Woman assaulted on SMC campus

Observer Staff Report

The St. Joseph's County Sheriff's Office is investigating an assault which occurred on Saint Mary's campus Friday, according to Officer Fedder of the sheriff's office.

A 31-year-old Mishawaka woman was jumped from behind as she jogged on the nature trail northeast of campus at approximately 5-45 p.m. Friday, according to Brett McLaughlin, public information officer at Saint Mary's.

"She was able to scream and get away," said McLaughlin. She fled to her car which was parked near the Angela Athletic Facility.

According to McLaughlin, the woman was only able to provide a vague description of her attacker.

The woman was treated for facial abrasions at Memorial Hospital. Hospital officials notified the sheriff's department of the attack.

Saint Mary's Security was in turn notified by the sheriff's department and conducted an investigation of the incident. The sheriff's department has filed a battery report, said Fedder.

"The Security department will make periodic checks of the area," said McLaughlin. Saint Mary's officials also planned to notify the student body today. No details concerning the attacker were available.

Revolutionaries disrupt voting in El Salvador

Associated Press

SAN SALVADOR, El Sal- vador - Salvadorans voted for a new president Sunday as left-ist revolutionaries opposed to the election attacked military posts and army troops crowded with rockets and rifle fire.

At least five guerrillas and two soldiers were killed in fighting in nine provincial towns, according to military of- ficials and witnesses. Two jour- nalists and a Dutch television cameraman also were reported killed.

Early voter turnout ap- peared diminished by the com- bat and a rebel-imposed transport ban. But Roman Catholic churches were crowded with Palm Sunday worshipers, at least some of whom planned to vote later. By midday, there were long lines at the downtown polling sta- tions.

Turnout was light in smaller towns.

"With these problems, it's better to stay home," said Jose Carlos Ortiz, 23. He spoke in front of his home in the capital as guerrillas retreated from an assault on a military post three blocks away.

Sporadic rifle fire echoed from the slope of the Guazapa volcano north of the capital, a guerrilla stronghold, as troops from the army's elite Bracamonte battalion pursued the insurgents. Two air force helicopters raced toward the volcano and fired rockets into the mountainside.

Guerrillas of the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front are waging a 9-year-old war against the U.S-backed government.

Salvadorans voted to elect a president from among seven candidates. Fidel Chavez Mena of the incumbent Christian Democratic Party and Alfredo Cristiani of the rightist Nationalist Republican Al- liance, or Arena, led the field in polls. But neither was likely to receive the more than 50 per- cent required to avoid a runoff next month.

Cristiani, favored to become the country's next president, pledged free-market policies and reduced state intervention in the economy. His party promised to step up the war if the guerrillas do not agree to lay down their arms.

Surrounded by a mob of sup- porters, Cristiani voted Sunday morning on the capital's central Roosevelt Avenue.

"I hope the United States realizes that (Salvadorans) want democracy, with this ef- fort they're making to vote. We don't want any more bom bs," he said.

President Jose Napoleon Duarte's five-year term ends June 1. Duarte, barred by law from running for re-election, is Washington's staunchest ally in the Western Hemisphere.

Union...Pan Am might join strike

Associated Press

MIAMI - A Teamsters official threatened on Saturday to ex- clude the Eastern Airlines strike to rival Pan American, while union leaders discussed ways for employees to buy both carriers in "the opportunity of a lifetime."

Eastern employees rallied in Washington, New Jersey and New York, where Governor Mario Cuomo threw his support behind the workers and chal- lenged President Bush to inter- view.

See PAN AM, page 4

Woman assaulted on SMC campus

Observer Staff Report

The St. Joseph's County Sheriff's Office is investigating an assault which occurred on Saint Mary's campus Friday, according to Officer Fedder of the sheriff's office.

A 31-year-old Mishawaka woman was jumped from behind as she jogged on the nature trail northeast of campus at approximately 5-45 p.m. Friday, according to Brett McLaughlin, public information officer at Saint Mary's.

"She was able to scream and get away," said McLaughlin. She fled to her car which was parked near the Angela Athletic Facility.

According to McLaughlin, the woman was only able to provide a vague description of her attacker.

The woman was treated for facial abrasions at Memorial Hospital. Hospital officials notified the sheriff's department of the attack.

Saint Mary's Security was in turn notified by the sheriff's department and conducted an investigation of the incident. The sheriff's department has filed a battery report, said Fedder.

"The Security department will make periodic checks of the area," said McLaughlin. Saint Mary's officials also planned to notify the student body today. No details concerning the attacker were available.

Revolutionaries disrupt voting in El Salvador

Associated Press

SAN SALVADOR, El Sal- vador - Salvadorans voted for a new president Sunday as left-ist revolutionaries opposed to the election attacked military posts and army troops crowded with rockets and rifle fire.

At least five guerrillas and two soldiers were killed in fighting in nine provincial towns, according to military of- ficials and witnesses. Two jour- nalists and a Dutch television cameraman also were reported killed.

Early voter turnout ap- peared diminished by the com- bat and a rebel-imposed transport ban. But Roman Catholic churches were crowded with Palm Sunday worshipers, at least some of whom planned to vote later. By midday, there were long lines at the downtown polling sta- tions.

Turnout was light in smaller towns.

"With these problems, it's better to stay home," said Jose Carlos Ortiz, 23. He spoke in front of his home in the capital as guerrillas retreated from an assault on a military post three blocks away.

Sporadic rifle fire echoed from the slope of the Guazapa volcano north of the capital, a guerrilla stronghold, as troops from the army's elite Bracamonte battalion pursued the insurgents. Two air force helicopters raced toward the volcano and fired rockets into the mountainside.

Guerrillas of the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front are waging a 9-year-old war against the U.S-backed government.

Salvadorans voted to elect a president from among seven candidates. Fidel Chavez Mena of the incumbent Christian Democratic Party and Alfredo Cristiani of the rightist Nationalist Republican Al- liance, or Arena, led the field in polls. But neither was likely to receive the more than 50 per- cent required to avoid a runoff next month.

Cristiani, favored to become the country's next president, pledged free-market policies and reduced state intervention in the economy. His party promised to step up the war if the guerrillas do not agree to lay down their arms.

Surrounded by a mob of sup- porters, Cristiani voted Sunday morning on the capital's central Roosevelt Avenue.

"I hope the United States realizes that (Salvadorans) want democracy, with this ef- fort they're making to vote. We don't want any more bom bs," he said.

President Jose Napoleon Duarte's five-year term ends June 1. Duarte, barred by law from running for re-election, is Washington's staunchest ally in the Western Hemisphere.

Union...Pan Am might join strike

Associated Press

MIAMI - A Teamsters official threatened on Saturday to ex- clude the Eastern Airlines strike to rival Pan American, while union leaders discussed ways for employees to buy both carriers in "the opportunity of a lifetime."

Eastern employees rallied in Washington, New Jersey and New York, where Governor Mario Cuomo threw his support behind the workers and chal- lenged President Bush to inter- view.

See PAN AM, page 4

$125,000 H-P donation to upgrade engineering lab

By MICHAEL WELLS

Staff Reporter

A gift valued at $125,000 from Hewlett-Packard is making possible the upgrad- ing of the Engineering com- puter lab, said Eugene Henry of the Department of Electrical Engineering.

According to Henry, the donation consists of 17 IBM Vectra computers, secondary disk drives, laser print- ers and a plotter. Henry said the computers will eventu- ally replace the IBM PC-AT's which the lab has now.

The prime mainframe with 70 terminals that the College of Engineering cur- rently uses will not be af- fected by the new computers, said Henry, al- though he indicated that this system may also be replaced at some future date.

Henry, who wrote the pro- posal to Hewlett-Packard describing the University's need and planned uses for the equipment, said the en- tire shipment was expected several weeks ago, but that only the laser printers and the plotter have arrived so far. He said the computers are expected soon.

Each of the new com- puters will come with a 40 megabyte hard-drive and the new Intel 386 processor. "They are similar to the IBM PS-2," said Henry, add- ing "the 386 is a 32 bit pro- cessor, which makes them faster, and allows the com- puters to support more memory."

According to Henry, the computers are to be used by

See GIFT, page 3
OF INTEREST

IN BRIEF

Alan Matheny's mother tried to talk her son, suspected of murder in the bludgeoning death of his ex-wife, out of driving to Mishawaka, said Martha Matheny of Granger in an interview published in the South Bend Tribune. Mrs. Matheny picked up her son in Indianapolis and allowed him to drive her car to Northern Indiana although his eight-hour sentence restricted him to go to Indiana to meet with a lawyer. "I never thought he would do anything like this. I'd give anything in the world if I had gone down there" to Indianapolis, she told the newspaper. Matheny, 38, faces burglary and capital murder charges in the March 4 slaying of Lisa Bianco, 29. Now being held at the Indiana State Prison, Matheny was serving an eight year sentence for charges stemming from wife beating. "Every time we passed a sign, I said, 'Alan, you missed the sign for Indianapolis.' All the way up there, I tried to talk him out of it," Mrs. Matheny said. Matheny, who has moved in with a relative after threats were made against him and her family following Bianco's slaying, "It really doesn't matter. As long as they leave the rest of the family alone, they can do whatever they want to," she said. "I don't feel much like living anymore." Associated Press

Morrissey Manor Forum will be holding an informative panel discussion on the effect of student attitudes toward ethnic minorities on campus. The discussion begins at 7 p.m. today in the Morrissey lobby. The Observer

ISO application deadline for elections is March 30. Any ISO members who wish to run for office must sign up by the end of the month. Call Peter at 283-1530 for more information. The Observer

Father Michael Himes will speak on the moral argument against the death penalty at Amnesty International's meeting today at 7 p.m. in the Center for Social Concerns. An informal video will be shown and letters to Indiana congressmen will be written. All are welcome to attend. The Observer

Senior class service project for those interested in helping serve dinner at the Shelter for the Homeless is on Monday March 27 or Friday March 31 from 4-7 p.m. Interested students should contact the Senior Class office by Thursday March 23. The Observer

Children of Adult Alcoholics meet tonight at 7 p.m. upstairs in the Center for Social Concerns. All are welcome. The Observer

ChristinasinApril Norman commissioners and community service commissioners must meet today and tomorrow at 4:30 p.m. in the Center for Social Concerns. For more information contact Mary Sue at 283-4414 or the CSC. The Observer

Freshman Terry Coyne won the speaker of the month award from the varsity speech and debate team. The Observer

Applications for Student Government cabinet positions will be available to all students on Tuesday April 3 in the second floor of LaFortune Student Center. The Observer

The Observer

Observer Of Interests

Morrissey Manor Forum will be holding an informative panel discussion on the effect of student attitudes toward ethnic minorities on campus. The discussion begins at 7 p.m. today in the Morrissey lobby. The Observer

ISO application deadline for elections is March 30. Any ISO members who wish to run for office must sign up by the end of the month. Call Peter at 283-1530 for more information. The Observer

Father Michael Himes will speak on the moral argument against the death penalty at Amnesty International's meeting today at 7 p.m. in the Center for Social Concerns. An informal video will be shown and letters to Indiana congressmen will be written. All are welcome to attend. The Observer

Senior class service project for those interested in helping serve dinner at the Shelter for the Homeless is on Monday March 27 or Friday March 31 from 4-7 p.m. Interested students should contact the Senior Class office by Thursday March 23. The Observer

Children of Adult Alcoholics meet tonight at 7 p.m. upstairs in the Center for Social Concerns. All are welcome. The Observer

ChristinasinApril Norman commissioners and community service commissioners must meet today and tomorrow at 4:30 p.m. in the Center for Social Concerns. For more information contact Mary Sue at 283-4414 or the CSC. The Observer

Freshman Terry Coyne won the speaker of the month award from the varsity speech and debate team. The Observer

Applications for Student Government cabinet positions will be available to all students on Tuesday April 3 in the second floor of LaFortune Student Center. The Observer

Observer Of Interests

work obviously told the tale. At any rate, the option should be open to students. We also need LaFortune to be open 24 hours. This will be especially necessary when the Mac lab becomes a 24-hour facility. If we will have to hire security to guard the basement, where the lab is, then why not leave the entire building accessible 24 hours, and patrol all three floors? Would the additional costs be that much greater? By having LaFortune open 24 hours, the student body would have a post-pastoral place to meet, and organizations such as The Observer, student government, and Scholastic would be able to work more efficiently with constant access to their offices.

The Honor Code is another concept that can be improved. As it stands, the code is an example of a good idea that went astray. Universities such as University of Virginia and Rice prove that it can work, and can only improve the overall academic atmosphere of a university, by promoting ethical conduct and better student-faculty relations. But, the code must be student-initiated, and not University-enforced. What we have at Notre Dame is not an honor code, but a quasi-secret police system. There must be a better way.

These are just a few comments and suggestions. And what we're really doing is just improving an already very good thing. But there are lots of good universities out there. No, we don't have to be Princeton West. We just have to be excellent at whatever course we do finally decide to take.

WE DON'T
YOU PRESENTS READING

AT SAINT MARY'S COLLEGE MARCH 22 7:30pm O'LAUGHLIN AUDITORIUM
FREE ADMISSION EVERYONE WELCOME

COCKTAIL NEXT WEEK MARCH 28-30

ROLL AUDITORIUM
$1, 9.6 '11 pm SNC.
Archbishop: Attempt to inform Church of American issues

By LAURA DOWNS
Staff Reporter

American Catholics, in a meeting with Pope John Paul II, urged Church officials in Rome to realize that they are often misinformed about American issues, said Archbishop Weakland of Milwaukee, who attended the meeting.

The conference, held in Rome from March 8-11, was attended by Pope John Paul II, the heads of the curial offices in Rome, and 35 Archbishops of the United States. There were 10 themes for discussion, the main one being Evangelism and American Culture, said Weakland.

Other issues included marriage annulments, the role of bishops, and the place for women in the Church. "Feminism in the U.S. came up quite often under many themes as being part of the U.S. culture today," said Weakland, who spoke on campus last week about the Church and South America.

The point of the conference was to open up discussion and exchange opinions on 10 Church themes. He said, "Although no conclusions were reached, I believe the conference was an overall success because the Europeans got a good view of the complexity of issues in the U.S."

Father Richard McBrien of the theology department said that he followed the conference carefully. "The most significant result was that certain Curial officials were so extreme in their views and showed such ignorance of the way things are done in the U.S. that they seemed to disturb even conservative American bishops," said McBrien.

McBrien said that this was a positive outcome because conservative bishops may become more realistic about future Vatican directives since they now realize that their information is often coming from misinformed officials.

Both Weakland and McBrien said that the format of the conference made it somewhat difficult to get a discussion going since so many people were present. Weakland said that 20 papers were delivered but that overall preparation for the conference was inadequate for any ultimate decision making.

"The greatest point of tension," he said, "was over the annulment process."

Archbishop Weakland characterized the conference as an important step towards a better understanding between European and American Church officials, and was optimistic that "it will probably serve to open up dialogues of this sort in the future."

Gun makers urged to cease sale of semiautomatic rifles

WASHINGTON Gun manufacturers should follow the example of Colt Industries Inc. and stop nonmilitary sales of semiautomatic assault rifles, the head of the federal Drug Enforcement Administration said Sunday.

"I thought that was a very courageous action on the part of Colt. Colt are dangerous, law enforcement is suffering because of these guns," DEA administrator John Lawn said on the CBS-TV program, "Face the Nation."

"I am asking them to (take this action), on behalf of the officers who are in danger every single day, because a police officer dies every 57 hours in this country," said Lawn.

But Attorney General Dick Thornburgh and the new drug czar, William Bennett, said they did not think the government should call for private manufacturers to stop retail sales of semiautomatic weapons.

Colt announced that it was suspending sales of its AR-15 semiautomatic rifle starting last Thursday, the day after President Bush decided to ban temporarily the import of foreign made assault rifles.

"As an official of the federal government, I don't want to speak in such ways that suggest that I'm pushing them in any direction or another," Bennett said on the NBC-TV program, Meet the Press.

But he added: "I think we can make the case that we don't need a whole lot more assault rifles on our streets right now.

Bennett and Thornburgh said an all-encompassive solution was needed.

"If we think that the only way to deal with the drug problem is to ban a particular type of weapon, we're dead wrong," Thornburgh said on the ABC-TV program, "This Week with David Brinkley."

Gift continued from page 1

students from all departments of the College of Engineering, but "some of the heaviest use is in the courses dealing with programming," He cited EE 251, Structured Programming, as one of the main beneficiaries along with his own class in computer simulation.

Explaining the motivation for the donation, Henry said, "The reason, of course, is to get students familiar with their equipment. And that when they get into private industry they will influence their employers to purchase their computers."" Hewlett-Packard donates money to a number of universities," Henry said, often with a university graduate acting as a go-between. Henry said that a Notre Dame graduate working for Hewlett-Packard was instrumental in helping to work out the details of this donation.

FREE TANNING

"Buy 4 free sessions at the regular price and get 1 FREE. Buy 5 and get 5 FREE. Buy 6 and get 6 FREE. Get the idea?"

Mishawaka

Chicago Hair Cutting Co.
Chiropractor agrees to stop demonic diagnosis on patients

Associated Press

EVANSVILLE, Ind.- An Evansville chiropractor has agreed to stop advising patients their health problems are caused by acts or influences of demons, evil spirits or other supernatural creatures.

Lee Walden, owner of a chiropractic clinic that bears his name, also has met a state request to stop advertising and performing a sinus treatment in which a balloon is inserted into the nose, inflated and then burst.

The agreement, which also placed Walden’s chiropractic license on probation for six months, culminated three years of investigation.

Pan Am

continued from page 1

vene in the labor war with Eastern boss Frank Lorenzo.

Eastern’s 8,500 machinists entered their third week on strike, which has crippled the nation’s seventh-largest airline and forced it to seek bankruptcy protection. The workers have refused to give wage concessions.

And a top Teamsters official warned that the strike could be expanded to struggling Pan Am, which competes with Eastern on the Boston-New York-Washington shuttle route.

“One of the (strike) targets would be the shuttle of Pan American ... where Eastern Airlines is now being picketed,” said William Genoese, director of the Teamsters Air Division. “Therefore we could tie up the Northeast corridor of the United States.”

“The strike at Eastern Airlines is a fight for every working person in the United States.”

The Observer

is currently accepting applications for the following position:

News Editor

A resume and a two-page personal statement is due to Matt Gallagher by 3 p.m. on Tuesday, March 21.

Call 239-5303 or 283-1957 for information.

Archbishop ROMERO

Lecture series

MARTYRDOM and BEYOND:
A Journey in Memory of Archbishop Oscar Arnulfo Romero

DR. FRANCES O’GORMAN
CEAR - Ecumenical Center for Action and Reflection
Rio de Janeiro

Join
The Observer

HERE’S ONE
college memory we’ll help you forget.

If you’re like a lot of people, your longest-lasting memory of college might be the payback on your student loan. The Army has a solution, though quietly, sign up with us, and we’ll sign off your loan. Each year you serve as a soldier, the Army will reduce your college debt by $1500, whichever is greater. So after serving three years, your government loan could be completely paid off. You’re eligible for this program if you have a National Direct Student Loan, Guaranteed Student Loan or Federally Insured Student Loan made after Oct. 1, 1975. The loan must not be in default. Find out how the Army can repay your student loan.

Call SGT Robert Hackley 234-4142

ARMY BE ALL YOU CAN BE.
Exiles from Tibet: A portrait of persecution

Associated Press

DHARMSALA, India- For Tibetans, this is a place of crushed hopes and cherished dreams, a sanctuary far from the Chinese who now rule their homeland and close to their spiritual leader, the Dalai Lama, himself an exile for 30 years.

High in the Himalayan foothills of north India, with big brown monkeys scampering across slate roofs and shaggy little terriers yapping in muddy streets, Dharamsala is a way station for Tibetan activists who fled from the Chinese, a storehouse of Tibetan culture, a shrine for Buddhist pilgrims and a center for plotting political strategies.

Sonam Tobgyal, a 47-year-old man with hard eyes and a network of scars across his thumbs and knuckles, left Tibet six weeks ago because he thought the Chinese were on the verge of arresting him for pro-independence activities.

It was not fear of prison that made him leave, he said, but fear of torture that might cause him to betray others who were not yet under suspicion for organizing demonstrations or slipping information to foreign travelers.

"I was getting known by the Chinese. One of my friends was arrested," he said, seated in the sunshine on a rooftop terrace. "I had to escape." Tobgyal said he knew about torture from the 11 years he had already spent in Chinese prisons in Tibet. Speaking through an interpreter, he said the scars on his hands were the result of beatings with wooden clubs and iron bars and being suspended by his thumbs from the ceiling for 15 minutes to an hour at a time.

He said he was released from prison in 1979 and started peddling clothing from village to village, a job that enabled him to spread news of upcoming anti-Chinese demonstrations.

Dekey is a rosy-cheeked, angelic-faced 2-year-old who hugs strangers exuberantly and demands to be cuddled.

She was brought to Dharamsala from Lhoka, a town in southern Tibet, a year ago by a mother who returned home to the rest of her family and may never see Dekey again.
De Klerk’s effect on South Africa’s future questioned

Associated Press

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa - The selection of a shrewd, affable pragmatist as President P.W. Botha’s successor is contributing to a surge of hope for a peaceful breakthrough in South Africa’s political stalemate.

News Analysis

So far, however, the optimistic musings are coming almost exclusively from whites.

Black leaders make clear their will be relieved when Botha steps down. But they suspect his heir apparent, F.W. De Klerk, will preside over changes more cosmetic than substantive.

Mangosuthu Buthelezi, the Zulu political leader denounced by many black activists as too conservative, says he will oppose De Klerk until the government gives blacks full voting rights. There is no sign De Klerk contemplates such a change.

At the other end of the black political spectrum, the African National Congress guerrilla movement says changes under De Klerk will be in personal style, not National Party policy.

De Klerk and Botha "are pieces of the same carcass," spokesman Tom Sebina said from the outlawed movement’s exile headquarters in Lusaka, Zambia. "If the meat is bad, the meat is bad."

Botha, 73, resumed his presidential duties last week after an eight-week convalescence from a stroke. In the interim, he resigned as National Party leader and was replaced by De Klerk, the minister of national education.

In a dramatic chain of events, Nationalist newspapers and politicians began suggesting that Botha should retire. Botha responded by declaring he would stay in office until next year, and the party’s parliamentary caucus resolved that it wanted De Klerk to be president.

However, the party has neither the constitutional power nor the appetite to force Botha from office. De Klerk said Friday he will seek cordial coexistence with the president while urging his party to "break new ground" in pursuing political reform.

De Klerk, who turned 53 Saturday, has never been viewed as liberal. But supporters and skeptics alike depict him as more open-minded and less imperious than Botha, who has headed the government since 1978.

After becoming party leader, De Klerk called for a South Africa "free of domination and oppression." Other party officials say at least some remaining apartheid laws—those segregating residential areas and public facilities—may be modified.

De Klerk and Botha "are pieces of the same carcass," spokesman Tom Sebina said from the outlawed movement’s exile headquarters in Lusaka, Zambia. "If the meat is bad, the meat is bad."

Botha, 73, resumed his presidential duties last week after an eight-week convalescence from a stroke. In the interim, he resigned as National Party leader and was replaced by De Klerk, the minister of national education.

In a dramatic chain of events, Nationalist newspapers and politicians began suggesting that Botha should retire. Botha responded by declaring he would stay in office until next year, and the party’s parliamentary caucus resolved that it wanted De Klerk to be president.

However, the party has neither the constitutional power nor the appetite to force Botha from office. De Klerk said Friday he will seek cordial coexistence with the president while urging his party to "break new ground" in pursuing political reform.

De Klerk, who turned 53 Saturday, has never been viewed as liberal. But supporters and skeptics alike depict him as more open-minded and less imperious than Botha, who has headed the government since 1978.

After becoming party leader, De Klerk called for a South Africa "free of domination and oppression." Other party officials say at least some remaining apartheid laws—those segregating residential areas and public facilities—may be modified.

De Klerk, who turned 53 Saturday, has never been viewed as liberal. But supporters and skeptics alike depict him as more open-minded and less imperious than Botha, who has headed the government since 1978.

After becoming party leader, De Klerk called for a South Africa "free of domination and oppression." Other party officials say at least some remaining apartheid laws—those segregating residential areas and public facilities—may be modified.

De Klerk and Botha "are pieces of the same carcass," spokesman Tom Sebina said from the outlawed movement’s exile headquarters in Lusaka, Zambia. "If the meat is bad, the meat is bad."

Botha, 73, resumed his presidential duties last week after an eight-week convalescence from a stroke. In the interim, he resigned as National Party leader and was replaced by De Klerk, the minister of national education.

In a dramatic chain of events, Nationalist newspapers and politicians began suggesting that Botha should retire. Botha responded by declaring he would stay in office until next year, and the party’s parliamentary caucus resolved that it wanted De Klerk to be president.

However, the party has neither the constitutional power nor the appetite to force Botha from office. De Klerk said Friday he will seek cordial coexistence with the president while urging his party to "break new ground" in pursuing political reform.

De Klerk, who turned 53 Saturday, has never been viewed as liberal. But supporters and skeptics alike depict him as more open-minded and less imperious than Botha, who has headed the government since 1978.

After becoming party leader, De Klerk called for a South Africa "free of domination and oppression." Other party officials say at least some remaining apartheid laws—those segregating residential areas and public facilities—may be modified.

De Klerk and Botha "are pieces of the same carcass," spokesman Tom Sebina said from the outlawed movement’s exile headquarters in Lusaka, Zambia. "If the meat is bad, the meat is bad."

Botha, 73, resumed his presidential duties last week after an eight-week convalescence from a stroke. In the interim, he resigned as National Party leader and was replaced by De Klerk, the minister of national education.

In a dramatic chain of events, Nationalist newspapers and politicians began suggesting that Botha should retire. Botha responded by declaring he would stay in office until next year, and the party’s parliamentary caucus resolved that it wanted De Klerk to be president.

However, the party has neither the constitutional power nor the appetite to force Botha from office. De Klerk said Friday he will seek cordial coexistence with the president while urging his party to "break new ground" in pursuing political reform.

De Klerk, who turned 53 Saturday, has never been viewed as liberal. But supporters and skeptics alike depict him as more open-minded and less imperious than Botha, who has headed the government since 1978.

After becoming party leader, De Klerk called for a South Africa "free of domination and oppression." Other party officials say at least some remaining apartheid laws—those segregating residential areas and public facilities—may be modified.
Spreading the Catholic version of love

Love one another. The message of Christianity is often reduced to this. And Christ himself did not hesitate to simplify much of his teaching and the teaching of the Old Testament in this way. Not infrequently the core content of each and every religious and philosophical world view is reducible to this command.

Thomas D’Andrea inside out

There is probably some justification for this in that it has seemed evident to man from time immemorial that much of what deeply mysterious life is about is being properly related to the “other”—be that other animate or inanimate nature, the universe of other human beings, or the Creator Himself. But it is of particular importance that what one understands as “love” to be, and beyond this, what one deems are the necessary and appropriate measures to abide in this love. Here, most religious and philosophical belief systems greatly diverge because they differ quite significantly in their views of what human well-being consists of, how it is to be secured, and what the point of human life is. Answers to all these questions condition one’s understanding of what the “love” referred to in the so-called Golden Rule represents.

The Roman Catholic Church puts forward one such understanding of what authentic love of the other is and how it is to be attained and maintained. And from an important, if incomplete, point of view, the Catholic Church in all its history has continued to buttress this understanding by a sustained argument, a constant claim, about who man is, where he came from, where he is headed. With a very definite and specific understanding of the point of human life and the nature of man, the Catholic Church directs its members toward one such understanding of what love for the other (i.e., which includes both God and neighbor). To obey the seemingly universal Golden Rule Catholics do very unique and particular things that members of other religious faiths do not do. Hinduism does not receive practice devotion to the Mother of God, and Marxists do not practice bodily self-denial to atone for their sins against God.

It follows that if we reckon ourselves Catholic we must heed the very particular injunctions our church gives us, instructing us in the person of Christ himself, all of which concern how we can do what all men of good will, regardless of religious or philosophic creed, have always sought to do—love the other. For a Catholic to see that love is all that matters is but a start. We must trust the wisdom of our religious tradition passed on and developed by the first apostles, their descendants the bishops, the popes and the councils of the Church, and the saints and martyrs, as to what that love is, how it is to be maintained and what positively and definitively excludes it. We will then see that the following activities and practices (among others) seriously curtail our ability to love: selfish careerism, in-time-pancy, all sexual meandering, bourgeois materialism, laziness and comfortable self-indulgence. We simply cannot engage in these things and “love” (i.e., be properly related to God and one another). We can take part in them and wish others well, but we will be impotent to help them and will end up manipulating them to serve our own selfish purposes in the end. If we trust the wisdom of the Catholic tradition we will see that we are incapable of authentic love without God’s grace, and that we cannot do all this but through a lot of prayer and receiving the sacraments often (particularly the sacrament of Holy Communion and the sacrament of reconciliation). A Catholic who neglects these things or even fails to give them first importance is like a Maori who fails to meditate faithfully on his “Little Red Book,” or a Zen monk who leaves off the practice of his meditation, or a disciple of the Rev. Sun Yen Moon who refuses to sell his flowers. For us Catholics, prayer, the sacraments, and the disciplining of the lusts of the flesh and the pride of the spirit are where it’s at if we want to love more. And Lent is a good time to start again.

Thomas D’Andrea is a grad student in philosophy and is a regular Viewpoint columnist.

P.O. Box Q

Minorities need to preserve culture

Dear Editor:

In response to Ms. Alvarez’s column on Feb. 27, I’d like to discuss the hackneyed tendency to portray diversity yet again. Although Ms. Alvarez made some good points about the prejudices that tend to color discussions of diversity at Notre Dame, she didn’t carry home any novelty within groups. And we as a community—black, white, or American—can only preserve our own uniqueness as a group here, or anywhere.

Alas, Ms. Alvarez, no one in America is 100 percent black, white, or anything else, so there is much diversity within groups. And we as a community, particularly minorities at Notre Dame, would do well to join together and talk about the differences between blacks and whites at Notre Dame, she didn’t carry home any novelty within groups. And we as a community—black, white, or American—can only preserve our own uniqueness as a group here, or anywhere.

As Alvarez mentioned, there are only a small number of blacks here at Notre Dame, so it is natural for us to want to band together and be familiar with one another. It is unfair for whites or blacks to put one label on us because of this, as a group here, or anywhere.

What is the point of trying to stereotype my actions as being “black” or “white.” Ms. Alvarez states this also. Although she omits this deed by suggesting that blacks on campus don’t like her because she “refuses to talk slang.” Please note that this is not true.

What? Do all blacks sound like the titles of rap songs? I think not. There are many kinds of blacks. The point is that all of us are human beings—just like everyone else. We can talk about problems and cope with life here. It is from our own that we learn to understand and respect ourselves, and in turn accept and respect others. So it is for these reasons that any black person here would be friendly and talk to others, not because they work at a training table.

Minorities at Notre Dame, while seeming separatist or exclusive to some, are merely trying to preserve our culture in a place where we are not all alike, because we are not all alike in color. There is diversity among different groups. But within that diversity we can be unified, strong, unique, and proud, without a special year set aside for this discovery. It is through an understanding of our own culture’s diversity that we can command respect from ourselves and others—not by picking fights in words and deeds—or in print.

Leaha D. Franklin, Pasquerilla West Feb. 28, 1989

The Observer retains the right to edit all commentaries submitted to the Viewpoint department. Please note that the more concise and to the point, the less we will have to edit it to fit our space.

Garry Trudeau

Quote of the Day

'A stumble may prevent a fall.'

-Thomas Fuller

The Observer
La Celebración de Negro

Saturday night at the Century Center, the cranberry curtains parted to reveal...fashion, flair and fun. Not too much of the unexpected, but a very professional presentation awaded the viewerfan at the 10th Annual Black Cultural Arts Council-sponsored Fashion Show.

Alliterative announcers Jocelyn Allen and Roderick West set the stage for fashion and fun with a tribute to Martin Luther King, Jr., a brief presentation on the richness of black heritage, and La Celebración de Negro began.

Against a watercolor backdrop of jazz musicians and palm trees, the eleven handpicked models strutted their stuff. The first skit had models Pat Terrell, Calvin Allen and Audrey Brent appearing in an interpretation of traditional African tribal costume complete in gold-embroidered felt, leather sandals, and tribal poncho.

The women were hot, but the men clearly got the audience motivated as they sauntered in their full-length wool tweeds, oversized linen dusters and too-cool black shades, "exercising their prerogative to look good."

The crowd clearly went wild when LA rapper Tone-Loc's "Wild Thing" heralded the swimwear fashions. As the women frolicked in modest but flattering one-pieces, the men peeled down to the briefest of Speedos, much to the delight of the audience.

The skit was entitled "Walking on the Beach, Kicking up Sand," but no sand was kicked Saturday night, that's for sure.

The palm trees played backdrop to a "starlight night" as leather, silk, and suede in traditional black and brown and in the jewel colors of fuchsia and purple took the stage. Particularly memorable was the royal purple leather ensemble sported by model Tracy Lowery. The black silk duster with leather trim and the body-hugging black tank dress worn by Niobe Joseph left a lasting impression, too.

Then the amiable announcers ceded the mike and stage to South Bend's own androgynous designer, Fuddie, of Studio Five's Fuddie Fashions. Fuddie encouraged the audience to "put our hands together" as she came out with the most un-"fuddy-duddy" of fashions. First on the runway were models James Suttle and Pat Terrell sporting glorified white long-johns which, as Fuddie herself cautioned, were for the man with nothing to hide. Following these were a series of dramatic blacks and whites—in emblazoned T-shirts, rayon pants, Zorro hats. Sophistication took the stage as model Frances Shavers made her appearance in thigh-high leather boots and midnight-black cape. Lavender and camel pantsuits, emerald green leather minis, blood red silk evening gowns complete with cape, and sequined velvet floor-length formals all floated by, with this section of the show culminating in Fuddie's wedding fashions.

The show's finale, featuring Mr. Leonard's furs and a cameo appearance by the show's coordinators Lauren-teen Carla Morris and Delia Lozano, provided a fitting close to an evening of fitting clothes which was professionally done and fun for all.
By GREG GUFFEY
Assistant Sports Editor

After a thrilling overtime victory against No. 1 Marion, the No. 3 Indians are going to state finals on the strength of a 1-41-4 victory against No. 1 Marion...

- By GREG GUFFEY

The Observer

Monday, March 20, 1989

The Observer page 9

Sutton resigns as UK basketball coach

Associated Press

LEXINGTON, Ky. — Twenty-four hours after saying that resignation was not an option, Coach Rick Mount, who directed the faculty on the court, resigned on Sunday. He insisted that he was not forced to resign and that he did not commit the wrong doing in connection with an NCAA investigation of the program.

Rumors of Sutton's resignation, or possible firing, had circulated since last October, when the NCAA announced an investigation of the basketball program.

Sutton, who on Saturday had repeated his intention to remain as coach, said he changed his mind because of the increasing rumors about his status. One source reported that Sutton had offered to fire his entire staff if he was forced to retire.

"These rumors have popped up and I think they will continue to do that, and I think we are going to get hurt and I can't see doing that," he said.

During a conference, Sutton said he made his decision Saturday night after a meeting and doing "a lot of praying." He said he was talking with UK president David Roselle, who, according to the coach, accepted the resignation and expressed his support of Sutton's dedication to the program.

During his own news conference Sunday night, Roselle said the question of Sutton's future was coming up in a meeting last Wednesday at the president's office on the UK campus. "We talked about it (resignation) for a while," Roselle said, expressing that all athletic director Joe Burke and UK lawyer James Park had attended.

Roselle praised what he called Sutton's "willingness to recognize that his resignation is a necessary step in the process of rebuilding our basketball program."

Roselle added that the UK athletics board was scheduled to meet on Tuesday to review the situation, which the president described as a "manage ment" meeting.

Asked if his leaving might soften any possible punishment that the NCAA might impose, Sutton said, "I would hope they would take it into consideration."

Roselle "one hopes that it does, but one does not do it for that reason."
Big crown honors champions

By GREG GUFFEY
Assistant Sports Editor

More than 2600 fans honored Notre Dame's national championship team Friday night at the team's National Championship Testimonial Banquet at the Joyce ACC. Associated Press college football editor Herschel Nisenson presented the Irish with the Chip bowl trophy.

"Rod Smith, George Poor and the Irish tri-captains with the AP championship trophy, while Jimbo McDowell gave them the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame award.

"I've presented a lot of AP trophies at a lot of banquets, but I've never seen support for a football team like I do tonight or did today in South Bend," Nisenson said.

The evening started with two videos highlighting the season-"They Wanted to Win" and "Heart of a Champion." A highlight medley prepared by Golden Dome Productions came later in the evening.

Don Criqui, a Notre Dame graduate and a sportscaster at NBC since 1979, served as the master of ceremonies.

"I saw one poll where Don Nehlen was the number-one coach, Troy Alkman was the first player selected in the draft and the Heisman Trophy went to Barry Sanders," Criqui said. "Without a doubt, Lou Holtz was the best coach in college football and the Most Valuable Player was No. 9, Tony Rice."

Many of the Irish seniors had a turn at the microphone, including the tri-captains. Mark Green said it took awhile for the national championship to settle in.

"I can honestly say now, I feel like a champion," Green said.

Irish head coach Lou Holtz took the opportunity to look back on the season, but also said it was time to move ahead.

"It isn't often you get to stand up here and say you're the best at what you've chosen to do," Holtz said. "Why are we here? We're here because of attitude, the self-confidence, the self-belief.

"I love you guys because you refused to be mediocre, Holtz continued. "They have been getting the majority of the credit for us." They make better," said Heater.

"It isn't often you get to stand up here and say you're the best at what you've chosen to do," Holtz said. "Why are we here? We're here because of attitude, the self-confidence, the self-belief.

"I love you guys because you refused to be mediocre, Holtz continued. "They have been getting the majority of the credit for us." They make better," said Heater.

ND Ave. Apartments

SPECIAL SUMMER RATES AVAILABLE

Also renting for all Call 234-6647

2 Bedrooms completely furnished

ATTENTION ALL GRADUATE STUDENTS

MEET THE CANDIDATES

for 1989-90 GSU President and Vice-President

7:00 p.m.

Today

Cushing Engineering Auditorium

- There will be brief presentations by the candidates, followed by an open question & answer forum.
- The new President and Vice President will be elected by your departmental representatives at the Graduate Council Meeting on March 21st.

GIVE YOUR INPUT AND DECIDE THE DIRECTION OF THE GSU

SPORTS BRIEFS

Women's Bookstore Basketball late registration and signings are Tuesday, March 21, from 6 to 8 p.m., in the lobby of Haggar Hall at Saint Mary's. Times and locations will be announced. There is a $5 registration fee. Any questions should be directed to Nancy at x3487 or Julie at x2867. The Observer

The Squash Club will sponsor the Inscles tournament Monday through Wednesday, March 20-22, in the Joyce ACC. A $5 entry fee includes t-shirt. Registration ends Friday, March 17 in the NVA office. The Observer

SMC Intramural Volleyball captians' meeting will be Tuesday, March 21, at 4 p.m. in the Angela Lounge. Women's and co-rec. Games will be played Sunday through Thursday nights from 8 to 11 p.m. The Observer

The Water Polo Club will hold a mandatory meeting tonight at 7 p.m. in the Serin Room at LaFortune. Plans will be discussed for the remainder of the spring and for next year's officers. For more information call Jay at x2303. The Observer

Season passes at Burke Memorial Golf Course are now available at $60 for students through fall orientation and $140 for family ($190 family) through November 15. Call the golf shop at 239-6425 for more information. The Observer

BengalBout tournament tapes can be ordered Tuesday or Wednesday, March 21-22, from 7 to 9 p.m. in LaFortune. Plans will be discussed for the remainder of the spring and for next year's officers. For more information, call Mike at x3386 or Doug at x4187. The Observer

Create in me a clean heart Lord

Lenten Penance Service

Tuesday, March 21st, 1989
10:00am, Sacred Heart Church

Rev. Thomas Gaughan, C.S.C., President

Opportunity for individual confessions following the service.

Please also note the time of Penance Services in your own residence hall.

The Observer
Tennis team splits pair on road

By DAVE McMAHON
Sports Writer

The men’s tennis team split matches last Wednesday and Thursday while playing at Marquette and the University of Wisconsin. The Irish came away with their 12th win of the season against the Warriors before suffering their seventh loss the next day in Madison.

Notre Dame proved to be invincible in the singles bracket at Marquette, as the top six players failed to lose a set. Dave DiLucia, Walter Dolhare, Ryan Wenger, Paul Odland, Dave DiLucia, and Walter Dolhare all posted wins for the Irish. The lone Warrior victory came at number two doubles in a three-set tiebreaker.

Irish coach Bob Bayliss was pleased with the performance, considering the match was on the road.

"It’s tougher to win on the road in tennis than in other sports," said Bayliss. "The lighting and playing surface can have a great effect on a visiting team, but we handled it well."

While Irish tennis is a program on the rise, Marquette had neither the quality players nor quality facilities that Notre Dame boasts.

"The University has made a much bigger commitment to tennis than they have, so we really felt that it was a match we should win," said Bayliss.

Notre Dame faced a much stiffer test the following day, venturing to Madison to take on the Badgers, one of the top teams in the region. After shuffling the lineup because of an injury to Mike Wallace, who plays at number-one doubles, the Irish suffered a 6-4 defeat. Bayliss would not use injuries as an excuse.

"We had to play with the hand we were dealt, and we just didn’t play it good enough," said Bayliss. DiLucia extended his win streak to 15 after a 6-3, 6-4 win. The freshman standout improved to 16-4 in the spring season and 28-9 overall.

Wenger, playing at number-four singles, lost his first set 6-3 before winning the last two 6-3, 7-5. The number one doubles team of DiLucia-Doharre posted a 6-4, 6-2 win.

Captain Brian Kelbasa, suffering from an intense stomach pain, showed great effort before succumbing to his opponent.

"He showed a tremendous amount of courage," said Bayliss. "He couldn’t serve effectively because of the pain, which took a lot out of his game."

Notre Dame will have a few days to nurse the injuries before hosting Miami of Ohio Friday morning at 10:30. Northern Illinois will test the Irish following the Miami match. Indiana State, which beat the Irish 6-3 and 7-2 last season, second, advanced to third on Pat Elier’s sacrifice fly. They added two in the second when Mike Masiell singled home Lund and Mike Coss, but Duke answered with two unearned runs to make the score 3-2.

Notre Dame scored again in the third when James Sass singled home Peltier, and made it 5-2 in the seventh when Duke scored back-to-back runs. Tony D’Ambrosio booted Scott’s ground ball, allowing Peltier to score. Saturday’s second game against Marquette was rained out on Sunday.

After allowing the first two batters to score in Sunday’s first game, pitcher Mike Passilla shut down the Irish for 7 2/3 innings, allowing the Irish to come back for a 5-2 win.

Duke got revenge in Sunday’s second game, blasting the Irish 8-2. Second baseman Ramsey helped the Blue Devils to build an 8-0 lead before Jason Martinez hit a two-run double in the ninth.

ND downs Bonnies splits against Duke

Special to The Observer

DURHAM, N.C. — The Notre Dame baseball team improved to 10-4 on the season with a victory over St. Bonaventure and a two-game split with Duke this weekend.

Pitcher Erik Madsen improved to 3-0 on the season and Mike Coffey recorded the save as the Irish beat the host Blue Devils 5-4 in the first game Saturday.

Dan Peltier went 4-for-5 with a double and a run scored and Ed Lund had two doubles to power Notre Dame’s offense.

The Irish jumped to a 1-0 lead in the first when Pat Pesavento walked, slide second, advanced to third on a wild throw, and scored on Pat Elier’s sacrifice fly. They added two in the second when Mike Masiell singled home Lund and Mike Coss, but Duke answered with two unearned runs to make the score 3-2.

Notre Dame scored again in the third when James Sass singled home Peltier, and made it 5-2 in the seventh when Duke scored back-to-back runs. Tony D’Ambrosio booted Scott’s ground ball, allowing Peltier to score. Saturday’s second game against Marquette was rained out on Sunday.

After allowing the first two batters to score in Sunday’s first game, pitcher Mike Passilla shut down the Bonnies for 7 2/3 innings, allowing the Irish to come back for a 5-2 win.

Duke got revenge in Sunday’s second game, blasting the Irish 8-2. Second baseman Ramsey helped the Blue Devils to build an 8-0 lead before Jason Martinez hit a two-run double in the ninth.

Tourney continued from page 16

eliminated. Redenbaugh won a preliminary match over Robert Symmanns of Wisconsin-Lake Superior before losing to Ben Reichel of Tennessee-Chattanooga. Geneser won his preliminary match over G.T. Taylor of Arizona State and lost his second round match to Mike Amine of Michigan. In the consolation bracket, Geneser won once and then was eliminated by Jason Morris of Syracuse. Neither wrestler placed in the final tournament standings.

Boyd, who was wrestling in his first ever NCAA Tournament, could do no wrong all the way into the semifinals. In the final four, he lost a tight match to the defending champion before being eliminated in the consolation bracket. His fifth-place finish was the highest since Golic in 1978.

"Pat’s performance, when you consider that he has never been to the NCAA’s before, and that he was out for five weeks earlier in the season, was truly remarkable," said McCann.

Durso made it all the way to the quarterfinals before losing his first match. He then went on to win in the consolation bracket and grab an eighth-place finish along with All-American honors. Durso finishes his career as the all-time winningest wrestler in Irish history with 127 wins. His roommate, Geneser, became the second winningest wrestler with his wins in the NCAA tournament.

The future looks great for Notre Dame wrestling as it returns eight out of ten starters for next year, including Boyd who won his second after his senior season. As goodbyes are said to the best in Durso and Geneser, one must also say hello to the exciting future of a new younger collegiate wrestling—Notre Dame.

"This was an important tournament for us because people finally realized that we are for real," said an enthused McCann. "Notre Dame wrestling is finally for real."
Fredrick comes off bench to ignite Irish

By STEVE MEGARGEE
Associate Sports Editor

PROVIDENCE, R.I. - Fredrick last night was with the Irish on a one-week layoff.

"We knew they were a good team, and they needed me to do," answered Joe Fredrick in. About 20 seconds later he came a three-pointer from the left wing, looking like a man who had been in the game from the start and not like a man who hadn't prac ticed for a week.

"At the NCAA's, you play if you can walk," said Fredrick senior Barry Goheen, who was on of the victims of Notre Dame's defense of the three-point lead. "I'm not surprised Fredrick played, but I am surprised at how well he played."

The second half was a mirror image of the first, as Fredrick came in with 12:27 to go and hit another two from the left side, this time giving the Irish a nine-point lead.

"When I get in the game, I feel as if I've been in the whole game," Fredrick said. "I saw their zone, and I saw that Jamere was getting some shots. The first time down the court I was open, so I put it up."

Fredrick's ankle sprain oc curred in the last few minutes of practice Friday, March 30.

He did not travel with the team to play DePaul, but instead stayed in the Notre Dame inni
mercy: the Irish of the first, as Fredrick
Fredrick was amazing him
tself. Elmer Bennett started in his spot, but with nine minutes
gone in the first half, Irish co ach Mike Brey answered.

"Fredrick was amazing himself. Elmer Bennett started in his spot, but with nine minutes gone in the first half, Irish coach Mike Brey answered.

"I'm not surprised Fredrick played, but I am surprised at how well he played."

The second half was a mirror image of the first, as Fredrick came in with 12:27 to go and hit another two from the left side, this time giving the Irish a nine-point lead.

"When I get in the game, I feel as if I've been in the whole game," Fredrick said. "I saw their zone, and I saw that Jamere was getting some shots. The first time down the court I was open, so I put it up."

Fredrick's ankle sprain oc curred in the last few minutes of practice Friday, March 30.

He did not travel with the team to play DePaul, but instead stayed in the Notre Dame inni
mercy: the Irish of the first, as Fredrick
Fredrick was amazing him
tself. Elmer Bennett started in his spot, but with nine minutes
gone in the first half, Irish co ach Mike Brey answered.

"Fredrick was amazing himself. Elmer Bennett started in his spot, but with nine minutes gone in the first half, Irish coach Mike Brey answered.

"I'm not surprised Fredrick played, but I am surprised at how well he played."

The second half was a mirror image of the first, as Fredrick came in with 12:27 to go and hit another two from the left side, this time giving the Irish a nine-point lead.
NC State advances

Associated Press

Rodney Monroe scored a career-high 40 points to lead South Alabama's 11-game winning streak. Mills had 24 points.

Missouri 108, Texas 89

Doug Smith scored a career-high 40 points to lead the score at the end of regulation.

UNC 88, UCLA 81

Playing without the suspended J.R. Reid, North Carolina State's 77-73 lead, and Gerald Greene followed with a layup as the Pirates reached the regional semifinals for the first time.

TUCSON, Ariz. - Even at half strength, Indiana is an intimidating force in the NCAA tournament.

Freshman Eric Anderson scored 24 points Sunday as the Hoosiers crushed Texas-El Paso 92-69 in the second round of the West Regional despite shooting woes.

Smith continued from page 16

The Hoosiers, 27-7, seeking their second trip in three years to the Final Four, scored the game's first seven points and outscored the Miners 14-2 to start the second half.

Irish continued from page 16

...call... I'm not crying over it. I thought I was playing good defense, but he scored.

Mourning's free throws kept the Hoyas from falling behind as the Irish defense hung tough, but his team scored six straight points, five of them by Smith, to take a nine-point lead with 1:09 to play. The Irish could get no closer than the final score of 81-74, hitting only one shot in the final five minutes.-------------------

Andersen's 24 keys Hoosiers over UTEP

Associated Press

OGDEN, Utah (AP) - Utah's Mark Hughes scored 24 points Sunday as the Utes came back to beat Portland State 92-81 in the second round of the West Regional despite shooting woes.

Smith did not have to play the entire game, but his team was up 15-17 and he was able to play most of the game.

"I've got to thank my teammates," said Thompson. "They all really cam..." Thompson has heard all that before.

"I didn't really understand when people talked about a banana riding on the shoulders," said Thompson, "but I saw that in his eyes and said, 'He's got 1 point.

Smith had just begun to warm up. After connecting on a long-range jumper, he was able to drive past any Notre Dame defender to score easy

"I think our players did an excellent job," said Smith. "I've got to thank my teammates..."
Waltrip wins 500-mile race

Associated Press

HAMPTON, Ga. — Darrell Waltrip outdueled Dale Earnhardt over the last nine laps Sunday to win the Motorcraft 500 NASCAR stock car race, giving him two victories in three starts this season.

The three-time Winston Cup champion, who opened the year by winning the Daytona 500, earned the 75th victory of his career by beating Earnhardt to the finish line by six tenths of a second in a battle of Chevy Monte Carlos.

It appeared that Earnhardt, who is mired in a 13-race win less streak, was on the way to a runaway victory when Geoff Bodine brought out the sixth and final caution flag just 15 laps from the end at Atlanta International Raceway.

Bodine was running third when he blew a tire heading into turn four on lap 313 and skidded sideways. Rick Wilson ran into Bodine's car and sent it spinning to the top of the banking and into the wall. Neither driver was injured.

Earnhardt and Waltrip pitted quickly, while NASCAR rookie Dick Trickle, the only other driver on the lead lap, remained on the 1.5-mile oval and took the lead.

Notre Dame overcomes sloppy doubles' play in victory

By CHRIS COONEY
Sports Writer

Gutsy shot selection and gritty perseverance helped the Notre Dame women's tennis team rebound from some erratic doubles pairs to overcome Purdue on Sunday 6-2.

The Irish were up 4-2 after the singles competition and all three doubles pairs had won their first sets. A victory seemed guaranteed at that point. The trouble began when all three duos dropped their second sets simultaneously.

At the number-three spot, Kim Pacella and Natalie Hill were down 4-5, double match point, after splitting sets 6-0, 4-6. In addition, Pacella had just injured her knee. Amazingly, the combination fought back and won the set 7-5 to clinch the team victory.

Pacella was shocked that they came back to win and could not find a logical explanation for it.

"I have no idea how we won that match," Pacella said. "After I hurt myself, I just con-centrated on getting my serves in and Natalie and I started playing smart. I think once we came back the other team got worried because they knew they had blown two match points."

Pacella also remarked that looking down the court and noticing that her teammates were losing inspired her to not give up.

"I knew Coach was counting on us winning and that the team needed it," Pacella commented. "That was in the back of my mind."

Notre Dame's victory was the second of the weekend. The Irish trounced Western Illinois 9-0 on Saturday. The Westerners only won fifteen games off the entire Irish squad.

"They definitely are not as strong as they used to be," commented Irish coach Michele Gelman. "Our girls played great, but WIU lost their best player and that has really hurt their line-up."

Gelman said that she was especially pleased that the Irish did not "play down" to the Westerners weaker level of play.

"We have a tendency to lower our intensity to accommodate the other team," Gelman explained. "I think we made tremendous strides by not doing that Saturday. We needed a good warm-up for Purdue."

The victory over Purdue was especially sweet since the Boilermakers are ranked ahead of the 94 Irish regionally.

"After losing some matches we dropped to seventh and Purdue is at five or six," Gelman said. "This win proves that we can play with the best in the region and be effective against our Big 10 competition."

Despite the success of the Irish, who have won five consecutive matches, 6-4, 1-4, 1-6, Gelman lauded the two for their outstanding singles play. Both girls had straight set victories.

"I especially have to give Kristy credit," Gelman praised. "She was down 1-4 in both sets and could not get into a rhythm against her opponent. Kristy could have easily given up. I was pleased to see her show that kind of fight."

Gelman also commended Kim Pacella who lost only one match in her two singles matches this weekend.

"Kim is on a hot streak, just playing great tennis," Gelman said.

Pacella commented that the team's trip to California over spring break helped her and the entire team gain experience.

"We got into a groove over break as we got used to winning," Pacella said. "We started to believe in ourselves. Personally, I had been frustrated in January and February, but I've started playing my game and hitting with confidence."

Both Gelman and Pacella hope that the weekend victory will help the Irish continue to improve as they look to face the toughest part of their schedule in the coming weeks.
NEW YORK TIMES CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1. Units of electricity
2. Apertures
3. Among
4. Lena is its capital
5. Not concealed
6. Prefix with physics or thesis
7. Dutch cheese
8. Subsequently
9. Again
10. I east tonight
12. Sushi
13. One who dissects
14. Waxcoat
15. Skirling or skirling
16. Tell
17. Assaults
18. Copper Turner
19. Break suddenly

DOWN
1. Minced
2. Modiste, comb form
3. Irish baby's carriage
4. Donna, singer from Boston
5. Breed of cattle
6. Egg shaped
7. Permit
8. Before, in poetry
9. Overseer
10. Amy, amas
11. Bit of fare
12. Article
13. Daybreak
14. Useful ador.
15. Finishes
16. High-hat
17. River in France
18. Scottish caps
19. Mango's locale
20. Scottish caps
21. Scottish caps
22. Scottish caps
23. Scottish caps
24. Scottish caps
25. Scottish caps
26. Scottish caps
27. Scottish caps
28. Scottish caps
29. Scottish caps
30. Scottish caps
31. Scottish caps
32. Scottish caps
33. Scottish caps
34. Scottish caps
35. Scottish caps
36. Scottish caps
37. Scottish caps
38. Scottish caps
39. Scottish caps
40. Scottish caps
41. Scottish caps
42. Scottish caps
43. Scottish caps
44. Scottish caps
45. Scottish caps
46. Scottish caps
47. Scottish caps
48. Scottish caps
49. Scottish caps
50. Scottish caps
51. Scottish caps
52. Scottish caps
53. Scottish caps
54. Scottish caps
55. Scottish caps
56. Scottish caps
57. Scottish caps
58. Scottish caps
59. Scottish caps
60. Scottish caps
61. Scottish caps
62. Scottish caps
63. Scottish caps
64. Scottish caps
65. Scottish caps
66. Scottish caps

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

ACROSS
1. Solarity
2. "The Seven Year Itch"
3. "The World View of the Nation-State"
4. "The Heterodoxy that Curdled"
5. "After All"
6. "The Humanities"
8. "Edward from "The Million Dollar Arm"
10. "The Far Side"

DOWN
1. "Andrew! So that's where you've been! And good heavens! ... There's my old hairbrush, too!"
2. "Dear Henry: Where were you? We waited and waited but finally decided that ..."
3. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
4. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
5. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
6. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
7. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
8. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
9. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
10. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
11. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
12. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
13. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
14. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
15. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
16. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
17. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
18. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
19. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
20. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
21. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
22. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
23. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
24. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
25. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
26. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
27. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
28. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
29. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
30. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
31. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
32. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
33. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
34. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
35. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
36. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
37. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
38. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
39. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
40. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
41. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
42. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
43. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
44. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
45. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
46. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
47. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
48. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
49. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
50. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
51. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
52. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
53. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
54. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
55. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
56. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
57. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
58. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
59. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
60. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
61. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
62. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
63. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
64. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
65. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
66. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
67. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
68. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
69. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
70. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
71. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
72. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
73. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
74. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
75. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
76. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
77. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
78. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
79. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
80. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
81. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
82. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
83. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
84. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
85. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
86. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
87. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
88. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
89. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
90. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
91. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
92. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
93. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
94. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
95. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
96. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
97. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
98. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
99. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"
100. "Bid me to "The Seven Year Itch"

DINNER MENUS
Notre Dame
- Ham & Turkey Sandwich
- Baked Sole
- Top Round of Beef
- Eggplant Parmesan
Hoyas control second half with 88 percent shooting

By THERESA KELLY
Sports Editor

PROVIDENCE, R.I. — The Notre Dame basketball team couldn’t win the war against top-seeded Georgetown Sunday, ending the “Battle to Seattle” with an 81-74 loss in the second round of the NCAA Tournament.

Charles Smith, the Hoyas’ senior guard, was unstoppable.

INSIDE

Irish down Vandy, page 13
Frederick stars, page 13
NCAA wrapup, page 12
Sutton resigns, page 9

scoring 34 points on 10-of-14 shooting from the floor and 1-of-12 from the free throw stripe. Alonzo Mourning scored 17 points and had four rebounds, while LaPhonso Ellis scored 18 points on 10-of-14 shooting from the free throw stripe.

"Alonzo Mourning scored 17 points and had four rebounds, while LaPhonso Ellis scored 18 points on 10-of-14 shooting from the free throw stripe."

AIMS looks impressive

By FRANK PASTOR
Assistant Sports Editor

Quarterback Tony Rice outplayed some of the finest signal-callers in the country last season in leading Notre Dame to its first national title in eleven years. There is another side to that story.

For it was the defensive secondary which was responsible for stopping Heisman candidates Rodney Peete and Major Harris. Those respective meetings with the Irish, as well as providing some of the most memorable moments of the season.

As Notre Dame moves into its second week of practice, the defensive secondary looks to have its biggest assets in the coming season. The Irish return three starters from last year’s squad and expect contributions from a number of recent converts from the offense.

The Irish are solid at the cornerback spots, returning two of the top corners in the country. Tim Lyght and Stan Smagala can go head-to-head with nearly any other cornerb back tandem in the nation.

Senior Pat Terrell also returns at safety and looks like a potential pro prospect. Only safeties George Streeter and Corry Southall are missing in the secondary, but fifth-year senior D’Juan Francisco should ease into the strong safety spot after spending the past few years at cornerb ack.

“The kids that played a lot of football for us last year obviously are the four that are playing,” said Irish secondary coach Chuck Heister. “Lightly, Francisco, Terrell and Smagala — all three of those guys came back over to the Fiesta Bowl last year. They’re doing things better this year with more confidence and more awareness certainly than a year ago, so there’s a carryover from last year.”

Heister admits the Irish will miss Streeter’s presence on the field. Streeter was a starter for three years in the Irish secondary.

“George had a great year for us,” said Heister. “When a guy has a great year for you, you want to make sure you have someone who can give you as good a performance.”

Unfortunately, Francisco’s departure from the corner position leaves an inexperienced, albeit talented pool of converted offensive players from which to construct a second team.

“Whatever we’re working about is depth,” said Heister. “I think we’ve got four regular players, and from there I think we’ve got to develop a good second line of players. We’ve got to have at least six players and we’d like to come out of spring football with eight or six. Our goal is to get those players who have played a lot for us a little bit better and then to make sure we develop some depth.”

Sophomore George Poor, before Mourning and Rod Smith, and junior Greg Davis are "George had a great year for us," said Heister. "When a guy has a great year for you, you want to make sure you have someone who can give you as good a performance."

Wrestlers turn heads in NCAA tournament

By GREG SCHEENBACH
Sports Writer

Many times in life, happy endings are possible. They may only come few and far between, but when they do come, we must cherish them.

That is exactly what the Notre Dame wrestling team is doing after their successful outing in the NCAA Tournament this weekend. The Irish finished 21st in the performances of Seniors Jerry Durso and Pat Boyd.

The 21st-place finish is the highest in the history of the program in the event over ten years for Notre Dame. Way back in the 1977-78 season, the Irish finished 11th when Bob Golfe won this place at the Heavyweight division. Last year, the Irish ended the season with a fifth-place finish in the NCAA’s.

"We really have to be pleased with what we accomplished this year," said coach Fran McCann. "We achieved all of the goals that we set for ourselves, and as a team, we went further than any other Notre Dame team has gone before."