Cosby to address 1990 graduates

Entertainer to represent ND Year of the Family

By MONICA YANT

Bill Cosby, entertainer, comedian, author, and benefactor of education, will speak at the University's 145th Commencement Exercises May 20, said Dr. Martin L. Indeed, director of Public Relations and Information.

Cosby was chosen because "he's been very much connected with the idea behind the celebration of the Year of the Family," said University President Father Edward Malloy. Cosby's number-one rated television show, along with numerous other books, offers humorous accounts of everyday family life, according to Malloy.

Malloy said that Cosby's "endorsement of reforms in East European" came with the idea behind the celebration of the Year of the Family.

Opposition groups say the general strike will take place Monday unless the 21-member Cabinet, which contains only five non-Communists, is replaced before then.

Dienstbier called the new Czech government's stance in the right direction," but said its composition still was not an accurate reflection of public opinion.

The opposition forum investigating the police violence Nov. 17 that started the recent rioting, said Tuesday that ousted Communist Party chief Milos Jakes and Miroslav Stefan, the former Prague party boss, had rejected primetime television shows hit the air. Many viewers were "very much picks up on our efforts to prove background in minority enrollment," said University President Father Edward Malloy. Commercialism spoiling value of college athletics

Anyone lucky enough to be at the Orange Bowl over Thanksgiving to watch Miami trounce the Notre Dame football team also got to watch a Domino’s Pizza truck drive over the game ball before the opening kickoff. Throughout the game, the crowd was bombarded with commercial announcements from Gaterade, Eastern Airlines and Nike, the “official sponsors” of the University of Miami football season.

The crowd at the Notre Dame men’s basketball season opener against San Francisco was fortunate enough to learn that Pizza Hut was a proud sponsor of the team this season.

One might expect blatant commercialism from a school like the University of Miami. Whatever one may think of Miami, however, it is wrong for colleges and universities to accept corporate sponsorship for their athletic programs.

It may be true that the costs of maintaining an athletic program are increasing dramatically. But this is not an excuse for accepting “sponsors” for teams. College athletics should remain untainted by commercialism. Colleges establish athletic programs for various reasons, most of them good.

Athletes provide entertainment for students and fans alike. They teach participants and spectators ideas of sportsmanship and fair play. They provide role models for young people across the country. They allow students who might otherwise be unable to afford it a chance at a college education.

Allowing corporations to sponsor college sporting events essentially corrupts the administration’s goals for which such athletic programs were established. Advertising, betting, and gambling on and off campus are nothing new. College athletics programs tell students and fans that colleges and universities no longer view their athletic programs principally as entertainment, but as revenue sources.

If a basketball or football program cannot support itself with the revenues from ticket sales and television and radio contracts, then perhaps the organizers should examine why they cannot stay financially in the black.

As a last resort, raise ticket prices; fans expect to pay for what they see, and if a good basketball or football program requires a higher ticket price, fans will be willing to pay to support their team.

The last few years have been the transformation of bowl games from “The Fiesta Bowl” to “The Sunken Fiesta Bowl,” and from “The Orange Bowl” to “The Federal Express Orange Bowl.” The commercialization of college athletics must stop now. Otherwise, it is only a matter of time until we see “The Pizza Hut University of Notre Dame Fighting Irish” stamped across season football tickets.

Using ancient Chinese annals, scientists have dated one of the most powerful volcanic eruptions in recorded history—a blast 3,600 years ago that inspired the legend of the sunken civilization of Atlantis, NASA said Tuesday. Bank robber threatens suicide

By ANNETTE SEMANCHIN
News Writer

United States citizens show a lack of concern about both the Vietnam War and the many devastating effects of the war, according to Bishop Thomas Gumbleton.

Gumbleton refers to the U.S. Catholic bishops Pastoral Letter, "A Time For Dialogue and Healing," when he offers his plea to the people of the U.S. to work with the brother bishops in Vietnam who are trying desperately to form better relations between the two countries.

Gumbleton, who presently serves as the regional bishop for Detroit's inner city parishes, gave a lecture Tuesday, entitled "Can We Make Peace With Vietnam?"

Either war remains deep on both sides which even now, after a long period of "peace," makes reconciliation very difficult, said Gumbleton. However, Gumbleton said that he is confident that reconciliation is truly possible.

What causes relations to be so strained, said Gumbleton, is that the U.S. is openly oppressing the economy of Vietnam by imposing an embargo act, which refuses any aid or trade between Vietnam or the U.S.

Gumbleton said that during his visit to Vietnam, the people cried, "Why do you still wage war against us?" He said that he did not have an answer.

The first step that must be taken to improve relations between the U.S. and Vietnam, according to Gumbleton, is to stop denying the "sin" of Vietnam, and to take some positive action to improve the present situation.

In explanation of the "sin" of Vietnam, the bishop stated that, "As a nation we are unable to recognize the tragedy of what we did to that country."

Another action that needs to be carried out, according to Gumbleton, is to reconcile overseas Vietnamese with their own people in their homeland, just as U.S. citizens must come to terms with conflicts that occurred in the U.S. during and after the Vietnam war.

Gumbleton said that above all people must not forget the atrocities of the Vietnam War, because "to forget a sin, is in fact a greater evil than committing the sin."

Gumbleton hopes that some of these steps are taken, so that all hostility can be removed and replaced with a new constructive relationship that would benefit both nations.

Greenpeace accuses Navy of 'maliciousness' in incident

WASHINGTON (AP) — The protest group Greenpeace on Tuesday accused the Navy of "maliciousness" in ramming its flagship as it protested the test launch of a Trident II missile. The Navy says it did not ram the ship.

"We have a message for the Navy," Greenpeace USA Executive Director Peter Bahouth told a news conference. "We are going to take legal action. They are going to have to pay us damages."

The Navy denied that it rammed the 887-ton ship Greenpeace. The service said that it respected the group's right to protest but that it also had a right under international law to protect itself on the high seas.

At the news conference, Greenpeace leaders showed videotapes of two vessels identified as the Navy tugs Grampus and Kittiwake spraying the decks of the Greenpeace and pulling alongside. The tapes showed gaping holes in the hull of the Greenpeace; group leaders said the gashes resulted from ramming by the tugs.

The videotapes also showed Greenpeace activists in an inflatable speedboat approaching the damaged vessel. The group's leaders said the object was the radio mast of the Tennessee.

The group said Navy commanders cut the fuel lines of two inflatable speedboats and returned them to the mother ship.

Although the summit produced no clear arms control breakthroughs, and it was not expected to, Bush gave Gorbatchev these welcome bits of news:

• He would take steps to ease tensions between Moscow and a halt in the German defensive arms race.
• He would seek observer status for the Kremlin in a major international trade group.
• He was altering his previous, and for the Soviets unacceptable, proposal on chemical weapons, seeking to sign a treaty for the June summit to destroy most U.S. and Soviet chemical weapons stockpiles.
• Several major U.S. and Soviet steps are necessary before Bush grants the Soviet Union most-favored-nation trading status for the Soviet Union.
• Bush has agreed to soften his objections to a proposed new arms control at the Malta summit.
• He was altering his previous, and for the Soviets unacceptable, proposal on chemical weapons, seeking to sign a treaty for the June summit to destroy most U.S. and Soviet chemical weapons stockpiles.

Greenpeace members and their inflatable boat are taken into tow by Navy Seals. They were intercepted while trying to disrupt a planned Trident missile launch in waters off Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Bush's Malta concessions revealed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush made three concessions at the Malta summit that were overshadowed in the euphoria and confusion surrounding the first-ever joint U.S.-Soviet presidential news conference.

Three steps met longstanding Soviet requests and marked a political milestone for a man who had reached cautiously to the reforms of Soviet President Mikhail Gorbatchev.

The administration officials said Tuesday, however, that the fine print still needed to be written on Bush's offers involving the lifting of trade sanctions against Moscow and a halt in U.S. production of chemical weapons.

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Crash investigators said Tuesday that a Colombian jet carrying 107 people disintegrated in a fireball two weeks ago, moments after a bomb blew a hole in the fuselage and flooded the passenger cabin with fuel.

Authorities assume the traffickers are trying to force the government to stop extraditing Colombian drug suspects. President Virgilio Barco's administration has sent nine suspects to the United States since launching its anti-narcotics offensive.

Minister of Government Carlos Lemos told a news conference Tuesday the airliner bomb "is perhaps a sign of what lies ahead" for Colombia. Lemos is acting as president while Barco is on a state visit to Japan.

Flight 203 exploded minutes after taking off from Bogota's international airport on a Nov. 27 domestic flight, killing all aboard.

Investigators said a bomb blast ruptured the fuel tank in the right wing.

"The bomb was placed strategically under seat 13F, which is very close to the fuel tank that burst and caused the fire that destroyed the aircraft," the director of the Civil Aviation Authority, Yezid Castano, told reporters.

"Around an emergency door there is evidence of an outward force of such power that objects inside the plane were blown out at 20,000 feet per second."

Police sought a mystery man suspected of planting the bomb, Castano said. He said one of two men who had reserved seats 13E and 13F returned to the Avianca counter after passing through security.

The man had purchased two tickets, one for himself in the name of Julio Santodomingo, the other in the name of Alberto Prieto. "Prieto" stayed aboard. "Santodomingo" left the Avianca counter and vanished.

The real Julio Santodomingo is owner of Avianca Airlines.

Last June, Jamarrillo ordered destroyed 776 pounds of cocaine and five modern processing laboratories seized by police in Segovia, 175 miles northwest of Bogota.

Jamarrillo was also looking into the massacre of 43 people in Segovia on Nov. 11, 1988.

PHILIPPINE CEASE-FIRE

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Government and rebel forces declared a temporary cease-fire Wednesday and began evacuating Americans and other foreigners from hotels in the financial district where they were trapped for four days.

Vicky Benito, a receptionist at the Manila Garden Hotel in the Makati district of this capital, said Wednesday morning that the rebels trying to overthrow President Corazon Aquino were burning American flags.

"All Americans are safe," she said. "The Americans are all OK." At least 77 people have been killed and more than 540 wounded since rebel soldiers began their coup attempt Friday.

A rebel officer said on Tuesday that the estimated 2,000 foreigners and Filipinos in the area's three luxury hotels but also in condominiums lining Ayala Avenue and other thoroughfares.

Manila radio stations broadcast instructions to condominium residents to stay in front of their buildings until the uprising was over and loyalist forces agreed to a temporary cease-fire so far against Mrs. Aquino, who took office in February 1986 after a popular uprising drove the late President Ferdinand Marcos into exile.

Wednesday's evacuation included not only foreigners and Filipinos in the area's three luxury hotels but also in condominiums lining Ayala Avenue and other thoroughfares.

L.A. HIGH-RISE FIRE INJURES 40

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fifteen people trapped by a fire raging in a nine-story downtown building Tuesday were plucked from the roof by a helicopter, authorities said. Forty people were injured in the fire.

The building housed apartments and businesses, said Fire Department spokesman Jim Wells. The fire broke out just before noon and was out in about a half-hour.

In addition to those rescued by helicopter, about 30 others escaped down ladders extended to the sixth and seventh floors of the building, said Manny Hernandez, another Fire Department spokesman.

"They were scared and crying. The women were crying and hugging each other when they got to the ground," Hernandez said.

Flames shot out the windows and smoke billowed across the downtown skyline from the fire, which started on the sixth floor and burned part of the seventh floor, Hernandez said. Smoke damage occurred throughout the upper floors, he said.

Of the 40 people hurt, 18 were hospitalized, authorities said, most for smoke inhalation. None of the 15 people plucked from the roof of the building was injured, authorities said.

"I was working on the seventh floor and I smelled smoke. I called to people, 'Fire, I smell smoke, everyone out, fire!'" Chris Jeong, 28, said.

Program helps bail out first-time offenders

Dear Editor:

You have just been arrested at an off-campus party. After panicking, ask yourself the following questions:

1. What do you do if you are accused of a University offense, or if off campus, or have a run in with the South Bend police?
2. How do you feel the police are treating you?
3. What are your rights?

As a student you have plenty of rights. First, you have the right to undergraduate counsel. As the Student Body Judicial Coordinator, I serve the student body as its Undergraduate Student Counsel. Students often assume that I am a member of the Office of Student Affairs when, actually, I am a student trying to help other students who are in trouble with the University or with South Bend police.

What does this mean to you as a student? Any time you are accused of a University offense and are called into the Office of Student Affairs for either a disciplinary conference or hearing, you have the right to consult with me or any of the judicial board chairpersons of your dorm on campus. You also have the right to be accompanied by the Undergraduate Student Counsel to your disciplinary hearing. Simply put, the chairpersons from each dorm and I are available to provide you with assistance with any problem either on or off campus concerning University or South Bend police. For the name of the chairperson in your dorm, any other hours, and how I can be reached, please see the ad on page five. Save that information because you never know when you may need it.

LETTERS

Dear Editor:

Kevin Smant's article in The Observer, Nov. 28 entitled 'Leftist Rebels Brutalize to Enforce U.S. Pullout' attempted to explain the FMLN's strategy in their recent offensive in San Salvador. Smant claims that the FMLN uses the tragic deaths of innocent civilians as a tool to force a U.S. pullout. "Make the war barbaric enough after all anything is moral if it advances the 'revolution'), and there will inevitably be pressure on the anti-Marxist side to quit."

I'm not a military strategist, but I doubt the FMLN would base their entire offensive on an emotional response generated from a handful of civilian deaths, especially in a country that witnesses thousands of deaths a year. Smant's true problem, how ever, arises when he seeks to proclaim "Western" intentions as moral and "Marxist" intentions as evil. There is not a good case and bad guy in El Salvador. It would be wise to think that the U.S. is supporting an innocent government in El Salvador, but that is just not the case. Can President Alfredo Cristiani claim that El Salvador is a true democracy when it is clear that he cannot control his radicalized military which is allegedly responsible for the recent killings of six Jesuit priests?

In fact, because of the imminent possibility of a military coup, Cristiani is often forced to make quick concessions to the right wing, such as his recent statement urging all San Salvadoran priests to leave the country. The result is a radical military acting on it's own and a powerless president.

By citing the problems of the Salvadoran government, I am in no way trying to make the FMLN out as the "good guy" in El Salvador. History alone tells us that a revolutionary takeover by a military regime does not guarantee human rights. As a result, one must recognize that the conflict in El Salvador is merely a power struggle between radical groups. In the process of achieving power, or preserving it in Cristiani's case, these groups have solicited the help of the superpowers and a con flict of regional power has been blown into a conflict of global ideologies.

The tragedy of such situations has been repeatedly under stated in the last forty years. With the recent and wel comed "thaw" in East/West relations, it is unfortunate that Mr. Sant's feels it necessary to blindly fuel a dying fire.

Dear Santa,

My Christmas list this year is as long as ever, but one item in particular I would very much like to have. It seems a little funny to ask for it, since we gave it away a year ago. But I can't ask him for it back or Christmas this year. I'd need him to die again to give it back. But if he's as good as everyone says, he won't mind a little funny request.

Letters to Santa, snowstorms, finals, and the stores beginning to stay awake on Mount Carmel Street in the middle of finals, and the stores beginning to stay awake on Mount Carmel Street in the middle of finals. The stores will open their doors at midnight, and the dorms will be filled with the sound of music. The acoustic wizardry of Kevin and Kaye, the Brothers Miller, Kevin and Kaye's mastery of the guitar and synthesizer, respectively, will power the audience in a cathartic tour de force.

The show opened with a rousing rendition of the "Scale Song," performed by the inhabitants of the ball, which brought bitter-sweet memories of the "Sound of Music" to the back of my mind. Accompanied by a shower of confetti and thunderous applause, the various hosts led upon the stage and called each commissioner up to present his report. Introduced by their individual thematics, the officers shared helpful tips and humorous anecdotes. Fred Sowar, Biological commissioner, spun the tale of how Jesus taught the apostles how to slay a mountain of deer in order to receive the necessary caffeine to stay awake on Mount Gethsemane. Special events co-ordinator, Brian O'Fallon, revealed all the tricks of Christmas. The show closed, the crowd clapping hands and singing "Kumbayah." (Actually, it didn't, but gosh darn it, it should be.)

This type of show works really well for our dorm because we're so small," explained Raul. "I thought we should get things done and have some fun too."

Many of us here. (Think about it — have you actualize that Bolivia doesn't exist and that all the other things aren't true either.)

Oh, and Santa, while I'm at it, I think a national championship would look nice under the tree, too.

Dear Santa,

Johnson, who had 13 points in the first half, scored six during a 14-1 run to put New York mixed the Six Lakers beat 24-7 before the Tigers scored the next eight. They kept within range until the Cowboys' scoring dried up.

The Tigers (13-11), who had chipped away at double-digit leads in the first half, had too many turnovers and missed shots to anything going after that.

Smith led Memphis State with 21 points.

Houston, who had 13 points in the first half, scored six during a 14-1 run to put New York mixed the Six Lakers beat 24-7 before the Tigers scored the next eight. They kept within range until the Cowboys' scoring dried up.

Illini 74, Gators 69

Junior Marcus Liberty scored 21 points and Kendall Gill added 19 as seventh-ranked Illinois beat 24-7 before the Tigers scored the next eight. They kept within range until the Cowboys' scoring dried up.

Michael Smith scored 43 points and Keidall Gill scored 466 to describe the Tigers' scoring dried up.

Cheaney scored on a dunk, of the game, refused to fold.

Notre Dame picked it up, and set, maybe it would have been a make a second-half substitue. Bob Knight. "Then we started bound at Marquette on to take into account that they looks a lot better after seeing victory over Michigan also that it was the Wolverines' only turn home to face UCLA on Tuesday, December 6, 1989.

Who eventually will become the standout player of this year's team? No body's guess. Only Henrich got enough game opportunities to prove his worth this season.

Most frequent question: Where are the phone calls from alumni (both the actual and the imaginary) or queries from students, we get our share of questions about Notre Dame while working at The Observer. In no particular order, here are the questions we heard the most over the past few months:

• Do you think Rice (or Rocket) has a chance at winning the Heisman?

• What bowl are we going to?

• Will we beat Miami and that mid-October fa vorite:

• What really happened before the USC game?

Best game, team: Not until the season progressed, and everyone realized that Virginia actually had a darn good football team, did the 36-13 Kirkell Classic win start looking impressive. The 24-19 victory over Michigan also looked impressive, reminding that it was the Wolverines' only loss of the season.

But if you want the most complete performance by Notre Dame this season, look no further than the 45-7 wailing of a then-unbeaten Pitt team. After a week in which the Irish went under the national media's microscope, including a damning piece by Sports Illustrated, because of the USC pregame tunnel incident, Notre Dame turned in a dominating performance. The Panthers were never the same afterward, losing twice more in their next four games.

Best game, individual: There are quite a few great performances to choose from - Tony Rice's first-half clinic against Virginia, Chris Lack's dominating Jeff Pearson's "vendetta" in the Michigan State game, the offensive line's domination of the vaunted Penn State run defense. As splendid as these efforts were, none can match Flagship "Rocket" Ismail's game against Michigan for impact. Two kick-off returns, two touchdowns. That was enough to make up for Notre Dame's lack of offense in the 24-19 triumph and eventually could prove to be all that stands between Bo Schmehlecher and his first national championship.

Most underrated: It's getting a little fashionable to de precate Anthony Johnson as under rated, but unless the label is becoming, it still is right on the mark when it comes to this South Bend product. Irish fans may never realize Johnson's true value to the Irish until he no longer is in the backfield when Notre Dame is in a short-yardage situation next season.

When discussing underrated Irish players, you can't overlook defensive end Scott Kowalkowski, who surpassed expectations while trying to fill the rather large shoes of Frank Stamps and defensive lineman Bob Dahl, who quietly got the job done all season long.

Most surprising: It's been so long that it seems ages ago when Irish coach Lou Holtz was complaining about his lack of depth at linebacker because 1988 Burkins Award finalist Mike Stonebreaker would not be ready to play this fall.

As it turned out, two players were in at linebacker on a huge majority of downs. It wasn't a surprise to see that Ned Bolcar, a two-year captain, was contributing a lot. Irish fans had to be grateful that Donn Grimm was able to make a similar contribution.

In his Best year as a starter, Grimm finished second on the team with 93 tackles. His productivity kept linebacker from being a sore spot for this Notre Dame team.

Turning point: Fourth quar ter, USC game. The top-ranked Fighting Irish see their 18-game winning streak go into serious jeopardy, falling behind the Trojans 24-21 midway through the fourth quarter.

After moving the ball on a series of running plays, Rice hits Ismail for a 40-yard side line pass to the USC 15-yard line. On the next play, Rice drops pass a couple of defensive ends, breaks a few tackles and lunges into the end zone for the winning score. The Irish win 28-24 and go on to breeze through their next four games.

Notre Dame's bookey team continued its impressive season last weekend with a two-game sweep of Mankato State, improving the Irish record on the year to 10-2.

But the real highlight of the weekend at the Joyce ACC came between periods of Friday night's game. During the intermission following the second period in every Irish home game, three spectators get a chance to shoot the puck from center ice.

In front of the goal is a large platform, with a tiny hole at the bottom. If a fan shoots the puck through the hole, he or she wins a free Northwest airlines round-trip ticket to any where in the continental United States.

During Ric Schaefer's 2 1 / 2 -year tenure as Irish coach, no body had shot the puck through the hole. At least, not until Friday. In the middle of a 5-0 Irish blowout, 11-year-old Rodney Wisser of Granger brought the crowd to life by firing the puck right into the net. No word yet as to where Rodney is headed with his free plane ticket.

Lou Holtz spent Monday night as a guest on ABC's "Nightline." In a segment devoted to whether a championship playoff should be instituted in college football, Holtz spoke out in favor of the concept. Other guests on Monday's show included NCAA director Dick Schulz and ESPN commentator Beano Cook.

The defense features Butkus Award winner Percy Snow of Michigan State and Jim Mabry of Duke, Terance Mathis of New Hampshire and James Francis of Alabama and James Francis of Alabama.

There are no repeaters from last year's first team, although Thompson and Snow were on the second team in 1988. The players were selected by AP sports editor Darrell Christian, college football writer Rick Warner and regional AP sports writers. The team will be featured on Bob Hope's annual Christmas show, Dec. 16 from 10-11 p.m. EST on NBC.

Nollon, who spearheaded a Notre Dame defense that gave up only 15 points a game, made a big impression on Stanford center Chuck Gillingham. "He's a good player last year and I think he's gotten 100 percent better," Gillingham said after Notre Dame beat Stanford 27-17. "He's got arms as big as my thighs.

The Irish will look to re-bound against the Hoosiers after losing to top-ranked Tennessee 77-54 this past Sunday. They will count on the inside strength of sophomore center Margaret Nowlin to lead the way.

The defense was featured in an AP offensive team that included Outland Trophy finalist Moe Gardner of Illinois and Michigan State, Outland finalist seniors, 11 juniors and two sophomores.

Gardner, McCants, Lyght, Thompson and Snow were on the team in 1988. The players were selected by AP sports editor Darrell Christian, college football writer Rick Warner and regional AP sports writers. The team will be featured on Bob Hope's annual Christmas show, Dec. 16 from 10-11 p.m. EST on NBC.

Nowlin, who led the team with 10 points and 15 rebounds against Tennessee, averaged 14.0 points per game, and 11.3 rebounds per game. Joining Nowlin up front in the starting lineup will be sophomore forward Comalita Haysbert (13.3 ppg) and junior forward Kroui Basiv. Juniors Sara Liefshcer and Karen Robinson (14.7 ppg) will likely start in the backcourt for the Irish.

Senior forward Lisa Kuhns (10.0 ppg) will be counted on for support in the frontcourt off the bench. Couparse Washington will also see time at point guard for the Irish. The 5-6 sparkplug from Flint, Michigan leads Notre Dame in both steals (11) and assists (15).

The Hoosiers boast wins over Houston, Valparaiso, and Butler this season, and are led by junior forwards Lori Meierding, who averaged 19.0 points per game, and Ann Zellers (14.0 ppg, 9.3 rpg). Indiana has split four games in its lifetime series against Notre Dame.

Last year Haysbert led the Irish with 16 points in a 56-49 victory over the Hoosiers at the Joyce C.C.

BLOOMINGTON—All too often during Notre Dame's game with Indiana at Assembly Hall Tuesday night, it was difficult to see which team was starting three freshmen and which returned all its players from last year.

The 14th-ranked Hoosiers (4-0) took advantage of 16 first-half Irish turnovers to grab a 42-29 lead at the intermission and never let up to win 81-72.

Indiana had three freshman scoring in double figures. Calbert Cheaney led the way with 20 points. Greg Graham added 16 and Chris Reynolds scored 14.

"They've got freshmen playing like seniors, and we've got seniors playing like freshmen," said Irish senior guard Joe Fredrick, who was held under 10 points for the second straight game. "They didn't do anything we didn't expect."

"It's almost as though when you have seniors who go out there and don't know what they're doing, it's a joke."

Fredrick and fellow senior forward Keith Robinson, each saw only seven minutes of playing time in the first half, for a combined total of 14 minutes. The Irish co-captains each saw only seven minutes of playing time in the first half, combining for five turnovers between the two. Jackson finished with eight points, while Fredrick scored six.

"We need to get Fredrick and Jackson's confidence up because they're not doing the things they can do," said Irish coach Digger Phelps, who watched his team fall to 1-6 on the season. "They are our two leading scorers from last season (excluding the currently ineligible LaPhonso Ellis), and we need to get them going again."

Seniors Irish forward Keith Robinson, averaging 20 points per game going into the evening, scored just six points Tuesday on a 2-of-7 shooting performance. Notre Dame's inside game was further decimated when junior forward Kevin Ellery went down with a sprained ankle in the first half.

"They concentrated more on stopping our inside game," said Robinson. "It was kind of hard for our guards to get us the ball inside because they always had someone sagging in."

Eric Anderson led Indiana's effort in the paint with 10 points and a game-high 11 rebounds.

Daimon Sweet provided the only bright spot for the Irish in the first half. The sophomore swingman came off the bench and scored 10 of his game-high 16 points in the first 20 minutes. Sweet shot 8-of-9 from the field, and his seven rebounds were tied for the team lead.

"I just went out on the floor and did my job description, and everything fell into place," said Sweet.

"Texas Express" co-captain Elmer Bennett added 15 points, also in a reserve role, and was Notre Dame's only other player in double-digit scoring.

Indiana extended its lead to 17 points in the first minute of the second half, when Greg Graham's layup put the Hoosiers on top 46-29.

"We were getting embarrassed, and that's what Notre Dame basketball," said Jackson. "They're well-coached, and if you make a mistake, they capitalize. We picked up the intensity in the second half."

Notre Dame gradually chipped away at the lead and made the score 63-52 on a pair of Robinson free throws with 4:38 to play.

"We played about as well as we could during the first 17 minutes," said Indiana coach Bob Knight.

But there really hasn't been much doubt as to who the most valuable player on this squad has been for the last couple of years. The numbers 27-3, Notre Dame's win-loss record with him as starting quarterback, are all the evidence Tony Rice needs to prove he has overcome all the adversity that came with his entrance into the University.

BLOOMINGTON - The time was ripe for Indiana's Calbert Cheaney to play like a freshman.

After all, he already had scored 20 points for Notre Dame's season-opening win over Miami (Ohio) and was averaging 6.7 rebounds and a team-high 16.7 points per contest three games into the season.

The bubble was about to burst.

And here was Notre Dame, led by seniors Joe Fredrick, Jamere Jackson and Keith Robinson, mounting a comeback in the closing stages of his biggest college game to date.

But Cheaney didn't give in to the pressure. And he certainly didn't play like an 18-year-old.

The 6-6 forward from Evansville scored 20 points on 8-of-10 field-goal and 4-of-5 free-throw shooting to lead the 14th-ranked Hoosiers to an 81-72 victory over the Irish before 17,311 fans at Assembly Hall.

Most importantly, Cheaney made the big plays down the stretch, when Notre Dame was trying a final comeback with four minutes to play in the game.

In a three-minute stretch, Cheaney ...
