Nicaraguan people offered prayers and cooperation as FBI agents searched his warehouse Tuesday looking for an old type of bomb. FBI agents and accompanied them to his warehouse Tuesday afternoon, one day after about 100 agents scoured O’Ferrrell’s home, warehouse and abandoned store, about 75 miles from Montgomery in southeastern Alabama.

FBI agents and other law enforcement personnel talk outside a warehouse they spent much of Monday searching. FBI sources indicate the search is linked to several mail-bombings that resulted in the deaths of a federal judge and a civil rights lawyer.

If you're sick, take this tip: Get well slowly

This is a column about how to get sick over break. No, I'm not talking about walloping 12 shots of tequila and leaning out the window of your best friend's Mazda—this is about being victimized by a virus. It's best to contract one of the more audible illnesses going around; for instance, sneezing fits resulting from your basic cold will greatly rekindle your loved ones of your misery. Situate yourself on a couch in a room accessible to all members of the family. Proximity is key for continuous sympathy. Sleep.

Take your temperature. Cough weakly.

Suggest to your mother that she give you a bell so you can summon her whenever you need to. Be puzzled when she seems disinclined to accommodate you.

Explain that Carol Brady always gave out bibles when the Bunch was sick. Tell her you wish you were a Brady. Tell her you could probably room with Janie. Gringe when you hear your brother answer every phone call with, "What? No, she can't come to the phone right now. She's sick as a dog."

Sleep. Make your mom panic by asking for a bucket.

Play with all the buttons on the remote control to the TV, even the "mute" button. Through random experimentation, find that by pressing the "2" and the "7" buttons simultaneously, you can interrupt the signals from an obscure satellite and watch "Gidget Goes Hawaiian" with Latin subtitles. Take your temperature. Fantasize that if you watch the New Kids on the Block video over and over, you'll miraculously heal, just like that retarded kid in that Geddy Goes Hawaiian video that you've been torturing for months.

Cringe when you hear your brother answer every phone call with, "What? No, she can't come to the phone right now. She's sick as a dog."

Sleep.

More than 10,000 skilled workers held a rally on Tuesday in Berlin to denounce communism for killing East German craftsmanship and demand free-market reforms to revive it. Many of those attending also favored reunification with West Germany. The rally was called on short notice, over the opposition of top union leaders who sell loyal to the Communist system that rewarded them with comfortable bureaucratic positions.

Consumers weary of oat bran probably won’t go back to bacon and eggs for breakfast, but they may be looking for alternatives now that a study has cast doubt on oat bran’s cure-all image. The New England Journal of Medicine on Thursday published results of a study that said eating oat bran had no more effect than other grains on a person’s cholesterol level. It said any beneficial effect appeared to come from cereals displacing fatty foods in the diet.

Researchers are combing the fields and forests of Illinois in search of what they call "the switch," but some state lawmakers in Springfield are gagging over the projected $180,000 cost of studying the birds’ diets. The researchers involved say their work could provide valuable information on how changes in the environment affect animal habitats.

Indiana House approves informed consent for abortions

By PATRICK HEALY

The Indiana House, after defeating a proposal to put off changing abortion laws until next year, approved a measure Tuesday night to require a woman to give an informed consent to the procedure and then wait 24 hours before having an abortion.

Lawmakers voted 64-34 for House Bill 1134, the informed consent bill that now goes to the Senate.

Earlier, by a 70-27 margin, representatives defeated a proposal by Rep. James Davis, R-Frankfort, to gut the major abortion regulation bill pending in the Legislature and assign a study committee to look at all abortion-related issues this summer.

That abortion bill, H.B. 1034, now goes to the House as early as Thursday. That bill would ban the use of public facilities and employ­ees for most abortions.

During the debate Tuesday, H.B. 1034 was rewritten in part so it would also ban an abortion if a viability test showed the fetus could survive outside the womb and so it would impose a 24-hour waiting period before a woman who consented to the procedure could undergo an abortion.

The latter provision is identical to the one approved by the full House in H.B. 1134, which now would require a facility in which an abortion is performed to maintain at least $1 million in general liability insurance.

Rep. Jesse Villapando, a Grif­fith Democrat and co-sponsor of H.B. 1134, said the measure sets a "policy that the woman facing a choice should make the decision based on full information and reflection."

Under the bill, a doctor would have to advise a woman seeking an abortion of the risks — including infection, infertility and hemorrhaging — associated with the operation. Villapando claimed that too often a woman doesn't understand the em­otional and physical conse­quences of having an abortion.

Opponents of the proposal claimed it belittled women's ability to make wise choices.

"We are demeaning the deci­sion Roe v. Wade is making today," said Rep. Brad Rolf, R-Kokomo, who also maintained a waiting period is unconstitutional. "They don't go into it lightly."

Rep. Mark Kruzan, D-Bloom­ington, argued the bill was un­necessary because the state already had Health regulations already required a woman to be in­formed in general terms of the consequences of her choice to have an abortion.

"I believe we should leave in­diana law as restrictive as it is and not make it any more re­strictive," he said.

A coalition of 38 Republicans and 26 Democrats voted in fa­vor of H.B.

Sophomore Espino granted Brother Lavelle Scholarship

By MARIA MILANO

The Brother John Lavelle Scholarship Award was pre­sented to Manuel Espino, a Notre Dame sophomore on Thursday, January 25.

The $250 scholarship has been awarded for the past two years.

Espino has been involved in the South Bend Right to Life chapter since his freshman year. Espino has volunteered as a counselor at women's care centers in South Bend.

"My interest in pro-life issues is not due to religious reasons, but rather it comes from expe­rience," Espino said.

This experience includes Espino's adoption of a baby who was almost aborted by a mother who did not want to have a child.

Espino is the Right to Life representative for Holy Cross High School. He has been trying to work more closely with the St. Joseph County Right to Life chapter.

"I want to be a counselor at the women's care center and I want to talk to and help women who are considering abortion," Espino said.

The $250 scholarship is given to a member of the Notre Dame/Saint Mary's community who stands out in the pro-life movement.

Dooley Award conferred posthumously to ND alumnus

By PATRICK HEALY

Alan Sondej, a Notre Dame graduate who committed him­self to fighting world hunger, will posthumously receive the Notre Dame Alumni Associa­tion's Dr. Thomas A. Dooley Award at their February 2 board meeting.

The Dooley Award is given annually to a Notre Dame graduate who has performed an outstanding humanitarian service.

Sondej, a 1974 graduate, died in a fire rescue attempt two years ago.

As a student, Sondej stood outside the South Dining hall every day for two years solicit­ing donations for a famine re­sponse fund.

According to Pete Pranica, assistant director for Alumni Clubs, Sondej would collect dona­tions in a cut-out milk jug, repeating, "A penny buys three bowls of porridge, a dime buys thirty."

Pranica said that Sondej ex­plained he was "not trying to guilt students into giving," but rather he "wanted students to experience the joy of giving."

According to Pranica, Sondej collected over $25,000 in those two years.

After graduating, Sondej worked for the Overseas Devel­opment Council, where he par­ticipated in relief efforts in other countries. He visited col­leges and universities regularly to organize students in solicit­ing donations.

Sondej later moved to Wash­ington, D.C, for graduate study at the University of Maryland. He joined the Hyattsville Fire Department as a volunteer fire­fighter and was known for his search and rescue skills.

He was injured in a rescue at­ttempt on January 20, 1988, and died two months later.

Sondej's father, Alfred, his sister, Regina, and his brother, Alfred, Jr., will accept the award at the Alumni Associa­tion meetings.

A presentation will be made during halftime of the men's basketball game versus Dayton by Thomas Hogan, president of the Alumni Association. Sondej's brother will receive the award, which will be a replica of the statue in the grotto.

The Dr. Thomas A. Dooley Award is named for the 1948 alumnus who has be­come famous for his work in South Asia with the poor.

Brochures highlighting the lives of Sondej and Dooley will be given to everyone attending the game.
The lawsuit was dismissed by a federal judge in Montgomery.

Club Coordination Council holds meeting

By JOE MOODY

The newly-formed Club Coordination Council (C.C.C.) held its first meeting Tuesday. The C.C.C. will fall under the jurisdiction of Student Government, according to Tom Rask, club coordinator.

Rask expects a constitutional amendment concerning the C.C.C. at the next Student Senate meeting.

The council met with Chris Donnelly, editor-in-chief of The Observer, to discuss establishing a column in The Observer to announce the various upcoming club events. Rask expressed that he was happy that The Observer has agreed to run the column.

The C.C.C. also determined that face-to-face meetings will be held with representatives of each club to allocate student fees after budget recommendations are made.

Rask said he is pleased with the direction of the group and feels it will play a solid role in the Notre Dame community.

was killed two days later by another exploding package, and similar mail bombs were defused at the 11th Circuit Court of Appeals in Atlanta, where Vance served, and at National Association for the Advancement of Colored People headquarters in Jacksonville, Fla.

FBI sources, who spoke on condition of anonymity, confirmed published reports that typewritten correspondence in O'Ferrell's court case appears to match typewritten correspondence allegedly sent by the mail bomber.

Archer, asked about the typewriter, said only that a news report this month mentioned that the media are looking for a typewriter used by the mail bomber.

"They were looking for a typewriter that we may have sold," O'Ferrell said Tuesday as FBI agents weighed the results of their search of the junk dealer's warehouse and other family property.

"It's possible we could have had the typewriter in the last two years," he told radio station WMXY in Enterprise. "But we don't know what typewriter they're talking about. You don't keep a record of everything you sell."

"I don't know anything about any of it," he said. "I don't have anything to hide. When it's all over with, I'll be glad to get with the media and go into details."

He said the FBI asked him not to talk to the media "until they get what they want done."

O'Ferrell had sued Gulf Life Insurance Co. of Jacksonville, for firing him, challenging the company's claim that he held licenses with other insurance companies. O'Ferrell also claimed Gulf Life owed him commissions.

The lawsuit was dismissed by a federal judge in Montgomery in June 1988.

Czechs want U.S.-Soviet summit

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — President Vaclav Havel said Tuesday he would invite Presidents Bush and Mikhail Gorbachev to hold a summit meeting in Prague.

Havel told Parliament he would propose his capital for the U.S.-Soviet meeting during visits this year to Moscow and Washington.

He also proposed the word "socialist" be dropped from the official name of the Czechoslovak Socialist Republic.

Part of the session was taken up by legislators' demands for withdrawal of Soviet soldiers stationed in Czechoslovakia since 1968, when a Warsaw Pact invasion ended the "Prague Spring" reforms.

Legislator Michael Kocab said the agreement on "temporary deployment of Soviet troops on Czechoslovak territory... is an obvious violation of international law, especially the U.N. Charter and the Warsaw Treaty."

A joint commission discussed the matter Jan. 10 in Prague and indicated it would be settled next month.

Since Czechoslovakia's whirlwind revolution, which took less than a month and led to a non-Communist government in December, officials have demanded the estimated 75,000 Soviet troops leave by the end of 1990.

Havel, a dissident playwright often jailed before the revolution, told legislators Tuesday that he "would like to present to Mr. Gorbachev various important and mutually interconnected proposals, including the offer to hold his future meeting with Mr. Bush in Prague."

"Naturally, I will present the same proposal shortly afterward to Mr. Bush during the big state visit to the United States," Havel said in his first major speech to Parliament since it elected him president Dec. 29.

Dates of the visit to Moscow have not been announced, but presidential spokesman Michael Zantovsky said it was scheduled for "beginning of February." He did not say when Havel would visit the United States.

Bush and Gorbachev are tentatively scheduled to meet in June, in the United States. It was not clear whether Havel was suggesting that summit be moved to Prague.

In Washington, Bush spokesman Roman Popadiuk said no official word of the invitation had arrived and "there are no plans for anything beyond the June summit at this time."

In suggesting the change in Czechoslovakia's official name, Havel said: "The word socialism lost meaning in our linguistic context. The moral, political and economic crisis in our country is linguistically inseparable from this word."

Bush to recommend record drug spending

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — President Bush on Tuesday said a Democratic anti-crime bill is "a sheep in wolf's clothing" and promised he will recomend record spending on drug education and treatment.

After a tour of a once drug infested street, Bush said that an anti-crime bill pending in the Senate under the sponsorship of Sen. Joseph Biden, D-Del., is merely a "Trojan Horse."

"It looks like a real crime bill. Sounds like a real crime bill. But in actuality it will be tougher on law enforcement than on criminals," he told a gathering of Kansas City law enforcement officials. "America needs a crime bill with teeth, but this is a sheep in wolf's clothing."

Biden said in Washington that the primary difference between the versions of the bill is over how much resources should be committed.

"The president called my proposal a Trojan horse standing at the gates of Congress," Biden said in a release. "Well, the Trojan horse was filled with soldiers who won their war, and my crime bill is loaded with money for more police and drug agents — soldiers we need to fight the war on crime today."

The White House contends Biden's bill falls short as it pertains to exclusionary rules of evidence, habeas corpus and the death penalty.

Biden's provisions in those areas, Bush said, "will only entrench and extend the legal loopholes and red tape that disrupt law enforcement and have angered the American people for far too long."

Bush toured a street where three so-called crack houses were boarded up, and visited with residents who had helped organize the neighborhood against crime.

Several members from a committee called Black Men Together demonstrated for the president how they discourage drug users by chanting: "Hey Pusher, hey you. Black men out here are watching you," and "You better run dope pusher, better run."

One injured as two Blue Angels collide

EL CENTRO, Calif. (AP) — Two Navy Blue Angels jets collided over the Superstition Mountains during a training exercise Tuesday, causing one of the planes to crash, authorities said.

The pilot of the F-A18 ejected safely before the aircraft went into the mountains between 11 a.m. and noon about 20 miles northwest of this Southern California city, said El Centro Naval Air Facility spokesman. The Navy precision flying team uses the desert base as a winter training center to practice the daring routines it performs at air shows throughout the country.

The planes involved in the collision were part of a four-aircraft diamond formation at the time of the accident, Ray said. Three of the aircraft, including the other one involved in the collision, returned safely to the training center to practice the daring routines it performs at air shows throughout the country.

Dear Editor:

When Pope John Paul II was shot on May 13, 1981 (the anniversary of Mary’s first apparition at Fatima), he prayed fervently that Our Lady would come to the earth. Several weeks later she started appearing again. Spiritually, daily, to several children in Medjugorje, Yugoslavia in what have become the most extraordinary apparitions in the history of the Church. Our response is crucial, so that Our Lord’s grace to us is not in vain.

The world is in a quake of intensity, a time of predestination and true repentance. Does your involvement in science and international relations find themselves at a loss for words? In her apparitions at Fatima, on July 13, 1917, four months before the birth of Marxist Communism in Russia, the Mother of Christ warned that if her requests for conversion were ignored, Russia would result in her errors throughout the world causing great suffering, wars, persecution of the Church, and the annihilation of nations. The apparitions were not approved by the Church until 1930. Jesus went over Jerusalem’s failure to recognize its visitation, and he must have shed tears over the 20th century. The statistics are staggering. In Russia alone, from October 1917 through 1939, 66,000,000 people perished because our Lady’s words were ignored.

At Fatima our Lady also made a promise: "Eventually, my Immaculate Heart will triumph." The Pope will consecrate Russia to my Immaculate Heart, she will be converted, and the world will have some time of peace." This consecration was carried out by Pope John Paul II on March 25, 1984.

In speaking about these incredible times and the extraordinary intervention of her Immaculate Heart, Our Lady said, on July 3, 1987, through Father Gabbi and the Marian Movement of Priests (an organization whose members include over 300 bishops and cardinals, 75,000 priests and 15 million laity), "These times are closer than you think. Already during this Marian Year, certain great events will take place, concerning what I predicted at Fatima and have said, under secrecy, to the children to whom I am appearing at Medjugorje..."

Five months later the leader of the Soviet Union, Mikhail Gorbachev, met with the President of the United States, Ronald Reagan. Just before the meeting Reagan read a message from visionary Maria Pavlovic. After having praised Medjugorje himself, he exclaimed, according to Alfred Kingdon, the American Ambassador to Europe, "Now I am going to this meeting with Gorbachev with a new spirit!" On Dec 8, the feast of the Immaculate Conception, Reagan and Gorbachev signed a peace accord.

Our Lady’s 1989 Christmas message to us from Medjugorje includes a warning: "Dear children...I am interceding for you before God that He give you the gift of conversion of heart. For years I am calling you...but you are so cold! Therefore, little children, I ask you to accept and live the messages with sincerity so that your soul will not be sad when I will no longer be with you and when I will no longer lead you...

With much of the hierarchy of the Catholic Church giving personal testimony to the authenticity of the apparitions, I, the Auxiliary Bishop of Rome, Mgr. Paul Hinleia, S.J., even quotes John Paul II, "If I weren’t a Pope I’d be in Medjugorje already!", it seems foolish to wait before responding to our Lady’s call. On November 21, 1987 apparitions that began in Venezuela on March 25, 1976, were approved by the Church with innocuous effect to the rest of the world which, for the most part, hasn’t even been informed of them.

This Mother’s Day weekend, (May 12-13, 1990) the University of Notre Dame will again host the National Conference on Medjugorje.

Join us to learn how to better respond to Our Lady’s call. She has told us that she can do nothing without us: "You have always prayed that I not abandon you. Now I ask of you, in turn, not to abandon me!"

Social Concerns Festival provides students with opportunity to care

Do you care that there are over forty groups and activities to become involved in at the Center for Social Concerns? Do you care enough to learn about a group suited to your interests? Does your involvement in the CSC in the past make you want more? I’m sure that some of you have already sarcastically answered “no” to these questions, but I know you don’t really mean it.

I know because 150 students participate in the groups and activities every year, and most actually enjoy their participation in these groups. I’m also certain that every Notre Dame student is aware of at least one, if not several groups and activities at the CSC. You hear about students working on the house of the destitute Appalachian people, or you hear about students visiting the city for their 48-hour urban-plunge. You hear the words of the children looking for excitement about their first trip to the dining hall with their “big brother” or “big sister.”

You also hear about the physically, mentally and sexually abused teenagers whom Notre Dame juniors meet at the runaway shelter. You hear about the numerous social action groups (SOC) that work on a variety of activities in the world.

Intriguing and exciting experiences. The Social Concerns Festival offers you the opportunity to hear participants describe their experiences and their involvement in groups as yet unknown to you.

As each semester slips by, I hear of endless numbers of regrets from people who wish they had become involved in an activity at the Center for Social Concerns. But one semester flows into the next and suddenly the opportunity to become involved has vanished.

The upcoming festival gives you a chance to finally get involved in that activity you have always wanted to sign up for. The Festival is also for those of you who would like to do something related to the CSC but are not sure what. I know there is an activity that will interest nearly everyone and fit into even the fullest of schedules. You can take a trip to Appalachia or Washington over spring break. The festival is on Thursday, Jan. 25 at the CSC. This is finally your chance to prove to yourself that you really do care.

QUOTE OF THE DAY

"The road to Hell is paved with good intentions."

Karl Marx
Dublin: A new city, raw music, and a hole-in-the-wall pub

SCOTT BRUTOCAO
overseas writer

In a big city, to find fresh and lively music played with undiluted vigor, sometimes it is necessary to penetrate some of the more obscure areas on the map. In Dublin, this statement can hold true.

We were three foreigners in Dublin on a Friday night, surveying the pubs and heading for no particular destination. The nipping chill of the winds was lent cigarette in Ireland. Still, the clutter did not hold back our ears from hearing music played with unabashed sincerity and with an undiluted edge.

A new city, raw music, and a hole-in-the-wall pub

The set of "Driving Miss Daisy" was carefully chosen in one of Atlanta's few preserved neighborhoods from the 1950's, and its screenplay is eloquently put together, never surrendering the viewer's interest. However, the keys to this movie's success are the truly brilliant performances turned in by Freeman and Jessica Tandy. Not since the Oscar award winning and unforgettable performances by Al Pacino and Dustin Hoffman in "On Golden Pond" has the world around them. "Driving Miss Daisy" is a wonderfully written and brilliantly executed film that will leave you simply feeling good about how beautiful a relationship between two people can be -- the type of relationship we are all capable of achieving with others very different from ourselves.

Many people were rocking back and forth in their seats, overcome with the charge of music running through them. There was also the element of fun, in that at the end of the concert the players traded instruments and got a susceptible member of the crowd to sing along to a completely appallingly wonderful version of "Paradise City." After the session, we were told Hidden Faces was currently negotiating a record contract with 1/2's record label, and that they were in Dublin for only a little while.

As students, we are faced with the opportunity to learn a great many things. But unless we've been fortunate enough to develop a close relationship with our grandparents or have ever volunteered at a local nursing home, we probably have not had the opportunity to learn about the world of the elderly. In "Driving Miss Daisy," writer Alfred Uhry puts his Pulitzer Prize winning book on the screen. Through a simple story, it manages to teach the audience a lot more about a topic most know little about. The film begins with Miss Daisy Werthan (Jessica Tandy), a highly independent 72-year-old Southern Jewish matron, crashing her new car into her neighbor's garden. Without her consent, Miss Daisy's son Boolie (Dan Aykroyd) decides that it is time for her long driving career to be over, and he hires Mr. Hoke Colburn (Morgan Freeman), a very patient black widower, to be his mother's new chauffeur. Thus begins the central theme of the film, the development of a relationship between two very dissimilar people -- a poor black man and a rich, white, Jewish woman who spend the next twenty-six years overcoming their differences and building on their similarities to become best friends.

Adding to "Driving Miss Daisy" is that the movie is set in the rich and divided culture of the south during the 1950's and 1960's, and it reflects some of the most dynamic social changes that occurred in United States history. Such events include the Civil Rights struggle. The band, Hidden Faces, provided us with honest and enthusiastic music, and gave us an authentic look at the Irish underground music scene. At its fullest, the room numbered no more than 50, cramped with chairs and tables everywhere and choked with smoke from the all too prevalent cigarette in Ireland. Still, the clatter did not hold back the energy coming from the stage, energy supplied by audience-pumping, stage-shaking music. Hidden Faces was a band that still had the vitality and playfulness of youth. Its audience knew the words to most of the songs (all written themselves), and outside viewers like ourselves could definitely discern a community atmosphere at the White Horse that night.

Lendl downs Soviet advances, seminars to 7-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Michael P. Landon, who was worried for the match by the 140-degree court heat, took advantage of the Soviet's second serve to win the match 6-4, 6-4, 6-3. The temperature on the rubber red clay court dropped to a relatively balmy 115 degrees on Wednesday, but 140-degree heat at times made hitting the hard court a struggle in the first game of the set on a backhand that drifted long and wide in the breeze.

Edberg, fsming his third break after the win was what for him a big demonstration of his class, moved out of the first four games of the second set.

When he recovered, attacking net more aggressively and serving better, and took the next five games. At 6-5, he had two chances to break Lendl and take the set after ripping a double-fault forehand wide to make it 15-40. But Edberg found four straight points to hold.

Cherkasov was broken for the second time by taking four of the last five points, and pumped his fist a couple of more times. Lendl's power-game carried him through the third set, but he succumbed to the steadier play of Edberg by 6-4.

The 25-year-old Wilander, the Australian Open's defending champion, also found himself in the sixth set to blow out comfortably, hoping to move closer to another title. But he had the toughest challenge of the former champions as he faced No. 2 Boris Becker, hungry for his first title here.

Edberg said that the second-seeded finals matches offered a view of some of the dominant players of the 1980s and perhaps the key players of the 1990s, the past clashing with the future in the first Grand Slam tournament of the decade.

Lendl, the No. 1-ranked player, was the oldest in the group at 29, and faced the youngest, Cherkasov, a 19-year-old Canadian born on the fourth of July. Cherkasov, playing in his first Grand Slam final, gave Edberg a tough time before losing 6-4, 6-4, 6-1. His worst set was in the opening round.

The 25-year-old Wilander, winner of the Australian Open in 1988, lost to Becker 6-4, 6-3, after 1989's Wimbeldon final in the second set with a sprained ankle -- but is widely regarded as one of the world's top young players.

Becker won six of their previous eight matches, losing only on the first two occasions. In their last meeting, in the Davis Cup final in December, Becker outplayed Wilander 6-2, 6-0, 6-2.

first time in eight games. The Hawks scored their last 10 points from the foul line and held a 46-21 free-throwing advantage over the Hornets.

Armstrong had his best night as a Hornet, scoring a season-high 29 points and grabbing 12 rebounds. Armstrong scored 17 points for the Hawks. Antoine Carr had 15 points and Spud Webb had 14.

Bell Curry scored 20 points for Charlotte. Kelly Tripucka and Robert Reid added 13 each while rookie J.R. Reid had 14 rebounds.

The teams went back and forth throughout the first half. The Hawks scored 24 points on a 9-2 surge capped by John Starks' jumper with 1:03 left in the half. It was the Hawks' third straight victory.

The Hawks led 54-53 when Johnson scored four straight points to tie the game at 57. The victory was the Hawks' 10th in 13 games. Johnson scored 10 of the Hawks' final 13 points.

Webb, an 87.7 percent free throw shooter, hit both shots with seven seconds to play for the Bulls.

The Pistons, behind Thomas' 13 points in the first half, led at the break 53-51. Jordan had 19 first-half points for the Bulls.

The Bulls had the biggest lead in the opening quarter, 24-16, after Scottie Pippen converted a 3-point play after being fouled on a layup at 3:49.

transferring to Duquesne, was the nation's ninth leading scorer heading into last weekend. Despite averaging about 28 points a game, the Dukes are having one of their worst seasons in school history.

Duquesne started the season by splitting its first two games, and has since gone on a marathon losing streak. The Dukes had posted a 1:14 record before the weekend.

Stevenson, now a senior, was dismissed from the Notre Dame team after a controversial 1987-88 season, in which the Philadelphia resident had a couple of run-ins with the law.

College basketball fans surely won't have much trouble recognizing the name of the Irish women's tennis team's latest recruit. Over the holidays, Terry Vitale, a former Irish player, signed a letter-of-intent to attend Notre Dame next fall.

Vitale, from St. Stephen's Episcopal High School in Bradenton, Fla., is ranked among the top 50 players in the 18-and-under age bracket by the U.S. Tennis Association.

That's not the only good news for the Irish women's tennis team this week. Sophomore Tracy Barton of Cincinnati has qualified for the U.S. Open and will compete there next week.

Knight says Hoosiers making big contribution to success of young team

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Indiana's Hoosiers, ranked 12th in the nation and off to a 13-2 start this season, owe much of their success to their large and talented class of freshmen.

Coach Bob Knight says it's probably the most talented group of newcomers he's had since his first year at Indiana, that he might redshirt some of them next year and that the biggest difficulty working with so many freshmen is in establishing new habits for them. Knight took time out and talked with Wayne Fuso, sports editor of The Indianapolis News, about the young Indiana team, here's a partial text of the interview:

How did you go about recruiting so many freshmen?

"I don't think that other than the first year I was here were there ever as many good kids who wanted to come to Indiana. There were at least three others we wanted, but just didn't have places for. There were a lot we wanted to recruit right away. The two Grathams, Greg and Pat. Chris Lawson, Calbert Cheaney and Chris Reynolds. Todd Leary was the sixth. I remember watching him early and remember thinking that it was an incredible shame that we had so many guards that we couldn't find a place for him. In almost any year since I came to Indiana, Leary would have been a kid we would have recruited. We were talking to some other coaches about trying to help him get located even though I knew he was a kid who could play at Indiana. Then (Jay) Edwards left (for the National Basketball Association), and that left a spot for a kid like Leary who can shoot the ball. The seventh freshman was Lawrence Funderburke. We took a chance on him and it didn't pan out."

It is difficult to work with that many freshmen?

"It may be more difficult when it comes to establishing new habits. Next year, when we see where we are, we might redshirt a couple of these kids and spread them out a little. All freshmen are like a funnel - everything comes down to them. In high school they all had guys screening for them, passing for them, playing defense for them and doing a lot of things for them. Some teams even play a special kind of defense to keep that one kid out of foul trouble. Now he comes here and he has to be a screener, a passer and a defender. There are a lot of things that he has to do differently. We may have a player who can score better than he can. Maybe his shooting isn't as good. Getting each kid to understand how he must play is probably the most difficult thing. When you are playing a lot of freshmen, and we are playing more now than ever, they are going to make mistakes because they forgot or they don't recognize what's going on. And, when you make a dozen or so mistakes, they're difficult to overcome."

How good are these freshmen?

"I think these kids have been way better than most freshmen. They are going to make mistakes. They're going to make mistakes because they forgot or they don't recognize what's going on. And, when you make a dozen or so mistakes, they're difficult to overcome."

Ellis has not played in enough games to qualify. Also scoring in double figures are Keith Robinson at 15.5 ppg and Joe Fredrick at 13.4. They will likely be joined in the starting lineup by freshman Monty Williams (8.4 ppg) and guard Tim Singleton (5.8 ppg).

NOTES - Wichita State coach Mike Cohen is in his first year at Wichita State after serving as a Shocker assistant for three years. The Shockers played eight of their final 12 games on the road this will be the first meeting between the two teams. Wichita State has been outrebounded only three times this year. The next three Irish games will be televised by Sportschannel.
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Like many of his teammates sharpie John Elway considered the condition of the Denver Broncos and, in the tradition of quarterbacks past, offered a Super Bowl guarantee.

"Get another point-and-a-half," Elway said, "and I guarantee we'll cover the spread.

This furled somewhat short of correctness. Denver's Super Bowl 16 guarantee that the 17 1/2-point underdog New York Jets would beat the Baltimore Colts, but it will have to do for now.

The following line measuring the relative worth of Denver and Baltimore, says the Broncos are double digits short of the 49ers, 12 1/2 points at last report, up from an original 10 Elway thinks his team's situation isn't quite that bad.

"People are not giving us a lot of chance," Elway said. "If we win, it will be the greatest upset of all time. If we lose, well, two consecutives.

The quarterback figures that picks the pressure on the 49ers, and that's fine with him. It takes two teams to make a Super Bowl, and the Broncos are happy to play the party of the second part, odds against them notwithstanding.

"Only one other team has a chance to be world champion," Elway said. "I'd rather go to hail and take my chances than not go to bat. I'll risk humiliation for the sake of the championship.

Humiliation, of course, has been the Broncos' regular diet in this setting. This is Denver's fourth Super Bowl and the third shot for Elway. Each of the other appearances resulted in routs, and those wipeouts — especially the last two when he was the quarterback — weigh heavily on Elway.

"For me to be the quarterback I want to be, I've got to win the big game," he said. "Not too many guys who are classified as great quarterbacks have not won the championship. I don't know how many more chances we'll have. I've missed two opportunities. Hopefully, we won't miss the boat on this one.

Denver lost the first Super Bowl played in the Superdome 27-10 to the 49ers.

State's 150-pound wrestler Gary Hoopes, who had been greated by a mean headlock in the first period that put him on his back had no chance to recover in the second period and was pinned 59 seconds into the match. Layton dominated, especially the last two when he was the quarterback — weight heavily on Elway. "For me to be the quarterback I want to be, I've got to win the big game," he said.

Irish look to rebound against Wichita State

By GREG GUFFRE Assistant Sports Editor

Something will change when Notre Dame hosts Wichita State at the Joyce Center tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Big East.

Both the Irish and the Shockers have been victims of shootouts recently, but in a contrasting manner. The Irish have run into several hot shooting teams, while Notre Dame is having trouble putting things together on field goals.

The Shockers have dropped five of their last six games, while watching opponents fill up the basket at a rate of 50 percent. Kansas State shot 56 percent from the floor in an 83-62 loss last weekend. Before those six games, Wichita State had gone seven games without allowing a 50 percent opponent.

The Irish, meanwhile, went into last week's games against Rutgers and LSU as the top-shooting team in the nation. They connected on just 41.7 percent of their shots in the last two games. They connected on just 41.7 percent of their shots in the last two games. They have lost, but played well overall against teams such as Houston, LSU, 62-54, Indiana, 73-54 and Kansas, 93-66.

The 12th-ranked Notre Dame wrestling team (4-5) overpowered sixth-ranked Ferris State (4-1) Tuesday night at the Joyce ACC by a 22-13 count.

"At Notre Dame we look at it all as pain," commented Irish Coach Fran McCann. "We were doing things without authority.

McCann said he believed the Irish are going to make things happen.

"The kids are anxious to play at home. We have eight home games left and student fans should start making it a very tough time for our opponents," he said.
