Note: The text is extracted from the Observer newspaper.

U.S. soldier dies in Panama City

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) — Some striking Greyhound workers stayed off the picket line Sunday in memory of a co-worker killed while picking, and a federal official said fewer small companies had applied to temporarily take Greyhound routes.

Glen Eady, regional compliance officer for the U.S. Interstate Commerce Commission in Philadelphia, said an ICC board approved four temporary applications Saturday for bus companies in the eastern region. The region includes 23 states from Maine to Florida, but none of the companies serve points south of Virginia, he said.

"The response is not what we expected," Eady said Sunday. He said orders from Greyhound and San Francisco also stayed open.

Academic Tracking

By LIZ HOLTZ

Academic tracking plays an important role in the way students in high school influence each other's college aspirations and eventual attendance. According to a nationwide study completed by two Notre Dame faculty members, there are sharp differences between students in academic and non-academic tracks in shaping a student's college plans and college attendance.

In the study, some students indicated whether they were in an academic track or a vocational track. The study found that students in the academic track had higher aspirations and educational outcomes when they have a best friend in the same track, although the reason for this remains unclear.

However, different track friends are less influential than same track friends in shaping a student's college plans and college attendance, Hallinan said.

Discotheque Bombed

A discotheque frequented by Americans was targeted in the attack on the disco. It is located in the region that includes 23 states from Maine to Florida, but none of the companies serve points south of Virginia, Eady said.

Picketing Drivers

Greyhound strikers said they were picking to mourn death of U.S. soldier in Panama City.

The Observer/Karen Weiss

The victim was preparing to retire this year, said his wife, Dorie Waterhouse.

"It really wasn't even his strike," Mrs. Waterhouse said. "But he was in there in support of his fellow drivers. He kept saying, 'It's a matter of self pride.'"
U.S. shows hypocrisy with Court ruling

It is incredibly ironic that the United States, which halls it self the champion and promoter of democratic rights throughout the world, finds it reasonable to exclude itself from honoring these rights in its dealings with foreign countries.

Last week the Supreme Court ruled that the Fourth Amendment, which guarantees rights against unreasonable search and seizure, does not apply in foreign countries. American law-enforcement agencies will not be required to have a search warrant before searching private property in foreign countries. In altering the amendment, the Supreme court has demonstrated once again that "ideology" can be disposed of when circumstances make it convenient.

American politicians are fond of talking about adhering to our "commitments" to human rights, as if there were a moral basis for U.S. foreign policy which is geared toward the goal of universal freedom. But our actions show that the real goal is more power for the United States, regardless of whether we abide by our own ethical standards.

The implications are great. We lose our credibility with other countries since our rhetoric and our actions are in direct conflict. It is striking enough that the U.S. should feel it is qualified to make such a decision on its own, rather than through an international court or assembly. The Supreme Court addressed only the right of the U.S. to disregard the amendment; if another country did the same, we would certainly call it a criminal action. The ruling implies that the U.S. considers itself on a higher plane than other countries, a plane where laws are unnecessary.

The idea involves circular logic. We are disregarding the Fourth Amendment because it will help us enforce the law. We want to cure all the evils in the world because we are morally superior to them, but because we are morally superior we can disregard our own moral standards in order to impose justice. Regardless of how much we want to convict Manuel Noriega, the situation should not be such that we can send troops to a foreign country to extract a criminal by means that are illegal in our own country, then take him to this country for a "fair trial" by our legal system. The contradiction trivializes the American judicial system, as well as our democratic ideals.

Checks and balances are very important to our law system, and we cannot assume that our law enforcement agencies will be infallible in deciding in what situations it would be reasonable to conduct searches on foreign land. A search warrant is a check which helps ensure that our military does not have too much individual power in foreign countries.

---

Weather

Forecast for noon, Monday, March 5. Lines show high temperatures.

The Observer

Monday, March 5, 1990

Almanac

On March 5:

- In 1776: The Boston Massacre took place as British soldiers who had been taunted by a crowd of colonialists opened fire, killing several people.
- In 1868: The Senate was organized into a Court of Impeachment to decide charges against President Andrew Johnson.
- In 1933: In Germany, the Nazi Party was a majority of seats in parliamentary elections.
- In 1946: Former British Prime Minister Winston Churchill, during an address at Westminster College in Fulton, Mo., spoke of an "Iron Curtain" looking from the Battle to the Adriatic.

---

The Observer (USPS 599 2-4000) is published Monday through Friday except during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is a member of the Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.
ND Security investigates assault

By MONICA YANT

A 21-year-old man is a suspect in a possible sexual assault that occurred Friday, March 2, in a Hesburgh Library restroom, said Chuck Hurley, assistant director of Notre Dame Security.

The suspect, and the 26-year-old female victim, are not associated with Notre Dame. Both are mentally handicapped, he said.

No charges have been filed against the suspect.

After leaving a dance at the Logan Center, a community center for the mentally handicapped, the victim and suspect walked to the library. The victim was found naked in a men’s restroom in the basement at approximately 8:06 p.m., Hurley said.

Observer announces new General Board

By SANDRA WIEGAND

The 1990-91 General Board for The Observer has been chosen by Editor-in-Chief-elect Alison Cocks.

Kelley Tuthill, a sophomore at Notre Dame from Bingham, Mass., who is an American Studies (AMST) major with a concentration in Gender studies, has been named News Editor. Tuthill is currently an Assistant News Editor for The Observer.

Greg Guffey, a junior at ND from New Castle, Ind., who is also an AMST major, has been named Sports Editor. Guffey now serves as Assistant Sports Editor for The Observer.

Colleen Cronin, a junior at ND from Streamwood, Ill., and AMST major, has been named Assistant Editor. Cronin currently serves as Assistant Accent Editor.

Michelle Dall, a junior at ND from Dubuque, Iowa, who is a government major, will be the new Viewpoint Editor. Dall now holds the position of News Editor.

Eric Bailey will be continuing his present position as Photography Editor, which he has held for the 1989-90 publishing year. Bailey is a sophomore at ND, from Crystal Lake, Ill., who is majoring in English.

Corinne Pavil, a junior at Saint Mary’s from Architecture Heights, 111., is a political science major, and has been named Production Manager. Pavil is now Assistant Production Manager.

Brenda Bernstein and Patricia Santis, who are associated with the University of Notre Dame, have been named Editors-at-Large. This is their first position at The Observer.

This is Shinnick’s first Observer post.

Velasquez elected to Board of Trustees

Special to The Observer

Arthur Velasquez, president of Azteca Foods, Inc., Chicago, has been elected a trustee of Notre Dame.

A 1960 graduate in electrical engineering from Notre Dame, Velasquez received an MBA from the University of Chicago in 1967. A trustee of the University of Illinois from 1974 through 1980, he was also the first Hispanic elected to the statewide office.

Velasquez was a founder of Azteca Corn Products Corporation in Chicago in 1970. The company, one of the largest Midwest tortilla manufacturers, was acquired by Pillsbury Company in 1984. Velasquez now heads the corporation that acquired Azteca from Pillsbury in 1989. He is also a founder of CID Broadcast, Inc., the first 24-hour radio broadcast business owned and operated by Chicago Hispanic principals.

A resident of Palos Hills, Ill., he is a director of several Chicago area corporations and is active in many professional, civic and charitable organizations.
Andy Rooney returns to ‘60 Minutes’ after suspension

NEW YORK (AP) — Andy Rooney returned Sunday to “60 Minutes” after a three-week suspension, saying he was worried he’d be wrongly remembered as a racist for remarks he says he didn’t make.

Rooney was suspended by CBS without pay Feb. 8 but reinstated three weeks later.

Back at his usual show-ending segment, he tried it as demeaning to defend himself because he had a long history of supporting civil rights. He said he didn’t know how to apologize to homosexuals for a comment he made last year that he hadn’t realized would be offensive.

Rooney made the comments about the influence of same-sex friends. He was responding to a survey by CBS News president David Burke suspended Rooney after the Advocate, a gay magazine, quoted him as saying that blacks had “watered down their genes” because the least intelligent among them had the most children.

Friends

continued from page 1

“This finding underscores the critical nature of track placement in secondary schools. Tracking leads to within-track friendships, and if students are incorrectly placed, the influence of their friends may result in the development of inappropriate educational choices,” said Hallinan.

The study found no evidence of a gender effect on the peer influence process. Hallinan said, “The difference between the influences of females and males is negligible and different sex friends are about as influential as same-sex friends.”

However, the research reveals interesting differences in influence by race. “Counter to prevalent belief, white students have substantially higher college expectations when they have a black best friend, and the educational aspirations of a black student differs little by the race of his or her best friend,” said Williams.

Cross-race best friendships are rare. There were only a few hundred in the student samples. "But once formed, cross-race friendships bear a strong resemblance to same-race friendships in terms of the way influence occurs,” Hallinan said.

Hallinan and Williams’ analysis of the National Opinion Research Center data is guided by T. Parsons theory of influence, which was expressed in a 1963 paper in Public Opinion.

“Since friends, and especially close friends are perceived as trustworthy, a student is likely to believe their advice about the advantages or disadvantages of college,” said Hallinan. “And the influence is likely to persist over a student’s secondary school career if the friendship tie continues.”

The journal, Sociology of Education, will publish the study by Hallinan and Williams in an upcoming issue.

Panama

As reported from page 1

Protesters also said they were concerned that the Panamanian government guaranteed safe passage out of the country to Noriega’s family and several other Noriega associates.

Giroldi’s widow Adela said she did not know who threw the firebombs. “It was peaceful and the incident was provoked by unknown people,” she said.

After the embassy incident, the protesters met with Ricardo Calderon, first vice president and minister of justice and security. Arias Calderon guaranteed the widows that the government would not grant safe conduct to Gonzalo Gonzalez and Noriega.

U.S. soldiers and Panamanian police restored order.

The protest was organized by widows of Panamanian soldiers slain in an Oct. 3 attempt to topple Noriega. They are angered that Gonzalo Gonzalez and Hercules Suarez, who are accused of killing coup leader Maj. Moises Giroldi, have been given refuge.

Students and faculty members were provoked by un

Students and faculty members were provoked by unknown people.

THE STUDENT

Are you interested in helping to manage and account for $400,000?

If you are a SOPHOMORE BUSINESS MAJOR who enjoys working with money and people, STUDENT GOVERNMENT needs you as the Student Body Assistant Treasurer.

-Student Body Assistant Treasurer aids the Student Body Treasurer in disbursing funds for:
  -Student Government
  -Student Union Board
  -Halls
  -Clubs and Organizations

This is in preparation for your becoming THE STUDENT BODY TREASURER the following year.

-Applications are available in the Treasurer’s office
  2nd floor LaFortune between 1-5 pm.
  Due on Friday March 9 by 4:00 pm.

Any questions, contact Jim Hanley at 239-7417

The Observer

is currently accepting applications for the following position:

Advertising Representatives

For more information contact Beth at 239-6900 or 283-27222
SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Four thousand people set out Sunday on a 52nd anniversary re-enactment of a historic civil rights march to Montgomery, including a replay of a bloody confrontation with police on a bridge. The group returning to the Edmund Pettus bridge was led by several civil rights figures including Jesse Jackson and Corretta Scott King. Among them were some of the original marchers, including U.S. Rep. John Lewis, Hosea Williams, Albert Turner and F.D. Reese.

"We shed a little blood here that made a difference. People are now registering to vote," said Lewis, D-Ga.

Halfway up the bridge Sunday, smoke was released to simulate police tear gas and marchers two abreast retreated, some falling to the ground.

On March 7, 1965, on the day remembered in civil rights annals as Bloody Sunday, police used hilly clubs and tear gas to turn back hundreds of marchers on the bridge named for a Confederate general.

"Lord knows we're not where we ought to be, but thank God we're not where we used to be," William said as he crossed the bridge. "We've come a long way. But Lord knows we've got a much further way to go."

The 50-mile march will continue in segments each day through the week before culminating with a rally March 10 at the Alabama Capitol. After crossing the bridge, most of the crowd turned back to Selma, leaving several hundred to continue a short distance toward Montgomery before stopping for the night, police said.

Jackson, speaking earlier Sunday from the First Baptist Church pulpit to about 600 people, said Martin Luther King did not die and Nelson Mandela did not languish in a South African prison for 27 years for blacks not to exercise their right to vote.

"You cannot walk around here with these unused blessings," Jackson said, adding that 35 percent of all blacks eligible to vote are unregistered.

"God has given us all these votes. When you drop them they become snakes and go to Washington and bite us."

Two weeks after the 1965 violence at the bridge stopped the first march, King and other notables led a second march — authorized by a federal judge and protected by thousands of federal troops — all the way to Montgomery. The events, including Ku Klux Klan violence against the march, galvanized Congress to pass the 1965 Voting Rights Act.

The law lowered voting barriers to blacks across the South and eventually led to a sharp increase in the number of both black voters and black officeholders. In Selma alone, the number of black registered voters has climbed from about 600 in 1965 to 10,800 now. Three of the five members of the Dallas County Commission are black. Four of the nine members of the Selma City Council are black.

"We have another bridge to go across now, the racial bridge, the bridge at Selma High School," Jackson said.

At the high school, about 150 black students staged a sit-in last month that led to a week-long, statewide hall of classes while other blacks intermittently occupied City Hall. The protests stemmed from the white-majority school board's refusal to extend the contract of the 75 percent black system's superintendent, Norward Russell, the system's first black school chief.

Lewis, who was injured on Bloody Sunday, said the clash on the bridge "created a sense of rightful indignation" across the country and resulted in demonstrations in more than 80 cities.

"The movement created a climate for President Johnson and for the Congress to say yes while many had a desire to say no," said Lewis.

Bloody Sunday helped make America "a little more caring, a little more sharing," said Lewis.

The Johnson administration had focused itself on Vietnam and the war on poverty until Bloody Sunday.

SEVEN TASTY WAYS TO IMPROVE A COLLEGE EDUCATION.

Mon.

Thick Thursday
Present this coupon and receive 1 medium pizza brushed in cheese and peppers.
Pan $6.00
Offer valid Thursday's only!
OFFER EXPIRES: 6/30/90

Tues.

It's a pizza lover's dream come true! Every day this week, you can get a special offer from Domino's Pizza! Whether it's free extra crust or a free small cheese pizza, there's more reasons to make this the week for a special treat from Domino's Pizza. So why not give us a call in 30 minutes or less, you'll see why this is the week you've been waiting for.

CALL US!
271-0300
1835 South Bend Ave.

Weds.

Double Dinner Deal
Present this coupon and receive 2 1/2 oz original cheese pizzas for $11.49.
Offer valid Friday's only!
OFFER EXPIRES: 6/30/90

Thurs.

Double Feature
Present this coupon and receive 2 small original cheese pizzas for $2.99.
Offer valid Sunday's only!
OFFER EXPIRES: 6/30/90

Fri.

Party Special
Present this coupon and receive 2 1/2 oz original cheese pizzas with 4 toppings and 4 Cokes for $12.89.
Offer valid Saturday's only!
OFFER EXPIRES: 6/30/90

Sun.

TANNING
Finally enjoy safe sunning. We offer a FREE tanning session with your first visit or a FREE tanning session (worth $29) with any complete second visit. Call for details.

CALL US!
271-0300
1835 South Bend Ave.

Thurs.

Triple Tuesday
Present this coupon and receive 3 small original cheese pizzas for $6.99. Additional purchases available at an additional charge.
Offer valid Tuesday's only!
OFFER EXPIRES: 6/30/90

FRI.

DOMINO'S PIZZA DELIVERS FREE

Fri.

Women Engineers sponsored an informational workshop for students interested in a career in engineering.

The Saturday seminar consisted of three sets of 10 minute talks by professionals that presented speakers from major corporations such as Bendix, Amoco, and Arthur Anderson. The subjects discussed ranged from effective job hunting to careers in mechanical engineering.

Although many of the participants were engineering majors, the workshop provided the students with optional career paths. A representative from Arthur Anderson discussed the prerequisites needed for an engineering degree to enter the consulting field.

The issue of personal sacrifices was addressed by a representative from the Amoco Oil Company who discussed ways to combine a successful career and a family.

Despite the fact that the event was sponsored by the Society of Women Engineers, Christina Mueller, assistant chairperson, said that the workshop "was not just for women, but for anyone who wanted an insight of the various engineering fields."
Bill of University and Student Relations

Article I
A student has a right to due process. This right entitles the accused to a presumed innocent until proven guilty, to be informed of the accusation before the disciplinary hearing, to an adequate time to prepare a defense, to a fair hearing, to present witnesses and evidence, to have the assistance of an advisor, to be judged by a fair and impartial tribunal, to appeal a decision if a violation of due process has been alleged and/or if new substantive evidence has been introduced into a case, and to a written explanation of the holding of the hearing.

Article II
A student has the right to be judged by one's peers. Students will comprise at least one half of the panel at administrative hearings.

Article III
A student has the right to an open hearing. Disciplinary hearings will be open unless the student chooses to rectify the situation with the rector directly; violations of intra-dormitory rules, and first offenses of conduct which significantly impact the dorm more than that of the University.

Article IV
A student has a right to due process. This right entitles the accused to a presumed innocent until proven guilty, to be informed of the accusation before the disciplinary hearing, to an adequate time to prepare a defense, to a fair hearing, to present witnesses and evidence, to have the assistance of an advisor, to be judged by a fair and impartial tribunal, to appeal a decision if a violation of due process has been alleged and/or if new substantive evidence has been introduced into a case, and to a written explanation of the holding of the hearing.

Article V
Students have the right not to be collectively punished. Collective punishment involves the imposition of a sanction to a general group of students who may or may not have participated in the act in question. This right does not bar the self-imposition of collective responsibility.

Article VI
Students have the right to free and uncensored press. This right shall be applied to all officially sanctioned University publications. Students have a right to free and uncensored press. This right shall be applied to all officially sanctioned University publications. Students have the right not to be collectively punished. Collective punishment involves the imposition of a sanction to a general group of students who may or may not have participated in the act in question. This right does not bar the self-imposition of collective responsibility.

Article VII
The University has the responsibility to a public disclosure of all administrative hearings. The parties involved shall remain nameless.

Article VIII
Students have the right to be collectively punished. Collective punishment involves the imposition of a sanction to a general group of students who may or may not have participated in the act in question. This right does not bar the self-imposition of collective responsibility.

Article IX
Students have a right to free and uncensored press. This right shall be applied to all officially sanctioned University publications. Students have the right not to be collectively punished. Collective punishment involves the imposition of a sanction to a general group of students who may or may not have participated in the act in question. This right does not bar the self-imposition of collective responsibility.

Article X
Students have the right to be collectively punished. Collective punishment involves the imposition of a sanction to a general group of students who may or may not have participated in the act in question. This right does not bar the self-imposition of collective responsibility.

Article XI
Students have the right to be collectively punished. Collective punishment involves the imposition of a sanction to a general group of students who may or may not have participated in the act in question. This right does not bar the self-imposition of collective responsibility.

Article XII
Students have the right to be collectively punished. Collective punishment involves the imposition of a sanction to a general group of students who may or may not have participated in the act in question. This right does not bar the self-imposition of collective responsibility.

Article XIII
Students have the right to be collectively punished. Collective punishment involves the imposition of a sanction to a general group of students who may or may not have participated in the act in question. This right does not bar the self-imposition of collective responsibility.

Article XIV
Students have the right to be collectively punished. Collective punishment involves the imposition of a sanction to a general group of students who may or may not have participated in the act in question. This right does not bar the self-imposition of collective responsibility.

Article XV
Students have the right not to be collectively punished. Collective punishment involves the imposition of a sanction to a general group of students who may or may not have participated in the act in question. This right does not bar the self-imposition of collective responsibility.

Article XVI
Students have the right not to be collectively punished. Collective punishment involves the imposition of a sanction to a general group of students who may or may not have participated in the act in question. This right does not bar the self-imposition of collective responsibility.

Article XVII
Students have the right not to be collectively punished. Collective punishment involves the imposition of a sanction to a general group of students who may or may not have participated in the act in question. This right does not bar the self-imposition of collective responsibility.

Article XVIII
Students have the right not to be collectively punished. Collective punishment involves the imposition of a sanction to a general group of students who may or may not have participated in the act in question. This right does not bar the self-imposition of collective responsibility.

Article XIX
Students have the right not to be collectively punished. Collective punishment involves the imposition of a sanction to a general group of students who may or may not have participated in the act in question. This right does not bar the self-imposition of collective responsibility.

Article XX
Students have the right not to be collectively punished. Collective punishment involves the imposition of a sanction to a general group of students who may or may not have participated in the act in question. This right does not bar the self-imposition of collective responsibility.

Article XXI
Students have the right not to be collectively punished. Collective punishment involves the imposition of a sanction to a general group of students who may or may not have participated in the act in question. This right does not bar the self-imposition of collective responsibility.

Article XXII
Students have the right not to be collectively punished. Collective punishment involves the imposition of a sanction to a general group of students who may or may not have participated in the act in question. This right does not bar the self-imposition of collective responsibility.

Article XXIII
Students have the right not to be collectively punished. Collective punishment involves the imposition of a sanction to a general group of students who may or may not have participated in the act in question. This right does not bar the self-imposition of collective responsibility.

Article XXIV
Students have the right not to be collectively punished. Collective punishment involves the imposition of a sanction to a general group of students who may or may not have participated in the act in question. This right does not bar the self-imposition of collective responsibility.

Article XXV
Students have the right not to be collectively punished. Collective punishment involves the imposition of a sanction to a general group of students who may or may not have participated in the act in question. This right does not bar the self-imposition of collective responsibility.

Article XXVI
Students have the right not to be collectively punished. Collective punishment involves the imposition of a sanction to a general group of students who may or may not have participated in the act in question. This right does not bar the self-imposition of collective responsibility.

Student Government Legal Department is proposing this document to the Student Body Senate tonight at 6:00 p.m. in the Notre Dame room, second floor LaFortune. The issues in this document affect every Notre Dame student. All Senate meetings are open. ***

TAKING A STAND

TD announces research funds

Notre Dame received $783,537 in grants during January for the support and research in various programs. Research funds totaled $1,729,509, including:

$297,822 from the National Institutes of Health for research by George Craig, professor of biological sciences, on vector competence for La Crosse virus in Aedes.

$213,340 from the National Institutes of Health for research by Howard Saz, professor of biological sciences, on the metabolism of parasitical worms.

$183,620 from the National Institutes of Health for research by Francis Castellino, dean of the College of Science and Kieblerer-Pezold professor of biochemistry, on blood coagulation protein-metal ion-lipid interactions.

$174,247 from the National Institutes of Health for research by Anthony Seranni, associate professor of chemistry and biochemistry, on biologically-important furanosyl ring.

$134,062 from the National Institutes of Health for research by Malcolm Fraser, associate professor of biological sciences, on transposed mutations.

$115,000 from the Indiana State Board of Health for a research by Stephen Ludden, professor of physics.

$103,800 from the National Science Foundation for fast beam research by Stephen Ludden, professor of physics.

$60,000 from the Indiana University School of Medicine for wound healing research by Robert Kingsley, adjunct assistant professor of the South Bend Center for Medical Education.

$40,000 from the American Chemical Society's Petroleum Research Fund for studies by Michael Checchio, assistant professor of chemistry, on the chemistry of uncataturred metal complexes.

$26,490 from the O'Shaughnessey Foundation for research by Thomas Smith, chairman and professor of architecture, on a new English translation of The Ten Books on Architecture.

$25,000 from the Lilly Endowment Inc. for research by Elizabeth Papers.

$24,000 from the National Science Foundation for a grant for research by Francis Castellino, dean of the College of Science and Kieblerer-Pezold professor of biochemistry.

$20,000 from the National Science Foundation for a grant for research by Francis Castellino, dean of the College of Science and Kieblerer-Pezold professor of biochemistry.

$17,000 from the National Institute of Health for research by Robert Kingsley, adjunct assistant professor of the South Bend Center for Medical Education.

$14,000 from the National Institutes of Health for research by Francis Castellino, dean of the College of Science and Kieblerer-Pezold professor of biochemistry.

$1,783,537 in grants during January for the support and research in various programs. Research funds totaled $1,729,509, including:

$297,822 from the National Institutes of Health for research by George Craig, professor of biological sciences, on vector competence for La Crosse virus in Aedes.

$213,340 from the National Institutes of Health for research by Howard Saz, professor of biological sciences, on the metabolism of parasitical worms.

$183,620 from the National Institutes of Health for research by Francis Castellino, dean of the College of Science and Kieblerer-Pezold professor of biochemistry, on blood coagulation protein-metal ion-lipid interactions.

$174,247 from the National Institutes of Health for research by Anthony Seranni, associate professor of chemistry and biochemistry, on biologically-important furanosyl ring.

$134,062 from the National Institutes of Health for research by Malcolm Fraser, associate professor of biological sciences, on transposed mutations.

$115,000 from the Indiana State Board of Health for a research by Stephen Ludden, professor of physics.

$103,800 from the National Science Foundation for fast beam research by Stephen Ludden, professor of physics.

$60,000 from the Indiana University School of Medicine for wound healing research by Robert Kingsley, adjunct assistant professor of the South Bend Center for Medical Education.

$40,000 from the American Chemical Society's Petroleum Research Fund for studies by Michael Checchio, assistant professor of chemistry, on the chemistry of uncataturred metal complexes.

$26,490 from the O'Shaughnessey Foundation for research by Thomas Smith, chairman and professor of architecture, on a new English translation of The Ten Books on Architecture.

$25,000 from the Lilly Endowment Inc. for research by Elizabeth Papers.

$24,000 from the National Science Foundation for a grant for research by Francis Castellino, dean of the College of Science and Kieblerer-Pezold professor of biochemistry.

$20,000 from the National Science Foundation for a grant for research by Francis Castellino, dean of the College of Science and Kieblerer-Pezold professor of biochemistry.

$17,000 from the National Institute of Health for research by Robert Kingsley, adjunct assistant professor of the South Bend Center for Medical Education.

$14,000 from the National Institutes of Health for research by Francis Castellino, dean of the College of Science and Kieblerer-Pezold professor of biochemistry.
Japanese/U.S. talks end friendly

TOKYO (AP) — Prime Minister Toshiaki Kaifu left behind friendly talks with President Bush and returned home Sunday to political reality — likely to dampen any post-summit euphoria.

Japanese officials accompanying Kaifu said the summit in Palm Springs, Calif., could fortify Kaifu’s position as he tries to carry out pledges of economic reform.

After his warm welcome in California, however, Kaifu faces a decidedly cooler reaction in Tokyo, where there is opposition to trade-related economic reform both in his Liberal Democratic Party and in the opposition-controlled upper house of Parliament.

The summit, hastily arranged only a week in advance, had in the opposition-controlled Diet likely to dampen any post-summit euphoria.

Kaifu responded to Bush’s request for substantive progress on both the Structural Impediments Initiative — talks aimed at attacking the trade imbalance indirectly through economic reform — and in other disputed trade areas with a pledge to “Do my best.”

“I told the president I am asking for cooperation and understanding from my people, from businesses,” and from involved government agencies, Kaifu told reporters in the United States.

Among all three groups, Kaifu faces stubborn resistance to change and a tradition of cautious, slow decision-making that will hinder efforts to meet deadlines for progress on trade issues.

Proposals include streamlining Japan’s byzantine distribution system with its many middlemen, hastening the opening of price-competitive large stores, and strictly enforcing anti-monopoly laws.

Land-use reforms aimed at increasing space for much-needed housing and at cutting exorbitant land prices could eventually hit the real estate values underpinning much of Japan’s enormous financial wealth.

“The road is not smooth. We are dealing with things both societies have tried for decades,” acknowledged Yukio Okamoto, director of the First North American Division of the Foreign Ministry.

Many Japanese government and business leaders said Sunday they were happy with the results of the summit, and vowed to work hard to settle economic conflicts with the United States.

Japanese/U.S. talks end friendly

TOKYO (AP) — Prime Minister Toshiaki Kaifu left behind friendly talks with President Bush and returned home Sunday to political reality — likely to dampen any post-summit euphoria.

Japanese officials accompanying Kaifu said the summit in Palm Springs, Calif., could fortify Kaifu’s position as he tries to carry out pledges of economic reform.

After his warm welcome in California, however, Kaifu faces a decidedly cooler reaction in Tokyo, where there is opposition to trade-related economic reform both in his Liberal Democratic Party and in the opposition-controlled upper house of Parliament.

The summit, hastily arranged only a week in advance, had in the opposition-controlled Diet likely to dampen any post-summit euphoria.

Kaifu responded to Bush’s request for substantive progress on both the Structural Impediments Initiative — talks aimed at attacking the trade imbalance indirectly through economic reform — and in other disputed trade areas with a pledge to “Do my best.”

“I told the president I am asking for cooperation and understanding from my people, from businesses,” and from involved government agencies, Kaifu told reporters in the United States.

Among all three groups, Kaifu faces stubborn resistance to change and a tradition of cautious, slow decision-making that will hinder efforts to meet deadlines for progress on trade issues.

Proposals include streamlining Japan’s byzantine distribution system with its many middlemen, hastening the opening of price-competitive large stores, and strictly enforcing anti-monopoly laws.

Land-use reforms aimed at increasing space for much-needed housing and at cutting exorbitant land prices could eventually hit the real estate values underpinning much of Japan’s enormous financial wealth.

“The road is not smooth. We are dealing with things both societies have tried for decades,” acknowledged Yukio Okamoto, director of the First North American Division of the Foreign Ministry.

Many Japanese government and business leaders said Sunday they were happy with the results of the summit, and vowed to work hard to settle economic conflicts with the United States.

Efforts to arrest Philippine official result in 14 deaths

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Officials tried Sunday to arrest a governor indicted in a recent coup attempt, but his supporters defended him in clashes that left at least 14 people dead, including a general, authorities said.

The trouble began early Sunday when officials sent to arrest Gov. Rodolfo Aguinagalde in the city of Tuguegarao were taken hostage in a hotel. Later, government forces stormed the hotel, leading to a series of clashes later in the day in the city. At least 10 people were reported wounded.

Aquinagalde, a former lieutenant colonel, escaped, but officials said Sunday about 200 of his followers had surrendered.

The military chief of staff, Gen. Renato de Villa, placed the armed forces on nationwide alert and ordered the military to capture Aguinagalde “at all costs.”

Scattered shooting was still reported late Sunday in Tuguegarao, capital of Cagayan province 250 miles north of Manila.

Col. Emiliano Templo told reporters Aguinagalde’s followers were believed to be holding some people hostage in homes near the hotel.

However, Acting Gov. Melvin Vargas said 10 more Aguinagalde followers surrendered early Monday and released about 30 hostages they were holding at a pawn shop. It was unclear if other hostages were still being held.

Troops blocked a major bridge south of Tuguegarao, stranding thousands of travelers. Templo said Aguinagalde’s followers included his private army, government militiamen and army Scout Rangers.

Marines were flown from Manila on Sunday to reinforce security in Tuguegarao, a city of more than 80,000 people. Philippine Airlines canceled flights to the city and schools were ordered closed Monday.

In Manila a homemade bomb exploded late Sunday in the Makati district, but no injuries were reported and it was apparently unrelated to the fighting.

Local Governments Secretary Luis Santos said on Monday, Oscar Florendo had gone to Tuguegarao to serve Aguinagalde with the arrest warrant.

Before dawn, Aguinagalde’s supporters surrounded the six-story Delfina Hotel and took Florendo, chief of the military’s civil relations service, and three aides prisoner and trapped Santos and others on the second floor.

About 3 p.m. government forces launched an all-out attack. Florendo, 51, was wounded during the rescue and was dead on arrival at a city hospital, said defense spokeswoman Lourdes Buzque.

Santos, two mayors, two colonels and a police superintendent were rescued unharmed, officials said.

Casualties were incomparable, but regional commander Gen. Miguel Fontana said at least 14 people died.

They included 10 killed during a clash at a checkpoint near a bridge, three in fighting near a radio station and Florendo at the hotel, he said.

President Corazon Aquino said Florendo “was killed by one of the followers of sui­cide bomber” Aguinagalde.

The act of cowardice and treachery of Aguinagalde’s followers will not go unpunished, she said.

“I call on all our people to continue to support this victory and uphold our constitutional democracy and the processes of law in a peaceful manner.”

In a radio interview at the hotel earlier Sunday, Aguinagalde said he was a “victim of injustice.... I don’t mind dying as a villain.” He threatened to take his followers into the mountains and become “a rebel.”

Aquino was suspended in January as governor of Cagayan province for allegedly trying to oust Mrs. Aquino since she took power in 1986.

HOURS: Mon.-Fri. 8:00-5:30 Sat. 8:00-12 MAPLE LANE BARBER SHOP 2112 South Bend Avenue South Bend, IN 46637 272-6722 next to Coach’s

The Observer

is currently accepting applications for the following position:

Advertising Clerk
For more information contact Beth at 239-6900 or 283-2722.

The Observer

is currently accepting applications for the following position:

Assistant Production Managers
To apply, please submit a one-page personal statement to Joe Zadrozny by 5 p.m. Friday, March 9. For further information, contact Joe Zadrozny at 239-7471. at 283-3128.

CHEER CHEER FOR OLD NOTRE DAME
Cheerleading Tryouts
March 23rd and 24th 7:00pm in the Basketball Arena

(Jane Special) Student Haircuts $8.00 By Jane Only
I'm only 5 min. from campus

The Castle
St. Rd. 23 at Irovecald, Sulia 14 Convenient Parking 272-8471

The Observer

is currently accepting applications for the following position:

Assistant Production Managers
To apply, please submit a one-page personal statement to Joe Zadrozny by 5 p.m. Friday, March 9. For further information, contact Joe Zadrozny at 239-7471. at 283-3128.

Cheerleading Tryouts
March 23rd and 24th 7:00pm in the Basketball Arena

(Jane Special) Student Haircuts $8.00 By Jane Only
I'm only 5 min. from campus

The Castle
St. Rd. 23 at Irovecald, Sulia 14 Convenient Parking 272-8471
Residents protest Daley's airport

CHICAGO (AP) — Windows of bungalows lining the streets of the city's industrial Southeast Side are staring to sport new signs: an airplane stamped with a red circle and a slash.

The message: No airport.

Mayor Richard Daley's plan to build a third metropolitan airport near the Indiana line has sparked heated debate among politicians in two states and across the neighborhoods that would be bulldozed and replaced with runways.

Daley announced the $4.9 billion project two weeks ago, saying it represents jobs and an investment that would help revitalize the area, site of shuttered steel mills and toxic dumps.

But Indiana officials are fighting for a share of any new airport that might be built to alleviate congestion at Chicago's O'Hare International, the world's busiest.

A state committee already had been considering four possible sites, near Gary, Ind., and even in Hegewisch, a mixed industrial and residential neighborhood Daley's Lake Calumet Airport would displace, there is no consensus.

"Why do we have to leave? Why should we tell people where to live?" home- owner Janet Chibicki said last week.

But contractor James Amenkos, a resident for 26 years, says there is no number of reasons to bulldoze Hegewisch for an airport.

"I think it'd be really good for the area considering we got dumps on one side killing us. The water's contaminated. What have we got left? All I've got left is people who got pride," he said.

On one street, a block of white frame houses dead-ends with a view of a flaming smokestack at the LTV steel yard. At the William W. Powers State Fish and Wildlife Area, picnic tables overlook oil tanks on the opposite shore of Wolf Lake.

Under the mayor's proposal, 5,510 to 9,360 homes would be replaced by runways in Chicago's Hegewisch and South Deering neighborhoods and in suburban Burnham and Calumet City.

"It took everything we have to get this house, now they're going to take it away from us," said Mrs. Chibicki. She and her husband, Gary, saved 10 years before buying it for $64,000 in 1988, and she does not think they'll get a fair price for it.

"I don't think anybody, even the mayor of the city of Chicago, has the right to literally destroy neighborhoods, when you're talking of 20 miles south or east of us," said Calumet City Mayor Robert Ste- fanik.

No option has won federal support and even if Lake Calumet Airport R1 built, it would not open for about 20 years.

The airport would cover 9,400 acres, compared with O'Hare's 7,700 acres. The city intends to pay for it with bonds, federal grants and either a $2.25 tax on travelers at O'Hare and Midway Airport on the Southwest Side, or state and local taxes.

The city estimates the airport would create more than 200,000 permanent jobs and each year would inject $13.7 billion into the regional economy.

The city has pledged to reimburse homeowners at fair- market value and to pay moving expenses and a relocation allowance, said Marj Halperin, Daley's deputy press secretary.

Daley's announcement also spawned a political fight, because it pre-empts the Illinois-Indiana committee that already had chosen four finalist airport sites, two in Indiana and two south of Chicago.

Sen. Dan Coats, R-Ind., has enlisted the aid of fellow Republicans, including Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole, to fight Daley's plan.

"The mayor's plan is clearly unfair to Indiana, which has played by the rules from the beginning in the selection process for that new airport," Coats said.

He is trying to block $5.2 million the city requested from the Federal Aviation Admin- istration to produce a master plan for the airport.

Rep. Pete Visclosky, D-Ind., has accused U.S. Transporta- tion Secretary Samuel Skinner, former chairman of the Re- gional Transportation Authority of Northern Illinois, of favoring the city.

"All I've agreed to do is not eliminate any choices," Skinner said last week after meeting with Coats and Dole.

The Observer is currently accepting applications for the following position:

Day Chief

For information, please contact Kelley Tuthill at 239-5303. To apply for the position, please submit a one-page personal statement by 5 p.m. Wednesday, March 7.

PRESEASON GOLF SALE

AT THE NOTRE DAME GOLF SHOP

20% OFF SELECT PRODUCTS PLUS

SHOW YOUR STUDENT OR STAFF ID AND TAKE ANOTHER 10% OFF

SHOP OPEN MON-FRI 7:30 AM - 1:00 PM
SALE GOOD THROUGH APRIL 16

Golf Sale Flyer

GOOD LUCK!
Debt excesses unravel, economic progress to follow

Henry Kaufman is an old-fashioned economist, but suddenly that begins to sound like a compliment. For 26 years as a leading official at Salomon Brothers, he warned of ever-increasing fiscal pressure against the national tendency to put everything on the credit card — even as Wall Street itself became a principal exporter of the pervasive mania for debt.

Now, on his own for the past two years as head of the New York consulting and money-management firm that bears his name, Kaufman has what might seem the satisfaction of watching many deserving firms get their comeuppance. Not only does the junk-bond empire of Drexel Burnham Lambert collapse, but also the S&Ls, or savings and loan associations, that were considered as integrated resources, Bank of New England, Continental, and countless Skils have also lost their luster.

But Kaufman, characteristically, is not gloating, nor melodramatic. He is convinced that what he calls "the financial recklessness of the past decade" will result in tighter rules and disciplined influence for once- arrogant Wall Street firms, and he fears that this will lead to a less efficient allocation of capital generally.

But is not joining the frightening chorus that says these unraveling financial excesses must inevitably lead to crash and depression for the American economy.

When I asked him directly whether such a dire outcome was now avoidable, Kaufman gave a surprisingly upbeat response. He said he believed the odds were against either a crash or depression, or even decade-long malaise, and that the 1990s could turn out reasonably well for the American economy. But there would be some painful transitions along the way.

"The problem in the financial system really is one of fragility," he told me, "and the difficulty is to determine what that fragility is. We have a series of financial institutions, particularly thrift institutions, that are in difficulty. That may be a cost of $300 billion to the American public.

"We have other financial institutions significantly leveraged, with a considerable amount of assets which are not what they used to be. And of course we have corporations very heavily indebted. Now, put that all together, there is a serious risk for the American economy that just can't be qualified.

"Despite such limits, Kaufman believes this "restraint" should stop well short of catastrophe. "It, however, will take considerable time to undo what was done over a decade or two," he said.

"And this is one of the great difficulties here, to be able to absorb this pain. I suspect that it won't lead to a crash or a depression — that our government, the Federal Reserve, is going to be strong enough to put out the fires wherever they may be.

"But nevertheless this is going to make some of our institutions invalid, they're going to be convalescent rather than being vibrant as lenders, and therefore will be an impediment to the economy and to our international competitive position.

"In general, then, this is not the best outlook for a nation that long believed it could borrow trouble without paying the price. Yet, when I specifically asked Kaufman whether he foresaw a "Jimmy Carter, a decade of "malaise" for the American economy, he replied with a flat "no," adding:

"I think the 1990s could be a reasonable one for the United States. The United States is moving from a position of superpower to a position of major power, where it's first among the major powers partly because there is a de-militarization going on in the world. And as a result of that, we have the opportunity to re-orient our fiscal policy very dramatically.

"We can now pay attention to a lot more to our infrastructure and to our domestic needs. And the big buildup in military expenditures in the 1980s that contributed to some of the excesses in the economy. But we are in the stage of undoing excesses, not beginning to be on the road back.

A period of overdue transition, followed by renewed forward progress. This from a man who coined the Cassandra of Wall Street, "Dr. Doom." Henry Kaufman, who so unfashionably decried the exploitive buildup of debt that was enriching so many of his Wall Street (and Main Street) colleagues, could be right twice.

Fuel prices soar in Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — The government on Friday ordered a 25 percent increase in fuel prices, which would more than double gasoline costs twice as much as gasoline. The government subsidizes fuel, kerosene, alcohol and diesel. The increase was the sixth since late 1989, and is the overall federal deficit appear smaller than it actually is.

Conservatives want to extend the deficit targets into later years to hold down spending for domestic programs. Liberals want to eliminate the targets so that social spending can expand, and want to have the Pentagon budget and taxes play a greater role in cutting the deficit.

"There are about 100 ideas in this place about how the pro­ cess will be changed," says Senate Budget Committee Chair­ man James Sasser, D-Tenn.

The driving force for the changes is the growing Social Security surplus, expected to be $74 billion next year and $2.15 a gallon to $2.93

"We can now pay attention to a lot more to our infrastructure and to our domestic needs. And the big buildup in military expenditures in the 1980s that contributed to some of the excesses in the economy. But we are in the stage of undoing excesses, not beginning to be on the road back.

A period of overdue transition, followed by renewed forward progress. This from a man who coined the Cassandra of Wall Street, "Dr. Doom." Henry Kaufman, who so unfashionably decried the exploitive buildup of debt that was enriching so many of his Wall Street (and Main Street) colleagues, could be right twice. masculinity as a sexual aggressive characteristic is a benefit toward others of overlooking flaws and focusing on attractive aspects.

Building on Kristin Komyatte's purpose to increase awareness of destructive attitudes suppressing reports of date rape, a closer look into the reasons for various attitudes may help to extinguish them. The date rapist himself doesn't present an easily manageable problem that we all can easily recognize him as one who gets some kind of power kick out of violating women. He may present such an extraordinary superficial social exterior that his problem is overlooked and suppressed by people who not wrongly appreciate his daily social behavior. Even some people may glimpse his other problem-focused easily managed to push aside in favor of his positive aspects.

Since we live in such close quarters and must interact constantly, this social policy toward others of overlooking flaws and focusing on attractive characteristics is a beneficial one. But when he violates a fellow human being and then brags about that to build his masculinity as a sexual aggressor, his male as well as female classmates absorb his behavior when they do not condemn it. Student Affairs or the Counseling Center needs to publicize how a victimized woman or the rapists' section mates ought to go about reporting such a personal violation. Knowing that the situation will be handled profession­ally, and not by the rapist, would greatly encourage the victim or anyone who knows about his perversion to come forward.

Related to Komyatte's accurate observation that "society sends the message that it must be the woman's fault," a prevalent reason date rape goes unreported here is because of the abuse of alcohol emeshed in Notre Dame's social life. We all know that alcohol impairs judgment, but it slights men in general to say they lose control of their own sexuality so that they involuntarily rape while under the influence.

Drunk women do not escape responsibility for their actions either, but if she is too intoxicated to consent, or he knows that no such sexual expression would occur if she was coherent.

ent, he rapes her when he presses onward. Whether or not intercourse occurs becomes a technicality when she still feels just as violated in the morning as the cloudy fragments of her degrading objectification of her materialize in her mind. The prevalent attitude that it is her fault for her irresponsible drinking not only keeps her from reporting it but also degrades her self-esteem enough for her to tell herself that she has brought it on just as she did her drinks. But only a date rapist would consciously admit to himself that a drink then deserves to be raped.

Another deterrent to reporting rape does have much to do with the fact that the burden of proof is on the victim. I cannot agree that "the burden of proof should be on the accused rapist to establish innocence." I appreciate the American ideal that we are all innocent until proven otherwise. A better solution to ameliorate her burden would be a professionally discreet handling of her case by sympathetic people, not interrogators.

The problem that a "women who was raped is interrogated as the 'guilty' one" exists not because she has the burden of proof but because of a traditional sexist double standard that women should stay pure at all costs and never admit their sexuality at all, while sexually experienced men acquire a "nearly" reputation. We cannot fail to notice that no male equivalent exists for the term "slut."

In any case, every date rapist knows his behavior is unacceptable. His selfishness and utter lack of compassion needs to be overridden by collective condemnation both by society, and especially by his peers, where his interaction with society begins. Notre Dame does display better moral behavior than most campuses, but we can fight date rape by working to dissolve the sexist notions that help perpetuate it.

Involvement as Assistant Treasurer provides rewards

Dear Editor:

Each year we see and hear about the many activities and services offered by student-run campus organizations. However, most people don't realize that our $55,000 student activity fund provides the necessary funding for various groups and activities that they seek. Over $400,000 is collected each year.

The Student Body Treasurer is responsible for budgeting this sum to the organizations which rely on it for their support. These include student government, student unions, hall presidents' councils, and almost 200 clubs and organizations. Once this sum has been budgeted, the Student Body Treasurer's office is responsible for maintaining accurate records of all finances and for dispersing the allocated funds to the organizations mentioned above.

Each March, two individuals are chosen to serve as Assistant Student Body Treasurers. The role of the assistant is to work closely with the Student Body Treasurer. In order to disperse and monitor these funds, throughout and of the Student Body Treas­urer's office. The following March, one of the assistants will assume the responsibilities of Student Body Treasurer. Thus, the person chosen will have the opportunity to serve for two terms, and with two different student government administrations.

The Student Body Treasurer also has the opportunity to serve as a member of the Student Senate and as chairman of the Senate Budget and Finance Committee. This means that the Treasurer ensures that the fiscal policies established by the drunk are funneled and that

GARRY TRUDEAU

Monday, March 5, 1990

DOONESBURY

AS FAR AS DATING GOES, I'M LEAVING BEHIND SOME BAD NEWS. YOU REALLY DON'T WANT TO GO BACK TO IT. I'M TALKIN' KICKS, BLIND AND HANGOVERS OUT OF TOWN. FIRST CARD, ALL THE WAY!

I THINK YOU'D BE SEEN A MAJOR, MAJOR STUPIDITY IF YOU'D HARDLY REIGNED WITH ME, BUT YOU CAN BLEED ON IT.

DOONESBURY

QUOTE OF THE DAY

"Not on bread alone is one to live, but on every utterance that comes from the mouth of God.

Matthew 4:4

Layback Now, But I'll Tell Bed Dating Only the Class Sleet, Premo Babes!

Dear Editor:

Dear Editor:

Laying back now, but I'll tell bed dating only the class sleet, premo babes!

DOONESBURY

QUOTE OF THE DAY

"Not on bread alone is one to live, but on every utterance that comes from the mouth of God.

Matthew 4:4
Valerie's back
Harper on the air again in new CBS comedy

Joe Bucolo
To Be Continued

Valerie Harper isn't one to stay off television for long periods of time. She may no longer be a member of the "Hogan Family," that is, but now she's part of the "City.

CBS airs "City" at 8:30 p.m. on Mondays. Valerie Harper stars as Liz Gianni, a high-energy city manager. Her daughter Penny (Lu Anne Ponce) recently moved back in with Liz as unbalanced budgets and political egos often take a back seat to family matters.

Of course, Harper would never be involved with anything that didn't reek of quality. The garbage collectors in her city probably wear white gloves and give tours while on the job. With the current TV trend feeding toward copycat sitcoms, it's nice to see a show with genuinely funny lines and unique characters.

In one episode, Liz is related to discover Penny has a new job. When Gianni arrives at her office later that same day, she learns that Penny's job consists of working in the mailroom at Liz's office. The twist comes as Liz discovers the previous mailperson was fired by a man who had no authority to do so. Thus, Liz must fire Penny to retain the real mailman to her job.

In one funny scene before Liz fires Penny, the daughter approaches her mother to express her love for the job. Penny makes a speech about how she's now found direction in her life and how, even though she's made mistakes delivering the mail, she's 'going to stick it out.' Liz replies, "Well there's a problem with that, honey, because I have to fire you.

Another plotline centers on the city's social coordinator Gloria (Mary Jo Keenan) who tends away for her family tree. She discovers her great great grandmother was Jewish. "Sweet Jesus, I'm Jewish," she says. "I'm going to miss Easter.

The city manager Roger (Todd Sussman) explains that being Jewish is "carried through the mother like a religious virus." Later, as Liz shuffles the staff out of her office, Rogers tells Gloria, "Get used to this, Gloria. It's the history of our people. Always being shoved from one place to another."

VICTOR (James Lorinz,) the security guard, is an unusual character. Of Victor, Liz tells a friend, "He's from the wrong side of the border and sneak into America. Painfully, Liz tells Victor to look at the size of the brush and the bottle. She asks him how many bottles he thinks it would take to paint a single person white. Victor leaves the room, defeated. Later, at the end of the episode, Victor enters Liz's office—all white—and provides Liz with the answer to her rhetorical question.

This "City" does need some improvements. For example, if the city's sewers are as filthy as some of the show's language, even the rats would find them unsuitable for residence. The show is far too wity to use some of the tastless words it does. They will surely catch viewers off guard.

The show itself is in an interesting predicament. "City" airs opposite Harper's old show, "The Hogan Family" (previously titled "Valerie"). Also, it pits real-life brother and sister against one another. Danny Ponce plays Harper's son on "The Hogan Family" and Lu Anne Ponce plays Harper's daughter in "City."

CBS has a great addition to its slew of Monday night comedies. Harper is superb in her role, and the comedy on the show is funny. If the language problem is handled, people will definitely want to move to this "City."

Above: Valerie Harper stars as a high-energy city manager and Todd Sussman plays her assistant in "City.

Below: Liz Gianni (Valerie Harper) juggles the chaos at City Hall with her life as a single parent. Sam Lloyd plays her colleague, the head of records department.

BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

Today's filmmakers are astonished to learn that film classics such as "Citizen Kane," "Casablanca" and "High Noon" were shot almost entirely on studio stages and backlots. Throughout the 1930s and '40s, a movie made on location was a rarity, as films created a dream-like world that enthralled entertainment-starved audiences.

One of the many charms of the strangely titled "Joe Versus the Volcano" is its other-worldliness, the result of being filmed mostly within the confines of a studio. There are a few cityscapes, but the ocean scenes were shot on a studio tank, and the South Sea island is gloriously phony. You keep expecting Dorothy Lamour to appear in a sarong.

"Joe Versus the Volcano" is the first comedy hit of the 1990's. Tom Hanks is bigger than ever. If you liked Meg Ryan in "When Harry Met Sally..." you'll like her three times as much in this one, she plays three roles.

The brain behind the film is John Patrick Shanley, whose "Moonstruck" proved he knew how to write credible characters in hilarious situations. This time he writes and directs, assuring that his vision reaches the screen intact. The physical vision has been realized by production designer Bob Welsh, starting with the zigzag pathway along which Hanks and his fellow workers slouch to their abominable jobs in a pharmaceutical supply company ("home of the rectal probe").

Hanks leaves his numbing job after being told by Dr. Robert Stack that he has a fatal disease. He is enlisted by Industrialist Lloyd Bridges to travel to the South Sea island of Waponi Woo and act as a human sacrifice to appease the raging volcano. Bridges then hopes to gain a rare mineral for his superconductor business.

The latter-day Jack Lemmon as portrayer of society's victim, Hanks is perfect for the role. Along the way he meets three women: a downtrodden fellow worker, the space-out daughter of Bridges and her half-sister, who accompanies Hanks on his voyage. All are the incredibly inventive Meg Ryan.

"Joe Versus the Volcano" was produced by Teri Schwartz, with the team of Steven Spielberg, Kathleen Kennedy and Frank Marshall as executive producers. Happily, this is one Amblin' Entertainment production that has wit as well as special effects. The film opens nation-wide this Friday.

Tom Bucolo has Joe Bucolo, a down-and-out worker enlisted to act as a human sacrifice in the new motion picture "Joe Versus the Volcano."
Gathers dies after collapsing at game

Los Angeles (AP) - Hank Gathers, one of only two Division I players to lead the nation in scoring and rebounding in the same season, died Sunday night after collapsing during Loyola Marymount University's West Coast Conference tournament game against Portland. He was 23.

Gathers was pronounced dead at Daniel Freeman Mar Vista Hospital, where he was taken after collapsing with 13:42 left in the first half of the game. He died at 6:55 p.m. PST, a school spokesperson said.

As a junior last season, Gath­ ers averaged 27.7 points and 13.7 rebounds, joining Xavier McDaniel of Wichita State in 1985 as the only NCAA players to lead the nation in both categories.

Ferry may return to U.S. to play

Milan, Italy (AP) - Former Duke All-American Danny Ferry may join his teammate Brian Shaw in returning to the United States for a less-than-impressive season in the Italian basketball league, a sports newspaper reported Sunday.

Gazzetta dello Sport of Milan, Italy's largest sports daily, said Ferry's poor performance in Italy could have sealed his departure. The Cleveland Cavaliers, who hold his NBA draft rights, Ferry signed last year with Messag­ tero Roma for an Italian record $1.5 million.

"If I were Ferry, I'd read the paper's banner headline," Shaw, signed by the Romanian team along with Ferry last summer, has said. Ferry himself has continued to fire up the 80s,000 fans, according to the Italian media.

Gazzetta also reported that Ferry might leave after missing the last two games after being injured in an altercation with Boston Celtics at the end of the season. Gazzetta, eighth in the world in terms of attendances, is fighting for a berth in the Italian league playoffs in May.

The article quoted coach Valerio Bianchini as saying that Ferry, 23, had an extremely ex­ hausted look on his and "he was giving his best and keeping going.

Doctors suspected that an accelerated heartbeat may have led to the fatal spilling on that occasion. The coach convinced the doctors to cut back on his medica­ tion, after which he felt his body strength improving. He then turned the corner in the first week in Vienna where he scored 44 points against St. Mary's.

After Gathers collapsed, a de­ cision to postpone the tourna­ ment was made by Conference Commissioner Mike Gillerman.

Athletic Director Brian Quinn said that three physicians were waiting at the hospital while he was placed into the ambulance and taken to the hospital.

Gillerman, in his sixth season as WCC commissioner, stated that there will be no conference games played Monday.

The Observer accepts classifieds every business day from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Chicago Tribune office, 425 N. LaSalle St., 3rd floor, Chicago, Ill. 60654. Deadline for next day’s classifieds is 3 p.m. All classifieds must be prepaid. The charge is 2 cents per character per day, including spaces.

FOR SALE

Knute Rockne’s House $600 p/mth

20 3rd Ave., Lynbrook, NY 11563 or call 823-8582

KEEDNEY TOWNSHOCK FOR RENT

2 and 4 bedrm. furnished

NEAR LAKE PLACID

Typing Available

MAIL BOXES ETC. 277-6245

INSTATAX. Get Your Tax Refund

EXCEPTIONAL SUMMER OPPORTUNITY - Be a counselor in a great camp. Help with expenses and earn $300 to $500 per week. School Year - 277-3097

ALL LAND/WATER SPORTS

PASSENGER PASSAGES

13.7 rebounds, joining Xavier McDaniel of Wichita State in 1985 as the only NCAA players to lead the nation in both categories.

EXCEPTIONAL SUMMER OPPORTUNITY - Be a counselor in a great camp. Help with expenses and earn $300 to $500 per week. School Year - 277-3097

ALL LAND/WATER SPORTS

13.7 rebounds, joining Xavier McDaniel of Wichita State in 1985 as the only NCAA players to lead the nation in both categories.

EXCEPTIONAL SUMMER OPPORTUNITY - Be a counselor in a great camp. Help with expenses and earn $300 to $500 per week. School Year - 277-3097

ALL LAND/WATER SPORTS

PASSENGER PASSAGES

13.7 rebounds, joining Xavier McDaniel of Wichita State in 1985 as the only NCAA players to lead the nation in both categories.

EXCEPTIONAL SUMMER OPPORTUNITY - Be a counselor in a great camp. Help with expenses and earn $300 to $500 per week. School Year - 277-3097

ALL LAND/WATER SPORTS

PASSENGER PASSAGES

13.7 rebounds, joining Xavier McDaniel of Wichita State in 1985 as the only NCAA players to lead the nation in both categories.
Defending champion Vance Becklund wins the 158-pound weight class at the 60th Annual Bengal Bouts.

Bengals continued from page 20

185-pound championship, won by Ricky Purcell when the referee stopped his contest with Robert Urban late in the second round. Urban had scored well against Purcell, drawing blood from the defending champ’s nose early in the second round. Two right uppercuts by Purcell then felled his opponent, and although Urban complained later, the officials stopped the fight. McCormick said that the referees made the right call. "There’s not a fighter around, amateur or professional, who doesn’t think he can continue. In amateur boxing, if somebody gets hurt, the fight’s over," said McCormick. Among many other fine matches, Brian Stokes won a split decision over Timothy Phelps in a tightly contested 137-pound fight. Erik Milito used a strong right hook to score a split decision win over Mick Meyer at 138 pounds. Powerful Kurt Lauber outmuscled Shane Higman to win the 150-pound championship. Referee Terry Johnson was honored for his service to the Bengal Bouts in a ceremony before the final bout of the night, as was founder Dominic Napolitano’s widow, "Schatze." Napolitano Mrs. Napolitano received the prestigious Bengal Bout Award, given annually to the person who best represents the spirit of the Bengal Bouts.

Replay has already shown his spirit in defeating heavy favorite David Caine in the semifinals, earned his first title by winning a split decision over Colin Moloney at 154 pounds. Defending champ Vance Becklund fought off a stubborn John Sorder en route to a unanimous decision at 158 pounds.

Kerry Waite showed his strength in a 160-pound battle when he forced the referee to stop his contest with Chuck Mercer at the 1:12 mark of the third round, and Jim Hawkins used his reach advantage on Norm Conley to score a unanimous decision at 162 pounds. Kevin Max won a split decision after a wild battle with Patrick Fay at 174 pounds, and Mike Ryam protected himself in earning the 180-pound title, using his jab and staying out of reach of the more powerful Chris Kiley as the Bengal Bouts were a rousing success once again.

"It was a great tournament, we had a little bit of everything," said McCormick. "This was a first class boxing exhibition, and everybody put on a great performance. When the University decides to do something like this, they do it right."

Report says Maryland ‘blown away’ by NCAA

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) - The University of Maryland will be banned from postseason play this year and for one season under NCAA sanctions against the men's basketball program, a published report said Sunday.

"We got blown away," an unidentified source told The Sun of Baltimore. The university apparently had expected a postseason ban this year, but the NCAA decided to also punish the program for violations committed during Wade's three seasons.

Clean up Maryland basketball and the university will likely have to pay the full price for its transgressions during Wade's three seasons. The new sanctions include a ban from television appearances during the 1989-90 season, and the university also will likely have to return $479,000 for reaching the second round of the NCAA tournament in 1988, the Sun said.

Other sanctions probably will include a reduction in scholarships and limitation on off-campus recruiting visits, the paper said.

Under Coach Gary Williams, the Terrapins finished their regular season at 19-12 after Saturday's 97-74 victory over Virginia. An NCAA ban would probably severely hurt the Terrapins out of the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament. Neither Williams nor athletic director Lew Perkins were available for comment. University president William E. Kirwan has declined to comment on the matter, but the Sun reported that Kirwan was expected to announce the penalties at a news conference within a few days.

"It was a great tournament, we had a little bit of every­thing," said McCormick. "This was a first class boxing exhibition, and everybody put on a great performance. When the University decides to do something like this, they do it right."

Our Glasses

Our next day Jet Service™ can get you your new glasses in as little as 24 hours, even bifocals, trifocals, and line-free bifocals.

The oldest and largest frames! Focus from hundreds of traditional, contemporary, designer, safety, and sport frames for the entire family. Our trained fashion consultants can help you select the perfect frame.

The newest lens styles! We have a complete selection of lenses available, including line-free bifocals, shatterproof7.0 and H.P. special lenses for computer users, mechanics, electricians, and other occupations, as well as UV coatings and the latest in tints.

Offer A Great Deal.

CONTACT LENS SPECIALS

DAILY OR EXTENDED WEAR
$39.98  $99.98

3 Pairs Of Tinted

Over 30 different brands and colors available. See Doctor for details.

Next Day Service™

1111 E. Ireland Road 291-4000

All insurance plans welcome
GM Preferred Vision Provider™ program Metropolitan Ford Chrysler Warner Seal Medicaide

A.B. is 21 today!
Upset
continued from page 20

The second wave of Notre Dame players kept the momentum up, building the lead to 13 at the half, 46-33, on Monty Williams' buzzer-beating 6-foot baseline jumper off the inbounds play.

The Tigers hit their first four shots from the field; then went 8-for-26 the rest of the way to finish the half shooting 40 percent. Missouri shot 45 percent for the game. The Irish shot 61 percent for the game. Led by Singleton, who hit all four of his shots, mostly fast break layups, and Williams, who was 6-of-8.

"Coach put me on the bench," Williams said. "And I knew when I got in that I had to contribute fast, while I got the chance. I knew we could beat them, but not as bad as we did."

In the second half, Phelps again stuck with the lineup that was working.

"I got the five guys who would say 'let's play together and get it done,'" Phelps said. "We came out relaxed and confident, and we started pouncing away again. We just were not going to lose."

"Notre Dame was outstanding," said Missouri head coach Norm Stewart, whose team is now 26-4. "They were tremendous from the start. We've come through a tough conference schedule, and we scheduled this game for a reason. We wanted a chance to prepare for the NCAA's."

Stewart started a different five in the second half. The second five had four points to the Irish before the original starters were brought in.

"Everyone deserves a chance to lose," Stewart said. "We weren't getting too much performance. In the second half, we played aggressively, but we couldn't score. There wasn't much hope at that point."

Hope, and wins over Syracuse and Missouri, are what the Irish are living on in terms of post-season play. After consecutive losses to DePaul, Georgia Tech and Dayton, the Irish needed Saturday's win to have a shot at impressing the NCAA Tournament selection committee.

"We've played every type of situation," Phelps said. "We've played 15 road games. We've played three Top 10 teams three weeks in a row, and won two of three. I think if you look at the power rating of our schedule, we'll be in the top 30 teams in the country."

MISSOURI (67)
Buntin 3-5 2-3 8, Smith 5-11 3-5-13, Ford 3-10 2-2 12, McTyer 2-7 2-7, Peeler 3-9 3-4 9, Coward 3-6 0-0 7, Hertton 1-2 0-0 2, Coleman 1-2 0-0 2, Burrel 0-0 0-0 0, Sutton 1-2 0-0 2, Heller 2-2 0-2 4, Warren 0-0 0-0 0. Totals 36-58 7-18 60. Turnovers—Notre Dame 25 (Ellery 7), Missouri 13.

Notre Dame 98, Missouri 67
Monday, March 5, 1990
Dame 19. A—11,418.

Halftime—Notre Dame 46, Missouri 33. 3-point goals—Notre Dame 9 (Ellery 2-6, Ford 0-4), Notre Dame 2-6 (Ellery 2-3, Fredrick 0-1, Crawford 0-2). Fouled out—None. Rebounds—Missouri 22 (Peeler 7), Notre Dame 26 (Singleton 8). Total fouls—Missouri 20, Notre Dame 19. S—11,418.

Avoiding the defensive intimidation of Kevin Ellery, Missouri's Doug Smith changes his mind about heading for the basket.

LaPhonso Ellis spots the open man in the passing lane in Notre Dame's upset of Big Eight champ Missouri.
Irish look to avoid post-Missouri letdown vs. Wildcats

By GREG GUFFEY
Assistant Sports Editor

The Observer

One might expect a letdown after a victory over the third-ranked team in the country. But the Notre Dame men's basketball team knows what's at stake against Kentucky tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Joyce ACC.

The Irish, 15-11 after a 98-67 win over Missouri on Saturday, need a victory over the Wildcats and then one at De Paul this weekend to virtually assure themselves of a NCAA Tournament bid.

"We're still not out of the woods," Notre Dame coach Digger Phelps said. "The most important things is to keep this team mentally into it. We had a great weekend. Now we've got to come back and get number 16. There's still life and our goal is still there."

There should be a lot of emotion tonight for the five Irish seniors who are playing their last game at the JACC. Co-captains Joe Fredrick and Jamere Jackson, Keith Robinson, Scott Paddock and Tim Crawford enter tonight's game with a home record of 50-12.

Kentucky (14-13) will try to spoil the going-away party for that quintet. This will be the last game of the season for the Wildcats, who cannot participate in the NCAA Tournament because of NCAA probation.

Kentucky has beaten Louisiana State, Alabama and Georgia in the SEC, and took Indiana to the wire in a 71-69 loss in December. Kentucky is 13-3 at home and just 1-9 on the road.

"They have enough talent to play against anybody," Phelps said. "Joe (Pitino) has taken the talent that was left and has done a very good job with it."

As Digger Phelps looks to count the basket, the Notre Dame players celebrate a potential three-point play.

Irish continued from page 20

Put a hold on the order for the red, white and blue basketballs. Get a victory over Kentucky and you can probably forget about playing in the tournament with three initials.

People were making plans for New York before the Missouri game, if the Irish even made that journey at all.

And this team, like its critics, could have packed it up it as well. The seniors could have started for the NIT instead of Remembering It's Denver. The rest of the team could have made plans for next season and thought about what might have been.

But a team meeting on Thursday changed that. This team decided it didn't want to be the first in six years to be denied an invitation to the big dance.

"It was getting to the point where if we lost, we were going to the NIT," senior co-captain Joe Fredrick said. "There's no way playing for 65th place in the country."

In order to play for the top spot, the Irish need to keep that momentum going tonight against Kentucky and then again Saturday at De Paul. Those games will be the real test.

For now, Denver has become secondary to just making the tournament. Make the tournament and everything else will fall into place.

He's had those kids playing well all year, and this is their last game to decide if they're going to have a winning season.

The Wildcats have four players scoring in double figures. Guard Derrick Miller, the line senior in the starting lineup, leads Kentucky at 19.3 points per game followed by center Reggie Henson at 16.1 and forwards Daron Feldhaus at 14.9 and John Pelphrey at 13.2. Guard Sean Woods rounds out the lineup at 9.2 ppg.

The Wildcats are not afraid to shoot. They are 481-of-1922 from the field this season with 795 of those attempts from three-point land. In contrast, 1499 overall field goals with 178 of those from beyond the three-point stripe.

Miller has shot (281) and made (190) more three-pointers than the entire Notre Dame team (65 and 179). Miller, Hanson (34), Feldhaus (32), Pelphrey (44) and Richie Farmer (31) have all made more trifectas than Notre Dame's leading shooter from that land, Joe Fredrick (30).

NOTES - Kentucky finished 10-8 in the SEC. The Wildcats lead the series with Notre Dame 31-16. The Irish won last year's game 81-65. Notre Dame is 0-1 against Kentucky in the Joyce ACC. "Because of the probation, tonight's game will not be televised live."

And this Notre Dame team is one that could make some noise in the post-season. Just ask Missouri, the number-one club in the nation until a loss to Oklahoma last Sunday.

The Irish have proven they can play with anybody against Syracuse, De Paul and Georgia Tech. They took the final step in showing they can hold a lead against Missouri.

This is a team that has experienced a lot of growing pains. They grew a foot on Saturday. The players say this team is still growing.

How far could it grow in the NCAA Tournament? "As far as we want," Ellis said.

Missouri might answer that Notre Dame could become a giant instead of a giant killer.
BOSTON (AP) — Michael Jordan got 12 of his 36 points in the fourth quarter, and NBA free throw leader Larry Bird missed a foul shot with 11.6 seconds left and a 3-pointer with three seconds remaining Sunday as the Chicago Bulls held on for their eighth straight win, 118-114 over the Boston Celtics.

The winning streak is the Bulls’ longest since 1980-81. They have won their last three road games and averaged a 102-100 loss to Boston in Chicago on Nov. 4 in their only previous meeting. Boston’s four-game winning streak, which matched their longest of the season, ended.

The Bulls’ 115-112 lead appeared safe when Bird missed a 3-point shot with 11.6 seconds left. He had 12 of his 23 points in the final period, and was fouled by Scottie Pippen, who protested and was called for a technical foul.

Bird, whose streak of 71 consecutive foul shots ended Feb. 13, made the technical foul shot but missed the next free throw before making the third. It left Boston down 115-114.

Kevin McHale quickly fouled Pippen, who made one of two shots with 10.2 seconds remaining. The Celtics got the rebound and pushed down court.Bird got the ball near the 3-point line on the right side, but his shot was partially blocked by Pippen.

Craig Hodges came up with the ball for the Bulls, was fouled and finished the scoring with two free throws with 5.6 seconds left. He had 12 of his 15 points in the final period.

Bird led Boston with 38 points, 20 in the fourth quarter, and Robert Parish had 18 points and 18 rebounds. For Chicago, Pippen had 22.

Pistons 111, Pacers 105
Detroit guards Joe Dumars and Isiah Thomas scored 23 points each and the Pistons held Indiana scoreless for 3:26 down the stretch Sunday in a 111-105 victory over the Pacers.

It was the Pistons’ fifth straight victory, 18th in 19 games and 10th in a row at home.

Mark Aguirre added 15 points for the Pistons and Dennis Rodman grabbed 17 rebounds. Six Pistons scored in double figures.

Pacers 110, Cavaliers 108
Craig Hodges came up with the ball for the Pistons and Dennis Rodman grabbed 17 rebounds. Six Pistons scored in double figures.

Chuck Person scored 29 to lead Indiana, which got only seven points in the final 4:29 of the game — all by Person. Reggie Miller added 25 for the Pacers, who lost their third straight.

Trailing 96-96 with 4:29 left, Detroit scored eight straight points to go ahead 104-98 on John Salley’s free throw with 1:10 left. Person canned a 3-pointer to pull Indiana within 104-101 at 1:03 to play, but Dumars fed Bill Laimbeer for an easy basket with 44 seconds left to make it 106-101.

Person hit two free throws with 25.7 seconds remaining, making it 106-103, before Aguirre and Thomas combined to hit five free throws, clinching Detroit’s victory.

It was close for most of the second half as no more than five points separated the teams until the final moments. Detroit led 58-57 at the half after Dumars hit two free throws with 6.5 seconds left.

Dumars kept the Pistons in the game during the third quarter, when he scored 17 points. He sank his first seven shots from the field in the period before missing the last two.

Phoenix 108, Cleveland 96
Kevin Johnson celebrated his 24th birthday Sunday by scoring 12 of his 30 points during a 15-5 third-period run as the Phoenix Suns beat the Cleveland Cavaliers 108-96 for their club-record 12th consecutive victory at home.

Phoenix scored eight straight points in the first quarter and was never threatened. The Suns are 9-0 against teams over .500.

Cliff Broadnax had 22 for Phoenix, which improved to 23-5. tabbed the game from the field during the third quarter.

Person hit two free throws with 25.7 seconds remaining, making it 106-103, before Aguirre and Thomas combined to hit five free throws, clinching Detroit’s victory.

It was close for most of the second half as no more than five points separated the teams until the final moments. Detroit led 58-57 at the half after Dumars hit two free throws with 6.5 seconds left.

Dumars kept the Pistons in the game during the third quarter, when he scored 17 points. He sank his first seven shots from the field in the period before missing the last two.

Phoenix 108, Cleveland 96
Kevin Johnson celebrated his 24th birthday Sunday by scoring 12 of his 30 points during a 15-5 third-period run as the Phoenix Suns beat the Cleveland Cavaliers 108-96 for their club-record 12th consecutive victory at home.

Phoenix scored eight straight points in the first quarter and was never threatened. The Suns are 9-0 against teams over .500.

Cliff Broadnax had 22 for Phoenix, which improved to 23-5.

The Observer Monday, March 5, 1990

$18 roundtrip airfares on Northwest Airlines. It’s not just a great price. It’s a great experience.

Only for student American Express Cardmembers.

Apply for the American Express Card. Then get ready to take off. In search of adventure, action—or just simply to escape. American Express and Northwest Airlines have arranged these extraordinary travel privileges on Northwest—exclusively for student Cardmembers:

- CERTIFICATES VALID FOR THE PURCHASE OF TWO $18 ROUNDTRIP TICKETS— to many of the more than 180 cities in the 48 contiguous United States served by Northwest. Each certificate is good for a six month period, and they will arrive within six weeks after you receive the Card. Current Cardmembers will automatically receive their $18 certificates by March 15, 1990 provided they are still full time students.

- 10% OFF ANY NORTHWEST FLIGHT—with your own personalized discount card, valid through January 1991 on all Northwest and Northwest Airlink flights. (This discount is not applicable to the $18 student certificates and other certificates, promotional or special status airfares.)

- 2,500 BONUS MILES TOWARDS FREE TRAVEL—when you enroll in Northwest’s WorldPerks® Free Travel Program.

AND NOW BECOMING A CARDMEMBER IS AS EASY AS A TELEPHONE CALL. Just pick up the phone, call 1-800-942-AMEX, and talk to us. We’ll take your application and begin to process it immediately. (If you have your banking information handy, like your account number and bank address, it will help speed the process.)

Keep in mind that our Automatic Acceptance Program makes it easier for you to become a Cardmember now, as a student, than it will ever be again.* And remember that as a Cardmember you’ll enjoy all the exceptional benefits and personal service you would expect from American Express.

So don’t miss out on a world of great experiences. Pick up the phone. Apply for the Card. And start packing!

Membership Has Its Privileges*

APPLY TODAY
1-800-942-AMEX

NORTHWEST AIRLINES

*If you are already a student American Express Cardmember and have a question about this program, please send your written question, a copy of your student ID and class schedule to: American Express, P.O. Box 35029, St. Paul, MN 55162. If you are a student American Express Cardmember and have a question about this program, please send your written question, a copy of your student ID and class schedule to: American Express, P.O. Box 35029, St. Paul, MN 55162. If you are a student American Express Cardmember and have a question about this program, please send your written question, a copy of your student ID and class schedule to: American Express, P.O. Box 35029, St. Paul, MN 55162. If you are a student American Express Cardmember and have a question about this program, please send your written question, a copy of your student ID and class schedule to: American Express, P.O. Box 35029, St. Paul, MN 55162.

NORTHWEST AIRLINES

THE AMERICAN EXPRESS CARD FOR STUDENTS MORE THAN EVER
Syracuse captures Big East title
Thompson's techniques give Orangemen lift over Hoyas

(AP)—Give Stephen Thompson the credit for winning basket in Syracuse's 89-85 overtime win over Georgetown on Sunday.

Assess John Thompson the blame for Stephen Thompson's being in position to score it.

The Georgetown coach was thrown out of a game for the first time in 15 years in the first half of the game at the Carrier Dome, an ejection that carried three technical fouls with it. That contributed directly to 10 Syracuse points that helped erase a 10-point first-half deficit.

"Basically what happened is that it's probably my fault more than the officials' fault," said Thompson, who was looking for three technicals in succession by three different officials after protesting a foul called on Dwayne Bryant.

"I probably let my competitive juices flow and those of us who have competed understand that that's a mistake and that's that."

Overall, seventh-ranked Georgetown (22-5, 11-5 in the Big East) lost the game as much as Syracuse won it. The Orangemen, who gave the Hoyas a tie for Connecticut for the conference's regular-season title at 12-4, No. 10 Syracuse is also 22-5-2.

On Saturday, Cornellius Holden of No. 21 Louisville set an NCAA Division I record when he shot 14 of 14 in a 73-71 win over Mississippi State. No. 2 Nevada-Las Vegas earned a share of the Big West regular-season championship by routing Fullerton State 103-85 but surrendered the top seed in the post-season tournament to No. 1 New Mexico State.

No. 4 Connecticut clinched a share of the Big East crown with a 93-74 win over Boston College; No. 5 Oklahoma laid claim to the revolving-door No. 1 spot with a 111-94 victory over Oklahoma State; No. 1 LSU, a loser to Oklahoma earlier in the week, beat Iowa State 96-63.

No. 11 Georgia Tech beat No. 20 Clemson 85-69, but Duke's loss gave the Tigers the ACC title anyway. No. 12 Arkansas whipped Rice 104-49 and No. 13 La Salle beat Fairfield 90-60 in the quarter-finals of the Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference tournament.

Elsewhere, defending Western Athletic Conference champion Colorado State tied Brigham Young for the title with a 62-45 triumph over San Diego State and Ball State won its second straight regular-season Mid-American Conference crown by routing Central Michigan 84-57.

No. 9 Purdue 79, No. 8 Michigan 77

Jimmy Oliver's fallaway jumper with two seconds left gave ninth-ranked Purdue its victory and kept the Boilermakers (21-6, 3-4) a half-game behind Michigan State. They meet the Spartans in the regular-season finale next Sunday.

North Carolina 87, No. 5 Duke 73

King Rice scored 20 points to lead five players in double figures, and North Carolina spoiled Duke's hopes for a share of first place ACC and give Clemson the regular-season title at 10-4. The Blue Devils' loss was 27-3, 9-5.

No. 18 Illinois 118, Iowa 85

Kendall Gill scored 25 points Sunday and three other Illinois seniors scored in double figures for the Illini, who jumped to a 14-4 lead, then outscored Iowa 21-4 to take a 37-12 lead with five minutes left in the half. Sophomore Andy Kaufmann scored 21 and seniors Ervin Small, Stephen Bardo and P.J. Bowman added 19, 13 and 11 points respectively.

The triumph improved Illinois to 20-7, 10-7 in the Big Ten. Iowa fell to 12-15 and 4-13.

No. 21 Louisville 73, S. Mississippi 71

Holden, a 6-7 sophomore, was 4-of-4 from the foul line as the Cardinals came back from a 42-36 halftime deficit. He was fouled by Clarence Weatherspoon and made two free throws with eight seconds left to win the game, then clinched it with a steal.

Holden was averaging 10.4 points a game prior to his previous high was 20 against Florida State. The previous best perfect shooting game in Division I was 13-of-13 by six players, the last was Brad Daugherty.

Syracuse's Billy Owens' moves to the basket and free throws in the clutch helped the Orangemen defeat Georgetown Sunday in the Carrier Dome.

Well, who isn't? We need people interested in getting involved and working hard.

Applications are now available for Student Government Cabinet positions for 1990-1991. Applications and job descriptions may be obtained at the Student Government secretary's office (2nd Floor LaFortune) beginning March 1st, and must be returned by March 8th.

The following positions are available:

Student Body Secretary

Executive Coordinators for:

Intellectual Life • Public Relations • Student Life • Special Projects • Legal Department • Board of Trustee Reports

Commissioners & Assistant Commissioners for:

Academics • Political Concerns • Iceberg Debates • World Awareness Series • Social Concerns

Hall Fellows Programs • Faculty • Senate Liaison • Intellectual Life

Alumni Relations • NDSMC Relations • Photography • Correspondence • Lay-out/Design • Foreign Relations

Women's Concerns • Minority/Cultural Concerns • Campus Improvements • Security

Alcohol/Food/Health • Student Services • Legal Department Researchers & Policy Analysts

Questions? Call Robert (#1712), or Fred (#1734)
Five Irish lacrosse scoring records were broken or tied Saturday as Notre Dame posted a 19-7 season-opening win over Canisius College (0-1) at the Loftus Sports Center.

The Irish, who won their ninth straight home opener, benefited more from the new NCAA rules, which encourage a faster and more offensive-minded game, than did the Golden Grizzlies, who were playing their first game at the Division I varsity level. The return of five Irish NCAA Division I players and_is only the second fastest-paced game.

The new rules were definitely an advantage because they make the game move quicker, said senior co-captain Dave Carey. It's definitely important to spread the scoring out with such a fast-paced game.

Two Irish players scored in the rout, led by senior co-captain Mike Quigley, who tied two Irish records by exploding for six goals from his midfield spot. Quigley now shares the overall record with former player who told ABC News last week that at least three players, including Charles Shackleford, had complained to him of point-scoring deals. Quigley ties record with six goals in rout of Canisius.

The Irish defense held their opponent to nine goals or less for the 14th time in their last three years, nine goals or less each of the last three years, and nine goals or less each of the last three years.

Five Irish offensive-minded players and is only the second Irish player to score six goals at home. The Irish had not posted such high-scoring affair. Freshman Joe Cheshire, a prominent Sophomore attackman Mike Sullivan is in the record books with three goals and six assists, establishing two records and tying five Irish offensive-minded players. Sullivan set records for assists at home (6) and seconds (9) at home and equaled 89 graduate John O'Meall's overall record of nine points in a game.

Freshman Chris Parent posted 10 saves in his first Irish start while sophomore Tom Duane came off the bench to stop three shots. Junior midfielders Pete Gillin and Chris Rowley epitomized the Irish dominant ball control by scooping up six and five ground balls, respectively.

The Irish defense held their opponent to nine goals or less for the 14th time in the last 14 outings. Only four teams in the last three years have cracked the ten goal barrier against Notre Dame. The Irish defenders also thwarted four of five Canisius man-up opportunities.

Quigley got Notre Dame off to a fast start with three first-quarter goals, leading the Irish to a 6-1 first period lead. From there on it was pretty much all downhill, with the Irish taking an 11-4 lead into halftime. The Irish defense cut the lead under seven the rest of the way.

Irish dominance in the clear opportunities was the most telling statistic. Notre Dame cleared their zone on an impressive 20 of 24 tries while Canisius converted only 17 of 39 clearing tries.

The key thing there was that the whole team was working together on the clears and goals, Carey explained. The middle line was moving the ball up quickly and everyone else was working hard to get open.

We've been working on that a lot in the past two weeks. It's really important to have good clearing and riding schemes with the faster pace.

Senior attackman Brian McHugh, by posting a goal and three assists, moved into ninth on the Irish career scoring list with 76 points and is now only seven points away from seventh place.

Two Irish newcomers netted their first Irish goal in the high-scoring affair. Freshman midfielder Ed Lamb posted two second half goals while rookie attackman Bo Perriello chipped in a goal and an assist. Freshman midfielder Chip Lomax came up with his first Irish point when he assisted Sullivan on a second quarter goal.

"All of the freshmen played really well," Carey said. "They all seemed to fit in really well." The three freshmen dominated the Irish game with 60 shots while the Golden Grizzlies put up 43. Canisius converted only 17 of their 43 ground balls.

The key thing there was that the whole team was working together on the clears and goals, Carey explained. The middle line was moving the ball up quickly and everyone else was working hard to get open.

We've been working on that a lot in the past two weeks. It's really important to have good clearing and riding schemes with the faster pace.

Senior attackman Brian McHugh, by posting a goal and three assists, moved into ninth on the Irish career scoring list with 76 points and is now only seven points away from seventh place.

Two Irish newcomers netted their first Irish goal in the high-scoring affair. Freshman midfielder Ed Lamb posted two second half goals while rookie attackman Bo Perriello chipped in a goal and an assist. Freshman midfielder Chip Lomax came up with his first Irish point when he assisted Sullivan on a second quarter goal.

"All of the freshmen played really well," Carey said. "They all seemed to fit in really well." The three freshmen dominated the Irish game with 60 shots while the Golden Grizzlies put up 43. Canisius converted only 17 of their 43 ground balls.

"All of the freshmen played really well," Carey said. "They all seemed to fit in really well." The three freshmen dominated the Irish game with 60 shots while the Golden Grizzlies put up 43. Canisius converted only 17 of their 43 ground balls.
Monday

Tuesday

7 p.m. Film, "The Bride of Frankenstein." Annenberg Auditorium. Sponsored by ND Communication and Theatre Department.

9 p.m. Film, "Lust for Life." Annenberg Auditorium. Sponsored by ND Communication and Theatre Department.

Menus

Notre Dame

Pot Roast Ala Mode

Grilled Sole

Broccoli, Cheese Rice Casserole

BBQ Pork Sandwich

OK HOBBES, TOSS UP THIS DECK OF CARDS, AND I'LL PLUG THE ACE OF ACROSS 1 TV series featured herein 6 Entertainer Falana 10 Zany 14 Attica's marketplace 18 Newspaper notice, for short 19 Understanding 25 Return 28 Ballet skirt 30 Aquatic mammal 34 After on high 35 Five: Comb. form 36 Grayish tan 37 "Kidnapped" author's initials 38 Jackie's second spouse 39 Electrical unit 41 and measure 42 Former big-game guns 44 Soup server 46 Gun a motor 47 Belgian W. I. battle ste

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

FLASH THE CARD ON THE ACE: 1 Alan or Cheryl 2 Askew 3 Bank 4 Corbin Bernsen plays — Becker 5 Squander 6 Deprivation 7 Kimono sash 8 Pool attendants 9 "... I am incapable of": Lamb 10 Small room off a kitchen 11 Nick Charles's dog 12 Nourish 13 Hardy heroine 14 Dignify 15 Make the grade 16 Slur over 17 College officials 18 Jimmy Smith, plays Victor 20 Epigenes 22 Groups of nine 23 Doughton or Dyarre 24 Deputy 25 Retain 26 A hole puncher: AHEM OF TIME. 27 Here it is. 28 K.M. with W. I. battle ste 29 One-sided 31 Coronet 32 Wading bird 33 Superman portrayer 34 Altar on high 35 Five: Comb. form 36 Grayish tan 37 "Kidnapped" author's initials 38 Jackie's second spouse 39 Electrical unit 41 and measure 42 Former big-game guns 44 Soup server 46 Gun a motor 47 Belgian W. I. battle ste

THE FAR SIDE

Gary Larson

CALVIN AND HOBBES

Bill Watterson

SPLEUNKER

Jay Hosler

Kolisch

"World's Fastest Hypnotist"

March 7, 7:00 and 9:00

Washington Hall

Tickets go on sale Feb. 28

At Lafortune Info Desk

$2.00 students with I.D.

$3.00 non-students
Bell sounds on 60th Bengal Bouts
Trainer's courageous comeback highlights final round
By KEN TYSAIC
Sports Writer

It appeared that the 167-pound battle between Chris Balint and Mike Trainor in the finals of 60th Bengal Bouts Friday night would end just seconds after it began in the north dome of the Joyce ACC.

Balint twice knocked Trainor to the canvas with powerful right uppercuts early in the first round, and although Trainor managed to regain his senses and continue, a comeback victory seemed unfathomable.

"I knew he would come right at me," said Trainor. "He just hit me really hard. After that, I just slammed my corner man and my twin brother who'd been working with a while, and I started to jab and move." At the end of the first round, Trainor turned the tide a bit with a combination to Balint's head. As the fight progressed, Balint seemed to tire as Trainor used a superior reach advantage to daze his opponent, finally forcing a standing eight count in the third round.

When final bell sounded, the crowd rose to its feet in appreciation of Trainor's courage and Balint's strength in what was easily the best bout of the night. A unanimous decision by the judges made Trainor's improbable comeback complete by awarding him a Bengal Bouts crown.

"It was a classic matchup," said boxing coach Sean McManus. "The straight ahead fighter (Balint) versus a boxer with classic style (Trainor). Trainor started moving side to side, and that's what won the fight for him. I wasn't surprised at the comeback because he's in such great shape. Mike Trainor is just a terrific athlete, he's a tough kid with a superior jab." Trainor and 13 other tough kids earned the right to be called Bengal Bouts champs on Friday night. For some, like 134-pounder John Manfredy, it was not a new experience.

Manfredy, a fourth-year architecture major who did not defend his championship last year because he was in Rome, had to defeat Derek Bartlett, a very formidable opponent, in order to regain his crown. "(Bartlett) was a very tough opponent, and he gave me the best fight I ever had. I tried to slow him down and get to the body, but he was moving around the ring pretty well," said Manfredy.

Nonetheless, Manfredy held on to win a unanimous decision. Two-time defending 255-pound champ Brian Shonman pounded Dave Prinivalli, who was weakened by steep throat, on the way to his third consecutive championship. Prinivalli came out strong, but tired midway through the first round and took a tremendous beating. Prinivalli managed to finish the fight, but Shannon won by unanimous decision.

In the 144-pound division, defending champ Doug Biochini once again took his 10 stitches and took on Dave Whitman, who controlled the early parts of the bout. Biochini's superior stamina showed in the end, and he took a unanimous decision. "(Whitman) came out strong," praised Biochini. "He's a good boxer with a lot of heart. I think my stamina helped me through—and I feel good, I had something left at the end of the fight."

Continuing the roll, Doug Biochini, manning the Bobcat, defeated Jeff Whitman for scores. The balance was evident during that stretch, and also on the score sheet, where five Irish players scored in double figures, led by Williams with 14, and three more players added nine points each.

"It started with the Dayton game," said Paddock of Notre Dame's 97-79 loss. "Our bars were to the wall. We realized we didn't want to go out this way. Coach got on a great game plan, and we executed. Everything clicked. We've been knocked down a lot, but we haven't given in."

"Notre Dame's starting five of Sweet, Ellory, Robinson, LaPhonso Ellis and Elmer Bennett played the first 10 minutes of the first half, falling behind early but putting together an 11-2 run to take the lead, and working to a 23-19 advantage before Paddock began substituting.

Keith Robinson goes up strong for the basket in Notre Dame's rout of Missouri Saturday in the Joyce ACC.

Rollercoaster Irish trounce Missouri 98-67
By THERESA KELLY
Assistant Sports

The Notre Dame emotional rollercoaster continued Saturday as the men's basketball team again established itself as a team that can beat anybody, as opposed to a team that anybody can beat.

The Irish didn't just beat Missouri; they trounced a lackadaisical Tiger team which came in ranked third in the country and left the Joyce ACC as quickly as possible. The final score was 98-67.

"This is one of the great wins ever here," Notre Dame head coach Digger Phelps said. "I'll take them No. 3 any time. Winning by 30 points was a fluke because of the emotion—I wouldn't want to play them 10 times, but when we needed it, we got it done."

When the Irish needed it most was early in the second half, as they built up a big lead and battled against the lefdown that has plagued them in the past few games.

The five players who kept the Irish, now 15-11, up and the Tigers down were not, perhaps, those you would expect: Scott Paddock, Dajmon Sweet, Monty Williams, Tim Singleton and Kevin Ellery, all of whom have sat this season and watched other Irish players take center stage.

But not Saturday. "Every guy on the court had seen time on the bench," said Singleton, who had three key steals in the Irish run. "But each guy contributed. This was the time to show what we could do. On the court, we were re-taxed, and it was a team effort. We knew this time, when we got the lead, we had to bury them from there."

With a 20-point lead at the 11:32 mark in the second half, the five, along with center Keith Robinson, put together a 16-2 tear that lasted until 6:35 remained in play, built on 85-51 lead, and iced Notre Dame's second win over a top-five team on national television.

Included in that span were goalline calls ending 12-point runs by the Tigers down.

The5 points can change a season
This was one for pride and respect. This was one for the tournament selection committee. This was one for the critics and doubters.

But most of all, it was one for the Notre Dame men's basketball team.

The Irish seniors decided they didn't want to be remembered for an embarrassing 97-79 loss at Dayton on Sunday. They wanted a story that with a 98-67 rout of third-ranked Missouri Saturday afternoon at the Joyce ACC, the worst loss for the Tigers in four years.

This game wasn't even as close as the 31-point margin indicated. The Irish got a lead, held it and then slammed the door in the second half.

"I'm sure a lot of people thought we would lose by 30," Notre Dame coach Digger Phelps said. "And I'm sure when we had the lead, everybody thought we'd lose. This is the way we've been working on."

When the Irish took a big second-half lead against Missouri, they turned it into show time instead of fold time.

And this show had many stars. Daimon Sweet and LaPhonso Ellis dunking early in the half. Kevin Ellery hitting the trifecta. Scott Paddock putting in rebounds and left-handed hooks. Keith Robinson rescuing from and outside. Tim Singleton delivering a tremendous alley-oop home to give Singleton one of his game-high eight assists.

"It felt like we were in practice out there," Singleton said.

Winning by 30 points was a fluke because of the emotion—I wouldn't want to play them 10 times, but when we needed it, we got it done."

Greg Guffey Assistant Sports

Robert Heller/ The Observer/Kevin Weise Page 20

The Observer/ Kevin Weise

Monday, March 5, 1990

W inning by 30 points was a fluke because of the emotion—I wouldn't want to play them 10 times, but when we needed it, we got it done."

Greg Guffey Assistant Sports