Anderson speaks on Gulf crisis
Pulitzer Prize winning journalist comes to ND

By MICHAEL SCHOLL
News Writer

Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein believes the U.S. does not have the stomach for a protracted conflict with his nation, according to intelligence sources of syndicated columnist Jack Anderson.

"Bush must explain to the American people that Iraq controls the Persian Gulf oil fields mean economic calamity for the U.S.," Anderson said. "Hussein would raise oil prices indiscriminately, creating an inflationary spiral that would plunge the American economy into a depression."

Anderson believes the U.S. can wait him out, Anderson said. "We knew from intelligence reports that Hussein was a street thug," Anderson said, "and that he was preparing to seize the oil fields of Kuwait and Saudi Arabia." Anderson believes Hussein was unnerved by the presence of a UN peacemaking force. "Therefore, we demand that no offensive military action be taken against Iraq," Anderson said. "We recognize that there are no weapons of mass destruction in Iraq."

The newly formed Gulf Crisis Action Group is urging Bush not to make an offensive military action against Iraq. "We... are extremely concerned about the United States' mobilization for war in the Middle East," said ND Peace studies graduate student Janet Meissner, reading from the petition at a press conference Sunday.

"While we condemn Iraq's invasion of Kuwait and support United Nations' sanctions, we strongly oppose any offensive action on the part of the United States. We also condemn any ploys to provoke an Iraqi attack. Military action would cause the loss of thousands of lives, including the lives of the invading force."

"War in the Middle East is not in the best interest of the people of the United States. Therefore, we demand that you make an immediate declaration stating that the United States will not make an offensive strike against Iraq," the petition concluded.

The petition was signed by 1,819 ND and Saint Mary's students, staff and faculty members over the past week. "We hope (President Bush) will respond to our expression of concern as well as the concern expressed by other groups nationwide," Meissner said.

The group hopes to develop a network with similar groups on other college campuses. Presently, their main objective is urging Bush not to take offensive military action, or to provoke an Iraqi attack.

Iraq, under President Saddam Hussein, invaded Kuwait on Aug. 2, and presently there are over 40,000 Iraqi troops in Kuwait. The U.S. has over 200,000 troops in Saudi Arabia, and Bush announced last week that he would send an additional 200,000 troops to give the U.S. offensive capabilities.

United Nation sanctions should be continued, said Meissner. Also, "Our country should work towards negotiations and keep the developing nations from being blamed." The group does support a military presence in the Persian Gulf, but only under the guidance of a UN peacekeeping force.

"A UN peacekeeping force would be very effective," said Meissner. If economic sanctions don't succeed in forcing Iraqi president Saddam Hussein out of Kuwait?

"The group will respond to events as they develop," said Meissner. The group is in the
An aspiring artist makes poetry easy

10. offlimes have I yearned to surrender to the artist in my soul. Have I this fancy where one day, upon close scrutiny of my cuticles, I discover the meaning of life and decide to forsake my previous, superficial existence and become a poet.

Paige Smoron
Asst. Accent Editor

I will relinquish my hot rollers and wander around barefoot with leaves in my hair. I will wear black turbancocks and not even care if I look sallow. I will work the word "alas" into dinner conversation whenever possible.

In high school I took this creative writing course so I would have a solid literary base when the time came. Sadly, there was only one selection I was particularly fond of, although this trash on paper is pretty obscure. I aspire to someday be anathematized thereby.

Craylora 64
Burnt Sienna, Maize and Henna
Melon, Peaches and Teal

When my crayons become too dull Their paper I must peel.

Of course, great poetry needs no explanation, but that piece is just darn deep, devotional, and its simplicity a profound commentary on the fast-paced thrill-seekers that saturate society. Plus it has a really snappy meter.

Oddly, Craylora 64's timelessness was compromised by the uncontrollable color rennovation. Not unlike so many unfortunate species, such as the dodo birds (were they a species?), "maize" is now extinct, a sad reflection on the state of the environment. In an even more bizarre turn, only this year "teal" has been added. If I had bothered to check one of those boxes with the build-in sharpeners, I would have known that, but ironically, my apathy has resulted in sheer visionary genius.

I will leave any further interpretation to my esteemed colleagues. Our message is universal, yet its imagery will arrest each of us. I vividly remember my first reading of "tim," a sample of which follows:

Pen (A noun. Any noun.)

"tim (Word that rhymes with noun.)"

Lo, oftentimes have I
In high school I took this creative writing course so I would have a solid literary base when the time came. Sadly, there was only one selection I was particularly fond of, although this trash on paper is pretty obscure. I aspire to someday be anathematized thereby.

President Bush is seeking a tougher stand against Iraq in its conflict with Kuwait, but Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev is avoiding endorsement of a proposed United Nations resolution authorizing military action to force Iraq out of Kuwait.

Rock musician David Crosby suffered broken bones in a weekend motorcycle spill and was hospitalized in stable condition Sunday, officials said. Crosby's left leg, left ankle and left shoulder were broken but he was doing well at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center in Los Angeles, said hospital spokesman Ron Wise. Crosby is a founding member of the group Crosby, Stills, Nash and Young. The 49-year-old singer-guitarist went down on a curve while riding through the Los Angeles suburb of Encino on Saturday and skidded about 40 feet, said police officer Leona Thomas.

Many people cook an elaborate feast just once a year, on Thanksgiving. Anthony Dias Blue and his wife, Kathryn Blue, think about that dinner all year long, and they have written a book, "Thanksgiving Dinner," about it. "This is 20 years of fine-tuning our techniques and dealing with what our children will eat," Blue, a widely syndicated wine columnist, said in a recent interview. "Thanksgiving is not a potluck dinner; it is a complex feast that requires organization and considerable precision," the Blues write.
Students form group to deal with the dangers of AIDS

By BECKY RITZERT
News Writer

According to the Center for Disease Control, 2-3 of every 1000 college students are infected by the AIDS virus. It is statistics like these that have caused a group of concerned Notre Dame students to form Students with AIDS Training (SWAT) in order to alert other students to the dangers of AIDS and to educate them in methods of prevention.

Diana Bradley and Karen DaCosta Fernandes, two members of SWAT, and Carol Seager, director of Student Health Services, gave their first presentation at Knott Hall Monday. Bradley stressed the importance of college students realizing what a serious problem AIDS is on campuses today. "In order for us to give you information about AIDS, you have to acknowledge the danger of AIDS," she said.

"We think we're not at risk. We get this false sense of security because of the media," Bradley said.

She emphasized that, despite rumors that only drug addicts and homosexual men contract AIDS, they are far from being the only people at risk. The number of women testing positive for HIV, the virus that causes AIDS, is increasing, said Bradley.

"There are certain skills which are important in stopping the spread of AIDS," said DaCosta Fernandes. These skills, she said, include communicating with a sexual partner and knowing the facts about AIDS.

"It's your right to say no," she said. "If you say no, stand by your decision. If you say yes, use protection."

Seager, who serves as SWAT's advisor, explained that the virus cannot be spread through casual contact because, even if the virus is present, it becomes approximately five percent as potent as it originally was as soon as it is exposed to air.

The transfer of AIDS must be stopped because it does not contain the type of cell to which the virus attaches itself.

Seager also said that AIDS can be difficult to detect since a person can test positive for the virus and have no symptoms or can test negative while actually carrying the virus.

Seager said any student wishing to be tested for AIDS can do so through the Health Department or University Health Services. All tests remain confidential.

Early versions of DART booklets were recycled

Special to The Observer

The early versions of the DART Booklet were recycled last week in an effort to avoid disposing of them in a landfill.

The Office of the Registrar informed the Recyclin' Irish of the 10,000 available booklets and offered to hold them until a recycler was willing to accept them. Paul Buesch, president of Recyclin' Irish, agreed.

Since Notre Dame's current recycling program does not involve office waste paper or computer paper at this time, a special paper recycling company had to be located to take the booklets.

Recycling the booklets was particularly difficult due to the combinations of paper types and staples in the booklet. However, a paper recycling company in Plymouth, Ind., accepted the booklets.

Notre Dame Student Government provided the funding for the cost involved in recycling the booklets. Volunteers working with the University recycling program assisted in collection and transportation of the DART booklets.

Gulf

continued from page 1

process of dressing up an outline of further recommendations to Bush.

"Well over half of the students asked to sign the petition have agreed to sign it," Meissner said.

The group plans to start a letter writing campaign to members of Congress. Copies of the petition were also sent to Secretary of State James Baker, Secretary of Defense Dick Cheney, the U.S. House of Representatives Armed Service Committee, U.S. Senators from Indiana and Indiana Representatives in the House.

The group will send more petitions within the next month for those who were not able to sign the petition sent Monday.

The group presently consists of 50 members. In addition to Meissner, the group is headed by Kurt Mills, a graduate student in peace studies; Tara Verdoot, a senior government major; and David Corritger, a visiting faculty fellow in the Institute for International Peace Studies.

The Gulf Crisis Action group will meet today at 12:30 p.m. in the Center for Social Concerns.
A historic signing

A U.S. delegation headed by President Bush and major European leaders sign a historic arms reduction treaty to slash non-nuclear weapons in Europe Monday at Elysee Palace in Paris.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Thick clouds and high winds at a California landing site raised concerns as NASA guided Atlantis’ astronauts home Monday to end what’s been billed as the last secret spying mission for the Pentagon.

Landing was scheduled for 4:48 p.m. EST at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., and the weather forecast there was about as dismal as it had been in Florida on launch day. Conditions at the desert base were expected to worsen Tuesday.

If the weather appeared bad enough to endanger the safety of a landing, NASA could decide to keep the shuttle aloft an extra day and try again Tuesday.

During the Defense Department mission, the crew released a satellite that reportedly is to spy on Iraq and sent a holiday message to American troops stationed in the Persian Gulf.

“During the last few days, we aboard Atlantis have circled the Earth many times,” said Air Force Col. Richard Covey, mission commander. "Whenever we pass close to Saudi Arabia we cannot help but think of our soldiers, sailors, airmen and Marines deployed there for Desert Shield."

“At the holiday season approaches, the multi-service crew of Atlantis wishes those brave warriors peace and a speedy return home. Our prayers are for them and their families."

The message was sent to Earth on Sunday evening, and NASA provided transcripts.

WE GIVE THANKS

We give thanks to our God for all the earth and all creation.

That we are wonderfully made and held dear in the heart of our God

We give thanks for our friends and for our families.

For those we love, those who love us and for those without love, because we can love them

We give thanks for the food we eat and for the ability to feed those without food.

We give thanks for our life: that we have it; that it goes beyond our death.

We give thanks for our freedoms and the freedom to choose our own attitude no matter what our circumstances.

We are thankful for our health and pray for those without health that they might be strong in mind and soul if not in body, and we pray that they might share their strength of spirit with us as we share our strength of body with them.

We’re grateful for C’s that magically turn into B+’s for the opportunity for an education and to share our knowledge and wisdom with others through tutoring or advising or being big brothers and big sisters.

We give thanks for the ability to serve and to reap the benefits of our service.

For all good things,

We give you thanks, O God.
The medical field is changing from individual control to institutional control. Therefore, the old-fashioned desire to help patients hasn’t been lost, according to John Larossa, M.D.

Larossa, a physician in internal medicine from Boston, discussed the drawbacks of today’s medical environment during a Monday night lecture titled “Changes in Medicine: Are You Still Interested?”

During the course of the lecture, which was sponsored by the Pre-Professional Club and Alpha Epsilon Delta, Larossa emphasized the fact that insurance companies have gradually placed physicians in a financial stranglehold that has affected their ability to diagnose and help their patients.

If insurance companies expect physicians to be an advocate of an insured plan rather than an advocate of the patient, said Larossa, “that’s when the problems begin.”

Physicians have found that they are losing control of their practice, he continued, because of insurance constraints. Changes have come about because of a change in parties (in control), said Larossa. Because a physician must consider how much an insurance company will reimburse him for a certain service, he must be judicious in delivering care, be he a partner in a group practice or independent.

These concerns lead to ethical problems and even malpractice suits, but, if a physician cannot offer necessary care due to constraints. Nonetheless, “we’re not losing too much control as we think we are,” he said, “primarily because of the relationship between patient and physician.”

Other problems in the medical field include:
• the great disparity between the financial gains of those who diagnose patients and those who actually help the patients physically.
• the disadvantages of both institutional service and private practice. While some physicians may opt for the security of hospital employment, they face the problems of balancing structured lives and the raising of a family. If a physician does not devote his life entirely to the hospital, he or she might be poorly treated by the administration, Larossa said.

However, he continued, one must be wary of attempting to set up a private practice, since a person must face enormous financial debt and business problems on which he has no formal background. Private practice is a gamble, according to Larossa, yet the designation between private or public depends on personal orientation. “There are different ideas about what the practice of medicine should be.”

“Long work weeks. While past physicians have held the belief that continuous work keeps that practice fresh in man’s mind, people are now questioning the value of long work weeks, said Larossa. Fatigue and pressure may lead to errors and poor practice, he continued.

Even now, however, “there are changes that will make it easier for physicians to have more time,” it’s up to the physician, he continued.

The medical profession does, however, have good benefits, concluded Larossa. “What keeps you in medicine is the pleasure you get in taking care of patients and ... the relationship between patient and physician. Money has little to do with it.”

“There’s a level of reward that goes beyond the money,” he said.

M.D. talks of changes in medicine

By DAVID KINNEY

News Writer

PHOTO The Observer}

Tuesday, November 20, 1990

Bush arrives

President Bush waves to the news media on his arrival in Paris Sunday. Bush is in Paris for the 34-nation Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe (CSCE), which began Monday.
Move over, George Jetson

Fred Barker, president of Flight Innovations, Inc., in Arlington, Wash., checks the front colors of a prototype Sky Commuter VTOL (vertical take-off and landing) aircraft. The center is designed to cruise up to 225 miles at speeds of about 85 MPH.

Announcing A Poetry Contest in honor of The Sesquicentennial Year

Open to alumni, current students and staff, and present and former faculty members

A prize of $500 dollars is offered for the chosen poem selected by the judges. The winner will be brought to the campus for SY celebration and a reading of the poem. The prize-winning poem will be selected from entries from the four aforementioned categories, with runners-up from each category possible.

The poem need not be directly concerned with Notre Dame, or the Sesquicentennial, though submissions which touch upon the themes of the Sesquicentennial (Belief, Inquiry, Community) will be looked at with special interest.

Previously published poems are not eligible. Send entries (no more than 3 poems) in triplicate, with no name on the poems themselves, but on a removable coversheet, by April 15th, 1991, to SY Poetry Contest in care of The Department of English, University of Notre Dame, IN, 46556.
Tuesday, November 20, 1990

Dear Editor:

There has been much talk of late about the condition of American liberal universities. Major magazines and newspapers, as well as countless journals, have dedicated entire issues to prasing or, more commonly, criticizing America's colleges and universities. Even The Observer has been filled with criticisms concerning the well-being of Notre Dame. While I have been impressed with the arguments presented, I believe that some of the critics have the wrong idea about what higher education is for.

Higher education in America has been in decline for the past twenty years. I approach this conclusion not from the fact that 25 percent of the college seniors polled in 1989 at Stanford University recently, Jesse Jackson led 500 students in a rally charging, "Hey, hey, hey! Western culture's got to go." The administration responded to this dangerous ultimatum by cutting down its courses in Western civilization.

Claims that Western civilization and culture are too narrow in their views and too biased in their teachings are unfounded. John Silber wrote in The Intercollegiate Review that "the culture of the West, as long as we have records of it, has been penetrated by the culture of the East." The fact that Western culture is all-encompassing and never has been ethnocentric. It offers the best foundation for a good liberal arts education and should remain the cornerstone of America's colleges.

A final concern is the current administrative actions on many campuses intended to violate students' right to free speech. One case of this infringement can be found at Dartmouth College, where a conservative publication, the Dartmouth Review, has consistently been penalized for publishing opinions contrary to the official viewpoint of the college. There is little or no evidence to support the claims made by the college officials and that the impingement of free speech is not in direct contrast to the United States Constitution.

In the midst of all this seeming chaos and confusion, I believe that, for starters, Notre Dame should resist the rising tide of the new one-sidedness that has been spreading across the nation. The University administration should retain the requirements it has so as to provide a traditional liberal arts education and that foundation of Western Civilization.

A final concern is the current administrative actions on many campuses intended to violate students' right to free speech.

Finally, I charge the University to pass measures ensuring the freedoms of speech, assembly and press for all student and student groups, right-wing as well as left-wing, and to resist the temptation of enacting speech codes.

In this age of perpetual progressivism and sometimes mindless 'advancements,' the words of Lynne Cheney hold a great deal of certainty: "Not everything shifts and changes. Not everything is relative. Some things do endure—and college should be a time to explore history and thought for values that have stood the test of time."

John Barry
Keenan Hall
Nov. 15, 1990

LETTERS

DOONESBURY

GARRY TRUDEAU

QUOTE OF THE DAY

"Sex and love have nothing to do with female or male. It is just whenever two souls happen to meet."

Bob Dylan
Women participating in sports refute columnist's sexist slant

By Chris Cooney

"Women and Football: Do They Mix?" A better question might be, how do they mix? The sports editor column entitled "Day of Women," (Nov. 14), is a resounding "Yes, Mr. Snyder, I do understand and I do agree."

Not only does Michael Snyder insult every sports-loving woman on this campus, he also perpetuates the stereotypes and prejudices that exist at Notre Dame. Love of football does not depend on what sex you were born as. Y chromosomes in one's genes. Replace the word "girls" with "blacks" or "homosexuals" and what type of reaction do you think you will receive? This type of sexism should never be tolerated at a university in the 1990's.

I hope that most of Snyder's complaints are unfunny. He should see extreme ignorance and inaccurate remarks about both men and women (all seniors) to watch the Notre Dame-Tennessee game.

I hope the next time someone with only three months experience on this campus decides to write a column he will not resort to tired, overused subjects in his quest for humor. Male and female football fans would rather read something by someone who knows what he is talking about.

Chris Cooney is an assistant sports editor for The Observer.
Saint Mary's hosts talent

Intriguing images and a personal touch add to art exhibits

By SARAH MARKER
Accent Writer

Bart Kasten, Lisa Lockhart and Warren Seelig are the artists whose works are currently on exhibit at Saint Mary's. Bart Kasten's work consists of color photography with a few photo-silkscreeens in Moreau Gallery. Lisa Lockhart has Little Theatre Gallery filled with abstract oil paints, graphite drawings, and mixed-media sculpture, and Warren Seelig's fiber constructions are hanging in Hammes Gallery.

Bart Kasten, a 1988 MFA graduate of the University of Florida, is currently an artist in residence at the Penland School in North Carolina. His work on display includes mainly color photography and a few photo-silkscreeens.

The artist intends "to capture the imaginary life hidden within a place." He does this with multiple exposure imagery that integrates the evidence of man and nature. The compositions have deep, rich color with one of the images exposed being a landscape.

These images are intriguing and draw the viewer in for closer inspection and at the same time, each image remains close within the confines of the frame.

The artist attempts to show the "interweaving of ambiguous layers that defy reality, space and time." An example of this is an image titled "Rick's Chair." This is a Type-C print that shows an empty room in the middle of a forest. The room, obviously old by the torn blinds and the peeling paint behind a rusty heater, shows a view of what lies outside the windows.

Inside the room are the trees, leaves, and small hills with a rust colored chair in the middle of it, exposed onto the the room; therefore achieving the artist's goal of defying reality and space.

The exhibit will remain on display until December 14, in Moreau Gallery.

The work of Lisa Lockhart, oil paintings, graphite drawings, and mixed-media sculpture, are "personal abstract narratives..." and "fragments" of her past. The paintings range in size from 16x20" to 5x6" with each containing a multitude of information achieved by lines—both narrow and wide, straight and curved with the thickly painted surface both hiding and revealing abstract shapes and forms. Each color, in all of the paintings has an intensity of its own—from the fiery reds to the midnight blues—that work to emphasize the abstract quality of each painting.

The drawings are mainly graphite that relies on the repetitive motion of the line that moves around in an organic motion to create an image.

The sculptures are equally as intriguing as the rest of the exhibit, partly due to the small size in comparison to the overwhelming amount of two-dimensional work. The size attracts the viewer's attention, and draws them in to further inspect the surface quality as well as the context of each piece that can be viewed from all sides.

This exhibit will remain on display in Little Theatre Gallery until December 14.

The third exhibit, by Warren Seelig, is titled, "Columns, Wings, and Up the Wall." These sculptures are constructed of thin metal rods and different colored meshed fibers that are suspended from the ceiling and hanging on the wall. The color of the fiber is individual to each piece that is stretched tightly over an entire section and creates a protective layer over the intricate inner structure of each piece. The forms have a delicate look to them, yet because they are suspended from the ceiling they become precarious. This forces the viewer to become intensely aware of the space he or she is entering.

This exhibit will also remain on display in Hammes Gallery until December 14.

One of the many works by Lisa H. Lockhart, 'Locks,' consists of oil and graphite on canvas. The hours of each of the galleries are Tuesday through Saturday 10 am-12 noon, and Sunday 1-3 p.m.

A self-portrait by Bart Kasten is an example of a Type-C print with a photo-silkscreen.

This exhibit by Warren Seelig represents his work with suspended columns.
Columbia (AP) — Tim Sweeney over the Vancouver Canucks on Monday night. Sweeney broke a 4-4 tie with his third goal of the season at 5:29 on a pass from Mark Hunter, helping Calgary (12-8-2) end a four-game winless streak.

Sergei Makarov clinched it when he added his second goal of the game at 11:10 and the Flames pulled within one point of the leading Los Angeles Kings in the Smythe Division. Sweeney's first NHL goal came on opening night when he scored in overtime to beat Vancouver 3-2.

Robert Reichel, Joe Nieuwendyk and Garth Butcher on goaltender Mike Vernon. Calgary's power play clicked three times in four opportunities as special teams proved to be the difference. Vancouver was 2-5 with the man advantage.

The Flames defeated Vancouver 6-4 on Monday night.

VANCOUVER, British Columbia (AP) — Tim Sweeney scored on a breakaway in the third period to trigger the Calgary Flames' fourth victory over the Vancouver Canucks on Monday night.

Sweeney broke a 4-4 tie with his third goal of the season at 5:29 on a pass from Mark Hunter, helping Calgary (12-8-2) end a four-game winless streak.

Sergei Makarov clinched it when he added his second goal of the game at 11:10 and the Flames pulled within one point of the leading Los Angeles Kings in the Smythe Division. Sweeney's first NHL goal came on opening night when he scored in overtime to beat Vancouver 3-2.

Robert Reichel, Joe Nieuwendyk and Garth Butcher on goaltender Mike Vernon. Calgary's power play clicked three times in four opportunities as special teams proved to be the difference. Vancouver was 2-5 with the man advantage.

The Flames opened the scoring after McLean's brilliant save on Fleury's rebound following a drop pass by Greg Adams on the rush.

Calgary tied the score with rookie Reichel's fourth goal of the season. He fired into an open net at 17 minutes after McLean accidentally poked the puck away from Lumme.

The teams split six goals in the second period dominated by power plays. Each team scored on goals by Fleury and Makarov, the first on a power play and the second on a rebound after a poor clearance by Canucks winger Steve Breez.

Vancouver rallied on power-play goals by Lumme and Butcher from the point as Vancouver was beat on the stick side both times. Butcher's came with 18 seconds left in the second after he intercepted a clearing attempt by Doug Gilmour.

The Observer receives classifieds every business day from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Notre Dame office, 314 Lafayette, and from 12:30 to 3 p.m. at the Saint Mary's office, Liggett Center. Deadline for next day classifieds is 3 p.m. All classifieds must be prepaid. The charge is 2 cents per character per day, including spaces.

CALGARY FLAMES FLIGHT ATTENDANT JOB CANADA AIRLINES Need competent, friendly, outgoing young people. Must have experience. Apply in person at all main offices.

FLYING AVAILABLE
277-7406

DOS USERS GROUP FIRST MEETING
November 17 at 7:00 pm Room 332 Comp Mth Bldg.

BIOGRAMS
The only biochemical
You can read by Yourself. No cost.

TERMS
SUGAR AND NURSES
Pick up & Delivery 277-1405

GOLD NUGGET BRACELET ON FRI 11/2
Includes tax. Pickup & Delivery

NUTRIENT LOST?
Brown leather jacket from the coat room at Senior Bar on Saturday, Nov 17. If you have it or know of its whereabouts please let me know. It has sentimental value.

REWARD
Call Rob at x3306.

WANTED
Woman: Medium 130 or 240 for Mar. (277) 3591

EARN $200 to $500 per week.

WANTED
1991 90 Reserve Plus 654-3, or 665, Home, Safe, Turn, Western Union: 236-3651 or 290-1550

EFFICIENCY APARTMENT, NEAR MEMORIAL HOSPITAL. FIRST FLOOR, PRIVATE ENTRANCE, FURNISHED. UTILITIES INCLUDED: $205. 235-8647.

FOR SALE
CANNONDALE 10 SPD RACING BIKE, LIKE NEW MUST SELL, CALL JEFF 271-7272

FOR RENT
RENT IN BREAKFAST REGISTRY 251-2921.

Ap/Dms-What’s the differ- ence? GET A HOUSE! 6 avail.: 4- 6 BRs; Exc.Locations; Safe; Lndry; 1-800-827-8440.

HAGGAR COLLEGE CENTER. Deadline for next day classifieds is 3p.m. All classifieds must be prepaid. The charge is 2 cents per character per day, including spaces.

Please call Joan/John collect (212) 10011-9222

I need your help.

I have a unique problem with thought & remembrance. My love for you dear Nicole began truly defined by him. Tom Faller

Jennifer, if you are (OR IF YOU KNOW) JENNIFER THE FRESHER PAID STUDENT WHO WAS IN NEW ORLEANS ON NOV 3. PLEASE CONTACT ME AT THE FOLLOWING ADDRESSES: I NEVER HAD SO MUCH FUN WITH A PERSON AND I WOULD LIKE TO SEE YOU AGAIN. YOU ARE A SPECIAL GIRL.

Bob Perry

JENNIFER, if you are (OR IF YOU KNOW) JENNIFER THE FRESHER PAID STUDENT WHO WAS IN NEW ORLEANS ON NOV 3. PLEASE CONTACT ME AT THE FOLLOWING ADDRESSES: I NEVER HAD SO MUCH FUN WITH A PERSON AND I WOULD LIKE TO SEE YOU AGAIN. YOU ARE A SPECIAL GIRL.

University of Texas Medical School at Houston 6141 Fannin Street Suite G024 MSMB 6431 Fannin St.

Medical School at Houston 6141 Fannin Street Suite G024 MSMB 6431 Fannin St.

$28.50/pp/day. Guaranteed consulting fee of the week?

Call Easy Sailing for details 1(800)780-4001.

http://www.nab.com

Don't Miss the SHOPPING DAY OF THE YEAR IMMEDIATELY.

Call KIU 10011

You're the best! Luv, K

P.S. Butch wants to see you again.

ATTN. SMC.

Please call Easy Sailing for details 1-800-827-8440.
Bussey shines in first Bengals start

CINCINNATI (AP) — Barney Bussey finally got his first start as a Cincinnati Bengal, stepping in for injured safety David Fulcher, and what did he do? Well, he accounted for a two-touchdown swing in Sunday's 27-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers.

"Me and David play basically the same game," said Bussey. "We're both physical players.

Late in the first half, Bussey single-handedly stopped a Steeler touchdown on a fake punt, upending Dan Strzynski so close to the goal line that Strzynski's helmet crossed the line — but the ball didn't.

"I knew it was a fake all the way. I new the guy was going to let go of the guy you're covering. I knew it was going to happen and I knew it was going to be my responsibility," Bussey said.

Then, in the third quarter, Bussey scooped up a Pittsburgh punt, upending Dan Stryzinski single-handedly stopped a game plan, and we stayed with ours. And you saw what happened.

The Bengals' defense, which entered the game ranked the NFL's second-worst statistically, played a more inspired game Sunday night despite the absence of Fulcher. Linebacker Carl Zander said it was just a matter of consistency.

"I think it's been a matter of we've been playing hard one play and not as hard the next," he said. "We just kept coming after them — good, solid defense.

When the Bears start practicing Wednesday, they will use their new indoor facility in nearby Waukegan for the first time. That's to prepare the team for its first game on artificial turf this season. Their only other game on artificial turf will be at Detroit on Dec. 16.

"I like to stay off that stuff," Ditka said. "I hate it and I don't care who knows it. The players don't like it. It should be outlawed.

Back in 1985 when the Bears went all the way and won the Super Bowl in the New Orleans Superdome, Ditka said "We were a good AstroTurf team. I don't know if this is a good AstroTurf team."

SPORTS BRIEFS

Special Olympics St. Joseph County is in need of a volunteer men's basketball coach. If interested, call 259-5207 and ask for Sue.

NVA is sponsoring a three-part shooting contest, a one-on-one basketball tournament (games to 11, men's 6' and over, under 6'; women open) and a free-throw competition (best of 50) Sunday, Dec. 2 from 7-10 p.m. in the IACC arena. Sign up by 2 p.m. Nov. 28 in the NVA office.

What a night on WVII SportsTalk! Does Notre Dame deserve a higher ranking than eighth? Does Miami warrant the No. 2 spot? What are Rocket's chances for the Heisman Trophy? Hints WC Lombardi and Hugh McGowan will talk live with ABC play-by-play man Keith Jackson, CBS college football expert Mike Fratone and Chairman of the Orange Bowl Committee, Arthur Hertz. SportsTalk will also talk live with Greg Guffey and members of the Notre Dame basketball team live from New York City as they prepare for the semifinals of the Dodge NIT. Make sure you tune in from 8-9 p.m. on your 640 AM dial. Please call 239-6400.

Prof. Waldstein is an Assistant Professor of New Testament in the Program of Liberal Studies here at Notre Dame. He received his Th.D. in New Testament from the Harvard Divinity School, an S.S.L. (summa cum laude) from the Pontifical Biblical Institute in Rome, and a Ph.D. in Philosophy from the University of Dallas. In addition to his publications and honors, his P.S.L seminar teaching experience will enhance audience participation at the end of the lecture.

Members of the Cincinnati Bengals defense, including safety Barney Bussey (27), celebrate after stopping Pittsburgh Steeler running back Tim Worley during the Bengals' 27-3 win on Sunday.

Notre Dame: A Catholic Research University?
An SUB Lecture Series on the Catholic Character of Notre Dame and its status as a university
Dr. Michael Waldstein will give an informal lecture entitled:

Theology: Torn Between Secularization and the Church?
8 p.m., Tuesday, November 20
Siegfried Hall TV Lounge

Professor Waldstein is an Assistant Professor of New Testament in the Program of Liberal Studies here at Notre Dame. He received his Th.D. in New Testament from the Harvard Divinity School, an S.S.L. (summa cum laude) from the Pontifical Biblical Institute in Rome, and a Ph.D. in Philosophy from the University of Dallas. In addition to his publications and honors, his Ph.D seminar teaching experience will enhance audience participation at the end of the lecture.

The American Heart Association
American Heart Association
Heart Attack. Fight it with a Memorial gift to the American Heart Association.
Bonds wins MVP

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Finally, Barry Bonds isn’t just Bobby Bonds’ son.

You might want to refer to him by his new title: National League Most Valuable Player. He was a near unanimous choice, receiving 23 of a possible 24 first-place votes from the Baseball Writers of America Association after his career year led the Pittsburgh Pirates to their first NL East Division title in 11 years.

“I know I was capable of this, but there are so many great hall-ball players out there. I didn't know if it would be this year,” Bonds said Monday. “I just put it together in the right year.”

In his first major league season, Bonds tried unsuccesfully to reach the standards of excellence his famous father achieved while hitting 30 homers and stealing 30 bases in five different seasons.

Now, after enjoying the kind of season Bonds himself wasn’t sure he had in him, he’s making others guess how much better he can get. According to Pirates manager Jim Leyland, even an MVP can get better.

“Barry’s only 22 years old,” Leyland said. “He’s a hungry player and his consistency is better than it’s ever been. People say he’s finished. I don’t think that’s the case. He’s a potential, but, hey, he was a pretty good player before this season.

“Sometimes he goes off the defensive. I think he’s the best player here or there, and if he didn’t do that, he could hit 40 home runs.

That would put the 26-year-old Bonds in line to win the coveted award with Jose Canseco, a class not reached even by Bonds’ father. For now, Barry Bonds will have to be content being the majors’ first 50-50 player.

Bonds, who had never hit higher than .283, batted .301 this past season. He’d never hit .600, “I hit .350, .390 with runners in scoring position, with runners in scoring position — an incredible figure for any player, much less a player whose 103 career average with runners in scoring position in late-inning situations is a bottom number in baseball, according to the Elias Sports Bureau.

“My father was my own worst enemy just because of the last name. He doesn’t rank up with Mays or McCovey in his last name. He doesn’t rank up with the best of them.”

Barry Bonds could do.

“Michael Curry has been outstanding. He had a chance to tie the game. A delay roughing penalty, giving the Pirates a 3-on-2 advantage for the first time since Day One of my career…”

Bonds was one of the forerunners who generate runs by the home run, the Cansecos, the Rickey Hendersons, the Eric Davises — who generate runs by the home run and the way they run them.

“Barry Bonds once considered his last name a curse, a cross to bear. “I can talk to him better than I ever could before,” Barry Bonds said. “Now I want to put all those father-son hitting records so far out of sight nobody will ever be able to touch them.”

And you thought the Griffey’s were baseball’s only famous father-son combination.

“My ultimate goal is to get the Hall of Fame,” Bonds said. “I don’t want to do this just for one season or two seasons. I don’t know how much better I can get, but I do know that I can tell my kids and my grandkids someday that for six months, I was up there with the best of them.”

Hockey

continued from page 16

a 3-3 deadlock with the visiting Beacons. Michael Curry, Dan Martin and Matt Ostrick notched goals in the Irish rally, while Greg Louder, Pat Arendt and two assists. At the final buzzer, the Irish brokeaways and two-on-one’s started off shaky, but he made a few saves which came in a five-on-three,” noted Schafer.

“If we hadn’t, that sure victory. “If we hadn’t, that sure would have changed the complexion of the game.”

Schafer also made mention of the efforts of junior left wing Michael Curry.

“Michael Curry has been playing well,” remarked Schafer. “I can say that he has been playing well with consistency.”

Curry had two goals in the two games against UMass-Boston, raising his team-leading point total to nine points (six goals, three assists).

The Irish next face Alabama-Huntsville at Notre Dame over Thanksgiving. Game times are 7:30 p.m. on Friday, November 23 and 3 p.m. on Saturday, November 24.
Interhall coaches select first-ever All-League teams

Men's Interhall champion Off-Campus and runner-up Alumni dominate league squads

By RENE FERRAN
Sports Writer

Men's Interhall football champion Off-Campus and runner-up Alumni dominated the rosters of their respective league champions in the 1990 Ohio Interhall All-League teams, as selected by league coaches. The Crime placed 11 members on the Parseghian League first team and five on the second team. The Dogs, meanwhile, had 13 first-team Leehy players and four second-teamers.

The Rockne League first-team was more balanced, with league champion Sorin placing nine members and runner-up Fisher six. The Player of the Year honors in the Rockne League were divided between Tom Sullivan of Carroll and Vic Lombardi of Sorin. Sullivan, a first-team selection at linebacker and punter, was regarded as one of the hardest hitters in the league.

"He was a force on our defense at the middle linebacker position," said Carroll coach Mike Baumun. Lombardi is a first-team wide receiver and honorable mention placekicker. According to Pangborn quarterback/safety John Jacobs, Lombardi was one of the more explosive offensive threats in the talented Sorin attack.

"He was the deciding factor of our game," said Jacobs. "We held him in check for most of the game, but he made one catch against us to win the game. He seemed to make the big play all year for them.

Sorin coach Kevin Kramer earned Rockne Coach of the Year honors for leading the Otters to a first-place finish in their division.

"Their team was well-organized, well-prepared," said Jacobs. "His coaching showed in their performance. They had a great season."

In the Leahy League, Alumni swept the two major individual awards, as quarterback Jim Passinault was named Player of the Year and Paul Szyperski, Coach of the Year.

"He was the leader of their [Alumni's] offense," said Zahm captain Dan Stolar. "He kept the continuity in their offense going and they were pretty much unstoppable during the regular season." He also believed Szyperski kept Alumni focused during the season, helping them dominate the league.

The Parseghian Player of the Year was running back Phil Courl of Off-Campus. A strong inside runner, he impressed Grace coach Chris Sullivan by his ability to stimulate the Crime offense.

"He's run well all year because he's such a hard-nosed runner," said Sullivan. "He makes things happen for Off-Campus."

Sorin's Football and Flanker coach Kevin Riere were named Co-Coaches of the Year in the Parseghian League. Each had nothing but praise for the other's efforts throughout the season.

"Chris is a good coach," said Rice. "They went 4-0 during the regular season, and it's hard to argue with that. Grace was a good, disciplined team that was very well-coached and was a good shape physically. He definitely deserves to get this award.

Sports Writer

By RENE FERRAN
Sports Writer

There was heavy competition at this position, it was expected that she would be named to one of the first two teams.

The Blue Division also had its share of surprises, such as freshman Jenny Ford of Siegfried beating out junior Mary Hogan of Farley and senior Danica Petruchios of division champ Asparagus West.

The individual honors in the Blue Division went to quarterback Heidi Hansen of P.W. for Player of the Year and Lewis' Dennis Lynch for Coach of the Year. Miki remembers Hansen for her heady play, especially in pressure situations.

"She made everything go for P.W.," said Miki. "She had the best arm in the league, and also showed excellent leadership skills. She was very cool under pressure. In two different games, she drove the team for last-minute touchdowns." Lewis first-team running back Colleen Hogan, pleasantly taken back by Lynch's selection, still had lots of praise for the Chicken offensive coordinator.

"He was very encouraging, and involved everyone in the game," said Hogan. Player of the Year honors in the Gold Division went to Howard running back Becki Miller over fellow running back Kristi Alkidas of B.P. in a close contest.

"The thing about Becky is that she was able to get the tough yards up the middle for Howard," said Miki. "For four years, she's consistently been a great player," said teammate Marianne Haggarty, herself a second-team running back. "She gets the tough yards for us, but also breaks free often for long gains. She gives it her all, and it shows in her play."

Coaches of the Year in the Gold Division in second-year coach Mike Hortasius, who led B.P. through an undefeated regular season and to the Interhall title.

There was heavy competition at this position, it was expected that she would be named to one of the first two teams.

The Blue Division also had its share of surprises, such as freshman Jenny Ford of Siegfried beating out junior Mary Hogan of Farley and senior Danica Petruchios of division champ Asparagus West.

The individual honors in the Blue Division went to quarterback Heidi Hansen of P.W. for Player of the Year and Lewis' Dennis Lynch for Coach of the Year. Miki remembers Hansen for her heady play, especially in pressure situations.

"She made everything go for P.W.," said Miki. "She had the best arm in the league, and also showed excellent leadership skills. She was very cool under pressure. In two different games, she drove the team for last-minute touchdowns." Lewis first-team running back Colleen Hogan, pleasantly taken back by Lynch's selection, still had lots of praise for the Chicken offensive coordinator.

"He was very encouraging, and involved everyone in the game," said Hogan. Player of the Year honors in the Gold Division went to Howard running back Becki Miller over fellow running back Kristi Alkidas of B.P. in a close contest.

"The thing about Becky is that she was able to get the tough yards up the middle for Howard," said Miki. "For four years, she's consistently been a great player," said teammate Marianne Haggarty, herself a second-team running back. "She gets the tough yards for us, but also breaks free often for long gains. She gives it her all, and it shows in her play."

Coaches of the Year in the Gold Division in second-year coach Mike Hortasius, who led B.P. through an undefeated regular season and to the Interhall title.

I'd say Mike's coaching expertise comes not only from his knowledge of football, but being the time and effort put into making us into champions," said Alkidas.

Sports Writer

By RENE FERRAN
Sports Writer

-TUESDAY

A sandwich

-113 DIXIE WAY NORTH

A PICS "Subs"

BUCK TUESDAY

9 p.m. to 12:30

Any 7" Sandwich

$2.00

(2 or more for delivery)

FREE DELIVERY

513 271-8113

(10PM TO 9AM)

Continued from page 16

Sports coverage would be a better use of that time. Tonight, for example, Hugh McGowan and Vic Lombardi will have Mike Francesa from CBS Sports, Keith Jackson of ABC Sports and Arthur Hertz, President of the Orange Bowl Committee, on the air from 8 to 9. They will also have a live report on Irish basketball from New York.

Shows such as this provide students interested in sports broadcasting with fantastic experience. They also give students on campus a chance to speak live with national sports figures via telephone lines, and give a very sports-oriented campus an open forum.

In short, the possibilities for WVFI as a resource are limitless, and it is a shame that the station has chosen such a narrow focus for itself. Although I'm not suggesting that the whole format should be strictly sports, I do think that more opportunities should be allocated to sports. Both aspiring journalists and campus sports fans would benefit if WVFI expanded its sports coverage.
Cross country finishes third

Special to the Observer

The Notre Dame men’s cross country team ran an outstanding race yesterday in the NCAA Championships in Knoxville, Tenn., finishing third in the nation behind Arkansas and Iowa State.

The Irish, who came into the meet ranked fourth in the country, broke into the top three for the first time since 1963. It was the highest NCAA finish ever for a Joe Piane-coached team.

Leading Notre Dame was the same tandem that brought the team to the championships. Sophomore John Coyle and freshman Mike McWilliams finished 14th and 21st respectively en route to All-American honors.

Coyle crossed the line in 30:00, with McWilliams finishing at 30:16. Rounding out the outstanding race yesterday in the nation behind Arkansas respectively en route to All-American honors.

Knoxville, Tenn., finishing third tomorrow’s Observer.

But WFFI Station Manager Mark Bintinger decided not to broadcast the game and instead aired some of the station’s regular music coverage. His reasons for doing so are quite valid.

“Our mission is to be an alternative music station for the Notre Dame campus,” Bintinger says. “And we decided to air music based on that. After I heard that only a couple hundred people (actually 2,303!) showed up for the Fordham game (that Thursday night), I figured the interest in basketball was minimal.”

Bintinger probably made the right decision in not broadcasting the game. Sports coverage is secondary—very secondary— in WFFI’s programming schedule. The station’s sports staff is allowed its weekly show from 8 to 9 p.m. every Tuesday night, and broadcasts all of the home football games as well as some other contests when Bintinger and his staff decide the games are important enough.

It may be none of my business, but I really think that a campus radio station should do more than provide progressive music programming that few students actually listen to. WFFI is a priceless resource at Notre Dame. It could be used to provide people who are interested in a broadcasting career with valuable experience. Instead, the station limits students’ experiences to disc jockeying, which may be fun, but is a relatively unproductive use of air time.

Now that might be a lot of fun, but it seems to me that more

Volleyball places 4th in MCC

Notre Dame defeats Loyola; falls to Butler, Saint Louis

Special to the Observer

The Notre Dame women’s volleyball team swept the University of Massachusetts-Boston, winning 8-4 on Thursday and 6-3 on Friday.

BY DAVE DIETEMAN
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame women’s volleyball team battled to a fourth-place finish in the Midwesterr Collegiate Conference championship tournament Sunday at Xavier University.

The Irish, ranked fifth in the MCC, going into the tournament, opened with a hard-fought 12-15, 15-8, 17-15, 11-15, 17-15 victory over fourth-ranked Loyola. But they lost in three sets to top-ranked Butler, 8-15, 7-15, 9-15 and closed out the tournament with a 15-13, 11-15, 15-13, 14-16, 12-15 defeat at the hands of Saint Louis in their final match of the tournament to end up in fourth place.

Third-ranked Dayton won the tournament, defeating Butler in the finals 15-8, 15-9, 15-9.

Sophomore Alicia Turner was the sparkplug for the Irish throughout the tournament. She recorded 29 kills and 43 digs in the three games for Notre Dame en route to being the only Irish player chosen to the All-MCC team.

Turner started out the tournament strong, recording 25 kills and 23 digs in the victory over the Rams. Freshman setter Janelle Karlan also was outstanding in the match, recording 61 assists in the five-game triumph. Karlan finished with a team-leading 145 assists for the tournament.

Things fell apart for the Irish in the semifinal match against Butler. The Bulldogs disposed of Notre Dame fairly quickly, taking just 80 minutes to record the three-game win. Jessica Taylor did most of the damage for Butler, recording 13 kills and 19 digs as the Bulldogs finished with a hitting percentage of .312, compared to just .106 for the Irish.

Notre Dame lost a heartbreaker in its final game of the tournament against Saint Louis. The Irish were ahead two games to one, but lost the fourth game 14-16 and the fifth game 12-15. Marilyn Cragin led Notre Dame inside in that one, recording three solo blocks and 14 kills. Christine Choquette and Turner paced the Irish with 20 kills apiece.

Sunday’s action brought Notre Dame’s record to 9-25 on the season. The Irish will close out their season in the four-team Whataburger Classic in Austin, Tex. Nov. 23 and 24.

The other participating teams will be the University of Texas, USC and San Diego State.

Hockey takes two

The Notre Dame hockey team swept the University of Massachusetts-Boston (3-2) in a two-game series as it came from behind to beat the Beacons 6-3 in front of 1,262 fans at the J.A.C.C. on Friday night, quickly fell behind 2-0 on Friday before coming back with vigor, as J.A.C.C. on Thursday night, beating the Boston College on Friday night, 6-3.

The Notre Dame hockey team swept the University of Massachusetts-Boston, winning 8-4 on Thursday and 6-3 on Friday.

BY DAVE DIETEMAN
Sports Writer

The Notre Dame hockey team swept the University of Massachusetts-Boston, winning 8-4 on Thursday and 6-3 on Friday.

The Irish, who had beaten UMass in Boston 6-4 on Thursday night, quickly fell behind 2-0 on Friday before coming back with vigor, as J.A.C.C. on Thursday night, beating the Boston College on Friday night, 6-3.

The next UMass goal came for the tournament.

In the semifinal match against Saint Louis. The Irish were ahead two games to one, but lost the fourth game 14-16 and the fifth game 12-15. Marilyn Cragin led Notre Dame inside in that one, recording three solo blocks and 14 kills. Christine Choquette and Turner paced the Irish with 20 kills apiece.

Sunday’s action brought Notre Dame’s record to 9-25 on the season. The Irish will close out their season in the four-team Whataburger Classic in Austin, Tex. Nov. 23 and 24.

The other participating teams will be the University of Texas, USC and San Diego State.