Iraq to receive deadline from Security Council members

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Security Council ambassadors on Wednesday predicted adoption of a resolution allowing use of military force to liberate Kuwait if 450,000 Iraqi troops do not withdraw by Jan. 15.

Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze told reporters on arriving in New York, "Either we will build civilized relations between states, a new world order and new policy, or we will live by the law of the jungle."

"That is the question we must answer tomorrow (Thursday), and I believe we will answer it," Cuba opposes the measure but expects it to pass. "It is quite obvious that the resolution will be adopted," Cuban Ambassador Ricardo Alarcon said.

The only other time the United Nations sanctioned military force to counter aggression was in 1950, during the Korean conflict. Thirteen of the 15 council members are expected to be represented by foreign ministers, making it one of the highest-level such sessions in U.N. history.

China had indicated it would support the measure but shifted its position Wednesday, Foreign Minister Qian Qichen said he would not vote in favor.

He said: "I believe that to stop aggression against Kuwait and the liberation of Kuwaiti people is the duty of all nations."

The statement was widely viewed as a move to win political concessions from Washington, which acted to punish Beijing after the June 1989 military crackdown on the pro-democracy movement. Diplomats suggested China might abstain, but probably would not veto the measure.

The five permanent Security Council members — the United States, the Soviet Union, China, France and Britain — have veto power.

"It seems rather clear that they're not thinking of vetoing," said British Ambassador David Hapner.

On Wednesday, the council ended debate on allegations of Iraqi atrocities in Kuwait, and adopted a resolution 15-0 asking the United Nations to take custody of Kuwait's census records, smuggled out by the Kuwaiti resistance.

"That is the question we must determine whether the five senators intervened improperly on behalf of Keating because of the $1.3 million he and associates donated to their campaigns and causes.

The other senators are Alan Cranston, D-Calif., John Glenn, D-Ohio, John McCain, R-Ariz., and Donald Riegle, D-Mich. Riegle did not attend the April 2 meeting arraigned Wednesday and was asked to return Thursday for a fourth day.

The lawyer representing DeConcini, James Hamilton, often shouted his questions at Gray as he tried to cast doubt on the alleged deal. Hamilton pointed out that all four senators at the meeting denied that DeConcini offered the quid pro quo for Keating, who wanted to withdraw a record that adversely affected the political donor's Lincoln Savings and Loan.

The attorney for Cranston, William Taylor, got more personal. He brought up Gray's acceptance of expense money from the thrift industry he regulated.

Taylor reminded Gray that he attended one industry-financed dinner for which the tab was $1,158.63, including $300 for wine and $91.45 for cigars.

Gray insisted that Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., proposed a deal on behalf of S&L owner Charles Keating and three other senators approached Gray said the offer was made at an April 2, 1987 meeting arranged by a fifth senator who did not attend.

The committee is trying to determine whether the five senators intervened improperly on behalf of Keating because of the $1.3 million he and associates donated to their campaigns and causes.

The other senators are Alan Cranston, D-Calif., John Glenn, D-Ohio, John McCain, R-Ariz., and Donald Riegle, D-Mich. Riegle did not attend the April 2 meeting.

Gray was still on the witness stand when the hearing adjourned Wednesday and was asked to return Thursday for a fourth day.

The lawyer representing DeConcini, James Hamilton, often shouted his questions at Gray as he tried to cast doubt on the alleged deal. Hamilton pointed out that all four senators at the meeting denied that DeConcini offered the quid pro quo for Keating, who wanted to withdraw a record that adversely affected the political donor's Lincoln Savings and Loan.

The attorney for Cranston, William Taylor, got more personal. He brought up Gray's acceptance of expense money from the thrift industry he regulated.

Taylor reminded Gray that he attended one industry-financed dinner for which the tab was $1,158.63, including $300 for wine and $91.45 for cigars.

"These practices had been standard for 20 to 25 years," Gray said, adding it was wrong for the thrift industry to wine and dine regulators and he stopped the practice.

And he said of the deal that he insists was offered: "I felt the whole setting and the request itself was wrong. Just plain wrong. I never had seen anything like this in my entire tenure as a regulator, and I feel that way today."

Hamilton forced Gray to acknowledge that he knew more about Keating's S&L problems than he indicated to the four senators.

Donations needed for 1+1+1 goal

By MARK BERRETTINI

The Notre Dame/Saint Mary's Community has just one more day to donate food, clothing, and books to the needy 16,000 needy South Bend families through the 1+1+1 Project.

The goal of this project is to have everyone in the community donate one non- perishable food item, one article of clothing, and one children's book to this cause. This program is designed to provide dignity, shelter and homeless people with items to brighten their Christmas.

Also, in conjunction with Project 1+1+1, a mass for the homeless will be held tonight in the Keenan- Stanford chapel at 7 p.m.

The idea for this project came from Student Government Social Concerns Co- Commissioners Barb Izzo, Dave Krier, and Sean Taylor reminded Gray that he attended one industry-financed dinner for which the tab was $1,158.63, including $300 for wine and $91.45 for cigars.

"These practices had been standard for 20 to 25 years," Gray said, adding it was wrong for the thrift industry to wine and dine regulators and he stopped the practice.

And he said of the deal that he insists was offered: "I felt the whole setting and the request itself was wrong. Just plain wrong. I never had seen anything like this in my entire tenure as a regulator, and I feel that way today."

Hamilton forced Gray to acknowledge that he knew more about Keating's S&L problems than he indicated to the four senators.

Donations are still being accepted in the Student Government offices in LaFondate, through Friday. The items will be taken to St. Vincent DePaul's, where they will be distributed.

Chief accuser of ‘Keating Five’ faces tough questions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief accuser of the “Keating Five” senators was forced to defend both his testimony and his honor under vigorous cross examination Wednesday.

Despite the barrage of hostile questioning, Edwin Gray, former head of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, stuck to his previous day's testimony in Senate Ethics Committee hearings.

Grig twisted that Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., proposed a deal on behalf of S&L owner Charles Keating and three other senators approached Gray said the offer was made at an April 2, 1987 meeting arranged by a fifth senator who did not attend.

The committee is trying to determine whether the five senators intervened improperly on behalf of Keating because of the $1.3 million he and associates donated to their campaigns and causes.

The other senators are Alan Cranston, D-Calif., John Glenn, D-Ohio, John McCain, R-Ariz., and Donald Riegle, D-Mich. Riegle did not attend the April 2 meeting.

Gray was still on the witness stand when the hearing adjourned Wednesday and was asked to return Thursday for a fourth day.

The lawyer representing DeConcini, James Hamilton, often shouted his questions at Gray as he tried to cast doubt on the alleged deal. Hamilton pointed out that all four senators at the meeting denied that DeConcini offered the quid pro quo for Keating, who wanted to withdraw a record that adversely affected the political donor's Lincoln Savings and Loan.

The attorney for Cranston, William Taylor, got more personal. He brought up Gray's acceptance of expense money from the thrift industry he regulated.

Taylor reminded Gray that he attended one industry-financed dinner for which the tab was $1,158.63, including $300 for wine and $91.45 for cigars.

"These practices had been standard for 20 to 25 years," Gray said, adding it was wrong for the thrift industry to wine and dine regulators and he stopped the practice.

And he said of the deal that he insists was offered: "I felt the whole setting and the request itself was wrong. Just plain wrong. I never had seen anything like this in my entire tenure as a regulator, and I feel that way today."

Hamilton forced Gray to acknowledge that he knew more about Keating's S&L problems than he indicated to the four senators.
I saw him the other day when I was out running on U.S. 31. The old soldier sits out there every day in front of his American flags, proud to wear the hat that identifies him as a former sol­dier for the United States of America.

He is a symbol of what it means to be an American. He isn’t afraid to show his loyalty and devotion to America, for what this country is all about - freedom.

The United States has taken flak for some of its recent adventures into foreign polit­ics, and despite the initial near-universal support for Operation Desert Shield, some people have begun to criticize the Bush Administration’s decision to involve American citizens in a conflict taking place in some remote desert region of the world.

Why? Some say that we shouldn’t be meddling in the affairs of other countries, or that simply keeping the price of oil low is no justification for putting the lives of our soldiers on the line.

Anyone who subscribes to either of these theories is missing the point entirely. The intent of Operation Desert Shield is not to keep oil flowing to us, but to save the lives of our soldiers on the line.

The true intent of the operation is to free a small, helpless country which cannot de­fend itself, and to keep an evil dictator from having his way with the world. If Saddam Hussein is not kicked out of Kuwait he will control the price of oil in the Middle East, and undermine the world economy.

Traditionally the U.S. has taken a leading role in defending the world against evil, and while that may sound a bit naive, that is exactly what we should be doing.

If the United States of America, the land of the free and the home of the brave, withers away and allows the oppression of the very principles on which it was created, then all of those grand words contained in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution mean nothing.

This country was built on principles. Principles of freedom and justice. On the princi­ple that all men are guaranteed “the right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happi­ness.”

What kind of hypocrite would the United States be? If we promised that to our own people, but didn’t care about the rights of any other country? How would that advance international cooperation?

We as Americans should learn to be more like the man who sits on 31 all the time. We should believe in our country and the principles on which it was founded on, and we shouldn’t be afraid to stand up to people who try to take those rights away.

The views expressed in the Inside Column are those of the author and not necessarily those of The Observer.
Christmas at the mall

Ice skaters circled a huge Christmas tree at the Gallery Mall in Dallas last Friday, the traditionally busiest retail day of the year.
Cultures clash over Stanford ‘domestic partners’ policy; tension builds

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Virginia Velez came to Stanford University seeking a safe place to live openly with her lesbian lover, but a policy expanding the rights of homosexual couples on campus leaves her feeling threatened.

Velez and others in the homosexual community fear a backlash, particularly from religious groups. The policy, which began this fall, guarantees un married couples the same privileges as married couples.

"I'm getting nervous about what's going on," said Velez, a married couple's rights proponent. "I think Stanford is probably one of the best places to be for openly gay or lesbian or bisexual people, and it's still scary," said Susan Mizner, a third-year law student and gay activist. "We have a strong belief that we won't revoke the policy, which allows unwed couples with long-term commitments to rent low-cost campus apartments, and have "spouse" privileges as married couples.

Stanford's 12,600 graduate and undergraduate students, nearly 2,500 are foreigners. Foreigners comprise about a quarter of the 6,100 graduate-student population, which dominates the married student housing village.

University officials say they won't revoke the policy, which allows unwed couples with "long-term commitments" to rent low-cost campus apartments, and have "spouse" privileges, such as subsidized medical care and access to the libraries and gyms.

The policy applies to six couples this term. Officials expect the backlash to the "domestic partners" policy. One tavern owner has come up with a list of songs having to do with earthquakes. Joe Edwards, owner of the Blueberry Hill tavern in St. Louis, said he's filling his jukebox with earthquake songs and serving special drinks to "help our customers cope with any anxiety they might be feeling."

He had called more than 150 songs, including "Dancin' on the Ceiling," "Church Bells May Ring," "If We Make it Through December" and at least 13 titles containing the word "shake."

Meanwhile, Iben Browning's daughter, Evelyn Garriss, stood by her father's projection after the San Francisco radio station KCBS reported that she said her father believes there's a 50-50 chance of a major quake outside the United States.

"We are less concerned about (San Francisco Bay area's Hayward Fault) recently than we continue to be about some of the other places, like Japan," she said.

Alex's - An Old Time Tradition

Alex's Shoe Hospital has been serving the Notre Dame community since 1919. You can't take the streetcar anymore, but today's quick trip downtown still rewards you with caring, friendly service (even while you wait and old time craftsmanship. Keep your feet in shape by trusting your footwear maintenance needs to Alex's Shoe Hospital.

One tavern owner has come up with a list of songs having to do with earthquakes. Joe Edwards, owner of the Blueberry Hill tavern in St. Louis, said he's filling his jukebox with earthquake songs and serving special drinks to "help our customers cope with any anxiety they might be feeling."

He had called more than 150 songs, including "Dancin' on the Ceiling," "Church Bells May Ring," "If We Make it Through December" and at least 13 titles containing the word "shake."

Meanwhile, Iben Browning's daughter, Evelyn Garriss, stood by her father's projection after the San Francisco radio station KCBS reported that she said her father believes there's a 50-50 chance of a major quake outside the United States.

"We are less concerned about (San Francisco Bay area's Hayward Fault) recently than we continue to be about some of the other places, like Japan," she said.

Mid-westerners prepare for possible Dec. earthquake

(AP) — Tavern owners jammed jukeboxes with earth-shaking tunes and worried residents squirreled away water and flashlights Wednesday as the questionnable countdown progressed for a major earthquake as early as next week on the New Madrid Fault.

The commotion is over a projection made by Dr. Iben Browning, who said there was a strong chance of a major earthquake Dec. 2-3 in an area that includes the New Madrid Fault, from Arkansas through Missouri to Illinois.

"We're ready for it. I have 13 gallon jugs of water, two sleeping bags, a pipe wrench, canned food, a Flashlight and a radio with extra batteries," said Debbie Brunk of Bonnie Terre, Mo., which is about 50 miles from the New Madrid fault zone.

Others took the projections a little more lightly. Bumper stickers saying "It's Iben Browning's Fault" have started popping up on cars in the region.
ND's Amnesty International acts for Human Rights Day

By DAVID CERTO
News Writer

In honor of the upcoming International Human Rights Day, the campus chapter of Amnesty International will be conducting a letter-write-a-thon on Dec. 10. Letters will be written in LaFortune, in the SORIN Room from 5 to 8 p.m., and in the Dooley Room from 8 to 11 on Monday, December 10. In addition, a videotape from the "Human Rights Now" concert tour will be shown. Refreshments will be served.

The Dean of the Notre Dame Law School, David Link, and other professors are expected to attend. All members of the community are invited to participate.

The writing campaign is intended to draw attention to human rights abuses around the world. Letters will be sent to many countries on behalf of individuals facing capital punishment, arrest for personal expression, detention without trial and other deprivations of rights.

International Human Rights Day will be celebrated by each chapter worldwide, according to Dan Gallagher, a representative of the local Amnesty International group.

"On this day in particular," Gallagher said, "everyone on campus should express his or her views on human rights; the write-a-thon is one easy but important way."

Amnesty International will be selling T-shirts at the write-a-thon. The sale is the group's largest fund raiser of the year. The profits will be used to finance other projects, including speakers and international student panel discussions on torture and human rights abuses in foreign countries.

Robert L. Franklin, M.D. announces the opening of a South Bend office for the practice of

PSYCHIATRY and PSYCHOANALYSIS
Increased self-knowledge generates opportunities to resolve personal, relationship, and career problems. University of Chicago medical faculty member with American Psychoanalytic Association accredited training. Medication used only when indicated. For appointment call 234-5656.

Have a Happy!!

Love,
Mom, Dad, Richard

Play practice
Lisa Marie Wagner practices for her role in the upcoming theatrical production, "Haunted by God: The Life of Dorothy Day."

Intelligence study predicts that Yugoslavia will soon break apart, decline into civil war

WASHINGTON (AP) — A CIA study predicts Yugoslavia will break apart soon and probably decline into civil war, officials said Wednesday.

One source, speaking on condition he not be identified, said members of the intelligence community "have been making dire predictions like that for some time" but that they are not shared by other foreign-policy specialists in the government.

An official who has read the most recent Central Intelligence Agency assessment, circulated several weeks ago in what is called a National Intelligence Estimate, said it predicts the various ethnic groups that make up Yugoslavia will begin fighting each other in a scenario likely to lead to civil war.

But that same official and another who is familiar with administration views on the issue said the U.S. Embassy in Belgrade, State Department specialists in Washington and Bush administration policy-makers don't agree the situation is as serious as the CIA report indicates.

These officials and others discussed the context of the CIA report on condition that they not be identified. Existence of the report was disclosed Wednesday by the New York Times, which quoted unidentified sources who had read it.

Yugoslavia was created as an independent monarchy after World War I with the addition of various territories to the old kingdom of Serbia. It became a Communist-ruled federation after World War II, consisting of six republics with a long history of ethnic and economic rivalry.

The country has more divisions among its people than most. Two alphabets are in use, the Roman and the Cyrillic. The Roman Catholic, the Eastern Orthodox and the Muslim faiths all have large followings.

Writer Maya Angelou to speak at ND

Special to The Observer

Maya Angelou, noted author on the black experience in America, will speak on the arts, equal rights, politics, women and culture at 8 p.m. on Thursday, Dec. 6 in the St. John's Center. Admission is $2 for students and faculty and $3 for the general public. Tickets are on sale at the LaFortune Student Center.

Angelou is known for her bestselling autobiography "I Know Why the Caged Bird Sings" (1970). She followed that book with several others, including "Gather Together in My Name" (1974), "Singin' and Swingin'" and "Gettin' Merry Like Christmas" (1976).

The lecture is sponsored by the Arts and Letters Core Course, the Student Union Board and the Gender Studies Program.
Five continued from page 1

Gray said he had received a memorandum from Tony Roscuro's name in September 1986 detailing problems at Lincoln. Despite the memo, Hamilton pointed out, Gray told the senators he knew little of Lincoln's problems and suggested the senators question the staff members handling the examination of the failing Irvine, Calif., thrift.

Each of the Senate participants in the April 2 meeting said he could not recall a deal being offered on Keating's behalf. DeConcini has been most vehement in denying such a proposal was made.

"Why should the American public believe you and not four prominent U.S. senators?" Hamilton asked Gray.

"The American public can believe whatever they will," Gray responded. "I had nothing to gain by not telling the truth."

Hamilton bore in on Gray's comment that "if my life depended on it," he could not answer senators' questions about the Lincoln examination because he had little knowledge of the investigation.

After establishing that the memo Gray received eight months earlier from a regulator contained much of the information senators sought to know about Lincoln, Hamilton asked, "In hindsight, was it irresponsible for you not to consider it before?"

"That's one thing they have to withdraw," the senator said.

Gray repeated that he had not retracted his decision, telling Hamilton: "The real purpose of the meeting in my mind was not the 55 or 56 minutes senators asked questions about Lincoln's examination.

"The real purpose was to get them to withdraw" that regulation that was harming Lincoln, he said, a subject that Gray said DeConcini broached only in the initial moments.

According to Gray, DeConcini proposed that the regulators would withdraw a regulation limiting risky thrift investments. Lincoln would step up its issuance of home mortgages. Taylor, in his cross-examination, told Gray repeatedly that reasonable senators could have problems with him because of the negative publicity he received.

Taylor cited news stories that Gray spent $50,000 decorating his office and that former White House Chief of Staff Donald Regan sought his ouster.

Gray said he considered it a "badge of honor" that Regan wanted him out, a suggestion that former President Ronald Reagan did not follow.

The $50,000 was to build new walls in his office and fix the heating system, Gray said.

The Observer Thursday, November 29, 1990

page 6

SECURITY BEAT

MONDAY, NOV. 26

8:31 a.m. A faculty member reported the theft of her decal from her automobile on Nov. 24.

12:30 p.m. A Morrissey resident reported the theft of the seat post and saddle from his bicycle locked inside Morrissey Hall sometime between Nov. 21 and Nov. 26.

12:45 p.m. A Zehn resident reported the theft of his bicycle from the Zehn Hall bicycle rack sometime between Nov. 21 and Nov. 26.

1:05 p.m. A Sarin resident reported the theft of his wallet and sweatshirt from his locked room on Nov. 19.

3:57 p.m. An off-campus student reported the theft of his wallet from his backpack on the thirteenth floor of the Heurich Library.

6:43 p.m. An Alumni resident reported receiving a series of harassing phone calls.

7:30 p.m. A faculty member reported the attempted theft of his wallet and watch by an unidentified male outside the library on a women's floor.

TUESDAY, NOV. 27

1:52 a.m. Two SailWalk employees reported witnessing two suspicious people in the Red West parking lot near the Alumni-Senior Club. Security apprehended and questioned the subjects.

8:30 p.m. A Siegfried resident reported her room being burgled by from her boodmark while at the Heurich Library.

---

Gorbachev asks Germans for emergency shipments of food to prevent shortages

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet capital began dipping into its meat reserves, and President Mikhail Gorbachev met with a German envoy Wednesday to arrange emergency food shipments to help the Soviet Union get through the winter.

Horst Teltschik, a top aide to Chancellor Helmut Kohl, told reporters he met with Gorbachev to ensure that a huge outpouring of German charity would not be wasted. In the past, shipments of emergency food and medicine have disappeared on the way to the Soviet Union's cities.

Mikhail Gorbachev met with a foreign relief after the theft of his bicycle from the Zehn Hall bicycle rack sometime between Nov. 21 and Nov. 26.

Teltschik said Gorbachev asked Kohl to expedite customs procedures and visas for the aid and 'begin balling up the trucks to take them to stores."

"The amount of food in the Soviet Union has not diminished," Tass quoted Voronin as saying. He blamed a crumbling distribution system and panicky consumers for the shortages.

Moscow's chief executive, Yuri Luzhkov, told a news conference that the city is dip into its meat reserves because daily shipments are below the normal level.

The reserves themselves, normally totaling up to 50,000 tons, are down to 15,000 tons, enough to last three days if no new shipments arrived, Luzhkov said.

"The real purpose was to get them to withdraw" that regulation that was harming Lincoln, he said, a subject that Gray said DeConcini broached only in the initial moments.

According to Gray, DeConcini proposed that the regulators would withdraw a regulation limiting risky thrift investments. Lincoln would step up its issuance of home mortgages. Taylor, in his cross-examination, told Gray repeatedly that reasonable senators could have problems with him because of the negative publicity he received.

Taylor cited news stories that Gray spent $50,000 decorating his office and that former White House Chief of Staff Donald Regan sought his ouster.

Gray said he considered it a "badge of honor" that Regan wanted him out, a suggestion that former President Ronald Reagan did not follow.

The $50,000 was to build new walls in his office and fix the heating system, Gray said.

---

1991-92 RA APPLICATIONS

Available In: Office of Student Affairs 315 Administration Building

Monday, December 3, 1990 Friday, January 18, 1991
Judge lifts ban on broadcast of Noriega tapes; CNN hails 'victory over censorship'

MIAMI (AP) — A federal judge Wednesday lifted a ban on broadcasting tapes of Manuel Noriega's prison telephone calls, defusing a confrontation between the rights of the media and those of a criminal defendant. While CNN hailed the decision as a victory over censorship, Noriega's defense and constitutional specialists said the case showed the U.S. Supreme Court was prepared to accept at least temporary restrictions on the press.

U.S. District Judge William Hoeveler's decision ended a three-week legal battle between Noriega and the network, which aired some of the tapes before the judge ordered CNN to stop.

CNN President Tom Johnson said the decision would allow the network to pursue its story on the government's taping of the ousted Panamanian leader's conversations.

"CNN's coverage of this possible misconduct was delayed by this judicial prior restraint on press freedom," he said. "Despite the unfortunate delay, CNN's reporting of government taping of Noriega phone conversations will continue."

Network spokesman Steve Haworth said CNN had no plans to broadcast previously unused tapes in the next few days, but said they could be used later in coverage of the Noriega story.

The judge ruled after he and the attorneys reviewed transcripts of seven tapes the network submitted to the court last week following the Supreme Court's refusal to overturn Hoeveler's initial ban.

At Wednesday's hearing, Noriega defense attorney Frank Rubino told the judge he would withdraw his request to stop the broadcasts. He said the only tape that appeared to violate lawyer-client privilege already had been aired.

"The problem today is that the tape's out, it's been published to the world," Rubino said.

"It does no good to close the barn door after the horse is out."

Federal prosecutors said they had no objections to lifting the ban, once again insisting that Noriega's rights were never violated by the routine prison taping.

Rubino said outside the courtroom that the case had already left its mark in the balancing of First Amendment protections for freedom of speech and Sixth Amendment guarantees of a fair trial.

"The Supreme Court has upheld prior restraint and ordered CNN to turn the tapes over to the court, and CNN complied with the court," Rubino said. "Prior restraint is in full force and effect."

Rodney Smolla, a William and Mary law professor who heads the school's Institute of Bill of Rights Law, also said the case had left a legacy, in part because the Supreme Court refused to halt the ban.

"It said it would have been better had the issue returned to the high court for a final resolution."

"It casts its shadow, and the shadow is negative," said Smolla. "Prior restraint will aggressively pursue these sorts of strategies against news organizations. The battle isn't over yet."

Jane Kirtley, head of the Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press, said the ruling showed the gag order should never have been issued in the first place, but that she added she was worried about the precedent set.

"The unfortunate effect of that is that a new organization has been unconstitutionally constrained for several weeks from bringing information lawfully obtained to the attention of the general public," she said. "That damage cannot be rectified."

CNN's legal problems haven't ended. Noriega's defense attorneys contend. They want the judge to find "CNN in contempt of court for airing one of the tapes even after the judge's initial ban, and fine the network $300,000 per violation. The judge has not said whether he will schedule a contempt hearing."

Such a hearing could reopen the issue of whether the prior restraint was permissible, said William Greenhalgh a law professor at Georgetown University.

"Now, it's much ado about nothing," he said. "We've avoided the constitutional issue — but if there is a contempt proceeding, then we would really get into it."

The tape that touched off the dispute between Noriega and one of Rubino's investigators, with the lawyer's Spanish-speaking secretary serving as an interpreter. In the conversation, Noriega is asked about two recently arrested Panamanians, and speculates that prosecutors intend to use them as witnesses against him.

Rubino went into court Nov. 8 and Hoeveler ordered CNN not to broadcast any tapes that interfere with attorney-client privilege. The network aired them the next day but withdrew it the following day when the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals backed Hoeveler.

The Supreme Court then refused to intervene on a 7-2 vote, forcing CNN to submit the tapes to the judge for review.

The government has acknowledged routine taping of prisoners' phone calls at federal prisons, including the Metropolitan Correctional Center, where Noriega is being held on drug-smuggling charges.
Investors in mutual funds should wait until new year

NEW YORK (AP) — Many long-term investors in mutual funds who usually don’t worry much about the timing of their decisions are making an exception to that rule right now.

Heading into December they start picking their spots carefully to dodge a potential pitfall that can arise from year-end distributions by funds that invest for capital gains.

The strategy they follow, as summarized by the mutual fund specialists at Donoghue’s Moneylester in Holliston, Mass., "Don’t invest any new money in a domestic stock fund from now until after the fund has declared its year-end capital gains distribution.”

By law, funds that accumulate capital gains by selling stocks or other securities at a profit must pass those gains through to their shareholders in order to stay clear of tax problems of their own.

Until a few years ago, those distributions were commonly made in the year after the gains were realized. Now the law requires that they must be declared before Dec. 31.

But many experts on mutual fund investing say the unwary investor’s position is the same. But any pre-distribution buyer who is in, say, the 28 percent tax bracket, faces a tax bill of $56.

"Don’t invest any new money in a domestic stock fund from now until after the fund has declared its year-end capital gains distribution.”

By law, funds that accumulate capital gains by selling stocks or other securities at a profit must pass those gains through to their shareholders in order to stay clear of tax problems of their own.

Until a few years ago, those distributions were commonly made in the year after the gains were realized. Now the law requires that they must be declared before Dec. 31.

But many experts on mutual fund investing say the unwary investor’s position is the same. But any pre-distribution buyer who is in, say, the 28 percent tax bracket, faces a tax bill of $56.

Business council increases international consciousness

By MIKE DeFRANCO

The International Business Council was founded with the purpose of raising the level of awareness of Notre Dame students with regard to the changing international business scene.

About two years ago, an idea was born to form a group on campus that would "take students heads out of textbooks and put them in the real world," according to Mike Boyle, head of the council.

At first the organization only consisted of an executive council made up of various committee heads, but over the past year the council has grown considerably and now has over 100 members.

The council is active in bringing various business and political leaders to campus in order to host discussions.

Each month, a different leader is brought to speak before a group of about 30 council members at a dinner in the Morris Inn. In the discussions, speakers give a statement to the audience and then the floor is opened for a dialogue.

Some of the issues that have been recently debated by the council include business ethics, the effectiveness of using economic sanctions for foreign policy goals and the globalization of businesses.

Another important function of the council is to secure internships in foreign nations for students.

Currently, the council has contacts in Western Europe and Asia and is presently working on opening doors in the Soviet Union and other Eastern European nations.

Over the summer about 30 to 35 students will be given a chance to gain one of these internships and will be able to work in one of those countries.

These various activities students are not only given the chance to see what the real world is like, but also "develop into ethical business leaders and gain public speaking experience," said Boyle. These qualities are almost imperative if one wishes to be successful in today’s highly competitive business world, he said.
Spirits guide us by charisms

Dear Editor:

In a recent letter to the editor (The Observer, Nov. 12), questions were raised about the charismatic gifts and their role in the church. As members of a Christian group on campus, Campus Fellowship, we would like to seize this opportunity to explain our experience of living a life in Christ with these gifts of the Holy Spirit.

A personal relationship with Christ has challenged us to live a life of committed love both to Him and those around us. Just as the Apostles needed the Holy Spirit to empower them to live this life, so too do we need the Holy Spirit.

John Paul II, at the Sixth International Leaders Conference in 1987, stated, "The history of the church is at the same time the history of two thousand years of the action of the Holy Spirit." The Holy spirit, then, was not given for the Apostles alone, but for all time. According to Killian McDonnell, OSB, in his book, "Open the Windows," the charisms of the Holy Spirit are essential to this "perpetual Pentecost." These charisms, as found in I Corinthians 12, the gifts of wisdom and knowledge, faith, healing, prophecy, discernment of spirits, tongues and the interpretation of tongues, belong not to "charismatics," but to the whole church. Indeed, this experience of the Spirit and its acceptance have been endorsed by Pope Paul VI, Pope John Paul II, and the National Conference of Catholic Bishops.

How do these charisms help us to live the Christian life? They instruct us by giving us new insights into Scripture, and a fuller understanding and experience of the sacramental nature of the church. They challenge and encourage us as we come to recognize God's presence. They empower us to live out in a concrete way our faith with each other.

The choice to live as Christians includes sharing our lives with others who also have chosen Christ. This community revolves around the necessary encouragement others give us to deepen our personal relationships with Christ. Who would better encourage us than our friends, those with whom we share both this common vision and desire? We can't do it on our own. Together, with the grace of the Holy Spirit, we lead each other to holiness, and so become the men and women God has created us to be.

Patrick Clark
Stanford Hall
St. Edward's Hall
Mary Faith Ranaghan
Loretto Hall
Nov. 19, 1990

ND campus suffers issue imbalance

Dear Editor:

We seem to be under a two-pronged assault from women and homosexuals. Hardly a week has gone by this semester without a lecture, seminar, manifesto, advertisement, exhortation, letter to the editor, or even a library window display on one or both of these topics.

They are indeed subjects worthy of university discussion. But it is my impression that, rather than a balanced and objective consideration of their various aspects, there has been a systematic propagandizing of a single viewpoint. When the ROTC was discussed here a couple weeks ago, one expert spoke for it and another against. That is what one would expect at a university. But when all voices reiterate the same line, one begins to suspect a kind of brainwashing.

If the views being promoted were distinctively Catholic, such methods would still be regrettable, but at least understandable, at a university to whose role it belongs to examine human topics in the light of faith. But the very opposite seems to be happening. Correct me if I am wrong, but I have not been aware of any sympathetic exposition of the Church's stand on either of these subjects, either in the lectures that have been given thus far, or among those announced for the future.

The Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith has issued two major documents on women's ordination, and the Holy Father has published a major encyclical on the Dignity of Woman. How can the prestigious committee on The Year of Women claim any credibility if it provides nothing more than casual and often contemptuous allusions to these texts?

The Church's position on homosexuality has been established and refined by many centuries of carefully reasoned theological traditions, and officially enunciated notably in the 1975 Declaration on Sexual Ethics. But at Notre Dame one gets the impression that it can be mocked and criticized, not, however, defended. We have indeed heard a few vague professions of loyalty to the Church's teaching, but has there been any serious, competent attempt to expound it?

There may well be a profound philosophical connection between these two issues, having to do with the natural complementarity of man and woman. However that may be, the very opposite seems to be happening. Correct me if I am wrong, but I have not been aware of any sympathetic exposition of the Church's stand on either of these subjects, either in the lectures that have been given thus far, or among those announced for the future.

The Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith has issued two major documents on women's ordination, and the Holy Father has published a major encyclical on the Dignity of Woman. How can the prestigious committee on The Year of Women claim any credibility if it provides nothing more than casual and often contemptuous allusions to these texts?

The Church's position on homosexuality has been established and refined by many centuries of carefully reasoned theological traditions, and officially enunciated notably in the 1975 Declaration on Sexual Ethics. But at Notre Dame one gets the impression that it can be mocked and criticized, not, however, defended. We have indeed heard a few vague professions of loyalty to the Church's teaching, but has there been any serious, competent attempt to expound it?

There may well be a profound philosophical connection between these two issues, having to do with the natural complementarity of man and woman. However that may be, the very opposite seems to be happening. Correct me if I am wrong, but I have not been aware of any sympathetic exposition of the Church's stand on either of these subjects, either in the lectures that have been given thus far, or among those announced for the future.

The Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith has issued two major documents on women's ordination, and the Holy Father has published a major encyclical on the Dignity of Woman. How can the prestigious committee on The Year of Women claim any credibility if it provides nothing more than casual and often contemptuous allusions to these texts?

The Church's position on homosexuality has been established and refined by many centuries of carefully reasoned theological traditions, and officially enunciated notably in the 1975 Declaration on Sexual Ethics. But at Notre Dame one gets the impression that it can be mocked and criticized, not, however, defended. We have indeed heard a few vague professions of loyalty to the Church's teaching, but has there been any serious, competent attempt to expound it?
By David Certo

In 1969, the member nations of the Organization of American States, including the United States and Costa Rica, to write a treaty which would guarantee human rights throughout the Americas. The final product, the American Convention on Human Rights, assured people throughout the hemisphere the right to freedom of religion, privacy, free speech and other rights that the United States had long accused its neighbors of denying. The American Convention was ratified by nations with appalling human rights records, such as Chile, El Salvador, Panama, and Colombia, while the United States refused to do so. The United States rejected it largely because of Article Four of the treaty. It reads: "Every person has the right to have his life respected. This right shall be protected, by law and in general, from the moment of conception. No one shall be arbitrarily deprived of his life." And it highly ironic that our country condemns Haitian violence in a recent issue of The New York Times, 20 Nov 1990). Nations we dare to call barbaric outlaw this sort of killing.

Many people favor the option to abort in the case of rape and incest which produce a pregnancy. However, few people know that the right of reproduction freedom is the right of people to engage in, or refrain from sexual intercourse, not the right to tear an infant from the womb. Anyone who has sex and is not raped has chosen to do so. It is society's duty to hold the parents responsible for that act, not to allow one of its members to be destroyed before he takes his first breath.

As a citizen, the Constitution of the United States gives me the right to print my opinion on abortion. However, until I was born and adopted on 14 March 1972, I was the silent but living child of two unmarried teens. If Indiana law had not then protected my right to be born and to live, the ultimate human right, all the other rights in the world would have had no meaning to me. The rights in the Constitution protect minorities, races, and citizens who do not speak English; should they not also protect other women who cannot speak for themselves?

David Certo is a sophomore Government Major and a Viewpoint copy editor.

SUB sponsors abortion debate

Dear Editor: For those who relish a good debate, The Student Union Board is sponsoring a discussion between Joe Schiedler, a pro-choice speaker for the right to life, and Sarah J. Meissner, an anti-abortion activist who represented Roe before the Supreme Court. The debate will be held in the Cushion Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. on Nov. 29. A reception will follow in La Fortune.

Dear Editor: I would like to express my reservations about the recent decision by the Student Union Board to sponsor an abortion debate here at Notre Dame. My concern is that this is a Catholic university, and that it seems that as responsible students we should not pay people to come and try to win over the pro-abortion stance. This is not a political issue, but a moral policy where debates may be quite suitable.

Abortion is recommended by human reason and the Church as being a serious crime. If people stop for a minute and consider what abortion really is, the "vaccination of fetal tissue from a helpless woman victim," but rather the taking of innocent life, they may realize that it is as evil as the slaughtering of Jews or any other group by race, age or sex. With the seriousness of abortion in mind, I wish we could all have this debate as I would also want my children to have an understanding of a neo-Nazi to campus to campus to debate about abortion, because we are the future of the KKK in this country. We are the future of whether or not African-Americans should be lynched.

People argue that there are non-Catholic views among the student body here, but it is so obvious that we need only look at the pro-choice movement has to earn an "A" on my next test. It is unimportant that it has to earn an "A" on my next test. It is unimportant that it has to earn an "A" on my next test. I find it highly ironic that our government would overstep its bounds to declare a human child. Therefore, what is in the argument of those who believe in abortion, and the refutation of their arguments.

The proper place to study these arguments, I believe, seems to be the classroom, where serious people can be heard, and not the debate floor where emotions are aroused which can blind reason. The role emotional play at a debate seems to create the risk of isolated people to view the view of pregnant woman to view the view of a pregnant woman who has a "problem" rather than a child in her womb. If during a concert on campus one person was stamped in the crowds, would we all stop in our tracks? Should we not be concerned that after this debate, a child might be killed?

Fernando Alessandri Ideas and Issues SUB Nov 27, 1990

Dear Editor: I would like to express my reservations about the recent decision by the Student Union Board to sponsor an abortion debate here at Notre Dame. My concern is that this is a Catholic university, and that it seems that as responsible students we should not pay people to come and try to win over the pro-abortion stance. This is not a political issue, but a moral policy where debates may be quite suitable.

Abortion is recommended by human reason and the Church as being a serious crime. If people stop for a minute and consider what abortion really is, the "vaccination of fetal tissue from a helpless woman victim," but rather the taking of innocent life, they may realize that it is as evil as the slaughtering of Jews or any other group by race, age or sex. With the seriousness of abortion in mind, I wish we could all have this debate as I would also want my children to have an understanding of a neo-Nazi to campus to campus to debate about abortion, because we are the future of the KKK in this country. We are the future of whether or not African-Americans should be lynched.

People argue that there are non-Catholic views among the student body here, but it is so obvious that we need only look at the pro-choice movement has to earn an "A" on my next test. It is unimportant that it has to earn an "A" on my next test. I find it highly ironic that our government would overstep its bounds to declare a human child. Therefore, what is in the argument of those who believe in abortion, and the refutation of their arguments.

The proper place to study these arguments, I believe, seems to be the classroom, where serious people can be heard, and not the debate floor where emotions are aroused which can blind reason. The role emotional play at a debate seems to create the risk of isolated people to view the view of pregnant woman to view the view of a pregnant woman who has a "problem" rather than a child in her womb. If during a concert on campus one person was stamped in the crowds, would we all stop in our tracks? Should we not be concerned that after this debate, a child might be killed?

Fernando Alessandri Ideas and Issues SUB Nov 27, 1990
Semester at Sea:
Two ND students' perspectives on a unique method of studying abroad

By LISA EATON
Accent Writer

Diana Barnes, a senior living in Farley, had the unique experience last summer of spending her summer at sea through a program offered by the Sea Education Association (SEA).

Barnes left her home in Pittsburgh, Pa. for Woods Hole, Mass., two weeks after school ended last May. She spent the first six weeks of her summer in classes at the campus of SEA in preparation for the sea voyage.

She took one Oceanography class which was a basic science class in the study of the sea. Her class in Nautical Science taught her all about sailing and included instruction on such things as navigating a ship by the stars.

Barnes also took Maritime Studies as her final "land" class. This was a class which covered the literature, history and public policies of the sea. Of course, a class like this would not be complete without a reading of the famous sea novel Moby Dick.

After spending the first six weeks of the summer on land Barnes and her fellow sailors got the opportunity to finally take to the sea. There were 35 people, 10 crew and 25 students, on the SSV Corwith Cramer when it set sail from Woods Hole, Mass. on July 13, 1990.

The time on the boat was very different from the time on land, according to Barnes. One thing that was an enormous adjustment for the students was the constant motion up and down and side to side whether you're eating, sleeping or in classes.

While on the ship the students passed their time by doing many things. All of the students were working on a research science project for their time on the sea. Barnes did her project in the field of physical oceanography. She studied the different currents and water masses of Nova Scotia.

The students also attended classes while on the ship. "We had practical oceanography 1 and 2 while on the ship. Basically, we learned how to sail." In addition to the research projects and the classes there were also guest speakers who would join the students for a leg of their journey and lecture on a topic related to their experiences on the water.

Most importantly, the students were able to apply what they had learned academically on the water.

Watch Duty which entailed early mornings and the actual sailing of the ship according to Barnes, "Two days out of three I was up at 3 am and on Watch Duty.

If they were not sailing the ship or in classes, three of the students had galley duty. On any given day the sailor with galley duty would have to prepare three meals for 35 people, which is not an easy task according to Barnes. We were fed well, though. In addition to three meals a day we got three snacks a day-good thing like that.

The ship sailed from Massachusetts up to Nova Scotia and Newfoundland and then returned to Gloucester, Mass. on August 24, 1990. About every other week they would stop at a port for about two days. And what were the favorite port activities? "We called home, did laundry and grabbed some fast food."

The most exciting part of the whole summer for Barnes was when they almost had a run-in with Hurricane Bertha. The ship was forced to go off course in its attempt to outrun the storm because Hurricane Bertha was heading straight towards them. Although the hurricane never caught up with them, they experienced some very rough weather. There were waves up to 15 feet high. Barnes recalls, "You looked out at a wall of water, it was wild.

Barnes found the SEA program while searching for a summer job. She was looking for a job in an oceanography laboratory when someone directed her to this program. She had always loved sailing and had been thinking about a possible career in physical oceanography when she happened upon this program.

All that is required for the program is that the student be in college and have some basic science classes. Barnes stresses that it is not important to be interested in sailing or have any experience in studying the ocean because you have the opportunity to learn everything you need to know. "You don't have to have any sailing experience or be interested in physical oceanography. There was a guy from Indiana who had never even seen the ocean before," says Barnes.

Life on the ocean was definitely a different experience for Barnes. She says, "It was another world, it had its own characteristics. It was amazing."

It was such a different experience. It is hard to believe that I was at sea now that I am in cornfields, doing homework and looking at trees."

Above: Senior Diana Barnes takes a first turn at the helm of SEA's brigantine, the SSV Corwith Cramer.

Below: Dan Miller, a junior from Notre Dame, spends the semester studying at sea through the University of Pittsburgh.

While all of the Domers in South Bend are preparing to build the usual tower or to buy the unpleasant onslaught of another Indiana winter, Dan Miller, a Notre Dame junior is preparing to visit the beautiful and many country of Brazil.

Miller is another sea-going Domer who is currently participating in a Semester at Sea program through the University of Pittsburgh.

The Semester at Sea program is a 100-day voyage that began on September 14, 1990 in Vancouver, British Columbia on the SS Universe. By the time the semester in finished in December, the 500 students on board will have visited the most interesting countries as Japan, Taiwan, Hong Kong, Malaysia, India, Seychelles, Kenya, Brazil and Venezuela.

The program is administered academically by the University of Pittsburgh and has existed since 1963 when it was started at Chapman College by the Institute for Shipboard Education.

Since the beginning, the program has been designed to give the students the opportunity to experience foreign studies from a new perspective.

Paul Watson, the director of the program at the University of Pittsburgh, emphasizes the global focus of this program. He says, "We emphasize a variety of cultural, economic, and political perspectives. We pay particular attention to Third World and developing countries, so students get a diversity of experience.

"One of the most unique aspects of the program in which Diana Barnes participated, the Semester at Sea program does not require the students to be involved in the actual navigation and maintenance of the ship.

The program that Miller is on is mainly an academic program with a liberal arts focus. The classes that the students take while on the ship are very similar to the classes that they would be taking at the university from which they have come.

Watson feels very strongly about the importance of foreign studies and believes that the Semester at Sea provides the students with an invaluable learning experience. "They [the students] often have life changing experiences."

Study at sea programs provide interesting and exciting changes from the routine of spending four years in one geographic area, a little more adventurous than the very popular Western Europe study abroad programs. Miller and Barnes have both found out. Who knows? This new twist to the genre of foreign study programs could be the wave of the future.
HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN! help for the person looking for a lost chair. help for the person who has found a lost chair.

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!

HELP HELP HELP HELP I CANNOT TELL IF THIS CHAIR IS MY OWN!
DEBATE WORKSHOP

For all those interested in debating in Iceberg Debates. No previous debating experience is necessary.

---

ICEBERG DEBATES

Saturday, December 2nd

Time: 2-3:30

Library Auditorium

Presented by Iceberg Debates Standing Committee

---

NHL STANDINGS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>W</th>
<th>L</th>
<th>T</th>
<th>GF</th>
<th>GA</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>NY Rangers</td>
<td>16</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>57</td>
<td>87</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Philadelphia</td>
<td>14</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>3</td>
<td>54</td>
<td>89</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New Jersey</td>
<td>13</td>
<td>10</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>39</td>
<td>70</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Boston</td>
<td>12</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>14</td>
<td>27</td>
<td>67</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Buffalo</td>
<td>10</td>
<td>12</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>22</td>
<td>62</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Montreal</td>
<td>10</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>20</td>
<td>52</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tampa Bay</td>
<td>9</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>34</td>
<td>41</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Los Angeles</td>
<td>9</td>
<td>8</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>31</td>
<td>58</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Boston</td>
<td>8</td>
<td>10</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>27</td>
<td>64</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>St. Louis</td>
<td>8</td>
<td>10</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>25</td>
<td>56</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Detroit</td>
<td>8</td>
<td>10</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>25</td>
<td>56</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Camperbell Conference

- San Diego: 5-7-0 (.417) 234-203
- Seattle: 5-6-0 (.455) 209-216
- Quebec: 3-18-5 (.11) 67-119
- Kansas City: 7-4-0 (.636) 246-172

Norris Division

- San Diego: 5-7-0 (.417) 234-203
- Seattle: 5-6-0 (.455) 209-216
- Quebec: 3-18-5 (.11) 67-119
- Kansas City: 7-4-0 (.636) 246-172

NATIONAL CONFERENCE

East

- xNY Giants: 3-0-1 (.750) 54-27-21
- Philadelphia: 2-0-1 (.667) 45-17-24
- New York: 0-0-0 (0.000) 24-24-24
- Hartford: 0-0-0 (0.000) 24-24-24
- Buffalo: 0-0-0 (0.000) 24-24-24

West

- St. Louis: 15-7-2 (.700) 84-65
- St. Louis: 15-7-2 (.700) 84-65
- Vancouver: 4-6-0 (.400) 25-30
- Detroit: 11-7-1 (.609) 87-88
- Edmonton: 12-10-1 (.561) 91-79

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>W</th>
<th>L</th>
<th>T</th>
<th>GF</th>
<th>GA</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>St. Louis</td>
<td>15</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>32</td>
<td>84</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>St. Louis</td>
<td>15</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>32</td>
<td>84</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vancouver</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>25</td>
<td>30</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Detroit</td>
<td>11</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>25</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Edmonton</td>
<td>12</td>
<td>10</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>25</td>
<td>25</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

NBA STANDINGS

- Team         | W | L | Pet. |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Golden State</td>
<td>9</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>.600</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LA Clippers</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>.462</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Phoenix</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>.636</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Minnesota</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>.500</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Houston</td>
<td>8</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>.571</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LA Lakers</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>.636</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Seattle</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>9</td>
<td>.400</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Charlotte</td>
<td>8</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>.533</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Toronto</td>
<td>9</td>
<td>8</td>
<td>.537</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Denver</td>
<td>13</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>.857</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chicago</td>
<td>11</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>.682</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Indiana</td>
<td>10</td>
<td>10</td>
<td>.500</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Miami</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>9</td>
<td>.439</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

How the Top 25 Fared

- National League
  - 1. UNLV (0-0) did not play. Saturday: vs. Arizona State at Tempe, Ariz.
  - 4. Long Beach State (3-0-0) did not play. Saturday: vs. Arizona State at Tempe, Ariz.

- Big 10 Conference
  - 1. Ohio State (0-0-0) did not play. Friday: vs. Michigan State at Columbus, Ohio.
  - 2. Michigan State (1-0-0) at Nebraska.

- University of Michigan

-  SEC Conference
  - 1. University of Alabama (3-0-0) did not play. Saturday: vs. Georgia at Athens, Ga.
  - 2. University of Tennessee (3-0-0) did not play. Friday: vs. Louisiana State at Knoxville, Tenn.

- ACC Conference
  - 1. Virginia (3-0-0) did not play. Friday: vs. Duke at Durham, N.C.

- Big East Conference
  - 1. Georgetown (3-0-0) did not play. Saturday: vs. St. John's at New York, N.Y.
  - 2. St. John's (2-0-0) did not play. Saturday: vs. Georgetown at Washington, D.C.
  - 3. Providence (2-0-0) did not play. Friday: vs. Rhode Island at Providence, R.I.

- National Hockey League
  - 1. Los Angeles at St. Louis, 8:35 p.m.
  - 2. Detroit at Chicago, 8:35 p.m.
  - 3. Edmonton at Boston, 7:35 p.m.
  - 4. Quebec at Hartford, 7:35 p.m.

- NFL STANDINGS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>W</th>
<th>L</th>
<th>Pet.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>SF 49ers</td>
<td>10</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>.667</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Buffalo</td>
<td>9</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>.600</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>San Francisco</td>
<td>8</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>.533</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Houston</td>
<td>8</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>.571</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Minnesota</td>
<td>8</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>.533</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Philadelphia</td>
<td>8</td>
<td>8</td>
<td>.500</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Miami</td>
<td>8</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>.571</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LA Rams</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>.542</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dallas</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>.462</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LA Raiders</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>.462</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>San Diego</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>8</td>
<td>.385</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Atlanta</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>9</td>
<td>.308</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chicago</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>9</td>
<td>.308</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Seattle</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>.462</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Denver</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>10</td>
<td>.176</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New England</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>10</td>
<td>.091</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>New Orleans</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>10</td>
<td>.091</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Green Bay</td>
<td>3</td>
<td>11</td>
<td>.214</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Philadelphia</td>
<td>3</td>
<td>11</td>
<td>.214</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Baltimore</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>11</td>
<td>.176</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>St. Louis</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>11</td>
<td>.176</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Minnesota</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>11</td>
<td>.176</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Buffalo</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>11</td>
<td>.176</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>San Diego</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>11</td>
<td>.176</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Denver</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>11</td>
<td>.176</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

DEBATE WORKSHOP

For all those interested in debating in Iceberg Debates. No previous debating experience is necessary.
Sledding potentially injurious, say experts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Think sledding is harmless fun? Well, it may be fun but it's not harmless.

"It's a very common misperception that sledding is inherently safe," said Dr. Robert Dershewitz, chief of pediatrics at the Kaunitz, Mass., facility of a health maintenance organization, the Harvard Community Health Plan. "It has its own inherent dangers."

Dershewitz reviewed the dangers in a brief report in the American Journal of Diseases of Children. The study is based on hospital treatment statistics collected by the Massachusetts Department of Public Health over three years ending Aug. 30, 1982, but the breakthroughs are similar to those in other studies, Dershewitz said.

The federal Consumer Product Safety Commission reports 33,809 cases in which sledders had to come to hospital emergency rooms in 1989.

Forty-one percent of injuries in Dershewitz' study were to children ages 5 to 9, and almost two thirds of the total 80 cases were caused by a collision with another sled, 18 percent from striking a tree, and 13 percent from striking other objects, such as a wall, said the emergency room physician.

Also, she said, 10 percent came from collisions with another person — generally, cases in which one child was walking up the run while another came sledding down. Sled runs should be divided into uphill and downhill lanes to avoid this, she said.

Dershewitz and Vaidyanathan conceded that their figures don't tell how much risk a child faces, because they have no total number of sledgers against which they could compare the injuries. But both say the sport could be made safer if parents and children paid attention to sledding conditions.

Sports Briefs

Orange Bowl tickets will be on sale today through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Each student can buy one by presenting a student ID. Students must also present the ID in Florida.

Any available novice and varsity ports sledders are welcome. Bring a friend. Question? Call Mark Zoia at x4088.

Limited Edition Holiday Ornament

IRISH ACCENT

Celebrate this holiday season with a beautifully designed and dated collectible that features the Golden Dome of the Administration building

A n exclusive 3-dimensional ornament is created with 24K gold on heavy jewelers brass. This ornament is perfect for your own holiday decorating or as a timeless gift. Each is numbered and signed by the Director of the Mint and comes with a certificate of authenticity. Order now as quantities are limited.

These ornaments are sure to be a keepsake for Irish fans everywhere. This design is limited to the 1990 first edition ornament.

Exclusively from the Charleston Mint of Charleston, South Carolina.

For Inquiries and Orders Call: 1-800-966-4003 or 317-254-8382

Thursday, November 29, 1990

The Observer
Rolling Stone: The Photographs/On Exhibit at University Campuses 1990-1991

Monday, Dec. 3 thru Thursday, Dec. 6 • Open 10 a.m. - 6 p.m.
Complimentary Coffee • FREE ADMISSION
Commemorative Mugs (while supplies last)

FROM THE BOOK PUBLISHED BY SIMON AND SCHUSTER
Tide, Tigers ready to collide

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — This was supposed to be the year Alabama had a powerful offense and a strong defense. Boy, was that wrong.

Defense has been the Crimson Tide's strength, but neither team has a reliable offens e. Why Saturday's matchup at Legion Field isn't important to the national rankings.

Alabama (4-6) has allowed only two touchdowns in its last six games. But 20th-ranked Auburn (7-2-1) lost to Florida 48-7 and gave up 12 points in a 13-12 defeat against Southern Mississippi on Nov. 10.

"They definitely can be scored," Auburn offensive coordinator Wally Lomande Russell said, "and that's the biggest thing I look at.

Auburn will be seeking at least a share of its fourth consecutive Southeastern Conference title and a fifth consecutive victory over Alabama.

Last year, the Crimson Tide averaged 17 points per game for their first 10 games. Eleven offensive starters returned, but there have been injuries and the scoring average is down to 24 points per game this year.

Alabama lost to Florida 24 points per game this year. "They're a completely different offense this year," Auburn defensive coordinator Wally Lomande Hall said. "The biggest thing is that they've lost a lot of experience at some positions, so they have to be a little more conserva tive in the same places.

Auburn's offense is scoring 25 points per game but has been inconsistent. The Tigers had minus-14 yards rushing against Florida.

Tigers coach Pat Dye is hoping the game doesn't become an offensive battle. He said he believes the Crimson Tide's defense, a favorite, has the best defense in the country.

"We're in deep trouble if it's a high-scoring game," Dye said.

The Crimson Tide defense leads the SEC and is fourth nationally in scoring defense, allowing only 12 points per game. It is third nationally in total defense with 225 yards per game.

Auburn, on the other hand, is allowing nearly 18 points per game — twice its average of last year.

Alabama's offense has improved since its 0-3 start. Crimson Tide quarterback Gary Hollsworth has only four touchdown passes compared to 14 in 1989, but Auburn head coach Reggie Her rington said the numbers are deceptive.

"They're a ball-control off ense that's putting the game more in the defense's hands," Herrington said. "It has simplified things for Hollsworth. It's our job to play it, run it, and get it done. That's given them confi dence.

Swim

continued from page 20

Swim.

The Observer Thursday, November 29, 1990

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — The scale has been moved, but New England cornerback Maurice Hurst has the same locker that turned into the eye of a storm.

Hurst sat at that locker Wednesday, the day after two of his Pittsburgh teammates and one former New England player were fined by NFL commissioner Paul Tagliabue for a sexual harassment incident involving a reporter.

"Sitting here (when the incident occurred) possibly put me in a place where I could be a suspect," Hurst said. "I would have really hurt them if they had come up with a conclusion like that.

The fines followed an NFL report released Tuesday on an investigation of claims byLisa Olson of the Boston Herald that she was harassed by several players on Sept. 17.

Zeki Mowatt, who was fined $12,500, was standing on the scale beside the locker where Olson was interviewing Hurst when the incident occurred, the report said. Michael Timpson and Rupert Perryman, now with Dallas, were fined $5,000 each.

"According to a number of players he (Mowatt) turned toward her and said, 'you're not writing, you're just sitting there,'" said the report. "Olson did not hear this remark, although she saw him addressing the reporter and purposely displayed herself to her in a suggestive manner.

The scale has been moved into the nearby shower room.

Hurst said he was interviewed twice by investigators and did "not really agree with what he heard in the report. He said he hadn't read it.

"I don't think I was really a fair decision," he said, "for the team, he added, "I told (the investigators) whatever I had heard or seen.

Hurst voiced the hope of many of his teammates that "we can concentrate on just playing football now."

Cornerback Ronnie Lippett said the reason of the report and Tagliabue's actions was "common courtesy."

"We're truly sorry — that it's ever happened. We're trying to heal the wounds within our organization and go on about our business of winning games, and getting the public behind us instead of against us.

SMC hoops drops opener

By CHRIS BACON

Saint Mary's Sports Editor

The Saint Mary's basketball team dropped its first game of the season Tuesday night after a close battle with NCAA Division II National Champion Hope College, 62-59.

Defensive weaknesses led to the team's downfall. Hope pulled out to a nine point lead in the first half as a result of poor shooting and passing by the Belles. But the Belles' defensive defense held Hope in check and the team climbed back into the game.

At halftime, the team only trailed by four, 33-29.

In the second half, Hope again jumped out ahead with a 12 point lead. But the Belles slowly picked at the Hope lead. The team stole the lead with only 314 minutes left to play to go on top 55-53.

However, missed free throws by the Belles allowed Hope to recapture the lead. With only 18 seconds left in the game, Hope led 60-59. Hope sank both of its free throw attempts, clinching their 62-59 victory over the Belles.

"They have a good basketball team. They played well in spurts against us and we played well at times against them," said Belles head coach Mary Wood. "Down the stretch they hit their free throws and we didn't."

"We did really well considering they are the national champions," said junior forward Catherine Bestwick of the Belles effort.

"In the previous game our fast-break game worked well. In this game we had to work much harder."

Restovich led the team with 12 points, eight rebounds and four assists. Sophomore center Kim Holmes tallied 12 points. The team shot for 35.8 percent from the field and 43 percent from the line.

The Belles will be back in action this weekend when they host the annual Round Ball Classic in Angela Athletic Facilities.
Happy Hoosiers awaiting Peach Bowl

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Indiana football coach Bill Mallory will be in Atlanta Thursday to meet with Peach Bowl officials.

The Hoosiers probably will face the loser of Saturday's Auburn-Alabama game in the bowl game Dec. 29.

The team had Thanksgiving week off but is preparing this week for the Peach Bowl. Mallory will send an assistant to scout the Auburn-Alabama game.

"It's just such a good feeling going back to a bowl," said Mallory, who recorded his fourth winning season and bowl appearance with the Hoosiers.

"It's our last game. We're hoping to walk away with this victory, and I think we're in a good position to do it." said Mallory.

The Hoosiers finished sixth in the Big Ten at 3-4-1, winning one of their last seven games. But the 28-14 Old Oaken Bucket victory over Purdue Saturday salvaged the season. Had the Hoosiers lost, the situation could have become critical.

"I think next year he can be a great football player," said Mallory.

"Fullback Cal Miller is graduating, and Mallory has only one more year with Dunbar. Backup Steve Goodrich and fullback Eric Thompson. Mallory hopes Dunbar's emergence and the 1990 Heisman winner said Ismail's talents as a return man."

"It's imperative that we go out and have a good year recruiting," said Mallory.

Mallory most covets high-quality running backs, though he already has one in junior tailback Vaughn Dunbar. Dunbar came back from two junior college seasons and a redshirt year to finish third in Big Ten rushing and 16th nationally with 1,143 yards (5.0 per carry, 103.9 per game) and 13 touchdowns.

"I think next year he can be without a question one of the top running backs in the country," said Mallory.

Fighting Irish ready for "extraordinary" Notre Dame basketball

The Notre Dame basketball team is looking forward to playing an "extraordinary" game against the Hoosiers.

"We're looking forward to playing another outstanding team," said Notre Dame head coach Digger Phelps. "We're getting ready for the big game."" continued from page 20

In my opinion, the Irish have nobody to win a national championship.

Coach Schafer is clearly impressed with the play of his young netminder, especially his mental approach to the game.

"It doesn't seem to upset his play (when he's scored on)," says Schafer. "As soon as the puck has been dropped, he's ready to start over again."

Londer feels that his physical tools are a big part of his success in goal.

"My size (6-1, 185) helps a lot," he says. "I use it to my advantage, playing the angles as opposed to reactions."

His success in high school should have been an indicator of his success in college, but his immediate impact has surprised even himself.

"I expected the transition to take a little longer," he says, "but so far I'm doing OK."

With accolades and honors piled on him, it seems that Londer has a bright future in front of him and Coach Schafer agrees.

"It's hard to say with 3 1/2 years of college ahead of him, but he has the tools and proper temperment," says Schafer.

Londer would like to play professionally some day, but as a freshman he's not overly concerned with his future after college.

"It'd be nice if things work out to play professionally, but if it's in the NHL or in Europe, it's nice to have that as one of your options. It's pretty much a dream of every hockey player," he says.

With Londer playing so well, it seems the Irish have found their goaltender of the present and future. For his part, Londer thinks the match is perfect.

"It's everything I could have asked for," said Londer. "Schoolwork has been going great and hockey's been going great."

Luckily, Coach Schafer will have a while to wait before he has to worry about who is going to be playing goal when the Irish take the ice.

Hoops

continued from page 20

Ellis said. "We noticed it, it just took us a little too long to react. I let a couple of passes go inside that I shouldn't have; in that zone if the guard penetrates, I'm supposed to come up and stop penetration."

According to Daimon Sweet, who led Notre Dame with 19 points, the Irish have nobody to blame but themselves.

"We just have to play with the same pace and the same emotion in each half," Sweet said. "When we put two halves together, that will make us a better team, but I don't think we did that tonight."

It just appeared as if it was all going to come together for the Irish. It was almost a surprise when Elmer Bennett's three-pointer, which could have sent the game into overtime, rolled off the rim at the buzzer. After the losses to Duke and Arizona, this could have been a big victory for Notre Dame.

"We didn't play too well against Arizona," Irish forward Kevin Ellery said, "but against Duke we came back and played better. We still didn't win, though, and we thought tonight could be a turning point. We really wanted to beat them because they were a Top 10 team, but halfway through we just lost our intensity, we made turnovers, and missed free throws in defense."

Notre Dame also looked lethargic on offense in the second half. The Irish didn't have any trouble with Indiana's man-to-man defense early in the game, but when it came to crunch time, Phelps's troops couldn't buy a hoop.

"We just stopped moving around on offense, we were standing around, and we couldn't really get into it. We weren't getting out and running the break, either," Ellery lamented.

Bennett, who scored the last seven Irish points and finished with 18, put it all in perspective.

"It's just a disappointment losing to a team in the Top 10 again," he said. "We had the game, but we didn't grab it, had some turnovers, and let them back into the game. I think things will come around really soon for us, though. We play the toughest schedule in the nation, but hopefully we'll be able to get some wins against these teams."

Irish

continued from page 20

play than we got from Meeks today."

"You expect them to make some kind of spurt because of their defensive capabilities," Phelps said. "Because of their defensive capabilities. We just gave up too many points inside."

Guard Pat Graham nailed four free throws in the final minute to seal the win, including his school-record 38th consecutive free throw. Meeks's foul shot with six seconds left provided the final margin of victory.

IndianaPolo (AP) - Sophomore guard Rich Mount is leaving the Purdue basketball team and will transfer to another school at the end of the semester, his father, former Boilermaker star Rick Mount, said Wednesday night.

R ich went through that last two years of college ahead of him, but he has the tools and proper perspective."

It's just a disappointment losing to a team in the Top 10 again," he said. "We had the game, but we didn't grab it, had some turnovers, and let them back into the game. I think things will come around really soon for us, though. We play the toughest schedule in the nation, but hopefully we'll be able to get some wins against these teams.

"My ties were with George King and Bob King, not with Gene Keady," Rick Mount said. "Deep down I still remember them a lot. But with Gene Keady there, I have no ties with him. This is what Rich decided on his own. He asked me about it, and I told him, 'You have to make your own decision.' I respect his judgment."

The Institute for International Peace Studies presents EILEEN EGAN

Editor, Catholic Worker Founder of Pax Christi USA

Lecture

"DOROTHY DAY: PROPHET OF PEACE"

Thursday, November 29, 1990
4:00 p.m. - 121 Law School

Open to the Public - No Admission Charge

We have all known the long loneliness and have learned that the only solution is love and that love comes with community.
Lecture Circuit

4 p.m. Kellogg Institute Lecture, "Reintegrating the Soviet Union into Europe," Jerry Hough from Duke University. Hesburgh Library Lounge. Sponsored by the Kellogg Institute, Committee for European Studies.

5 p.m. College of Business Administration Faculty Research Seminar, "Non-existence of Equilibria for Price-Quantity Games," Dr. Kenneth Arrow, Stanford University. Room 222, Hayes Healy. Admission Free. Sponsored by Department of Finance and Business Economics.

8 p.m. Lecture, "South Africa in Transition," Center For Continuing Education. Call for further info (219) 239-6091.

Crossword

ACROSS

1 Cow
2 U.S. Industrialist: 1883-1979
3 Pigpen's home
4 Headland
5 Sago HEDS
6 Crane
7 Diagnostic aid
8 Daughter of Louis XII
9 Slack
10 Asper
11 Fix, in a way
12 EAST ST
13 Wond in mystery
14 Assail
15 Informal farewell
16 What place Solver?
17 Drain
18 barren
19 Eggplant Parmesan
20 Beef Turnover w/Gravy
21 The Great Debate: Abortion
22 Chili Nachos
23 Ham and Cheese Hot Wrap
24 Pork delicacies
25 Tyrannical Pers.
26 Served in a Toby
27 "What place Solver?"
28 I'm decided

DOWN

1 Goes to the plate
2 "...dew will them":
3 Turkish regiment
4 U.S. abolitionist: 1805-79
5 Thin pancakes
6 Border guard's command
7 German boundary river
8 Small amount, in Madrid
9 Located
10 Kind of plate or room
11 Formerly
12 "... o cara,":
13 Baffling area
14 Rocky peak
15 Applying
16 Wheat, in Nice
17 Crimson interpretation
18 Shed drops
19 Said over
20 Floor, in France
21 Reman
22 Type of beam
23 Curves
24 Dumb
25 Kind
26 U.S. historian: 1840-1914
27 Floor, in France
28 Reman
29 More immense
30 (seemingly)
31 Fix over
32 Slight weight
33 Said over
34 Little fox
35 More immense
36 Were
37 (seemingly)
38 Fix over
39 Said over
40 Dali, for one
41 Little fox
42 More immense
43 Were 44 Fix over
45 Said over
46 Said over
47 Said over
48 Said over
49 Saying
50 Fix over

31 U.S. historian
32 Kind of bank
33 Bond's school
34 Type of book
35 Named Irish hill

Answers to any three clues in this puzzle are available by Touch-Tone phone: 1-800-420-5656 (75¢ each minute).

THE GREAT DEBATE

ABORTION

Tonight at 7:30

in the Cushing Auditorium

THE FAR SIDE

Gary Larson

SPELUNKER

JAY HOSLER

STUDENT UNION BOARD

THE GREAT DEBATE

ABORTION

Tonight at 7:30

in the Cushing Auditorium

Sarah Waddington

Defense attorney in Roe v. Wade case

Joseph Scheidler

Author, producer, speaker, columnist for Pro-Life

Menus

Notre Dame

Baked Parmesan Chicken
Roast Turnover w/Gravy
Eggplant Parmesan
Baked Chicken with herbs

Saint Mary's

Ham and Cheese Hot Wrap
Chili Nachos
Zucchini Spinach Caserole
Deli Bar

Calvin and Hobbes

I've decided
I Don't want to be famous
No
Are you (did) can be famous?
I'm working
The legendary
This

Bill Watterson

Will I didn't mean
Right this second?

In the Light That Was He Died

A wrestling Sunday with wrestlingtones and wrestling... muscles... if so... a small... pain... will stop him...

From behind the mask

Willy Wonka

You bet! Find some...
Some answer to...
And put that...
Before my... capital...
Indiana defeats Irish 70-67

Jamil Meeks scores 11 points to fuel late Hoosier rally

By FRANK PASTOR
Associate Sports Editor

Jamil Meeks fumbled his way into the Fighting Irish's heart Wednesday night.

Meeks, Indiana's third guard, recovered from a second-half turnover against Notre Dame's full-court press to score 11 second-half points and dish out eight assists in the Hoosiers' 70-67 win over the Joyce ACC.

The Irish led the third straight等到 a top 10 team for Notre Dame (2-3), which lost to No. 3 Arizona and No. 6 Duke last week in the Dome.

The Irish led by as many as 12 points in the second half before falling to 35-33 as the Blue Devils won. Forward Daimon Sweet's two threes with 14:16 remaining gave Notre Dame a commanding 45-33 advantage, but Indiana rode a 14-4 spurt to draw within two at 49-47.

Forward Calvin Cheaney scored 19 points in the second half while the Irish defense held Sweet, who had combined for 19 points in the first half, to just six points.

The Irish led out of the locker room at intermission.

Sweet (19 points) and guard Elmer Bennett (18 points), Notre Dame's "Texas Express," combined for 19 points in the first half while the Irish defense held Cheaney, Indiana's leading scorer at 20.3 points per game, scoreless through the first 20 minutes.

"I thought we played well in the first 24 minutes," Irish head coach Digger Phelps said. "I felt it came down to the last 14 minutes. We didn't do the things defensively that we needed to do. We didn't protect the inside, and we committed turnovers that you can't make in a situation like that." Indiana forced eight Notre Dame turnovers in the second half by changing to a tenacious man-to-man defense that forced the Irish into bad passes and hurried shots.

"We got our transition game in the second half," Bennett said, "and we just couldn't get the ball inside. Everybody was standing out on the streak."

Meeks, meanwhile had his way with the Irish defense. The junior guard took over the point when Bailey fouled out at the 5:28 mark and set up Cheaney for 15 second-half points.

Meeks was left unguarded at the top of the key and hit several key jump shots down the stretch. He also found Cheaney underneath the basket with 54 seconds remaining to give the Hoosiers an insurmountable 63-60.

"It was a really good lift," Meeks said. "I gave us a chance to win. We just hadn't anybody in a long time. We couldn't ask for better guard today." see Irish / page 18

Irish come oh-so-close in third loss to Top 10 team

At halftime it seemed like they were finally going to pull it off. The Notre Dame men's basketball team had looked awful in a 91-61 loss to No. 2 Arizona last week. Against No. 8 Duke, the Irish looked a little bit better, and a second-half comeback left them just eight points short as the Blue Devils held on for an 85-77 win.

Late in the first half at the Joyce ACC it seemed like Digger Phelps' squad was about to blow out its rivals against a top six team. The Irish led No. 10 Indiana 35-25 at the intermission.

Every time the Hoosiers made a run in the first half, Notre Dame responded by pulling away. In the second half, Indiana poded back into the 50 minute lead, and things looked gloomy for the Hoosiers at halftime.

But it all fell apart in the second half, as Jamil Meeks and Calvin Cheaney, who were both scoreless at halftime, scored 11 and 15 points respectively. Meeks and Cheaney exploded the middle of the Irish zone defense which was extended out on the wings in order to stop the Hoosiers' 3-pointers. (18 points), Notre Dame's "Texas Express,"

"We went into our transition game in the second half," Bennett said, "and we just couldn't get the ball inside. Everybody was standing out on the streak."

Meeks, meanwhile had his way with the Irish defense. The junior guard took over the point when Bailey fouled out at the 5:28 mark and set up Cheaney for 15 second-half points.

Meeks was left unguarded at the top of the key and hit several key jump shots down the stretch. He also found Cheaney underneath the basket with 54 seconds remaining to give the Hoosiers an insurmountable 63-60.

"It was a really good lift," Meeks said. "I gave us a chance to win. We just hadn't anybody in a long time. We couldn't ask for better guard today." see Irish / page 18

Louder buoys Irish hockey

Head coach Schafer optimistic about freshman goalie

RICH KURZ
Sports Writer

When the 1999-90 hockey season ended last March, Notre Dame head coach George Schafer had a few questions to answer. Like how he was going to replace 56 career wins and 359 career saves (both Irish records) that deserted him when he graduated last May, joining the Harlem Globetrotters for a season.

"All-Ivy laureate Meeks graduated Madison, we were concerned about replacing him," Greg Louder said. "He gave us more as a guard than we've had for a long time. We couldn't ask for better guard today." see Hoops / page 18

Olivieri leads Saint Mary's swimmers, divers

By EMILY WILLETT
Sports Writer

The Saint Mary's Swimming and Diving team look to senior Toni Olivieri for leadership and experience. As the only senior on the team, Toni has the job of leading the swim and diving team.

"As a senior I feel that I need to be a good role model for the other swimmers," said Toni. "It's important to have someone there who is always cheerful and keeping spirits up. I want to support the others as well as provide an example. I try to show the importance of concentrating in competition to perform at your best as well as being encouraging to those who are behind them.

While it is important to have senior guidance, Toni credits the other returning members for the leadership that they provide the team. The nine returning team members provide a base of experience and strength for the underclass members.

Toni brings a background in swimming that began at the age of six. She swam in summer leagues until she joined the Saint Mary's team her freshman year. Shoulder injuries forced her to redshirt during her sophomore year, but the team didn't let her participate in any competitive swimming.

This week the Saint Mary's team will compete in the National Catholic Invitational at Notre Dame. The meet places Division III Saint Mary's against a large number of Division I schools. As far as team placement this will be a hindrance, however there is room for strong individual performances.

This year Saint Mary's should have scorers in both swimming and diving. The meet provides a good opportunity for strong individual and relay performances," predicted Toni. Toni remembered National Catholic Championships as her first meet for Saint Mary's.

"As a freshman I was scared. The meet was large, and I wasn't comfortable with my team yet," recalled Toni.

She thinks that this year's team, however, will find the meet to be a less threatening, and probably aren't too surprised about attending Notre Dame. He was a four-year starter at the Cushing Academy in Massachusetts, where he was chosen as the Massachusetts Gator of the Year, as well as the top golfer at the All-American Tournament in Boston. Yet the most important selection of Louder's hockey career took place last spring when the Boston Bruins chose him in the fifth round of the NHL Draft, making him the second American goaltender selected in the draft. Despite the obvious temptation of going pro, Louder said that he never really entered his mind.

"As a right out of high school," he says. "I'd be pretty much ready to go to college. I'd be nice to have that (professional hockey) after college."

"Why would a goaltender who had his pick of colleges choose to attend Notre Dame over one of the more traditional hockey powers?"

"The academics with the athletics, " says Louder. "I felt nice to have that (professional hockey) after college."

"Why would a goaltender who had his pick of colleges choose to attend Notre Dame over one of the more traditional hockey powers?"

"The academics with the athletics, " says Louder. "I felt nice to have that (professional hockey) after college."

"Why would a goaltender who had his pick of colleges choose to attend Notre Dame over one of the more traditional hockey powers?"

"The academics with the athletics, " says Louder. "I felt nice to have that (professional hockey) after college."