alcohol use and abuse is a national reality barely every university in the country has to face that reality," Malloy said.

"In the West Coast, the change in the law is being to go unpopular with people under 21," he said. "I'm hopeful we're going to get cooperation and that we're going to struggle to find a solution to alcohol abuse."

One of the policy's most noticeable revisions concerns SYR (Screw Your Roommate) parties in Land O'Lakes meetings, Malloy said.

"We've tried to avoid explicitly stating that," he said. "It's a policy to avoid explicit stating that, we've been told to use more language that these events will be prohibited.

"One of the policy's most noticeable revisions concerns SYR (Screw Your Roommate) parties in Land O'Lakes meetings, Malloy said.

"The revised policy also bars promotions of alcohol or alcohol-centered events."

"We're trying to do away with marketing and find a more subtle route," he said. "I feel confident we can maintain a high quality social life at the same time we come to grips with the problem of the abuse of alcohol."

Implementation of the policy, which is effective immediately, rests with the Offices of Student Affairs and the Provost, Malloy said. Father Doyle also said he felt students would be receptive to the task force reports, given to the administration in the form of a survey of students, was definitely considered by University officers when modifying the policy.

"The University administration 'could've done it better' when implementing the 1986 modified version of the 1984 University alcohol policy, according to Student Body Vice President Mike Paese.

"It was not made clear exactly what the changes were," said Paese. "It seems it's left people confused about what the new policy was and how it's being implemented."

The changes in the alcohol policy were made in response to the recommendations of last year's task force on Whole Health and Use and Abuse of Alcohol.

"Just that many changes" have been made, said Tom Doyle, student government vice president. "The recommendations were made (by the task force); only a few were implemented," Doyle said.

Doyle also said he felt students would be receptive to the task force reports, given to the administration in the form of a survey of students, was definitely considered by University officers when modifying the policy.

SMC gets new resident director

By KRISTINE KRUCZEK

A new face in Saint Mary's Department of Residence Life and Housing is bringing a fresh perspective to residence life, said Sister Karel Jackowski, dean of student affairs.

On July 21, Jackowski announced the appointment of Lisa VanBeebber as the director of Residence Life and Housing.

VanBeebber was the coordinator of Instruction and Training in the Department of Resident Life at the University of Maryland-College Park.

"Because of her vast exposure at the University of Maryland, Lisa brings a new perspective to the small community of Saint Mary's," said Jackowski.

"In our smaller community, we have a more reactive than proactive situation because there is greater communication among all involved," she said.

VanBeebber, 28, said she was attracted by Saint Mary's smaller community. "Because Saint Mary's is a smaller college, there is much more interaction among all the people who make up the community," she said.

"At a large university such as Maryland, I was dealing directly with one aspect of residence life. As director of residence life at Saint Mary's, I have the opportunity to work with department like Student Affairs and make solid decisions," VanBeebber said.

"I also have a lot to say to women of Saint Mary's," she added. "Hopefully my experiences on the professional and personal levels can help to diversity both our programs and staff members.

"The upcoming year is one of "newness" for the department, VanBeebber said. "We have three new hall directors. In addition, we have 35 first year resident assistants I'm looking forward to the day when I feel like I have a routine."

VanBeebber, of Greenville, Ohio, is a 1984 graduate of Ohio State University with a Master of Arts degree in Student Personnel Work.

"As coordinator of instruction and training at Maryland, VanBeebber was responsible for all in service training for full-time staff members.

VanBeebber's experience includes teaching courses in group dynamics and leadership, resident assistant training and communication skills. While at Maryland, VanBeebber designed instructional programs for moral development. She also developed workshops on sexual miscommunication and date rape."

"Many hats at Maryland included training police officers in communication skills and tutoring the men's varsity basketball team."

"Lisa's new ideas and energy add a whole different perspective to residence life," said Jackowski. "Let's just an absolute delight."

Gov. Mario Cuomo said Tuesday that the film "The Last Temptation of Christ" is offensive and he wouldn't see it. But Cuomo, a Roman Catholic, said producers had a right to make the film. "I don't see the point of my seeing it," Cuomo said in an interview with Albany public radio station WAMC. "The idea of profaning the Christ figure by showing him to be as human as the rest of us and aspiring to a woman as our mother is something that I find offensive to good taste." The film, which opened in theaters earlier this month, includes a scene in which a crucified Jesus Christ hallucinates that he has heard Mary Magdalene. Roman Catholic bishops have urged the country's 53 million Catholics to boycott the film. Other religious groups have demonstrated against it. Associated Press

Princess Beatrice is the name of the newest Princess of York. Buckingham Palace yesterday announced the baby's name and released the first official pictures of the baby, which were taken by her father, Prince Andrew. Andrew, who is based in Hong Kong, flew to London from Singapore on Aug. 7 for the birth. Princess Beatrice was born Aug. 30, 1988, at 11:11 p.m., considered by Chinese astrologers one of the luckiest moments of the century because of all the rights. The original proposed name, Annabel, was rejected by Queen Elizabeth.

Freshman enters ND after full recovery

It's the start of a new school year and all's well for Notre Dame freshman Melissa Sauceda, who was injured this spring during the An Toscal Keg Toss.

Sauceda spent a long summer recovering in her native Texas. But now she's ready for Keg Toss.

The 18-year-old Weslaco, Texas youth was visiting for football games to start. "I feel great. I can't wait couldn't wait for for school to begin. "I feel great. I can't wait for football games to start." The Observer

Sauceda received a heroine's welcome. Friends and well wishers decorated the town with yellow ribbons, flowers and balloons.

Sauceda said she decided to attend Notre Dame about a week after she got home. "I like the friendliness here. Everyone is so nice," she said.

"We didn't want her to feel like she if she wore a wig. Looking for friends at home again wasn't easy for Sauceda. She had missed six weeks of high school.

"People thought I was bald, they thought I was hit by a crane," said Sauceda, laughing as she added many kids tagged at her hair to she if she wore a wig.

Professor Andre Leveille, director of Campus Ministry

"I was walking around every day and people were asking me, 'How is she?'" he said. Sauceda received dozens of gifts and flowers from residence halls. Both students and administrators visited her. "I'm just so proud of Notre Dame. Like I am whenever something like this happens," Leveille said. "People pulling together in time of need is what the spirit of this place is all about."

Miners lock selves up in protest

Associated Press

WARSAW, Poland—Some workers ended their strikes Tuesday, but 125 miners har- ricided themselves in an un- derground shaft and vowed to stay until they won higher pay and recognition of the binned Solidarity trade union.

The government said it wouldn't negotiate "under the pistol of a strike," and took measures to end Poland's worst wave of labor unrest since the 1981 imposition of martial law.

Government spokesman Jerzy Urban said at least 40 people have been detained by police nationwide in con- nection with the strikes, which began Aug. 16 and at their height affected about 100,000 workers at 30 sites.

On Monday night, Interior Minister Czeslaw Kiszczak said troops would be sent to secure major industrial plants to prevent anarchy, although none were in evidence at the plants Tues- day.

An 11 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew was imposed in Jastrzebie in Katowice Prov- ince, the site of many of the mine strikes.

Four columns of army and police vehicles left Krakow for Katowice, witnesses said. Two of the convoys con- sist of more than 70 vehicles.

Saint Mary's Security cracks down on illegal parking

By MIMI TUOHY
Assistant Saint Mary's Editor

Parking illegally at Saint Mary's may result in more than just a ticket, said Director of Security Richard Chlebek.
The College recently purchased four vehicle restraining devices, also known as "Denver boots," which can be used by security to punish parking offenders.

When clamped to a rear tire and locked in place, the boots make moving the vehicle impossible.

"Hopefully we won't be forced to use them that often, but if the need arises, we will boot cars that are parked incorrectly," Chlebek said.

Saint Mary's Security will also strongly enforce the no parking regulation in the service lane on Madeleva Hall's east side, Chlebek said.

"Last year, this lane turned into a parking lot. It's not for the use of faculty, staff or students," he said. "Emergency vehicles are the only exception, all others will be towed at the owner's expense."

Security has also devised new rules concerning parking in front of each residence hall. It is now unlawful to park in front of any dorm except Augusta. Students previously were permitted to park up to 30 minutes. Students must now obtain a loading/unloading pass from security when necessary.

"Over the past few years, the total abuse governing the safe movement on campus has increased. Therefore, we had to take action to return this to a safe community," Chlebek said.

"(The modified alcohol policy) is not ideally what students wanted," said Doyle, "but I want to emphasize that student response was considered... It's clear that the reason SYRs even remained was the student response to the reports."

Limiting all-hall semi-formal dances, or SYRs, to one per semester per hall is one of the major changes to the policy. In addition, no alcohol may be provided by the hall or permitted outside of private rooms at these gatherings—also a new provision.

"We all enjoyed SYRs in their past form, but we have to realize we haven't lost the SYR completely," said Doyle. "The complexion will change, but the idea of an all-hall gathering is still a reality."

Cracked up

Vince the crash-test dummy visits yesterday’s "Taste of Notre Dame" picnic Tuesday to promote Notre Dame Security's "Saved by the Belt" campaign and amuse curious onlookers.

The revised policy will have a "major effect on people planning social events in dorms," said Doyle, requiring more creativity in planning the activities.

The University policy toward tailgaters has not been addressed or changed at all, said Doyle and Paese. However, Doyle said he felt "greater attention will be placed on alcohol throughout the campus, tailgaters included."

The modified alcohol policy deals not only with students, said Doyle, but also with faculty, staff, and alumni—the Notre Dame community as a whole.

"Now is not the time to look at what we don't have," said Doyle. "It is a time to look at what we have and make the best of what we do have."

Bush, Duke continue attacks

Associated Press

Democrat Michael Dukakis ridiculed Republican George Bush's call for a flexible budget freeze on Tuesday, likening the proposal to "a melting ice cube." Embattled GOP vice presidential nominee Dan Quayle labeled reports about Quayle as "just one bum rap after another."

Campaigning in Seattle, Bush sounded impatient with continued questioning about Quayle. "I'm appalled you could ask that," the vice president snapped when asked about a report that Quayle had once propositioned lobbyist Paula Parkinson.

Bush sounded impatient with another.

President Reagan described Bush's call for a flexible budget as "our winning team" and called the Democrats' "third-stringers with a weak defense, a foreign policy of errors, curveball campaign promises, a set of policies to be named later and billions of dollars in higher taxes."

At a fund-raising luncheon in Irvine, Calif., for Republican Sen. Pete Wilson, Reagan said Dukakis was following a campaign of "covert liberalism" trying to conceal his true beliefs.

Dukakis responded: "I think it will be the American people who decide who belongs in the major leagues and who belongs in the bush leagues."

Earlier, Reagan signed trade legislation at a ceremony in Long Beach, Calif. As he was leaving he was asked if he thought Bush should drop Quayle from the ticket and he replied, "No. He's a fine man and well-qualified."

However, a Republican member of Congress, Howard Nielson of Utah, said he thought Bush should drop Quayle from the ticket and should quit.

Buildings demolished in Nepal quake zone

Associated Press

DHARAN, Nepal: Police bulldozed teetering houses Tuesday to keep people from returning to homes left unsafe by an earthquake that killed at least 731 people in India and Nepal.

Officials in both countries expected the death toll to rise as relief workers reached remote towns that have been inaccessible since Sunday's devastating quake.

Some roads were flooded by heavy rains that continued Tuesday, while others had 3- to 5-foot-deep cracks or were blocked by boulders the size of houses in the Himalayan mountains and valleys.

"We're here to sign a piece of legislation that will help our economy continue to grow and compete," Reagan told hundreds of dock workers and politicians as he spoke before a huge container ship in Long Beach, one of the world's 10 busiest computerized cargo ports.

The bill he signed is seen as a landmark bipartisan attempt to deal with the nation's trade woes. The signing ended months of negotiations between the administration and Congress.

Abortion foes remain in jail

Associated Press

ATLANTA: More than a month of demonstrations by an anti-abortion group trying to close local clinics have worn out the city's welcome mat, and Southern hospitality is being withdrawn. During and just after the Democratic National Convention, police carried anti-abortion protesters to waiting jail buses. Now, more than 700 arrests and 100 demonstrations later, they drag them.

"We're giving them the opportunity to walk the 10 feet to the bus," said police Sgt. Melvin Denison.

"We are no longer extending certain courtesies," says Sgt. Carl Pydrym.

The jails are getting crowded, although corrections officials say they have room on cell floors. And the cost of protecting the clinics and of arresting and holding the protesters has shot past $250,000.

Operation Rescue, a New York-based anti-abortion group, kicked off the protests July 19, the second day of the convention, when scores of activists who were not carrying identification tried to block access to a clinic where abortions and other procedures are performed.

Those arrested refused to give their names, identifying themselves as Baby Jane Doe or Baby John Doe to show their willingness to go to jail. Some remain jailed; others have been identified or have won their release by giving their names. Comrades keep coming.

Authorities won't release those who refuse to give their names, saying they could not be sure the protesters would return for court dates.

The city's tactics in dealing with the activists have changed as the protests have dragged on.

Captain charged in refugee case

Associated Press

WASHINGTON: The Navy has accused the captain of the USS Dubuque of dereliction of duty for failing to rescue a boatload of Vietnamese refugees who claim they later resorted to cannibalism to survive.

Pentagon sources said Tuesday it appears there were sufficient indications of hardship aboard the refugee boat when it crossed paths with the Dubuque that the Navy warship should have taken aboard the refugees encountered at sea in life-endangering circumstances.

The admiral could face ships in the Pacific Fleet, including the 48-year-old Navy captain. He will appear at a closed "admiral's mast" on Wednesday afternoon with Vice Adm. George Davis Jr., the head of all surface ships in the Pacific Fleet, the spokesman added.

Davis will serve as the lone judge in considering the evidence. The admiral could take a variety of disciplinary actions, including stripping him of his command permanently, ordering a fine or issuing a letter of reprimand or censure. Balian was temporarily relieved of his command of the Dubuque on Aug. 13 while on patrol in the Persian Gulf.

Davis is scheduled to retire on Saturday, suggesting he will make a decision quickly.

"Obviously, they had really made a decision," said Cmdr. David Dillon, a Pacific Fleet spokesman in San Diego, Calif.

As a result, instead of court-martial proceedings, the 48-year-old Navy captain will appear at a closed "admiral's mast" on Wednesday afternoon before Vice Adm. George Davis Jr., the head of all surface ships in the Pacific Fleet, the spokesman added.

Davis will serve as the lone judge in considering the evidence. Balian was temporarily relieved of his command of the Dubuque on Aug. 13 while on patrol in the Persian Gulf. Davis is scheduled to retire on Saturday, suggesting he will make a decision quickly.

Balian was charged with violating a general Navy regulation "by wrongful or negligent acts," failing to perform appropriate assistance to Vietnamese refugees found on the South China Sea on June 9, 1988, in danger of being lost.

The second count accuses him of violating standing operational orders for the Pacific Fleet "which require a commanding officer to aid and rescue refugees encountered at sea in life-endangering circumstances."

Parents of rape victim lead police to offender

Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Ohio: The parents of a rape victim staked out the location of the attack for more than a year, and their persistence paid off with an arrest.

The wife acted as decoy and her armed husband waited in the dark.

"Obviously, they had really cared about what they were doing to us," Debra Seltzer, rape prevention coordinator of the local chapter of Women Against Rape, said Tuesday. "It really shows the frustration that a lot of people feel."

Police on Monday announced the arrest of Robert Riddings, 34, of Columbus, who authorities say is a suspect in a four-year string of attacks attributed to the so-called "handgun rapist." The nickname resulted from the use of handguns in early attacks later attributed to the same man.

Authorities believe the man is responsible for as many as 60 rapes.

Welcome back to Notre Dame. We hope that all of you had an enjoyable summer and are excited, as we are, about the 1988-1989 school year and "four years of the Day." Syndicated columns also are excluded from this procedure.

Regular columnists, whose columns appear on a regular basis; guest columnists, whose columns do not appear on a regular basis; letters to the editor; and cartoons are commentaries. Such status is determined by the Viewpoint editor. Those whose commentaries appear in print in column form may not respond to criticism of that commentary in letters to the editor.

XII. Commentaries may be edited for length, clarity and decoration.

Clearly, the service that we most hoped to provide for the student body was the establishment of a 24-hour student lounge. After much work and frustration, such a facility has been approved with the invaluable cooperation of Mr. William Hickey and the University Food Services staff. It will be located in the Oak Room at the South Dining Hall, will serve a limited menu, and will remain open 24 hours, seven days a week. However, this service will be provided on a trial basis contingent on the number of students using the lounge. If you find this facility to be an important service, its survival depends on your use of it.

In addition, two booklets published under the last Student Government administration will soon be distributed. The first booklet deals with various service issues, dealing with issues and events. We invite your input and comments on this booklet. The second booklet is a guide to on- and off-campus life at Notre Dame. As the year progresses we will attempt to address a whole spectrum of issues and events. We invite your input and comments on both of these booklets.

A feeding frenzy
LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) - barely police officer barely beat out a 90-pound Alabama woman in a world's-largest cheese-pizza-eating contest.

Jim Sessions-gobbling Wiley Stahleck of the $1,500 grand prize in the annual contest sponsored by Arni's restaurant.

With the crowd chanting "Eat, eat, eat," Sessions and Ms. Stanton each devoured one large and four small cheese pizzas within the one-hour time limit Sunday night.

The contest was chore. "She was about a half bite away from being the winner," said Arni Cohen, restaurant owner who has sponsored the contest 13 years.

We had a girl in the running for a long time, and all of the sudden this little thing three times out nowhere," Cohen said Monday.

Cohen said 72 contestants paid $23 each to compete. A $1,500 donation will be made to the Hanna Community Center in Lafayette. The money will be used to rent a van to transport children attending day camp at the center and to purchase recreation equipment.

For Sessions, a 27-year-old police officer from Craw- en, the event was the first time in his life he ate a cheese pizza.

"I ate my first three pizzas in the first 30 minutes and the other two in the rest of the remaining time," Sessions said.

Ms. Stanton, a 36-year-old former Lafayette resident who now lives in Guntersville, Ala., used a different technique.

"I didn't drink that much something I noticed a lot of other people around me doing," she said. "I wouldn't have made it if I wouldn't drink a lot of water."

Ms. Stanton collected $400 for all her hard work.

"I was determined to get the prize. It was a challenge to eat the big money," she said Monday. "I would have if I'd taken one more big bite. It was easy; I love pizza."

Sessions said he didn't know how he would spend his prize money, but one thing was certain.

"I'm going to have a liquid dinner tonight," he said.

Tyson breaks bone in hand during a late-night scuffle

Associated Press

NEW YORK - Heavyweight champion Mike Tyson broke a bone in his right hand during a street fight early Tuesday with former boxing opponent Mitch Green, the champion confirmed Tuesday night.

Tyson appeared at a news conference wearing a cast on his right hand, and said the injury was a hairline fracture of the third metacarpal.

Tyson's manager, Bill Cayton, said he didn't know whether Tyson's Oct. 8 fight against Frank Bruno at London's Wembley Stadium will be a hairline fracture of the third metacarpal.

Tyson's manager, Bill Cayton, said he didn't know whether Tyson's Oct. 8 fight against Frank Bruno at London's Wembley Stadium will be rescheduled.

The cast, stretching from the hand to within about 4 inches of the elbow, is to be on for three weeks. It then will be re-evaluated if there is sufficient time for Tyson to train for the bout, Cayton said.

The break was described as minor and the boxer said he felt no pain.

There were conflicting reports of what occurred.

Tyson claimed that Mitch Green, a one-time Tyson opponent, ripped his shirt and started the fight while Tyson was getting into his car early Tuesday morning. The pair exchanged punches, Tyson said.

Tyson said the fight occurred around 4:30 a.m. outside a 24-hour clothing store, where he had gone to pick up a jacket.

Green's version, according to police, was different.

Green told investigators the fight took place outside an after-hours club in Harlem, police spokesman Sgt. John Clifford. Green said "Tyson popped him on the bridge of his nose," Clifford said. The injury required five stitches.

Police were investigating the incident Thursday at a time to be announced. Questions may be directed to Kris Malaker at 239-5303 or 283-1471.

Clayton reported that Tyson and Green had gone to pick up a jacket.

ND awarded North Star title ... again

Special to The Observer

Notre Dame went out of the North Star Conference with a bang, winning the conference's All-Sports Trophy for the third time in four seasons.

The university is leaving the North Star Conference this year to move on to the Midwest Collegiate Conference.

The Irish also took league titles in volleyball and women's tennis this past season to propel them to this year's award. Notre Dame also took second in the conference in women's basketball and cross country. The Irish won the award despite not participating in the recently completed softball championship.

Notre Dame did not compete in softball on the varsity level this past season, but will field a team during the 1989 season.

The conference's six teams earned 17 points toward the All-Sports Trophy for winning the title in one of the five sports for which the league sponsors a championship. A second-place finish is worth 12 points, third is worth seven points, five points for fourth, four points for fifth, four points for fifth and three points for sixth. The Irish amassed 86 points to 58 for runner up DePaul.

In the five-year history of the North Star Conference, Notre Dame has won the award three times. The Irish also took the trophy in the 1984-85 and 1985-86 seasons.

Notre Dame's men's non-revenue sports competed in the MCC during the 1981-82 season, and will be joined by the Irish women's athletic teams for the 1989-90 campaign.

Dayton, DePaul, Marquette, Northern Illinois and Valparaiso were other members of the North Star Conference last year. The MCC now consists of Butler, Dayton, Detroit, Evansville, Marquette, Notre Dame, St. Louis and Xavier.

Our goal is to get about 20 to 25 tackles this year. We'll have more interceptions than what we had last year. We'll cause more turnovers.

MUSSELMAN, 48, was signed to a four-year contract at an undisclosed salary by the Timberwolves, who begin play in the 1989-90 season.

While coach at Minnesota, he posted a sign in the locker room reading: "Defeat is worse than death because you have to live with defeat."

On Tuesday, Musselman showed no sign that his intensity and desire to win had waned.

New ND alums impress NFL

Observer Staff Report

Dead in the middle of those baseball-crazed days of summer, Notre Dame football managed to grab the headlines of papers all over the nation.

It now appears that the hype behind the Notre Dame name helped to spread these stories. Nonetheless, it was a busy summer both for former Irish players and for current Irish coaches.

Tim Brown signed a four-year contract worth more than $2 million with the Los Angeles Raiders. As an unexpected bonus, Brown is catching passes thrown by former Irish teammate Steve Beuerlein after the Raiders released quarterbacks Jim Plunkett and Marc Wilson. Beuerlein, who sat out last season with an elbow injury, is battling Vince Evans for the starting job.

Another former Irish receiver, Reggie Ward, is opening eyes in Minnesota. Ward, who now goes by Reginald, caught a touchdown pass in each of the first three preseason games for the Vikings.

Two former Notre Dame offensive linemen, center Chuck Lanza and tackle Tom Rehder, have signed contracts with Pittsburgh and New England, respectively.

Irish coach Lou Holtz also made the headlines this summer, though the words were not always favorable. Early in July, LeRoy Gardner, the University of Minnesota's chief counselor, drug out the past when he accused Holtz of giving $500 to a Gopher football player. Then The Star and Tribune of Minneapolis quoted former Gopher running back Fudgy Abercrombie as saying he received money from assistant coach Jim Strong, who is now a member of Holtz's staff at Notre Dame.

The controversies died a week later when Abercrombie denied ever receiving cash from Strong, and Holtz and Strong both strongly denied ever doing anything of the sort. Holtz also denied Gardner's charges, but Gardner stands by his story.

More controversy brew in South Bend when a local television sportscaster reported that Irish quarterback Tony Rice would be academically ineligible for the 1988 season. But the registrar's office noted that Rice actually had done very well in his summer classes, and WSBI's Mitch Hinck resigned in embarrassment.

Plenty of negative things happened to the Notre Dame offense away from the field before practices started a couple weeks ago.

But now that some better things are happening on the field, the losses of this past summer are being erased by visions of what the fall may hold.

First the summer news:
Jeff Pearson, who would have been the only returning starter on the offensive line at guard, withdrew from the University for personal reasons.

Pierre Martin and Bobby Carpenter, the top two candidates for the open split end job, also left Notre Dame after becoming academically ineligible.

But the Irish offense, after scoring only two touchdowns in Saturday's opening scrimmage (one was against the third-string defense), is beginning to put some of the pieces back into place.

"He's throwing the ball well," Irish head coach Lou Holtz said. "He's improved over last year, and he's getting better every time out."

Although the offense sputtered in the scrimmage, Rice was 8-of-11 passing. Holtz said the key now is for Rice to remain consistent.

The split end problem might be solved with sheer speed. Freshman Raghbi "Rocket" Ismail from Wilkes Barre, Pa., was moved from running back to split end his first day of practice. He never played receiver in high school.

But Ismail, who was clocked at 4.9 seconds when he ran the 40-yard dash in fall drills, already has shown that not many defenders can stay with him. He broke loose for two big runs last season and his down pass from Rice in 7-on-7 drills Monday has been catching the ball better each time out.

The first-team offensive line for the early workouts has consisted of senior Andy Heck at tackle, junior Dean Brown at tackles, junior Tim Grunhard and sophomore Winston Sandrit at guards and sophomore Mike Feldt at center. Holtz said there are still some problems in the middle, but added that the tackles are making good progress.

Sophomore Ricky Watters gets the nod to replace Tim Brown at flanker, while sopho­more Frank Jacobs has been starting at tight end. Freshman Derek Brown, Parade Maga­zine's high school player of the year as a prep senior, has been impressive at tight end as well. Brown led all receivers with four receptions in the scrimmage.

The Irish backfield, called the best in the nation by The Sports News, has the returning talents of senior Mark Green and sophomore Tony Brooks at tailback, and juniors Braxton Banks and Anthony Johnson at fullback. And while Holtz said he was disappointed in the performance of the receivers and the backs in the opening scrimmage, both units have come back with solid practices since then.

"We've got a long way to go," Holtz said. "But we're making some progress."

EXTRA POINTS: The Irish survived two-a-days with only minor injuries, hitting the defensive line the hardest.

If you ask George Streeter, the Notre Dame defensive backfield shouldn't have any problem stopping opposing offenses.

For example:
Senior O'Juan Francisco "he's gotten a lot better," Streeter, a senior strong safety said.

"Stan Smagala is playing super," he said. "(Sophomore) Todd Lyght is playing like an upclasserman, Bob Satterfield and Pat Terrell are playing really well and will help us out a lot. David Jandric came in from Albemarle (Va.) High School in the Atlantic Coast Conference, (and) I don't think he's as far ahead as people might think at this time."

First-year coach Heater has to deal with a few losses, but the returns, plus Terrell's switch from split end, will give the Irish a secondary with game experience. Last season's secondary was free safety Mary Spence and cornerbacks Dan L Toothman and Pierre Martin and Bobby Carpenter, the top two candidates for the open split end job, also left Notre Dame after becoming academically ineligible.

Orsara named new lax coach

Former athletic director's son replaces O'Leary at helm

Special to the Observer

Kevin Corrigan, as assistant coach at Virginia the last two years, has been named Notre Dame's new lacrosse coach.

Corrigan takes over as only the second head coach in the program's history after Rich O'Leary resigned the position to devote full time to his role as assistant director of non-varsity athletics.

A Virginia graduate, Corrigan assisted the Cavaliers during both the 1987 and 1988 seasons under head coach Jim "Ace" Adams. Last year Virginia compiled a 9-5 record and reached the semi-finals of the NCAA championships before losing to Johns Hopkins in overtime.

Notre Dame will be Corrigan's second stint as a head coach. He directed Randolph-Macon College (Va.), a Division III program, to a 10-14 record from 1985-86. He previ­ously served as an assistant at Randolph-Macon during the 1981 season.

Corrigan also served as an assistant at Notre Dame during the 1985 season and at Western Albemarle (Va.) High School in 1983. He is the son of former Notre Dame athletic director Gene Corrigan, who currently serves as the commissioner of the Atlantic Coast Conference, "I don't think there's another school in the country that can come close to approaching the facilities that Notre Dame has to build a successful lacrosse program," Corrigan says. "The Loftus Sports Center offers us an indoor facility for off-season training in addition to indoor play. At 5,000 seats, Krause Stadium is perfect for the sport and Carter Field is ideal for an outdoor artificial turf field.

Our immediate goal is to get the Midwest region's bid to the NCAA tournament and I think we can make up that difference and make it to the NCAA's.

"I think we can generate interest in the sport in this area and there's no doubt that we'll be able to attract the better players because of the education the University has to offer. I don't know of any other school that offers its students the opportunity to develop intellectually, spiritually and physi­cally as well as Notre Dame.

O'Leary served as the coach for all 18 of the program's existence - the last eight as a varsity sport - before resigning. His record was 143-68 (.621), including a 63-42 (.600) varsity record.

"Nothing there's I've enjoyed more at Notre Dame than coaching lacrosse," O'Leary says. "But, the program needs someone who can devote more time - especially in the recruiting area - to help the players reach the goals they have.

"I'll miss it, but it's the right move for me and the lacrosse program."
