By KELLEY TUTHILL
Senior Staff Reporter

A female student was assaulted between Grace and Pasquerilla East at 3 am Saturday. Security received a report from a Notre Dame student on Saturday afternoon who said she was assaulted, according to Phil Johnson, assistant director of Security.

The student reported that she had been assaulted as she walked between Grace Hall and Pasquerilla East. The student told Security that she was not injured, said Johnson.

The victim described her attacker as a black college age male, six feet, two inches tall with a solid build. She told Security that the man approached her and grabbed her wrist, said Johnson.

The victim and suspect struggled and during the struggle the suspect struck the victim. The student struck her attacker causing him to release her, according to Johnson.

The victim fled to her residence hall and was not pursued by the suspect.

Johnson sent a letter to all residence halls and Saint Mary’s Security on Saturday describing the incident.

“The incident is still under investigation and if anyone has any information related to the assault . . . even if it seems remote, please call Crime Stoppers,” said Johnson.

Soviets: No danger from submarine mishap

Associated Press

MOSCOW: The Soviet Union said Sunday that 42 sailors were killed when a nuclear-powered submarine caught fire and exploded in the Norwegian Sea, and it disclosed that two torpedoes on board were armed with nuclear warheads.

The official Tass news agency said the design of the warheads “completely rules out radiation threat during large-depth submergence. To ensure radiation safety, the nuclear-powered engine was stopped and the power unit was effectively blanked off.”

It said the submarine carried 69 men and that only 27 of them survived.

The vessel went down in international waters 120 miles southwest of Norway’s Bear Island and about 310 miles west of Tromsoe, on Norway’s northern coast.

Scientists were gathering deep-water samples Sunday, and they placed equipment near the sunken ship that would monitor radiation levels for years.

The Soviets officially informed Norway of the accident nearly nine hours after the vessel went down. The Norwegian news agency NTB claimed Norwegian rescue helicopters could have reached the ship several hours before Soviet fishing vessels if the Soviets had promptly asked for help.

Soviet officials were criticized for not providing assistance.

The Supreme Court will hear arguments April 26 in a Missouri case that pro-choice and anti-abortion forces agree could significantly alter the 1973 Roe v. Wade decision that gave women the right to an abortion.

“The incident is still under investigation and if anyone has any information related to the assault . . . even if it seems remote, please call Crime Stoppers,” said Johnson.

“We're scared,” said Ellen Davidson, a Yale University junior from Hewlett, N.Y., scared, she said, because “we're coming to the realization that the thing we've taken for granted can be taken away.”

President Bush and Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir look at rockets on display at the Smithsonian Air and Space Museum in Washington Thursday.

300,000 demonstrate for free choice on abortions

Associated Press

WASHINGTON—With cries of “choice” and symbolic coat hangers hung from their clothing, an estimated crowd of 300,000 abortion rights activists marched Sunday on the nation’s Capitol hoping to avert a return to the days of back-alley abortions.

“The message is: don’t let this right go,” actress Whoopie Goldberg told celebrities and members of Congress on Capitol Hill as the marchers gathered in a brisk wind in intermittent sunshine.

The women’s rights advocates and men, Democrats and Republicans, dozens of members of Congress and a host of celebrities — assembles on the Mall at the monument for the march to the Capitol.

Marchers traded taunts with about 200 to 300 anti-abortion protesters who stood along Constitution Avenue. Police,

Throw me a curve

Two students approach the curved reference desk in the Cushwa-Leighton Library on Saint Mary’s campus. Waiting is never much fun, especially in a library.

Throw me a curve

The Observer/Jennifer Sewall

Throw me a curve

Two students approach the curved reference desk in the Cushwa-Leighton Library on Saint Mary’s campus. Waiting is never much fun, especially in a library.

Special to the Observer

Hsueh-Chia Chang, professor of chemical engineering at the University of Notre Dame, and Daniel Costello, Jr., professor of electrical and computer engineering, will be the new chairmen of their departments, according to Timothy O’Meara, University provost.

Their appointments are effective July 1. The acting chairmen, James Kohn in chemical engineering and William Berry in electrical and computer engineering, will return to full-time teaching.

Chang, a specialist in the behavior of nonlinear systems when they become unstable, received his bachelor’s degree in chemical engineering from the California Institute of Technology and his doctorate from Princeton University. He was associate professor at the University of Houston for three years before coming to Notre Dame in 1987 as a full professor.

Chang also taught at the University of California, Santa Barbara, where he was awarded a Regent’s Junior Faculty Award. He received the Presidential Young Investigator Award from the National Science Foundation (NSF) in 1985 and delivered the University of Delaware’s Colburn Lecture in 1988.

In his research he has analyzed the free-surface wave formation that can

see CHAIRS / page 4

Engineering chairs go to Chang, Costello

see ACTIVISTS / page 4

see SUB / page 6

see ACTIVISTS / page 4
World Briefs

MEXICO: Mexican police have arrested one of the world's most wanted cocaine dealers who also has been accused of links to the killing of a U.S. drug agent, the federal attorney general's office said Monday. Miguel Angel Felix Gallardo, allegedly the godfather of Mexican drug trafficking, was arrested late Saturday in Guadalajara, the northern state of Jalisco, the prosecutor's office said in a statement. A statement said Felix Gallardo put up no resistance. U.S. officials investigating the killing of Drug Enforcement Administration agent Enrique Camarena Salazar in 1985 said Gal­ lardo was able to build up an immense drug operation with protec­ tion from high Mexican officials. DEA agents long had suspected Gallardo of involvement in the 1985 slaying of Salazar, but were unable to locate him.

The government in Bangladesh seized copies of the April 3 issue of Newsweek and banned its entry and publication in the country for publishing a visual image of the prophet Mohammed. In New York, Newsweek spokesman Peter Hultberg said no one from the magazine would be available for comment until Monday. In December, Bangladesh banned Salman Rushdie's novel "The Satanic Verses" for allegedly insulting Islam.

National Briefs

Several hundred anti-abortion activists prayed silently in a symbolic cemetery on the Washington Mall on Sunday as a decision in 1973.

Explosions ripped a 40-foot section from a motel in Billings, Mont., Sunday. Thirty-one people were injured, but no one was killed and only two people were hospitalized from the explosion which was apparently caused by natural gas. "We have witnesses a multiple police and Fire Department Capt. Marvin Jochems said after searchers accounted for the last occupant of the Super 8 Motel. "Everybody is accounted for," Jochems said. "We don't expect to find any fatalities in the rubble."

INDIANA BRIEFS

Senator Dan Coats has been selected to serve on the National Commission on Drug-Free Schools. Coats' selection to the 36­ member commission was announced Friday by Senate Minority Leader Robert Dole. The commission was established last year as part of the Anti-Drug Abuse Act of 1985 and is designed to coordinate community anti-drug efforts in the nation's schools. "When you see statistics that show the national average age for first-time drug abuse has dropped below 13, you begin to realize the tragic situation we face. We owe it to our children and our future that we do something about the war on drugs," Coats said.

The commission, which also includes William Bennett, the nation's drug policy coordinator, and Secretary of Education Lauro Carvazos, is scheduled to report its findings, recommen­ dations and proposals to President Bush and the Congress by November.

Weather

Arctic April

Partly cloudy today with occasional snow flurries. High in the middle 30s. Mostly clear and continued cold tonight. Low 25 to 20. In­ creasing clouds and warmer tomorrow with the high 40 to 45.

Almanac

On April 10:

[April 1948:] Walter Hunt of New York patented the safety pin.

[April 1945:] American soldiers liberated集中營 camp Buchenwald in what is now Germany.

[April 1953: The nuclear-powered submarine USS Thresher] failed to return to home port. 129 lives were lost.

[April 1974: Galápagos Island was declared a national monument.]

Ten years ago : 42 people were killed, more than 1,700 injured when a tornado struck Wichita, Kansas. Texas, destroying 3,000 homes and causing $600 million in damage.

MARKET UPDATE

Market Outlook

Closures for Friday, April 7, 1989

Dow Jones

Industrial Average

S&P 500

76.8 to 297.15

Currency exchange

Mark 2.036 to 1.8766 DM / $

Yen 1.14 to 132.70 / $

Precious Metals

Gold $570 to $5288.00 / oz

Silver 35 to $57.98 / oz

OF INTEREST

Applications for HPC Secretary and OC Chairman are due today in the Student Government Secretary's Office on the second floor of LaFortune Student Center.

Cholesterol screening is available for Saint Mary's students, faculty, and staff tomorrow, April 11, in the Health Center from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Sophomores interested in class government should apply for positions in next year's administration during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is published by students of the University of Notre Dame.

Summer service projects are still available for a few choice positions in this summer's eight week program in various cities across the U.S. For more information call the Center for Social Concerns at 239-7697.

Seniors: Les Miserables tickets for those who have not already been picked up will be available in the Senior Class Office today through Wednes­ yesday from 2 to 4 p.m.

Attention all clubs: The last day to spend allocated club money is Friday, April 21. There will be no exceptions. Questions should be directed to the Student Body Treasurer's Office, Room 315 LaFortune Student Center when students were checking out of Dante's Inferno. Hundreds of students are jammed up against the entrance.

"If my name's the first on the waiting list, does that mean I have a good chance of getting in the class?"

"Probably not, but you can put your name on the list anyway."

I'd really like to know who developed the checkmarking system, but I don't think anyone wants to come forward and claim responsibility. It's kind of like admitting that you're the person who invented the cheeseburger. However, I have a few solutions to the problem of checkmarking that are just as sensible and effective as the old adage.

The department of the Theology department should work out at 7 p.m. quoting the following local passage: "The first shall be last and the last shall be first." That way, everyone stuck at the end of the line will get their classes and there will be a tremendous waiting and gnashing of teeth at the front of the line.

Closings

Monday, April 10, 1989

Precious Metals

Yen $1.0036 to 1.8766 DM / $

T.0036 to 1.8766 DM / $

| 1+12.83 |

T.0036 to 1.8766 DM / $

$5,798 / oz.

| 14 to $5.798 / oz.

The Observer is a member of The Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.
South Africa agrees to safe passage for guerrillas

Associated Press

WINDHOEK. Namibia-South Africa agreed Sunday to allow black nationalist guerrillas safe passage from northern Namibia to Angola in an offer aimed at preserving plans for Namibia's independence. The proposal could bring to an end the fighting between South African-led security forces and guerrillas of the South-West Africa People's Organization. The violence has threatened to derail the U.N.-supervised plan for Namibian independence from South Africa. There was no immediate comment on the offer from the South-West Africa People's Organization, or SWAPO, which has been fighting for independence since 1966.

However, the withdrawal plan appeared similar to a proposal made earlier Sunday by guerrilla leader Sam Nujoma, who called on his fighters to stop firing, regroup and allow themselves to be escorted into Angola by U.N. personnel.

South African Foreign Minister P.K. Botha announced the plan following two days of talks between his government, Angola, Cuba, and U.S. and Soviet observers. The talks were held at Mount Etjo, a private safari lodge 120 miles north of Windhoek.

The withdrawal plan gives the guerrillas until April 12 to leave Namibia. Under the proposal, the SWAPO fighters would have two options:

They could assemble at one of 10 assembly points inside Namibia and relinquish their weapons to U.N. forces, which will then fly them to bases in Angola.

They could travel to one of eight assembly points on the Namibian-Angolan border. They would be allowed to keep their arms and the Angolan government would take responsibility for returning them to Angola.

U.N. and Namibian territorial personnel would be present at all 18 assembly points, according to the offer, which took effect immediately.

South Africa contends SWAPO has sent more than 1,000 guerrillas into northern Namibia from Angola since April 1 in violation of a regional peace accord that requires them to remain at bases at least 100 miles inside Namibia. SWAPO maintained that the guerrillas were inside Namibia prior to April and should be allowed to set up bases in the territory.

But Nujoma said he made the concession because he did not want to give South Africa an excuse to cancel Namibia's independence plans.

Some U.N. officials have suggested that SWAPO field commanders mistakenly thought their units could return to Namibia beginning April 1 and set up bases there. Several captured guerrillas have said they returned after leaving a search of U.N. personnel and expected no confrontations with the South Africans.

At least 260 SWAPO guerrillas and 28 members of the South African-led security forces were reported killed in the heaviest fighting of the territory's 23-year war, police said.

SWAPO officials inside Namibia have disputed the figures and say many civilians also have been killed.

In another development, Sunday's runoff elections in Namibia, in which no candidate won the required majority in the first election because of three-way splits, were won by the second-place candidate, who is now expected to form a coalition government with a third candidate. The result was not expected until at least Monday.

In one race, Stalin biographer Roy Medvedev faced Kasya Barysaz, head of an atomic research laboratory in Moscow. Virgulis Chepaitis, leader of the Lithuanian progressive political group Sajudis, ran against Ivan Tikhonovich, dean of the Vilnius Pedagogical Institute in the Lithuanian capital of Vilnius.

By JOHN O'BRIEN
Senior Staff Reporter

Apartheid Awareness Week to be held

AP Photo

WASHINGTON-The State Department's new Apartheid Awareness Week will be the main topics of discussion and debate as Apartheid Awareness Week is held this week.

The event is part of the Year of Cultural Diversity and is co-sponsored by the office of the Provost and the Student Union Board.

"It's basically an attempt to educate students on the issue of Apartheid and hopefully they will decide what course of action they deem appropriate," said John Paul Checkett, chairperson of the Anti-Apartheid Network on campus.

Checkett and other members of the Network have served as consultants for the week, which features activities from Monday through Friday.

The week's main event is a lecture by journalist and author Donald Woods on Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the Engineering Auditorium.

Woods is a former South African journalist who was banned from speaking publicly for publishing the details of the killing of ANC member Steve Biko. Woods' experiences were the basis for the movie "Cry Freedom," which will be shown on Wednesday in the Hesburgh Library Auditorium.

"Amnesty International was instrumental in bringing Ezra Sigwela in," said Bob Hawkins, chairman of the Issues and Ideas Committee of SIB. "A prisoner he was adopted by the Notre Dame chapter of Amnesty International and is now free."

A panel discussion on the issue of Divestment will be held Tuesday night at 7 p.m. David Lewis, head of the Low School, Professor Peter Walsh and Professor James Carberry will be members of the panel and former Student Body Vice President Mike Paese will moderate.

The week concludes with a concert and demonstration on the steps of the Administration Building from 6 to 8 p.m. Sponsored by the Anti-Apartheid Network, the concert will feature Alan Saye and the McNab, a campus social justice band.
Simplified nuclear fusion experiment is duplicated

Associated Press

HOUSTON—Texas A&M University researchers have duplicated a controversial University of Utah experiment that reportedly achieved nuclear fusion using a relatively simple process, a college spokesman said yesterday.

Officials at the school in College Station said they would hold a news conference Monday to announce that their researchers had achieved the same kind of cold fusion, one of the most sought-after scientific breakthroughs.

"Other labs around the country have tried to duplicate this, but nobody else has been able to get a satisfactory result," said Ed Walraven, a spokesman for Texas A&M.

Our people are convinced that they've got it, so as a gesture to the researchers in Utah we wanted to announce it as soon as possible.

Scientists have long sought the secrets of nuclear fusion, considered a possible replacement for conventional energy sources because it would be clean, inexpen­sive and virtually inexhaustible.

Researchers in Utah announced March 10 that they had achieved nuclear fusion at room temperature. Their claim has been met with widespread skepticism among colleagues.

Other labs have complained that they tried to duplicate the experiment of Stanley Pons of the University of Utah and his British colleague, Martin Fleischmann, at the University of South­hampton, but with out success.

"CVS made the difference between having a family and not having a family for my husband and I," she said.

Chorionic villus sampling was developed to help the general health of a fetus as early as eight weeks after conception. This is seven to 10 weeks earlier than possible with amniocentesis, a prenatal testing method in use for about 20 years.

Those extra weeks are critical for women who are most at risk for having children with birth defects, and hence, are more likely to stop a pregnancy with abortion. In both CVS and amniocentesis, the gender and genetic health of a fetus are deter mined through laboratory analysis of cells taken from the mother. But the cells used for CVS develop much earlier than those for amniocentesis.

CVS uses cells taken from the lining of the womb, rather than from the placenta. The chorion is covered with small projections, called the villi. These cells genetically identical with the fetus. By gently squeezing samples of these villi, a doctor is harvesting the blueprint of the unborn child without actu ally touching the fetus.

Ultrasonography, a way of viewing the fetus in the womb, makes CVS possible. It uses high frequency sound waves to make a computer-enhanced image of the fetus and its location in the uterus. The machine also guides the doctor to the chorion.

"Gradually we're believing it's possible" that the right thing could be taken away, said Yale junior, Bryony Romer.

Chairs continued from page 1

flaw the process of coating photographic film or coating electrical wires with plastic. It can also increase the cost of pumping oil out of the ground because it creates resistance.

In addition, he has studied ways to control the chaotic fluctuations that can occur in catalytic converters and other chemical reactors.

Chang's work is theoretical and basic. He solves the mathematical equations that explain a particular phenomenon and leaves it to experiment alists to apply his solutions to many different processes. He has more than 50 refereed publications in these areas, and his primary research support has been from NSF and the American Chemical Society.

Costello, who came to Notre Dame in 1986 as a full profes sor, helped design the communica tion system for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's (NASA) Tracking and Data Relay Satellite System that relays weather information from other satellites to earth. He also contributed to the design of the codes used by NASA for its Pioneer space series, including the Pioneer 10 Jupiter fly-by mission, the Pioneer 11 Saturn fly-by mission, and the Pioneer 12 Venus orbiter.

His current research support from NASA includes work on a coding standard that would be used to transmit messages in any of the space agency's future missions. In addition to the support his research receives from NASA, Costello also has received funding from NSF and the Office of Naval Research.

He has more than 50 refereed publications in his field and is coauthor of a textbook, Error Control Coding: Fundamentals and Applications, published by Prentice-Hall in 1983.

Costello was elected fellow of the Institute for Electrical and Electronics Engineers (IEEE) in 1986, served as president of the IEEE Information Theory Society Board of Governors in 1986, and cochaired the IEEE International Symposium on Information Theory held in 1988 in Kobe, Japan.

He has served as profes sor, consultant, and Western Electric, Illinois Institute of Technology, and Professor of the University of Arizona, and is currently the Director of the Center for Communication Studies.

Activists continued from page 1

Activists continued from page 1

some on horseback, kept the opposing forces apart.

``Rally in Washington. The number of Sunday's demonstrators wore white, the color of the suffragettes who fought for women's right to vote. Some brought their young children. They carried signs saying: "Motherhood Should Always Be a Choice," "Roe Roe or Sark," and "Going Public for Privacy."

Wire coat hangers were hung from clothing racks of many marchers, who carried signs saying, "Never Again." It was a reference to the deaths of deadly self-abortion technique used by women in the United States before the procedure was legalized.

"The majority of Americans do not want to see the clock turned back," said Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif.

Goldberg said: "Abortion is a negative experience. ... It's not something you want to just go through, but if you need one, you should have one that's safe. I don't want anyone to end up on the bathroom floor with a coat hanger." Actor Leonard Nimoy, wearing a pin on his white sweatsuit saying "Honorary Sister," said: "Nobody likes the idea of an abortion. But if it has to happen, there should be freedom of choice.

Students can't afford bus loads from campuses across the country. Though most are too young to remember the days before legalized abortion in 1973, students said they recognize the threat now posed by a major challenge to that ruling.

"Gradually we're believing it's possible" that the right thing could be taken away, said Yale junior, Bryony Romer.

Note

The Observer

Monday, April 10, 1989

EUROPE! THIS SUMMER

Your Europe Travel Center
Lowest airfares to Europe
Eurolink passes, rail information
VISA assistance
Assistance with tours, Individual itineraries, hotels, student travel

For Your Summer Trip to Europe CALL:
Seven Seas Travel
525 North Michigan Street
South Bend, IN 46601
232-7995

Chairs continued from page 1

Europe! This Summer

Your Europe Travel Center
Lowest airfares to Europe
Eurolink passes, rail information
VISA assistance
Assistance with tours, Individual itineraries, hotels, student travel

For Your Summer Trip to Europe CALL:
Seven Seas Travel
525 North Michigan Street
South Bend, IN 46601
232-7995

Chairs continued from page 1

Note

The Observer

Monday, April 10, 1989

EUROPE! THIS SUMMER

Your Europe Travel Center
Lowest airfares to Europe
Eurolink passes, rail information
VISA assistance
Assistance with tours, Individual itineraries, hotels, student travel

For Your Summer Trip to Europe CALL:
Seven Seas Travel
525 North Michigan Street
South Bend, IN 46601
232-7995

Note

The Observer

Monday, April 10, 1989

EUROPE! THIS SUMMER

Your Europe Travel Center
Lowest airfares to Europe
Eurolink passes, rail information
VISA assistance
Assistance with tours, Individual itineraries, hotels, student travel

For Your Summer Trip to Europe CALL:
Seven Seas Travel
525 North Michigan Street
South Bend, IN 46601
232-7995
Alaskan oil spill battle continues

Associated Press

VALDEZ, Alaska - Military jets flew skimmers, boom, and beach landing craft into Alaska on Sunday, and commanders issued a Pacific-wide call for more equipment to fight the nation's worst oil spill.

Kodiak, the nation's richest fishing port, prepared for the onslaught of oil by putting out log booms, but the Coast Guard said the leading edge of the spill, 60 miles away, retreated a bit and began breaking up into tar balls and sinking.

"That's good news," said Bill Lamoreaux, the state's scene coordinator.

The tanker Exxon Valdez ran aground on a reef near here March 24, spilling 10.1 million gallons of crude into pristine Prince William Sound. The oil has spread into the Gulf of Alaska and fouled some of the many islands in the region.

On Friday, President Bush said he would send the military to help with the cleanup. Exxon Corp., which has been accused of moving too slowly to contain the spill, will continue to provide materials, manpower and money.

Also Sunday:

- A 40-foot gray whale was found dead in an oil fouled area. Wildlife experts said they hadn't determined whether it was the first whale to succumb to the spill that has already killed thousands of other animals.

- Exxon said it was beginning to reimburse fishermen for losses from the cancellation of the herring season and had paid $250,000 to cover expenses for fishing boats attacking the spill on their own.

- The Coast Guard's Pacific commander, Vice Adm. Clyde Robbins, was joining the military effort. Other experts dispatched by the Pentagon surveyed the cleanup, and with the help of the military, cleanup gear poured into Valdez.

- "CS-A after CS-A is bringing in equipment," including skimmers, more booms and beach landing craft to move people to the oily shoreline, Meidt said.

- The Navy sent barges outfitted as hotels so that when coastline cleanup gets under way, workers will be housed near where they are working.

- The forecast called for continued northeast winds, which will keep the oil moving toward Kodiak, 300 miles from the accident site. Kodiak last year produced a fish catch worth $166 million.

- But Meidt said, "When the helicopters go up, they're seeing streamers a couple of miles long and slicks that are breaking up at the edges."

Tour de Dance held at SMC

By DANNIKA SIMPSON

News Staff

The Saint Mary's College Repertory Performance Dance Workshop presented Tour de Dance over the weekend, an event which consisted of eleven individual dance numbers performed by Saint Mary's and Notre Dame students.

The dance styles varied from ballet, to jazz, to modern dance. Dances were performed to music from a wide variety of artists, including Tina Turner, and Emmy Lou Harris.

Although the company has performed only at Saint Mary's in the past, they have "high hopes" of performing at other locations, said Dieckgrafe. Dieckgrafe also said that students are required to audition and must be enrolled in a technique class in order to perform with the company.

FRESHMAN PRE-ADVANCE REGISTRATION PROGRAMS

Pre-advance registration programs will be conducted for freshmen in all college program areas on Tuesday, April 11, 1989. At each program complete information will be given on the advance registration procedures and on the sophomore year and its relationship to the degree program.

The meeting places for the programs, according to college program area, are as follows:

Arts and Letters College Programs

(All programs except Physics to start at 6:30 p.m.)

Business Administration College Program

Engineering College Program

(All programs to start at 6:30 P.M.)

Science College Programs

(All programs except Physics to start at 6:30 P.M.)

Financial Aid Information

FRESHMEN ARE REQUIRED TO ATTEND THE PROGRAM OF THE COLLEGE OR DEPARTMENT THEY INTEND TO ENTER IN THE SOPHOMORE YEAR.
Veterinarian employs herbs, accupuncture to cure furry friends

Associated Press

TAKOMA Park, Md. - Take away Fido's bowl of gravy, laden goodies and treat him instead to a dollop of yogurt or some steamed broccoli. And if Tabby is bothered by fleas, try using a collar soaked in eucalyptus oil or sprinkling with a catnip-soaked sock on her supper.

This prescription for happy, healthy pets is written by Dr. Monique Maniet, an auburn-haired, Belgian-born veterinarian who practices holistic medicine for ailing dogs and cats.

She uses vaccines and antibiotics, if necessary, but prefers natural foods, soothing herbs, Chinese acupuncture, chiropractic massages and plenty of tender, loving care to help her furry patients heal themselves.

Dr. Maniet says she gets "astonishing results" from acupuncture, especially among dogs plagued by arthritis or itching skin. The needles, however, are likely to provoke a yawning, fur-flying complaint from feline pets.

If Fido is suffering from swollen joints, she might inject some honeybee venom. If he's uptight about missing his usual breakfast of red meat, she might calm him with a herbal tranquilizer of black cohosh and passion flowers.

"Research has shown that our pets can benefit from the same holistic care that we are learning to give to ourselves," Dr. Maniet says, speaking in a soft French accent.

"Most of us have just begun to examine the way we live, as sensing our food choices, sleeping habits, exercise routines and emotional support," she said. "Animals have many of the same needs."

Dr. Maniet came to the United States in 1977 with her New American husband, a fellow veterinarian in Brussells.

In Moscow, the Soviet military newspaper Red Star reported Sunday that the submarine was on its way home when a fire broke out in a compartment.

"The crew bravely fought the fire and tried to save the ship," the newspaper report said, citing an interview with Capt. P. Ishchenko of the Northern Fleet. "The fight for life continued for more than five hours, but with no results."

The Norwegians said an explosion occurred on the ship after the fire spread and that the vessel then sank 4,500 feet.

"We believe that when a submarine is sunk (at that depth) water, it will go to pieces because of the pressure," Senstad told reporters.

Johan Baarf, head of the radiation protection institute, said tests on the surface water showed a gamma radiation level at a natural level.

"We found no trace of radiation which could have any association with the submarine," he said.

---

Serial murders continue in Mass.

Associated Press

NEW Bedford, Mass. - The bodies of eight young women have turned up in recent months along wooded highways near this port city. And David Amara's sister is missing.

Family members and investigators fear that she and another missing woman are the ninth and 10th victims of an apparent serial killer.

"She had her problems, but she wouldn't just walk off," Amaral said of his 25-year-old sister, Sandra Botelho. "I'm not sure she's dead. And every time they find a body, it starts all over again."

The most recent body was found March 31 and identified last week as that of Mary Rose Santos, 26.

Botelho, the mother of two young children, has been missing since August. Like the eight women whose remains have been found within a few miles of each other since the summer, she was a drug user who spent time in the city's less savory quarters.

The district attorney says evidence indicates the slayings are the work of the same person or persons, but he has declined to reveal further details.

Until recently the investigation seemed at a standstill, but state police yesterday alerted officials to the killer's eighth victim. Last week, after Ms. Santos' body was found, the tipster responded to a plea to contact police again, but officers wouldn't say what information he or she provided.

New Bedford police heard from a string of families with missing wives or daughters from May to September 1988, and the first body was found in July. But it was not until the first victim was identified in December as a New Bedford woman that the investigation really kicked into gear.

Police defended the delay in beginning the investigation in earnest.

---

Brush fires ravage farmland in Florida

Associated Press

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. - Gov. Bob Martinez called out two helicopter crews from the Florida National Guard on Sunday to help fight wildfires covering about 30,000 acres of rural land in four counties.

The fires were burning in mostly unpopulated areas and weren't expected to force any immediate evacuations, said Rod Westall, chief of the state Bureau of Emergency Planning.

Winds of 5 to 15 mph were expected to continue efforts to control the blazes in both northern Florida and Dade County, while drought conditions statewide had disaster officials watching for further outbreaks.

"That's pretty brisk and that's been causing problems with all the fires," Westall said of the wind.

Martinez signed an executive order allowing the guard to provide equipment and personnel, if needed, to the Division of Forestry.

"The worst mistake we could make would be to wait too long and let these fires get out of control," said Martinez. "The affected areas so far are relatively rural, but we must act quickly to make sure these fires do not threaten large residential areas."

As of Sunday, state forestry officials reported that 3,000 acres in Lafayette and Taylor counties in the northern part of the state; and about 7,000 acres in Dade County in the south-central part of the state.
South Bend man guilty of murder

Associated Press

SOUTH Bend: A South Bend man convicted of assisting in the murder of a school principal is scheduled to be sentenced May 4.

A St. Joseph Superior Court jury deliberated about two hours Friday before finding Howell Atkins guilty in the July 29 death of Raymond Hinsey.

The jury also found that Atkins is a habitual criminal of fender with three unrelated felony convictions.

Atkins made no comment and showed no emotion when the verdicts were read.

The habitual offender conviction means that Judge Sanford Briggs killed Hinsey, 36. The Greene School principal was stabbed to death in his garage.

Briggs refused to testify for the state at Atkins’ trial. He was found in contempt of court and sentenced to an additional 90 days in jail by Brook.

Atkins maintained he had nothing to do with Hinsey’s slaying, but he did not testify.

The state contended Atkins disposed of bloody clothes and a knife for Briggs and assisted Briggs in washing the 1987 Pontiac Fiero that Briggs took from Hinsey’s garage.

True Grit

Sarah Morehouse, a Poughkeepsie, N.Y., fourth grader, grits her teeth as she ponders how to spell “massacre” during a spelling bee contest.

Israeli soldiers kill 12 and 60-year-old Palestinians

Associated Press

JERUSALEM: Soldiers fatally shot two Palestinians during clashes in the occupied territories Sunday, including a 13-year-old boy and a 60-year-old man who attacked a soldier with a pitchfork.

Also Sunday, Finance Minister Shimon Peres said Israel was negotiating indirectly with the PLO through U.S. mediators, despite Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir’s opposition to dealing with the organization.

Arab reports said 11 Palestinians were wounded in violence that came on the second day of a general strike in the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip. The strike was called to mark the 17th month of the uprising, which has killed 422 Palestinians and 18 Israelis.

Peres, head of the left-leaning Labor Party, made his comments about the PLO as he spoke on Israel radio about Shamir’s plan for elections in the occupied lands.

He said Israeli had in effect conceded its longstanding refusal to talk to the Palestine Liberation Organization by having the Americans mediate on the election question.

“The United States is at this moment a mediator between us and the Palestinians, including the PLO, even though this isn’t to our liking,” he said.

Peres also said he accepted Shamir’s election idea but anticipated difficulties because Shamir, of the right-wing Likud bloc, refused the Palestinian demand for international supervision of the balloting.

Shamir’s plan calls for Palestinians in the occupied lands to select representatives to negotiate an independent solution for the disputed territories.

In West Bank city of Hebron, a curfew was imposed after troops shot to death a 60-year-old laborer. The army said the man attacked soldiers with a pitchfork.

Arab reports said the man, Mahmoud Sneineh, attacked after a soldier struck a woman who was trying to block Sneineh’s arrest.

British journalistic tradition fades as final Fleet Street edition is published

Associated Press

LONDON: The last national newspaper on Fleet Street, once London’s rumbustious newspaper row, made its final press run there Sunday as British journalism traded the typewriters’ clatter for the quiet of high technology.

Behind the gleaming, black glass facade of the art deco Express building, reporters, editors and technicians crated the contents of desks, packed up their memories, and sent off the final Fleet Street edition of the Sunday Express before moving to new headquarters.

When the last bundle of papers was tied up and dispatched around the country, all was silent where for decades typewriters clacked, linotype machines rattled, and presses hummed.

Express Newspapers group is moving only a few hundred yards across the River Thames. In a new, smarter solution with computers and other modern newspaper technology.

But the site is a million spiritual miles from the noisy exuberance of Fleet Street 89 years ago, when the Daily Express was the new kid on the block. The Sunday Express was founded by Lord Beaverbrook in 1918, and its celebrated building went up in 1931.

The British are avid newspaper readers. For nearly 300 years, the country’s national papers were all published on or near Fleet Street. The short, crowded street and adjoining warren of alleys and hidden courtyards were abuzz around the clock with journalists rushing to meet deadlines.

The national newspapers have moved away one by one to computerized facilties since publisher Rupert Murdoch began the exodus in 1986. That year, his four newspapers, the Times, The Sunday Times, The Sun and The News of The World moved to the developing Docklands, breaking the hold of unions fighting high-technology encroachments on their jobs.

The Reuters and Press Association news agencies will remain at their Fleet Street headquarters.

SOUTH Bend: A South Bend man convicted of assisting in the murder of a school principal is scheduled to be sentenced May 4.

A St. Joseph Superior Court jury deliberated about two hours Friday before finding Howell Atkins guilty in the July 29 death of Raymond Hinsey.

The jury also found that Atkins is a habitual criminal of tendor with three unrelated felony convictions.

Atkins made no comment and showed no emotion when the verdicts were read.

The habitual offender conviction means that Judge Sanford Briggs killed Hinsey, 36. The Greene School principal was stabbed to death in his garage.

Briggs refused to testify for the state at Atkins’ trial. He was found in contempt of court and sentenced to an additional 90 days in jail by Brook.

Atkins maintained he had nothing to do with Hinsey’s slaying, but he did not testify.

The state contended Atkins disposed of bloody clothes and a knife for Briggs and assisted Briggs in washing the 1987 Pontiac Fiero that Briggs took from Hinsey’s garage.

True Grit

Sarah Morehouse, a Poughkeepsie, N.Y., fourth grader, grits her teeth as she ponders how to spell “massacre” during a spelling bee contest.

Israeli soldiers kill 12 and 60-year-old Palestinians

JERUSALEM: Soldiers fatally shot two Palestinians during clashes in the occupied territories Sunday, including a 13-year-old boy and a 60-year-old man who attacked a soldier with a pitchfork.

Also Sunday, Finance Minister Shimon Peres said Israel was negotiating indirectly with the PLO through U.S. mediators, despite Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir’s opposition to dealing with the organization.

Arab reports said 11 Palestinians were wounded in violence that came on the second day of a general strike in the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip. The strike was called to mark the 17th month of the uprising, which has killed 422 Palestinians and 18 Israelis.

Peres, head of the left-leaning Labor Party, made his comments about the PLO as he spoke on Israel radio about Shamir’s plan for elections in the occupied lands.

He said Israeli had in effect conceded its longstanding refusal to talk to the Palestine Liberation Organization by having the Americans mediate on the election question.

“The United States is at this moment a mediator between us and the Palestinians, including the PLO, even though this isn’t to our liking,” he said.

Peres also said he accepted Shamir’s election idea but anticipated difficulties because Shamir, of the right-wing Likud bloc, refused the Palestinian demand for international supervision of the balloting.

Shamir’s plan calls for Palestinians in the occupied lands to select representatives to negotiate an independent solution for the disputed territories.

In West Bank city of Hebron, a curfew was imposed after troops shot to death a 60-year-old laborer. The army said the man attacked soldiers with a pitchfork.

Arab reports said the man, Mahmoud Sneineh, attacked after a soldier struck a woman who was trying to block Sneineh’s arrest.

British journalistic tradition fades as final Fleet Street edition is published

LONDON: The last national newspaper on Fleet Street, once London’s rumbustious newspaper row, made its final press run there Sunday as British journalism traded the typewriters’ clatter for the quiet of high technology.

Behind the gleaming, black glass facade of the art deco Express building, reporters, editors and technicians crated the contents of desks, packed up their memories, and sent off the final Fleet Street edition of the Sunday Express before moving to new headquarters.

When the last bundle of papers was tied up and dispatched around the country, all was silent where for decades typewriters clacked, linotype machines rattled, and presses hummed.

Express Newspapers group is moving only a few hundred yards across the River Thames. In a new, smarter solution with computers and other modern newspaper technology.

But the site is a million spiritual miles from the noisy exuberance of Fleet Street 89 years ago, when the Daily Express was the new kid on the block. The Sunday Express was founded by Lord Beaverbrook in 1918, and its celebrated building went up in 1931.

The British are avid newspaper readers. For nearly 300 years, the country’s national papers were all published on or near Fleet Street. The short, crowded street and adjoining warren of alleys and hidden courtyards were abuzz around the clock with journalists rushing to meet deadlines.

The national newspapers have moved away one by one to computerized facilties since publisher Rupert Murdoch began the exodus in 1986. That year, his four newspapers, the Times, The Sunday Times, The Sun and The News of The World moved to the developing Docklands, breaking the hold of unions fighting high-technology encroachments on their jobs.

The Reuters and Press Association news agencies will remain at their Fleet Street headquarters.

Committee Chairpersons 1989-90

The Graduate Student Union is interested in dynamic graduate students to chair various GSU Standing Committees for the 1989-90 academic year.

Positions available are:

- PARLIAMENTARIAN
- ORIENTATION COMMITTEE
- TRAVEL GRANT COMMITTEE
- INTERNATIONAL GRADUATE STUDENT COMMITTEE
- WOMEN’S RESOURCES COMMITTEE
- INTELLECTUAL LIFE COMMITTEE, and MINORITY ISSUES COMMITTEE.

Applications and job descriptions are available from the GSU office, Room 307, LaFortune Student Center.

DEADLINE is APRIL 14th, 1989.
EDITORIAL

Polish reforms: a good start

The agreement between the Solidarity trade union and Polish government officials to allow competitive elections and restore the legality of the banned workers' union, is a great step in that country's history. The accord re-establishes the Polish Senate, abolished in 1946, and sets up free, competitive elections for the lower house, the Sejm. The Communists will be guaranteed a 65 percent majority in the Sejm, Poland's lower house.

Such a move is surprising after years of martial law, but the power of the Polish Workers' Union to shut down the Polish economy was enough for the ruling Communist Party to concede to the union's demands.

The establishment of free elections, however, went beyond the mere legitimization of Solidarity and set an historic precedent for Iron Curtain countries. The agreement, if it can be fully realized, will give the Polish people a political freedom never before seen in an East bloc nation.

The guaranteed 65 percent majority for Communists in the Sejm will expire after the first election in June, according to the agreement. The next election, in 1989, is to be completely free and competitive. If the Soviet elections are any indication, the Polish people will use their voice at the ballot box, and in four years the Communist Party may no longer hold a Parliamentary majority.

Many Communist hard-liners are adamantly against the reforms, however, and some radical members of Lech Walesa's own union are accusing him of betraying their cause by accepting compromise. Yet in the era of perestroika and glasnost, the reforms may be the basis for lasting change.

Though these reforms are a long overdue starting point, they are only a first step on the road to democracy and freedom. Poland must remain open to dialogue to improve relations within its borders and beyond. The United States, which has promised a return of economic aid if Solidarity is legalized, should make good on its offer and can help ensure that the historic accord has a chance for success.

---

LETTERS

University isolates its community from AIDS

Dear Editor:

I was pleased to see that The Observer decided to print the "Donnesbury" comic strip, despite its offensiveness to the editors. I personally found nothing offensive in the strip. Rather, I found it to be blunt and upsetting, much like the actual AIDS epidemic.

However, I think this Donnesbury controversy necessarily leads to a discussion of a broader problem—that of Notre Dame's apparent unwillingness to educate the students and faculty concerning AIDS and other sexual issues.

While other leading universities talk openly about AIDS and distribute information concerning it and other sexual issues, our University remains dormant. AIDS is not an issue that the University can continue to ignore. Odds are, sooner or later a member of the Notre Dame "family" will contract the AIDS virus. Will it be then that the University makes an effort to educate the students and faculty concerning AIDS, or must we continue to gather information from word of mouth and comic strips?

Students at Notre Dame do engage in sexual intercourse (seven Catholic students!), despite what the administration and alumni would like to think. Until AIDS and other sexual issues are discussed in an educational, open atmosphere, the University should be placed on academic probation. Clearly they are not making the grade in "preparing us for the real world" when they ignore an issue as widespread and deadly as AIDS.

Although the causes of AIDS and related issues may not be consistent with the Catholic nature of this school, the University has an obligation, as an institution of higher learning, to educate us concerning these issues. The administration may consider this their pink slip. Hopefully, Notre Dame will improve and make the grade, for our sake.

Daniel J. Fashby Carroll Hall April 5, 1989

---

Bianco murder involves brutality, not insanity

Dear Editor:

If Alan Matheney is acquitted of beating his ex-wife, Lisa Bianco, to death on the grounds that he is insane, the decision will be more than a major setback to the crusade for tougher (and better enforced) domestic violence laws. It will be a travesty of justice and a gross abuse of a law intended to protect those who cannot be held responsible for their actions.

Societies have long recognized that some people cannot be held accountable for their actions. Defense for the insane is used by most states, as well as the M'Naghten test, which was written into law in England in 1843. This law acquitted those who, because of mental disease, could not understand the nature of their crimes, or even that the acts were wrong.

Currently, the Brawner rule is used by most states, as well as the Court of Appeals. This rule protects those who, because of mental defect or illness, are unable to appreciate the wrongfulness of their conduct, or to make their conduct conform to legal standards.

Despite the usefulness of such rules, there is still a good deal of room for abuse at the insanity defense. Most often, the defense is abused in cases of shocking, heinous crimes, such as the Bianco murder. Psychiatrist Thomas Szasz said of such incidents, "We do not want to understand the thing; it is horrible, it's crazy."

Defendants are able to take advantage of the people's disgust and unwillfulness to accept the sanity of a person who seems like such a monster. In such instances, the insanity defense is used to circumvent justice, not enforce it.

While I am not a forensic psychiatrist, I can say that there are many adjectives to describe domestic violence, but insane is not one of them. The murder of Lisa Bianco was a premeditated act of brutality. It is normal and acceptable to be disgusted by such violent, sickening crimes. What is not acceptable is to automatically dismiss the crime and the criminal as insane.

Amy Eckert Lewis Hall April 4, 1989

---

QUOTE OF THE DAY

"Hope, like love, transcends all time; it is a friend, a healer, a maker of dreams."

— Flavia Weedn

---

DOONESBURY

"IT'S ALL IN HIS NEW CONTRACT."
Reflections on a Mexican rock concert at Rockotitlan

Mexico City, with a population of about twenty million, has to be one of the biggest cultural crossroads in the world. Besides boasting a wealth of domestic talent and tradition, the Distrito Federal attracts top-notch artists from the international scene. I myself am witness to many examples of Mexico City's cultural imports.

I was a little apprehensive when my friend Martha offered to take me to a rock concert, because I had never been to one before. How does one dress for a concert here in Mexico? I decided to dress as not to draw any attention to myself, opting for a beige sweater, faded Levis, and moccasins. We arrived quickly.

One guest at Armstrong's hotel says, "Ten men on the field, eh? That was a costly mistake. Cost me 900 bucks." Later, Coach bumps into another guest who exclaims, "Oh, Coach. Nice game. Hey, have you got 11 singles for a 10?" As a punishment, Coach leaves the team in the locker room overnight to count to 11 out loud. Luther and Dawber misunderstand Coach's orders and spend the night counting with the team.

This crazy humor scores time and time again with the audience; however, the time in between these moments seems to drag. The regular humor between Coach and the others seems flat and fumbling compared to the zany comedy of which the show is obviously capable.

Coach explains the loss of the game to his daughter: "This is going to happen when you're working with 60 young men who are inexperienced, immature...and brain dead." One time when Coach is cooking dinner for her very slowly, she says, "I've got finals coming up, Dad...in four months."

In addition to this not up-to-par comedy, the show has another weak point: Kelly. She is annoying and unnecessary. The show does not need her aspect of the show's premise.

Coach could be a single man with no children and no marital past, and the show would lose nothing. In fact, viewers may appreciate the absence of Kelly constantly whining the words, "Oh, Daddy."

The chemistry between Coach and Armstrong is wonderful. The show could survive on their bickering alone. They are two characters who care deeply for one another but allow their trivial opinions to create some complications (and funny humor). This bickering combined with the naiveté of Luther and Dawber is delightful and fulfilling.

"Coach" is a show with tremendous potential. The writers are headed for a touchdown with all the characters except Kelly. She must develop and mature, or move away and off the show. (Perhaps an episode dealing with her death would be in order.)

One producers cure the Kelly problem and fine tune the comedy, "Coach" will be the hilarious, intelligent mastermind behind ABC's Wednesday night team.

Joe Bucolo

The show's premise, a middle-aged athletic coach in "Coach," a new half-hour comedy series making its debut on ABC.

Craig T. Nelson (center) stars as a college athletic coach in "Coach," a new half-hour comedy series making its debut on ABC.

One guest at Armstrong's hotel says, "Ten men on the field, eh? That was a costly mistake. Cost me 900 bucks." Later, Coach bumps into another guest who exclaims, "Oh, Coach. Nice game. Hey, have you got 11 singles for a 10?" As a punishment, Coach leaves the team in the locker room overnight to count to 11 out loud. Luther and Dawber misunderstand Coach's orders and spend the night counting with the team.

This crazy humor scores time and time again with the audience; however, the time in between these moments seems to drag. The regular humor between Coach and the others seems flat and fumbling compared to the zany comedy of which the show is obviously capable.

Coach explains the loss of the game to his daughter: "This is going to happen when you're working with 60 young men who are inexperienced, immature...and brain dead." One time when Coach is cooking dinner for her very slowly, she says, "I've got finals coming up, Dad...in four months."

In addition to this not up-to-par comedy, the show has another weak point: Kelly. She is annoying and unnecessary. The show does not need her aspect of the show's premise.

Coach could be a single man with no children and no marital past, and the show would lose nothing. In fact, viewers may appreciate the absence of Kelly constantly whining the words, "Oh, Daddy."

The chemistry between Coach and Armstrong is wonderful. The show could survive on their bickering alone. They are two characters who care deeply for one another but allow their trivial opinions to create some complications (and funny humor). This bickering combined with the naiveté of Luther and Dawber is delightful and fulfilling.

"Coach" is a show with tremendous potential. The writers are headed for a touchdown with all the characters except Kelly. She must develop and mature, or move away and off the show. (Perhaps an episode dealing with her death would be in order.)

One producers cure the Kelly problem and fine tune the comedy, "Coach" will be the hilarious, intelligent mastermind behind ABC's Wednesday night team.

Joe Bucolo

ABC's 'Coach' has yet to reach its potential

Reflections on a Mexican rock concert at Rockotitlan

Overseas Column:

Melissa Simmemeyer and leather, sitting at low tables, smoking cigarettes and drinking. Because I felt like Mary Poppins at a Hell's Angels' rally, I was particularly grateful that the band actually dance but everyone could locate my lungs and vibration.

I noticed that the clientele of Rockotitlan was too cool to thought it was also nice that I could move away and off the show. Perhaps an episode dealing with her death would be in order... Once producers cure the Kelly problem and fine tune the comedy, "Coach" will be the hilarious, intelligent mastermind behind ABC's Wednesday night team.

Joe Bucolo

ABC airs "Coach" on Wednesdays at 8 p.m. The show stars Craig T. Nelson as Hayden "Coach" Fox, a single parent and head coach of the Minnesota State football team. Other regulars include Christine Armstrong (Shelley Fabares), Coach's love interest, Kelly (Clare Carey), Coach's daughter, and Luther (Jerry Van Dyke) and Dawber (Bill Fagerbakke), Coach's assistants.

The show's premise, a middle-aged single parent coping with raising a daughter, having a relationship with Armstrong, and coaching his team, is an interesting one. It provides plenty of opportunity for new platelines and shows great potential.

"Coach" makes an attempt to capture the zany, witty humor that has made "Night Court" and "Cheers" so popular. In one episode, the team loses a game because only ten players were present on the field. Throughout that episode, Coach, who is trying to forget the loss, bumps into sarcastic extra characters

Joe Bucolo

The show's premise, a middle-aged athletic coach in "Coach," a new half-hour comedy series making its debut on ABC.

One guest at Armstrong's hotel says, "Ten men on the field, eh? That was a costly mistake. Cost me 900 bucks." Later, Coach bumps into another guest who exclaims, "Oh, Coach. Nice game. Hey, have you got 11 singles for a 10?" As a punishment, Coach leaves the team in the locker room overnight to count to 11 out loud. Luther and Dawber misunderstand Coach's orders and spend the night counting with the team.

This crazy humor scores time and time again with the audience; however, the time in between these moments seems to drag. The regular humor between Coach and the others seems flat and fumbling compared to the zany comedy of which the show is obviously capable.

Coach explains the loss of the game to his daughter: "This is going to happen when you're working with 60 young men who are inexperienced, immature...and brain dead." One time when Coach is cooking dinner for her very slowly, she says, "I've got finals coming up, Dad...in four months."

In addition to this not up-to-par comedy, the show has another weak point: Kelly. She is annoying and unnecessary. The show does not need her aspect of the show's premise.

Coach could be a single man with no children and no marital past, and the show would lose nothing. In fact, viewers may appreciate the absence of Kelly constantly whining the words, "Oh, Daddy."

The chemistry between Coach and Armstrong is wonderful. The show could survive on their bickering alone. They are two characters who care deeply for one another but allow their trivial opinions to create some complications (and funny humor). This bickering combined with the naiveté of Luther and Dawber is delightful and fulfilling.

"Coach" is a show with tremendous potential. The writers are headed for a touchdown with all the characters except Kelly. She must develop and mature, or move away and off the show. (Perhaps an episode dealing with her death would be in order... Once producers cure the Kelly problem and fine tune the comedy, "Coach" will be the hilarious, intelligent mastermind behind ABC's Wednesday night team.

Joe Bucolo
Faldo wins Masters in sudden death over Hoch

Associated Press

AUGUSTA, Ga.—Nick Faldo's 25-foot putt for the 1989 Masters title may fade from people's memories. Scott Hoch's two-foot miss for the title the previous playoff hole will never be forgotten.

"Between my brain and my body I just got crossed," he said.

Faldo crosses him the green jacket.

In the gathering gloom of early morning Monday after the National, the Englishman raised his arms in triumph. But without two blown short putts by Hoch, Faldo would never have won.

First, on the 17th hole of regulation, he missed a three-foot par putt after he had made a great recovery shot to the green. That dropped him into a tie for first and, eventually, led to the playoff.

Then, on the first playoff hole, he shot one of the memorable misses in golf history.

With daylight running out, Hoch put his approach shot to two feet put away from a green jacket. He stalked it from every possible direction.

"I didn't want to miss an angle," he said. "I wasn't nervy. I felt this might be my time."

Faldo missed the putt. The ball liped out.

"I'm proud of myself. I have nothing to be ashamed of. I played well this week," said Faldo, winner of three PGA tour titles in an 11-year career.

The shot matched Faldo's earlier bogey and they went to the next playoff hole, where Faldo rolled in the long one.

Both drove the fairway in the driving rain. Faldo went for the pin, ignoring the pond on the left of the 18th green. He got it about 18 feet below the hole.

Faldo put his approach to the right, with the ball skipping off the sandputt surface and rolling 25 feet beyond.

He chipped up to about six feet and had that left for par Faldo ran in the birdie that won the first of the year's four major tests of golfing greatness.

Faldo, a former British Open champion and eight times a runner-up in tournaments around the world last year, lifted both arms in the air and howled in triumph when the winning putt found the cup.

"It means the world to me," a tearful Faldo said.

"Words don't describe this," Faldo said. "I've seen other guys do the same thing. Jack Nicklaus does this. I've sat and watched him and learned by watching." And then to have it happen, it's a dream. You dream to have it happen when you're watching at home or right before your eyes—ecstasy.

Faldo, playing about an hour in front of the other contenders, put together a spectacular 65 in difficult conditions, completed regulation play in 383 and then sat back and watched while five others gave it a shot until the 14th, hit into the sand, and putted the 15th, hit into the water and 18, and he, too, was out of it.

There was Seve Ballesteros of Spain, the 1980 Masters champion, who had a share of the top at one time or another. But he got a 6-iron shot in the water on the 16th and ceased to be a factor.

There was Mike Reid, the soft-spoken "Radar" by his fellow pros. He had the lead alone but this time he did not have the juice.

Faldo can add a green jacket to the collection of trophies he has won during his years on the professional golfing circuit. Faldo, of Great Britain, won the Masters Sunday in a sudden-death playoff with the USA's Scott Hoch.

There was Greg Norman, the flamboyant Australian who has played so well here so often. And there was Ben Crenshaw, the "Ben" trying to gain that second green jacket.

All made their runs up short.

Only Hoch, with a closing 69, could match Faldo's 5-under-par total for 72 holes over the rain-slick hills of Augusta.

Lee Trevino, the 45-year-old who led or shared the lead through the first two rounds, struggled to an 80 in the delayed finish of the third round Sunday morning, then came back with a 68 in the afternoon and finished at 291.

The Observer accepts classifieds every business day from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. at the Notre Dame Office, 314 Lafayette, and from 10:30 a.m. onward at the David May Office, NU College Center. Deadline for next-day classifieds is 3 p.m. All classifieds must be prepared. The charge is $10 per cent per character.

The Observer wants to keep up with a FESTIVAL/FESTIVAL and since the world is a mosaic of ideas, names and number 1.

 Classifieds
HOU STON— Tony Gwynn drove in two runs, including the game-winner, and Jack Clark added a two-run single as San Diego rallied to beat Houston 5-4 Sunday in a game which featured a triple play by the Padres.

The Padres accomplished the sixth triple play in club history and their first since July 31, 1985, in the eighth inning. With Kenmore Bann on second and Greg Gross on first, Ken Caminiti hit a ground ball to third baseman Luis Salazar who threw to Alomar at second, forcing Gross. Alomar threw to Clark at first to get Caminiti for the second out. Clark then threw to catcher Mark Parent who tagged out Bass, attempting to score from second on the play.

Indians 4, Yankees 3
NEW YORK—Tom Candiotti allowed four hits in seven innings and Pete O'Brien hit his fifth homer of the season as the Cleveland Indians defeated the New York Yankees 4-3 Sunday to complete a three-game sweep.

For the Indians, it was their first three-game sweep over New York at Yankee Stadium since May 1986. The Yankees have now lost five straight after beating Minnesota on opening day and have scored a total of only 13 runs in their six games this season.

Athletics 4, White Sox 2
OAKLAND, Calif. — Dave Stewart struck out nine and increased his April record to 8-0, leading the Oakland Athletics past the Chicago White Sox 4-2 Sunday.

Stewart, 2-0, allowed eight hits, struck out nine and walked one. He has won his last three starts against the Athletics past the Chicago White Sox 4-2 Sunday.

Rangers 3, Blue Jays 2
ARLINGTON, Tex.— Reuben Sierra hit a two-run homer off Tom Henke with one out in the ninth inning Sunday, giving the Los Angeles Dodgers a 3-2 victory over the Atlanta Braves.

Alejandro Pena, 1-6, picked up the victory with three scoreless innings of relief. Tim Crews got the Blue Jays out in the 12th for his first save.

Giants 9, Reds 1
CINCINNATI — Matt Williams hit a grand slam for his first hit of the season, leading the San Francisco Giants past the Cincinnati Reds 9-1 on Sunday.

Angels 13, Mariners 5
ANAHEIM, Calif. — Tony Armas and Dante Bichette each hit two-run homers in the first inning Sunday and the California Angels went out to rout the Seattle Mariners 13-5.

TO A COUPLE OF GOOD LOOKING GUYS ON THEIR 8-DAYS.

NADER, LOAD HAVE A GOOD ONE!

The California Angels beat the Seattle Mariners on Sunday, but the Mariners spoiled Jim Abbott's major league debut the previous evening. A look at the first outing for the Angels rookie one-hand pitcher appears below.

Abbott flosses in major league debut

ANAHEIM, Calif. Jim Abbott lost because he had just one pitch, not one hand. Abbott's professional debut fizzled Saturday night, undone by trouble that could stop any 21-year-old rookie.

His control was off, his nerves acted up and he had some bad luck. Two errors hurt him and so did a broken bat single with the bases loaded.

When it was over, he had allowed six runs on six hits in 4 2-3 innings, although three runs were unearned. The Seattle Mariners, who began the night as the worst hitting team in the major leagues, beat Abbott and the California Angels 7-0.

"I'm a little disappointed that things didn't go a little better," he said. "There were some things to build on. But overall, I didn't do as many things as I'd like to." Mainly, Abbott didn't get the ball over the plate.

He threw 83 pitches, just 47 for strikes. He walked three, one intentionally, and struck out no one. He also threw a wild pitch that set up two first-inning runs. "Today, maybe my mind wasn't as clearly focused as I would've wanted," he said. "There was definitely some nervousness."

Abbott has always had control difficulty, but in college and the Olympics, a 90 mile-per-hour fastball and a hard slider are enough to win. But he is still learning the curve and changeup he needs to win in the majors.

And against Seattle, Abbott had difficulty throwing his slider, a pitch Abbott has done well with only a fastball that is good, but not great, and a big-league hitter can hit anything if what he know what is coming.

"We get to him early and get him to throw the kind of pitches we wanted," said Harold Reynolds, who took a called strike to open the game and then singled. "He throws hard and has good stuff, but he has to stay ahead in the count."

Abbott got two strikes on just five of the 34 batters he faced. The Mariners seemed onto him, swinging and missing on just two pitches.

"I think he uncharacteristically was more nervous than he's ever been before," Angels manager Doug Rader said. "That's understandable. He got the ball up early and was overthrowing a bit."

Abbott became the 15th pitcher, 19th of them pitchers, since 1963 to begin his pro career in the majors. Although all except Dave Winfield, Bob Horner and Pete Incaviglia eventually were sent to the minors.

A crowd of 46,847 that included his parents from Flint, Mich., turned out to get Abb-ott's answers to how-does-he-do it and can he-do it.

AP Photo

Abbott's answers to how-does-he-do it and can he-do it.

Abbott's major league debut the previous evening. A look at the first outing for the Angels rookie one-hand pitcher appears below.

Abbott's answers to how-does-he-do it and can he-do it.

Abbott's answers to how-does-he-do it and can he-do it.
USA dumps France in Davis Cup tennis

Rematch with West Germany is next

Associated Press

Two years ago, West Germany handed the United States a humiliating defeat in the Davis Cup. This summer, the United States will have a chance to avenge the loss.

Boris Becker beat Milan Srejber 6-3, 6-4, 6-3 Sunday to give defending champion West Germany a 3-2 victory over Czechoslovakia in their Davis Cup quarterfinal at Prague.

The United States clinched a victory over France on Saturday night when Renato桶和 Robert Seguso beat Yannick Noah and Guy Forget in doubles at San Diego. Andre Agassi beat Noah 6-3, 7-6 (9-7) in the match.

Agassi helped the United States Davis Cup team eliminate France in Davis Cup play last weekend in the first-round series. The United States will meet Yugoslavia.

Andre Agassi helped the United States Davis Cup team eliminate France in Davis Cup play last weekend at San Diego. The USA team next faces West Germany, which defeated the Americans two years ago.

The Edmonton Oilers seem to have Wayne Gretzky (in white) surrounded in the NHL Stanley Cup playoffs. The Oilers beat Gretzky's Los Angels Kings 4-3 to take a 3-1 lead in the first-round series. In other first-round action Sunday, Philadelphia beat Washington 5-2, Montreal beat Hartford 4-3 in overtime to complete a sweep of the Whalers, Boston beat Buffalo 3-2, Pittsburgh beat the New York Rangers 4-3 to complete a sweep, Chicago beat Detroit 3-2, Minnesota beat St. Louis 5-4 and Vancouver beat Calgary 5-3.
AP: UM to select Fisher

Associated Press

ANN ARBOR, Mich.- Steve Fisher, who in 20 remarkable days guided Michigan to the NCAA basketball championship, will be named coach of the Wolverines at a news conference Monday, The Associated Press learned Sunday.

The move will come one week after the 44-year-old Fisher coached the Wolverines to the national title with a 80-79 overtime victory over Seton Hall.

Sources close to the team, who spoke on the condition of anonymity, said Sunday that Fisher was the only candidate interviewed by Bo Schembechler, the football coach who also is athletic director.

Women's golf 14th at IU Invite

Special to The Observer

The Notre Dame women's golf team placed 14th out of 15 teams in last weekend's Indiana Invitational at the Indiana University Golf Course in Bloomington.

Host school Indiana won the tournament with a 36-hole total of 620. Northern Illinois placed second with a 656, and Iowa finished third with a 662. Notre Dame shot a 747.

The tournament originally had been scheduled to last 54 holes, but rain shortened it to 36 holes.

Notre Dame shot a 379 on the first day, and the Irish lowered their score to 368 on the final round of competition.

Kris Lazar led the Irish with a 182 (89 the first day, 93 the second day). Lazar was followed by Alison Wojnara (93, 92), Roberta Bryer (104, 88), Pandora Fecko (95, 100), Melissa Houk (103, 96) and Heidi Hanson (102, 102).

The medalist for the tournament was Indiana's Debbie Lee, who shot a 36-hole total of 150.

Notre Dame next plays in the Lady Buckeye Classic at Ohio State University this weekend.

$99 Roundtrip Airfares On Northwest Airlines.

New York City $99 roundtrip

Seattle $99 roundtrip

Phoenix $99 roundtrip

Fort Lauderdale $99 roundtrip

Chicago $99 roundtrip

Los Angeles $99 roundtrip

A special offer for students, only for American Express Cardmembers.

If you want to go places, it's time for the American Express Card.

Because now you can take advantage of new travel privileges on Northwest Airlines only for full-time students who carry the American Express Card.

Travel privileges that offer:

Two $99 roundtrip tickets—fly to many of the more than 180 cities served by Northwest in the contiguous 48 United States. Only one ticket may be used per six-month period. Special Quarterly Northwest Destination Discounts throughout 1989—up to 25% off most available fares.

5,000 bonus miles in Northwest's WORLDPERKS free travel program—where only 20,000 miles gets you a free roundtrip ticket to anywhere Northwest flies in the contiguous 48 United States or Canada—upon enrollment through this special student offer.

And, of course, you'll enjoy all the exceptional benefits and personal service you would expect from American Express.

The only requirements for privileged travel: you must be a Cardmember, you must be a full-time student, and you must charge your Northwest Airlines tickets with the Card.*

Getting the Card is easier than ever because now you can apply by phone. Just call 1-800-942-AMEX. We'll take your application and begin to process it right away. What's more, with our Automatic Approval offer, you can qualify now while you're still in school. Apply now; Fly later—for less.

Apply Now: 1-800-942-AMEX

*Fare is for roundtrip travel on Northwest Airlines. Tickets must be purchased within 24 hours after making reservations. Fares are non-refundable and no itinerary changes may be made after purchase. Seats at this fare are limited and may not be available when you call. Ticket must be presented at time of departure. Other restrictions apply. All fares subject to change without notice. Rates do not include taxes, surcharges or fees. Fares are available from cities to which Northwest does not have direct connection or service. Tickets are not valid in conjunction with any other offer. Fares are not valid in the following cities: Boston ($2,50), Chicago ($5,00) and Florida cities ($1,00).

Certain blackout dates and other restrictions may apply for complete details, call 1-800-942-AMEX. Current student Cardmembers automatically receive two $99 vouchers in the mail. © 1989 American Express Travel Related Services Company, Inc.
ND softball finishes 3rd at MCC tourney

Special to The Observer

The Notre Dame softball team finished third in the Midwest Collegiate Conference tournament last weekend in Indiana.

Notre Dame (13-13) won three of its five games in the tournament. The Irish defeated Butler 8-7, Loyola 4-3 in eight innings and Dayton 2-0, but lost 1-0 to Detroit 1-0 in eight innings and 3-0 to Saint Louis.

Irish coach Brian Boulac. "We thought that we could win, and we feel that we should compete with these teams."

"But if you look at it objectively, this is our first year, and we've come a long way since the beginning of the season."

Detroit won the tournament, and Saint Louis placed second of seven conference teams.

Freshman pitcher Melissa Linn got the decision in all of Notre Dame's games. She pitched a four-hitter against Dayton.

Megan Fay led the Irish over Butler with two hits and one run batted in. Rachel Carlson and Laurie Sommerland each had two hits against Loyola, and Carlson had two runs batted in.

Dayton's sixth-inning single broke a scoreless tie in the win over Dayton.

Notre Dame next plays Tuesday against Saint Mary's.

Bookstore Basketball XVIII ready to begin second week of action

The Observer Monday, April 10, 1989

Just thinking about college tuition is enough to make most parents break into a sweat.

But can you blame them? When you consider the cost of tuition, room and board—not to mention pizza parties—you're tailoring big bucks.

Which is why you should do some talking. Like telling your parents about the Education Loan Programs at Manufacturers Hanover Trust.

At MHT, not only do we participate in all three federal guaranteed loan programs, but we also work with state and national agencies and can process guaranteed loans in all 50 states.

In practically no time at all.

In fact, for the second week of May, you'd be able to sign for the loan you get from us and still have time to enjoy the end of the semester or summer vacation.

So if you need money for school, call 1-800-MHT-GRAD.
CAMPUS EVENTS
7 p.m. Adult Children of Alcoholics meet in tasting upstairs in the CSC.
7 p.m. Career and Placement services presents “Juniors: How to Fill Out the Profile Form,” by Kitty Arnold; Room 125 Newall Science Hall.
9 p.m. Communication and Theatre film “Forty Guns,” Annenberg Auditorium.

LECTURE CIRCUT
4 p.m. “Beautiful Music in Haydn’s Operas,” presented by Professor Mary Hunter from Bates College, Room 124 Nieuwland Science Hall.
4:15 p.m. “Eskimo Tribal Healing,” by Professor Edith Turner, University of Oregon.

MENUS
Notre Dame
Grilled Reuben, Oven Fried Chicken, Beef Stı Fry, Cheese Ravioli

Saint Mary’s
Tarragon Chicken, Lasagna, Cheese Souffle, Deli Bar

CROSSWORD

ACROSS
1. Fath or singer
2. Fermenting agent
3. Rash letters
4. Jumbos
5. Wrong
6. Top Prioritize
7. Alphabet quartet
8. Tropical island
9. Intractable one
10. Pitcher’s throwing arm
11. Dream land
12. Games’ partner
13. Wear with an air
14. Dined by
15. Room

DOWN
1. Round Table knight
2. Plus.
3. In — (unmoved)
4. Pacific shades
5. Black Mana, for one
6. Handwriting on the wall
7. Paddy growth
8. Disproving sound
9. Mice
10. All inclusive
11. “ — Need.”
12. 1965 song
13. Fervent request
14. Eucharistic plate
15. Hint or slight trace
16. Batter’s play
17. On one’s (alert)
18. Whirligig sound
19. Jeopardy
20. Sheepish
21. Floppy days in London town
22. Fever
23. Fervent request
24. Fervent request
25. Fervent request
26. Fervent request
27. Fervent request
28. Fervent request
29. Fervent request
30. Fervent request
31. Fervent request
32. Fervent request
33. Fervent request
34. Fervent request
35. Fervent request
36. Fervent request
37. Fervent request
38. Fervent request
39. Fervent request
40. Fervent request
41. Fervent request
42. Fervent request
43. Fervent request
44. Fervent request
45. Fervent request
46. Fervent request
47. Fervent request
48. Fervent request
49. Fervent request
50. Fervent request
51. Fervent request
52. Fervent request
53. Fervent request
54. Fervent request
55. Fervent request
56. Fervent request
57. Fervent request
58. Fervent request
59. Fervent request
60. Fervent request
61. Fervent request
62. Fervent request
63. Fervent request
64. Fervent request
65. Fervent request
66. Fervent request

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

ACROSS
1. Talk the talk
2. Ears it
3. Uneventful
4. Pin{
5. Place
6. Heed
7. Her
8. Hee
9. H e r
10. Hee
11. Hee
12. Hee
13. Hee
14. Hee
15. Hee
16. Hee
17. Hee
18. Hee
19. Hee
20. Hee
21. Hee
22. Hee
23. Hee
24. Hee
25. Hee
26. Hee
27. Hee
28. Hee
29. Hee
30. Hee
31. Hee
32. Hee
33. Hee
34. Hee
35. Hee
36. Hee
37. Hee
38. Hee
39. Hee
40. Hee
41. Hee
42. Hee
43. Hee
44. Hee
45. Hee
46. Hee
47. Hee
48. Hee
49. Hee
50. Hee
51. Hee
52. Hee
53. Hee
54. Hee
55. Hee
56. Hee
57. Hee
58. Hee
59. Hee
60. Hee
61. Hee
62. Hee
63. Hee
64. Hee
65. Hee
66. Hee

DOWN
1. Apathetic
2. Abominable
3. Digit
4. Continuity
5. Apathetic
6. Abominable
7. Digit
8. Continuity
9. Apathetic
10. Abominable
11. Digit
12. Continuity
13. Apathetic
14. Abominable
15. Digit
16. Continuity
17. Apathetic
18. Abominable
19. Digit
20. Continuity
21. Apathetic
22. Abominable
23. Digit
24. Continuity
25. Apathetic
26. Abominable
27. Digit
28. Continuity
29. Apathetic
30. Abominable
31. Digit
32. Continuity
33. Apathetic
34. Abominable
35. Digit
36. Continuity
37. Apathetic
38. Abominable
39. Digit
40. Continuity
41. Apathetic
42. Abominable
43. Digit
44. Continuity
45. Apathetic
46. Abominable
47. Digit
48. Continuity
49. Apathetic
50. Abominable
51. Digit
52. Continuity
53. Apathetic
54. Abominable
55. Digit
56. Continuity
57. Apathetic
58. Abominable
59. Digit
60. Continuity
61. Apathetic
62. Abominable
63. Digit
64. Continuity
65. Apathetic
66. Abominable

COMICS

BLOOM COUNTY

CALVIN AND HOBBES

BERKE BREATHED

THE FAR SIDE

THE APEARTHEID AWARENESS WEEK

Mon April 10

film "Witness To Apartheid"
7pm CSC
talk: Ezra Sigwela
former 11yr prisoner in South Africa

Tues April 11

Divestment Panel Discussion
featuring Prof. Peter Walshe, Dean David Link, Prof. James Carberry

Wed April 12

film: "Cry Freedom"
8 & 10:15pm Cushing

Thurs April 13

discussion with Mr. Donald Woods, author of "Biko"
"Asking for Trouble" basis for film Cry Freedom
8pm Cushing
$2 tickets LaFortune Info Desk

"We're here, Eric! Antarctic... Bottom of the world!"
By FRANK PASTOR
Assistant Sports Editor

Bookstore’s first-ever great-grandfather played Thursday and 39 more teams were eliminated Friday as the first week of Bookstore Basketball XXIII drew to a close.

Triphon Lema, Jr., a local fireman and great-grandfather, played in his first organized game in 41 years Thursday when his Housers of the Firehouse lost 21-9 to Whiskey Ray and Four Other Guys that Can’t Score. Lema became the first great-grandfather ever to play in a Bookstore game.

"They were good, as much as I expected," said Lema. "We knew we couldn’t run-and-gun against them. Our zone defense worked good, but it didn’t work all the time."

Lema, who enthusiastically agreed to play when approached by his friends at the Firehouse, scored one point in the contest.

"It was a real challenge for me," said Lema. "I’ve been on a 41-year sabbatical!"

Four teams took scoring in competition to a new level Friday, losing by a tournament-high 18 points as the Bookstore field was cut to 312 teams.

Salman Rushdie and Four Other Guys Under the Gun fell 21-3 to We Double Pump before We Shoot, who nevertheless shot an incredible 21-of-28 from the field. Steve Hedding scored 10 baskets to lead We Double Pump.

"We relied a lot on our defensive rebounding and our fast break," said Hedding, who admitted that most of his points were scored on layups.

Three Basketball Terms We Couldn’t Print slipped past both the censors and the Laserjocks in another 21-3 drubbing. Laserjocks managed a mere four rebounds in the contest.

Four Men and a Baby shot 21-of-30 in disposing of Bud and the Four Tall Boys 21-3. Three of Bud’s five players managed a combined three shots between them for the game.

Nag and the Winners lived up to their name by destroying We Love Elvis 21-3. We Love Elvis shot 2-of-2 in the game and looked like they would rather be in Graceland than on the Stepan courts.

Steve Shaw of The Monsters, The Disciples of the Death Ball was high-point man on the day, hitting 12 buckets in the Monsters’ 21-17 victory over Regis Philbin’s Disciples of Love.

"It was a fast-paced game, tight for the most part until the last few minutes," said Shaw. "The defense started to influence started to kick in."

The Death Ball, according to Shaw, is an old basketball that was "a beastlike figure. It is an ‘exist­­ing force’ which The Monsters take to every game to control the action and intimidate their opponents."

NOTEs: In the first week of play, 74 games were decided by 18 or more points, 20 by three or less and 16 by for­­feit. 4,460 points have been scored in the first 144 games. The average margin of victory in those 144 games has been 9.69 points per game (23.06 pp to 13.37 pp).

The Observer / Paul Compton

Bookstore Basketball XXIII enters its second week today. The end of this week will bring the Bookstore’s 41-year sabbatical from the game to become the first great-grandfather ever to play in a Bookstore game.

Lacrosse team routs Kenyon 14-7 to extend its winning streak to five

By PETE LaFLEUR
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame lacrosse team returned to "the basics" Saturday, dominating every aspect of a 14-7 victory over Kenyon College at Edward W. "Moose" Krause Field.

"It was really important for us to get out on top of them early," said Irish coach Kevin Corrigan, "but we played this week in practice with confidence that we haven’t had before, and that showed in the game."

Senior tri-captain John Olmstead led the Irish with two goals and five assists, while junior Brian McHugh and freshman Mike Sullivan each chipped in four goals. Fresh­­man goalie Tom Duane re­­corded 16 saves in his second start.

The Irish started fast with sophomore John Capano’s goal 29 seconds into the first quarter. They then scored two goals in the first half to extend their lead to 5-3.

"We dominated the game all season," Barnard continued. "Everyone was excited to have his head in the game.

"Our defensive midfielders did a great job shutting down Kenyon’s middies, and everything they tried to throw at us, we shut down pretty well.

"I think the communication between the midfielders and the defense was a lot better than it has been and that helped us work more as a total unit," Barnard continued. "Everyone seemed to have his mind on the game.

"Kenyon attacked us in a pretty well rounded way," said Barnard. "They looked primarily to jam the ball down the middle and then they tried to do ‘middle jabs.’"