Brighter Days Ahead
Sunny and pleasant today. High in the mid 70s. Clear tonight. Low in the low 50s.

The Observer
the independent newspaper serving Notre Dame and Saint Mary's

Vol. XXII, No. 25 Monday, September 26, 1988

Campaign debate could be 'pivotal event' in election

Associated Press

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C.- George Bush and Michael Dukakis clashed over deficits, drugs and the Pledge of Allegiance in a crackling campaign debate last night. Bush said, "I hope people don't think I'm questioning his patriotism." But Dukakis said he was added, "I resent it." Bush said his sharp campaign attacks were meant to question Dukakis' judgment on matters like his membership in the liberal American Civil Liberties Union and his veto of legislation requiring teachers in Massachusetts to lead their students in reciting the pledge.

But Democrat Dukakis, saying he hoped he wouldn't have to repeat himself, replied, "Of course the vice president is questioning my patriotism. I don't think there's any question about that. And I resent it. I resent it."

The clash came little more than 30 minutes into the 90-minute nationally televised confrontation. At stake was an edge in a contest rated a tossup in most national polls. With many voters undecided or wavering, both campaigns viewed the showdown as a potentially pivotal event.

The formal debate rules were designed to prohibit religion, candidate-to-candidate comment, but there was no shortage of hostility.

Bush worked into one answer that Boston city police had endorsed him over their hometown candidate. Replying to a Bush comment about being haunted by the plight of underprivileged children, Dukakis said, "I must have been living through a different eight years than the ones the vice president has been living through." He said programs had been "cut and slashed and butchered and they hurt kids all over this country."

In their argument over ways to cut the deficit, the vice president depicted his rival as a tax raider and the Democrat suggested that Bush would cut Social Security.

Both men aimed snappy comments at each other in the debate's opening moments. Dukakis was asked to have to repeat himself, saying he hoped he wouldn't have to repeat himself.

"I showed up (at Notre Dame) in the fall of 1968 with a strict Catholic family feeling that religion was just a lot of rules and rituals. By the end of my years here, I realized that religion was more than ritual; it was content, it was action. I began to see what it (religion) was like in terms of community," Babbitt said.

"In your passage through this university—the exploration, the testing, the reaching—you are making the kind of commitments that will help you wherever you go," Babbitt continued.

After graduating in 1960, Babbitt, a geology major, went to South Africa to study its terrain. However, "The first time I saw a woman cradling a dying child in her arms, I asked myself, 'What kind of choice should I be making in this life?'" Babbitt said.

Upon his return to the U.S., Babbitt said he formed a "private peace corps" with some fellow Notre Dame graduates. Babbitt then became involved in the civil rights movement in Alabama, and eventually decided to attend Harvard Law School. In 1978, four years after graduation, he was elected governor of Arizona.

"When I decided to run for president, I knew it would be a difficult road to travel," said Babbitt. "I was disappointed in the level of debate, it seemed the entire campaign consisted of charges of who did what to whom," Babbitt said. He cited the media as a key offender, saying, "It isn't right that The National Enquirer dominated the discussion of the campaign."

"This is not a time in which Americans are eager to confront the issues. There is an ebb and flow cycle of complacency, and Americans are in a mode of tranquility and satisfaction," Babbitt stated. "When times are good, we tend to take

Associated Press

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C.- Both campaigns took pains to portray their candidates in advance as underdogs, but Bush and Dukakis both expressed confidence as they made their way to the debate city.

The candidates flew to North Carolina a few hours before the debate began to check the lighting and sound systems in Wait Chapel on the campus of Wake Forest University and to browse through their briefing books. Bush and Dukakis, whose campaign wrangling has turned increasingly negative, were believed entering the debate with some well-rehearsed, one-line bars as well as more complex statements of their positions on the issues.

Traditionally, the first of a series of presidential debates draws the largest television audience. Estimates of the audience for the first debate in 1984 between President Reagan and Democratic challenger Walter Mondale ranged as high as 132 million. Voter turnout for the presidential election was fewer than 100 million.

The format, agreed to after weeks of discussions between the two campaigns, allowed each candidate two minutes to answer a question and one minute for rebuttal.

At the end of the debate each candidate was allowed two minutes for a closing statement.

Other points over which the campaigns haggled were the makeup of the panel, the height of the podiums and whether the candidates would sit or stand.

While the format allowed no opportunity for the candidates to question each other, they were certain to find ways to raise questions that have marked their stump attacks on each other.

"Where was George?" has become a Democratic campaign slogan referring to...

Debate preparations started early for two presidential candidates

The form...
Ritz issue aimed at policy, not hotel

"These insinuations... inspired a woman, who identified herself as the mother of a Notre Dame student, to call the Ritz... to let us know that she is going to recruit mothers of students to attempt to close down our establishment."

letter to P.O. Box Q
Wednesday, Sept. 21

Well, perhaps I should have left well enough alone, but this excerpt from a recent Viewpoint letter was just too silly to let go.

For those of you who may have missed the Ritz controversy, a column appeared in this space two weeks ago pointing out that a University business directory contained advertising for The Ritz, a local hotel "dedicated to romance and intimacy."

The whole point of the column on The Ritz was to point out the inconsistency between Notre Dame's censorship of alcohol advertisements in The Observer and non-censorship of other advertisements apparently in conflict with Notre Dame policies on sexual activity.

Now I do believe a local resident (or group of residents) seem to be bent on censorship of The Ritz itself by having the establishment closed down. No reason was given for this reaction in the Viewpoint letter, and, to be honest, I cannot think of one myself. If The Ritz were engaged in any illegal activities, the police would have shut the place down long ago.

But The Ritz is providing an avenue for students to break Notre Dame's parietals and sexual activity policies, right? Maybe. If these are the grout to attempting to shut down The Ritz, we might as well drop a neutron bomb on U.S. 31 North, where many more students go every weekend to escape what they view as overly restrictive rules. Better race Campus Visa to be there!
New plan could lower doctors' fees

Associated Press

BOSTON—A long-awaited study being released this week could dramatically change the way doctors are paid, sharply reducing fees for many kinds of operations while raising charges for office visits.

The study has been the object of intense speculation and apprehension in the medical world since it was undertaken 2 years ago by economist William Hsiao of the Harvard University School of Public Health.

The massive project attempts to determine the amount of work involved in everything doctors do—from checkups and well-baby visits to brain surgery and coronary bypasses—so they can be paid what their services are worth.

There is widespread agreement, Hsiao said, “that the current payment system is unworkable. The fees are distorted and inequitable.”

Hsiao’s plan, requested by Congress, will try to correct that. It would pay physicians more for the time they spend thinking about patients, examining them and talking to them and less for specific procedures.

In an interview, Hsiao said that if adopted by government health agencies and insurance companies, his 2,000-page plan could have a profound effect on the nation’s health care system. Among other things, it could:

- Improve care by encouraging doctors to spend more time with their patients.
- Lower medical costs by discouraging expensive tests, procedures and operations.
- Increase the number of doctors willing to specialize in family practice and other kinds of primary care.
- Lower the income of some surgical specialists while raising the pay of physicians who provide general care.

A summary of the findings is scheduled to be published in the New England Journal of Medicine on Thursday, the same day the report is released by the federal Health Care Financing Administration. Next month, the Journal of the American Medical Association will devote an entire issue to Hsiao’s work.

“This is going to be a very important piece of work that we hope will rationalize the manner in which physicians are paid,” said Dr. James Todd, the AMA’s senior deputy executive vice president.

Correction

Due to a production error, some of the paragraphs in last Friday’s Inside column by Chris Donnelly appeared in incorrect order. The section that began “Personal—” I like … and ended with “Robert Ludlum” should have appeared at the end of the column.

Billy Carter dies of cancer at 51

Associated Press

PLAINS, Ga.—Billy Carter, the former “first brother” and “good ole boy,” whose candor and business ventures amused and sometimes embarrassed the Carter administration, died yesterday of cancer. He was 51.

The brother of former President Jimmy Carter suffered for a year with pancreatic cancer—the disease that killed his father and a sister—and lived longer than his doctors expected. He died three days after leaving the hospital for his home in this southwest Georgia hamlet.

Carter “died quietly and peacefully in his sleep … with his family at his bedside,” according to a statement issued by the Carter Presidential Center on behalf of the former president and his family.

“He had struggled courageously with his illness, never losing his sense of humor and always more concerned about those who loved him than about himself,” the family said.

Carter was forced into the spotlight when his older brother rocketed from their tiny hometown into the White House.

Last April, Carter acknowledged he enjoyed being a part of the national scene during his brother’s presidency from 1977 to 1981.

“I’ve been asked, a thousand times, I guess, what I would do if I had it to do over again,” he said. “And I said, ‘Prob’ly the same thing,’ because if I had to do it over again, I’d probably screw up worse the second go-around.”

He underwent an experimental program at Emory University Hospital, and in May checked into the National Cancer Institute in Bethesda, Md., for what he said might be his “last chance—the only one left except prayer, and I’m trying that too.”

In addition to his wife and brother, Carter is survived by six children, ages 11 to 31, and sister Gloria Carter Spann.

BEAT THE RUSH...

IN VS. U

BUY TICKETS EARLY

Baseball Blowout
October 13-14
Stanley Covaleski Stadium

$2 Student General Admission
Blue & Gold Card Members Admitted Free
On sale tonight in the North & South Dining Halls

ALSO
Blue & Gold Card Exchange in the Dining Halls
MUST HAVE TEMPORARY CARDS TO EXCHANGE
Debate
continued from page 1

specify three programs he would cut to curb the federal budget, and said he would reduce "certain weapons sys-
"Dukakis took the offensive by "Debate on the problem.

he's been dealing drugs to our kids."
"But then I understood, I realized that it's not about win-ing or losing; it's about committting to the process, throwing yourself into something you believe in. And then I thought, I know that. That's what I learned a long time ago at a time a woman has been brought into the historic line of apostolic succession. The lineage of bishops is traced back to the time of the apostles through laying on of hands in the worldwide Anglican Communion—which includes the U.S. Episcopal Church, the Roman Catholic Church and Eastern Orthodoxy.
The Episcopal Church first approved the ordination of female priests in 1976.
WASHINGTON—Social initiatives from welfare to child care are hanging in the balance as Congress draws toward an adjournment, increasingly impatient and preoccupied with presidential politics.

In a year of rhetoric about the American family, lawmakers have yet to complete action on major initiatives to raise the minimum wage, expand and improve child care, reform the welfare system and guarantee leave to workers with pressing family responsibilities. A number of appropriations bills, including one providing about $300 billion for the Defense Department, have been approved in some form, but differences remain between the House and Senate versions.

Also on the incomplete roster is the biggest environmental bill of the 100th Congress, a revision of the Clean Air Act to strengthen the battle against urban air pollution, acid rain and airborne toxic substances. Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd has warned senators to be prepared for Saturday sessions if the 100th Congress is to end by Oct. 16—two weeks beyond the original target date for finishing business.

The Senate has been mired for days on a bill to raise the minimum wage from $3.35 to $4.50 over three years, unable to cut off a filibuster mounted by conservative Republicans. The week ended with no resolution and a vow to try again this week.

In the House, a handful of negotiators led by Rep. Augustus Hawkins, D-Calif., are firmly opposed to a work requirement for two-parent families on welfare. The Reagan administration is just as firm about its insistence that the requirement be included.

The latest Senate offer adds a degree of flexibility to the work requirement and phases it in starting in 1991. The changes “didn’t move Hawkins,” said his spokesman. “No leverage. The midweek debate rekindled the argument in some quarters that a work requirement is an unwise move.”

The week ended with no resolution of the $3.35 to $4.50 minimum wage bill as the House was forced to end its session by Thursday evening because of a wrangle between the House and Senate versions.

Associated Press
Draw attention to yourself.

Draw a chart. Draw a building. Draw a conclusion. Then draw yourself an A for effort. Because whatever you need to draw, a Macintosh® personal computer can help you do it.

With programs like MacDraw® and SuperPaint, you can combine text and graphics to illustrate your ideas like they’ve never been illustrated before. Which is just one more example of how Macintosh helps students work smarter, quicker and more creatively.

And the beauty of Macintosh is, you don’t have to know diddley about computers to use one.

What does Macintosh draw best? Attention to your work.

The power to be your best.

Computer Center
Room 25 Math Building
8:00 AM - 5:00 PM
Shuttle countdown is delayed

Associated Press

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla.—NASA postponed the start of the countdown for space shuttle Discovery by eight hours yesterday because of lagging preparations, but still aimed for a Thursday morning liftoff.

"We're still on the timeline for launch on the 29th and that's the plan," said launch director Bob Sieck.

The countdown was rescheduled to begin at 8 a.m. EDT today for the first manned American space flight since the Challenger blew up over the Atlantic 32 months ago.

The space agency had added 27 unplanned hours to the countdown as insurance for last-minute problems, and Sieck said eight hours of that time would be used in advance to complete the work of replacing panels and work platforms.

"We don't want those people to have to do that under the gun with the clock counting," he said. "So we said, 'take all the time it takes and we'll delay the call to stations to accommodate that.'"

NASA had planned to start the countdown at midnight, but "buttoning up" the aft end of the spaceplane — akin to closing the hood on a car — was delayed by a problem that had the potential of postponing the launch for two days.

Low voltage readings were found in an electrical circuit that triggers the explosive charges used to separate the shuttle from its fuel tank when the tank is empty. Eventually, engineers determined that the fault was in a ground circuit, which does not affect the flight.

Discovery's cargo will be a $100 million communications satellite that NASA needs for communications with future shuttles, and 11 scientific experiments.

Deaf Hoosiers fight for legislation

Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS—Hearing-impaired Hoosiers, who say the state has overlooked their interests too long, plan to let lawmakers know this week that the deaf are taxpayers, too.

That slogan will be on some of the signs deaf Hoosiers and supporters will carry in front of the Statehouse at 8 a.m. Thursday. They figure a rush hour rally is a good way to get their concerns across to large numbers of people.

Members of the Indiana Association for the Deaf also have scheduled meetings with legislators on the influential State Budget Committee and with both gubernatorial candidates. "Deaf people right now are very angry at the state of Indiana," said Glenn Carlstrand, vice president of the 500-member association.

What pushed the people and supporters to organize in the past month was a recent comprehensive review of the Indiana School for the Deaf, which suggested the state could save money by consolidating that school with other state residential schools.

"In the very least, we're talking about consolidation of campuses — physically," said Stephen DeMougin, assistant commissioner for health support services at the State Board of Health. "From an economic perspective, that makes pretty good sense. We don't have data that shows putting deaf and blind kids together is a good situation."

"It's our intent to look at a common campus. If we are to consolidate a common campus, what are the savings? Those are the numbers we're trying to come up with right now," he said.

DeMougin said State Health Commissioner Woodrow Myers will be drafting proposals as a result of the legislative audit and will develop plans for campus consolidation.

Army gunfire in Gaza Strip kills 1 Israeli

Associated Press

DHEISHE, Occupied West Bank—Fifteen Palestinians were wounded by Israeli army gunfire Saturday and a 13-year-old Arab girl died of wounds suffered in an earlier clash, Arab hospital officials said.

Dozens of Israeli leftists visited towns and refugee camps in the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip to express support for the families of 25 Palestinian activists ordered deported by Israel.

"Of all the crimes committed against Palestinians, deportation is the worst," said Imanhan Weisert, one of 19 Israelis who toured the Dheishe refugee camp south of Jerusalem.

Also Saturday, an Israeli navy gunboat on patrol off south Lebanon sank a rubber dinghy, killing three Palestinian guerrillas aboard.

The guerrilla squad was on a routine mission to attack Israeli targets and belonged to the PFLP-Fatah faction, a military source said. It was the third reported infiltration attempt by sea this year.

Nabi Tuhib, 13, died at Jerusalem's Mukassid Hospital on Saturday, a week after being shot in the head during a clash in the Ammari refugee camp north of Jerusalem, hospital officials said. The army confirmed the report.

Her death brought to 211 the number of Palestinians killed since the Dec. 8 start of the uprising against Israeli occupation. Six Israelis also have died.
Pro-choice arguments lack foundation

Andrea Burman

The statement, "a woman has the right to control her own body," implies that she may do as she pleases in all ways. However, if she becomes intoxicated and proceeds to drive a car she will be arrested, if she catches the chicken pox, she will not be allowed in a classroom, and if she scrubs graffiti on a building, the act of one is so extreme that no right is absolute. When the "right to control" one's own body enters the realm of sexuality, it becomes a woman's issue and not a man's. Though the pro-choice movement would have one believe that only the woman is involved in pregnancy, fetology has proven that, in fact, these bodies and a fetus is a person that can be transused, operated on, etc. By the first ten weeks of gestation, a fetus has feet and hands, can eat, dream, suck his thumb, and feel pain. Because half of those aborted fetuses are unviable, it's a woman's body does not have the right to control her own body.

Another argument is that the fetus is not a person. But, as stated above, pregnancy involves two separate bodies. Pro-choice individuals first argued that the uterine contents were simply tissue which was removed, but now they are saying that the fetus has the same genetic makeup as its owner. Fetologists and biologists, however, maintain that certain similarities do not mean that the fetus may be of the human species, but that it is "potential". In their eyes all children are "potential" teenagers, "potential" adults, "potential" professionals, etc., but are we not always human? Biologically, life begins at conception, but when do we become "human"? Does some physical change indicate humanness? But bone development is not complete until the teens, internal organs are not fully formed until the twenties, and the mind does not reach its peak until full development until the sixties, and by then, the body is deteriorating until death. Thus we are creatures of continual change, and size or rate of development age does not necessarily mean when we are "fully human." Once an individual is denied personhood, society may do what it likes to it because it has no rights, as was done to the blacks and the Native Americans in the past.

A third argument for abortion is that it is "medical," and that we have the right to choose. It is supposedly between a woman and her doctor, yet many doctors do not mention the possibilities of hemorrhaging, sterility, a punctured uterus, and even death. It is often said, "I personally oppose abortion, but I support the rights of others to choose." The right to choose seems to be a very democratic thing, yet what if one said, "I personally oppose slavery, but I support the right of others to choose?" Would it not be broad-minded of us to say, "I would never send a Jew to the gas chamber but support the right of others to choose?"

It was these attitudes which gave mass support of the slavery system and to the murder of over six million Jews. Ideally, then, if the right to choose is a universal one, a father should have a right to save his unborn child, a tax payer should have the right to pay for abortion-on-demand, a family should have the right to be involved in the decision of its minor daughter's action, and an unborn child should have a right to live. Unfortunately, the law denies all of these.

A further question here is, if one opposes abortion, why does he condone it in others? If it is a relatively safe procedure, with little or no physical or mental consequences, why personally oppose it? But, if there is a question of the safety or the morality of it, how can one condone it in others? A common response is that it is OK in cases of rape. Rape is always a difficult issue, and the disgust it generates in society makes abortion seem like the best answer, if a pregnancy should result. Rather than giving the counseling and loving support that she needs, society gives her the impression an abortion will result in trauma completely. But psychiatrists say that, in fact, an abortion may add an even further burden to it, even more so than would giving birth.

The act of abortion is, in essence, not unlike the act of rape. Rape is an act of aggression on an innocent human being - the rapist acts out his rage on his victim's body. In the same way, society automatically seeks out revenge. But it ends up giving the sentence of capital punishment to the innocent, unseen child, rather than to the rapist. After all, does killing the child really help the woman? It may help society, but it does not help the two individuals most involved.

Andrea Burman is a Senior English Major...
Fox program has
‘Jump’ on competition

Joe Bucolo

To Be Continued

Intramural athletics solid as Rock

COLEN CRONIN
accept writer

Looking out the front windows of O’Shaughnessy Hall, the Knute Rockne Memorial can be seen at the other end of campus. All who write by now know where the Rockne Memorial is, and odds are that most everyone has had a physical education class there as well. The Rockne Memorial, though, is much more than simply a building and gymnasium.

“Rockne,” as it is usually called, was built in 1939 as a tribute to Notre Dame’s renowned football coach, Knute Rockne. For those who have not yet learned the Rockne story, the life of this great coach was tragically cut short on March 31, 1931, in a plane crash. Rockne was only 43 years old.

The Rockne Memorial was not built simply to honor Rockne’s coaching talent. “Another reason that this facility was built and named after Knute Rockne was that he was always pushing really hard for intramural sports, and for a place where students could work off stress after being behind a desk all day,” said Jeff Sparks, the Rockne Memorial’s supervisor.

It is for this reason that the Rockne Memorial is open until 11 a.m. Many students study late at night and need to work off the pressure and stress. The late hours give them an outlet, and enables them to study for a few more hours afterwards because they are more relaxed.

The Rockne Memorial has gone through several renovations in the last fifty years. One of the more considerable changes, said Sparks, involved “taking off the west wing and adding on what is now the girls’ locker area and women’s faculty. For the most recent renovation, we just completed painting the lockers in the men’s locker area and redoing the men’s faculty.” Though no major renovations are in the future, Sparks is hoping to redo the bathrooms and showers in the future.

Until 1968, the Rockne Memorial was the only building students had to work out or just play some basketball. In 1968, the Joyce ACC was completed, and the students had new places to choose from. According to Sparks, the Rockne Memorial has not suffered in the last twenty years, “We have more classes here: handball, dancing, gymnastics, volleyball, and such. On this end of campus, more students come here to swim—a lot of people say our pool is warmer.” The Rockne Memorial can easily hold its own against the JACC, with two full basketball courts and six additional baskets, handball and racquetball courts, and a swimming pool, though it is not as large as that of the JACC.

Even those who are not athletically inclined will find the Rockne Memorial interesting. Glass cases hold many pieces of Rockne memorabilia, most of which had just been found in the basement of the building. Another reason to come to the Rockne Memorial said Sparks, is that the racquetball courts are shorter. Therefore “anyone who learns here can beat almost everyone.”

Bill Watson

School tradition and athletics are combined at the Rock.

Calvin and Hobbes

Accent

Mon, Sep 26, 1998

The Rock, as it is usually called, was built in 1939 as a tribute to Notre Dame’s renowned football coach, Knute Rockne. For those who have not yet learned the Rockne story, the life of this great coach was tragically cut short on March 31, 1931, in a plane crash. Rockne was only 43 years old.

The Rockne Memorial was not built simply to honor Rockne’s coaching talent. “Another reason that this facility was built and named after Knute Rockne was that he was always pushing really hard for intramural sports, and for a place where students could work off stress after being behind a desk all day,” said Jeff Sparks, the Rockne Memorial’s supervisor.

It is for this reason that the Rockne Memorial is open until 11 a.m. Many students study late at night and need to work off the pressure and stress. The late hours give them an outlet, and enables them to study for a few more hours afterwards because they are more relaxed.

The Rockne Memorial has gone through several renovations in the last fifty years. One of the more considerable changes, said Sparks, involved “taking off the west wing and adding on what is now the girls’ locker area and women’s faculty. For the most recent renovation, we just completed painting the lockers in the men’s locker area and redoing the men’s faculty.” Though no major renovations are in the future, Sparks is hoping to redo the bathrooms and showers in the future.

Until 1968, the Rockne Memorial was the only building students had to work out or just play some basketball. In 1968, the Joyce ACC was completed, and the students had new places to choose from. According to Sparks, the Rockne Memorial has not suffered in the last twenty years, “We have more classes here: handball, dancing, gymnastics, volleyball, and such. On this end of campus, more students come here to swim—a lot of people say our pool is warmer.” The Rockne Memorial can easily hold its own against the JACC, with two full basketball courts and six additional baskets, handball and racquetball courts, and a swimming pool, though it is not as large as that of the JACC.

Even those who are not athletically inclined will find the Rockne Memorial interesting. Glass cases hold many pieces of Rockne memorabilia, most of which had just been found in the basement of the building. Another reason to come to the Rockne Memorial said Sparks, is that the racquetball courts are shorter. Therefore “anyone who learns here can beat almost everyone.”

Bill Watson

School tradition and athletics are combined at the Rock.

Calvin and Hobbes
Sports Briefs

A horseback riding trip is being sponsored by Non-Varsity Athletics for Sunday, Oct. 2. Trail rides cost $10 per person and transpiration will be provided. Buses will leave the library circle at 11 a.m., 12:35 p.m. and 2 p.m. each riding session lasting about 2 hours. Limited spaces are available, and one must register and pay in advance at the NVA office. The deadline for registering is Sept. 30. - The Observer

Classifieds

NOTICES

TYING AVAILABE

WARDROBE 0-10 $250

WEDDING S 1-1,000

NOTE: All notices must be typed and submitted to the Classifieds office before 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

LOST/FOUND

3 LOST: Watch, gold colored band. Roman numerals, day and date, must be found. Please call with numbers. X 1618.

BURGANDY BAND. GREAT SENTIMENTAL BURGANDY BAND TO SIT WITH OUR INFANT TUES, THURS & SUNDAY MORNINGS AND WEEKENDS. FRIENDLY ATMOSPHERE. "HERITAGE" ON FRONT IF FOUND PLEASE CALL MIKE 915 CHECK WITH OBSERVER 9AM-7PM. CALL BARRY OR KELLY DAYS 9989.

COLOR TV FOR ONLY $90.00 PLUS DELIVERY, CALL COLLEGIATE REGENCY 233-5989.

ETERNALLY MINE

THE OBERSTAR

IN THE MERRY WIDOW

WE WILL HAVE A BURGANDY BAND TO SIT WITH OUR INFANT TUES, THUR & SATURDAY MORNINGS AND WEEKENDS. FRIENDLY ATMOSPHERE. "HERITAGE" ON FRONT IF FOUND PLEASE CALL MIKE 915 CHECK WITH OBSERVER 9AM-7PM. CALL BARRY OR KELLY DAYS 9989. COLOR TV FOR ONLY $90.00 PLUS DELIVERY, CALL COLLEGIATE REGENT 233-5989.

FOR RENT

BED IN BREAKFAST FOR FALLSTUDENTS. $160 month. Includes all but electricity, All MEAL TIMES. From CAP 271 5957. FURNISHED HOUSE SAYS AREA 255.

HOUSE FOR RENT OFF ANGELA CALL 232-3191

4 BEDROOM HOUSE FOR RENT NEAR CAMPUSS FOR JULY SCHEMATIC. NO BILLS 395-2797

WANTED

HELPFUL VOLUNTEERS NEEDED FOR MIAMI VS. DARTMOUTH FOOTBALL GAME Sept. 24

CAMPAIGN VOLUNTEERS

CAMPUS ANYTIME - AUTO-ACTIVITIES OFFICE IN 315 LAFORTUNE. THE DEADLINE FOR APPLYING IS SEPT. 30. - THE OBSERVER

FOR SALE

TV RENTALS. YOU CAN RENT A 22 COLOR TV FOR ONLY BIANCA FLA 915 5707. TAKES $19 DOWN PLUS 35 PER DAY PLUS DELIVERY. CALL COLLEGIATE RENTALS AT 232-2809 ANYTIME.

SPORTS BRIEFS

The Observer Home Office. If you would like to request a sports brief for the Observer Home Office, please email sports@observer.org. The Observer will publish sports briefs on a space-available basis.

The Observer will consider briefs related to intramural sports, intercollegiate sports, and non-collegiate sports. Briefs should include information about the event, date, time, location, and entry details.

The Observer reserves the right to edit briefs for clarity and brevity. Briefs should be submitted in a clear and concise format.

All sports briefs must be submitted by 4 p.m. on the day before publication.

Sports Briefs are accepted in writing on Monday through Wednesday in The Observer Office, located on the third floor of LaFortune Student Center before 3 p.m. on the day prior to publication. - The Observer
Red Sox 6, Yankees 0

NEW YORK — Roger Clemens pitched seven shutout innings as the Boston Red Sox stopped the New York Yankees 6-0 Sunday and reduced their magic number to three for clinching the American League East.

Boston began the day ¾ games ahead of Milwaukee and New York. Detroit was five back. The Red Sox are seeking their second AL East title in three years. Clemens, 18-11, overcame Hickey Henderson's line drive off his pitching arm in the first inning and scattered five singles.

In other major league action, Detroit swept Baltimore in a doubleheader 7-1 and 7-4. Cleveland beat Toronto 4-3 and the White Sox edged Kansas City 6-5. Milwaukee beat Oakland 4-2. Seattle topped Texas 8-5 and Minnesota toppled the Angels 6-2.

In the National League, the Phillies beat the Cubs 6-5. San Diego crushed Houston 9-1, the Pirates beat the Cubs 7-4.

Irish

continued from page 16

middle for the score.

Watters then returned his second punt of the year for a touchdown, accelerating what was already becoming a blowout.

The Purdue offense continued to spurt under McCarthy, who completed 9-of-19 for 51 yards and two George Streeter interceptions.

"The first one he threw right at me," said Streeter. "We noticed from the films that he looked down a receiver. But it wasn't that easy. They execute their pass offense very well."

Belles take a 5-0 record into their next home game Wednesday against the University of Wisconsin.

football box

The Belles came out strong in the second half, willing to get an insurance goal early on. After failing to capitalize on three corner kicks, Kelly Freeliege put one in the upper right corner, giving the Belles a 2-0 edge.

With five minutes remaining in the game, a Boilermaker penalty resulted in a direct kick for the Belles.

Kelly Cook took the shot, which went off a Boiler defender and into the goal, giving the Belles the 3-0 victory.

The Belles take a 5-0 record into their next home game Wednesday against the University of Wisconsin.
Bills, Bengals both win to run

Associated Press

Perfection still suits the Buffalo Bills and Cincinnati Bengal­s after four weeks of NFL action.
The Bills stayed unbeaten with a 36-28 victory over the Redskins. Quarterback Jim Kelly ran a Robb Riddick score two quick touch­downs in the third quarter, one on a blocked punt. Scott Norwood kicked five field goals.
The Bengals, a last-place team in the AFC central last season, moved to 4-0 by scoring all their points in the first half.

USC stuns the Sooners, 23-7

Associated Press

Rodney Peete completed 16 of 34 passes for 198 yards and rushed for 40 yards as Southern Cal improved its series record against the Sooners to 4-2-1.
The game was decided in the first half, when the Sooners couldn't move the ball across the 50-yard line.
The season Texas A&M began with dreams of establishing itself as one of college football's elite is rapidly turn­ing into a nightmare.

Offense

receivers. One series later on third and five from the Purdue 48, Rice hit a sliding Pat Eil­lers for another third-down conversion at the Notre Dame 34. Six plays later, Rice hit a wide-open Derek Brown for the touchdown.

I thought all along that if we get Tony some protection, he would be an awesome quar­terback," offensive guard Tim Grunhard said. "He proved the critics wrong. He hit the long pass, the short pass, ran and scrambled.

Rice chose the dramatic approach for his passing encore in the next Irish series.

On the first play from scrimmage, Rice faked a hand-off and hit a streaking Ismail down the middle for his second pas­sing touchdown of the afternoon.

We proved to everybody that we can pass," Rice said. "If we didn't prove anything, we would have to start over. We have a lot of confidence in the passing game. We just have to keep on performing well.

Overall, Irish quarterbacks completed 8 of 14 passes for 167 yards. Not bad statistics con­sidering Purdue brought the nation's top-rated pass defense into Notre Dame Stadium.

"We hoped to make them love us when we wanted them to, but we couldn't," Boiler coach Fred Akers said. "We had no injuries. We knew Rice could throw the ball.

More importantly, the emer­gence of the passing game es­tablished Notre Dame as a two­ dimensional team. No longer do the Irish need to rely on the running game to control the tempo. No longer can opposing defenses key on the Notre Dame backfield.

When Purdue began to defend against the pass, the Irish did indeed go back to the running game. On the play after Rice found Eil­lers for the second time, fullback Tony Brooks ran up the middle for 31 yards.

Three series later with 8:52 to play in the half, the Irish rush was on as they ran the ball six straight times for 90 yards and a touchdown. Brooks again had the big plays with gains of 31 and 11 yards.

Brooks, playing with a stress fracture in his foot, finished the first half, keeping Green Bay winless this year.

Neal Anderson ran for two touchdowns, but the Bears were stuck for 17 points in the final five minutes of the first half. Chicago also sacked Randy Wright five times and inter­cepted him twice, including one in the end zone by Shaun Gayle to stop a fourth-quarter drive.

Jets 17, Lions 10

The Jets won their third straight game as Ken O'Brien completed 27 of 38 passes for 253 yards and two touchdowns.

O'Brien, who connected with Al Toon 10 times for 75 yards, found Wesley Walker alone in the corner of the end zone with 9:39 remaining for a game-winning 36-yard pass.

New York's defense, which had not allowed a touchdown in the last two weeks, gave up a 1-yard scoring run to Garry James in the third quarter.

Cowboys 26, Falcons 20

Disaster had been Steve Pel­lier's companion late in games this year. In both of Dallas' losses, Pellerin threw defeatclinching interceptions.

This time, the fifth-year quarterback turned it around, hitting Ray Alexander for a 29­ yard score with 1:48 to play.

Other scores

In other action Sunday, Dean Baliani kicked five field goals to lead the Colts past the Del­ phins 15-13. Allen Pinkett scored three touchdowns to lead Houston past New En­ gland 31-6. The Vikings edged the Eagles 23-21 as the Saints topped the Buccaneers 13-9.

Copyright © 1988 The Observer. All rights reserved.

U.S.-Soviet Relations:
Two Journalists' Views

a discussion with
Phil Donahue (American Talk Show Host)
Vladimir Pozner (Top Soviet Commentator)

WHEN: Thursday October 6th 8 to 10 p.m.
WHERE: JACC
TICKETS: $4-ND & SMC students, faculty & staff
$6-adults

Tickets should be purchased in advance.
Now On Sale M-F 9-5 Gate 10 JACC
Also will be sold in the dining halls
Aussies beat Soviets; Louganis dives again

Associated Press

SEOUL, South Korea—The long-anticipated clash between the United States and the Soviet Union in women's basketball won't decide the Olympic gold medal after all.

Instead, the semifinal game Tuesday morning (Monday night CDT) will only determine who will play for the gold on the gold Wednesday morning CDT. The loser can do no better than a bronze.

The other semifinal matchup pits Australia against Yugoslavia.

The U.S. Soviet game had been expected to decide the championship. But a preliminary matchup was created Sunday by dumping China from the group, dropped the Soviets to their division by going undefeated, and created the Soviet-U.S. semifinal.

Tuesday night's game will be the first between the two nations in seven years. The Soviets won the last one, 112-77, in 1976.

The AASP-Soviet game had been expected to decide the Olympic gold medals. But a preeminent player missed the game due to injury, and the Americans swept to victory.

The Americans, who topped their division by going undefeated, completed preliminary play Sunday by dumping China, 112-77.

The Semifinal game was created Sunday by dumping China from the group, making the Soviet-U.S. semifinal.

The other semifinal matchup was Australia vs. Yugoslavia.

The U.S.-Soviet game had been expected to decide the gold medal. But a preeminent player missed the game due to injury, and the Americans swept to victory.

Tuesday night's game was the first between the two nations in seven years. The Soviets won the last one, 112-77, in 1976.

The semifinal game was created Sunday by dumping China from the group, dropping the Soviets to their division by going undefeated. The loser could do no better than a bronze.

The other semifinal matchup pits Australia against Yugoslavia.

The U.S.-Soviet game had been expected to decide the championship. But a preliminary matchup was created Sunday by dumping China from the group, dropping the Soviets to their division by going undefeated. The loser could do no better than a bronze.

The other semifinal matchup pits Australia against Yugoslavia.

The U.S.-Soviet game had been expected to decide the championship. But a preliminary matchup was created Sunday by dumping China from the group, dropping the Soviets to their division by going undefeated. The loser could do no better than a bronze.

The other semifinal matchup pits Australia against Yugoslavia.

The U.S.-Soviet game had been expected to decide the championship. But a preliminary matchup was created Sunday by dumping China from the group, dropping the Soviets to their division by going undefeated. The loser could do no better than a bronze.

The other semifinal matchup pits Australia against Yugoslavia.

The U.S.-Soviet game had been expected to decide the championship. But a preliminary matchup was created Sunday by dumping China from the group, dropping the Soviets to their division by going undefeated. The loser could do no better than a bronze.

The other semifinal matchup pits Australia against Yugoslavia.

The U.S.-Soviet game had been expected to decide the championship. But a preliminary matchup was created Sunday by dumping China from the group, dropping the Soviets to their division by going undefeated. The loser could do no better than a bronze.

The other semifinal matchup pits Australia against Yugoslavia.

The U.S.-Soviet game had been expected to decide the championship. But a preliminary matchup was created Sunday by dumping China from the group, dropping the Soviets to their division by going undefeated. The loser could do no better than a bronze.

The other semifinal matchup pits Australia against Yugoslavia.

The U.S.-Soviet game had been expected to decide the championship. But a preliminary matchup was created Sunday by dumping China from the group, dropping the Soviets to their division by going undefeated. The loser could do no better than a bronze.

The other semifinal matchup pits Australia against Yugoslavia.

The U.S.-Soviet game had been expected to decide the championship. But a preliminary matchup was created Sunday by dumping China from the group, dropping the Soviets to their division by going undefeated. The loser could do no better than a bronze.

The other semifinal matchup pits Australia against Yugoslavia.

The U.S.-Soviet game had been expected to decide the championship. But a preliminary matchup was created Sunday by dumping China from the group, dropping the Soviets to their division by going undefeated. The loser could do no better than a bronze.

The other semifinal matchup pits Australia against Yugoslavia.

The U.S.-Soviet game had been expected to decide the championship. But a preliminary matchup was created Sunday by dumping China from the group, dropping the Soviets to their division by going undefeated. The loser could do no better than a bronze.

The other semifinal matchup pits Australia against Yugoslavia.

The U.S.-Soviet game had been expected to decide the championship. But a preliminary matchup was created Sunday by dumping China from the group, dropping the Soviets to their division by going undefeated. The loser could do no better than a bronze.

The other semifinal matchup pits Australia against Yugoslavia.

The U.S.-Soviet game had been expected to decide the championship. But a preliminary matchup was created Sunday by dumping China from the group, dropping the Soviets to their division by going undefeated. The loser could do no better than a bronze.

The other semifinal matchup pits Australia against Yugoslavia.

The U.S.-Soviet game had been expected to decide the championship. But a preliminary matchup was created Sunday by dumping China from the group, dropping the Soviets to their division by going undefeated. The loser could do no better than a bronze.

The other semifinal matchup pits Australia against Yugoslavia.

The U.S.-Soviet game had been expected to decide the championship. But a preliminary matchup was created Sunday by dumping China from the group, dropping the Soviets to their division by going undefeated. The loser could do no better than a bronze.

The other semifinal matchup pits Australia against Yugoslavia.

The U.S.-Soviet game had been expected to decide the championship. But a preliminary matchup was created Sunday by dumping China from the group, dropping the Soviets to their division by going undefeated. The loser could do no better than a bronze.

The other semifinal matchup pits Australia against Yugoslavia.

The U.S.-Soviet game had been expected to decide the championship. But a preliminary matchup was created Sunday by dumping China from the group, dropping the Soviets to their division by going undefeated. The loser could do no better than a bronze.

The other semifinal matchup pits Australia against Yugoslavia.

The U.S.-Soviet game had been expected to decide the championship. But a preliminary matchup was created Sunday by dumping China from the group, dropping the Soviets to their division by going undefeated. The loser could do no better than a bronze.

The other semifinal matchup pits Australia against Yugoslavia.

The U.S.-Soviet game had been expected to decide the championship. But a preliminary matchup was created Sunday by dumping China from the group, dropping the Soviets to their division by going undefeated. The loser could do no better than a bronze.

The other semifinal matchup pits Australia against Yugoslavia.

The U.S.-Soviet game had been expected to decide the championship. But a preliminary matchup was created Sunday by dumping China from the group, dropping the Soviets to their division by going undefeated. The loser could do no better than a bronze.
Irish soccer teams combine for four weekend wins

Women roll over Adrian 7-0, topple St. Joe's again 3-0

By PETE GEGEN
Sports Writer

5E-1. That was the final shots on goal totals for the Notre Dame women's soccer team's two games this weekend.

And, yes, that lone shot on goal by a St. Joseph's player was saved, and the Irish rolled two shutout wins over Adrian 7-0 and St. Joseph's (Ind.) 3-0.

Friday afternoon the Irish led off on Adrian, outshooting the small Michigan college 37-0. Afica McNeill scored twice and Mimi Suba had a goal and an assist. K.T. Sullivan, Julie Constantini, Susan Haling and Susie Zivitzi each added single tallies.

If the sport were basketball, Irish coach Dennis Grace would be accused of padding the schedule just to make the tournament. But as Grace explains, these mismatches in the first year of varsity women's soccer at Notre Dame could not be helped. "Because the promotion of the girls' team to varsity happened so late," explained Irish coach Dennis Grace.

"We had to make as many concessions in scheduling as possible to get a full complement of games in stead of just 11 or 12. We will upgrade the schedule next year.

Sunday's game against St. Joseph's is a prime example of this problem. Two weeks ago the Irish blasted St. Joseph's 3-0 at Rensselaer, Ind., but a rematch was already scheduled at Notre Dame.

Predictably the Irish wasted no time jumping to a big lead over St. Joseph's. Sunday. Jey Sisakol and Susie Zivitzi both had unassisted goals and K.T. Sullivan added a second just before halftime. At halftime Grace decided to make fullback Kelly Haranty a goalkeeper, forcing his team to concentrate more on ball control than teeing off at the St. Joseph's goal. The move helped, as the Irish did not allow a single shot on goal in the second half.

By PETE GEGEN
Sports Writer

M  was a big weekend at Moose Krause Field as the Notre Dame women's soccer team swept its weekend opponents in two shutouts, as did the men's. Pete Gegen details the men's action below and the women's two victories at right.

Men win two physical battles

By PETE GEGEN
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame soccer team gave Western Michigan and Southern Birmingham a lesson weekend opponents in two shutouts, as did the below and the women's two victories at right.

Men win two physical battles

Forward Randy Morris was the offensive star against the Broncos, assisting freshman Mitch Kern on the first goal at 19:06, and then beating two Western Michigan defenders with dazzling moves to score an unassisted goal at 50:02.

"Their sweeper was coming on," said Morris of the play. "The only thing I could do was push the ball between the defenders and pop through. And the goal was open, so I shot.

"You really don't think on a play like that. You just see an opening and go."

John Guignon knocked home a rebound at 83:54 to finish the scoring.

Sunday Irish forward Bruce "Tiger" McCourt started the fireworks with two goals, including a rocket which Panther keeper Stefan Hofer couldn't handle.

"The grass wasn't wet, so I was able to cut and control the ball better," said McCourt, who has been slowed by a sore foot.

Another blast by McCourt was saved by Hofer, but Morris put home the rebound at 37:11 to make the score 3-0. Joe Sternberg added two second-half goals on assists from Kern and Morris.

As it became more evident in the second half that the Irish would win their eighth game of the year, the physical play on the field turned ugly. Irish forward Steve Archer suffered a collateral injury when Panther midfielder Oliver Lurz ran over Archer on a "violent charge" infraction. Later Lurz sent Irish midfielder Warrick Muldrow head-over-heels with a tackle, yet the referee did not even give Lurz a caution.

"I wasn't happy with how many fouls weren't called," said Irish coach Dennis Grace. "We're getting too many injuries. As the game wore down and they knew they lost, they did some things to hurt us."

Any danger of a letdown in Sunday's game against Birmingham Southern, an NAIA school, was erased by a few words from the Panther coach. Several Irish players indicated that word had gotten back to them that Goldfarb called Notre Dame "an average team" after watching Friday night's game. "We had no problem getting psyched up for this game," said Morris.

IRISH ITEMS—McCourt's foot and Archer's injury adds to a growing list of injured Irish players. Morris and both LaVignes are playing through lower leg injuries, and Lyons was playing with a sore knee.

Univ. Pizza Delivery

PLAY THE UNIV. PIZZA FB POOL (no purchase necessary)

WIN A 2 TOPPING FULL SHEET & 6 SODAS

RULES:

1. To enter, circle the team you expect to win each of the 12 games listed. Also, enter the total points you expect to be scored in the tiebreaker game.

2. Give your entry to a UPD driver, or drop in our store by 3 am Sat 10/18.

3. People with correct picks win, in the event of a tie, the person closest to actual points scored in the tiebreaker game wins. Winner will be announced on Mon. Oct. 10, 1988.

LAST YEAR 7,514 HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS STOPPED DRINKING AND DRIVING.

H1TECENTER
University Of Notre Dame

Compassion Or Compromise?

John A. O'Brien Professor of Christian Ethics
University Of Notre Dame

"The Bishop On AIDS: Compassion Or Compromise?"

The THOMAS J. WHITE CENTER FOR LAW AND GOVERNMENT (312) 637-3434

Presents a lecture by Reverend Richard McCormick, S.J.
John A. O'Brien Professor of Christian Ethics
University Of Notre Dame

On

"The Bishop On AIDS: Compassion Or Compromise?"

 Noon

Thursday, September 29

Room 220 Law School Courtyard

The Observer - Eric Bailey

Irish soccer teams combine for four weekend wins

Irish soccer teams combine for four weekend wins

Irish soccer teams combine for four weekend wins
CAMPUS

9:30 a.m. CCBVIE, Session 2, Cultural Perspectives, CCE.
1:00 p.m. CCBVIE Session 2, Business Value Perspectives, CCE.
3:00 p.m. SMC Tennis vs. Tri-State University, SMC Tennis Courts.
3:15 p.m. CCBVIE Session 4, Institutional Perspectives, CCE.
7:00 p.m. ND Communication and Theatre Film "Playtime," directed by Jacques Tati, Annenberg Auditorium.
7:00 p.m. Career and Placement Services presents a reception for all MCC, MIS, CAPP and CCE seniors interested in careers with Eli Lilly and Company in the Alumni Room, Morris Inn.
8:00 p.m. CCBVIE Session 5, Reflections, CCE.
9:00 p.m. ND Communication and Theatre Film "America's Best College Bar Band" Thursday, Sept. 29 Stepan Center Opening Act: Green

NEW YORK TIMES CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1 Pay a visit
5 Asian serpent
10 "American"
14 --- of the "Mind."
15 Browning's Ben Ezra, e.g.
17 Symphonic favorite
20 Guard
21 Dozer of yore
22 Guest room, sometimes
23 Mild expletives
25 Captain
28 Tunes
30 Base
33 Humpman
34 Cook's cover
35 Employ
36 Popular piano piece
39 Prefix for bar or gram
41 Architectural ridge
42 Finished
43 Con
44 Faded away
45 Accent
47 Otherwise
48 Dep
49 Cinematic
52 Rascal
57 Virtuoso's showpiece
60 Dock
61 Dahl of "Kiss Kiss"
62 Clarinet, e.g.
63 Copy editor's term
64 Hitchcock film, with "The"
65 Bills that pay few bills

DOWN
1 Holme's hanioms
2 Sailor's direction
3 Banker's word
4 Latin
5 Coins of Copenhagen
6 "Nevermore" utterer
7 First victim
8 --- - Saud
9 Common contraction
10 --- Irish Rose"
11 Widespread
12 Wrestlers' pads
13 Count figure
14 Secret
15 San Joaquin valley city
16 Measures the circumference of 17 --- Paris, Coli's valley
18 --- Has on 19 Billboard
20 21
22 --- by any other name...
26 --- "Shah"
27 Barly's perch
28 "Perfect" number
29 Fancily, e.g.
30 --- Soft mineral
31 A Navarolita rival
32 Chide
33 Corded fabric
34 Concur
35 Soup server
36 Eye part
37 Neithers partner
38 Fanek, e.g.
39 --- Soft mineral
40 Fancily, e.g.
41 "Perfect" number
42 --- Soft mineral
43 A Navarolita rival
44 Chide
45 Corded fabric
50 Release
51 Fencer's weapon
52 Cigarette
53 Dynamic prefix
54 St. Paul's designer
55 To --- (precipitously)
56 Augud
58 Skeeper's partner
59 King of France

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

Bloom County

Notre Dame
Saint Mary's
Italian Beef Sandwich
Moroccan Lemon Chicken
Turkey Deli
Broccoli and Cheddar
BBQ Pork Ribs
Deli Bar
BBQ Pork Ribs
GwELu, Now you've gotten the name of the famous giraffe. Now for the magic, pin and pencil test for Kooko! No, you can't get them off at the observance. But if you're a wizard, you'll have to go on a permanent basis.

COMICS

The Observer page 15 September 26, 1988

SCRUNCHY THE CAT "America's Best College Bar Band"

Thursday, Sept. 29
Stepan Center
Opening Act: Green

CHECK OUT WHAT'S HAPPENING THIS WEEK:

Scruffy the Cat

Movies this week

Thursday: The Presidio
Friday: Stake Out

All Times 8:00 p.m. & 10:15 p.m.
Cushing Auditorium
Admission $2

SPONSORED BY STUDENT UNION BOARD
The Irish defense held the Boilers to seven points and 114 yards total offense. "We're a good football team that has improved fundamentally over a year ago," he said. "But we still have a long way to go. Where are we right now? We're 3-4, which is exactly where we were a year ago."

There wasn't much else left to be decided once the Irish jumped out to a 42-0 lead. It happened so fast that Irish coach Lou Holtz didn't get to do some of the things he wanted to try. "It got out of hand so quick," said Holtz. "We really needed to throw the football more today, but we didn't have the opportunity."

Four Irish quarterbacks did manage to get off 14 passes, eight of them completions and one interception. The focus, however, was on Rice's arm.

After two incompletions stalled Notre Dame's opening drive, he rolled right on a third-and-five play and hit flanker Pat Eilers for a 10-yard touchdown run, helped by a huge hole on the left side and a downfield block by Eilers. After linebacker Mike Stonebreaker salted Purdue's drive when he stopped Jarrett Scales short of a first down on a shovel pass, the Irish offense went to work again. Another completion to Eilers on third down kept the drive going, and Rice capped the nine-play, 72-yard drive with an eight-yard toss to freshman tight end Derek Brown.

In the second quarter, Rice's final toss was a 54-yard bomb to Raghib "Rocket" Ismail, who beat cornerback Steve Jackson for the score to make it 20-7.

The next scoring drive featured the running attack, with Rice, Brooks and Ricky Watters combining for 73 yards in six plays, leading to Mark Green's seven-yard plowup over the Irish tight end and Derek Brown pulls down an eight-yard pass from Tony Rice to score the second Notre Dame touchdown of Saturday's 52-7 rout of the Boilermakers.

By PETE GEGEN
Sports Writer

It just was Notre Dame's day. The Irish jumped all over a hobbled Purdue squad Saturday at Notre Dame stadium, completing a three-game sweep of Big Ten schools and raising the question of just how good is this Notre Dame football team.

"It was just our day," said Irish coach Lou Holtz. "I don't believe that there's a 42-point good is this Notre Dame football team.

"Generally, I'm pleased with our play," said Irish head coach Art Arroyo. "We had our moments when we had some communication problems, but we played well."

Senior right side hitter Maureen Shea tallied a match high 10 kills and got some help from fellow seniors Mary Kay Waller and Christie Borchert, who followed close behind with eight kills.

Sophomore outside hitter Tracey Shelton, playing in only the second match of her career at Notre Dame, had an outstanding match, recording seven kills and seven digs. She also added three service aces, which proved to be the last three points of the match for the Irish in game three.

"Tracey Shelton had a hell of a match," said Lambert. "She played pretty well at right side too, and I think the team's getting more comfortable with this new lineup."

The Irish have been experimenting with a new lineup as of late, which has shifted the dynamics of the game and seen the arrival of new players such as Shelton and sophomore Rachel Hall.

Notre Dame won the first game of the match by steadily accumulating points behind a well-balanced attack and effective blocking. The Rice squad was stymied by the Irish net play and could only manage a .262 hitting percentage for the game.

Rice rallied, though, in the second game and held the lead for the first part of the game. But the Irish were able to regain their momentum after reaching an 8-8 tie and fight their way to the victory.

Going into the third game, the Irish overcame many of the communication problems that had kept the Owls close in game two and methodically dispatched Rice's offensive attack by allowing only eight kills on 30 attempts to penetrate the net.

"We can feel ourselves coming together," said Waller. "Our passes are improving and I think we're making smarter decisions.

The Irish will now try to work out any wrinkles in the lineup before facing Northwestern in the JACC on Tuesday.

"We have to refine the fundamentals," said Lambert. "We have no secrets. It's not the fancy stuff that wins matches; the team that executes wins."