Parkings changes accommodate off-campus students

By SIOBHAN MCCARTHY

Noticeable improvements will be made in the availability of special events parking to accommodate off-campus students after Wednesday, due to a new parking policy to limit the amount of faculty and visitor parking around the stadium.

Phil Johnson, assistant director of Security, met with the Campus Life Council Monday to discuss recent expansions and changes in campus parking.

According to a security press release, "Beginning November 28, 1990, all parking for basketball games and other events at the Loftus Sport Center and the J.A.C.C. in the area common known as Red Field East. Lots west of Juniper Road are not open to basketball and other events parking."

Don Dedrick, director of Physical Plant, commented, "The basketball parking will be greatly enhanced" in these new changes. "I think it will be terrific for basketball games and events parking."

Dedrick is currently a member of the Ad Hoc Parking Committee, a temporary group which has been formed specifically to address the campus parking problems. The group is mainly concerned "with existing facilities," according to Johnson. Although it does not have the authority to construct new facilities, decisions regarding construction are made by Dedrick.

A recent decision by the Ad Hoc Parking Committee decreased the number of "relatively unused" faculty and staff spaces in the area by 400 plates. Consequently, approximately 400 plates in the C1 parking lot were made available for student use. "This committee decision was based on the fact that spaces were not being utilized," said Johnson. "We just try to allocate space to the fairest use possible of the limited amount of space."

"For years," said senior Kate Phifer, student representative, "we just try to allocate it in the fairest way."

"I think it will be tremendously beneficial," said senior Dave Meehan both represent the area of the body in the matter and welcomes all suggestions for change.

Two basic problems have been identified with on-campus student parking: the safety of those who must park their cars in poorly lit and far-off areas, and the comfort of students forced to walk through bad weather conditions in order to park in the D2 lot.

As far as available space, Johnson said, "Right now, we have adequate space to meet parking conditions. It's just not as convenient as students would like."

Other security changes have evolved in order to accommodate students and faculty. The Notre Dame/Saint Mary's shut parking.

ND students call for an official policy on racism

By COLLEEN GANNON

The lack of a specific racial harassment policy at Notre Dame has led an ad hoc student coalition against racism to write an open letter to the Administration regarding the adoption of an official policy on racism.

We want people to recognize that racial discrimination and harassment exist on this campus," said senior Alicia Sierra, member of the ND/SMC Democratic Student Council and a member of the coalition.

The coalition did not receive any type of response as of Nov. 26. According to O'Meara, a response to the letter will come.

"As far as we knew at the time that the letter was sent, the University is making a public effort to raise minority enrollment, they are not addressing the needs of minority students," Sierra said. The university is raising numbers without addressing the practical issues, she said.

"We want them to deal with all the aspects that go with having a diverse campus," said senior Michael Capo, co-president of the Black Cultural Arts Council.

Senior Corey Collins, president of the ND/SMC chapter of the NAACP, said the alleged racial harassment incidents at Notre Dame in the past. According to him, some professors made comments that students perceived to be racially discriminatory. He has also heard stories that minority students are often stopped on campus and asked for identification by campus security for any provocation.

"When we stop people on campus for any reason," said Collins, "it is because we are investigating something," said Collins.

Harvard sued by coalition for minorities

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A group of Harvard Law School students turned their legal training into a weapon against their own school with a lawsuit aimed at getting more minorities hired as professors.

"Today we use the only instrument of power Harvard Law School seems to understand," said second-year student John Robinson, "We take Harvard to court."

The lawsuit filed Tuesday and signed by 11 students accused the Ivy League school of failing to hire any minority women or minority men and women, or Hispanics to the permanent faculty.

It also claims Harvard discriminates against white women and black students in its faculty hiring.

"We do not feel that the fire originated in the basket due to the fact that none of us smoke and no flammable materials were in the basket," said Gina Mascia, Kathy McInerney, and Laura Stanoshek, seniors in Augustus.

Although the wicker basket was allegedly on fire, Chlebek puts faith in the fact that the firefighters have investigated the causes of many fires. "They are professionals," he said. Their expertise has to be taken into consideration.

A fire alarm and sprinkler system alerted the Notre Dame and South Bend Fire Department.

Origin of fire at Saint Mary's remains in cloud of ambiguity

By ANNA MARIE TABOR

A Thanksgiving fire at Saint Mary's has left the community confused over the cause of the blaze.

Richard Chlebek, director of Saint Mary's security, believes the fire started on the second floor of Augusta Hall in a wicker wastebasket. His speculation is based on a fire department investigators' theory.

There were only two students in Augusta over break, but they were not in the hall when the fire broke out. The nuns staying in the south section evacuated the building when the smoke hazards became evident.

"We do not feel that the fire originated in the basket due to the fact that none of us smoke and no flammable materials were in the basket," said Gina Mascia, Kathy McInerney, and Laura Stanoshek, seniors in Augustus.

Although the wicker basket was allegedly on fire, Chlebek puts faith in the fact that the firefighters have investigated the causes of many fires. "They are professionals," he said. Their expertise has to be taken into consideration.

A fire alarm and sprinkler system alerted the Notre Dame and South Bend Fire Department.
Collective punishment always fails

When I was in the second grade (at another great Catholic school, St. Patrick's), somebody in my class stole a little girl's candy bar. (And, NO, Mom, it wasn't me! Why do you ask?) Ms. Almeda, our teacher, was very upset. She demanded that the guilty party return the candy bar immediately. No one even moved.

Therefore, Ms. Almeda introduced the class to a form of justice which would change us forever—collective punishment. She refused to let anyone in the class (including the little girl whose candy bar was stolen) go outside for recess. Instead, she made us sit at our desks with our heads down until the guilty party returned the stolen property. It didn't work. No one confessed to the crime, and all of us missed recess.

The guilty boy later turned himself in (and apologized to the victim), but the damage was done. I resented Ms. Almeda for punishing me for a crime I knew I wouldn't commit. It was unfair, cruel, and pointless. It turned a rose of second-grade cherubs a little more cynical towards the abilities of teachers.

The lesson of Ms. Almeda's story: collective punishment doesn't work, whether the crime is the theft of a candy bar or the property damage caused by a snowball fight. Last year, for those of you who don't remember, Father Snowball made. Trust me, you will regret it.

The guilty boy later turned himself in (and apologized to the victim), but the damage was done. I resented Ms. Almeda for punishing me for a crime I knew I wouldn't commit. It was unfair, cruel, and pointless. It turned a rose of second-grade cherubs a little more cynical towards the abilities of teachers.

The lesson of Ms. Almeda's story: collective punishment doesn't work, whether the crime is the theft of a candy bar or the property damage caused by a snowball fight. Last year, for those of you who don't remember, Father Snowball made. Trust me, you will regret it.

The guilty boy later turned himself in (and apologized to the victim), but the damage was done. I resented Ms. Almeda for punishing me for a crime I knew I wouldn't commit. It was unfair, cruel, and pointless. It turned a rose of second-grade cherubs a little more cynical towards the abilities of teachers.

The lesson of Ms. Almeda's story: collective punishment doesn't work, whether the crime is the theft of a candy bar or the property damage caused by a snowball fight. Last year, for those of you who don't remember, Father Snowball made. Trust me, you will regret it.
The Observer / File Photo

Col. Howard Hanson (left), commander of the Air Force ROTC detachment at Notre Dame, receives the Right of Line Award from Brig. Gen. Robin Tornow (right), Air Force ROTC Commandant at the third annual Air Force ROTC Commanders Conference held in Montgomery, Ala. The award is presented each year to the number one Air Force ROTC detachment in the nation.

The top unit in the nation and is selected by their region commanders and evaluated by a board at Air Force ROTC Headquarters, located at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala. The commandment makes the final selection. Units are evaluated according to officer production, recruitment and retention, education program, university and community relations, cadet activities, Arnold Air Society activities and unit effectiveness in inspections ratings. The winner from each of five regions competes for nationwide recognition.

Notre Dame, Air Force ROTC Detachment 225, was first awarded the High Flight Award Winner for the Ohio Valley region before it went on to claim the national title. "The Air Force is very fortunate to have 149 detachments across the nation with solid leaders, high quality cadets and strong support for the school administration. The competition is stiff. It's tough to pick a winner and we congratulate Notre Dame for having the top program in the country," said Tornow.

In addition to the flight of Line and High Flight award, the Notre Dame detachment unit also received one of 15 Air Force Organizational Excellence awards.

The guest speaker for the banquet was retired Air Force Lt. Gen. Robert Springer, who currently serves as the national Arnold Air Society advisor.

Student Senate approves revisions to by-laws for Student Government

By PETER AMEND

Revisions to the by-laws for Student Government elections were approved by Student Senates.

The major revisions to the by-laws are:

• No endorsements for Student Government candidates.
• Increased campaign budget limits for all candidates due to inflation.
• 50 percent of the candidates budget will be reviewed by Student Government in the hopes that potential candidates are not discouraged to run because of financial difficulties.
• All candidates' campaigns must abide by Du-Lac guidelines.

Also at the Student Senate meeting, Phil Johnson, assistant director of Security, discussed the current student parking situation. He announced new parking changes that are to take place for this year's basketball season.

For more information on the parking changes, see the CUC story on page 1.

Banquet held at Governor's House Hotel

Special to The Observer

At a Veteran's Day awards banquet the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps unit from Notre Dame University was named the top unit in the nation for 1990.

The banquet, held at the Governor's House Hotel and Conference Center in Montgomery, Ala., was the culmination of the week-long third annual Air Force ROTC National Commanders' Conference. More than 150 senator unit commanders from across the nation participated in the conference hosted by Brig. Gen. Robin Tornow, Air Force ROTC commandant.

By MEGAN JUNIUS

A South Bend resident was attacked last Wednesday outside the Rockne Memorial Building, according to Chuck Hurley, assistant director of Security.

The woman had parked her car in the D-6 parking lot on the morning of Nov. 21 when a man approached her and asked for the time. She answered and continued to the Rockne Memorial building. The suspect came up to her again and asked directions to the library.

After she told him, he grabbed her from behind and placed one hand over her mouth, pulling her to the ground. She refused his demands for her keys and told him that her swimming partner was coming around the corner. The suspect then touched the victim in an inappropriate manner and fled the area in an unknown direction.

The suspect is described as a male Hispanic between 18 and 25 years of age. He is approximately 5 feet 11 inches and of medium build.

Security requests that anyone who may have any information about this case or the identity of the suspect to please contact University Security immediately at 239-5555.

Local resident attacked near Rockne Building
Panel discusses women in the job market

By ANDREA CAVAUNA
News Writer

Women have an advantage in the job market today, Shirley Scott, English department chairwoman at Western Michigan University, said. Scott was joined by Adrian Vandewielen, assistant professor of English at Notre Dame, in discussing the problems confronting women in the job market today.

Vandewielen conveyed the perspective of the male employer in industry and science. He concentrated upon the importance of the resume for female job seekers. In reviewing resumes, Vandewielen said that employers are using new strategies such as targeted selection and job dimension judgements. These new procedures assist employers in finding better qualified applicants without making judgements based mainly on the applicants' behavior in the interview.

Vandewielen stated that the resume is "the most important document you will produce in your career." In writing this document, his advice was to emphasize the fact that the applicant is a woman or minority. Today, many employers are conscious of a need to hire more women and minorities.

Also, it is important to list one's organizations, honors, awards, and titles in one's major. Related work experience and special emphasis on the personal research project are beneficial to the substance of the resume, he said. All the panelists emphasized the need to be specific and list only the facts.

Scott presented the perspective of the recently hired female in an academic position. She highlighted the importance of publications in the job seeking process. "Publications are very important. The days when people hire Ph.D.s looking mainly at future promise are gone," she said.

Employers want to hire students active in research. She emphasized the fact that the applicant is a woman with a distinct advantage if pursuing publishable material. Although they are not the only way to be selected for a job, she said, they are an important component of the resume.

According to Ziarek, "Women graduate students need to be more aggressive" in publishing material because males receive "more positive comments" to pursue publishable material. Students can find themselves with a distinct advantage if their research style is exciting. Most articles are rejected by publishers because they are dull. It is very difficult for students to take the "imaginative leap from a seminar paper to a publishing authority on a particular subject," says Ziarek.

"It is a good time for women in the academic job market," said Scott from the perspective of a female employer. Considering the interest of academic departments to balance their employee statistics, shows that women have a better chance than the average white male. However, Scott does not feel that this should deter women from establishing their "singularity as a candidate."

"Interviewers are looking for a triple threat," said Scott in that a candidate's desirability is judged upon how good of a scholar, teacher, and colleague she could be. Scott mentioned two characteristics of intelligence and responsibility that are especially important in the selection process.

Scott advised women "to be yourself but want to be your best self."

CAMPUS MINISTRY

PREPARE THE WAY OF THE LORD

Sunday, December 2 marks the tenth anniversary of the death of four women-Dorothy Kazel, Jean Donovan, Marna Clarke and Ita Ford. Actually, there were probably many more women who died that same day the world over, but we mark these four women's deaths on behalf of all women-and those men, too-who have placed the power of love over the power of evil and oppression: in matters of the heart-life included-over limited self- or national-interest.

These deaths on December 2 were not isolated. Death and torture were daily events for the civilians of El Salvador. 75,000 have been killed since 1978. That these women died immediately, all US aid to El Salvador was suspended. But then a new US administration came into power.

According to the president of the religious community to which two of the women belonged and the #1 aide to El Salvador, the US reaction became one of lies and deceit, designed to make such subversion to whatever complaid with and enhanced US policy.

The lives of these women were a constant living out of their faith. They let faith be the prime motivation behind all of their decisions and all of their actions. They did not let other voices or pressures form their consciousness. Conscience was formed by the word of God as they received it, as they loved and served, as they were inspired, as they listened to God, as they responded to God, to one another, and to themselves.

The argument of this column is not that we would let women run the world, that we would let women unseat the world's hierarchies. Margaret Thatcher might serve as an argument against that. The point of this column is that if the qualities shown by these four women led us all, we would be much closer to our own professed values than we are now. Hear the words of Ita Ford written to her niece on the niece's sixteenth birthday:

"I hope you come to find that which gives life a deep meaning for you-something worth living for, maybe even worth dying for-something that energizes you, enlivens you, enables you to keep moving ahead.

"I can't tell you what that might be: that's for you to find, to choose, to love. I can just encourage you to start looking and support you in the search..."

Hear the Word. Speak the Word. Become the Word. Prepare the way of the Lord.
Gorbachev vows Saddam will pay for ‘aggression’

(AP) — Mikhail Gorbachev warned Saddam Hussein on Monday that his aggression against Kuwait would be punished, and vowed that the alliance against Iraq since its Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait and that Iraq’s aggression could not be allowed to prevail.” Because it just moved away from the Cold War, when everything was decided from a position of force.

At the United Nations, the U.S.-led coalition enjoys international support for a resolution authorizing force to liberate Kuwait. The resolution proposed by the United States would refer to force against Iraq indirectly by saying that if Iraq did not pull its forces out of Kuwait, “all necessary means” would be used to bring them to bear.

An unidentified U.S. airman sits in the engine of an A-10 Warthog ground support plane on Thanksgiving Day in Saudi Arabia. In his trip to the Persian Gulf over the holidays, President Bush and other top officials reported that they found no evidence of a deteriorating morale in the Operation Desert Shield.

The measure apparently has enough votes on the 15-member Security Council to ensure passage. It needs at least nine votes, including those of all five permanent members — the United States, Britain, China, France and the Soviet Union — to win approval.

The United States is president of the Security Council for November, and U.S. officials were seeking a resolution on the use of force before turning the presidency over to Yemen on Saturday. Council presidents have the power to bring issues forward for votes or to suppress debate.

In the Iraqi capital, American and British diplomats said more than 100 Americans, Britons and Europeans held in Kuwait had been brought to Baghdad's Mansour Hotel hotel. The group included at least 10 Americans and 60 Britons. The diplomats said they were unsure if the new arrivals would be used to replace Germans allowed to leave strategic sites in Iraq or if they would be brought to Baghdad to be released.

They also said Iraq had not allowed any Iraqis to enter Kuwait for a week and had been urging those in the country to go home.

The Swedish Embassy seemed nearby 60 Swedes, the last remaining Swedish citizens in Iraq, would be allowed to leave.

However, the Soviet Union complained Iraq reneged on a promise made in July to allow Soviet citizens this month.

Foreign Ministry spokesman Vitaly Churkin said Iraq's actions were totally absurd and unacceptable." The official Soviet news agency Tass said Aziz attributed the Soviets' delayed departures to "military security accidents.”
Fire

continued from page 1

able for comment.
Lisa Orr, resident hall director

Racism

continued from page 1

Rakow, director of Notre Dame security, said: "I know we are not under a matter of policy or procedure stoppage, but we just want to bring what they look like.

"The majority of the time it is because we either had a theft or an incident in a dormitory or someone has been reported to be a suspicious person," Rakow said. However, the trained officers are getting better at the manner in which they approach people.

Rakow further spoke of new federal legislation which goes into effect in Sept. 1991, that requires campuses to report hate-bias crimes. "Incidents of racial harassment will have to be tracked by this new federal legislation," he said.

"We always try to encourage people if they feel like they are being victimized because of their race that they report that to us," Rakow said.

However, students have no formal channels to complain about racial harassment, Collins said. "They should be able to go to the student hand­book" added Sierra, "and look who it is specifically they have to speak to and exactly what kind of procedure they will have to go through." She further stated that there are two values in question here.

"The first one is that we are absolutely opposed to racial discrimination and racial ha­ra ssment," he said.

After a particular form in­cludes racial harassment through speech, O'Meara indi­cated the second value to be, "the value of freedom of ex­pression.

"The whole ambiguity and vagueness of the situation gives the impression that the Administration is not really carrying through on their commitment." Collins said.

According to Sierra, the coalition published the open let­ter in the Observer on Nov. 19 to inform the entire community about the situation.

"We realize this is not just a minority issue," but an issue that affects the well-being of the whole community, said Collins.

If the letter recipients do not respond by Dec. 1, "something will be done," said Collins. "We are in the process of getting the whole community serious about this and we are going to see it through until the end," he said.

Investment Banking

Opportunities at
First Boston

First Boston, a New York headquartered global investment bank, will be recruiting Notre Dame graduates for its financial analyst program. This two-year program offers individuals, from a broad range of academic backgrounds, unique insight into the investment banking industry. Positions are available in the Investment Banking Department.

All students are cordially invited to attend a Presentation on First Boston Tuesday, December 4, 1990
Alumni Room, Morris Inn
7:00 PM

Interview Date
February 5, 1991

For further information and inquiries, please feel free to contact:
James M. Moore
Investment Banking
(312) 750-3071

First Boston
Park Avenue Plaza
New York, N.Y. 10055

Court bans the right to beg

NEW YORK (AP) — City transit officials praised the Supreme Court's refusal Mon­day to review a ban on subway begging, saying it helps restore order underground. But advocates of the homeless decried it as hurting the poor.

"What this decision does is give police the authority to arbitrarily harass homeless and poor people," said Doug Lasden, a lawyer from the Legal Action Center for the Homeless. The group asked the Supreme Court to hear the case. "We're obviously disappointed," said Collins.

Without comment, the high court let stand the year-old ban on subway begging. Opponents had argued that it infringed on the First Amendment right to free speech. Because the court gave no opinion on the legal arguments, no legal precedent was set in letting the ban stand.

"Nobody likes to push around poor people," said Jared Lebow, a spokesman for the Transit Authority which imposed the ban. The TA runs the country's biggest underground rail system, which has 730 miles of track and 468 stations.

"But," Lebow said, "we also recognize that our obligation is to people who use the system to get to and from work.

Close to 90 percent of the system's 3.5 million daily riders had asked the agency to do something about the beggars, he said.

The result was imposition of the begging ban in October 1989. The objective: crack down on vagrancy in subways, where many of the city's esti­mated 80,000 homeless people go to stay warm, sleep and beg for small change.

No fine is imposed. Beggars are merely removed or directed to a service agency for help.

The ban outlawed begging near subway stairways, escalators and elevators or within 25 feet of token booths. It does not affect subway musicians, home­less selling the "Street News" newspaper published by the homeless, or those soliciting for charitable, religious or political causes.

Advocates for the homeless, however, said the ban only shifts the misery elsewhere.

"Flashing them out of the subways is not going to make the problem go away," said Mary Brosnahan, head of the Coalition for the Homeless.

Begging in subway trains has always been prohibited, but it persists. And many people believe widespread begging in the stations will eventually resume and be ignored.

"People are going to do what they have to do in order to survive," Brosnahan said. She called the ban "totally unenforceable."

But transit police say the ban has been effective in removing what were virtual underground encampments of homeless people. No figures were available to substantiate this.

As for the subway riders public, the ban and the court fight are irrelevant, said Gene Rossianoff of the Straphangers Campaign, a subway riders advocacy group.

Parking

continued from page 1

tile bus is one example of this. The Student Government has recently incorporated a D2 pickup into the Notre Dame Saint Mary's shuttle in order to help out those students who must walk all the way from D2 to the South Quad.

There is also a faculty/staff shuttle bus which provides the B16 lot (by Stepan Center) and runs to the Admin­istration Building. The possibil­ity of making a new stop at Turtle Creek apartments is also under discussion by United Limos officials, the Office of Student Activities, and the Of­fice of Business Affairs.
Chinese charge two for pro-democracy 'crimes'

BEIJING (AP) — Two strategists of last year's pro-democracy movement have been charged with plotting to overthrow the government, a crime punishable by death, Chinese sources said Monday.

The accused men are Chen Zeming, 37, who was publisher of the now-banned Economic Studies Weekly, and Wang Junjiao, 32, who was its editor. They were also charged with counter-revolutionary incitement.

The charges, which come more than a year after the two were arrested, are the most serious brought so far against any intellectuals involved in the June 1989 protests, which were crushed by the military.

Their families received official notices late last week of the charges, said sources who spoke on condition of anonymity. No trial dates were set.

In charging the two, the government moved closer to confronting the sensitive issue of what role high-level support and behind-the-scenes maneuvering played in the protests.

Neither Wang nor Chen was publically prominent during the seven weeks of student-led marches for democratic reform that began in Beijing and spread nationwide.

But after the movement was crushed, the official media accused Chen and Wang of being "black hands" who manipulated the students in an effort to topple the government.

Hong Kong news reports said the two men, both participants in earlier democracy movements, met frequently with student leaders and helped plan strategy, including the timing of marches and wording of demands.

Wang had ties to high Communist Party officials dating from the early 1980s, when he was an alternate member of the Communist Youth League's General Committee.

Official Chinese news reports last year accused Bao Tong, secretary to then-Communist Party General Secretary Zhao Ziyang, of involvement in plotting the protests. By formally charging Wang and Chen, the government has committed itself to reveal more details of what happened behind the scenes, potentially implicating Zhao's aide.

Zhao himself was ousted for allegedly supporting the movement, but the party has closed its investigation of him without announcing any conclusion because of the danger of splitting party ranks.

After announcing thousands of arrests immediately after crushing the protests, authorities stopped releasing information. Word of charges being filed and sentences being handed down has come only from relatives and friends of those accused.

The Beijing city Foreign Affairs Office said it had not heard about Wang and Chen being charged. Their trials are likely to be closed.

At least 18 workers and peasants have been executed on charges of murder, theft and destroying state property during riots that followed the army crackdown on the protesters.

Unofficial reports have emerged of other protesters receiving prison sentences of up to 15 years. Hundreds of lesser participants have been sent to camps for three-year terms of "education through labor," a sentence that can be handed down by police without trial.

The government also has acknowledged that 355 prisoners are still awaiting charges in Beijing alone.

Neither family has been allowed to visit Wang or Chen since they were arrested in Canton in October 1989, apparently while trying to flee the country. They are believed held in Beijing's Qingcheng Prison, where other political offenders are jailed.

Both men were active in earlier movements for democratic reform. Wang helped found and edit an unofficial journal called "Beijing Spring" during a brief period of open political debate in 1978-79 known as the Democracy Wall Movement.

"I love what you do for me."

TOYOTA

IF THEY LOOK LIKE COLLEGE FOOTBALL PLAYERS, YOU'RE ONLY SEEING PART OF THE PICTURE.

RYAN MIHALKO OF THE NOTRE DAME FIGHTING IRISH

Toyota honors senior Ryan Mihalko, fullback of the Notre Dame Fighting Irish, as a recipient of the Toyota Leadership Award for demonstrating outstanding leadership in the fields of academics, athletics, and community service.

Ryan Mihalko will receive the Toyota Leadership Plaque, and the University of Notre Dame will receive a $1,000 contribution to its general scholarship fund.

The example Ryan Mihalko has set is an inspiration to us all. And as a leader on and off the field, Toyota recognizes the discipline and unrelenting effort it takes to excel. So next time you watch a college football game, look a little closer. There's a lot more talent on the field than you realize.

The government also has acknowledged that 355 prisoners are still awaiting charges in Beijing alone.

Neither family has been allowed to visit Wang or Chen since they were arrested in Canton in October 1989, apparently while trying to flee the country. They are believed held in Beijing's Qingcheng Prison, where other political offenders are jailed.

Both men were active in earlier movements for democratic reform. Wang helped found and edit an unofficial journal called "Beijing Spring" during a brief period of open political debate in 1978-79 known as the Democracy Wall Movement.

"I love what you do for me."

TOYOTA

IF THEY LOOK LIKE COLLEGE FOOTBALL PLAYERS, YOU'RE ONLY SEEING PART OF THE PICTURE.

RYAN MIHALKO OF THE NOTRE DAME FIGHTING IRISH

Toyota honors senior Ryan Mihalko, fullback of the Notre Dame Fighting Irish, as a recipient of the Toyota Leadership Award for demonstrating outstanding leadership in the fields of academics, athletics, and community service.

Ryan Mihalko will receive the Toyota Leadership Plaque, and the University of Notre Dame will receive a $1,000 contribution to its general scholarship fund.

The example Ryan Mihalko has set is an inspiration to us all. And as a leader on and off the field, Toyota recognizes the discipline and unrelenting effort it takes to excel. So next time you watch a college football game, look a little closer. There's a lot more talent on the field than you realize.

The government also has acknowledged that 355 prisoners are still awaiting charges in Beijing alone.

Neither family has been allowed to visit Wang or Chen since they were arrested in Canton in October 1989, apparently while trying to flee the country. They are believed held in Beijing's Qingcheng Prison, where other political offenders are jailed.

Both men were active in earlier movements for democratic reform. Wang helped found and edit an unofficial journal called "Beijing Spring" during a brief period of open political debate in 1978-79 known as the Democracy Wall Movement.

"I love what you do for me."

TOYOTA
Japanese company purchases the MCA Corp. for $6.6 billion

TOKYO (AP) — In the largest Japanese purchase of a U.S. company, Matsushita Electric Industrial Co. announced today that it is buying the MCA Corp., owner of Universal Studios, in a deal worth $6.6 billion.

Matsushita, a $37.8 billion giant known for such brand names as Panasonic, Quasar and Technics, is Japan's biggest manufacturer of consumer electronics equipment.

By buying the maker of such box office hits as "Jaws" and "Back to the Future," Matsushita seemed to be trying to keep pace with archival Sony Corp., which bought Columbia Pictures for $5 billion a year ago, analysts said.

Universal is the fourth Hollywood studio to come under foreign control. The deal seems likely to heighten fears in the United States that too many major U.S. companies are falling under Japanese control.

As the purchase would affect U.S.-Japan relations, Matsushita's president, Akio Tanii, said jokingly that he would make a movie called "Japan-Shachinagi." Under the agreement, Matsushita is to start a cash tender offer of $6.6 a share for MCA's about 92.6 million shares of common stock by Nov. 30.

MCA shareholders will also get a stock in a television station that cannot be sold to Matsushita because federal rules prohibit foreign-based companies from owning U.S. broadcast stations.

The deal calls for MCA shareholders to get one share in a new company that will own MCA's New York-area television station, WWOR, for every five shares of MCA stock they hold in hand Nov. 30. Matsushita will continue to operate under its own name and will be run by its existing management.
Advocate for elderly Indians urges a return to old values

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — The old values, from a time when neighbors cared about one another and youngsters respected their elders, must be resurrected or the future will hold little hope for elderly Indians, an advocate says.

Curtis Cook, executive director of the Albuquerque-based National Indian Council on Aging Inc., said the growing ranks of Indian elderly make that philosophy even more crucial.

"We're in the midst of an increase in elders and decreasing resources," Cook said in a recent luncheon speech to the National Congress of American Indians convention. "Something has to change.

The 1990 census is expected to show an 83 percent increase in the population of Indian elders since the last count taken a decade ago, he said.

"There's no way that the '90s can have any kind of new federalism or any kind of hope for the future of American Indian elders," unless the teachings and ways of the past are learned and practiced, Cook said.

Cook said, a non-Indian who has worked with American Indians for more than 25 years, urged changes in laws and policies and pressed for a commitment among governments and youth to serve older people.

Cook criticized the Indian Health Service and the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development for what he called policies that hurt elderly Indians.

He said HUD will not build homes for Indians over 62, and in some cases will allow only the nuclear family — not grandparents — to live in houses built with federal money.

That effectively abolished housing for Indian elderly at a time when statistics show that 23.6 percent live at substandard levels, he said.

Cook said the IHS has no specialized geriatric care or research.

NEW YORK (AP) — John Klein weeds a row of beets and white radishes with a turn-of-the-century, wood-and-iron push hoe.

Nearby, tall zucchini plants sprout limp yellow blossoms. His mother, Barbara, sells corn, cucumbers, tomatoes and fruit to passers-by from a stand on the street.

This is New York City's last family farm, two green acres in the Fresh Meadows section of Queens, surrounded by small brick apartment houses, an elementary school, paved ball court, and a broad street noisy with buses and traffic from nearby expressways.

"A couple of weeks ago, these guys from Florida got off the Clearview Expressway and came down the street asking directions, and they couldn't believe there was a farm in the middle of Queens. They thought they were in the Twilight Zone," said Klein, 25, a fourth-generation farmer.

The two acres — slightly bigger than a square city block, with a chain-link fence on three sides and a lawn and tall oaks in front — are all that's left of a 100-acre spread that was sold off piece by piece over the years.

The Kleins grow beets, carrots, scallions, radishes, basil, dill, parsley, cucumbers, squash, and kohlrabies — "stuff that doesn't need that much room to grow," Klein explained.

The rows are so short, he has to weed them by hand. "It's too small to use a tractor," he said. "By the time you got there, you'd have to turn it around."

But the family also grows corn, melons and produce that needs more space on 100 acres in Riverhead, on Long Island's eastern tip. It's trucked in each day to the farmstand.

Open July to November, seven days a week from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., the farm stand on 195th Street and 73rd Avenue does a brisk business.

"If you go out to Riverhead, on every corner there's a farmstand. But we're the last ones here."

Certainly Queens is better known as home to the Mets, Archie Bunker and 2 million of the city's 7.5 million residents than as an agricultural community.

But Queens, like the four other boroughs, has a rich farming past dating to the 1600s. Only in the 1800s did industry and housing begin to replace open space around the city. Narrow, winding streets in Lower Manhattan recall cowpats. Beecker Street in Greenwich Village harks back to the Beecker Farm of colonial times.

City's last family farm hangs on

RECEIVE 10% OFF Food EVERYDAY!!

With Student ID at SNEAKERS

Sports Restaurant Lounge

* Come Watch the Irish on one of 5 TV's
* Shoot hoops or play darts on one of 3 dartboards
* Enjoy nightly specials with pizzas, sandwiches, & appetizers
* Dance while DJ plays every Friday & Saturday Night

Located in University Lanes - 1602 N. Ironwood - 233-BOWL (2695)

Are you a student? Simply show your ID and receive 10% off all Food in our Sports Restaurant Lounge. This includes sandwiches, salads, pizzas, appetizers, and more!

Offer valid at all SNEAKERS locations.
Patriarchal society makes God's male image understandable

Dear Editor:

I found myself agreeing with Dana Dillon's letter (The Observer, Oct. 31), but she overlooks a key point in the debate over inclusive language in reference to God — our language is always going to fall short of the grandeur of God. If you do not call God "Father" because I think of him as a man, I call him "Father" because it is then that I can relate to "Him" — not to "Parent" or "Godself" or any other bizarre epithet.

Ms. Dillon urges us to "refuse to confine our God according to the limitations of our own language and understanding." Unless we try to bring God into our minds and narrow vision of who we are, we will always fall short of the awesome might of the Lord and the early Christians of submission to God's will. In a patriarchal society, those are not roles generally associated with women. That does not make it simply the natural course of development, if it had been a matriarchal society, then we would most likely be using feminine references to God.

The point remains, however, that the masculine images did not come from God, but from us (men and women). God does not call himself masculine, but only "I am who am." We are now witnessing a reaction against our patriarchal society, but it is still with us (and thus I think the male images are justified if used properly).

I think it a shame that our patriarchal society is being replaced by a neuter one, for we seem to be making runuchs of our society and ourselves. Someday our children will look up not to "Mom and Dad," but to "Parents and Parent." I dread the day, for it seems a sacrifice of the uniqueness of our humanity to the cold black and white of general assoiciation with femininity or masculinity.

I hope we do not "dehumanize" our God as much. I will call him Father; I will call her Mother, Brother, Sister, Lord, Teacher, but not "It." Although our language will always fall short (if everything that is God, it is by far more horrible to say nothing than to try in our meager way to say something.

Jesus Christ, himself, instructed me to address God as Abba, Father, and there is no compromise in that address. Any limitation is in our own minds. Ms. Dillon's point is well taken. But I have found God within my heart, and I recognize the words for the vehicles that they are. They remain very integral vehicles. If you are uncomfortable addressing God as Father because you find the "limiting" address incompatible with His unlimitedness, I urge you to look beyond the words. If you still cannot accept it, then do as you will. But realize that I find your "inclusive language" address much more limiting than my "limited" one. My soul has found its voice, and it worries not over semantics. Find your own voice, but do not seek to force yours on me. As for the liturgy, that will be decided by the congregation according to its own "voice," and we still have tradition and the instruction of Jesus.

Michael C. Newhouse
St. Edward's Hall
Nov. 13, 1990

Discourses expose violent, deplorable behavior directed against homosexuals

Dear Editor:

As a gay alumus (B.A., M. Div. '80), I was pleased to see the declaration condemning violence against lesbians and gay men signed by 32 Holy Cross religious (The Observer, Nov. 8). This is a real issue and the problems at Notre Dame are only a microcosm of the larger justice issues facing lesbians and gay men. I know from personal experience three times in the last year, while walking down the sidewalks of the gay village I call home, I have had eggs or beer bottles thrown at me as I was called "faggot" and other epithets. I hope that the University community continues the discourse begun by this declaration and explores the fear, intolerance and hate which motivates and condones this deplorable behavior.

Lee E. Klosinski, Ph. D.
Assistant Program Manager
Southern California AIDS Hotline
Nov. 15, 1990

DOONESBURY

GARRY TRUDEAU

QUOTE OF THE DAY

"When things look their worst, you always have the seed of great improvement."

Michael Milken
By PAIGE SIMORON
Assistant Accent Editor

Tuesday, November 27, 1990

Quick-witted comedian Robert Battle makes even the ordinary seem hilarious

By JOE GODIN

Accent Writer

The jury is out on stand-up comedian Robert Battle and he has been found guilty. His charges: incuring laughter beyond the call of duty.

On Wednesday, November 28, at 9:00 p.m., his wave of comedy will continue at Theodore's. He will perform there with graduate, has actually been spending for the past two years, Chris Dellicarpini, more of his time finding guilt than anything else.

He carried on a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde existence for many years as a stolid, straight-faced, prosecutor by day and a boisterous, giggling, comedian by night. Finally in May, he quit his job as a prosecutor and assumed comedy as a full-time occupation.

Comedy came to Battle naturally. In high school, he was voted wittiest student. At ND, he was the head writer of the Keenan Revue. When he went to law school at William and Mary, he performed at a student comedy show, "Libel Night."

He has worked clubs in Washington D.C., Maryland, Virginia, and Pennsylvania, to name a few. He also performs at colleges, corporate meetings, and comedy competitions.

As far as material goes, he draws many of his jokes from his former profession. Aside from that, he includes political jokes and any interesting or quirky stories he might have picked up. He is noted for his quick wit and ability to make everyday happenings seem humorous.

Tickets are three dollars and there will be food and beverages available. SUB is sponsoring this event.

Don't forget - your answering machine is a prime opportunity to express your musical taste. There is always the chance that a caller will identify with your affinity for, say, Barry Manilow, and respond more warmly to your message - perhaps chiming in with a chorus or two of "I Write the Songs." In fact, the PW residents who possess the Manilow message have even received calls from "the ghost of Andy Gibb."

Conversely, expressing your musical distaste can make for an original message. Four roommates in Keenan claim to be unable to make it to the phone because they're "sleeping out for New Kids tickets." Apparently they're not worried about alienating any adolescent female phone callers.

Another alternative is to appeal to the caller's sense of nostalgia. An inhabitant of Lyons has a message that begins with a disco medley and then says, "The 70's will be back... and so will — Disco will find you wherever you are. Leave your name, phone number, and address. Original, yes, but the machine owner admits that "people usually hang up when they hear the first strains of 'Funkytown.'"

Are none of these messages convincing you? Do you still find yourself unable to speak into a machine, becoming embarrassingly dysfunctional in society, bursting into anguished tears at the sound of any loud beep? With the increasing number of digital watches in the world, now is the time to take the first step in the long winding process if nothing else works, try RED, the ultimate answering machine. This unthreatening, anonymous method just might be the answer for you - and you might solve the problem of the alcohol policy at the same time.

"There is always a chance that a caller with your affinity for, say, Barry Manilow, and respond more warmly to your message — perhaps chiming in with a chorus or two of 'I Write the Songs.'"

Quick-witted comedian Robert Battle makes even the ordinary seem hilarious

Record Playback Rewind F. Forward Erase Tape Counter

"Leave your name at the beep..."

By JOE GODIN

Accent Writer

The jury is out on stand-up comedian Robert Battle and he has been found guilty. His charges: incuring laughter beyond the call of duty.

On Wednesday, November 28, at 9:00 p.m., his wave of comedy will continue at Theodore's. He will perform there with graduate, has actually been spending for the past two years, Chris Dellicarpini, more of his time finding guilt than anything else.

He carried on a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde existence for many years as a stolid, straight-faced, prosecutor by day and a boisterous, giggling, comedian by night. Finally in May, he quit his job as a prosecutor and assumed comedy as a full-time occupation.

Comedy came to Battle naturally. In high school, he was voted wittiest student. At ND, he was the head writer of the Keenan Revue. When he went to law school at William and Mary, he performed at a student comedy show, "Libel Night."

He has worked clubs in Washington D.C., Maryland, Virginia, and Pennsylvania, to name a few. He also performs at colleges, corporate meetings, and comedy competitions.

As far as material goes, he draws many of his jokes from his former profession. Aside from that, he includes political jokes and any interesting or quirky stories he might have picked up. He is noted for his quick wit and ability to make everyday happenings seem humorous.

Tickets are three dollars and there will be food and beverages available. SUB is sponsoring this event.

Don't forget - your answering machine is a prime opportunity to express your musical taste. There is always the chance that a caller will identify with your affinity for, say, Barry Manilow, and respond more warmly to your message - perhaps chiming in with a chorus or two of "I Write the Songs." In fact, the PW residents who possess the Manilow message have even received calls from "the ghost of Andy Gibb."

Conversely, expressing your musical distaste can make for an original message. Four roommates in Keenan claim to be unable to make it to the phone because they're "sleeping out for New Kids tickets." Apparently they're not worried about alienating any adolescent female phone callers.

Another alternative is to appeal to the caller's sense of nostalgia. An inhabitant of Lyons has a message that begins with a disco medley and then says, "The 70's will be back... and so will — Disco will find you wherever you are. Leave your name, phone number, and address. Original, yes, but the machine owner admits that "people usually hang up when they hear the first strains of 'Funkytown.'"

Are none of these messages convincing you? Do you still find yourself unable to speak into a machine, becoming embarrassingly dysfunctional in society, bursting into anguished tears at the sound of any loud beep? With the increasing number of digital watches in the world, now is the time to take the first step in the long winding process if nothing else works, try RED, the ultimate answering machine. This unthreatening, anonymous method just might be the answer for you - and you might solve the problem of the alcohol policy at the same time.

"There is always a chance that a caller with your affinity for, say, Barry Manilow, and respond more warmly to your message — perhaps chiming in with a chorus or two of 'I Write the Songs.'"

Quick-witted comedian Robert Battle makes even the ordinary seem hilarious

Record Playback Rewind F. Forward Erase Tape Counter

"Leave your name at the beep..."
The Irish defense, after allowing 20 more points to a record four-school record seven straight games, held USC to six points and no TDs.

NOTES

Wednesday, November 27, 1990

In search of...
Invest in youreeff.

TYPING AVAILABLE 281-542-6500

TYPING term papers/letters/reports/editing. Pick up or delivery service. 277-5134 Cathy

Typing

Avail. 8:30-5:00

TOLL-FREE

$5 FOR BOOKS

Used Texts and text aids

Order from 10 am to 4 pm

LOST

Call Rob at #3306.

Call Kate or Amy at 4550.

Katy X2719

Lost: One red winter coat on Saturday, Nov 17!!!

If you have it or know of its whereabouts, please call Victor at #3494.

Lost: I.D. was of course in the wallet - go ahead and keep it! Thank you very much.

Write IJC, PO Box 52-

EASY WORK! EXCELLENT PAY!

STUDENT, IF INTERESTED

Reading Books at home. Call 1-615-473-7440 Ext. B 340

Do you need a roommate for Christmas break.

CALL (800) 226-8499

ORANGE BOWL TICKETS

Co.

Round Trip $270

Newark, NJ-Miami, FL

904-691-0661

at Sanator Senior Bar

I need your help.

Professional couple wishes to give his name known and cause you to be in my present & urgent petition. In invoke your special patronage in

This is not a RED CROSS

if you can help.

I don'tt know if I can hold

out any more.

P.S. I've got a bale to bale L.T.

"Alice Fenwilly" we're

get a house. Send resene

your resene

TYPING term

TYPING term papers/letters/reports/editing. Pick up or delivery service. 277-5134 Cathy

Typing

Avail. 8:30-5:00

TOLL-FREE

$5 FOR BOOKS

Used Texts and text aids

Order from 10 am to 4 pm

LOST

Call Rob at #3306.

Call Kate or Amy at 4550.

Katy X2719

Lost: One red winter coat on Saturday, Nov 17!!!

If you have it or know of its whereabouts, please call Victor at #3494.

Lost: I.D. was of course in the wallet - go ahead and keep it! Thank you very much.

Write IJC, PO Box 52-

EASY WORK! EXCELLENT PAY!

STUDENT, IF INTERESTED

Reading Books at home. Call 1-615-473-7440 Ext. B 340

Do you need a roommate for Christmas break.

CALL (800) 226-8499

ORANGE BOWL TICKETS

Co.

Round Trip $270

Newark, NJ-Miami, FL

904-691-0661

at Sanator Senior Bar

I need your help.

Professional couple wishes to give his name known and cause you to be in my present & urgent petition. In invoke your special patronage in

This is not a RED CROSS

if you can help.

I don'tt know if I can hold

out any more.

P.S. I've got a bale to bale L.T.

"Alice Fenwilly" we're

get a house. Send resene

your resene

TYPING term

TYPING term papers/letters/reports/editing. Pick up or delivery service. 277-5134 Cathy

Typing

Avail. 8:30-5:00

TOLL-FREE

$5 FOR BOOKS

Used Texts and text aids

Order from 10 am to 4 pm

LOST

Call Rob at #3306.

Call Kate or Amy at 4550.

Katy X2719

Lost: One red winter coat on Saturday, Nov 17!!!

If you have it or know of its whereabouts, please call Victor at #3494.

Lost: I.D. was of course in the wallet - go ahead and keep it! Thank you very much.

Write IJC, PO Box 52-
NBA STANDINGS

Eastern Division
- Philadelphia 2.000
- New York 1.996
- Boston 1.990
- New Jersey 1.956
- Miami 1.945
- Indiana 1.940

Midwest Division
- Milwaukee 2.000
- Chicago 1.995
- Detroit 1.980
- Indiana 1.975
- Cleveland 1.970

Pacific Division
- Portland 2.000
- Seattle 1.995
- Golden State 1.990
- New Orleans 1.985
- Phoenix 1.980

NBA LEADERS

Scoring
- King, Oak (53) 16, 463
- Johnson, Oak (49) 15, 296
- McMillian, LAC (45) 14, 123
- Barkley, Phi (44) 13, 216
- Pippen, Chi (43) 12, 389

Assists
- Johnson, Phi (11) 112
- Jordan, Chi (10) 106
- Stockton, Oak (9) 92
- Pippen, Chi (8) 87

Field Goal Percentage
- Banks, Phi (12) 90.9
- McMillian, LAC (10) 90.5
- Mullin, NY (9) 90.3

Rebounds
- Barkley, Phi (11) 139
- McMillian, LAC (10) 136
- Pippen, Chi (9) 134

BASKETBALL

- New York Yankees— Agreed to terms with Ken Dayley, pitcher, on a three-year contract.
- New York— Agreed to terms with Shelby, outfielder, on a one-year contract.
- Chicago— Agreed to terms with Trevino, catcher, for assignment.

FOOTBALL

- Fine, Miami— Fined Miami Heat coach Ron Rothstein $2,000 for comments made of the officiating.
- Green Bay— Agreed to terms with NFL, Giants

Other

- MLB— Mets (19) 10-2-0 707 16
- MLB— Rangers (18) 9-3-0 705 15
- NHL— Islanders (17) 10-1-0 700 10

SCOREBOARD

NFL STANDINGS

American Football Conference
- Denver 10-2-0 707 16
- Miami 9-3-0 705 15
- Buffalo 8-3-0 444 20

National Football League
- New York 10-2-0 707 16
- Philadelphia 9-3-0 705 15
- Miami 8-3-0 444 20

NHL STANDINGS

- Chicago 10-2-0 707 16
- Philadelphia 9-3-0 705 15
- New York 8-3-0 444 20

AP BASKETBALL TOP 25

- Kansas (1) 12-0-0 1,600 1
- UNLV (45) 12-0-0 1,600 1
- Arizona 12-0-0 1,600 1

AP FOOTBALL TOP 25

- Penn State (10) 10-2-0 707 16
- Miami (101) 10-2-0 707 16
- Michigan (9) 10-2-0 707 16

HOTEL EXPRESS

- Free hotel, golf green fees, and lots more!
- Free in-room movies and videocassette rentals
- Special holiday rates

AMERICA'S MOST DISCOUNTED TRAVEL SERVICE

- 50% savings on hotels in the U.S., Mexico, & Canada
- 50% savings on car rentals
- 50% savings on domestic flights
- 50% savings on international flights
- Free in-room movies and videocassette rentals
- Special holiday rates

HOTEL EXPRESS

- Free hotel, golf green fees, and lots more!
- Free in-room movies and videocassette rentals
- Special holiday rates

HOTEL EXPRESS

- Free hotel, golf green fees, and lots more!
- Free in-room movies and videocassette rentals
- Special holiday rates

AMERICA'S MOST DISCOUNTED TRAVEL SERVICE

- 50% savings on hotels in the U.S., Mexico, & Canada
- 50% savings on car rentals
- 50% savings on domestic flights
- 50% savings on international flights
- Free in-room movies and videocassette rentals
- Special holiday rates

HOTEL EXPRESS

- Free hotel, golf green fees, and lots more!
- Free in-room movies and videocassette rentals
- Special holiday rates

AMERICA'S MOST DISCOUNTED TRAVEL SERVICE

- 50% savings on hotels in the U.S., Mexico, & Canada
- 50% savings on car rentals
- 50% savings on domestic flights
- 50% savings on international flights
- Free in-room movies and videocassette rentals
- Special holiday rates

HOTEL EXPRESS

- Free hotel, golf green fees, and lots more!
- Free in-room movies and videocassette rentals
- Special holiday rates

AMERICA'S MOST DISCOUNTED TRAVEL SERVICE

- 50% savings on hotels in the U.S., Mexico, & Canada
- 50% savings on car rentals
- 50% savings on domestic flights
- 50% savings on international flights
- Free in-room movies and videocassette rentals
- Special holiday rates

HOTEL EXPRESS

- Free hotel, golf green fees, and lots more!
- Free in-room movies and videocassette rentals
- Special holiday rates

AMERICA'S MOST DISCOUNTED TRAVEL SERVICE

- 50% savings on hotels in the U.S., Mexico, & Canada
- 50% savings on car rentals
- 50% savings on domestic flights
- 50% savings on international flights
- Free in-room movies and videocassette rentals
- Special holiday rates

HOTEL EXPRESS

- Free hotel, golf green fees, and lots more!
- Free in-room movies and videocassette rentals
- Special holiday rates

AMERICA'S MOST DISCOUNTED TRAVEL SERVICE

- 50% savings on hotels in the U.S., Mexico, & Canada
- 50% savings on car rentals
- 50% savings on domestic flights
- 50% savings on international flights
- Free in-room movies and videocassette rentals
- Special holiday rates

HOTEL EXPRESS

- Free hotel, golf green fees, and lots more!
- Free in-room movies and videocassette rentals
- Special holiday rates

AMERICA'S MOST DISCOUNTED TRAVEL SERVICE

- 50% savings on hotels in the U.S., Mexico, & Canada
- 50% savings on car rentals
- 50% savings on domestic flights
- 50% savings on international flights
- Free in-room movies and videocassette rentals
- Special holiday rates

HOTEL EXPRESS

- Free hotel, golf green fees, and lots more!
- Free in-room movies and videocassette rentals
- Special holiday rates

AMERICA'S MOST DISCOUNTED TRAVEL SERVICE

- 50% savings on hotels in the U.S., Mexico, & Canada
- 50% savings on car rentals
- 50% savings on domestic flights
- 50% savings on international flights
- Free in-room movies and videocassette rentals
- Special holiday rates

HOTEL EXPRESS

- Free hotel, golf green fees, and lots more!
- Free in-room movies and videocassette rentals
- Special holiday rates

AMERICA'S MOST DISCOUNTED TRAVEL SERVICE

- 50% savings on hotels in the U.S., Mexico, & Canada
- 50% savings on car rentals
- 50% savings on domestic flights
- 50% savings on international flights
- Free in-room movies and videocassette rentals
- Special holiday rates

HOTEL EXPRESS

- Free hotel, golf green fees, and lots more!
- Free in-room movies and videocassette rentals
- Special holiday rates

AMERICA'S MOST DISCOUNTED TRAVEL SERVICE

- 50% savings on hotels in the U.S., Mexico, & Canada
- 50% savings on car rentals
- 50% savings on domestic flights
- 50% savings on international flights
- Free in-room movies and videocassette rentals
- Special holiday rates

HOTEL EXPRESS

- Free hotel, golf green fees, and lots more!
- Free in-room movies and videocassette rentals
- Special holiday rates

AMERICA'S MOST DISCOUNTED TRAVEL SERVICE

- 50% savings on hotels in the U.S., Mexico, & Canada
- 50% savings on car rentals
- 50% savings on domestic flights
- 50% savings on international flights
- Free in-room movies and videocassette rentals
- Special holiday rates

HOTEL EXPRESS

- Free hotel, golf green fees, and lots more!
- Free in-room movies and videocassette rentals
- Special holiday rates

AMERICA'S MOST DISCOUNTED TRAVEL SERVICE

- 50% savings on hotels in the U.S., Mexico, & Canada
- 50% savings on car rentals
- 50% savings on domestic flights
- 50% savings on international flights
- Free in-room movies and videocassette rentals
- Special holiday rates

HOTEL EXPRESS

- Free hotel, golf green fees, and lots more!
- Free in-room movies and videocassette rentals
- Special holiday rates

AMERICA'S MOST DISCOUNTED TRAVEL SERVICE

- 50% savings on hotels in the U.S., Mexico, & Canada
- 50% savings on car rentals
- 50% savings on domestic flights
- 50% savings on international flights
- Free in-room movies and videocassette rentals
- Special holiday rates

HOTEL EXPRESS

- Free hotel, golf green fees, and lots more!
- Free in-room movies and videocassette rentals
- Special holiday rates
Notre Dame moves up one spot in college poll

The National Collegiate Sportswriters' Poll, with last week's listings in parentheses, was announced in Palm Beach, Florida, and totaled 423 points.

1. (1) Colorado (14) 10-1-1 477
2. (2) Georgia Tech (19) 8-4 346
3. (3) Texas (2) 9-2 345
4. (5) Miami (5) 9-2 343
5. (6) Brigham Young 10-1 330
6. (7) Notre Dame 9-2 310
7. (8) Florida 9-1 305
8. (9) Boston College 9-2 300
10. (11) San Diego State 9-2 287
11. (12) Tennessee 8-2 230
12. (13) Nebraska 8-1 165
13. (14) Miami (FL) 9-3 137
14. (15) Clemson 8-2 134
15. (16) Minnesota 9-2 129
16. (17) Nebraska 3-2 80
17. (18) Florida State 8-3 78
18. (19) Texas 8-3 77
19. (20) Louisville 3-1-1 74
20. (21) Arizona 3-1 73

Karen Robinson led the Irish, the freshman with eight points over USC. Miami, 33-7, winners over Syracuse, fell to fourth, BYU, 45-10 winners over Utah State, was fifth, followed by the Irish—10-6 victors over USC—Florida, Florida State, Washington, and Penn State.

Nebraska tumbled from 10th to 16th after losing to Oklahoma 45-10 Friday, while Rose Bowl-bound Iowa fell three spots to 17th with its 31-24 loss to Minnesota.

By RENÉ FERRAN
Sports Writer

Women

continued from page 29 line too much at the end of the half,” said McGraw, “but after halftime, we backed off a little bit, and did better about not finding.”

Evaniville got within six early in the second half, but Notre Dame quickly responded to build the lead back to 54-39, and the Aces were never within ten the rest of the way.

Karen Robinson led the Irish, tying her career high with 26 points, as well as dishing off 10 assists and capturing six steals. Kristi Davis added 15 and Margaret Nowlin chipped in 12.

Karen Robinson led the Irish, the freshman with eight points over USC. Miami, 33-7, winners over Syracuse, fell to fourth, BYU, 45-10 winners over Utah State, was fifth, followed by the Irish—10-6 victors over USC—Florida, Florida State, Washington, and Penn State.

Nebraska tumbled from 10th to 16th after losing to Oklahoma 45-10 Friday, while Rose Bowl-bound Iowa fell three spots to 17th with its 31-24 loss to Minnesota.

By RENÉ FERRAN
Sports Writer

Colorado remains in the top spot of this week’s National Collegiate Sportswriters’ Poll, while Notre Dame moved up one spot to sixth.

The Buffaloes, idle this week, received 14 of 21 possible first-place votes and 401 total points. Georgia Tech stayed in second position. The Yellow Jackets garnered four first-place votes and 396 points.

Texas jumped one spot to third after clipping the Southwest Conference title with a 23-13 win over Baylor. Miami, 33-7 winners over Syracuse, fell to fourth. BYU, 45-10 winners over Utah State, was fifth, followed by the Irish—10-6 victors over USC—Florida, Florida State, Washington, and Penn State.

Nebraska tumbled from 10th to 16th after losing to Oklahoma 45-10 Friday, while Rose Bowl-bound Iowa fell three spots to 17th with its 31-24 loss to Minnesota.

By RENÉ FERRAN
Sports Writer

Colorado remains in the top spot of this week’s National Collegiate Sportswriters’ Poll, while Notre Dame moved up one spot to sixth.

The Buffaloes, idle this week, received 14 of 21 possible first-place votes and 401 total points. Georgia Tech stayed in second position. The Yellow Jackets garnered four first-place votes and 396 points.

Texas jumped one spot to third after clipping the Southwest Conference title with a 23-13 win over Baylor. Miami, 33-7 winners over Syracuse, fell to fourth. BYU, 45-10 winners over Utah State, was fifth, followed by the Irish—10-6 victors over USC—Florida, Florida State, Washington, and Penn State.

Nebraska tumbled from 10th to 16th after losing to Oklahoma 45-10 Friday, while Rose Bowl-bound Iowa fell three spots to 17th with its 31-24 loss to Minnesota.

By RENÉ FERRAN
Sports Writer

Colorado remains in the top spot of this week’s National Collegiate Sportswriters’ Poll, while Notre Dame moved up one spot to sixth.

The Buffaloes, idle this week, received 14 of 21 possible first-place votes and 401 total points. Georgia Tech stayed in second position. The Yellow Jackets garnered four first-place votes and 396 points.

Texas jumped one spot to third after clipping the Southwest Conference title with a 23-13 win over Baylor. Miami, 33-7 winners over Syracuse, fell to fourth. BYU, 45-10 winners over Utah State, was fifth, followed by the Irish—10-6 victors over USC—Florida, Florida State, Washington, and Penn State.

Nebraska tumbled from 10th to 16th after losing to Oklahoma 45-10 Friday, while Rose Bowl-bound Iowa fell three spots to 17th with its 31-24 loss to Minnesota.

By RENÉ FERRAN
Sports Writer

Colorado remains in the top spot of this week’s National Collegiate Sportswriters’ Poll, while Notre Dame moved up one spot to sixth.

The Buffaloes, idle this week, received 14 of 21 possible first-place votes and 401 total points. Georgia Tech stayed in second position. The Yellow Jackets garnered four first-place votes and 396 points.

Texas jumped one spot to third after clipping the Southwest Conference title with a 23-13 win over Baylor. Miami, 33-7 winners over Syracuse, fell to fourth. BYU, 45-10 winners over Utah State, was fifth, followed by the Irish—10-6 victors over USC—Florida, Florida State, Washington, and Penn State.

Nebraska tumbled from 10th to 16th after losing to Oklahoma 45-10 Friday, while Rose Bowl-bound Iowa fell three spots to 17th with its 31-24 loss to Minnesota.

By RENÉ FERRAN
Sports Writer

Colorado remains in the top spot of this week’s National Collegiate Sportswriters’ Poll, while Notre Dame moved up one spot to sixth.

The Buffaloes, idle this week, received 14 of 21 possible first-place votes and 401 total points. Georgia Tech stayed in second position. The Yellow Jackets garnered four first-place votes and 396 points.

Texas jumped one spot to third after clipping the Southwest Conference title with a 23-13 win over Baylor. Miami, 33-7 winners over Syracuse, fell to fourth. BYU, 45-10 winners over Utah State, was fifth, followed by the Irish—10-6 victors over USC—Florida, Florida State, Washington, and Penn State.

Nebraska tumbled from 10th to 16th after losing to Oklahoma 45-10 Friday, while Rose Bowl-bound Iowa fell three spots to 17th with its 31-24 loss to Minnesota.

By RENÉ FERRAN
Sports Writer

Colorado remains in the top spot of this week’s National Collegiate Sportswriters’ Poll, while Notre Dame moved up one spot to sixth.

The Buffaloes, idle this week, received 14 of 21 possible first-place votes and 401 total points. Georgia Tech stayed in second position. The Yellow Jackets garnered four first-place votes and 396 points.

Texas jumped one spot to third after clipping the Southwest Conference title with a 23-13 win over Baylor. Miami, 33-7 winners over Syracuse, fell to fourth. BYU, 45-10 winners over Utah State, was fifth, followed by the Irish—10-6 victors over USC—Florida, Florida State, Washington, and Penn State.

Nebraska tumbled from 10th to 16th after losing to Oklahoma 45-10 Friday, while Rose Bowl-bound Iowa fell three spots to 17th with its 31-24 loss to Minnesota.
By CHRIS BACON
Saint Mary's Sports Editor

After a season of disappoint­ ing, close losses, the Saint Mary's basketball team has adopted a new attitude to bring it into its first season in NCAA Division III.

The key for this team is teamwork.

This new approach has worked successfully for the Belles in their first two games. The team defeated Beloit College in its home season opener 62-59 and trounced Kalamazoo College 97-57 in their season opener Tuesday night. But the real challenge for the Belles will come tonight as they travel to face defending Division III Champion Hope College.

"I like the attitude of the girls—the togetherness approach. It's a one for all and all for one attitude," said Belles head coach Mary Wood. "It means that we don't have to depend on just one or two people to do the job for us. There are a lot who contribute."

But to beat this Hope team, the Belles will have to rely on more than just a positive attitude. It will take a solid performance from both offense and defense. The Belles feel confident with their new fast-break offense and what coach Wood terms his 'harassing' defense.

"We use a man-to-man harassing defense. We let them get the ball inside and then attack them," he said.

This defense has worked well so far for the Belles. Not only have they held their opponents to under 60 points each, but they forced 30 Kalamazoo turnovers. Last year Hope had difficulties handling the Belles pressure defense. Coach Wood anticipates more trouble for Hope.

"Last year (Hope's) trouble was with the press," he said. "Hopefully we have a press that can give them trouble."

"We used this defense last year, but not as effectively," said senior forward Linda Garrett. "We stay in their face all the time. We still steal a lot, but now we're letting them make the mistakes instead of us just causing the turnovers."

The Belles lost to Hope in last year's outing in a close struggle, 87-86. The team, however, remains positive about this year's match-up.

"It will take a super effort by us," Wood said. "We're just re­ ally looking forward to playing the national champions. It will be a good measuring stick for us—what we have to do to move to this level."

Said Garrett: "We are really geared up for the game. Last year we lost by one point and they went on to be national champions. This year I think we have a good chance because there's a new level of intensity and desire to win."

By TOM WEITZ

The Observer page 15

SPORTS BRIEFS

Orange Bowl tickets will be on sale today through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Each student can buy one by presenting a student I.D. Students must also present the I.D. in Florida.
Irish battle back against Duke, make it close, 85-77

By GREG SIFFHEY
Sports Writer

NEW YORK—After losing by 30 points to third-ranked Arizona just two days earlier, Notre Dame could have given up when trailing 60-41 against Duke in Friday's consolation game of the Dodge NIT.

The Irish rallied instead, cut the lead to six points and showed some character before falling 85-77 to the sixth-ranked Blue Devils.

"Tonight, we came in with a just-play-the-game attitude," Notre Dame coach Digger Phelps said. "We weren't concerned with third place. To play against four great teams early in the season is a great experience for us. I can see us closing the gaps on things we've to do and give us the understanding of what it takes to be a good basketball team.

"We had to come up with some kind of team identity," Irish forward Daimon Sweet said. "We decided we were going to do that with transition and on defense. I think we established that tonight. We didn't want to lose by 20 tonight."

Notre Dame trailed 60-41 with 13:42 left in the game and was on the verge of repeating Wednesday's 91-61 loss to Arizona.

But the Irish scored 11 of the final 13 points to cut the margin to 64-52 with 10:54 left. They finally cut the lead to single digits at 66-60 on a Kevin Ely game dunk at the 8:02 mark.

Notre Dame fouled the right person down the stretch in freshman Grant Hill, but the Irish ran out of time. Hill missed seven of 10 free throws in the last 2:31 to give Notre Dame a chance.

The Irish trailed 79-73 and had the ball with 1:16 remaining, but could not score. Duke guard Bobby Hurley then connected on two free throws, and the Blue Devil lead never dipped below eight points again.

"We know we can be a good team," Irish center Keith Towler said. "Not too many teams come back from 19 against Duke. We feel like we're ready for the regular season to start now."

"This was a good win for us, coming off such an emotional loss to Arizona," Duke coach Mike Krzyzewski said. "I have a lot of respect for them (Notre Dame) coming off a 30-point loss and pushing us to the limit."

Duke built a 19-12 advantage in the first half, but the Irish tied the game at 19 and again at 31. The Blue Devils then scored 12 of the next 14 points to take a 43-33 halftime lead.

Bill McCaffrey—a last name all too familiar to Notre Dame football fans—led Duke with 21 points. His brother, Ed, caught 11 passes for Stanford when it upset top-ranked Notre Dame on the football field in October.

"It's part of my job to hit open shots if they're there," McCaffrey said. "When we gained momentum, I didn't take it upon myself to get the ball, but it was a total team effort, and when they got me the ball I was able to hit my shots."

The Blue Devils played three other players in double figures—Christian Laettner with 19 points, Sweet and Kevin Ely with 18 and Ely game dunk at the 8:02 mark.

"I didn't do anything against Arizona," said Ellis, who had just five points in that game. "That's not LaPhonso Ellis. I came out tonight to get something done."

The Irish will host Indiana on Wednesday in the Joyce ACC.

---

Limited Edition Holiday Ornament

Celebrate this holiday season with a beautifully designed and dated collectible that features the Golden Dome of the Administration building.

An exclusive 3-dimensional ornament is created with 24K gold on heavy jewelers brass. This ornament is perfect for your own holiday decorating or as a timeless gift. Each is numbered and signed by the Director of the Mint and comes with a certificate of authenticity. Order now as quantities are limited.

These ornaments are sure to be a keepsake for Irish fans everywhere. This design is limited to the 1990 first edition ornament.

Exclusively from the Charleston Mint of Charleston, South Carolina.

---

The New 1991 MCAT

Test Dates: April 27, 1991
September 14, 1991

Test Duration: 5 hours 45 Minutes

No one can guarantee your acceptance to medical school. But we can guarantee that you'll score your highest on the MCAT. Our unique Test Your First Guarantee is your insurance policy if you're not completely satisfied with your MCAT scores, we'll let you repeat the entire course at no charge! We offer expert live instruction, innovative home study materials, unlimited review in our TEST-N-TAPE labs and lots of personal attention. That's why Stanley H. Kaplan has prepared more test takers, and produced more top MCAT scores, than everyone else combined.

STANLEY H. KAPLAN
Take Kaplan Or Take Your Chances

1717 E. South Bend Ave.
South Bend, IN 46637
PHONE 219/272-4135

SIGN UP IN SOUTH BEND TO AVOID A WAITING LIST FOR CLASS SEATS.

CLASS SIZE IS LIMITED. RESERVE YOUR PLACE AS SOON AS POSSIBLE!

---

WHO'S WHO

WHO'S WHO

HOOPS

3-POINT CONTEST ONE-ON-ONE FREE THROW TOURNAMENT

CALL NVA 239-6100 FOR DETAILS

DEADLINE NOVEMBER 28
ND beats Alabama-Huntsville

By RENE FERRAN
Sports Writer

In a game marred by 27 penalties and numerous missed opportunities, the Notre Dame hockey team defeated Alabama-Huntsville 3-2 to sweep the weekend series from the Chargers.

The Irish took the first game 8-2 in overtime Friday evening when Chris Tschupp scored his first goal of the year with 2:08 into the extra period.

"It was a hard-earned sweep," said Irish head coach Ric Schafer. "It was hard-fought. It took everything we had and then some."

Notre Dame twice came back from deficits in the third period of game one. Down 6-4 after Don Bugg's second goal of the year for the Chargers, the Irish scored two goals within 39 seconds. First, Lou Zadra connected for his seventh of the year at 13:30, and then at 14:09, Eric Greigiere scored to tie the game at six.

With only two minutes left, the Chargers took a one-goal lead when Ken Thibodeau beat Irish goalie Greg Louder. With 1:34 left, Schafer pulled Louder from the net in an attempt to score the equalizer.

The Irish applied tremendous pressure on Huntsville goalie Randy Resek. With eight seconds left, Irish left wing Mike Curry slipped the puck past Resek, and the two teams went to overtime knotted at seven.

"I'm really proud of how we played (in the first game)," said Schafer. "It was a classic example of not quitting." The two teams, perhaps feeling the effects of Friday's game, came out sluggish Saturday afternoon. Both Louder and Charger goalie Bob Thompson had an easy time of it in the first period, as neither team had any serious scoring chances.

In the second period, referees called 12 penalties, giving both teams ample opportunities on the power play, but neither team could capitalize with the man advantage. In fact, the Irish's first goal came when they were shorthanded as Curry scored on a breakaway.

Notre Dame nearly had its second goal when Tom Miniscalco fed Pat Arendt in the right circle, and Arendt beat Thompson over his right shoulder. The referee ruled no goal, however, saying the whistle had blown before the goal when the net came off its moorings. This was not the first controversial call by referee Michael O'Donnell.

"I think the referee made a couple of questionable calls both ways which set both teams up," said Schafer. "However, we showed more composure when we needed to, and I paid dividends for us."

Indeed it did, as two minutes later, Scott Vickman took a rebound and scored from the right wing. Thompson blocked the shot, but the puck fell behind him and trickled across the goal line.

The Irish took a 3-0 lead only 15 seconds into the third period on the power play when Eric Greigiere fired the puck past Thompson for his fourth goal of the season.

At 4:06, Alabama-Huntsville's Graham Fair fired a shot from between the circles that beat Louder to the left corner to put the Chargers on the board.

Five minutes later, Charger Jim Goonan intercepted the puck and passed to Bryan Moller streaking across the goal area. Moller scored to cut the Irish lead to 3-2.

When Sterling Black was whistled for a five-minute penalty at 15:05, Schafer could sense the momentum, and perhaps the victory, slipping away.

"Our goal was simply to clear our own zone, take no chances, and we did a pretty good job," said Schafer. "They had a flurry, but we had players willing to block shots."

Said Charger coach Doug Ross: "We played a strong third period, but just couldn't tie it up. We had lots of opportunities, but we didn't convert with goals. We didn't achieve our goal of attaining a split, and I am disappointed in that."

Notre Dame's power play continued to sputter. The Irish only converted 2-14 power play opportunities this weekend, and for the year, 8-61.

"Unfortunately, this remains our one area for improvement," said Schafer. "We're only converted 12 percent of our power plays, and that figure should be doubled."

However, Schafer generally was pleased with his team's play.

"We've now won four in a row, and I'm happy about that," Schafer said.
IT'S TIME FOR DOMINO'S PIZZA®

Call Us!
271-0300
1835 South Bend Ave.

289-0033
816 Portage Ave.

Open for lunch!

SUNDAY DOUBLE FEATURE

$5.99
Get 2 small original pizzas with the topping of your choice. Valid Sundays only.

EARLY WEEK SPECIAL

$4.99
Get 1 large original pizza with the topping of your choice. Valid Mondays and Tuesdays only.

2 LARGE PIZZAS 1 TOPPING

$10.95
Get 2 large original pizzas with your favorite topping.
Lecture Circuit

Tuesday

4 p.m. Lecture: "The Use of Force in the 1990's," Michael Stohl, professor of political science, Purdue University and George Lopez, associate professor of government and international studies. Room 121, Law School.

7:30 p.m. Lecture: "Psychiatry and Religion," Dr. Richard Reamer. Knights of Columbus Council Home.

Wednesday

Notre Dame

Pasta Bar

Irish Fried Flounder

Eggs Foo Yung

Saint Mary's

Veal Parmesan

Ground Beef Chimichanga

Fettucine Alfredo

Deli Bar

ACROSS
1. Homer's "Iliad" cret
5. Cut to board kids?
10. Low female voice
14. Mineral deposit
15. Greek marketplace
16. Poultry shelter
18. Tite
19. Pulled apart
20. Popular animated cartoon
23. Kind of herring
24. Baden-Baden is one
25. Silent
26. Third letter
27. "What's your principle?"
28. Watchful
29. Coach a thief
30. Island or lily precursor
31. Victory letter
32. Popular animated cartoon
33. Hebrew vowel points
34. Blunder
35. Golf pro Calvin
36. "The Far Side" cartoon
37. "The Far Side" cartoon
38. Victory letter
39. Hebrew vowel points
40. Popular animated cartoon
41. Hebrew vowel points
42. "The Far Side" cartoon
43. Hebrew vowel points
44. "The Far Side" cartoon
45. Hebrew vowel points
46. "The Far Side" cartoon
47. Hebrew vowel points
48. "The Far Side" cartoon
49. Hebrew vowel points
50. "The Far Side" cartoon
51. Hebrew vowel points
52. "The Far Side" cartoon
53. Hebrew vowel points
54. "The Far Side" cartoon
55. Hebrew vowel points
56. "The Far Side" cartoon
57. Hebrew vowel points
58. "The Far Side" cartoon
59. Hebrew vowel points
60. Nautical unit of speed
61. High male voice
62. Dresden's river
63. Kitty contribution
64. Matriculate
65. Kane, to Welles
66. Affirmative votes
67. Eats an offensive odor
68. Prophet

DOWN
1. Building wings
2. Pocket blankets
3. Inactive
4. Speed
5. Raging
6. Richard -- actor from San Francisco
7. Tune
8. Bedouin
9. Division of the U.K.
10. True
11. Plunder
12. British Conservative
13. Unlock to Shakespeare
21. Carees
22. Separately
23. Stories
24. Lessen
25. Poultry shelter
26. Fragrant pine
27. Nucleus
28. Organic compound
29. Organic compound
30. White blue yonder
31. Avaid
32. Send payment
33. Speed
34. British Conservative
35. Send payment
36. Inhibit
37. "The Far Side" cartoon
38. Send payment
39. "The Far Side" cartoon
40. Send payment
41. Send payment
42. Send payment
43. Send payment
44. Send payment
45. Send payment
46. Send payment
47. Send payment
48. Send payment
49. Send payment
50. Send payment
51. Send payment
52. Send payment
53. Send payment
54. "The Far Side" cartoon
55. Send payment
56. "The Far Side" cartoon
57. Send payment
58. "The Far Side" cartoon
59. Send payment
60. "The Far Side" cartoon

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

Buffalo, N.Y., Nov. 2-5: The annual convention of the Big Galoot Society of America.

S P E L U N K E R

J A Y  H O S L E R

51. Concerning
52. Dowel
53. Inhibit
54. Prepare dinner
55. Noblemen
56. Suffix with yonder
57. Bitter plant
58. Suffix with repress
59. Look askance
60. Round Table knight
61. Jeżeli, I'll guess any number you're thinking of. Od. Hero, pick a number!
62. "What's your principle?"
63. Mal. "Oh, I've got it. By God, I've got it!"
64. "Mom, what's it?"
65. 93, 370, 451?
66. "One way to get Job of us, Agent You!"
67. "No, you're psychic. Go show mom!"
68. "Wait a minute! You're just trying to get job of us, Agent You!"

CALVIN AND HOBBES

BUFFALO, N.Y., NOV. 2-5: THE ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THE BIG GALOOT SOCIETY OF AMERICA

CALVIN AND HOBBES

A LOT OF PEOPLE DON'T HAVE PRINCIPLES, BUT I DO! I'M A HIGHLY PRINCIPLED PERSON!

WHAT'S YOUR PRINCIPLE?

Looking for the number one.
Defense a gem in Coliseum

By GREG GUFFEY
Sports Editor

NEW YORK—Notre Dame stuck to its game plan against third-ranked Arizona in the semifinals of the Dome. But Wildcat forward Chris Mills didn’t cooperate.

Mills, a sophomore transfer from Kentucky, scored 21 points, including a game-high 25 points to lead the Wildcats to a 91-61 victory over the Irish in Madison Square Garden.

The Irish keyed on Arizona’s strong inside tandem of center Williams and Sean Rooks and that allowed Mills the outside shot. He responded by hitting nine of 15 field goals including five of nine three-pointers.

“I felt like Mills was in a slump,” said Notre Dame forward Kevin Ellery. “But he came out and hit the shots. We stayed in our game plan.”

Williams and Rooks combined for just 13 points, more than 19 under their average in the first two Dome games. But Mills, who hit just one of seven field goals in the second round against East Tennessee State, picked up the slack with his best game of the young season.

“It seemed like they were sagging back,” Mills said. “They wanted to stop our big men, who have been playing so well.”

“We were ready for them in inside,” Irish center Keith Tower said. “Coming in, we were going to play off Mills because we thought he was a suspect outside shooter. Once they started hitting outside, we had to spread it out.”

Daimon Sweet led Notre Dame with 21 points, but the biggest story was Arizona’s ability to shut down LaPhonso Ellis and Elmer Bennett. Ellis had five points and Bennett zero, with a combined 2-of-19 shooting. To compound his problems, Ellis picked up his second foul with less than seven minutes gone in the first half.

“I just couldn’t get it going tonight,” Ellis said. “The shots weren’t falling from the outside and then I got into foul trouble. I had to put a little more pressure on the ball down low, but outside it didn’t bother me.”

The Observer / Eric Bailey

ND game plan can’t stop Arizona, 91-61

Irish finish regular season with 10-6 win over USC

Trojans unable to score touchdown

By KEN TYSIAC
Associate Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES—Notre Dame’s defense, which has been criticized all season long, rose to the occasion Saturday against USC in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

The Irish (9-2) held the Trojans to just two field goals in a 10-6 victory which kept their slim hopes for a National Championship alive and saddled USC with a loss for the eighth straight year.

“It was a typical USC-Notre Dame football game,” Irish Coach Lou Holtz said. “It turned out to be a defensive struggle, which surprised a lot of people. I thought we played good ground-control football without a lot of big plays. Our defense was excellent. We gave up no big plays and played against the run very well.”

Early in the game, USC moved the ball at will, both on the ground and in the air. The Trojans controlled the ball for 12:11 of the first quarter as tailback Mazio Royster rushed 10 times for 79 yards and quarterback Todd Marinovich completed 8 of 11 passes for 89 yards.

Despite outgining Notre Dame 133-46 in the first period, USC could manage only three points. The Trojans were forced to settle for a 22-yard Quin Rodriguez field goal after their first drive stalled at the Irish five-yard-line. After Notre Dame scored two plays and pointed, USC mounted another sustained drive.

The Trojans marched from their own four-yard line to Notre Dame’s 25. But Mike Stonebreaker’s first-down sack of Marinovich, the first of six by the Irish, put USC in a hole, and the Trojans were forced to punt.

“It wasn’t warranted because we always start out slow,” Notre Dame linebacker Andre Jones said of the early defensive problems. “On the first series I feel we are usually just getting our feet wet, but as the game goes on we usually come together.”

The Irish offense came together to score the game’s only touchdown after the defense allowed a 30-yard Rodriguez field goal on USC’s first drive of the second half. Tailback Tony Brooks capped a 69-yard drive when he took Rick Mirer’s pitch on the option and coasted into the endzone with 3:14 left in the third quarter to give Notre Dame a 10-6 lead.

Five plays after the ensuing kickoff, Irish nose guard Chris Zorich sacked Marinovich at the USC 31 to force the Trojans to punt. Notre Dame quickly advanced to the USC two-yard-line as flanker Raghib Ismail, who totaled 189 yards on the day, gained 31 yards on a reverse and 41 yards on a pass reception on consecutive plays.

But the drive stalled at the one when Mire r’s fourth-down pass to tight end Derek Brown, who appeared to have been held by Trojan defenders Kurt Ellis and Marcus Hopkins, fell incomplete. Brown was understandably upset.

“I don’t know who it was, but somebody pulled my arm down and I couldn’t get to the ball,” Brown said.

The goal line stand didn’t shift the momentum back to USC as might be expected. On their next two possessions the Trojans could not move the ball past their own 35. But the Irish were equally ineffective on offense and USC took possession once again with 1:55 to play at their own 22.

The Trojans quickly moved to the Notre Dame 46, but a holding penalty and a dropped pass by fullback Scott Lockwood on third down left them facing third-and-goal from US C/ page 15

see WOMEN / page 14

Women down Aces in opener

Robinson has 26

By RENE FERRAN
Sports Writer

As Irish sports fans’ thoughts turned from football to basketball, don’t forget to check out the Notre Dame women’s basketball team.

Notre Dame, using an aggressive man-to-man defense for most of the game, led from start to finish in a 65-62 victory over Evansville Monday night in its season opener.

The Irish set the tempo early by pressing Evansville. The lead got as high as 43-25 over the Wildcats.

“We thought man-to-man defense was the way to go,” said Irish head coach Muffet McGraw. “We wanted to apply pressure (Humphries) went out of the game.”

When Humphries returned, however, the Irish failed to adjust, and Evansville cut the lead to 43-32 at the half.

“We put them at the foul line when he took Rick Mirer’s pitch on the option and coasted into the endzone with 3:14 left in the third quarter to give Notre Dame a 10-6 lead.

Five plays after the ensuing kickoff, Irish nose guard Chris Zorich sacked Marinovich at the USC 31 to force the Trojans to punt. Notre Dame quickly advanced to the USC two-yard-line as flanker Raghib Ismail, who totaled 189 yards on the day, gained 31 yards on a reverse and 41 yards on a pass reception on consecutive plays.

But the drive stalled at the one when Mire r’s fourth-down pass to tight end Derek Brown, who appeared to have been held by Trojan defenders Kurt Ellis and Marcus Hopkins, fell incomplete. Brown was understandably upset.

“I don’t know who it was, but somebody pulled my arm down and I couldn’t get to the ball,” Brown said.

The goal line stand didn’t shift the momentum back to USC as might be expected. On their next two possessions the Trojans could not move the ball past their own 35. But the Irish were equally ineffective on offense and USC took possession once again with 1:55 to play at their own 22.

The Trojans quickly moved to the Notre Dame 46, but a holding penalty and a dropped pass by fullback Scott Lockwood on third down left them facing third-and-goal from US C/ page 15

see WOMEN / page 14

Women down Aces in opener

Robinson has 26

By RENE FERRAN
Sports Writer

As Irish sports fans’ thoughts turned from football to basketball, don’t forget to check out the Notre Dame women’s basketball team.

Notre Dame, using an aggressive man-to-man defense for most of the game, led from start to finish in a 65-62 victory over Evansville Monday night in its season opener.

The Irish set the tempo early by pressing Evansville. The lead got as high as 43-25 over the Wildcats.

“We thought man-to-man defense was the way to go,” said Irish head coach Muffet McGraw. “We wanted to apply pressure (Humphries) went out of the game.”

When Humphries returned, however, the Irish failed to adjust, and Evansville cut the lead to 43-32 at the half.

“We put them at the foul line when he took Rick Mirer’s pitch on the option and coasted into the endzone with 3:14 left in the third quarter to give Notre Dame a 10-6 lead.

Five plays after the ensuing kickoff, Irish nose guard Chris Zorich sacked Marinovich at the USC 31 to force the Trojans to punt. Notre Dame quickly advanced to the USC two-yard-line as flanker Raghib Ismail, who totaled 189 yards on the day, gained 31 yards on a reverse and 41 yards on a pass reception on consecutive plays.

But the drive stalled at the one when Mire r’s fourth-down pass to tight end Derek Brown, who appeared to have been held by Trojan defenders Kurt Ellis and Marcus Hopkins, fell incomplete. Brown was understandably upset.

“I don’t know who it was, but somebody pulled my arm down and I couldn’t get to the ball,” Brown said.

The goal line stand didn’t shift the momentum back to USC as might be expected. On their next two possessions the Trojans could not move the ball past their own 35. But the Irish were equally ineffective on offense and USC took possession once again with 1:55 to play at their own 22.

The Trojans quickly moved to the Notre Dame 46, but a holding penalty and a dropped pass by fullback Scott Lockwood on third down left them facing third-and-goal from US C/ page 15