Iraq assembly agrees to free all German hostages

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Iraqi lawmakers agreed Tuesday to free all Germans remaining in Iraq and Kuwait as a gesture that President Saddam Hussein said should encourage dialogue and avert war in the Persian Gulf.

The National Assembly voted to approve Saddam's recommendation that the Germans be allowed to leave in response to recent statements by German Chancellor Helmut Kohl stressing the need for a peaceful resolution of the crisis.

Earlier this week Iraq said all foreigners would be set free between Dec. 25 and March 25, but Information Minister Latif Nasserly Jassim indicated Monday that some might be allowed to leave earlier.

A Dutch company reported Tuesday that 122 Dutch, Belgian and British nationals who had just completed a dredging project for the Iraqi government would soon leave.

And the government indicated it would free an unspecified number of other Europeans in response to visits by a Swiss delegation and a group of European parliament members headed by Jean-Marie Le Pen of France.

The Western allies have accused Saddam of trying to use the hostage issue to try to split the alliance assembled against Iraq and Kuwait, by specific arrangements were made for their departure.

Only one of the National Assembly members, Jamil Sheikh Issa, voted against the see IRAQ/page 5

Counselors discuss ways to aid victims of emotional abuse

By DANNIKA SIMPSON

Victims of verbal and emotional abuse are affected just as much, if not more, than victims of physical abuse and they often develop a tolerance to pain, according to Sally Coleman, the Coordinator of Addition Services at the University Counseling Center.

"Victims develop survival skills which we view as gifts," she said.

Coleman and Wendy Settle, also of the University Counseling Center, lectured on abusive relationships Tuesday, giving characteristics of victims and offering victims ways to seek help and break the cycle of abuse.

Coleman said what happens to the victim over time is that they become numb to their feelings and bodies. "When we become numb to our bodies...we don't know what we feel."

Victims of abuse distance themselves from their pain by learning to "split off emotionally" and by separating themselves from the pain to survive, Coleman said. She called this "euphoric recall." When in this state of mind, the victim only remembers the good parts of a relationship, she said.

Settle said the victim can only see the loving side of abuser, not the mean side. Coleman said it is a myth that victims want to stay in abusive relationships. "Victims do want to change but don't have the tools," she said. Coleman said victims become powerless to leave these types of relationships because they have been belittled for so long. The victim often has little self-confidence and may feel they will be alone if they leave the relationship. "Just by wanting to stop it (the abuse), you can't stop it."

According to Coleman, another reason the victim is unable to leave an abusive relationship is that he or she often feels it is his or her fault for being victimized and may feel "trapped, helpless, and hope­to." In the victim's behalf that or she is abused, Coleman said. "Victims don't ask to be victimized."

Settle explained the relationship between a victim and victimizer in terms of The Stock­holm Syndrome Theory which was developed by Dr. Graham of the University of Cincinnati Counseling Center.

Settle said the Stockholm Theory was developed from a study of bank robbers and the people they took hostage in Sweden in 1973. The researchers found that the vic­tims and their captives "bonded" with one another see VICTIM/page 4

Tearful farewell

Tom and Karen Stamulis embrace Sunday evening at Fort Devens in Ayer, Mass., as Tom Stamulis, a member of the Army's 36th Medical Reservists Battalion, prepares to board a bus for deployment to Westover Air Force Base, Mass., and deployment to Saudi Arabia for duty in Operation Desert Shield.

Conservatives battle Thatcher's bid for reelection as party leader

LONDON (AP) — The Conservative Party on Tuesday staggered Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher with faint support, forcing her into a sec­ond round of balloting in a fight for leadership of party and country.

Thatcher fell two votes short of defeating the sternest chal­lenge of her 11 1/2 years as party leader, but she rejected calls by some to step down and vowed to battle on in a second round of voting next Tuesday.

Former Defense Secretary Michael Heseltine, smiling and looking very much like the win­ner after the Conservative vote, also declared himself ready for round two.

"It is my intention to let my name go forward for the second ballot," a calm and determined Thatcher told reporters outside the British Embassy in Paris, where she was attending a summit on European security.

If Thatcher loses the leadership of the party, she would step down as prime minister, The Conservatives have a ma­jority in the 650-seat House of Commons.

The opposition Labor Party moved to capitalize on the tur­moil in Conservative ranks by tabling a motion of no con­fidence in the government. That motion, likely to come to a vote before Tuesday, would bring down the government if it car­ries.

Thatcher, the longest-serving prime minister in Europe, has grown increasingly unpopular because of a local services crisis that is widely viewed as unfairly favoring the rich. Her government also has been blamed for high inflation and high interest rates, and the Conservatives have trailed Labor in opinion polls for 16 months.

Heseltine also focused his campaign on Thatcher's atti­tude toward Europe, which has caused strains within her party. Heseltine has been standing hand-in­hand with his wife, Anne, outside­side their home, told reporters. "I am overwhelmed with grat­i­tude to my parliamentary col­leagues who in such large mea­sures have given me their sup­port."

This is the last issue of The Observer before Thanksgiving break. The staff of The Observer wishes everyone a happy Thanksgiving. The Observer will resume publication Tuesday, Nov. 27.
Have a safe and restful Thanksgiving Holiday

The Observer
P.O. Box Q, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556
(219) 239-7147

Thanksgiving Weather

The forecast for noon, Wednesday, Nov. 21:

- Highs in the mid-70s
- Most likely to be mostly cloudy and mild

Alison Cocks
Editor-in-Chief

The Observer (USPS 599 2-4000) is published Monday through Friday except during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is a member of the Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.

Weather

Forecast for noon, Wednesday, Nov. 21.

- Highs in the mid-70s
- Mostly cloudy and mild with a chance of showers today. Highs in the mid-60s. Showers likely tonight with lows in the lower-50s. Clearing Thursday with highs in the mid-50s.

Substitute teachers are needed at all levels, including elementary, by the South Bend Community School Corporation. Individuals interested should apply between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday at the Education Center, Personnel Office, 4th floor, 633 South Main St., South Bend, IN 46601. For additional information, call 282-4160.

World

The Communist Party newspaper Pravda on Tuesday took a grim inventory of the Soviet pantry for the winter and warned that "almost everywhere, supplies are worse than last year." Although it predicted there would be no "real hunger" in the coming months, Pravda said the food that Russians traditionally count on, such as cabbage and beets, will be in short supply. President Mikhail Gorbachev, who is lining up Western aid for his nation during his current trip abroad, admitted in a speech to the national legislature Friday that the country faces critical shortages at the start of winter but insisted the government has enough supplies.

National

A frozen block of human waste that apparently fell from an airplane over the roof of a county highway department building in Elkhorn, Wis., nearly struck a worker, authorities said. Steven Kinney, a mechanic working in the building, said he heard a loud crash Monday evening and ran into the next room, where he found blue ice splattered around a tractor and a gaping hole in the roof. The three-pound block of ice narrowly missed Richard Radtke, who was repairing the tractor's engine. "It sounded like an explosion," said Radtke, 55, of Elkhorn. Workers called police and gathered some of the ice into a freezer to back up their story. "The odds are better of winning the lottery than having a piece of ice crash though the roof," almost killing a guy who's working on a tractor," Kinney said.

CNN attorneys in Miami on Tuesday handed a federal magistrate a briefcase filled with tapes of Manuel Noriega's telephone calls, saying they were confident the recordings would show his rights were never violated. The network acted in the wake of the U.S. Supreme Court's weekend refusal to lift the trial judge's order that CNN cease broadcasting the tapes, and surrender them to determine if their use invaded Noriega's attorney-client right to confidentiality. "We hope and are confident that the court will conclude that the prior restraint is not appropriate under these circumstances," said Steven Korn, chief counsel to CNN's parent company, Turner Broadcasting System Inc.

INSIDE COLUMN

DART mess isn't a case for more classes

I heard a nasty rumor.

I was on the telephone with my mother the other day, trying to explain why I'm only registered for two classess next semester. I'd finally convinced her that senioritis wasn't the reason, that I was actually closed out of two classes in my major and several in other departments.

She pointed out (grasp?) that I'm due to GET AN EDUCATION. We're not paying $16,000 for season football tickets. Frankly, I was shocked.

If I were here to get an education, then surely as a second semester senior I'd be able to register for any class I wanted to take. Or at least most of them. And if I were closed out of one, I'd have enough good alternatives to end up with a fulfilling schedule.

Since I can't do that, even as a senior, I can't quite believe her. I challenged her, suggesting that maybe I'm actually here to fight the good fight during course registration.

"What about Notre Dame becoming a great research university and the Arts and Letters faculty overload themselves with their classes and the pressure to "publish or perish.""

She conceded that while her theory sounded better, mine was probably closer to the mark. Then she asked me why she couldn't believe me.

Aside from my purely emotional desire to graduate this May, I couldn't think of one. I understand. My mother wanted to school in the 60s, and she can't quite grasp the idea that in modern times, money doesn't guarantee an education.

Since she's the one signing the check, she has this crazy notion that there's a certain amount she can expect in return for her $16,000-a daughter taking classes she doesn't pay the bill if this is the case.

Frankly, I was shocked.

I'm only registered for two classes. One or two years of worthwhile classes. One or two years of worthwhile classes doesn't seem unreasonable at this stage.

Fortunately, three classes is one more than I need to graduate. If I needed five, I'd be screaming. I know of plenty of others who are. One friend of mine has been closed out of the same course four times.

I'd therefore like to offer the following modest proposal: the University can take the tuition I've paid since I've been here and subtract what my education has actually been worth.

The difference would pay the salaries of several new Arts and Letters professors, who could, in turn, teach a few more quality classes. Then next year's students might pay $16,000 for something that's actually worth that amount.

The Observer
P.O. Box Q, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556
(219) 239-7147

Tuesday's Staff

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Name</th>
<th>Position</th>
<th>Scoreboard</th>
<th>Ad Design</th>
<th>News</th>
<th>Sports</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Carol Ann</td>
<td>Columnist</td>
<td>Raine Farnan</td>
<td>Jennifer McGuire</td>
<td>Carmen Agram</td>
<td>Scott Butterworth</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Paul Pfeifer</td>
<td>Editor in Chief</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>Dave Mcfarland</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Paul Owen</td>
<td>Sports Editor</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ilene Moe</td>
<td>News Director</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Papageet</td>
<td>Features Editor</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>John Fisher</td>
<td>Daily Sports</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Melissa Cooke</td>
<td>Opinion Editor</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jennifer McGuire</td>
<td>Features Editor</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Doug Brunsing</td>
<td>Opinion Editor</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The Observer (USPS 599 2-4000) is published Monday through Friday except during exam and vacation periods. The Observer is a member of the Associated Press. All reproduction rights are reserved.
PARIS (AP) — The Soviet Union said Tuesday the U.N. Security Council should "take stock" of its sanctions against Iraq and decide whether a new course of action is necessary. But the Soviets again rebuffed President Bush's efforts to rally support for a resolution authorizing military force.

Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze, emerging from a 90-minute meeting with Secretary of State James Baker, told reporters, "We need to consult with our colleagues and partners in the Security Council."

But he stopped considerably short of backing any measure that would advocate the use of force.

Shevardnadze said the council should "take stock of things and pass appropriate judgment on what it has been doing."

Then, if necessary, he said, the body should "adopt new resolutions with a view to implementing all the previous decisions."

Baker had been pressing a last-ditch effort to strike a deal before Bush's trip to Saudi Arabia on Wednesday. However, the Soviet leader's statement indicated that the two sides were still far apart.

Even so, Baker said, "The United States and the Soviet Union have been united in their approach to this problem" since Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait. "We are united today. We intend to remain united," he added.

As the Paris summit wound down its second day, both U.S. and Soviet officials unveiled plans for a superpower summit in Moscow early next year to sign a treaty on reducing long-range nuclear weapons.

White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said there was no firm date for the summit, although he said both countries were shooting for January. Fitzwater said having a nuclear arms treaty sign was a prerequisite for the summit, but holding the session in January "is what we have been talking about and shooting for."

Even before the end of the Baker and Shevardnadze meeting, Fitzwater said it seemed "very unlikely" that support could be rallied for a resolution to step up pressure before the president's trip to the Middle East.

The United States is seeking a new resolution giving advance authority to use military action to drive Iraq's Saddam Hussein out of Kuwait, although officials said exact language has not yet been drafted.

Shevardnadze, in effect, agreed that the matter should be reopened by the United Nations — but declined to go beyond that.

Resolutions already approved by the Security Council impose an economic boycott on Iraq and occupied Kuwait, call for Iraq's unconditional withdrawal and insist upon restoration of Kuwait's previous government.

The resolutions do not authorize military action as such, but do leave the door open to other measures if Iraq fails to respond to the steps.

Bush had failed to break the impasse during a two-hour private dinner the night before with Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev.

He flew to front-line Saudi Arabia on Wednesday to meet with Saudi leaders and the exiled emir of Kuwait on the crisis. He will spend Thanksgiving with U.S. forces in the region and will meet with Egyptian leaders on Friday.

---

ND Air Force ROTC wins its third 'Right of Line' award as best unit in country

First ladies lunch

U.S. First Lady Barbara Bush, second from right, leads other leader's wives to lunch at the Grand Trianon in Versailles, France, Monday. The ladies were invited by French First Lady Danielle Mitterrand.

Orange Bowl

Special Travel Rates for Notre Dame Alumni and Students

- Discount airfares to Florida from around the country
- $98 per room at the Fort Lauderdale Marriott

1-800-7DOMERS

Anthony Travel, Inc.
Space shuttle returns smoothly and safely to Cape Canaveral

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Atlantis and its five astronauts glided to an smooth landing in Florida today, becoming the first shuttle crew to touch down at the Kennedy Space Center in five years. It marked the third time a space shuttle has landed here. The last time was in 1985, when Discovery blew a tire, but today's landing on the paved runway was smooth.

Atlantis swooped through a brilliant blue sky, accompanied by the customary twin sonic booms, and touched down at 4:43 p.m. EST after circling the landing site. The Skyhook Theory explains why people tend to stay in abusive relationships.

It was the sixth time a space shuttle has landed here. The Kennedy Space Center in five years. It was the first shuttle crew to landing in Florida today, becoming the first shuttle crew to land in Florida today.

The descent began about an hour earlier when Atlantis' Control told the crew.

The threes -mile runway at Kennedy provided less room for maneuvering than the wide-open desert and the weather there is usually more unstable. Discovery, the last shuttle to use the Kennedy runway, blew a tire and sustained brake damage during landing in 1985.

On Monday, NASA had to call off the landing attempt minutes before the shuttle was to begin its fiery plunge to Earth. The three -mile runway at Kennedy was clear today, and winds were well within landing limits.

Atlantis, whose five astronauts put a spy satellite in orbit during the Pentagon's last shuttle mission, has enough power and supplies to stay in space until Thursday, said Randy Stone, chief of the flight director's office. The shuttle was launched from Kennedy last Thursday night.

The three -mile runway at Kennedy provides less room for maneuvering than the wide-open desert and the weather there is usually more unstable. Discovery, the last shuttle to use the Kennedy runway, blew a tire and sustained brake damage during landing in 1985.

When and if victims decide to get help, Coleman said they may feel their survival is threatened or they may feel a sense of isolation. The victim may think the abuser will physically harm them if they decide to leave. "The victims often say, 'I'll leave, he might hurt me really bad, I'd rather stay,'" Settle said.

At the news conference today, the duo said they did not sing on the Milli Vanilli album, and any assertions to the contrary are false and libelous," the company said in a statement today.

"We were scared. People threatened us," said Milli Vanilli member Rob Pilatus. But he said Arista Records President Clive Davis knew about the deception that has rocked the pop music industry. Arista has denied the allegation.

"Arista Records and their executives did not know that Rob Pilatus and Fab Morvan did not sing on the Milli Vanilli album, and any assertions to the contrary are false and libelous," the company said in a statement today.

"The National Academy of Recording Arts & Sciences re-scinded the 1985 best new artist Grammy, one day before the two planned to surrender the honor.

Pilatus said the album gave them fame and fortune, but it came at a high cost. He said they were seduced by the money and success because they were poor and living in a Munich housing project.

"You get something, for that you make a pact with the devil," said Pilatus.

"Victims feel the right to be imperfect." She said victims often become dis- appointed after getting help, Coleman said they must also remember, "To do this alone is not the answer."

Milli Vanilli: Blame it on the 'pact with the devil'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Milli Vanilli duo said today they made a "pact with the devil" when they pretended they sang on a hit album, and they contended it was all with the knowledge of their record company.

"We were scared. People threatened us," said Milli Vanilli member Rob Pilatus at a news conference today. "(But) we're happy that it's over."

"It doesn't happen overnight," said Coleman. "Victims feel the right to be imperfect." He said they were seduced by the money and success because they were poor and living in a Munich housing project. "You get something, for that you make a pact with the devil," said Pilatus.

"There's no nervousness involved," said Bruce Pilatus. "We were unsuitable for landing, we sang on a hit album, and any assertions to the contrary are false and libelous," the company said in a statement today.

"Arista Records and their executives did not know that Rob Pilatus and Fab Morvan did not sing on the Milli Vanilli album, and any assertions to the contrary are false and libelous," the company said in a statement today.

"The National Academy of Recording Arts & Sciences rescinded the 1985 best new artist Grammy, one day before the two planned to surrender the honor.

Pilatus said the album gave them fame and fortune, but it came at a high cost. He said they were seduced by the money and success because they were poor and living in a Munich housing project.

"You get something, for that you make a pact with the devil," said Pilatus.

Goaded by the media to prove they could sing, Pilatus cursed and said, "I'll do it."

"There's no nervousness involved," said Bruce Pilatus.

"We were unsuitable for landing, we sang on a hit album, and any assertions to the contrary are false and libelous," the company said in a statement today.

"Arista Records and their executives did not know that Rob Pilatus and Fab Morvan did not sing on the Milli Vanilli album, and any assertions to the contrary are false and libelous," the company said in a statement today.

"The National Academy of Recording Arts & Sciences rescinded the 1985 best new artist Grammy, one day before the two planned to surrender the honor.

Pilatus said the album gave them fame and fortune, but it came at a high cost. He said they were seduced by the money and success because they were poor and living in a Munich housing project. "You get something, for that you make a pact with the devil," said Pilatus.

"There's no nervousness involved," said Bruce Pilatus. "We were unsuitable for landing, we sang on a hit album, and any assertions to the contrary are false and libelous," the company said in a statement today.

"Arista Records and their executives did not know that Rob Pilatus and Fab Morvan did not sing on the Milli Vanilli album, and any assertions to the contrary are false and libelous," the company said in a statement today.

"The National Academy of Recording Arts & Sciences rescinded the 1985 best new artist Grammy, one day before the two planned to surrender the honor.

Pilatus said the album gave them fame and fortune, but it came at a high cost. He said they were seduced by the money and success because they were poor and living in a Munich housing project. "You get something, for that you make a pact with the devil," said Pilatus.

"There's no nervousness involved," said Bruce Pilatus.
Philip Morris offers grant to EPA adviser

NEW YORK (AP) — An engineer serving on an Environmental Protection Agency panel on smoking said Tuesday he has been offered a $1 million grant by the Philip Morris tobacco company.

James Woods, Jr., of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University in Blacksburg, Va., is a member of an EPA review panel that congratulated Woods on his advisory role at the EPA.

"As long as it's in public knowledge, it does not constitute a policy conflict," said Philip Morris spokesman John Woods.

Woods said he was trying to sort out a conflict of interest in a way that would not affect his objectivity on the smoking issue. He said he had not yet been able to say that the best way to set up the grant in such a way was not possible.

Woods said the project would be conducted in the open, a university committee would review all considerations for scientific objectivity, and the results would be publicly available.

"We feel at the university we can do open research on this before we've been asked by Philip Morris," Woods said.

JERUSALEM (AP) — It could be a wet Christmas for pilgrims in Bethlehem this year because Christian sects are squabbling over who should repair the leaking roof above Christ's birthplace.

There is little disagreement that the roof of the ancient Church of the Nativity needs fixing. Even last winter, workers had to weave their way among bunches of tourists inside the basilica to collect winter rainwater.

But the question of who should perform the repair work has tangled in complex rules dating to the 1850s that fix which sect controls which section of the church.

Unfortunately, repair of the roof is not specifically mentioned in the codes. The Greek Orthodox Church traditionally clean the roof, and they argue that this is precedent for doing the repairs. "Twice in the past week — once in the dead of night — Greek Orthodox have sneaked to the roof to do the deed."

Both efforts drew letters of protest from the Roman Catholics and Armenians, and the national government intervened.

"If you've seen the physical condition of the basilica, you know the problem," said Shmuel Hamburger, the Israeli military government's liaison with the churchmen, said Tuesday. "The dispute between the three communities over who will do what repairs means it goes un repaired."

Hamburger said the Israeli government was willing to do the work, as Israel and other governing powers like Jordan and the British did before.

Now, as in the past, the three communities could not reach a solution, he said. Greek Orthodox church officials could not be reached for comment despite repeated telephone calls. Newspaper reports say the church is inside the roof in its property and can only be repaired by the Greek Orthodox.

Crazy ride

Members of the Soviet army examine an armored personnel carrier parked in the village of Saarmund near the German city of Potsdam Monday, where a crazy ride by a Soviet soldier through the streets of Berlin and Potsdam ended early in the morning. A few cars were damaged but nobody was injured.

Roof debate threatens damp Christmas at Jerusalem’s Church of the Nativity

Business as usual as of 7:00 a.m. 11/20/90

Robert Flaak, an administrator at Nonsmokers' Rights, based in Berkeley, Calif., telephoned a New York City office of Shelita Banks, spokeswoman for Philip Morris, was not immediately returned.

"It means that while he's sitting on the scientific advisory board, he has reviewed what EPA has come up with, he's got this dart hanging in front of him which could affect his judgment," said Julia Carol, associate director of Americans for Nonsmokers' Rights, based in Berkeley, Calif.

Nonsmokers' Rights had been advising EPA to conduct in the open a study of how best to control smoking in public buildings to eliminate the smoker, he said. "But there are situations where that can't happen."

"We feel at the university we can do open research on this before we've been asked by Philip Morris," Woods said.
Thatcher pledges to fight for leadership

PARIS (AP) — British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher waited only a few minutes Tuesday to declare that she would fight on in a contest for the leadership of Britain and the Conservative Party.

"I am naturally very pleased that I got more than half the parliamentary party and disappoiinted that it is not quite enough to win on the first ballot," she told reporters outside the British Embassy, where she had received news of the voting of party parliamentarians in London.

"So I confirm that it is my intention to let my name go forward to the second ballot," she added, appearing determined and composed.

Thatcher failed by only two votes to gain a first-round victory over former Defense Minister Michael Heseltine. She received 204 votes, Heseltine gained 152 and 16 Conservatives abstained. A first-ballot victory required 206 votes; but a candidate needs only a majority to win in the second round next Tuesday.

Thatcher, who was in Paris for a European summit, was expected to come under pressure from some of her allies to step down rather than prolong the contest. The opposition Labor Party also sought to take advantage of the political fight by proposing a motion of no confidence in her government.

After talking very briefly to reporters, she went back into the Embassy. She had earlier warned her host, President Francois Mitterrand, that she might be a little late for the evening's entertainment in Versailles.

Earlier, Europe's longest-serving prime minister had busied herself with top-level meetings and, according to sources close to her, avoided telephoning London for updates on the election.

YEAR 4, 1979

Becomes prime minister when Conservatives win parliamentary majority in general election.

JULY 8, 1990

Begins second term as prime minister.

MARCH 12, 1994

The National Union of Mineworkers begins the longest and most costly strike in British history and is sustained in Mrs. Thatcher's effort to crush it. The miners look to the National Guard.

MAY 4, 1979

Becomes prime minister when Conservatives win parliamentary majority in general election.

JULY 8, 1990

Begins second term as prime minister.

MANDAY 12, 1994

The National Union of Mineworkers begins the longest and most costly strike in British history and is sustained in Mrs. Thatcher's effort to crush it. The miners look to the National Guard.

JAN. 9, 1990

Defence Secretary Michael Heseltine resigns from cabinet in dispute over Americanization of the British Columbia.

NOV. 3, 1990

Defence Prime Minister Sir Geoffrey Howe, a former foreign secretary and the head of Mrs. Thatcher's original cabinet, resigns over her stance toward European union.

NOV. 20, 1990

Conservatives win House of Commons election challenge to Thatcher leadership.

EASTERN SAUDI ARABIA (AP) — It looks like virtually all 230,000 Americans deployed in the Persian Gulf will be eating fresh turkey with all the trimmings on Thanksgiving Day.

But just in case, the U.S. military has 600,000 prepackaged turkey dinners stashed in a warehouse.

Since mid-August, Chief Warrant Officer Wes Wolf has been preoccupied with trying to provide American servicemen a holiday meal that will remind them of Mom's home cooking.

For the 42-year-old major of military cuisine, that means fresh food rather than prepackaged, TV-style tray rations known as T-rats in military speak.

"I've only got one unit that's going to eat T-rats, and I think I'm going to be able to get them fresh rations," he said. "About 230,000 soldiers are going to be eating fresh rations."

For five days now, Wolf has been overseeing the distribution of Thanksgiving dinner courses from three huge warehouses staffed by the 123rd Supply and Service Company from Alabama National Guard.

Supply officers from 139 different military units, from 15 people to 35,000 in size, have been arriving to pick up ingredients ranging from shrimp cocktail to after-dinner nuts and "Happy Thanksgiving" banners.

Tuesday was the day for salad fixings, vegetables, half a dozen varieties of fruit, 45,000 pies in five flavors, whipped cream and bread.

U.S. troops in Persian Gulf could have fresh turkey for Thanksgiving dinner

Thatcher pledges to fight for leadership
Liberals lack realistic understanding of the military

By Stephen Newton

A friend came to tell me about it. U.S. President George Bush has decided that after 500,000 troops get sent into the Persian Gulf, he'll be time to start drafting reinforcements. Twenty-year-olds will be the first to go. I live with a lot of twenty-year-olds.

This particular friend will be twenty next month. His comments took me back to when I was a twenty-year-old student here. I believe twenty-year-olds - not our friends because of the college deferment - were being called to put their lives on the line for a cause that wasn't really clear to anyone. Since the cause was unclear, it was always addressed in terms of "national security," "national interests," or some such euphemism.

I was in opposition to the police action in Vietnam, as were most of my friends, teachers and acquaintances. But it wasn't until my friend came to talk with me that I realized my reasons for opposition for then simply another example of the lack of political backbone among liberals to support vital United States interests. The Cold War was lost, and it was lost primarily because the United States, which was characterized by a lack of political backbone among liberals to support vital United States interests, was already behind.

Then the reasons were based on principle and philosophy: our involvement in the war was wrong. War didn't declare by Congress, as the Constitution demands. It is immoral to go into another country and try to run its affairs for it. Why should we kill to overthrow communism? It's going to die out in twenty years anyway?

Vietnam wasn't a just war. It didn't meet the test of a just war theory. The Truman Doctrine was never just. It was just rhetorical inflation. Idealism and isolationism are not the only choices. The just war theory doesn't make sense in the nuclear age. Atrocities were being committed by all sides. There are no sure fire ways to settle differences than killing each other. After all, it's the twentieth century. We're beyond all that!

I still believe a lot of the above, but my primary reasons for opposition are different now, a lot simpler, really. And, as I said, they're pretty selfish. But I suspect that if George Bush lived with some twenty-year-olds, his reasons would be the same as mine.

Father Stephen Newton is Director of Special Projects for Campus Ministry and is a regular Viewpoint columnist.

Liberals lack realistic understanding of the military

Draft announcement strikes fear into ND students

By Stephen Newton

Overrun by Brutal Aggressor, both of which deal with an imaginary U.S. attack on Iraq. I do not find Mr. Moynihan's headlines either humorous or accurate. Instead, they are indicative of the lack of political backbone among liberals to support vital United States interests. The Cold War was lost, and it was lost primarily because the United States, which was characterized by a lack of political backbone among liberals to support vital United States interests, was already behind.

Then the reasons were based on principle and philosophy: our involvement in the war was wrong. War didn't declare by Congress, as the Constitution demands. It is immoral to go into another country and try to run its affairs for it. Why should we kill to overthrow communism? It's going to die out in twenty years anyway?

Vietnam wasn't a just war. It didn't meet the test of a just war theory. The Truman Doctrine was never just. It was just rhetorical inflation. Idealism and isolationism are not the only choices. The just war theory doesn't make sense in the nuclear age. Atrocities were being committed by all sides. There are no sure fire ways to settle differences than killing each other. After all, it's the twentieth century. We're beyond all that!

I still believe a lot of the above, but my primary reasons for opposition are different now, a lot simpler, really. And, as I said, they're pretty selfish. But I suspect that if George Bush lived with some twenty-year-olds, his reasons would be the same as mine.

Father Stephen Newton is Director of Special Projects for Campus Ministry and is a regular Viewpoint columnist.
By Colman McCarthy

I was overjoyed, and re-registered as a student and faculty at Notre Dame the other day. I had been invited to offer the benediction and a eulogy at the funeral for Notre Dame’s ROTC students who were killed in a plane crash and non-violent activists who were shot by unknown assailants.

Outstanding alumni—Dennis Goulet, Peter Walsh, Gil Sloecker and others—opened the mass and spoke throughout the day. From 4 to 5:30 p.m., I relaxed with students at the International Peace Center, where Christ would come to break bread. During the day for lunch and dinner, I was privileged to have time with student leaders, including the staffs of The Observer, Common Sense and Scholastic.

My large thanks to the Notre Dame community for its hospitality and support. This is a nurturing campus. I can only imagine what I’ve been doing on visits since 1966—to align myself with those who believe that the Pentagon and its cancerous ROTC program is not a place to attend, in any case, or any other, university. The program is one campus, I thought them might be another, and at $500 million a year. No school has more than one percent of its enrollment

As a priest celebrating the Eucharist, I have many occasions to reflect on the meaning of peace and justice. I have been invited to Notre Dame to help the students learn to combine our love for Christ and his teachings as a Christianizing the military. I have been invited to Notre Dame to help the students learn to call a life seeking both peace and justice, but it is certain that the claims on Christianizing the military are false.

The just war tradition teaches us that the just war is not merely a moral doctrine, but a moral law. It is a law of justice, and it is a law of love. It is a law of the kingdom of God. As the arms of the military are not justified by the arms of peace, so the arms of the military are not justified by the arms of the kingdom of God. They are justified by the arms of justice, and they are justified by the arms of love.

The just war tradition teaches us that the just war is not merely a moral doctrine, but a moral law. It is a law of justice, and it is a law of love. It is a law of the kingdom of God. As the arms of the military are not justified by the arms of peace, so the arms of the military are not justified by the arms of the kingdom of God. They are justified by the arms of justice, and they are justified by the arms of love.

To be sure, we can never achieve Christ’s kingdom on earth, but, in the light of our hope for its coming, we are all called and empowered to work for such things as freedom, human rights, a more just social order, and so on. As Pope John Paul II in his recent apostolic constitution on Catholic Universities, “The Christian spirit of service to others for the promotion of justice is of particular importance for each Catholic University, to be made available to its scholars and develop in its students” (Para. 34).

The difficulty for Christians comes when some of the core values of the biblical story pull us in two different directions. For example, justice and compassion demand that we seek justice for innocent persons even if one must resort to violence. In the face of serious aggression, it seems appropriate to use force. Yet, we are also taught that, while violence is evil, the way to overcome evil is good. It seems true, with what the world is claiming as a rule of justice, that a military officer is a honorable and important call to arms, while those who call for non-violent solutions to conflict, that in our society, the greatest cons in history: Father Williams is an associate provost. He teaches and researches in the area of the ethics of management, public policy, and the application of the liberal arts to the workplace. He is a proud family tradition of serving their country. I can count on one hand the number of students

The greater purveyor of violence in the world today (in my own estimation) is the people who run that government, and it is the current spending of $800 million a day on military programs of death.

What if, instead of having the Pentagon, the National Abortion Rights Action League, was allowed in? Would there be any difference in its arguments and the ROTC’s? The answer would be none at all. It would be here to teach leadership skills in running abortion clinics. I would be hard enough, or risked enough, to pay for those students teaching or studying the ways of war has no place on this campus, no place for ideas, not the force of violence, in any way.

I admire the Pentagon immensely. It has pulled off one of the greatest cons in history—persuading priests at Notre Dame to let militarists come in to teach 10 percent of the students how to violate the teaching of Christ. “Love your enemies, do good to those who curse you, pray for those who abuse you.”

I think that this is aILLISEX.

As a Catholic priest, I have many occasions to reflect on the meaning of peace and justice. I have been invited to offer the benediction and a eulogy at the funeral for Notre Dame’s ROTC students who were killed in a plane crash and non-violent activists who were shot by unknown assailants.

Outstanding alumni—Dennis Goulet, Peter Walsh, Gil Sloecker and others—opened the mass and spoke throughout the day. From 4 to 5:30 p.m., I relaxed with students at the International Peace Center, where Christ would come to break bread. During the day for lunch and dinner, I was privileged to have time with student leaders, including the staffs of The Observer, Common Sense and Scholastic.

My large thanks to the Notre Dame community for its hospitality and support. This is a nurturing campus. I can only imagine what I’ve been doing on visits since 1966—to align myself with those who believe that the Pentagon and its cancerous ROTC program is not a place to attend, in any case, or any other, university. The program is one campus, I thought them might be another, and at $500 million a year. No school has more than one percent of its enrollment

As a priest celebrating the Eucharist, I have many occasions to reflect on the meaning of peace and justice. I have been invited to Notre Dame to help the students learn to combine our love for Christ and his teachings as a Christianizing the military. I have been invited to Notre Dame to help the students learn to call a life seeking both peace and justice, but it is certain that the claims on Christianizing the military are false.

The just war tradition teaches us that the just war is not merely a moral doctrine, but a moral law. It is a law of justice, and it is a law of love. It is a law of the kingdom of God. As the arms of the military are not justified by the arms of peace, so the arms of the military are not justified by the arms of the kingdom of God. They are justified by the arms of justice, and they are justified by the arms of love.

To be sure, we can never achieve Christ’s kingdom on earth, but, in the light of our hope for its coming, we are all called and empowered to work for such things as freedom, human rights, a more just social order, and so on. As Pope John Paul II in his recent apostolic constitution on Catholic Universities, “The Christian spirit of service to others for the promotion of justice is of particular importance for each Catholic University, to be made available to its scholars and develop in its students” (Para. 34).

The difficulty for Christians comes when some of the core values of the biblical story pull us in two different directions. For example, justice and compassion demand that we seek justice for innocent persons even if one must resort to violence. In the face of serious aggression, it seems appropriate to use force. Yet, we are also taught that, while violence is evil, the way to overcome evil is good. It seems true, with what the world is claiming as a rule of justice, that a military officer is a honorable and important call to arms, while those who call for non-violent solutions to conflict, that in our society, the greatest cons in history: Father Williams is an associate provost. He teaches and researches in the area of the ethics of management, public policy, and the application of the liberal arts to the workplace. He is a proud family tradition of serving their country. I can count on one hand the number of students

The greater purveyor of violence in the world today (in my own estimation) is the people who run that government, and it is the current spending of $800 million a day on military programs of death.

What if, instead of having the Pentagon, the National Abortion Rights Action League, was allowed in? Would there be any difference in its arguments and the ROTC’s? The answer would be none at all. It would be here to teach leadership skills in running abortion clinics. I would be hard enough, or risked enough, to pay for those students teaching or studying the ways of war has no place on this campus, no place for ideas, not the force of violence, in any way.

I admire the Pentagon immensely. It has pulled off one of the greatest cons in history—persuading priests at Notre Dame to let militarists come in to teach 10 percent of the students how to violate the teaching of Christ. “Love your enemies, do good to those who curse you, pray for those who abuse you.”

I think that this is aILLISEX.
The songs on the list fulfill the criteria of being "the best, most famous and most stirring." All of Studwell's choices are, as he admits, "totally personal and subjective," and it may be questioned whether the criteria should be required to compile such a list. Studwell is an academic librarian who has published reference works on such themes as Christmas carols and their original flag-wave anthems, bawdy drinking songs, and comic plots. Now he has a fondness for football fight songs.

Of Notre Dame's winning perspective living near Chicago has "nothing to do" with his top two, but he grades all from schools in the Upper Midwest.

A vacation like Studwell's opens himself to the wrath of college fans and alumni around the country. As a result, it must be difficult for him not to be blamed when it comes to rating his own alma mater. ND's "Hunkie Fight Song" is ranked, tactfully, "above average," and Studwell describes it as an easily sung and poppy rouser scoring perhaps in the top 30 or 40.

In a move that will probably alienate many Notre Dame supporters, Studwell rated the University of Michigan a close third on his list. He feels "The Victor's" to be "the most pugnacious, boastful, and feisty fight song," and continues, "Anyone who has ever heard over 102,000 loyal fanns erupting in choruses of 'Hail to the victors, hail to the conquering heroes' knows what I'm talking about." Maybe he hasn't heard our version yet.

Ironically, although Studwell has a fondness for football fight songs, he also conudes that he is "not high on Notre Dame myself," and, in fact, roots for us to lose (blasphemy!).

Oh, well... it's nice to be number one at something again.

Beat The Curve only on ND TV

In my free time I usually stretch. Or maybe go for a drive. Or read a book. Or don't think falling behind on my homework. But I had a whole half an hour free yesterday, so I watched some TV.

"Good afternoon. I'm your host Dr. Dan Winicur and this is--" (audience yells)

"...The Top 13 College Football Fight Songs as compiled by Northern Illinois University's William Studwell.

1. Notre Dame - "Cheer, Cheer for Old Notre Dame"
2. Michigan - "The Victors"
3. Wisconsin - "On Wisconsin"
4. Yale - "Down the Field"
5. (Tie) Maine - "Stein Song"
6. (Tie) Iowa - "Hawkeye Fight Song"
7. Wisconsin - "Cheer Wisconsin!"
8. Wisconsin - "On Wisconsin"
9. Texas - "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You"
10. Ohio State - "Across the Field"
11. Illinois - "Prairie Plow"
12. Indiana - "Indiana, Our Indiana"
13. Oklahoma - "Boomer Sooner"

Welcome back to Beat the Curve! Chuck has already picked English as his next category so let's open curtain number seven and meet his new competition. It's author Robert Pirsig and librarian Darrell Shulte.

"Here's your first question: Who wrote the best-selling book Zen and the Art of Motorcycle Maintenance?"

"Mr. Pirsig buzzes in. Your answer?"

"I did."

"That's absolutely correct!"

"...and a four-hour lab on Fridays attend 8:00 classes every day to make it in before the first snowfall (wink) and you'll receive a free pair of assault skis and a drink of water if I don't mind blasphemy!"

"Welcome back to Beat the Curve! Chuck has already picked English as his next category so let's open curtain number seven and meet his new competition. It's author Robert Pirsig and librarian Darrell Shulte."

"Here's your first question: Who wrote the best-selling book Zen and the Art of Motorcycle Maintenance?"

"Mr. Pirsig buzzes in. Your answer?"

"I did."

"That's absolutely correct!

"Look, can I change category again?"

"All right, your first question is: Which book of the Bible most often uses the word knowledge in reference to?"

"Remember, Crazy Eddie encourages responsible winter fun. Say No. Don't Throw!"

"The following is a public service message..."

"The songs on the list fulfill the criteria of being "the best, most famous and most stirring." All of Studwell's choices are, as he admits, "totally personal and subjective," and it may be questioned whether the criteria should be required to compile such a list. Studwell is an academic librarian who has published reference works on such themes as Christmas carols and their original flag-wave anthems, bawdy drinking songs, and comic plots. Now he has a fondness for football fight songs.

Of Notre Dame's winning perspective living near Chicago has "nothing to do" with his top two, but he grades all from schools in the Upper Midwest.

A vacation like Studwell's opens himself to the wrath of college fans and alumni around the country. As a result, it must be difficult for him not to be blamed when it comes to rating his own alma mater. ND's "Hunkie Fight Song" is ranked, tactfully, "above average," and Studwell describes it as an easily sung and poppy rouser scoring perhaps in the top 30 or 40.

In a move that will probably alienate many Notre Dame supporters, Studwell rated the University of Michigan a close third on his list. He feels "The Victor's" to be "the most pugnacious, boastful, and feisty fight song," and continues, "Anyone who has ever heard over 102,000 loyal fanns erupting in choruses of 'Hail to the victors, hail to the conquering heroes' knows what I'm talking about." Maybe he hasn't heard our version yet.

Ironically, although Studwell has a fondness for football fight songs, he also conudes that he is "not high on Notre Dame myself," and, in fact, roots for us to lose (blasphemy!).

Oh, well... it's nice to be number one at something again.
... she says, but it needs to be said.

After three years there she went to Eastern Michigan as an assistant for head coach Frank Ley. Perez has a Swiss newspaper representation as being tough and with past history, she's had reason to know. In the time in my office, I can talk to reporters. Right after a match, you might feel things in the heat of the moment that no one else should know. In the time of my life, I need to reeassess and revalue what just happened and what needs to be said.

In her second year of coaching, the Notre Dame team crossed enemy lines as being tough and with a sense of humor. Based on her past history, she had reason to need both.

Perez, a representative of a Swiss volleyball team phoned Fristensky semi-pro volleyball in Chicago, across as being tough and with past history, she's had reason to know. In the time in my office, I can talk to reporters. Right after a match, you might feel things in the heat of the moment that no one else should know. In the time of my life, I need to reeassess and revalue what just happened and what needs to be said.

Perez understands that the Notre Dame team has gone 4-18 since she has assumed the head coach position. But she has reason to be encouraged by her players showing in finishing fourth in the Midwestern Collegiate Conference Championships last weekend at Xavier.

"In the first round against Loyola, the players gave a great effort," says Perez, referring to the Irish's come-from-behind 12-15, 15-18, 15-17, 11-15, 17-15 first-round victory over fourth-ranked Loyola. "They were totally in sync, totally in focus. It was beautiful volleyball and I'm mesmerizing, and I expect that I'll remember it for the rest of my life," says Perez.

"At the end of the tournament, we realized we lost - that we finished fourth -" says Perez, whose team lost the best two matches to Butler and Saint Louis. "But we never lost. We were winners, I think the foundations were built this weekend for the start of something great." Awesome.

And Perez's players are attributing their success to their head coach, despite a tumultuous 9-25 season.

"I was too much of a perfectionist, Perez. She does a great job as a motivator. She's taken us to the top of our confidence. Now I have people to give me volleyball and get better. She's an incredible motivator and wonderful coach.

Senior Colleen Wagner and sophomore Mandy Feldhake also had nothing but praise for Perez.

And with the administration having to decide on a permanent replacement for Lambert, in the coming months, they will have to consider who Perez has been. Perez has been the driving force behind her players' support.

She has over come more adverse conditions than this.

Women's volleyball concludes in Texas

By RENEE FERRAN

Sports Writer

Notre Dame travels to Austin, Texas this weekend to participate in the Whataburger-Texas Classic, hosted by the University of Texas. The other teams in the tournament are Penn State and San Diego State.

The Irish (9-25) are only non-ranked team in the tournament. Penn State has a record of 26-2 and is currently ranked seventh in the nation, while Penn State (40-0) is sixth and the Aztecs (21-10) are 19th.

Notre Dame goes into the Texas Classic after a four-game losing streak at the hands of Austin.

"We finally pulled together in a tough situation when we were down," said Turner. "Hopefully, this will help us this week. The only thing we did was how we pulled together against Loyola."

The Irish play Texas Friday at 8 p.m. The Longhorns have lost this year only to Nebraska and Stanford, both within the last three weeks. Texas is perfect 11-0 at home, only dropping five games in those matches. The Longhorns are led by Nikki Bunch (369 attack percentage, 306 kills).

San Diego State, a member of the Western Athletic Conference, comes into the Texas Classic fresh from a weekend journey through Utah, losing to Brigham Young and defeating Utah.

The Irish have faced Penn State twice during the season, losing both their three games. The Nittany Lions finished the season as one of the top of our confidence. Now I have people to give me volleyball and get better. She's an incredible motivator and wonderful coach.

Just when you thought it was safe to go back to LONG ISLAND.

LONG ISLAND BUS FROM HELL.

The "Springs of Cheer" have become the "Springs of Terror" as New Yorkers celebrate the end of finals & set free as 45 New Yorkers.

ATTN. SMC, SCOTT LAKE. R E M E M B E R: Tuesday was furnace day.

CALL 239-8128 FOR DETAILS

WELCOME TO ND! I love you, Di

ALUM TRYING TO LOCATE THREE X-LARGE "THIS IS YOUR HAPPY, AND SINGLE AGAIN!!!"

CALL 287-2159 PAUL CHAO

JUST WHEN YOU THOUGHT IT WAS SAFE TO GO BACK TO LONG ISLAND.

THE LONDON TIMES FROM HELL.

Do you travel a lot for business or leisure? Do you have a travel voucher you will not use?

A friend from high school invited me to his wedding in Springs. I know some people have no idea what a great arrangement. I know some people have no idea what a great arrangement. If you're interested, call 372-0240.

MARKET RESEARCH FIRM NEEDS TELEPHONE INTERVIEWERS. RECRUITING FOR FOCUS GROUPS AND SURVEYS. $50+ Excellent verbal skills are required. Call 219-291-7153.

I was ready to go to Austin. I know some people have no idea what a great arrangement. I know some people have no idea what a great arrangement. If you're interested, call 372-0240.

MARKET RESEARCH FIRM NEEDS TELEPHONE INTERVIEWERS. RECRUITING FOR FOCUS GROUPS AND SURVEYS. $50+ Excellent verbal skills are required. Call 219-291-7153.

I was ready to go to Austin. I know some people have no idea what a great arrangement. I know some people have no idea what a great arrangement. If you're interested, call 372-0240.

MARKET RESEARCH FIRM NEEDS TELEPHONE INTERVIEWERS. RECRUITING FOR FOCUS GROUPS AND SURVEYS. $50+ Excellent verbal skills are required. Call 219-291-7153.

I was ready to go to Austin. I know some people have no idea what a great arrangement. I know some people have no idea what a great arrangement. If you're interested, call 372-0240.

MARKET RESEARCH FIRM NEEDS TELEPHONE INTERVIEWERS. RECRUITING FOR FOCUS GROUPS AND SURVEYS. $50+ Excellent verbal skills are required. Call 219-291-7153.

The Observer accepts classifieds every business day from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Notre Dame Office, 314 Lafayette, and from 12:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Hugger College Center. Deadline for next day's classifieds is 3 p.m. All classifieds must be prepaid. The charge is 2 cents per character, excluding spaces.

Classifieds
NBA STANDINGS

Eastern Conference
- Philadelphia 59 (O'Neal 16-3-1), Boston 55 (Havlicek 19-11-1)
- New York 55 (Barkley 16-1-0), Atlanta 54 (Johnson 13-4-0)
- Miami 53 (Lawrence 8-2-0), Milwaukee 52 (Bradley 14-0-0)
- Detroit 50 (Nance 17-1-0), Washington 49 (Riley 8-1-0)
- Boston 42 (Evans 10-2-0), Chicago 42 (Johnson 10-2-0)

Western Conference
- Los Angeles 63 (Johnson 21-1-0), L.A. Lakers 61 (McGrady 20-1-0)
- Portland 60 (Cassell 20-1-0), Phoenix 59 (Johnson 19-1-0)
- Seattle 56 (Perkins 18-2-0), Los Angeles 55 (Dawkins 19-2-0)
- Sacramento 52 (Green 18-3-0), Houston 51 (Harden 17-3-0)

NBA BIDES

Houston (115)
1. 15,700, 7-5-17, Wood 6-3-2, Washington 8-10-7, Hartford 5-5-3, New York 4-4-3, Chicago 6-2-3, Cleveland 7-1-3, Milwaukee 3-3-3, Indiana 9-1-2, Detroit 5-5-3, Boston 7-3-1, Washington 8-2-1
2. 15,177, 7-19-17, Wood 6-3-2, Washington 8-10-7, Hartford 5-5-3, New York 4-4-3, Chicago 6-2-3, Cleveland 7-1-3, Milwaukee 3-3-3, Indiana 9-1-2, Detroit 5-5-3, Boston 7-3-1, Washington 8-2-1
3. 15,700, 8-29-17, Wood 6-3-2, Washington 8-10-7, Hartford 5-5-3, New York 4-4-3, Chicago 6-2-3, Cleveland 7-1-3, Milwaukee 3-3-3, Indiana 9-1-2, Detroit 5-5-3, Boston 7-3-1, Washington 8-2-1
4. 17,923, 9-10-17, Wood 6-3-2, Washington 8-10-7, Hartford 5-5-3, New York 4-4-3, Chicago 6-2-3, Cleveland 7-1-3, Milwaukee 3-3-3, Indiana 9-1-2, Detroit 5-5-3, Boston 7-3-1, Washington 8-2-1

Dallas (107)
1. 15,000, 10-13-17, Wood 6-3-2, Washington 8-10-7, Hartford 5-5-3, New York 4-4-3, Chicago 6-2-3, Cleveland 7-1-3, Milwaukee 3-3-3, Indiana 9-1-2, Detroit 5-5-3, Boston 7-3-1, Washington 8-2-1
2. 15,000, 10-13-17, Wood 6-3-2, Washington 8-10-7, Hartford 5-5-3, New York 4-4-3, Chicago 6-2-3, Cleveland 7-1-3, Milwaukee 3-3-3, Indiana 9-1-2, Detroit 5-5-3, Boston 7-3-1, Washington 8-2-1
3. 15,000, 10-13-17, Wood 6-3-2, Washington 8-10-7, Hartford 5-5-3, New York 4-4-3, Chicago 6-2-3, Cleveland 7-1-3, Milwaukee 3-3-3, Indiana 9-1-2, Detroit 5-5-3, Boston 7-3-1, Washington 8-2-1

NHL STANDINGS

Eastern Conference
- New York Rangers 92 (Gallagher 20-1-1), New York Islanders 86 (Lemieux 19-1-0), Philadelphia 83 (Hart 20-1-1)
- Boston 82 (Elias 20-1-1), New Jersey 80 (Lemieux 19-1-0)
- Montreal 78 (Belanger 20-1-1), Pittsburgh 76 (Kesler 20-1-1)
- Toronto 76 (Henderson 20-1-1), Columbus 74 (Kemp 20-1-1)
- Washington 73 (Locke 20-1-1), Buffalo 70 (Prust 20-1-1)

Western Conference
- St. Louis 101 (Muller 20-1-1), Dallas 98 (Thorpe 20-1-1)
- Pittsburgh 97 (K. Johnson 20-1-1), Anaheim 96 (Smith 20-1-1)
- Los Angeles 92 (Thorpe 20-1-1), Nashville 92 (Thorpe 20-1-1)
- San Jose 91 (Thorpe 20-1-1), Chicago 91 (Thorpe 20-1-1)

Maple Leaf Division
- Tampa Bay Lightning 79 (Miller 20-1-1), New Jersey 78 (Miller 20-1-1)
- Atlanta 77 (Miller 20-1-1), New York Islanders 76 (Miller 20-1-1)
- New York Rangers 76 (Miller 20-1-1), Buffalo 75 (Miller 20-1-1)

Atlantic Division
- New York Islanders 86 (Lemieux 19-1-0), New York Rangers 82 (Gallagher 20-1-1)
- Philadelphia 83 (Hart 20-1-1), Boston 82 (Elias 20-1-1)

NHL TRANSACTIONS

DALLAS
- Activated Marcus Liberty, forward, from the injured list.
- Placed Marcus Liberty, forward, on the International League.
- Announced that the contract of Bruce Egloff, Tom Kramer and Jeff Mutis, pitchers, and Chris Jones, infielder, from Colorado Springs of the Pacific Coast League.

DENVER
- Activated Dana Wells, nose tackle, to the 53-man roster.
- Added Dana Wells, nose tackle, to the 46-man roster.

NEW YORK
- Purchased the contract of Eric Klinkhammer, goaltender, from the International League.
- Purchased the contract of Eric Klinkhammer, goaltender, from the International League.

BASKETBALL

American League
- Activated Jay Baz elastic, forward, from the 15-day disabled list.
- Activated Tony Delk, forward, from the 15-day disabled list.
- Activated Tony Delk, forward, from the 15-day disabled list.

MLB VOTING

WTA MONEY LEADERS

Women's Tennis Association money leaders through Nov 18

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Player</th>
<th>Money (USD)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>martina Navratilova</td>
<td>$320,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chris Evert</td>
<td>$313,500</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Martina Navratilova</td>
<td>$312,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Martina Navratilova</td>
<td>$295,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Martina Navratilova</td>
<td>$290,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Martina Navratilova</td>
<td>$280,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Martina Navratilova</td>
<td>$275,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Martina Navratilova</td>
<td>$270,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Martina Navratilova</td>
<td>$265,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Martina Navratilova</td>
<td>$260,000</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

SPORTS CALENDAR

Wednesday, November 21
- College basketball @ Louisiana State 9 p.m.
- College football @ Mississippi 7:30 p.m.
- College basketball @ Kentucky 9:00 p.m.
- College basketball @ Florida State 9:00 p.m.
- College basketball @ Georgia Tech 9:00 p.m.

Thursday, November 22
- College football @ Tennessee 7:30 p.m.
- College basketball @ Georgia 9:00 p.m.
- College basketball @ Auburn 9:00 p.m.
- College basketball @ South Carolina 9:00 p.m.
- College basketball @ Duke 9:00 p.m.

Friday, November 23
- College football @ Texas A&M 7:30 p.m.
- College basketball @ Hawaii 9:00 p.m.
- College basketball @ Rice 9:00 p.m.
- College basketball @ Memphis 9:00 p.m.
- College basketball @ Kentucky 9:00 p.m.

Saturday, November 24
- College football @ Texas 2:00 p.m.
- College football @ Oklahoma State 2:00 p.m.
- College football @ Nebraska 2:00 p.m.
- College football @ Missouri 2:00 p.m.
- College basketball @ California 9:00 p.m.

Sunday, November 25
- College football @ Florida 2:00 p.m.
- College football @ Georgia 2:00 p.m.
- College football @ South Carolina 2:00 p.m.
- College football @ Virginia 2:00 p.m.
- College football @ Tennessee 2:00 p.m.

Women's basketball @ Texas Christian 7:30 p.m.
Henderson, at 31, beats Fielder for AL MVP vote

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Rickey Henderson's dazzling array of talents—speed, power, batting and defense—outshined the sheer slugging of Detroit's Cecil Fielder to gain the Oakland Athletics' speedster the AL Most Valuable Player award Tuesday.

Henderson, one of the best leadoff men in baseball history, capped the finest overall season of his 11-year career by gaining 14 of the 28 first-place votes in balloting by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

His total of 317 points put him narrowly ahead of Fielder, who led the majors with 51 homers and drove in 132 runs. Fielder drew 10 first-place votes and 286 points in the voting by two writers in each AL city.

Henderson left Oakland's Bob Welch for the Cy Young award, finished third in the MVP voting with three first-place votes and 212 points. Oakland's Dennis Eckersley, who finished sixth in the MVP voting behind Toronto's Kelly Gruber and Chicago's Bobby Thigpen, got the other first-place vote.

Henderson and Fielder were the only players named on all 28 ballots.

The award brought a $100,000 contract bonus to Henderson, who signed a $12 million, four-year deal a year ago. He is the fourth Oakland player to win the MVP. Vida Blue won in 1971, Reggie Jackson in 1973 and Jose Canseco in 1988.

More than the slugging of Jose Canseco and Mark McGuire, it was Henderson who made the Athletics go this year. If he didn't open the scoring with a homer or "Rickey run"—a walk or single followed by two stolen bases and a sacrifice fly—he frequently started rallies that brought the A's back or made the big plays in left field.

Oakland won 26 of the 33 games in which Henderson scored in the first inning. Five of his career-high 28 homers were leadoff shots, extending his major league record to 45 leadoff homers.

Henderson also led the majors in runs scored (119) and on-base percentage (.439). He finished second in batting (.329, and in slugging with a career-high .577 mark, just behind Fielder.

As spectacular as Henderson's statistics were, he produced several magical moments that confirmed his status as one of baseball's most colorful and dangerous players. On May 9 against the New York Yankees, Henderson scored from second on a groundout to shortstop. Two other times he scored from third on sacrifice flies to infielders.

He leaped high against walls several times to rob opponents of homers, chased down liners in the gap or in foul territory and threw out runners with uncanny accuracy.

Henderson sometimes seemed to beat other teams even before he got to the plate, strutting over so slowly to home plate, getting on the pitcher's nerves, making opponents think too much about what he might do.

Digging in and scrunching down in the batter's box, Henderson's strike zone is about the size of a lady's handkerchief, helping him to draw 97 walks.

Lakers star says he's innocent

HOUSTON (AP)—Los Angeles Lakers forward James Worthy pleaded innocent on Tuesday to charges he solicited sex from two female Houston Police Department undercover officers before a game against the Rockets last week.

Harris County Court-at-Law Judge Jimmie Duncan set Worthy's trial for Jan. 28.

"We are in the process of assembling all relevant facts into this incident and we will have no further comment at this time," Worthy's attorney, Cornel Williams, said following Worthy's brief court session.

Worthy left the courthouse quickly, trailed by reporters and cameramen who followed the Lakers' star around the block while he searched for his limousine.

Worthy declined comment throughout the brief stroll but did comment on the incident prior to a game in Los Angeles on Sunday.

"I made a major mistake and I can't dwell on it," Worthy said. "It's a tough problem but it's not going to go away. I know I've hurt some people badly, and I've got to address that."

Country continued from page 16

forward to next year"%.

Captain Mike O'Connor was also pleased with Notre Dame's final season race, though slightly disappointed with his personal performance.

"The team ran well, and the first two guys ran exceptionally well," O'Connor. "All of us were glad to be able to contribute. Obviously, I had hoped to run better, but it's good that we were able to run well enough to get third. The seniors were all disappointed that we didn't run very well, but it was a great experience to be part of a national cross country power and what will hopefully be a cross country dynasty in years to come."

SAVE MONEY ON YOUR NEXT COMPUTER WHEN YOU BUY THIS ONE, THE ZENITH DATA SYSTEMS Z-286 LP+.

The Zenith Data Systems Z-286 LP+ Plus

HOW? Simple. Only the Z-286 LP+ is upgradable from an 80286 to an 80386 SX processor. In English, this means you get a computer today that meets your needs and a computer that can be upgraded to a more powerful one in the future, when YOU need it (and have the money). It's an affordable way to to protect your computing investment.

SPECIFICATIONS

Processor: 80286, upgradable to 80386 SX

Hard Disk: 20 or 40 MB

Memory: 1 MB RAM, expandable to 8 MB

Ports: 2 serial, 1 parallel (printer)

Mouse: Microsoft Mouse

Video: VGA

Software: MS-DOS, Windows 3.0

Monitor: FTM 14" VGA Color

ZMF-286-X2 286 LP+ Model 20, with 20 MB hard disk, FTM color monitor.

ZMF-286-X4 286 LP+ Model 40, with 40 MB hard disk, FTM color monitor.

Contact:

NOTRE DAME COMPUTER STORE
Math/Computer Bldg.
239-7477
Arkansas, Duke in rematch of Final Four

By GREG GUFFEE
Sports Editor

NEW YORK—It's been less than a year since second-ranked Arkansas and sixth-ranked Duke met in the NCAA Final Four. The two teams will play again tonight at 7 p.m. in the semiinals of the Dodge NIT at Madison Square Garden. The Blue Devils won the meeting in the NCAA Tournament last year 97-83 before losing to UNLV in the final.

"We're looking forward to seeing what we can do in a rematch," Arkansas coach Nolan Richardson said. The Blue Devils sport a different look this season. Gone are Phil Henderson (18.5 points per game), Ala나 Abdulnaby

Wednesday, November 21, 1990

Arkansas, Duke in rematch of Final Four

By GREG GUFFEE
Sports Editor

NEW YORK—It's been less than a year since second-ranked Arkansas and sixth-ranked Duke met in the NCAA Final Four. The two teams will play again tonight at 7 p.m. in the semiinals of the Dodge NIT at Madison Square Garden. The Blue Devils won the meeting in the NCAA Tournament last year 97-83 before losing to UNLV in the final.

"We're looking forward to seeing what we can do in a rematch," Arkansas coach Nolan Richardson said. The Blue Devils sport a different look this season. Gone are Phil Henderson (18.5 points per game), Alan Abdulnaby

Friday night, November 21, 1990

Arkansas, Duke in rematch of Final Four

By GREG GUFFEE
Sports Editor

NEW YORK—It's been less than a year since second-ranked Arkansas and sixth-ranked Duke met in the NCAA Final Four. The two teams will play again tonight at 7 p.m. in the semiinals of the Dodge NIT at Madison Square Garden. The Blue Devils won the meeting in the NCAA Tournament last year 97-83 before losing to UNLV in the final.

"We're looking forward to seeing what we can do in a rematch," Arkansas coach Nolan Richardson said. The Blue Devils sport a different look this season. Gone are Phil Henderson (18.5 points per game), Alan Abdulnaby

Wednesday, November 21, 1990

Arkansas, Duke in rematch of Final Four

By GREG GUFFEE
Sports Editor

NEW YORK—It's been less than a year since second-ranked Arkansas and sixth-ranked Duke met in the NCAA Final Four. The two teams will play again tonight at 7 p.m. in the semiinals of the Dodge NIT at Madison Square Garden. The Blue Devils won the meeting in the NCAA Tournament last year 97-83 before losing to UNLV in the final.

"We're looking forward to seeing what we can do in a rematch," Arkansas coach Nolan Richardson said. The Blue Devils sport a different look this season. Gone are Phil Henderson (18.5 points per game), Alan Abdulnaby

Wednesday, November 21, 1990

Arkansas, Duke in rematch of Final Four

By GREG GUFFEE
Sports Editor

NEW YORK—It's been less than a year since second-ranked Arkansas and sixth-ranked Duke met in the NCAA Final Four. The two teams will play again tonight at 7 p.m. in the semiinals of the Dodge NIT at Madison Square Garden. The Blue Devils won the meeting in the NCAA Tournament last year 97-83 before losing to UNLV in the final.

"We're looking forward to seeing what we can do in a rematch," Arkansas coach Nolan Richardson said. The Blue Devils sport a different look this season. Gone are Phil Henderson (18.5 points per game), Alan Abdulnaby

Wednesday, November 21, 1990

Arkansas, Duke in rematch of Final Four

By GREG GUFFEE
Sports Editor

NEW YORK—It's been less than a year since second-ranked Arkansas and sixth-ranked Duke met in the NCAA Final Four. The two teams will play again tonight at 7 p.m. in the semiinals of the Dodge NIT at Madison Square Garden. The Blue Devils won the meeting in the NCAA Tournament last year 97-83 before losing to UNLV in the final.

"We're looking forward to seeing what we can do in a rematch," Arkansas coach Nolan Richardson said. The Blue Devils sport a different look this season. Gone are Phil Henderson (18.5 points per game), Alan Abdulnaby

Wednesday, November 21, 1990

Arkansas, Duke in rematch of Final Four

By GREG GUFFEE
Sports Editor

NEW YORK—It's been less than a year since second-ranked Arkansas and sixth-ranked Duke met in the NCAA Final Four. The two teams will play again tonight at 7 p.m. in the semiinals of the Dodge NIT at Madison Square Garden. The Blue Devils won the meeting in the NCAA Tournament last year 97-83 before losing to UNLV in the final.

"We're looking forward to seeing what we can do in a rematch," Arkansas coach Nolan Richardson said. The Blue Devils sport a different look this season. Gone are Phil Henderson (18.5 points per game), Alan Abdulnaby

Wednesday, November 21, 1990

Arkansas, Duke in rematch of Final Four

By GREG GUFFEE
Sports Editor

NEW YORK—It's been less than a year since second-ranked Arkansas and sixth-ranked Duke met in the NCAA Final Four. The two teams will play again tonight at 7 p.m. in the semiinals of the Dodge NIT at Madison Square Garden. The Blue Devils won the meeting in the NCAA Tournament last year 97-83 before losing to UNLV in the final.

"We're looking forward to seeing what we can do in a rematch," Arkansas coach Nolan Richardson said. The Blue Devils sport a different look this season. Gone are Phil Henderson (18.5 points per game), Alan Abdulnaby

Wednesday, November 21, 1990

Arkansas, Duke in rematch of Final Four

By GREG GUFFEE
Sports Editor

NEW YORK—It's been less than a year since second-ranked Arkansas and sixth-ranked Duke met in the NCAA Final Four. The two teams will play again tonight at 7 p.m. in the semiinals of the Dodge NIT at Madison Square Garden. The Blue Devils won the meeting in the NCAA Tournament last year 97-83 before losing to UNLV in the final.

"We're looking forward to seeing what we can do in a rematch," Arkansas coach Nolan Richardson said. The Blue Devils sport a different look this season. Gone are Phil Henderson (18.5 points per game), Alan Abdulnaby
Although we are not in agreement, the dugout immediately after significant physical contact with cited Clemens for making "...": ["...""] umpire Terry Cooney in the dressed." league's action, we are satisfied Clemens speaks for itself. and suspension of Roger Gorman said, "Dr. Brown's Young Award voting. that the issue has been ad-
one start. It comes a week after he earned a $125,000 bonus and was most valuable player in 1987. The alteration occurred after Clemens walked Willie Randolph, giving the AL, who led 1-0, runners on first and third. Cooney and Clemens got into a shouting match, and Clemens bumped Evans. After the game, Clemens and Cooney said that after Randolph walked the pitcher shook his head near the mound. Cooney said he told Clemens, "I hope you’re not shaking your head at me. He said, "If you want to talk to me, take your mask off. By me not removing my mask and not getting into a verbal thing with him, that was my way of warning him." "I was looking down," Clemens said. "I saw (Cooney) not doing anything, so he was saying something. He thought I was talking to him. I told him, I’m not shaking my head at you. The problem was not with you." "So, when you were getting ready to play against Woody, you always had to go back through every game and try to figure out what he was going to use against you. It made preparation a lot harder. "Moeller said. "He’d study your game under our belt, we’ll be ready to play against Evansville. Evansville was 10-17 last season, 6-10 in conference action. The Lady Aces, however, return their entire starting lineup, including preseason allconference honors."

Thus, they’ll be an improved team this year, especially with all five starters back," said McGraw. "The Irish were never lost to Evansville in the 11 times they’ve played. For Notre Dame to continue its mastery of the Lady Aces, McGraw believes the Irish will need to continue to rebound as they did against the Latvians—Notre Dame outscored Latvia 40-31. "Rebounding will be a big key for us this year," said McGraw. "They have (Greis), who was one of the leading rebounders in the conference last year. We need to keep her off the boards this year."

Notre Dame was nearly unanimous choice in a preseason MCC coaches poll to repeat as conference champions, and placed Robinson and senior forward Krisi Davis on the first-team All-MCC. Robinson also was named MCC Player of the Year. After Evansville, the Irish travel to the West Coast to face UCLA and second-ranked Stanford, defending NCAA national champion.

Women's basketball prep for Evansville

By RENE FERRAN Sports Writer

The Notre Dame women's basketball team opens regular season play Monday at 7:20 p.m. against Midwestern Collegiate rival Evansville in Joyce Arena.

The Irish come into Monday's game having defeated the Latvian National Team 79-61 November 19th, the only loss on its United States tour. Latvia had come away with wins against Ohio State and ninth-ranked Purdue.

Senior point guard Karen Robinson led Notre Dame with 18 points, and three other starters scored in double figures.

Irish head coach Muffet McGraw was pleased with her team's performance against the Latvians.

"We got the first game jitters out of the way," said McGraw. "We came out nervous in the first half, but we have an experienced team, and we re-grouped and came out in the second half much more relaxed. Now that we have our first game under our belt, we'll be ready to play against Evansville.

Evansville was 10-17 last season, 6-10 in conference action. The Lady Aces, however, would then use the same play member it and Ohio State team. If he saw something that such talk will include him. Moore would learn the game from Moeller. "I learned the game the way Woody did," Moeller recalled. "He probably made this game what it is today.

Talk almost always turns to legends in the days leading up to a Michigan-Ohio State game. Moeller hopes that one day such talk will include him.

"Woody was the greatest player I’ve ever seen," Moeller said. "He’d study your team. If he saw something that worked against you, he’d remember it and Ohio State would then use the same play against you.

"So, when you were getting ready to play against Woody, you always had to go back through every game and try to figure out what he was going to use against you. It made preparation a lot harder. "Moeller said. "He’d study your game under our belt, we’ll be ready to play against Evansville. Evansville was 10-17 last season, 6-10 in conference action. The Lady Aces, however, would then use the same play member it and Ohio State team. If he saw something that such talk will include him. Moore would learn the game from Moeller. "I learned the game the way Woody did," Moeller recalled. "He probably made this game what it is today.

Talk almost always turns to legends in the days leading up to a Michigan-Ohio State game. Moeller hopes that one day such talk will include him.

"Woody was the greatest player I’ve ever seen," Moeller said. "He’d study your team. If he saw something that worked against you, he’d remember it and Ohio State would then use the same play against you.

"So, when you were getting ready to play against Woody, you always had to go back through every game and try to figure out what he was going to use against you. It made preparation a lot harder. "Moeller said. "He’d study your game under our belt, we’ll be ready to play against Evansville. Evansville was 10-17 last season, 6-10 in conference action. The Lady Aces, however, would then use the same play member it and Ohio State team. If he saw something that such talk will include him. Moore would learn the game from Moeller. "I learned the game the way Woody did," Moeller recalled. "He probably made this game what it is today.

Talk almost always turns to legends in the days leading up to a Michigan-Ohio State game. Moeller hopes that one day

Michigan-Ohio St. match brings memories of Hayes

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—It seems the Michigan,Ohio State football game will never outgrow the legendary Woody Hayes.

Reporters from both states were gathered at Webber's Inn on Monday for Michigan coach Gary Moeller's weekly news conference. And almost every question directed at Moeller revolved around the man who was to have been his mentor, Woody Hayes.

"I learned the game the way Woody did," Moeller recalled. "He probably made this game what it is today.

Talk almost always turns to legends in the days leading up to a Michigan-Ohio State game. Moeller hopes that one day

Clemens receives suspension

BOSTON (AP)—Roger Clemens was suspended for the first five games of next season and fined $10,000 Tuesday for behavior which led to the Boston pitcher's ejection from the last game of the American League playoffs.

The penalty announced by AL president Bobby Brown will force the Red Sox star to miss one start. It comes a week after he earned a $125,000 bonus provided in his contract for finishing second in the AL Cy Young Award voting.

Although Clemens can appeal, Red Sox general manager Lou Gorman said, "Dr. Brown's statement and subsequent fine and suspension of Roger Clemens speaks for itself. Although we are not in agreement with the severity of the league's action, we are satisfied that the issue has been addressed.

Clemens was ejected by plate umpire Terry Cooney in the second inning of Oakland's 3-1 victory that completed the A's four-game sweep Oct. 10. In his announcement, Brown cited Clemens for making "...signs with his glove finger at an angle and with an umpire (Jim Evans), for throwing a foreign substance at Evans, for verbally abusively Cooney with personal obscenities, and for leaving the dugout immediately after

American Heart Association

Hockey faces Alabama-Huntsville

By RICH KURZ Sports Writer

Thanksgiving is coming to the Joyce Athletic and Convocation Center ice rink this Saturday and Friday, when the Irish host the University of Alabama-Huntsville Chargers.

No, there won't be any carved turkeys on the ice, because of the NCAA's new neutrality rules, which bar the display of religious symbols or the presence of Native American or Jewish symbols.

There will be no hollering " Give us some, Indians!" or "Give us some, Fighting Irish!" at the Joyce Arena this season. The Fighting Irish is the school's official name, and all references to Native Americans will be removed from the arena.

"We're not going to have any references to Indians in the building," said head coach Ric Schafer. "They are going to be left out."

"Everyone's going to turn it up a notch because their parents will be there," said sophomore defenseman Dan Sawyer. "Our parents have been with us (in hockey) since we were three and four, and now we want to put a show on for them," said Bankoske.

The Notre Dame hockey team will be staying for Thanksgiving and a match with Alabama-Huntsville.

Clemens receives suspension

BOSTON (AP)—Roger Clemens was suspended for the first five games of next season and fined $10,000 Tuesday for behavior which led to the Boston pitcher's ejection from the last game of the American League playoffs.

The penalty announced by AL president Bobby Brown will force the Red Sox star to miss one start. It comes a week after he earned a $125,000 bonus provided in his contract for finishing second in the AL Cy Young Award voting.

Although Clemens can appeal, Red Sox general manager Lou Gorman said, "Dr. Brown's statement and subsequent fine and suspension of Roger Clemens speaks for itself. Although we are not in agreement with the severity of the league's action, we are satisfied that the issue has been addressed.

Clemens was ejected by plate umpire Terry Cooney in the second inning of Oakland's 3-1 victory that completed the A's four-game sweep Oct. 10. In his announcement, Brown cited Clemens for making "...signs with his glove finger at an angle and with an umpire (Jim Evans), for throwing a foreign substance at Evans, for verbally abusively Cooney with personal obscenities, and for leaving the dugout immediately after the ejection." Clemens was not immediately available for comment.

Last season, Clemens led the league for the second time in earned run average with a 1.93 mark. He was 29-6, the second winningest season of his career. He finished second to Oakland's Bob Welch in the Cy Young balloting. Clemens won the award in 1986 and 1987 and was most valuable player in 1987.

Although Boston surprised preseason predictors by winning the AL East, the season ended on a sour note for the team and its star pitcher. Clemens is immediately available for comment.

Last season, Clemens led the league for the second time in earned run average with a 1.93 mark. He was 29-6, the second winningest season of his career. He finished second to Oakland's Bob Welch in the Cy Young balloting. Clemens won the award in 1986 and 1987 and was most valuable player in 1987.

Although Boston surprised preseason predictors by winning the AL East, the season ended on a sour note for the team and its star pitcher. Clemens is immediately available for comment.
Campus

Thursday, November 22, 1990
12:30-3:30 p.m. Traditional Thanksgiving Day buffet, South Dining Hall. Sponsored by University Food Services.

Menus

Notre Dame
Oven Fried Chicken
Noodles Romanoff
Baked Chicken with Herbs
Swedish Meatballs with Mushroom Sauce

Crossword

ACROSS
1 Vogue's "Fear of Flying"... 19 Wild plum
2 Thirty-two Boy Scouts 20 In the wake of
3 Harvard Stadium, e.g. 21 Grasslands
4 Cumbrous 22 Harlemagne's domain.
5 Start of a quip 23 Spellbound
6 Forty-two Boy Scouts 24 Grasslands
7 Thirty-two Boy Scouts 25 Place for up-front orchestra seats
8 "Fear of Flying" author 26 Existing
9 Thirty-two Boy Scouts 27 Actresses Clarke
10 William Shakespeare 28 Muslim's Supreme Being

DOWN
1 Artist Bonheur 32 Scale sequence
2 Gardner's namesakes 33 Scale sequence
3 Trot or canter 34 Building additions
4 Presbyter 35 Scale sequence
5 Papal name 36 Above, to Hans
6 Fronton cheer 37 Building additions
7 Oscar-wining "Hud" actress 38 Above, to Hans
8 Dead duck 39 Steps between farms
9 "Father to the thought" 40 Spot for birling
10 F.D.R. agency 41 Middle of the quip
11 Solemn promise 42 Extend across
12 Ended 43 Make new
13 Troop's "Jim" 44 Zenith's opposite
14 Harvard Stadium, e.g. 45 Wild plum
15 Butterine 46 Gaet's republic
16 Cumbersome 47 is a ass.
17 Start of a quip 48 Food fish
18 Mun's vehicle 49 Food fish
19 Miner's vehicle 50 Food fish
20 In the wake of 51 Food fish
21 Grasslands 52 Gael's republic
22 Harlemagne's domain. 53 Petrarch's beloved
23 Spellbound 54 Conrad's "Jim"
24 Grasslands 55 Wood nymph
25 Place for up-front orchestra seats 56 Designer Saint Laurent
26 Existing 57 Apt rhyme for sheer
27 Intended 58 Flaherty's "Man of ."
28 Muslim's Supreme Being 59 Twin who made a bad deal
29 Skip over 60 Russian river
30 Gave out poker hands 61 Famed painter of calendar girls
31 Drove out poker hands 62 Skirt insert
32 Scale sequence 63 Prefix with date
33 Building additions 64 Spore
34 Building additions 65 End of the quip
35 Scale sequence 66 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
36 Building additions 67 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
37 Building additions 68 Precincts
38 Building additions 69 Vituperate
39 Steps between farms 70 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
40 Spot for birling 71 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
41 Middle of the quip 72 Der (Adagio)
42 Extend across 73 Explode
43 Make new 74 Spot for birling
44 Zenith's opposite 75 Exploit
45 Wild plum 76 Grasslands
46 Gaet's republic 77 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
47 is a ass. 78 Wild plum
48 Food fish 79 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
49 Food fish 80 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
50 Food fish 81 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
51 Food fish 82 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
52 Gael's republic 83 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
53 Petrarch's beloved 84 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
54 Conrad's "Jim" 85 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
55 Wood nymph 86 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
56 Designer Saint Laurent 87 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
57 Apt rhyme for sheer 88 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
58 Flaherty's "Man of ...." 89 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
59 Twin who made a bad deal 90 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
60 Russian river 91 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
61 Famed painter of calendar girls 92 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
62 Skirt insert 93 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
63 Prefix with date 94 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
64 Spore 95 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
65 End of the quip 96 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
66 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria 97 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
67 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria 98 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
68 Precincts 99 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
69 Vituperate 100 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
70 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria 101 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
71 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria 102 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
72 Der (Adagio) 103 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
73 Explode 104 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
74 Spot for birling 105 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
75 Exploit 106 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
76 Grasslands 107 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
77 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria 108 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
78 Wild plum 109 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
79 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria 110 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
80 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria 111 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
81 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria 112 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
82 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria 113 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
83 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria 114 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
84 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria 115 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
85 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria 116 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
86 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria 117 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
87 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria 118 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
88 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria 119 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
89 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria 120 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
90 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria 121 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
91 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria 122 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
92 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria 123 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
93 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria 124 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria
94 "Vissi d'...." Puccini aria

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

VOW, NEVER, KNOW HOW LONG YOU'VE GOT. YOU COULD ROLL INTO THE ROAD TOMORROW AND ASH - YOU GET HIT BY A CEMENT TRUCK. THEN YOU'D BE SORRY YOU PUT OFF YOUR PLEASURES.

THE FAR SIDE

Gary Larson

How to Stop a Runaway Stage

Method #1

(a) (b) (c) (d) (e)

Method #2

(a) (b) (c) (d)

From the book "Guide to Western Stuff."

CALVIN AND HOBBES

Bill Watterson

Life is the moment. It's MY MUSO.

THAT'S WHY I CAN'T LIVE FOR THE MOMENT. WHAT'S YOUR MUSO?

From "From Daisies to Calvin & Hobbes: The Complete Guide..."

from all of us at the Student Union Board

HAPPY THANKSGIVING!!

Student Union Board

1990 Universal Press Syndicate
Underclassmen lead Irish to third-place finish in NCAA race

By BARBARA MORAN

Sports Writer

The men's cross country team ended a stellar season with an outstanding race at the NCAA championships in Knoxville, Tenn., Monday, finishing third in the country behind Arkansas and Iowa State.

Finishing first for the Irish was the same duo that led the team to victory at the NCAA District IV qualifying meet two weeks ago. Sophomore John Coyle crossed the line first for the Irish, completing the 10-kilometer course in 30:30 for 24th place overall. Freshman Mike McWilliams followed close behind, capturing 24th place in 30:41 and earning the status of top freshman in the country. Both Coyle and McWilliams were awarded All-America honors.

Tenn., Monday, finishing third in the country behind Arkansas and Iowa State.

Coyle crossed the line first for the Irish, completing the 10-kilometer course in 30:30; Coyle was pleased with the season conclusion, and he is already looking forward to next year. "We placed about as high as we could place, but we could have done better," said Piane. "Caball didn't run very well, and O'Connor had a sore achilles which has been pretty sore off and on all season long, but did not score in the second half when Ismail was forced to the sidelines."

When (Ismail's) out there you can control a lot of things about coverages and about run support and about blitzes," Holtz says. "So when he's out of the ballgame it hurts our confidence, but I really believe that we are not a one-man football team. We are a good offensive football team."

If Ismail is not able to play he will be replaced by junior Shawn Davis. Split end Tony Smith will be the other wideout.

Sophomore quarterback Rick Mirer, who threw two interceptions in the loss to Penn State but has otherwise had an outstanding season (103 of 185 passing, 8 TD, 6 INT), will start at quarterback.

The player most likely to pick up the slack should Ismail be absent is tailback Ricky Watters, who has rushed for 288 yards in the past two games. Junior Rodney Culver and freshman Jerome Bettis will share time at fullback for the Irish.

Notre Dame will face a young USC defense which features

\[\text{see USC / page 13}\]

\[\text{Low campus profile? Don't blame Perez}\]

After the turbulent resignation of women's volleyball coach Art Lambert, followers of A. J. ("Tony") Perez, head coach, expect no successor to be a lower profile—and less vocal—head coach.

That successor was Maria Perez, and she definitely succeeded in keeping the lower profile. But whether she's less vocal is disputable.

"I think what has happened (since assuming the job as head coach in the first week of October) is I'm not the person that people perceived me to be," says Perez, who had been Lambert's assistant before stepping up to the top spot. "I'm Maria, who is not the vocal person that people perceived me to be. Everybody thinks I'm just this terrible mean person, but they don't know me.

Who is Maria Perez? Who is this enigmatic coach who refused to talk to reporters after matches immediately following the Lambert affair? Much space in this and other publications have been devoted to the exposition of the Lambert drama, but practically none has been used for an understanding of the succeeding coach.

\[\text{see PEREZ / page 10}\]

\[\text{Scott Bratkocic Irish items}\]

\[\text{see COUNTRY / page 14}\]

\[\text{Don't call ND the underdogs}\]

Arizona Head Coach Olson won't underestimate Irish

By GREG GUFFEY

Sports Editor

NEW YORK—Arizona coach Lute Olson isn't buying the claims that unranked Notre Dame is the Cinderella against his third-ranked Wildcats in the semifinals of the Dodge NIT.

"Sure, nobody's ever heard of Notre Dame," Olson said. "I wouldn't even view Notre Dame as a Cinderella." If Notre Dame isn't Cinderella, it is certainly an underdog in the game set for 9 p.m. tonight on ESPN. Sixth-ranked Duke and second-ranked Arkansas will meet at 7 p.m. in a rematch of last year's NCAA Final Four semifinal.

The losers will meet in the consolation game at 6:45 p.m. Friday, while the winners will play for the championship at 9 p.m.

The week will be a big test for the Irish, who downed Fordham and Iowa in the opening rounds. Arizona has six players averaging in double figures, including 15.6 points a game from senior forward Paul Arizin, who led all scorers in the Wildcats' 84-72 loss to UCLA Wednesday night in the NIT's opening round.

"This is an opportunity for us to see how good we really are," Notre Dame coach Digger Phelps said. "Arizona is a team that most everybody will be talking about when March rolls around.

The biggest test for the Irish will come inside, where the Wildcats have 6-10 center Sean Banks and 6-11 Brian Williams. How well Notre Dame players Keith Tower and LaPhonso Ellis handle that challenge could determine how the Irish fare in the game.

Most attention will be focused on Williams and Ellis, both junior and both team leaders. Williams averages 17 points and 11 rebounds, while Ellis scores 13 points and pulls down 10.5 boards.

That will be an interesting matchup," Olson said. "Both have size and strength. I think he (Ellis) is playing well. He's a good inside-outside player. He's not a guy who's always going to be around the basket area.

Ellis will probably try to mix it up inside and outside people. Williams is a double- and triple-teaming him, he went to the perimeter and nailed two three-pointers."

In the first two games, Williams was defending guards 6-4 and 6-3 players," Olson said. "We feel comfortable about him being able to defend the people that we really need to defend people on the perimeter. I think Brian can handle it."

Phelps sees a lot of similarities between the Arizona big men and Notre Dame's big men.

"The Irish are beaten soundly by a Tiger team led by Shaquille O'Neal and Stanley Roberts last season before a record crowd in the Superdome."