House members oppose pay increase, favor vote

Associated Press

WASHINGTON--House members were lining up overwhelmingly against a proposed $45,000 pay raise on Wednesday and indicating in an Associated Press survey that they want a recorded vote. Wright's tally was not made available Wednesday.

However, an Associated Press informal survey of nearly a third of the 435 House members showed about 88 percent of those responding wanted a vote on the pay raise.

Meanwhile, a survey of the entire House released Wednesday by opponents of the pay raise showed 42 percent saying they would vote "no" if the issue came up next Wednesday.

Under the law, members of Congress and other top federal officials will get pay raises of about 5 percent on Feb. 8 unless both chambers reject it. Rank-and-file congressional salaries would go from $89,500 to $135,000, with the recommendation submitted by former President Reagan and supported by President Bush.

Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell, D-Maine, has promised a vote in his chamber this week. Surveys show the pay raise would be handily rejected there.

House Democratic leaders, with Republican consent, had adopted a strategy of avoiding a vote until after the deadline and then softening the political blow of the substantial pay raise by passing new ethics rules including a ban on lawmakers accepting speaking fees.

The strategy was based on the opinion that House members would vote "no" if they had an opportunity to do so.

Raising the pay of lawmakers, with Republican consent, had adopted a strategy of avoiding a vote until after the deadline and then softening the political blow of the substantial pay raise by passing new ethics rules including a ban on lawmakers accepting speaking fees.

The strategy was based on the opinion that House members would vote "no" if they had an opportunity to do so.

Gift of Gipp's sweater to Reagan raises criticism from original donor

By ABHOK RODRIGUES

Notre Dame's gift of George Gipp's letter sweater to former President Ronald Reagan has become a source of controversy.

John Cackley, a 1937 graduate of the University and executive director emeritus of the Notre Dame Alumni Association, originally donated the sweater to the University. "I certainly didn't assume it would be given to Ronald Reagan or anybody else," wrote Cackley in a column in the South Bend Tribune.

"The sweater was not in a recorded vote. Wright's tally was not made available on Wednesday. However, an Associated Press informal survey of nearly a third of the 435 House members showed about 88 percent of those responding wanted a vote on the pay raise. Meanwhile, a survey of the entire House released Wednesday by opponents of the pay raise showed 42 percent saying they would vote "no" if the issue came up next Wednesday. Under the law, members of Congress and other top federal officials will get pay raises of about 5 percent on Feb. 8 unless both chambers reject it. Rank-and-file congressional salaries would go from $89,500 to $135,000, with the recommendation submitted by former President Reagan and supported by President Bush.

Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell, D-Maine, has promised a vote in his chamber this week. Surveys show the pay raise would be handily rejected there. House Democratic leaders, with Republican consent, had adopted a strategy of avoiding a vote until after the deadline and then softening the political blow of the substantial pay raise by passing new ethics rules including a ban on lawmakers accepting speaking fees. The strategy was based on the opinion that House members would vote "no" if they had an opportunity to do so.

Gift of Gipp's sweater to Reagan raises criticism from original donor

By ABHOK RODRIGUES

Notre Dame's gift of George Gipp's letter sweater to former President Ronald Reagan has become a source of controversy.

John Cackley, a 1937 graduate of the University and executive director emeritus of the Notre Dame Alumni Association, originally donated the sweater to the University. "I certainly didn't assume it would be given to Ronald Reagan or anybody else," wrote Cackley in a column in the South Bend Tribune.

"The sweater was not in a recorded vote. Wright's tally was not made available on Wednesday. However, an Associated Press informal survey of nearly a third of the 435 House members showed about 88 percent of those responding wanted a vote on the pay raise. Meanwhile, a survey of the entire House released Wednesday by opponents of the pay raise showed 42 percent saying they would vote "no" if the issue came up next Wednesday. Under the law, members of Congress and other top federal officials will get pay raises of about 5 percent on Feb. 8 unless both chambers reject it. Rank-and-file congressional salaries would go from $89,500 to $135,000, with the recommendation submitted by former President Reagan and supported by President Bush.

Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell, D-Maine, has promised a vote in his chamber this week. Surveys show the pay raise would be handily rejected there. House Democratic leaders, with Republican consent, had adopted a strategy of avoiding a vote until after the deadline and then softening the political blow of the substantial pay raise by passing new ethics rules including a ban on lawmakers accepting speaking fees. The strategy was based on the opinion that House members would vote "no" if they had an opportunity to do so.

Gift of Gipp's sweater to Reagan draws criticism from original donor

By ABHOK RODRIGUES

Notre Dame's gift of George Gipp's letter sweater to former President Ronald Reagan has become a source of controversy.

John Cackley, a 1937 graduate of the University and executive director emeritus of the Notre Dame Alumni Association, originally donated the sweater to the University. "I certainly didn't assume it would be given to Ronald Reagan or anybody else," wrote Cackley in a column in the South Bend Tribune.

"The sweater was not in a recorded vote. Wright's tally was not made available on Wednesday. However, an Associated Press informal survey of nearly a third of the 435 House members showed about 88 percent of those responding wanted a vote on the pay raise. Meanwhile, a survey of the entire House released Wednesday by opponents of the pay raise showed 42 percent saying they would vote "no" if the issue came up next Wednesday. Under the law, members of Congress and other top federal officials will get pay raises of about 5 percent on Feb. 8 unless both chambers reject it. Rank-and-file congressional salaries would go from $89,500 to $135,000, with the recommendation submitted by former President Reagan and supported by President Bush.

Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell, D-Maine, has promised a vote in his chamber this week. Surveys show the pay raise would be handily rejected there. House Democratic leaders, with Republican consent, had adopted a strategy of avoiding a vote until after the deadline and then softening the political blow of the substantial pay raise by passing new ethics rules including a ban on lawmakers accepting speaking fees. The strategy was based on the opinion that House members would vote "no" if they had an opportunity to do so.

Gift of Gipp's sweater to Reagan draws criticism from original donor

By ABHOK RODRIGUES

Notre Dame's gift of George Gipp's letter sweater to former President Ronald Reagan has become a source of controversy.

John Cackley, a 1937 graduate of the University and executive director emeritus of the Notre Dame Alumni Association, originally donated the sweater to the University. "I certainly didn't assume it would be given to Ronald Reagan or anybody else," wrote Cackley in a column in the South Bend Tribune.

"The sweater was not in a recorded vote. Wright's tally was not made available on Wednesday. However, an Associated Press informal survey of nearly a third of the 435 House members showed about 88 percent of those responding wanted a vote on the pay raise. Meanwhile, a survey of the entire House released Wednesday by opponents of the pay raise showed 42 percent saying they would vote "no" if the issue came up next Wednesday. Under the law, members of Congress and other top federal officials will get pay raises of about 5 percent on Feb. 8 unless both chambers reject it. Rank-and-file congressional salaries would go from $89,500 to $135,000, with the recommendation submitted by former President Reagan and supported by President Bush.

Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell, D-Maine, has promised a vote in his chamber this week. Surveys show the pay raise would be handily rejected there. House Democratic leaders, with Republican consent, had adopted a strategy of avoiding a vote until after the deadline and then softening the political blow of the substantial pay raise by passing new ethics rules including a ban on lawmakers accepting speaking fees. The strategy was based on the opinion that House members would vote "no" if they had an opportunity to do so.
Good things come to those who ‘throat’

A few days ago I was heading out of the dorm to the library when my hallmate had the audacity to call me a “throat.” I guess this was to be expected since we were having an SYE that night. My war-like reaction was described by the fact that the hallmate who called me a throat was our rector.

I am one of the only members of the Notre Dame population against whom it is completely acceptable to deride, ridicule and discriminate against. This is an outrageous miscarriage of justice. In fact, it’s high time that one of us came out of the closet and proclaimed to the true glory and preeminence of ‘THROATDOM.’

Let us begin by dispelling some of the boisterous myths that are regularly circulated about throats. These myths are generated by a small, but influential portion of the campus that is vehemently anti-throat. These people are not our friends. If you wanted a true version of what the people in Iran are like, you wouldn’t ask only Iranians.

Myth #1- “Throats are backstabbing S.O.B’s who frequently employ their capacity to steal small notebooks and mull brown-nose their professors.”

This may be true, but we have a legitimate excuse. When a youth from the inner-city com­mits a crime, the judge often rightfully takes into consideration the juvenile’s background when he delivers the sentence. Well, the same consideration should be given to throats. Many of us have led lives riddled with lonely, rainy afternoons and the cold ostracism of our peers. Sure we have been guilty of aural and visual cruelty, but we’re not proud of this. This is not the fault of the poor throat, but rather a function of society’s relent­less working a few inches ahead in embryology, stop and talk to us: tell us what special people we really are.

Those of you who are still reading are prob­ably saying: “Yes, I see that the throat has been slandered and malign ed by modern civilization, but why should I want to become a throat?” I can offer two enticing reasons why one should pursue the flowered path to throat­dom.

First, the actual throat­ing act delivers a state of self-awareness and awareness that is only be­come the cause of throat crimes and not the effect. Myth # 1- “Throats are shallow and have no personality.”

There is probably no more erroneous senti­ment aimed at the Notre Dame campus today. The problem is that no one takes the time to get to know a throat. A throat can be a very interesting, sensitive individual. So the next time you see one of us up on the 13th floor of the library listening to class notes on a walkman or working a few weeks ahead in embryology, stop and talk to us: tell us what special people we really are.

Residence hall contracts for next year are due in the Student Residences by 5 p.m. today. Contracts must be returned in order to be eligible for housing next year. - The Observer

Snow removal guidelines are in effect until March 15. All student vehicles are to be removed from fac­ulty and guest parking lots. A $25 fee for each vehicle will be assessed for moving any cars into student lots. Cars which still will also be towed from all roadways, sidewalks, loading zones, and traffic circles. - The Observer

Talent show acts needed for the Black Annual Arts Talent Show. Call Tracy at 283-3879 or Agnes at 283-4011 if interested. The talent show will be held Feb. 11, Hos­bury Library Auditorium. - The Observer

Fiesta Bowl ticket refunds that were requested prior to Christmas break may be picked up in person on the 15th floor of the Joyce. Any student must present his or her I.D. Hours are 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. - The Observer

The Tom Dooley Award winner, Brother Robert Leonard, will be the Center for Social Concerns at 4:30 to speak with students about his work with the home­less at the the Padre Pio Shelter in the South Bronx and entering programs with the N.Y. State University sys­tem. - The Observer

New Sunday library hours begin this weekend with the library opening at 10 a.m. every Sunday morning. - The Observer

The annual Alumni-Student reception will be from 4:45 to 6:30 p.m. in the North Dining Hall Gold Room. Members of the Alumni Board will be present to meet with students on an individual basis to discuss prospective careers. All students are invited. - The Observer

Freshmen or sophomores interested in being a Bookstore basketball assistant commissioner can pick up an application at the student government secretary’s of­fice, second floor, LaFortune Student Center. Applications are due by Feb. 7. Call Mike Manning at 239-3864 for more information. - The Observer

Northern Ireland seminar has an opening for one female student participant. This one credit course involves a summer trip to Northern Ireland over spring break. If you are interested call 239-7862 or write to the Office of International Programs, N.Y. State University, for details. - The Observer

Friday Forum at the CSC begins its spring series on Monday with the talent show at 9 p.m. with American Studies Professor Ronald Norris speaking on “Bigotry and Honesty in the American Experience.” - The Observer

The Feast of the Presentation of the Lord will be celebrated today with a special liturgy at 5 p.m. in Sacred Heart Church. On this feast day, which normally concludes the Christmas season, it is the custom to bless candles for use in church and home.

The Observer presents tonight: Comedians STEVE SEAGRAN AND MARK REEDEY

Beginning at 9:00 p.m. -doors open at 8:45. Get there early to assure good seating.

Drink Specials: Buy one drink, get the second drink (of equal or lesser value) FREE. at Ted’s Hideaway!

(Must have this ad with you)
WASHINGTON—Administration officials said Wednesday they expect President Bush to name a hawkish Democrat as his top State Department aide for Latin America in a bid for a bipartisan approach toward Central American policy.

The selection of Bernard Aronson, a one-time assistant to former Vice President Walter Mondale, came as a surprise because his name had not been on any of the long lists circulating here on prospective successors to former Assistant Secretary of State Elliott Abrams.

Aronson, 42, is best known for the help he gave to President Reagan in building congressional support for the Nicaraguan Contras in 1986, the last year Congress approved military aid for the rebels.

Aronson from 1977 to 1981 was a vice presidential speechwriter and deputy assistant to President Carter, and currently is on a Council on Foreign Relations study group on Central America. The officials who confirmed his appointment spoke on condition of anonymity.

The assistant secretary's post has been at the center of controversy for years because of the deep divisions between the administration and the Congress over what the U.S. role in Central America should be.

Crash investigation hampered by apparent loss of maintenance records

Associated Press

ABILENE, Texas—Air Force personnel used numbered flags Wednesday to map a wreckage-strewn area where a fuel-laden tanker crashed, but the investigation may be hampered by the lack of a flight data recorder and the apparent loss of many maintenance records.

All 19 people aboard the KC-135A stratotanker died when it crashed on takeoff about a half-mile south of a Dyess Air Force Base runway Tuesday. The KC-135A tanker, based at K.I. Sawyer Air Force Base in Michigan, stopped at Dyess en route to a training mission. It was scheduled to refuel some F-16s in the air before flying to Hawaii and then Guam.

The plane was was carrying military members and their dependents, as well as 30,000 gallons of jet fuel, officials said.

Rules for 'Wheel of Fortune'

Rules for the "Wheel of Fortune College Week" participant screening are as follows:

- Line will form outside LaFortune.
- Only Notre Dame students, faculty and staff are eligible for screening. University ID and driver's license required.
- Only Notre Dame students are eligible to represent the University during "Wheel of Fortune College Week."
- Individuals selected to appear on "Wheel of Fortune" are responsible for all related costs.
- University officials will determine candidates for "Wheel of Fortune" screening. Individuals whose behavior is deemed inappropriate will be turned away.
- "Wheel of Fortune" and Notre Dame personnel may impose other regulations concerning this event.

Spring Break '89

LAST CHANCE!

I'VE GOT TO CALL TODAY!
I DON'T WANT TO BE STUCK IN NOTRE DAME!

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND from $149
STEAMBOAT from $213
DAYTONA BEACH from $118
MUSTANG ISLAND from $136
HILTON HEAD ISLAND from $107

DON'T WAIT TIL IT'S TOO LATE!
CALL TOLL FREE TODAY
1-800-321-5911

Indiana National.

BROADWAY Series

Notre Dame
Faculty, Staff & Students

$5.00 Discount
on a pair of tickets for Saturday Matinee, Sunday Matinee, & Sunday Evening

DODY GOODMAN
in

Nunzense
Feb. 7-12
Clowes Memorial Hall of Butler University

SPRING BREAK 89
LAST CHANCE!

I'VE GOT TO CALL TODAY!
I DON'T WANT TO BE STUCK IN NOTRE DAME!

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND from $149
STEAMBOAT from $213
DAYTONA BEACH from $118
MUSTANG ISLAND from $136
HILTON HEAD ISLAND from $107

DON'T WAIT TIL IT'S TOO LATE!
CALL TOLL FREE TODAY
1-800-321-5911

Indiana National.

BROADWAY Series

Notre Dame
Faculty, Staff & Students

$5.00 Discount
on a pair of tickets for Saturday Matinee, Sunday Matinee, & Sunday Evening

DODY GOODMAN
in

Nunzense
Feb. 7-12
Clowes Memorial Hall of Butler University

SPRING BREAK 89
LAST CHANCE!

I'VE GOT TO CALL TODAY!
I DON'T WANT TO BE STUCK IN NOTRE DAME!

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND from $149
STEAMBOAT from $213
DAYTONA BEACH from $118
MUSTANG ISLAND from $136
HILTON HEAD ISLAND from $107

DON'T WAIT TIL IT'S TOO LATE!
CALL TOLL FREE TODAY
1-800-321-5911

Indiana National.
Marketing for the insane

Sophomore Mike Weiber tries to sell a T-shirt for Irish Insanity, bearing the "Battle for Seattle" logo, to junior Tom Crehan at South Dining Hall, Wednesday.

LAST YEAR 7,514 HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS STOPPED DRINKING AND DRIVING.

Now we can help history majors with their economics.

Whatever field of study you're in, a Macintosh® computer can help make the studying easier.

And now Apple makes the payments easier, too, with the Student Loan-to-Own Program.

If your parents qualify, you won't have to worry about the economics—you can attend to fun things, like term papers and exams. Stop by and pick up an application today.

Apple's
Student Loan-to-Own Program

Notre Dame Computer Store
Computer Center/Math Building

© 1988 Apple Computer, Inc. Apple, the Apple logo, and Macintosh are registered trademarks of Apple Computer, Inc.
Teen evicted from parents' home due to minimum age requirement

Associated Press

ZEPHYRHILLS, Fla.—Fourteen-year-old Staci Elmer left for school Wednesday "tired, angry and sad" because she was kicked out of her parents' home in a court battle over a rule barring children from her small subdivision.

"There are no rights for the younger generation. There are no laws for young people. The Constitution isn't for us," Staci said bitterly over a bowl of cereal at her brother's house. "I'm angry at my neighbors and sad because I can't stay with my parents."

She said it was hard making the adjustment to her temporary new home, about six miles from the two-block-long mobile home park she was evicted from the day before because deed restrictions bar children under 15.

"It was scary waking up this morning. I didn't know where I was at first," Staci said.

On Tuesday, Pasco Circuit Judge Wayne Cobb rejected Beverly and Thomas Elmer's request to delay a Jan. 6 order. He said if Staci wasn't out of the house by 5 p.m. the couple would go to jail for 10 days.

The judge said Staci, a quiet A-B freshman at Zephyrhills High School, may come home for visits, even for overnight, but may not move home permanently until she turns 15 on April 7. She says she will move home then.

"We have nothing against the girl; it's the principle," said Aline Murray. She is one of the neighbors who sued to preserve the adults-only status of the tiny mobile home settlement.

Little Creatures

Saint Mary's sophomore Krissy Westhogg gazes into her microscope during her microbiology lab, Wednesday. Now that Old Man Winter has returned, it won't be quite so hard to stay inside and hit the books.

Don't forget to wish Karin Grace a Happy 19th!

Love 4th floor!
Arrest of youngsters indicate losing run of "crack battle in war against drugs"

Associated Press

NEW YORK—Two recent crack-related arrests, an 11-year-old alleged to be a drug courier and a 10-year-old crack dealer, left officials wondering if they're losing the drug fight.

"Crack and drugs are so pervasive that of course it trickles down into the lower grades," said Paul Berczeller, a spokesman for the United Federation of Teachers. "You have young kids used every day as drug carriers, it's invasive that of course it trickles down into the lower grades," he said.

A family Court judge ruled him when arrested.

Ginay Marks, a Brooklyn school board activist for 17 years, agreed: "I would say in terms of crack—and we thought heroin was an epidemic—nothing has spread with such rapidity among our school children."

The two grade-schoolers arrested in separate incidents less than three weeks apart offered examples of both street and school incidents, authorities said.

The 10-year-old was arrested Jan. 10 after police watched him and a 14-year-old partner make a half-dozen crack sales in Wyandanch, Long Island. The 5-foot-tall boy had three $20 vials of crack and $226 cash on him when arrested.

A family Court judge ruled Wednesday that he had committed the crimes and scheduled sentencing for Feb. 10. The boy faces up to 18 months' detention in a youth facility or two years' probation. Charges against the 14-year-old were pending.

On Tuesday, an 11-year-old boy arrived at his Bronx elementary school carrying what looked like his lunch bag. Inside, school officials found 411 vials of crack, most in 10-packs worth $50 a piece.

The special education student told police his 17-year-old brother had given him the drugs. A search was on Wednesday for the brother, said police spokesman Officer Hugh Barry.

The 11-year-old faced a Family Court hearing late Wednesday afternoon.

"When an 11-year-old child with special learning needs is exploited as a drug carrier, it reaffirms my belief that drugs are the most serious problem our youth must confront," said Schools Chancellor Richard Green.

Local School Board President Lawrence Warden, whose Bronx district includes the school that the 11-year-old attended, said he was "shocked and angry" after the arrest.

"We don't expect that from an 11-year-old youngster. It's like carrying a loaded machine gun in a playground," said Warden.

Board of Education spokesman Robert Terte, saying much of the problem is on the streets around the schools, noted that the number of drug arrests on school property was down in the past year. In 1987, the figure was 114; for 1988, it was 94.

Career Opportunities with ECOLAB

Interested in career opportunities with a fast growing premium service company? Ecolab is the leading worldwide developer and marketer of premium institutional and residential services. Our worldwide institutional business includes cleaning products and services for the hospitality and food processing markets. Residential services are provided by our ChemLawn subsidiary. Ecolab is a $1.2 billion company positioned for rapid growth and is the market leader in each of its key businesses.

On February 8 and 9, representatives from Ecolab will be on campus to discuss career opportunities for MBA Candidates in Treasury, Corporate Development, Financial Analysis, Audit and Management Reporting. We will be hosting a reception on Wednesday, February 8 from 7-9 pm in the Alumni Room. Interviews will take place the following day.

Additional information is available in the placement office or contact our campus recruiting coordinator, JoAnn Butwink (612/293-2812).

EPA proposes ban on apple chemical

WASHINGTON—The government proposed a ban Wednesday on a chemical that makes apples appear more appealing and last longer, citing "an inescapable and direct" link to cancer.

While the Environmental Protection Agency said the cancer risk, an estimated five deaths for every 100,000 people exposed, is not high enough to warrant an emergency action to remove the chemical from the market, it urged its manufacterer to withdraw the chemical until a final regulation banning the chemical can be issued.

Officials said formal agency action ordering the chemical withdrawn will not likely come for another 18 months and then is likely to be challenged, a process that could take another one year to three years.

The object of the EPA's concern is a growth control chemical called daminozide, which is sold by the trade-name Alar.

The chemical is absorbed by the fruit and has been used by apple growers since the early 1970s to spur even growth, reduce spoilage and help preserve apples so they can be sold all year.

Alar's manufacturer, Uniroyal Chemical Co. of Middlebury, Conn., immediately challenged the EPA findings and promised to contest any government ban. The company said it would not withdraw its product voluntarily.

"We don't see any basis for taking (Alar) off the market," Uniroyal spokesman Yannis Bibelnikis said. "All of the studies that have been done since 1986 have supported our position that Alar poses no significant health risk."

He said it was "inappropriate to make any judgment based on interim results" cited by the EPA.

Bibelnikis said Alar production has been reduced by about 75 percent since 1986.

DAVE-

Good Luck with the Keenan Review "Break a Leg"

Love Mom & Dad

"Sexuality, Intimacy & Spirituality" directed by Patricia Livingston

TOPICS

- Sexuality
- Primary
- Secondary
- Affective
- Heterosexuality
- Homosexuality
- Intimacy
- Spirituality
- Loneliness

- How do I relate to God in the context of the gift of my sexuality?
- How does intimacy in my life reveal God to me?
- How do the years of my life tell me about God's love for me?
- How can I come to understand my sexuality more broadly and deeply?
- How does understanding my sexuality free me to choose what is most life giving at this time in my life?

WHEN: February 24 (6:30) - February 26 (noon)

CONTACT: Campus Ministry Office (Badin Hall) 239-5242

SIGN-UP: February 6, 1989

COST: $12.00

RETREAT

"Sexuality, Intimacy & Spirituality" directed by Patricia Livingston
A better life for ND grad students

We all know that Notre Dame is seeking prominence at the graduate level. This is one of the main priorities of Fr. Malloy’s administration.

Victor J. Krebs
Graduate Student Union

Graduate students have an important task in this project. They have the responsibility of making the University aware of this problem. The University has recently made a positive step by committing funds from its “Strategic Moment” fund-raising campaign specifically towards the construction of new graduate housing. But it is important that graduate students offer their input in such planning. In the past neglect of graduate student opinions has been the cause of significant mistakes in planning. (For example, the townhouses in O’Hara-Grace, which house a great part of the single graduate students on campus with 4 bedroom arrangements have proven highly inconvenient. Graduate student input could have prevented such mistakes.) Questions such as the site of the new housing, the type of housing to be constructed, the possibility of making the housing coeducational, etc., are questions where graduate student input is indispensable.

The Task Force on Residentiality recommended last year that a committee be formed to investigate the role of graduate students in the residential life of the community. Up to the present moment no committee concerning graduate student involvement has not been implemented. Graduate students need to show a willingness to play an active role in committees such as those or, at least, an interest in expressing their opinions to aid in planning.

Another sore area in graduate education at Notre Dame concerns stipends. Stipends in the humanities at Notre Dame lag behind those of peer institutions by as much as 30% according to the 1986 GSU report to the Board of Trustees. If Notre Dame wants to be a prominent graduate institution, then it must have a plan to increase its graduate stipends to competitive levels. Continuing the annual increase at the rate it has been increasing per year is simply unrealistic. Keeping up with tuition increases, it is not enough if we want to catch up with our graduate institutions. Graduate students need to keep impressing the gravity of this situation on the University administration.

Summer support is another problem that graduate students (particularly in the humanities) need to bring to the University’s attention. In many departments students are supposed to support themselves during the summer while they prepare to take their composition exams. This obviously creates great duress, and it is the cause of many good candidates abandoning the programs in order to find other places. Graduate students need to ask whether the University has any plan to solve this problem. In another area, one of the most bitter experiences in the past few years for Notre Dame graduate students has been the suspension of the Graduate Club’s ability to dispense liquor. As a result of this decision, the Graduate Club’s ability to host social events has been reduced. This obviously creates great duress, and it is the cause of many good candidates abandoning the programs in order to find other places. Graduate students need to ask whether the University has any plan to solve this problem.

There is already a positive change in the general attitude of administrators and the various other sectors of the University towards graduate students. It is clear that a dialogue must be the way to improvements in graduate student life. Some feedback as well as first hand involvement has not been there before. Graduate problems are being considered seriously and little by little the conditions at Notre Dame that was once the main obstacle towards change is being lifted. What is developing is a new philosophy in the University towards graduate students.

Victor J. Krebs is president of the Graduate Student Union and is a regular Viewpoint columnist.

The Observer is the independent newspaper published by the students of the University of Notre Dame. All opinions expressed are those of the respective columns written by student editorialists. The Observer holds no responsibility for the administration of either institution. The news is reported as accurately and objectively as possible. Unsigned editorials represent the opinion of the majority of the Editorial Board. Commentaries, letters and the Inside Column present the views of their authors. Column space is available to all members of the community and the free expression of varying opinions on campus. Through letters, is encouraged.
SEVEN TASTY WAYS TO IMPROVE A COLLEGE EDUCATION.

Mon.

MONDAY MADNESS!
Get One Small Cheese and Pepperoni Pizza
Offer valid only on Monday.
One offer per order.
Customer pays sales tax.
Valid at listed locations.
Expires: 2-14-89.
FOR ONLY $3.99

It's a pizza lover's dream come true. Every day this week, you can get a special offer from Domino's Pizza. Whether it's free extra crust or a free small cheese pizza, there's more reasons to make this the week for a special treat from Domino's Pizza. So why not give us a call? In 30 minutes or less, you'll see why this is the week you've been waiting for.

Tues.

TERRIFIC TUESDAY!
Get Two Medium Pizzas
With your choice of up to seven toppings - single portions only.
Offer valid only on Tuesday.
One offer per order.
Customer pays sales tax.
Valid at listed locations.
Expires: 2-15-89.
FOR ONLY $9.99

Fri.

WACKY WEEKEND!
Get 6 Icy Cold Cokes® with any pizza purchase
Offer valid only on Friday and Saturday.
One offer per order.
Customer pays sales tax.
Valid at listed locations.
Expires: 2-19-89.
FOR ONLY 99¢

Weds.

WILD WEDNESDAY!
Get Two Small Pizzas With Any Topping
Offer valid only on Wednesday.
One offer per order.
Customer pays sales tax.
Valid at listed locations.
Expires: 2-16-89.
FOR ONLY $5.99

Sun.

SUNDAY DOUBLE FEATURE!
Get Two Small Cheese Pizzas
Offer valid only on Sunday.
One offer per order.
Customer pays sales tax.
Valid at listed locations.
Expires: 2-16-89.
FOR ONLY $4.49

Sat.

WACKY WEEKEND!
Get 6 Icy Cold Cokes® with any pizza purchase
Offer valid only on Friday and Saturday.
One offer per order.
Customer pays sales tax.
Valid at listed locations.
Expires: 2-19-89.
FOR ONLY 99¢
SARG improves student-alumni relations

JANICE ARCHER

accent writer

On a campus as busy as Notre Dame's, it is difficult to keep track of the ongoing activities, and even harder to know what organization is sponsoring a given event. One behind-the-scenes organization is the Student Alumni Relations Group, also known as SARG.

SARG is a service organization formed in 1981 with the purpose of functioning as a liaison between students and alumni. The group represents the Alumni Association on campus, with a three-fold program encompassing its service goals: to serve the students, the alumni, and the community of South Bend.

One important activity SARG has organized is the Student-Alumni Reception. Held today from 4:45 to 6:15 p.m. in the Gold Room of the North Dining Hall, alumni in diversified career fields will be answering students' questions. They will be next to biographies of themselves, taking inquiries about their career background, job demands, or other concerns students interested in their fields may have.

SARG also sponsors the Distinguished Alumni Lecture Series. Participating alumni return to speak about a career, hobby, or social service they perform that the student body would find interesting. Any organization that would like a representative speaker from its field of interest can contact SARG. SARG will then use its resources to search for such an alumnus. Previous lecturers have been Mike Flynn, a lawyer from the Los Angeles firm of Paul Hastings, Janoski, and Walker, and Donald Barr, publisher of Sports Illustrated.

A few of the many other activities in which SARG is involved include: the Senior Send Off Picnic, Geographic Clubs, reunion tables at the upcoming JFW, and Career Day for the Preprofessional Society.

Since SARG is concerned with both students and alumni, it participates in several projects that serve the vast number of past graduates. The Notre Dame Magazine is mailed to alumni, and for those who are visually impaired, SARG has audio tapings of the articles available. Another service is the hospitality center set up in the north dome of the ACC during home football game weekends. The Alumni Association provides this gathering for visiting alumni, and SARG members are present to help.

Not only is SARG working on the student-alumni relationship, but it is also reaching out to include the community of South Bend in its activities, such as the upcoming Christmas in April. It is currently searching for independent programs that will involve them with local social concerns.

In the spirit of the Year of Cultural Diversity, SARG is encouraging diversity within the campus by welcoming new members. It promotes participation and suggestions from any organization, and is currently developing programs to deal with the issue of cultural diversity on campus for the benefit of all.

SARG, in its ninth year, has strong leadership guiding it into the future. Its well-organized structure and dedicated members ensure that this group will remain committed to its goal of serving the entire Notre Dame family. As President Mike Whitton said, "We want students to know SARG is here, willing to aid anyone in the school and what we can to implement their ideas." SARG can currently be reached through the offices of the Alumni Association in theadmin Building.

Bizarre Peepshow

COLLEEN CRONIN
accent writer

Sorting some very strange lyrics, Peepshow, the latest by Siouxsie and the Banshees, is at least an interesting album and is overall just a great album.

This punk band from the mid-'80s has put out some of the most bizarre music in the punk realm of the music world. Even though Peepshow is a much cleaner and simpler album than its past upstroke, it still holds true to the group's dark and bizarre image.

The first song to be released, "Peek-A-Boo" is one of the more upbeat songs on the album, and is not typical of the rest of the album. Regardless, "Peek-A-Boo" is one of the best songs on the album and hopefully will not succumb to radio overkill. Dealing with soft-pornography, the song catches the listener from the very start with strange sounds similar to the record being played backwards.

In sharp contrast to the upbeat "Peek-A-Boo" is the macabre "Rawhead and Bloodybones," and the lyrics are true to the title. I could find no hidden meaning in the song-it is simply a nightmarish, gory lullaby of sorts. The music, which is singing song and even borders on childish, defies such lyrics as "We're down here, held here, dragged here, and drowned here by rawhead and bloodybones." The sounds of a child crying at the end of the song add the final bizarre note to the song.

Another of the more warped and stranger songs on the album is "Carouse." With music that ominously mocks a carnival carousel, Siouxsie's lyrics are enough to keep any child away from a carnival. Though quite morbid, "Carouse" is also one of the better songs on the album.

None of the songs on Peepshow are quite the same either musically or lyrically, thereby keeping the listener from becoming bored. "Burn Up" is an excellent, catchy dance tune, while "Last Beat of My Heart" is the closest Siouxsie has come to a ballad. Siouxsie lends a scarecrow in "Scarecrow," and "Rhapsody" brings attention to the suppression of the Stalinist era of Russian history. Peepshow makes for a good headbanger album with sound alternating between left and right, and monochromatic and accordions, lurking beneath Siouxsie's punctuated voice.

The Banshees began in 1976 with Sid Vicious, who later went on to the Sex Pistols, on drums. The Banshees have put out other albums, with Through The Looking Glass in 1986 being the predecessor to Peepshow. Peepshow is definitely Siouxsie through and through with dark, morbid lyrics and off-the-wall sounds. Unlike previous albums, the music does not overemphasize Siouxsie's unmistakable voice, but adds to it and makes it all the more interesting to listen to.

Bill Watterson
Thursday, February 2, 1989

Mourning's 17 points leadsGeorgetown over St. John's

Associated Press

LANDOVER, Md. - Freshman Freeman Mourning scored 17 points and ignited a second-half surge that enabled sixth-ranked Georgetown to solidify its hold on first place in the Big East Conference with a 74-66 victory over No. 8 St. John's on Wednesday night.

Georgetown led 40-39 when Mourning hit the Hoyas' 40th point with 9:09 left and never threatened as the Hoyas scored their final 25 points in 14 minutes.

Mourning, a 6-foot-10 freshman forward, played his first game since Jan. 8. He had missed seven games with a sprained right ankle.

St. John's defeated No. 4 Notre Dame 87-72 last Saturday and No. 9 Duke 76-67 last Tuesday.

"We've been struggling a little bit," said St. John's head coach Mike Fratello. "After we played Duke and Notre Dame, we had two days to prepare for this game. We were able to see a little bit of what they do, and we didn't prepare for it."

"Our only goal was to try to get back to our level of intensity that we were playing with last week," said Fratello. "Instead we played as if this was a regular-season game. We played well enough to win, but we just didn't play well enough to overcome them."

"I thought we had a chance to win," Fratello added. "But we're playing three teams that are as good as we are. And when they're on the court, it's tough to beat them."
SPORTS BRIEFS

The ND Men's Volleyball Club hosts the George O'Grady Memorial Classic this weekend. Friday's first-round action matches Bowling Green versus Miami (Ohio) at 6 p.m. and Notre Dame versus Indiana at 8 p.m. The consolation match will be Saturday at 1 p.m. and the championship begins at 3 p.m. All matches will be at the Joyce ACC Pit and admission is free. - The Observer

Bookstore Basketball XVIII has an open assistant commissioner position. Any freshman or sophomore interested in being assistant commissioner can pick up an application at the student government secretary's office on the second floor of LaFortune. Applications are due Tuesday. Any questions should be directed to Mike at x3305. - The Observer

Sports Briefs are accepted in writing Sunday through Friday in The Observer offices on the third floor of LaFortune Student Center before 3 p.m. on the day prior to publication. - The Observer

Wadkins ready for LA Open

Associated Press

LOS ANGELES—Lanny Wadkins begins one of his favorite portions of the PGA tour this week in the $1 million Los Angeles Open.

"I'm really looking forward to it," the 39-year-old veteran said Wednesday before a practice round on the tough old Riviera Country Club course.

"I'm playing good right now. I could have won all three tournaments I played in this year," Wadkins finished sixth in both the Tournament of Champions and the Pebble Beach National Pro-Am and was fourth in the Bob Hope Classic. Wadkins skipped the Phoenix Open and the Sony Open because of family commitments.

"My problem is that I just gave away too many shots early in the week each week, then had too much ground to make up," he said.

"I was throwing away too many shots. A couple of bad drives a day cost me too much. "But the last round I played (a 67 at Pebble Beach) was the best driving round I've had this year. That gives me a lot of confidence."

"And the next four tournaments I'm playing, I've won at one time or another. That's a very good feeling."

Of his 18 career victories, 10 have come in the first three months of the season. Two of them (in 1979 and 1980) have been in this tournament. On this course, one of Wadkins' favorites.

"And every time I win early, I win more than once in the year," said Wadkins, a former PGA champion who won twice last year.

"I think I come out playing scared."

"You work all year long to get ahead of the other guys. When it comes the first of the year and you're back to even, you want to be ahead."

The Warriors will bring a very balanced attack into tonight's game. Four of the five Marquette starters average in double figures. Sophomore forward Trevor Powell leads the team, averaging 16 points and 10 rebounds per game. Senior guard Mike Flory scores at a 13.7 clip followed by junior forward Tyrone Baldwin at 12.3 and junior guard Tony Smith at 12.3. Sub Mark Anglavar averages 7.4 points per game and he had a career-high 24 points against Miami last Saturday.

"You have to be concerned with all of them because of their balance offensively," Wadkins said. "I think you just have to play smart basketball and respect what they are as individuals as well as a team."

Notre Dame will end its seven-game homestand Sunday against Duke.

THOMAS DOOLEY AWARD WINNER

BR. ROBERT LOMBARDO, O.F. ND '79

Will be at the Center for Social Concerns

February 2

4:30pm

To talk to students about his work as Director of Padre Pio Shelter for Homeless men in the South Bronx

Everyone is welcome to attend

refreshments available

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO A FISH CALLED LORI!

Kerry, Beth, and Shell

Digger Phelps

16 points and pulled down 11 rebounds Tuesday night. Robinson averages 12.4 points and 8.9 rebounds per game.

"If they picked a team in the country where you come up with the invisible athletes who are very successful but never in the headlines, Keith Robinson would be first among Marquette types."

Wadkins begins one of his favorite portions of the PGA tour this week in the $1 million Los Angeles Open.

"I'm really looking forward to it," the 39-year-old veteran said Wednesday before a practice round on the tough old Riviera Country Club course.

"I'm playing good right now. I could have won all three tournaments I played in this year," Wadkins finished sixth in both the Tournament of Champions and the Pebble Beach National Pro-Am and was fourth in the Bob Hope Classic. Wadkins skipped the Phoenix Open and the Sony Open because of family commitments."

"My problem is that I just gave away too many shots early in the week each week, then had too much ground to make up," he said.

"I was throwing away too many shots. A couple of bad drives a day cost me too much. "But the last round I played (a 67 at Pebble Beach) was the best driving round I've had this year. That gives me a lot of confidence."

"And the next four tournaments I'm playing, I've won at one time or another. That's a very good feeling."

Of his 18 career victories, 10 have come in the first three months of the season. Two of them (in 1979 and 1980) have been in this tournament. On this course, one of Wadkins' favorites.

"And every time I win early, I win more than once in the year," said Wadkins, a former PGA champion who won twice last year.

"I think I come out playing scared."

"You work all year long to get ahead of the other guys. When it comes the first of the year and you're back to even, you want to be ahead."

The Warriors will bring a very balanced attack into tonight's game. Four of the five Marquette starters average in double figures. Sophomore forward Trevor Powell leads the team, averaging 16 points and 10 rebounds per game. Senior guard Mike Flory scores at a 13.7 clip followed by junior forward Tyrone Baldwin at 12.3 and junior guard Tony Smith at 12.3. Sub Mark Anglavar averages 7.4 points per game and he had a career-high 24 points against Miami last Saturday.

"You have to be concerned with all of them because of their balance offensively," Wadkins said. "I think you just have to play smart basketball and respect what they are as individuals as well as a team."

Notre Dame will end its seven-game homestand Sunday against Duke.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO A FISH CALLED LORI!

Loads of Love,

Kerry, Beth, and Shell

THOMAS DOOLEY AWARD WINNER

BR. ROBERT LOMBARDO, O.F. ND '79

Will be at the Center for Social Concerns

February 2

4:30pm

To talk to students about his work as Director of Padre Pio Shelter for Homeless men in the South Bronx

Everyone is welcome to attend

refreshments available

STUDENT ALUMNI RECEPTION

Come mingle with Alumni in the Gold Room of North Dining Hall

4:45-6:30 February 2, 1989

Sponsored by SARG and ND Alumni Association

ON SALE with special guest BROKEN HOMES SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 4 8:00 PM MORRIS CIVIC AUDITORIUM 11 seats reserved $15.50 Tickets available at the Civic Auditorium Box Office, Night Winds, Record Connection, and the usual outlets.
Loyola Marymount shatters five NCAA records in victory

Associated Press

LOS ANGELES—Loyola Marymount and U.S. International scored two points every 14 seconds. A shot was up every 11 seconds. Loyola won 181-150, and a point was scored for every eight fans at the Lions' Gersten Pavilion.

Those 2,661 saw one crazy game. So crazy, in fact, the official scorer wrote "Where?" at the bottom of the shot chart.

It was the highest scoring college game ever, breaking five NCAA records for offense and ending a home-and-home series during which 637 points were scored.

Loyola broke the 100-point barrier Tuesday night on an 8-foot jumper by Enoch Simmons with just 36 seconds gone in the second half, and Coach Paul Westhead said: "in a game like this, we can get in excess of 200 points."

The 331 total points in the game broke the record of 306 marks from the Jan. 7 game.

There wasn't another basket scored for 20 seconds.

"Everything happens so rapidly you really don't have time to say, 'Wow, look at that score,'" Westhead said. "We just don't ever think about that. It's a rapid-fire kind of game. You kind of wake up about 3 o'clock in the morning thinking about it.

At times, it seemed humanly impossible to play much faster than the two teams did Tuesday night.

There was 3:52 to play, and finally, the game slowed down.

Loyola had the rebounding and 3-point edge. Loyola out-rebounded U.S. International 21 of-35.

Loyola had the rebounding and 3-point edge. Loyola out-rebounded U.S. International 63-49, and made 13 of-34 from 3-point distance to 3 of-7 for U.S. international.

Because of the big lead, Westhead said his team slowed down at the end. After scoring 11 points in the 1:34 stretch, Loyola scored just 16 more in the final 3:52.

Ironically, the Lions next game is against St. Mary's Friday night in a matchup of the nation's top scoring team and the country's second-best defensive club. Loyola, 12-7, is averaging 113.5 points while St. Mary's, 17-2, is allowing 54.3 points.

The teams are tied for first place in the West Coast Athletic Conference along with Pepper dine. All have 9-1 records.

NCAAs

continued from page 16 of good teams, but no one, with the exception of Illinois (and a healthy Kendall Gilli will be able to make a run at the national title. Indiana can't do it with mirrors (read: the three-guard offense) all season.

How Bill Frieder can't make this year's Wolverine squad a superpower is beyond me, but when I saw Glen Rice and Terry Mills shooting three-pointers at will, it seems to me that the problem is discipline. Ohio State is a fluke. I refuse to acknowledge Jay Boren as a good player. Call me stubborn, but I just don't see how he does it. Louisville would have buried the Buckeyes with Purvis in the second-half lineup.

UNLV will rambles through the Big West, as usual, but the Rams are not a good team. A lot of excellent individuals, but not a good team. I love Tark as much as the next guy, but they'll win maybe two rounds on sheer athleticism and that's it.

So here it is: The Final Four:
West Regional: Georgetown.
John Thompson always finagles his way out west somehow, and there is a dearth of talent out there. Arizona should be better than they are, and the entire Pac Ten is down.

Midwest Regional: Oklahoma.
They've got the horses. Only Illinois will make a bid for any regional, possibly losing to the Sooners here. But watch out for Missouri. This finally could be Norm Stewart's year.

Southeast Regional: North Carolina. This is a toughie, because I think most of the country's talent this year lies in the East and Southeast.
Louisville will be there, as will
Duke, Georgia Tech, NC State
(although they could go west),
Florida State and my sleeper,
Florida.

East Regional Syracuse. The
Orange will be back with a hor-ible, horrible vengeance. Mark my words. But Oklahoma will edge them in the final. I hope.

CATHOLIC FAITH SERIES

CHURCH -- SHAPING THE FUTURE

What are the issues facing the Church today? What changes are occurring in the Catholic Church as the Church realizes their responsibilities and rights as Christians? How are the Christians of the Third World effecting and shaping the future of the Roman Catholic Church?

SR. REGINA COLL, CSJ, Director of Field Education, Theology Department, will address these questions on Sunday, February 5 and Tuesday, February 7, in Kennon Chapel, 7-8:30 p.m.

For further information call
Sister Mary Curran, CSC
Campus Ministry 239-5242
Men's indoor track ready for Saturday's Meyo Invitational

By SCOTT BRUTOCO
Sports Writer

Weekly indoor track action continues for the Irish this weekend as the men's track team plays host to the Meyo Invitational on Saturday.

Some of the most competitive athletes in the nation will be in attendance, especially in the "Meyo Mile," an independent invitational mile run that will host a field of Olympic-caliber runners.

Topping the list of athletes that will be participating in the Meyo Mile is John Quade of Arizona University, who won last year's competition by running the mile in 3:57.3.

Giving Quade competition in defending his title will by Richie Martinez, who has run the mile in 3:55 and was a finalist last year at the Olympic trials in the 1500 meters.

Also included in this all-star cast are: Butch Brown, who has run the 800 meters in 1:45; Liam O'Neil, whose best time in the mile is 3:58; Michigan's John Trautman, sporting a four-minute mile; and Loyola's Ed Slowikowski, who won both the mile run and the 1000 meters at the MCC Track Championships held at Notre Dame two weeks ago.

In what is considered to be one of the top invitationals in the country, teams such as Pittsburgh, Georgetown, Kentucky, Arizona, Michigan, and Michigan State will be attending, and Dartmouth and Brown will be sending individual competitors.

"This meet is going to be incredible," said senior co-captain Ron Markezich. "It will be good to get in some fast races against these kind of teams."

Last week, Notre Dame travelled to Wisconsin to participate in a tri-meet with Wisconsin and Iowa State. The Irish fell to both teams, partly because some key members were out with sicknesses and partly because of off-performances.

The purpose of this meet for the Irish will be to get back on track and to record some qualifying times for upcoming championship meets.

"This meet gives us opportunities to get great times so we can enter the Central Collegiate Championships and to get some qualifiers to the up-coming NCAA's (Inter-Collegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America)," said Head Coach Joe Piane.

Another exciting event will be the two-mile relay, which will consist of the most competitive runners outside of the Meyo Mile.

"I can single out the two-mile relay as a great race because Pittsburgh, Georgetown, Dartmouth and Kentucky will be competing," said Markezich.

"We hope to get qualifiers, and the two-mile relay is one event that has the potential to qualify for the NCAA's," said Piane.

The Irish expect excellent times from all runners not only because of the outstanding competition but also because the Meyo track itself is one of the fastest in the country.

"This invitational is probably one of the best in the country," said Markezich, who will be running his first meet of the season on Saturday, "mostly because everybody wants to run on this track because it's so fast."

Two of the team's top runners, however, will miss the meet because of injuries. Junior co-captain Yan Searcy has a sore leg and fifth-year senior Dan Garrett has tendinitis in his foot.

Another exciting event will be the two-mile relay, which will consist of the most competitive runners outside of the Meyo Mile.

"I can single out the two-mile relay as a great race because Pittsburgh, Georgetown, Dartmouth and Kentucky will be competing," said Markezich.

Another exciting event will be the two-mile relay, which will consist of the most competitive runners outside of the Meyo Mile.

"I can single out the two-mile relay as a great race because Pittsburgh, Georgetown, Dartmouth and Kentucky will be competing," said Markezich.

"We hope to get qualifiers, and the two-mile relay is one event that has the potential to qualify for the NCAA's," said Piane.

The Irish expect excellent times from all runners not only because of the outstanding competition but also because the Meyo track itself is one of the fastest in the country.

"This invitational is probably one of the best in the country," said Markezich, who will be running his first meet of the season on Saturday, "mostly because everybody wants to run on this track because it's so fast."

Two of the team's top runners, however, will miss the meet because of injuries. Junior co-captain Yan Searcy has a sore leg and fifth-year senior Dan Garrett has tendinitis in his foot.

Another exciting event will be the two-mile relay, which will consist of the most competitive runners outside of the Meyo Mile.

"I can single out the two-mile relay as a great race because Pittsburgh, Georgetown, Dartmouth and Kentucky will be competing," said Markezich.

"We hope to get qualifiers, and the two-mile relay is one event that has the potential to qualify for the NCAA's," said Piane.

The Irish expect excellent times from all runners not only because of the outstanding competition but also because the Meyo track itself is one of the fastest in the country.

"This invitational is probably one of the best in the country," said Markezich, who will be running his first meet of the season on Saturday, "mostly because everybody wants to run on this track because it's so fast."

Two of the team's top runners, however, will miss the meet because of injuries. Junior co-captain Yan Searcy has a sore leg and fifth-year senior Dan Garrett has tendinitis in his foot.

Another exciting event will be the two-mile relay, which will consist of the most competitive runners outside of the Meyo Mile.

"I can single out the two-mile relay as a great race because Pittsburgh, Georgetown, Dartmouth and Kentucky will be competing," said Markezich.

"We hope to get qualifiers, and the two-mile relay is one event that has the potential to qualify for the NCAA's," said Piane.

The Irish expect excellent times from all runners not only because of the outstanding competition but also because the Meyo track itself is one of the fastest in the country.

"This invitational is probably one of the best in the country," said Markezich, who will be running his first meet of the season on Saturday, "mostly because everybody wants to run on this track because it's so fast."

Two of the team's top runners, however, will miss the meet because of injuries. Junior co-captain Yan Searcy has a sore leg and fifth-year senior Dan Garrett has tendinitis in his foot.

Another exciting event will be the two-mile relay, which will consist of the most competitive runners outside of the Meyo Mile.

"I can single out the two-mile relay as a great race because Pittsburgh, Georgetown, Dartmouth and Kentucky will be competing," said Markezich.

"We hope to get qualifiers, and the two-mile relay is one event that has the potential to qualify for the NCAA's," said Piane.

The Irish expect excellent times from all runners not only because of the outstanding competition but also because the Meyo track itself is one of the fastest in the country.

"This invitational is probably one of the best in the country," said Markezich, who will be running his first meet of the season on Saturday, "mostly because everybody wants to run on this track because it's so fast."

Two of the team's top runners, however, will miss the meet because of injuries. Junior co-captain Yan Searcy has a sore leg and fifth-year senior Dan Garrett has tendinitis in his foot.

Another exciting event will be the two-mile relay, which will consist of the most competitive runners outside of the Meyo Mile.

"I can single out the two-mile relay as a great race because Pittsburgh, Georgetown, Dartmouth and Kentucky will be competing," said Markezich.

"We hope to get qualifiers, and the two-mile relay is one event that has the potential to qualify for the NCAA's," said Piane.

The Irish expect excellent times from all runners not only because of the outstanding competition but also because the Meyo track itself is one of the fastest in the country.

"This invitational is probably one of the best in the country," said Markezich, who will be running his first meet of the season on Saturday, "mostly because everybody wants to run on this track because it's so fast."

Two of the team's top runners, however, will miss the meet because of injuries. Junior co-captain Yan Searcy has a sore leg and fifth-year senior Dan Garrett has tendinitis in his foot.

Another exciting event will be the two-mile relay, which will consist of the most competitive runners outside of the Meyo Mile.

"I can single out the two-mile relay as a great race because Pittsburgh, Georgetown, Dartmouth and Kentucky will be competing," said Markezich.

"We hope to get qualifiers, and the two-mile relay is one event that has the potential to qualify for the NCAA's," said Piane.

The Irish expect excellent times from all runners not only because of the outstanding competition but also because the Meyo track itself is one of the fastest in the country.

"This invitational is probably one of the best in the country," said Markezich, who will be running his first meet of the season on Saturday, "mostly because everybody wants to run on this track because it's so fast."

Two of the team's top runners, however, will miss the meet because of injuries. Junior co-captain Yan Searcy has a sore leg and fifth-year senior Dan Garrett has tendinitis in his foot.

Another exciting event will be the two-mile relay, which will consist of the most competitive runners outside of the Meyo Mile.

"I can single out the two-mile relay as a great race because Pittsburgh, Georgetown, Dartmouth and Kentucky will be competing," said Markezich.

"We hope to get qualifiers, and the two-mile relay is one event that has the potential to qualify for the NCAA's," said Piane.

The Irish expect excellent times from all runners not only because of the outstanding competition but also because the Meyo track itself is one of the fastest in the country.

"This invitational is probably one of the best in the country," said Markezich, who will be running his first meet of the season on Saturday, "mostly because everybody wants to run on this track because it's so fast."

Two of the team's top runners, however, will miss the meet because of injuries. Junior co-captain Yan Searcy has a sore leg and fifth-year senior Dan Garrett has tendinitis in his foot.

Another exciting event will be the two-mile relay, which will consist of the most competitive runners outside of the Meyo Mile.

"I can single out the two-mile relay as a great race because Pittsburgh, Georgetown, Dartmouth and Kentucky will be competing," said Markezich.

"We hope to get qualifiers, and the two-mile relay is one event that has the potential to qualify for the NCAA's," said Piane.

The Irish expect excellent times from all runners not only because of the outstanding competition but also because the Meyo track itself is one of the fastest in the country.

"This invitational is probably one of the best in the country," said Markezich, who will be running his first meet of the season on Saturday, "mostly because everybody wants to run on this track because it's so fast."

Two of the team's top runners, however, will miss the meet because of injuries. Junior co-captain Yan Searcy has a sore leg and fifth-year senior Dan Garrett has tendinitis in his foot.

Another exciting event will be the two-mile relay, which will consist of the most competitive runners outside of the Meyo Mile.

"I can single out the two-mile relay as a great race because Pittsburgh, Georgetown, Dartmouth and Kentucky will be competing," said Markezich.

"We hope to get qualifiers, and the two-mile relay is one event that has the potential to qualify for the NCAA's," said Piane.
Sara Liebscher of the Notre Dame women's basketball team takes the court, opponents do not have to worry about strong arm tactics, scowls and verbal abuse.

In fact, to look at the native of Davenport, Iowa, one might think that the recent battle scars covering her cherubic cheeks make her a pushover. But as soon as the ball is put into play, Liebscher's quiet intensity takes over and her actions speak for themselves.

Her ability to drive and create scoring opportunities has kept her opponents on their heels all season and as the squad's second-leading scorer, she has been lighting up the scoreboard for 9.5 points per game, as well.

Liebscher has developed into one of the team's most consistent players, stepping into a starting role for the Irish and becoming a pivotal player in the team's success.

"I think she's one of those people who is a coach's type of player," said Irish head coach Muffet McGraw. "Sara always listens, never questions what you want her to do then goes and does it. She's very pleased under pressure and has concentration on the court, so people follow her example.

Evidence of her teammates have indeed been following her lead, especially in an impressive performance against Davenport, Iowa, one might think that fellow sophomores Krissi Davis and Karen Robinson are not far behind her.

Kalbas continued from page 16

The comeback player of the day awarded in the first set, 1-6, Kalbas, who is plagued by a sore thumb, edged Brandt Brandt, the No. 3 player, defeated Carty Carty, the No. 1 player, turned in an impressive performance for the Irish. Walsh, a junior from Pembroke Pines, Fla., thrashed Carter-Richie, 6-2, 6-1.

"Mike was very sharp yesterday," said Bayliss. "He changed his style of play and keep more balls in play." The Argentinean Walter Delbare, the No. 3 player, defeated Karl Krauter, a senior from Canyon Country, Calif. 7-6, 7-6 (7-5). This match was highlighted by the outstanding play of Reiter, named from Canyon Country, Calif.

"Mike particularly came alive and played well at the net," said the second-year Head Coach Bayliss. "We weren't afraid of this team having played two of the better teams in the country."
LECTURE CIRCUIT

7:30 p.m. Note: tour reading her novel Misbehied Makers, Hayen-Healy Auditorium, sponsored by the English Department, Black Studies, and the Year of Cultural Diversity.

7:30 p.m. Lecture on 'The Functions of Music in Shakespeare's Plays' held in the morning.
The Observer /Trey Heymono

Irish ready to take on rival Marquette

By GREG GUFFEY
Sports Writer

Some might expect Notre Dame to be tired and sluggish against Marquette tonight in the Joyce ACC. After all, it's the third game in five days for the Irish.

But so far, Digger Phelps' strategy is working. Notre Dame has picked up crucial wins over Temple and Dayton, and Phelps has been able to keep the team relatively fresh and rested.

Tuesday night against the Flyers, Phelps used a balanced attack and his bench squeezed out a win 84-83 in 3 OT's. By game's end, 11 players scored points.

They'll need every one of them to travel to Madison, Wisconsin, for a 7:00 p.m. tip-off against Marquette.

If they win, the Irish will continue to build on their 7-2 start. After a year of playing against weak competition, they're ready to test themselves against a Top 10 team.

The Irish are led by Senior Co-Captain Jerry Durso, who has been averaging 17.5 points per game. He's been joined by a balanced scoring attack from the team's bench.

The Irish are also playing defense well, holding opponents to an average of 71.5 points per game.

If they can continue their strong play against Marquette, they could match last year's 15-13 record and make a bigger splash in the Big East.

Men's tennis wins on road over WMU

By BOB MITCHELL
Sports Writer

After playing the 11th and 18th-ranked teams in the nation, Notre Dame men's tennis team was glad to take the court against unranked Western Michigan. The 6-2 Irish squad beat their record to 1-2 by overwhelming the Broncos, 8-1 in Kalamazoo.

"We had better players than Western Michigan," said Head Coach Bob Bayliss. "It's always great to get a win on the road. Travelling causes a team make great adjustments."

On paper, the Irish victory looks rather convincing but in reality the dual match was closer than the score indicates.

Pat Boyd helped the Notre Dame wrestling team capture its seventh win last night, as he upset the team's 31-12 dubbing of Michigan State.

"This is a confidence builder for the remainder of the season," said Boyd. "It was also a good tune-up for the Oklahoma match this weekend."

"Boyd's win set the stage for the following matches," stated McCann. "It had a definite effect on the (Todd) Layton match."

In the 150 pound division, sophomore Todd Layton posted his seventh pin against a much slower Michigan State opponent.

"I just kept putting the pressure on him until he gave up," exclaimed Layton. "This next match is by far the most important and we will be ready."

Mark Gerardi dominated his match in recording a 15-3 major decision. The match was never close as Gerardi just kept accumulating points. This brought the team score to 28-4 in favor of the Irish.

At 167 pounds, Todd Tomazic squeaked by with a win 4-3 when he was awarded one point for a ride time after the final buzzer had sounded.

Co-Captain Chris Geneser pinned his opponent in only 1:35 to win the 177 pound division. After grabbing numerous takedowns, Geneser listened to his teammates and coach and decided to pin Ray Resler with relative ease. At this point the Irish were up 31-8.

The last two matches of the evening were not good to Notre Dame. Pete Cahill, who was wrestling for the first time, lost 13-1 and heavyweight Chuck Weaver never got started in a 16-1 loss.

Friday night, Notre Dame will travel to Norman, Oklahoma to wrestle