The Observer

VOL. XXIII NO. 64 THURSDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1990

THE INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER SERVING NOTRE DAME AND SAINT MARY'S

Iraq accepts Bush's offer to hold talks

WASHINGTON (API) — Iraq has accepted President Bush's offer to hold talks on the Persian Gulf crisis, the State Department said Wednesday.

"We are engaged with them on dates and arrangements for the two meetings," the department said.

Bush had proposed that Iraqi President Saddam Hussein send his foreign minister, Tariq Aziz, to Washington. Then, Bush said in the offer last Friday. Secretary of State James Baker would go to Baghdad.

In Buenos Aires, Argentina, Bush said any talks would be mandated by U.N. Security Council resolutions that have been adopted since the crisis began.

"That means no concession of territory. That means freedom of innocent people that are held against their will. And that means the eventual security and stability of the gulf, although that's not specified by the resolution," Bush said.

His comments came before the State Department announced that Iraq had accepted the offer to hold talks.

Baker told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Wednesday that he would not negotiate with Saddam on the trip and added a new warning: "If force must be used, it will be used suddenly, massively and decisively."

He said his meeting in Baghdad "will not be the beginning of a negotiation over the terms of the United Nations resolutions."

Baker, said he would negotiate on subjects including an intifada and the downing of commercial aircraft and would begin to look at the Gulf's future as a "new political entity." But to Michael Loux, dean of Arts and Letters to the large influx of students in the past seven years. Today there are approximately 2400 students in the college, while seven years ago there were around 1500, he said.

Added to the problems of overenrollment is the fact that the students have flooded two deparments in particular, English and Government.

As if the disproportionate numbers of English and Government majors wasn't enough to affect registration, the Academic Council's decision four years ago to add to University requirements a literature or fine arts class and a history or social science course places more of the burden on these two departments, he said.

As a result, Loux said that students have a hard time getting the courses they need to graduate and to get what they want.

The short-term solution involves increasing the number of visiting and part-time professors, as well as increasing the number of courses offered. "We're going to do the best we can to meet the needs of the students," he said.

The Registrar's office is also trying to meet the needs of students, according to Winicur. He listened to student suggestions for changes in DART, such as adding more phone lines and a period of pulling students to gauge what classes will be most repeated.

Winicur said that the University is exploring the possibility of increasing the number of phone lines for DART, but that it is "a matter of money" and technology. Suggestions to enlarge existing class sizes are frequent, but not always feasible, according to Winicur. The lack of rooms in the new classroom building in 1992 should provide some relief, Winicur said until then "we don't have very much leeway."

Winicur explained the differences between the registration process before DART and with DART. In the past, the process involved students listing their course selections and a computer compilation of how many students wanted to enroll in each class. "In most cases, courses were over-subscribed," he said, referring to situations which 125-stu-

By MONICA YANT
Associate News Editor

If numbers are indicative of how many student complaints about the registration process, the attendance at last night's open forum showed the administration one thing: they don't care.

Only eight students showed the administration their concern by attending the Student Government-sponsored forum. But to Michael Loux, dean of the College of Arts and Letters, the small number coming out to voice their opinion sent a strong message.

"The unpredictability of this audience is part of the problem: that it is very difficult to determine what the problem really is," he said.

Loux was joined by Daniel Winicur, dean of Administration and Registrar and Bob Williamson, associate dean of Business Administration to answer student questions about the registration process and complications.

"I'm extremely disappointed with the number of students who showed up," said Bob Pasin, student body president.

"We've heard countless complaints about registration, yet when we give students the opportunity to speak to the administration directly responsible for the entire system, only eight show up."

Loux attributed many of the problems within the College of Arts and Letters to the large influx of students in the past seven years. Today there are approximately 2400 students in the college, while seven years ago there were around 1500, he said.

Added to the problems of overenrollment is the fact that the students have flooded two departments in particular, English and Government. As if the disproportionate numbers of English and Government majors wasn't enough to affect registration, the Academic Council's decision four years ago to add to University requirements a literature or fine arts class and a history or social science course places more of the burden on these two departments, he said.

As a result, Loux said that students have a hard time getting the courses they need to graduate and to get what they want.

The short-term solution involves increasing the number of visiting and part-time professors, as well as increasing the number of courses offered. "We're going to do the best we can to meet the needs of the students," he said.

The Registrar's office is also trying to meet the needs of students, according to Winicur. He listened to student suggestions for changes in DART, such as adding more phone lines and a period of pulling students to gauge what classes will be most repeated.

Winicur said that the University is exploring the possibility of increasing the number of phone lines for DART, but that it is "a matter of money" and technology. Suggestions to enlarge existing class sizes are frequent, but not always feasible, according to Winicur. The lack of rooms in the new classroom building in 1992 should provide some relief, Winicur said until then "we don't have very much leeway."

Winicur explained the differences between the registration process before DART and with DART. In the past, the process involved students listing their course selections and a computer compilation of how many students wanted to enroll in each class. "In most cases, courses were over-subscribed," he said, referring to situations which 125-stu-

For forum on registration offers answers, but attracts few students

Soviet political problems pose threat to Gorbachev

MOSCOW (API) — A newly formed bloc of conservative and liberal legislators demanded Wednesday that Mikhail Gorbachev impose a state of emergency and suspend activities of political parties and the parlaments of four republics.

The legislators, calling themselves the National Salvation Committee, all but called for a military coup to halt the nation's slide into chaos.

"There are many fascist elements emerging in many parts of the country, and this process should be stopped before it is too late," said Vladimir Zhirinovsky, a leader of the Liberal-Democratic Party and a Salvation Committee spokesman.

But Soviet President Gorbachev's main rival, Boris Yeltsin, expressed fierce opposition on Wednesday to using the military to resolve the country's political and economic crisis. He said catastrophe would result.

The self-declared Salvation Committee includes the hard-line "Sovna" group of parliamentarians as well as the reformist, Liberal-Democratic Party.

In asking army help to implement its plan and to enforce presidential powers, the group called the military "the sole force still resisting the disintegration of the state," the independent Interfax news agency reported.

Leaders demanded shifting power to the committee if Gorbachev did not act. Interfax and the state news agency Tass reported.

"Gorbachev must assume this see Soviets / page 4

Daily Chore

Army PFC Michelle Niese of Ottawa, Ohio, a member of Company B, 46th Engineering Battalion, carries bottled water for her living quarters in a tent at the unit's Saudi Arabian desert encampment Tuesday.
INSIDE COLUMN
Creative efforts to stop Snowball Fight

Patricia O'Hara
Managing Editor

Of interests are accepted at The Observer office for free, one time events of general interest. The Observer news department reserves the right to edit entries and determine if, when and where they will be placed. Of interests are not guaranteed. The deadline is 1 p.m.

SEAS is sponsoring the grapevine for PreChristmas Week. Pick up a letter at the door to the North Room at LaFortune to send to friends & family to inform them of the benefits of energy conservation.

Resident Assistant applications for 1991-92 are now available in the Office of Student Affairs. Room 315 Administration Building through January 18, 1991.

Israel's fruit. German sausages, Italian cheese and American medical supplies are among the products arriving in the Soviet Union as part of a worldwide private effort to ease winter shortages. Relief organizations have chartered planes, organized truck convoys to get past the vast country's transporta­tion bottlenecks. Several organizations have sent staff members to ensure that food and medicine reach their destinations. The Soviet government, which blames food problems on the collapse of its central distribution system, has not officially asked for the food. But the chronic shortages have worsened dramatically this winter.

Of interest is the visit of Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin to Washington this weekend. The visit is expected to focus on the Middle East peace process, particularly the Israeli-Palestinian negotiations. Rabin is scheduled to meet with President George H.W. Bush and other members of Congress. The visit comes as Israel and the United States work to strengthen their bilateral relationship. The relationship has been strained over issues such as arms sales and peace talks.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration, which managed to launch only six space shuttles this year, announced a new schedule Wednesday of 27 flights in the next three years. The schedule includes seven shuttle launches in 1991, eight in 1992 and 12 in 1993. In the three-year period, NASA also plans to launch 13 rockets. Their payloads include three major scientific probes. For the first time, there are no secret Defense Department launches on the schedule. But unclassified military cargos are slated for three flights, including the first one next year.

The Center for Social Concerns will be hosting a Hospitality Luncheon Thursday, December 6, from 11:30 a.m. - 1:30 p.m. at the CSC. Chilean food will be served. The luncheon will benefit the L'Arche Community. Please join us for lunch.

Juniorists interested in being a part of the music group for the class mass, there will be a rehearsal at 8:30 p.m. tonight at St. Ed's. The class mass will be Dec. 9 at 4:30 p.m.

Take time out to gather, listen and reflect on the Persian Gulf Crisis on Friday, Dec. 7, at 12:15 p.m. at Fieldhouse Mall.

The预制 hearing was set for Feb. 7 for Carl Purville, 19, of Indianapolis, one of three teens charged with murdering a couple whose bodies were dumped in the El River in northern Miami County. He was charged with one count of murder and taken to the Miami County Jail in Peru, where he made an initial court appearance Tuesday afternoon. The bodies of Jason Brown, 17, and his girlfriend, Nanette Scott, 23, were found Nov. 23. The felony charge carries a 45-year-sentence.

The discovery of PCB contamination in a flooded subdivision in Highland forced state officials to seal off about 120 homes Wednesday and turn away evacuated residents who had hoped to retrieve their belongings. Tests performed by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency showed PCB levels twice the acceptable level, said Jerome Hauer. The federal government banned the manu­facture of PCBs in 1970. The sub­stance had been commonly used as an insulator in electrical transformers.

The National Observer Tuesday, December 6, 1990

WEATHER
Forecast for noon, Thursday, Dec. 6

Lines show high temperatures.

The Observer
Thursday, December 6, 1990

INFORMATION
Creativity needed to stop Snowball Fight

John O'Brien
Managing Editor

At The Observer office for free, one time events of general interest. The Observer news department reserves the right to edit entries and determine if, when and where they will be placed. Of interests are not guaranteed. The deadline is 1 p.m.

SEAS is sponsoring the grapevine for PreChristmas Week. Pick up a letter at the door to the North Room at LaFortune to send to friends & family to inform them of the benefits of energy conservation.

Resident Assistant applications for 1991-92 are now available in the Office of Student Affairs. Room 315 Administration Building through January 18, 1991.

Israel's fruit. German sausages, Italian cheese and American medical supplies are among the products arriving in the Soviet Union as part of a worldwide private effort to ease winter shortages. Relief organizations have chartered planes, organized truck convoys to get past the vast country's transporta­tion bottlenecks. Several organizations have sent staff members to ensure that food and medicine reach their destinations. The Soviet government, which blames food problems on the collapse of its central distribution system, has not officially asked for the food. But the chronic shortages have worsened dramatically this winter.

Of interest is the visit of Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin to Washington this weekend. The visit is expected to focus on the Middle East peace process, particularly the Israeli-Palestinian negotiations. Rabin is scheduled to meet with President George H.W. Bush and other members of Congress. The visit comes as Israel and the United States work to strengthen their bilateral relationship. The relationship has been strained over issues such as arms sales and peace talks.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration, which managed to launch only six space shuttles this year, announced a new schedule Wednesday of 27 flights in the next three years. The schedule includes seven shuttle launches in 1991, eight in 1992 and 12 in 1993. In the three-year period, NASA also plans to launch 13 rockets. Their payloads include three major scientific probes. For the first time, there are no secret Defense Department launches on the schedule. But unclassified military cargos are slated for three flights, including the first one next year.

The预制 hearing was set for Feb. 7 for Carl Purville, 19, of Indianapolis, one of three teens charged with murdering a couple whose bodies were dumped in the El River in northern Miami County. He was charged with one count of murder and taken to the Miami County Jail in Peru, where he made an initial court appearance Tuesday afternoon. The bodies of Jason Brown, 17, and his girlfriend, Nanette Scott, 23, were found Nov. 23. The felony charge carries a 45-year-sentence.

The discovery of PCB contamination in a flooded subdivision in Highland forced state officials to seal off about 120 homes Wednesday and turn away evacuated residents who had hoped to retrieve their belongings. Tests performed by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency showed PCB levels twice the acceptable level, said Jerome Hauer. The federal government banned the manu­facture of PCBs in 1970. The sub­stance had been commonly used as an insulator in electrical transformers.
African attitudes toward art and education have been drastically changed by European colonization, according to a panel discussion by a group of native Africans from the Notre Dame and South Bend communities.

Professor Sylvester Hunt of IUSR spoke of how attitudes toward art have been changed by colonization. "Before colonization, people looked at art as a representative of God on earth," he said, "which united the people." This unity was compromised with the onset of colonization. Because Europeans felt that the art was abnormal and sacrilegious, "Africans began to look differently at the art, causing dissunity," he added. As a result, many pieces of art were destroyed.

Educationally, colonization caused far more drastic results, said Guillaume Zoumlome, an ND graduate student and native of Senegal. Previously, education was informal "in the sense that it is a lived experience, a fundamental element of cultural growth and social activity." With colonization, western methods replaced native techniques. Education became more formal, "removing students from native traditions and societies," said Zoumlome.

This created a duality between what was learned in the home and what was learned formally in school. "This causes ambivalence and internal stress," he said. Additionally, the actual subject matter being taught changed with colonization. Motivated by a desire to dominate the beliefs of the individual and replace them with ones that furthered the colonization process, "westernized education taught African children just enough to make them useful," Zoumlome stated.

The discussion group was headed by Christophe Kuangazinga, president of the Notre Dame African Students Association. He called for "Reforms in African education with a movement which reaches back to cultural roots."

Today, a middle ground between native culture and western ideas has been achieved. Zoumlome stated that, "While western technology is needed to benefit the countries, it is impossible to do away with African values." The panel met in the O'Shaugnessy Art Gallery, in conjunction with an exhibit of African sculpture, which opened Monday. The exhibit runs through December 30th.

The Observer is currently accepting applications for the following positions:

Day Chief

For information, please contact Kelley Tuthill at 239-5303. To apply for the position, please submit a one-page personal statement 4 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 9.

American Heart Association

The Observer

Earn while you learn.

Manpower is looking for students interested in earning great pay — plus commission. We offer flexible hours. And valuable training and business experience. Plus free use of a personal computer.

If you're a full-time student, Sophomore or above, with at least a B average and an computer family, Manpower needs you as a COLLEGE REP to promote the sales of the IBM Personal System/2 or campus.

For experience that pays, call today.

Manpower, Inc.
230 W. LaSalle Ave.
234-0157
Contact: Kim Hall

---

United Nations discusses resolution

United Nations (AP — The Palestine Liberation Organization on Wednesday urged the Security Council to send U.N. staff to the Israel-occupied territories to help protect Palestinians.

The United States, however, could veto any resolution calling for deployment of U.N. personnel, appointment of an ombudsman or convening of an international human rights convention to help the Palestinians. Negotiations were continuing in efforts to devise a draft resolution that could be adopted by consensus, or avert a U.S. veto in defense of its Israeli ally.

Soviet Ambassador Yuli Vorontsov told reporters he did not expect a veto but declined to discuss details of a possible consensus resolution. The council was to meet against Thursday and could vote on a resolution on protecting Palestinians.

"I don't think there should be any question of a veto because we are working differently now ... on a consensus basis and that's a sign of the times." After more than three months of close cooperation and consensus, he said, "the council now is not interested in scoring points or in passing resolutions that will be vetoed by the other members."

The Soviet envoy commented after informal consultations among the five permanent members, including the United States, Britain, China and France. He said the council was "not interested in the resolutions, we are interested in solution."

Earlier Farouk Kaddoumi, the PLO foreign affairs spokesman, told the Security Council that it had a moral obligation to protect Palestinians from what he called Israeli crimes, like the shooting deaths of at least 19 Palestinians on Temple Mounts on Oct. 8. He told the 15-member council that the United Nations should do no less for Palestinians under Israeli occupation than it has done for Kuwaitis under Iraqi occupation.

"We call upon your august council to establish a permanent presence of the United Nations and its personnel in the occupied Palestinian territories, in the context of an established mechanism, based on monitoring the situation and submitting periodic reports."

His speech was delivered as the council continued an intermittent month-long debate about how to help safeguard the rights of Palestinians in the Israeli-held territories. He also blamed the United States for protecting Israel "and its criminal practices." He said that the contradiction between council actions in the case of Kuwait under occupation and its inaction in the case of Palestinians "has come to jeopardize its credibility and prestige and to cast doubts on its potential to play its required role in our new world."

Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cervantes told reporters Wednesday that he intends to send his special envoy, Jean-Claude Aime, to Israel to discuss the Palestinian problem after the council concludes its debate this week. Several draft resolutions currently are in circulation and United States is meeting with various council members in an effort to find an acceptable resolution.

Malnourished Iraqi Baby

An Iraqi mother sits with her malnourished baby at a children's hospital in Baghdad, Tuesday. The Iraqi government blames the U.N. sponsored embargo as the cause of such suffering.
Shuttle pilots grapple with problems in observatory; mission to conclude Tuesday

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Columbia's astronauts got in two, as much star-gazing Wednesday, but remained far behind and nowhere near full speed from problems with the shuttle's $150 million observatory.

"We're trying as hard as we can," astronaut-astronomer Ron Parise told controllers at the end of his 12-hour shift.

Pariser, hampered by a jittery instrument pointing system, got in 35 percent of the observation time planned for their shift. Seventeen percent was accomplished in the crew's previous work period and none before that, said mission scientist Ted Gull.

Although Gull could not say when the Astro observatory might reach peak efficiency, he was confident further fine-tuning would increase viewing time. The 10-day shuttle mission ends Tuesday.

"We're starting to think science... and that is what it's all about," Gull said.

Among Wednesday's observations were a white dwarf star — a star near the end of its life, a galaxy that's 41 million light years away and is believed to offer a black hole, and Crab Nebula, a remnant of a supernova that occurred more than 900 years ago.

SECURITY BEAT

SUNDAY, DEC. 2

3:15 a.m. A Security officer apprehended a subject for vandalism; got in traffic.

5:45 a.m. A Freshman student apprehended two persons with shoplifting cell phones.

8:05 a.m. A Carfaxaugh reported the theft of his wallet from his dorm since sometime between Nov. 30 and Dec. 1.

MONDAY, DEC. 3

9:30 a.m. A Carroll resident reported the theft of his bookbag from the South Dining Hall.

10:15 a.m. A Fairfax resident received an obscene phone call.

11:15 a.m. An Austen resident reported the theft of his bookbag from the South Dining Hall.

12:30 p.m. A University employee reported the theft of her purse from the Non-Varsity Athletics office in the JACC.

1:30 p.m. A student apprehended a subject for vandalism to University facilities registering for classes at other courses to offer classes at other courses to offer classes at other courses.

2:23 p.m. A subject apprehended a subject for vandalism to University facilities.

4:30 p.m. A subject apprehended a subject for vandalism to University facilities.

Soviet continued from page 1

responsible or we should find an alternative," said Vladimir Voronin, leader of the Sakharov Democratic Union and a committee member.

He said in a telephone interview that the committee wanted a "strengthening of presidential power.

"Once the state of emergency is introduced, everything will calm down at once," Voronin said. "I know those democrats will run away at it. It will be more difficult to pacify them when they accumulate too many weapons."

The group wants suspension of the parliaments of Lithuania, Moldavia, Georgia and Russia, because they are seen as the strongest challenge to the central government, Zhirtsovsky said in a telephone interview. Other committee members seemed inclined to suspend all legislative bodies.

"If presidential decrees are not obeyed in a region, that region's representative bodies should be dissolved, and aplenipotentiary representative of the central government should be sent to replace it," said Voronin.

The Lithuanian parliament declared independence on March 11 and the newly elected non-communist Parliament of Georgia is moving in that direction. Moldavia is split among opposing ethnic groups.

On page 4 The Observer Thursday, December 6, 1990

The Observer Thursday, December 6, 1990
Trade negotiations near collapse; Agriculture dispute threatens talks

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Negotiators involved in 107-nation free trade talks reported failure Wednesday in their efforts to resolve a nasty fight over farm subsidies with some trade ministers suggesting the discussions are on the verge of breaking down.

"It is a stalemate and it is serious," said a grim-faced European official who described the meeting as "grim." said another official.

In the talks are on the verge of breaking down.

But following that discussion, no new offer was announced.

Crosbie described the mood inside the discussions as "almost becalmed" and said the meeting Wednesday would determine whether there was any point in continuing the talks.

"We are going to have to decide whether we are going to give it all up or not," he said.

The farm subsidy fight evolved as the biggest stumbling block to conclusion of the most ambitious round of trade liberalization talks ever undertaken.

The negotiations, known as the Uruguay Round for the world trade talks, are designed to open up markets to more goods and investment to be made at the same time that discussions went forward on the farm issue.

Commerce Secretary Clayton Yeutter said.

"Europeans were engaging in a different debate," said Yeutter.

The European Commission has not made any offers in areas including trade in services, textiles and investment to be made at the same time that discussions went forward on the farm issue.

He said the U.S. side had rejected that proposal.

European officials said the Europeans were engaging in a desperate attempt to shift the blame for failure on the negotiating partners.

"What is holding up the negotiations here is that the European Community has not yet aired a proposal on agriculture," U.S. Agriculture Secretary Clayton Yeutter said.

The European Community entered the negotiations offering to trim domestic farm support payments by 30 percent. The United States, supported by major farm exporting countries, was seeking such much deeper cuts of 75 percent in domestic supports and import barriers and a 90 percent cut in export subsidies.

The trade talks, the eighth in a series of negotiations dating to 1947, offered the promise of lowering prices for consumers worldwide but at the same time likely to spawn economic prosperity, especially in third world countries with farm-based economies.

The United States has argued that without sufficient progress in agriculture, developed nations will not be able to win concessions from third world countries to reform their trade practices at the same time that discussions went forward on the whole issue.

Negotiators spoke pessimistically about a failure of the talks, which many fear could trigger a rise of protectionism and global trade wars, similar to the events of the 1930s that were blamed for stoking the Great Depression more severe.

Anyone who does not admit to the end of the road is deep crisis is just deluding themselves," United States Trade Minister Neil Blewett.
Iraq
continued from page 1
"unrelaxed" to the Iraqi occupation of Kuwait.
"I will not be negotiating the Palestinian question or the civil war in Lebanon," he said. "Saddam did not invade Kuwait to help the Palestinians. He did it for his own self-aggrandize­ment."

Joe Wilson, the deputy ambassa­dor in Iraq, was called in by the Iraqi foreign minister to be told of Iraq's acceptance of the offer, the announcement said.
Wilson and a number of other U.S. officials remain in the U.S. Embassy in Baghdad.
Bush made last week's unex­pected overture at a presiden­tial news conference in Washin­ington.
It followed mounting com­plaints in Congress that the administra­tion was rushing into war with Iraq over its invasion of Kuwait without giving diplomatic enough time for the pursuit of a peaceful settlement.

Even so, Bush pledged the administration would not waver from the resolution approved last Thursday by the U.N. Security Council threatening a forceful eviction of Iraqi troops if they did not withdraw by Jan. 15.

Sen. Paul Simon, D-Ill., urged Baker at today's hearing to provide Saddam Hussein with "a way out" of the crisis. He suggested one approach would be to propose the World Court resolve Iraq's territorial claims against Kuwait.
"If at all possible, make that a meaningful trip," Simon urged.

Baker stressed that the U.N. resolution did not require the United States to attack Jan. 15 or a day after. Without elabo­ration, Baker said diplomatic steps were being taken in the search for a peaceful solution.

However, Baker insisted that Iraq must withdraw from all of Kuwait, liberate all foreign hostages and permit the restoration of the ousted gov­ernment.

Bush, in making the offer to swap envoys, said Baker would not waver from the three de­mands.
"The best way to get that across is one-on-one, Baker looking him in the eye," Bush said.

The warmth of love
Lynn Carter and her daughter LaToya Retie, 4, hug to keep warm while waiting for a CTA train on an ele­vated platform Tuesday in Chicago. Cold northwest winds kept temperatures in the 20s.

Earthquake fears begin to subside
ST. LOUIS (AP) — Most stu­dents and teachers in the New Madrid Fault region were back in classrooms Wednesday after a two-day earthquake break called by officials responding to a scientist's prediction.

New Mexico scientist Iben Browning projected a 50 per­cent chance for a major earthquake this week along the fault, which runs from Cairo, Ill., to Marked Tree, Ark.
Earthquake experts scoffed at Browning's projection, which he based on tidal forces, but school officials throughout southeast Missouri and parts of Arkansas, Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee and Indiana canceled classes.

Some school districts that did not cancel classes reported ab­sente rates as high as 50 per­cent Monday. Things were pretty much back to normal Wednesday and most students were back in school. But Missouri's Scott County Central School District didn't plan to re-open until Thursday.
"When you're going to have problems with your attendance, you might as well not have school," said Superintendent Ray Shoaf.

Dick Hillburn, assistant super­intendent of schools in Kennett, said he didn't notice any linger­ing earthquake fears Wednesday.
"If there are, I can't tell it," he said. "From what I can tell, things are going about like normal. Attendance is almost normal at the high school, which I think is a pretty good gauge.

Some school officials blamed the media for exaggerating the earthquake scare.
"I think they got snowed," Jim Mauck, business manager for the New Madrid County Schools, said of the media. "Browning made the projection, but he's not the one who hyped it."

Save now on select color Macintosh systems.
Now through January 5, 1991, take advantage of special savings when you buy a Macintosh IIci, Macintosh IIx, or Macintosh IIcx computer and an AppleColor High-Resolution RGB Monitor*

Whether you choose the new Macintosh II, Apple's latest powerful, affordable system, or the Macintosh IIx, known for its high performance and expandability, or the maximum-performance Macintosh IIcx, with its virtually unlimited expandability, you'll be getting a system of lasting value. Not to mention special savings when you buy your system with the AppleColor High-Resolution RGB Monitor.

Whether you're buying a Macintosh II or the AppleColor High-Resolution RGB Monitor, you'll get a closer look at these Macintosh II systems. You'll praise their value, and we'll compliment you on your choice with special savings. No matter which system you choose.

The Observer Thursday, December 6, 1990
WASHINGTON (AP) — The nuclear power industry is having a meltdown over "The Simpsons" portrayal of plants.

The prime-time cartoon show has been playing the roles of the dozing employee with overbite, the three-eyed fish named Blinky, the energy industry's "sector chief" in "stop loss," and the President of the United States. In various episodes, Homer Simpson is shown using blueprints to a foreign exchange program, stealing cash, and having enough tartar sauce for his fish sticks. In one episode, he goes "eeney-meeney-miney-mo" around a nuclear power plant, trying to avert a meltdown. "Simon said. "I'm sorry that the Simpsons has offended a lot of people in the energy industry," Executive Producer Sam Simon said in a Feb. 5 letter to Carl Goldstein, a vice president of energy group. "I agree with you that in real life Homer Simpson would not be employed at a nuclear power plant."

The show will continue to jab at the industry in its third season next year, but in a more responsible way, Simon said. "He's kind of asleep at the wheel and wakes up when there's an alarm, and doesn't know which button to press, so he goes eeeey-meey-miney-mo and hits a button and does a meltdown," Simon said.

WANTED! Santa's Helpers to help decorate for the holidays.

TONITE IN LA FORTUNE LOBBY 5PM-8PM
*HOLIDAY DESSERTS
*Music by the Handbell Choir
*Tree decorating

Get in the SPIRIT of the holidays! Stop by!

Before the Congress
President Bush is greeted by members of the Ugandan Congress after his speech at the Legislative Palace Tuesday afternoon in Montevideo. This is the first time that a U.S. president has addressed the Ugandan Congress.
Business

NEW YORK (AP) — It is difficult to convince someone whose house has been on the market for a year at progressively lower prices that, yes, there is still a market out there.

Potential buyers are out there, say demographers, those folks who analyze population statistics and make projections from them. And when the mix of economic elements is right, they say, those buyers may spring into action.

The explanation lies in a further examination of the baby boom generation that followed World War II, which some marketing people assume has by now made most of its biggest purchases, such as cars and homes.

But, others now say, some of that bulge of youngsters has not completed its purchases, especially homes.

The initial impact of boomers had explosive results for housing. In 1976, the total value of existing homes sold was $96.6 billion. Four years later, the value was $242.7 billion.

Glenn Grellin, an economist with the National Association of Realtors, has traced the trail left since then as the boomers worked their way through the economy.

The boomers were hurt by the two recessions in the first three years of the 1980s, but then came back strongly. Despite the recessions, more than 30.3 million units were sold in the decade, 11 percent more than in the 1970s.

Prices rose even more. The median leaped from $55,700 in 1979 to $93,100 in 1989, and in many areas the appreciation was at a rate of 20 percent a year for a few years. Some houses tripled in price, some even quadrupled.

A consequence of this was that some baby boomers were priced out of the market, but not permanently. Some still wait for the proper time: lower interest rates, lower prices and a better economic outlook.

That’s one part of the potential market, but still another tends to be overlooked.

In its entirety, the baby boom era lasted almost two decades, from 1946 to 1964, but as Grellin points out, it came in two distinctly different waves.

In the first, which lasted 10 years from 1946 to 1955, births jumped from about 2.9 million a year to more than 4 million. As that part of the boom worked its ways through the economy it was easily traceable and highly publicized.

The second wave, which lasted nine years, was not as dramatic. The number of births fell either. Births plateaued at a very high level, between 4.1 million and 4.3 million a year.

Years later the two waves had this effect on housing.

The first produced a sudden rise in household formation, which often can be equated with housing demand. It was very, very noticeable. The second produced no sudden demand, but it maintained demand at an extremely high level.

Coors hits Indiana markets

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP) — Coors beer will be sold in Indiana for the first time early next year, the company says.

Indiana will be the 50th and final state targeted for market expansion by the nation’s third-largest brewer.

“It’s always been our policy to expand Coors’ marketing territory only as rapidly as our brewing and packaging capabilities allowed,” said Terry Nautilus, director of field marketing for Coors Brewing Co.

With substantial capital investments in our Golden, Shenandoah and Memphis operations during 1990, we believe we’re now much better-equipped to meet the demand for our products by Indiana consumers,” he said.

Coors began expanding east of the Mississippi River in 1978. The last states into which it expanded were Pennsylvania and Delaware, in 1988.

You are invited to an Autograph Party

GOD COUNTRY: NOTRE DAME

Fr. Hesburgh will be at the Notre Dame Bookstore

Friday - Dec. 7th from 2:30 to 4:00

First Floor of Bookstore
Dear Editor:

The system has been destroyed. There is no trash collection. All the patients from the communicable diseases hospitals and the insane asylums have been let out. Jailed criminals have been set free. The premiership and the old on life support systems have been left to die on the street so Saddam can steal that very equipment that was sustaining their lives.

Our handicapped girls have been raped. Our babies have been tortured. Homes have been demolished. The country has been decimated. Everything has been stolen: cars, furniture, everything from the stores, medication, food, personal belongings, life’s savings, the innocence of youth, the virginity of a generation, all have been stolen.

To those who say “peace not war,” I ask, is this peace? To those who ask for “peaceful negotiations,” I say, think again. Saddam has never negotiated anything in his life. In any case, he has made it clear that he does not intend to withdraw from Kuwait. “If it is not negotiable,” he says. His Renunciation is only intended in negotiating to solve the rest of the world’s problems. But even if he were to negotiate in good faith, remember that he pulled out of Iran with no territorial gains. To completely pull out of Kuwait would be suicide, politically if not literally. A negotiated settlement would mean that a part of Kuwait would have to be given to Saddam. Should we reward murder?

To those who say “no blood for oil,” I say, you’re missing the point. Kuwait was a very small peaceful nation. There is a nation, a separate identity, called “Kuwait.” Should it be destroyed because it is small? Should it be penalized because it espoused peaceful investment and not war machines?

To those who say that the U.S. has been “bad” in the past and, therefore, we should be wary of its intentions, I ask, is the U.S. a nation or not? Should we be慕容 to do the right thing now? And how long should this disqualification last?

And to those who do not support war because of the pain that would be inflicted on civilians, I say, do not think that there are no costs, no losses, no pain to the economic embargo. By definition the embargo is meant to inflict such pain that the occupation would be intolerable. The Kuwaiti people will suffer the most. And the embargo may not even last. There are already clear signs of callousness. Even the most brutal of atrocities become boring if they are heard about every day for months, let alone years.

The Kuwaiti nation has only one voice desperately crying with what little is left of its might, “Free Kuwait! Free Kuwait!” At any cost. Free Kuwait! In all humility, the Kuwaiti nation begs for mercy, not the rhetoric of peace. This is not peace. At least in death there is peace.

Talal Gharabally
Dept. of Economics
Off-Campus
Nov. 30, 1990

Committee addresses issue imbalance

Dear Editor:

In his recent letter to The Observer (Nov. 29), Fr. Edward O’Connor noted an imbalance on campus in the discussion of a wide range of issues, and he encouraged consideration of the Catholic Church’s teaching on several currently controversial topics. This university, like any other, needs reasoned discussion on these and any number of other issues.

Perhaps those responsible for fostering such discussion in the university community have not been fully responsive to this need. We at the Graduate Student Union Intellectual Life Committee recognize that we have an obligation to promote such discussion.

In order to remedy the imbalance noted by Fr. O’Connor, we will be working to foster broader consideration of topics such as the nature and purpose of a core curriculum, women’s roles, homosexuality and the character of Notre Dame as a Catholic research university. Please watch for notifications of committee’s events in the spring semester.

We have begun a forum for members of the university faculty from different disciplines to address topics of current interest. Thus far, we have sponsored forums with representatives from Notre Dame’s Program of Liberal Studies and the Institute for International Peace Studies. All are encouraged to attend these events and participate in the conversations on ideas on campus.

Thomas D. Andrade
Chair, Graduate Student Union
Intellectual Life Committee
Dec. 3, 1990

Lenny Bias

‘Live, love and laugh as if every day will be your last, ’cause someday you’ll be right.’
Get the Kid Glove Treatment

Now Get 20% off all Thesis copies and $2.00 off hardback binding

Offer good until Dec 31, 1990

Not good with any other offer or discount

18187 SR 23, 271-0398

Chinese-American Restaurant
Szechuan, Mandarin & Hunan Cuisine

Banquet rooms available for up to 200

Lunches starting at $3.95
Dinners starting at $5.45
Bar & Restaurant open 7 days

Mon. - Thu. 4:30 pm - 10:00 pm
Fri. - Sat. 4:30 pm - 11:00 pm
Sun. & Holidays 11:30 am - 10:00 pm

130 Ditch Way S., South Bend (next to Randall's CT)

We bring more roommates together by splitting them up

At The Pointe at St. Joseph we realize the closer you are to your roommate, the farther apart you want to be. Knowing this, we separate our 2 bedroom 2 bath with a large kitchen, separate dining area, and living room.

Now you can save money by sharing the rent and keeping your privacy too

Plan Yours Today!
Graduate Students call:
287-2684

M-F 10am - 7pm, Sat 10am - 6pm
Closed Sunday

Thanksgiving to Christmas
Corner of Grant & Cleveland 272-922

The Pointe
At Saint Joseph
307 East LaSalle
South Bend, IN 46617

Spend the holidays with a gift of food and wine

Mon. - Fri. 10am - 7pm, Sat. 10am - 6pm
Closed Sunday

Thanksgiving to Christmas
Corner of Grant & Cleveland 272-922

Sports

Sale Books
Great Gift Ideas
25% off
Selected Books

Hammes Notre Dame Bookstore
2nd floor

Children
Gift Books
History
Games
Poetry
Fiction
Loads of styles, sizes, colors... and great prices TO BOOT!

1500 pairs of namebrand boots to choose from:
- Acme
- Dan Post
- Dingo
- Tony Lama
- Texas
- Capriso
- Vasques

Infant size 4 through men's size 14.

Mon.-Sat. 10 to 8
Sun. 10 to 5

One mile north of US 20 on Fir Road
55345 Fir Road, Mishawaka, IN 46545 • (219) 259-1188

Dining Lounge, opens at 5 p.m.
Live entertainment and dancing
24 hours a day, everyday.

Mon.-Sat. 10 to 8
Sun. 10 to 5

One mile north of US 20 on Fir Road
55345 Fir Road, Mishawaka, IN 46545 • (219) 259-1188
MAYA ANGELOU, author of "I Know Why the Caged Bird Sings," will present a talk titled "An Evening with Maya Angelou." tonight at 8:00 p.m. in Stepan Center. General Admission tickets are $3, student and faculty tickets are $2. No audio, video or flash cameras are allowed during the performance.

The program is available at Career and Placement and the Center for Student Development. Teach for America also has a campus representative, senior Ellen Feeney, who can answer students' questions. "It's a really exciting program," Feeney said. "It's such a good idea." She plans to apply for a position herself next year. Students who would like information can reach Feeney at 233-1349.

Training for the program consists of an eight-week intensive summer institute that took place at, but was not affiliated with, the University of Southern California, Huschle said.

During the summer program, the corps members gain experience as student teachers each summer. "We have a summer program that participants take courses taught by a faculty of 50 active teachers and professors of education. At night, students listen to lectures and prepared their classes for the next day," Huschle said.

Students gain national experience as they "Teach for America"
WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — A Purdue University search committee Wednesday interviewed Jim Collette, offensive coordinator at Ohio State, but gave no indication when a selection of a successor would be made.

The nine-member committee earlier interviewed Ball State head coach Paul Schudel.

Schudel was considered under pressure last week after finishing his fourth year as a head coach, with Boilermakers with a 2-9 record, the most losses in one season in Purdue, Oregon St. football coaches lost and found

Akers four years ago, is the Boilermakers with a 2-9 record, the most losses in one season in

---

Collette, who was a candidate for the Purdue job that went to Akers four years ago, is the Boilermakers with a 2-9 record, the most losses in one season in Purdue, Oregon St. football coaches lost and found

Another candidate for the Purdue job four years ago was Ron Meyer, a former Boilermaker player and assistant coach who instead took the job as coach of the NFL Indianapolis Colts and says he's interested in returning to college coaching.

Collette, 45, was an assistant at Oregon St. under head coach Leon Burrett and has spent the past three years as Ohio State head coach John Cooper.

He was head coach at Cal State-Fullerton from 1975-77, spent three years as an assistant at the Orange Bowl, was named head coach of UCLA, and was offensive coordinator at Purdue from 1982-94.

Collette, a native of Monterey, Calif., played football and baseball at UCLA. He led UCLA to a national championship fullback in 1963 and was captain of the 1963 team that beat Ohio State in the Rose Bowl.

He was graduated from UCLA in 1967. After two years at UCLA as an assistant coach, spent one year at Brown, two years at Xavier of Ohio and three at Pacific before becoming head coach at Fullerton.

---

TYPING AVAILABLE

Cathy.

papers/reports/letters/resumes.

— A Purdue University search

---

When a selection of a successor committee Wednesday was made.

The nine-member committee earlier interviewed Ball State head coach Paul Schudel.

Schudel was considered under pressure last week after finishing his fourth year as a head coach, with Boilermakers with a 2-9 record, the most losses in one season in Purdue, Oregon St. football coaches lost and found

Akers four years ago, is the Boilermakers with a 2-9 record, the most losses in one season in Purdue, Oregon St. football coaches lost and found

Another candidate for the Purdue job four years ago was Ron Meyer, a former Boilermaker player and assistant coach who instead took the job as coach of the NFL Indianapolis Colts and says he's interested in returning to college coaching.

Collette, 45, was an assistant at Oregon St. under head coach Leon Burrett and has spent the past three years as Ohio State head coach John Cooper.

He was head coach at Cal State-Fullerton from 1975-77, spent three years as an assistant at the Orange Bowl, was named head coach of UCLA, and was offensive coordinator at Purdue from 1982-94.

Collette, a native of Monterey, Calif., played football and baseball at UCLA. He led UCLA to a national championship fullback in 1963 and was captain of the 1963 team that beat Ohio State in the Rose Bowl.

He was graduated from UCLA in 1967. After two years at UCLA as an assistant coach, spent one year at Brown, two years at Xavier of Ohio and three at Pacific before becoming head coach at Fullerton.

---

TYPING AVAILABLE

Cathy.

papers/reports/letters/resumes.

— A Purdue University search

---

When a selection of a successor committee Wednesday was made.

The nine-member committee earlier interviewed Ball State head coach Paul Schudel.

Schudel was considered under pressure last week after finishing his fourth year as a head coach, with Boilermakers with a 2-9 record, the most losses in one season in Purdue, Oregon St. football coaches lost and found

Akers four years ago, is the Boilermakers with a 2-9 record, the most losses in one season in Purdue, Oregon St. football coaches lost and found

Another candidate for the Purdue job four years ago was Ron Meyer, a former Boilermaker player and assistant coach who instead took the job as coach of the NFL Indianapolis Colts and says he's interested in returning to college coaching.

Collette, 45, was an assistant at Oregon St. under head coach Leon Burrett and has spent the past three years as Ohio State head coach John Cooper.

He was head coach at Cal State-Fullerton from 1975-77, spent three years as an assistant at the Orange Bowl, was named head coach of UCLA, and was offensive coordinator at Purdue from 1982-94.

Collette, a native of Monterey, Calif., played football and baseball at UCLA. He led UCLA to a national championship fullback in 1963 and was captain of the 1963 team that beat Ohio State in the Rose Bowl.

He was graduated from UCLA in 1967. After two years at UCLA as an assistant coach, spent one year at Brown, two years at Xavier of Ohio and three at Pacific before becoming head coach at Fullerton.

---

TYPING AVAILABLE

Cathy.

papers/reports/letters/resumes.

— A Purdue University search

---

When a selection of a successor committee Wednesday was made.

The nine-member committee earlier interviewed Ball State head coach Paul Schudel.

Schudel was considered under pressure last week after finishing his fourth year as a head coach, with Boilermakers with a 2-9 record, the most losses in one season in Purdue, Oregon St. football coaches lost and found

Akers four years ago, is the Boilermakers with a 2-9 record, the most losses in one season in Purdue, Oregon St. football coaches lost and found

Another candidate for the Purdue job four years ago was Ron Meyer, a former Boilermaker player and assistant coach who instead took the job as coach of the NFL Indianapolis Colts and says he's interested in returning to college coaching.

Collette, 45, was an assistant at Oregon St. under head coach Leon Burrett and has spent the past three years as Ohio State head coach John Cooper.

He was head coach at Cal State-Fullerton from 1975-77, spent three years as an assistant at the Orange Bowl, was named head coach of UCLA, and was offensive coordinator at Purdue from 1982-94.

Collette, a native of Monterey, Calif., played football and baseball at UCLA. He led UCLA to a national championship fullback in 1963 and was captain of the 1963 team that beat Ohio State in the Rose Bowl.

He was graduated from UCLA in 1967. After two years at UCLA as an assistant coach, spent one year at Brown, two years at Xavier of Ohio and three at Pacific before becoming head coach at Fullerton.

---

TYPING AVAILABLE

Cathy.

papers/reports/letters/resumes.
AP ALL-AMERICANS

NHL STANDINGS

NBA STANDINGS

HOW THE TOP 25 FARED

TRANSACTIONS

OUTLAND WINNERS

peacethepersiangulf.com

2-color design on a high-quality 100% cotton t-shirt:
- sizes: medium, large, x-large
- send your name, quantity, and size for $12.95 per shirt to:

peacethepersiangulf.com

NCA A SCORES

SOUTH

studentsworkabroad.org

Alex’s - An Old Time Tradition

Alex’s Shoe Hospital has been serving the Notre Dame community since 1919. You can’t take the stereo ear any more, but today’s trip downtown still rewards you with caring, friendly service even while you wait and old fashion craftsmanship.
Keep your feet in shape by trusting your footwear maintenance needs to Alex’s Shoe Hospital.

715 West Washington Downtown South Bend Daily 7:30-5:30, Saturday 9:00 to 1:00 Telephone 288-2188

Thursday, December 6, 1990

Thursday’s Games

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores

Scores
All-American teams announced

(AP) - Heisman Trophy winner Ty Detmer of Brigham Young and runner-up Raghib "Rocket" Ismail of Notre Dame were named to The Associated Press 1990 All-America college football team today.

Detmer set or tied 34 NCAA records this year, including most passing yards in a season (5,188) and touchdown passes in a career (56). The junior quarterback already is second on the career passing yardage list with 11,060, just 425 behind San Diego State's Todd Montana.

While Detmer drew raves for his passing, Ismail amazed fans with his speed and his passing. Ismail was named to The Associated Press 1990 All-America college football team today.

"Rocket" Ismail of Notre Dame and Detmer are joined by three other juniors — Virginia wide receiver Herman Moore, Auburn offensive guard Ed King and Georgia Tech defensive back Tripp Welbourne. Notre Dame line backer Michael Stonebreaker, who made the first team in 1988, is back after missing last season because of disciplinary problems.

Rounding out the offense are running backs Eric Bieniemy of Colorado and Darren Lewis of Texas A&M, wide receiver Lawrence Dawsey of Florida State, tight and Chris Smith of BYU, center John Flannery of Colorado and Darren Lewis of Alabama.

The defense includes Colorado line backer Alfred Williams, winner of the Butkus Award as the nation's top line backer, and Miami's Russell Young and runner-up Raghib Ismail, shown being congratulated by teammates Derek Brown[lll] and Ricky Watter, the first-team return specialist.

Everyone else is a senior.

Only four players are repeaters from last year's first unit — Ismail, Colorado offensive guard Joe Garten, Notre Dame defensive linemen Chris Zorich and Michigan defensive back Tripp Welbourne. Notre Dame line backer Michael Stonebreaker, who made the first team in 1988, is back after missing last season because of disciplinary problems.

Rounding out the offense are running backs Eric Bieniemy of Colorado and Darren Lewis of Texas A&M, wide receiver Lawrence Dawsey of Florida State, tight and Chris Smith of BYU, center John Flannery of Colorado and Darren Lewis of Alabama.

The defense includes Colorado line backer Alfred Williams, winner of the Butkus Award as the nation's top line backer, and Miami's Russell Young and runner-up Raghib Ismail, a finalist for the Outland Trophy and Lombardi Award as the best lineman in the country.

Joining Maryland on the defensive line are Florida's Huey Richardson and Nebraska's Kenny Walker, the first deaf player to make the AP team. The defense also features Miami line backer Maurice Crum and backs Danny Lewis of Arizona and Stanley Richard of Texas.

Top-ranked Colorado and No. 5 Notre Dame each have three players on the team. Fourth-ranked Miami and No. 13 BYU are next with two players apiece.

Bieniemy and Lewis finished 2-3 in the nation in rushing. Bieniemy gained 148 yards per game, scored 17 touchdowns and became Colorado's all-time leader in rushing, scoring and all-purpose yards. Lewis averaged 141 yards per game and became only the fifth player in NCAA history to rush for more than 5,000 career yards.

Cotton Bowl may decide national championship

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Brock got an early Christmas present this year — a Cotton Bowl that could produce the national champion.

After years of drab games and declining television ratings, the Cotton Bowl landed a marquee matchup between third-ranked Texas and No. 4 Miami. If top-ranked Colorado and No. 2 Georgia Tech lose on New Year's Day, the Cotton could have its first national champion in 12 years.

"I'd rather be lucky than good, and this year we were lucky," says Brock, the bowl's executive vice president. "Everything has fallen into place for us."

Miami would have preferred to play Colorado in the Orange Bowl because that would have given the Hurricanes a clearer path to the national championship. But the Orange Bowl invited Notre Dame because the Irish were No. 1 when the matchup was set seven weeks before the official announcement date.

Notre Dame then lost to Penn State and fell below Miami in the rankings, but it was too late to change the pairings. So the Orange Bowl ended up with No. 1 vs. No. 5 and the Cotton got No. 3 vs. No. 4.

"I think we have a good chance to have the national champion come out of Dallas on Jan. 1," Brock says. "For a change, that's not just talk.

Texas (10-1) is seeking its first national championship since 1969, while Miami (9-2) is trying to win its second in a row and third in the last four seasons. If the Hurricanes win the national title, they'll be the first team to do it with two losses.

"I guess we have a chance, but lot of things have to happen," Miami coach Dennis Erickson says. "When you have two losses, you need a little luck to win the national title."

Erickson, Texas coach David McWilliams doesn't like to speculate about who will finish No. 1.

"It's hard to predict anything that season," he says. "Whoever wins (the national title), I don't think it's going to be a runaway. There doesn't seem to be a groundswell out there for any one team."

Raghib Ismail, shown being congratulated by teammates Derek Brown[lll] and Ricky Watter, is the first-team return specialist.
Darren Lewis of Texas A&M: the best man not to win a Heisman?

College Station, Texas (AP) — Darren Lewis didn’t win the Heisman Trophy, but he did become part of the storied history of the award.

He’s college football’s only 5,000-yard rusher who didn’t win the coveted trophy.

Lewis became the fifth 5,000-yard rusher in NCAA history in Saturday’s 28-27 loss to No. 3 Texas. Lewis was also voted to New York to participate in the Heisman Trophy presentation.

Instead, he sat in front of his television and watched as Young’s Ty Detmer win the 1990 honor; Lewis finished ninth in the voting.

“They made a good choice,” Lewis said. “I went out and gave 110 percent and left it all on the field, so I am satisfied. I had a couple of bad games that probably hurt me. In the Heisman watch, one bad game can really hurt you.”

Lewis could take some solace in earning The Associated Press’ All-America first team honors for the second time in his career. He was a first team pick as a sophomore when he compiled 5,411.

Lewis has a chance Dec. 29 to show he hasn’t made a mistake when the Aggies play Detmer and BYU in the Holiday Bowl.

But Lewis says he’ll pass on that opportunity.

“The Heisman voting is already over and I give Ty Detmer all the credit he deserves,” Lewis said. “You have to play each game the best you can.

“Just because we’re playing against Ty Detmer it doesn’t mean I’ll try to open people’s eyes and make them say ‘This shouldn’t be him.’ I’ll just play as hard as I can and let it go.”

Lewis wrote himself into the A&M and Southwest Conference record books when he compiled 5,000 yards rushing in the season finale against Texas.

Playing despite a bruised shoulder suffered in the second quarter, Lewis gained 150 yards in 25 carries and scored on touchdown runs of 17, 12 and 31 yards in his final regular season game, giving him an SWC record 5,012 career rushing yards.

He broke the SWC record of 4,450 yards set by Southern Methodist’s Ed Okerson in 1979-82.

Lewis has 5,162 total yards, finishing third on the all-time list behind quarterbacks kvm Murray and Edd Hargrett. Murray, 1983-86, finished the record with 6,455 and Hargrett, 1966-1968, compiled 5,411.

The previous 5,000-yard rushers who won the Heisman were Pittsburgh’s Tony Dorsett, Southern California’s Charles White, Georgia’s Herschel Walker and Ohio State’s Archie Griffin.

A&M coach R.C. Slocum thinks Lewis also should be joining that elite group as the Green Bay and Washington coach Vince Lombardi, who died of cancer in 1970.

“I’m just disappointed that this year he didn’t get the credit he deserves for being a great back,” Slocum said. “I think Darren was the first runner on a short consideration.

Lewis will be five out for fighting in the fourth game of the season against Louisiana State.

“Maybe I didn’t weight him enough, maybe I backed off there too, hurt his chances of winning the trophy.

“We were 3-0 at the time and I was playing good,” Lewis said. “I came back and played well the rest of the season.”

Hurricanes’ Maryland wins Outland Trophy

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Miami’s Russell Maryland, who delayed a chance to become an instant millionaire in the NFL to stay for his senior season, won the Outland Trophy on Wednesday as the nation’s top interior lineman.

The Hurricanes’ defensive tackle topped a pair of offensive linemen, guard Joe Garten of Colorado and tackle Stacy Long of Clemson, in the final balloting by members of the Football Writers Association of America. The group does not reveal the voting totals.

The 6-foot-2, 275-pound Maryland had 96 tackles and 1-1/2 quarterback sacks for Miami (9-2) this year. He will close out his career with the fourth-ranked Hurricanes in the Cotton Bowl against No. 3 Texas on New Year’s Day.

Maryland has 270 tackles and 20 1/2 sacks during his four years at Miami.

Although pro scouts projected Maryland as a first-round choice if he decided to enter next year’s draft last spring, he chose to remain at Miami, saying he wanted to help the Hurricanes win the national title and try to win the Outland Trophy for himself.

When Miami has only a slim shot at the final No. 1 ranking, Maryland has accomplished the second of his goals.

“It’s all worth it,” Maryland said of the decision to stay for final season at Miami. “I have no regrets that I stay.

“This is what college football is all about,” he added, crediting the Hurricanes’ defense.

Maryland, a fifth-year senior who has received his degree and now is taking graduate courses in psychology, probably will benefit financially from remaining in school. He’s been projected by a number of NFL scouts and general managers as a top-five pick next spring.

Wining the Outland certainly helps him bring another a championship chip.

When he was given the trophy, Maryland, slightly choked with emotion, thanked his parents, coaches and a long list of others and said, “My freshman year, I never would have imagined I could come this far.”

A pudgy 317-pounder when he came out of Young High School in Chicago, Maryland initially made just one recruiting visit and got just one scholarship offer — from Indiana State.

But Miami stepped in late after a couple of schools couldn’t meet admission standards and offered a scholarship.

“When I first got to Miami, I just wanted to make an impact on the program. They (the Miami coaches) wanted me to lose weight and build up muscle,” Maryland recalled, smiling.

A soft-spoken, articulate player considered a leader by his teammates, Maryland was tagged “The Conscience.”

“When I think I invented right and you do something wrong, he’s the guy who’s going to scold you,” Miami offensive tackle Mike Sullivan once said.

“I guess I’m an ever-present, conscience kind of guy,” Maryland said. “I always get after them (his teammates).”

The Observer
Thursday, December 6, 1990

Lombardi Trophy for Zorich

HOUSTON (AP) — One of four defensive players, including 1989 finalist Chris Zorich of Notre Dame and Indianapolis native Moe Gardner of Illinois, will be named the winner of the 1990 Lombardi Award Thursday night as the nation’s top collegiate lineman.

Joining Zorich, who lost out last year to Michigan State’s All-American linebacker Percy Snow, and Gardner were 1990 finalists Chris Zorich of Notre Dame, and Ohio State’s Archie Griffin.

Zorich, a 6-1, 266-pound nose tackle, had 77 tackles, seven sacks and 11 tackles for loss for the Fighting Irish this season and was named first team All-America for the second straight year.

Gardner, 6-2, 258, missed the final eight games of the season against Northwestern with a fractured forearm but still registered 50 tackles, broke up eight passes, blocked a kick and got one sack.

Rocker, whose brother Tracy won the 1988 award, had 75 tackles, seven sacks and six tackles for losses for Auburn season total offense behind quarterbacks Kevin Murray and Edd Hargrett. Murray, 1983-86, finished the record with 6,455 yards and Hargrett, 1966-1968, compiled 5,411.

The previous 5,000-yard rushers who won the Heisman were Pittsburgh’s Tony Dorsett, Southern California’s Charles White, Georgia’s Herschel Walker and Ohio State’s Archie Griffin.

A&M coach R.C. Slocum thinks Lewis also should be joining that elite group as the Green Bay and Washington coach Vince Lombardi, who died of cancer in 1970.

“They made a good choice,” Lewis said. “I went out and gave 110 percent and left it all on the field, so I am satisfied. I had a couple of bad games that probably hurt me. In the Heisman watch, one bad game can really hurt you.”

Lewis could take some solace in earning The Associated Press’ All-America first team honors for the second time in his career. He was a first team pick as a sophomore when he compiled 5,411.

Lewis has a chance Dec. 29 to show he hasn’t made a mistake when the Aggies play Detmer and BYU in the Holiday Bowl.

But Lewis says he’ll pass on that opportunity.

“The Heisman voting is already over and I give Ty Detmer all the credit he deserves,” Lewis said. “You have to play each game the best you can.

“Just because we’re playing against Ty Detmer it doesn’t mean I’ll try to open people’s eyes and make them say ‘This shouldn’t be him.’ I’ll just play as hard as I can and let it go.”

Lewis wrote himself into the A&M and Southwest Conference record books when he compiled 5,000 yards rushing in the season finale against Texas.

Playing despite a bruised shoulder suffered in the second quarter, Lewis gained 150 yards in 25 carries and scored on touchdown runs of 17, 12 and 31 yards in his final regular season game, giving him an SWC record 5,012 career rushing yards.

He broke the SWC record of 4,450 yards set by Southern Methodist’s Ed Okerson in 1979-82.

... state of the art dance rock that can compete against the New Order’s and Depeche Mode’s on any given day.

- Scene Magazine

... garnering attention in the Heartland, there’s style and talent here.”

- Billboard Magazine

Come and Dance the Night Away with Exotic Birds

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 7 FROM 7:30 - 9:30
@ STEPHAN CENTER

Admission is $3 student/4th Ticket available at LaFortune Info Desk or at the door

A great way to kick off your last FREE FRIDAY before finals!!
Women

Continued from page 20

scoring, rebounding and assists. The rest of the returning starters, Comalita Hayberrt, Margaret Nowlin and Coopse Washington round out the list of returning starters. The three provide balance and depth to the team. Hayberrt is Notre Dame’s fastest player, a must-see on the fast break with sharp defensive skills. When the ball gets down low to Nowlin (and it does often), expect the 6-1 junior to score. Washington, the point guard with a knack for taking the ball away from opposing dribblers, directs the controlled Irish offense quickly and with precision.

Talented freshmen have made an impact already as well. Kristin Knopp has had big games against the Bruins and Evansville, while Tootie Jones scored 10 points and grabbed 10 rebounds against Stanford. Most importantly, the team has fantastic court-sense and chemistry, a way of finding the open shot and turning even the most imposing deficits into victories.

This Irish team also has heart. They that NCAA birth more than anything and have set out to prove to the country that the invitation de­nied to them last year was a huge mistake. Notre Dame begins a four-game homestand tonight with 5-0 Indians. Next up will be the Hoyas, followed by the Buckeyes and Hoosiers, both a week later. Last year the Irish beat the Hoyos by eight and the Buckeyes by seven, a four-point deficit with a five-minute, 14-0 run. The pressure is now on you, Irish up and show your support to a national audience.

SPORTS BRIEFS

Show you Irish spirit tonight at the women’s basketball game versus undefeated Indiana. Admission is free and SportsChannel America will be taping the contest for a tape-delayed, nationally televised broadcast. Don’t ignore your flyers! The game begins at 7:30.

The Notre Dame Martial Arts Institute will hold belt testing on Sunday, Dec. 9 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. in room 219 of the Rockne Memorial Gym. Visitors are welcome.

Fellowship of Christian Athletes will be meeting tonight at 7 p.m. in the basement of Panghorn. Topic this week: “What is involved in being a Christian?” B.Y.O.B. (Bring Your Own Bible). Athletes and non-athletes alike are welcome. Questions? Call Mark Zola x1606 or Cathy Bradshaw x4088.

PHOENIX (AP) — Gov. Rose Mofford is going to Washington to help Arizona hold on to the 1993 Super Bowl.”

In the wake of backlash from the rejection by Arizona voters of a paid state Martin Luther King Jr. holiday, Mofford and Arizona Sen. Dennis DeConcini are heading a delegation that will meet Friday with NFL commissioner Paul Tagliabue.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Department of Education on Tuesday warned Fiesta Bowl officials that their offer of $100,000 minority scholarships to schools that play in the bowl game could violate civil rights laws.

The Fiesta Bowl made the offer after the King holiday’s re­jection prompted objections from schools and other groups.

Tagliabue urged NFL team owners to move the league’s championship game to another state after Arizona voters turned down a paid King state holiday in the Nov. 6 general election.

Greg Aiello, a spokesman for the NFL in New York, on Tuesday said Tagliabue had agreed to Friday’s meeting at the request of DeConcini and other Arizona officials and that they would try to convince the Arizona people believed are pertinent is the sentiment.

“The commissioner has said he is willing to listen to whatever they have to say,” Aiello said.

Vada Manager, Mofford’s press secretary, said he was not at liberty to discuss the details.

Bob Maynes, a DeConcini spokesman in Washington, said Phoenix Cardinals owner Bill Bidwill also was scheduled to attend the meeting, along with Phoenix mayor Paul Johnson, Tempe mayor Harry Mitchell, Phoenix City Council member Skip Rimza, Maricopa County supervisor Jim Bruner and a representative of the Phoenix Super Bowl ’93 committee.

“The notion was that it would be a good idea for Dennis to arrange such a meeting, ” Maynes said. “He's got a per­sonal relationship with Tagliabue.”

Maynes said the purpose of the meeting was to allow Arizonans to “share informa­tion with the NFL.” Maynes de­clined to say where the meeting would be held, except that it will be at the Capitol in Washington and not in DeConcini’s office. He said it would be private.

Maynes said DeConcini’s own position on the Super Bowl is that he “always had the posi­tion that we should have a King Day and he obviously would like to see the Super Bowl retained in Arizona.”

NFL team owners are ex­pected to decide in March whether to move the 1993 Super Bowl. It is considered likely that they will follow Tagliabue’s recommendation.

Asked if there was any indication that Tagliabue might change his opinion about mov­ing the Super Bowl, Maynes said, “I wouldn’t begin to try and answer that one.

Local officials have said the Phoenix area stands to lose about $200 million if the game is moved.

In Washington, Assistant Education Secretary foster for Civil Rights Michael Williams said the Fiesta Bowl’s offer may lead to a discriminatory fine, to be aid at the participating schools.

Louisville and Alabama ac­cepted bids to the New Year’s Day bowl game in Tempe. Ariz., despite protests at both schools. Fiesta Bowl executive director John Junker said an extra $100,000 would be added to each school’s $2.5 million award from the bowl and would be earmarked for a minority scholarship fund or to endow a chair for minority students.

“I commend your efforts at advancing minority opportuni­ties in education,” Williams said in a letter to Junker.
The Observer

Big trades rock baseball talks

Blue Jays, Padres, Mets, Twins and Giants deal wildly

ROSEMONT, I I I . (AP) — Tony Fernan dez and Joe Carter never did make deals. McG r i n d a r d and Roberto Alomar got traded in baseball’s biggest deal of the winter, the New York Mets finally caught Vince Coleman and Larry Bream signed with the New York Yankees — and that was only the beginning.

On the day when owners approved a collective bargaining settlement that will cost $250 million and set Gary Gaetti, Bret Saberhagen and Dennis Eckersley free agents, the Blue Jays and the Mets agreed to deal for a few of baseball’s best players.

"We thought we’d give you an old-fashioned baseball trade," new Padres general manager Joe McVail ne gleamed. "We’re trading All-Stars. It’s kind of a gutsy thing to do at the ends."

Brento general manager Pat Gillick, once nicknamed "Stand Pat" by the Blue Jays, never did make deals. "We don’t make too many trades," he said. "We are a contender. They have to be analyzed from all angles."

The impact: Carter, who has a 10-year, $11 million contract with the Toronto Blue Jays, safely stealing the first 57 bases he attempted in 1990, "You could go through your entire list of the top free agents and say, ‘If I were involved, this never would have happened.’"

The Mets, though, felt they had to do something to replace Darryl Strawberry. A 37 home runs and team-record 108 RBIs that took him to Los Angeles. So they dipped into the free-agent market for the first time since 1980. They signed outfielder Vince Coleman, 29, stole an average of 91 bases in each of six years, with St. Louis, and was successful 83 percent of the time. He will play left field, where he has already played 12 years, to handle free-agent talks.

And if there was no trade, this never would have happened. "If I were involved, this never would have happened," Bream said.

"I don’t think this had to hap­pen," McVail said. "The Mets, though, felt they had to do something to replace Darryl Strawberry."

The Braves had offered a three-year, $5.4 million contract to Stubbs. Instead, Stubbs, who set a home run record with 23 home runs by a left-handed hitter last season, got a three-year, $6 million deal from the Brewers.

"It’s not his best position, but he can play there well enough," Bream said.

Doran drew interest from several teams, particularly Los Angeles, before deciding on the Toronto Blue Jays. He will be a right fielder, a slot left open when Rob Deer went to Milwaukee.

"The evidence, touching all bases, was very plain in my mind. There was definitely, clearly, no basis for charges," Meyers said.

Hunter announced that a police investigation had cleared Hunter of a complaint brought by an out-of-town pitcher who accused Hunter of raping her in a hotel room on Dec. 11.

"I knew it was just a matter of time before it’d be over any­way, because none of the accu­sations were true at all," Hunter said. "It was a tough time. It was definitely a learn­ing experience. Hopefully I’ll continue to learn from it.

"I think I can run any type of offense, but I’d like to be happy running it."

Whether the next coach keeps Fred Jackson on his staff or not could play a role in whether Hunter goes or stays. Jackson took over as Akers’ offensive coordinator this past season and also was the Blue Jays’ pitching coach.

"I think that might be a real big factor," Hunter said. "Coach Jackson and I have been together through thick and thin. This year I think I’d like to have him."

Jackson and I have been together through thick and thin. This year I think I’d like to have him. But he’s a great coach, and if he would happen to leave and go somewhere else, that would hurt me."

Hunter also seriously considered Tennessee and Maryland when he was being recruited out of Hampton, Va., but he said he was undecided whether he would transfer if he does decide to leave Purdue.

Happy 21st Birthday, Tom.

Sorry this is late, the only thing I ever did ahead of time was deliver you early.

Love, Mom

SOPHOMORES

The new dead line for returning SOPHOMORE forms is Thursday, Dec. 6. Return forms to the Soph. Class Office and call 439-5225 for more information.

ROSEMONT, I I I . (AP) — Tony Fernan dez and Joe Carter never did make deals. McG r i n d a r d and Roberto Alomar got traded in baseball’s biggest deal of the winter, the New York Mets finally caught Vince Coleman and Larry Bream signed with the New York Yankees — and that was only the beginning.

On the day when owners approved a collective bargaining settlement that will cost $250 million and set Gary Gaetti, Bret Saberhagen and Dennis Eckersley free agents, the Blue Jays and the Mets agreed to deal for a few of baseball’s best players.

"We thought we’d give you an old-fashioned baseball trade," new Padres general manager Joe McVail ne gleamed. "We’re trading All-Stars. It’s kind of a gutsy thing to do at the ends."

Brento general manager Pat Gillick, once nicknamed "Stand Pat" by the Blue Jays, never did make deals. "We don’t make too many trades," he said. "We are a contender. They have to be analyzed from all angles."

The impact: Carter, who has a 10-year, $11 million contract with the Toronto Blue Jays, safely stealing the first 57 bases he attempted in 1990, "You could go through your entire list of the top free agents and say, ‘If I were involved, this never would have happened.’"

The Mets, though, felt they had to do something to replace Darryl Strawberry. A 37 home runs and team-record 108 RBIs that took him to Los Angeles. So they dipped into the free-agent market for the first time since 1980. They signed outfielder Vince Coleman, 29, stole an average of 91 bases in each of six years, with St. Louis, and was successful 83 percent of the time. He will play left field, where he has already played 12 years, to handle free-agent talks.

And if there was no trade, this never would have happened. "If I were involved, this never would have happened," Bream said.

"I don’t think this had to hap­pen," McVail said. "The Mets, though, felt they had to do something to replace Darryl Strawberry."

The Braves had offered a three-year, $5.4 million contract to Stubbs. Instead, Stubbs, who set a home run record with 23 home runs by a left-handed hitter last season, got a three-year, $6 million deal from the Brewers.

"It’s not his best position, but he can play there well enough," Bream said.

Doran drew interest from several teams, particularly Los Angeles, before deciding on the Toronto Blue Jays. He will be a right fielder, a slot left open when Rob Deer went to Milwaukee.

"The evidence, touching all bases, was very plain in my mind. There was definitely, clearly, no basis for charges," Meyers said.

Hunter announced that a police investigation had cleared Hunter of a complaint brought by an out-of-town pitcher who accused Hunter of raping her in a hotel room on Dec. 11.

"I knew it was just a matter of time before it’d be over any­way, because none of the accu­sations were true at all," Hunter said. "It was a tough time. It was definitely a learn­ing experience. Hopefully I’ll continue to learn from it.

"I think I can run any type of offense, but I’d like to be happy running it."

Whether the next coach keeps Fred Jackson on his staff or not could play a role in whether Hunter goes or stays. Jackson took over as Akers’ offensive coordinator this past season and also was the Blue Jays’ pitching coach.

"I think that might be a real big factor," Hunter said. "Coach Jackson and I have been together through thick and thin. This year I think I’d like to have him."

Jackson and I have been together through thick and thin. This year I think I’d like to have him. But he’s a great coach, and if he would happen to leave and go somewhere else, that would hurt me."

Hunter also seriously consid­ered Tennessee and Maryland when he was being recruited out of Hampton, Va., but he said he was undecided whether he would transfer if he does decide to leave Purdue.

Happy 21st Birthday, Tom.

Sorry this is late, the only thing I ever did ahead of time was deliver you early.

Love, Mom

SOPHOMORES

The new dead line for returning SOPHOMORE forms is Thursday, Dec. 6. Return forms to the Soph. Class Office and call 439-5225 for more information.

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Quarterback Eric Hunter cleared in an investigation of an alleged rape, says he’ll wait until Purdue picks its new football coach before he decides whether to stay with the Boilermakers.

Fred Akers stepped down as Purdue’s coach last Thursday, and a nine-member search committee is in the process of interviewing candidates.

"Once the head coach leaves, there’s always a chance that one might continue his career elsewhere, depending on who they bring in," Hunter said. "At this time I’m thinking of what’s best for me. It depends on who they bring in and what he likes to do (on offense)."

Hunter was the Big Ten Conference’s freshman of the year in 1989. He struggled somewhat in 1990 when Purdue switched to the run­and-shoot offense.

On Tuesday, Tippecanoe County Prosecutor John Meyers announced that a police investigation had cleared Hunter of a complaint brought by an out­of-town pitcher who accused Hunter of raping her in a hotel room on Nov. 11.

"The evidence, touching all bases, was very plain in my mind. There was definitely, clearly, no basis for charges," Meyers said.

Hunter said Tuesday that he was glad the investigation was over.

"I knew it was just a matter of time before it’d be over any­way, because none of the accu­sations were true at all," Hunter said. "It was a tough time. It was definitely a learn­ing experience. Hopefully I’ll continue to learn from it.

"I think I can run any type of offense, but I’d like to be happy running it."

Whether the next coach keeps Fred Jackson on his staff or not could play a role in whether Hunter goes or stays. Jackson took over as Akers’ offensive coordinator this past season and also was the Blue Jays’ pitching coach.

"I think that might be a real big factor," Hunter said. "Coach Jackson and I have been together through thick and thin. This year I think I’d like to have him."

Jackson and I have been together through thick and thin. This year I think I’d like to have him. But he’s a great coach, and if he would happen to leave and go somewhere else, that would hurt me."

Hunter also seriously consid­ered Tennessee and Maryland when he was being recruited out of Hampton, Va., but he said he was undecided whether he would transfer if he does decide to leave Purdue.

JUNIORS

St. Nick’s Party

Tonight

7:00-9:00 pm

Cushing Auditorium

Cookies, Hot Chocolate

and your favorite Christmas movies.

Only $1.00

PICTURES

WITH SANTA!

FRI., DECEMBER 7TH

1:00 pm - 3:00 pm

Lafforty Lobby

FREE!

All Faculty, Staff

Students Welcome! + Say

Smile + Say

“Merry Christmas”
Lecture Circuit

4:15 p.m. Graduate Colloquium in the History of Science, "The Significance of the Concept of Predispousing Cause in Early Nineteenth-Century Public Health." Prof. Christopher Hamlin, department of History. Room 221, O'Shaughnessy Hall. Sponsored by Program in the History and Philosophy of Science.

8 p.m. Grace Hall Coffeehouse. Slide presentation & discussion. Carl Losch (Graduate Student) will speak on a recent visit to El Salvador. Sponsored by Grace Hall Intellectual Life Committee.

Campus
7 p.m. 18th Annual Madrigal Christmas Dinner, Regina Hall North, Saint Mary's College. Admission $22.50.
8 p.m. "An Evening with Maya Angelou," Maya Angelou, poet, playwright, and author. Steppe Center. Admission students and faculty, $2.00. General public, $3.00. (Tickets available at the information desk, LaFortune Student Center.) Sponsored by the Student Union Board.

8 p.m. Film. "The Good, the Bad, the Ugly." Montgomery Theatre, LaFortune Student Center. Sponsored by Student Union Board.

8:10 p.m. Mainstage season play, "Accidental Death of an Anarchist." Directed by Mark Piklinson. Washington Hall. (For further information please call 219 - 239 - 3956.) Sponsored by Notre Dame Communication and Theatre.

Menus
Notre Dame
Top round of beef
Baked sole with rice dressing
Manicotti
Baked potatoes
Broccoli spears and corn

Saint Mary's
Soup du jour
Sloppy Joe on Bun
Baked Chicken and Noodles
Gardent Vegetables Quiche
Deli Bar

Calvin and Hobbes

The Observer page 19

Theatre. Hall. (For further information please call 219 - 239 - 3956.) Sponsored by Student Union Board.

Montgomery Theatre, LaFortune Student Center. Sponsored by the Student Union Board.

Stepan Center

8:10 p.m.

8 p.m.

8 p.m. Film. "The Good, the Bad, the Ugly." Montgomery Theatre, LaFortune Student Center. Sponsored by Student Union Board.

8:10 p.m. Mainstage season play, "Accidental Death of an Anarchist." Directed by Mark Piklinson. Washington Hall. (For further information please call 219 - 239 - 3956.) Sponsored by Notre Dame Communication and Theatre.

Menus
Notre Dame
Top round of beef
Baked sole with rice dressing
Manicotti
Baked potatoes
Broccoli spears and corn

Saint Mary's
Soup du jour
Sloppy Joe on Bun
Baked Chicken and Noodles
Gardent Vegetables Quiche
Deli Bar

Calvin and Hobbes

The Observer page 19

Theatre. Hall. (For further information please call 219 - 239 - 3956.) Sponsored by Student Union Board.

Montgomery Theatre, LaFortune Student Center. Sponsored by the Student Union Board.

Stepan Center

8:10 p.m.

8 p.m.

8 p.m. Film. "The Good, the Bad, the Ugly." Montgomery Theatre, LaFortune Student Center. Sponsored by Student Union Board.

8:10 p.m. Mainstage season play, "Accidental Death of an Anarchist." Directed by Mark Piklinson. Washington Hall. (For further information please call 219 - 239 - 3956.) Sponsored by Notre Dame Communication and Theatre.

Menus
Notre Dame
Top round of beef
Baked sole with rice dressing
Manicotti
Baked potatoes
Broccoli spears and corn

Saint Mary's
Soup du jour
Sloppy Joe on Bun
Baked Chicken and Noodles
Gardent Vegetables Quiche
Deli Bar

Calvin and Hobbes

The Observer page 19

Theatre. Hall. (For further information please call 219 - 239 - 3956.) Sponsored by Student Union Board.

Montgomery Theatre, LaFortune Student Center. Sponsored by the Student Union Board.

Stepan Center

8:10 p.m.

8 p.m.

8 p.m. Film. "The Good, the Bad, the Ugly." Montgomery Theatre, LaFortune Student Center. Sponsored by Student Union Board.

8:10 p.m. Mainstage season play, "Accidental Death of an Anarchist." Directed by Mark Piklinson. Washington Hall. (For further information please call 219 - 239 - 3956.) Sponsored by Notre Dame Communication and Theatre.

Menus
Notre Dame
Top round of beef
Baked sole with rice dressing
Manicotti
Baked potatoes
Broccoli spears and corn

Saint Mary's
Soup du jour
Sloppy Joe on Bun
Baked Chicken and Noodles
Gardent Vegetables Quiche
Deli Bar

Calvin and Hobbes

The Observer page 19

Theatre. Hall. (For further information please call 219 - 239 - 3956.) Sponsored by Student Union Board.

Montgomery Theatre, LaFortune Student Center. Sponsored by the Student Union Board.

Stepan Center

8:10 p.m.

8 p.m.

8 p.m. Film. "The Good, the Bad, the Ugly." Montgomery Theatre, LaFortune Student Center. Sponsored by Student Union Board.

8:10 p.m. Mainstage season play, "Accidental Death of an Anarchist." Directed by Mark Piklinson. Washington Hall. (For further information please call 219 - 239 - 3956.) Sponsored by Notre Dame Communication and Theatre.
Irish miss Singleton, Williams

B.J.-Hawkins, Oliver Gibson may join after Orange Bowl

By GREG GUFFEE
Sports Editor

Notre Dame senior captain Tim Singleton will miss at least six weeks because of a disc problem in his lower back.

Singleton injured his back in the first half of Notre Dame's 96-50 loss to Kentucky last Saturday in the Big Four Classic at Indianapolis. He also missed two games earlier this season against Stanford.

"He's a big reason why we're only averaging five more rebounds a game than the Hoosiers. Rebounding will be a key factor tonight," said Glass.

"We need to rebound well so we can go out on the fast break," said Glass.

While Indiana has not scored the ball well this year — only 42.2 percent — its pressure defense and rebounding have held opponents to only 40.5 percent shooting.

The Irish, meanwhile, are led by senior All-American candidate Karen Robinson. She leads Notre Dame — and the MCC — in scoring (20.7 ppg), as well as averaging five assists and three steals per game. Forward Kristin Davis (11.3 ppg, 7.0 rpg) and Guard Nata辞 Jones (4.7 ppg, 4.3 rpg) also are starting to show that they're capable of winning the game.

The freshmen have been contributing much quicker than expected. Kristin Knapp is the fifth leading Irish scorer (6.3 ppg) and forward Novella (6.0 ppg, 6.0 rpg) are doing an excellent job in the post.

The freshmen have been contributing much quicker than expected. Kristin Knapp is the fifth leading Irish scorer (6.3 ppg) and forward Novella (6.0 ppg, 6.0 rpg) are doing an excellent job in the post.

"In the Stanford game, we played well, considering the personnel and the environment... I thought our players came out and weren't intimidated."

Now the Irish face a 5-0 Hoosier team fresh from a 78-54 win over Kentucky this past weekend.

"Indiana is a very good team," Glass said. "They are very similar to the men's team. They play 95 percent man-to-man, and press in the backcourt. On offense, they run the passing game. They have good perimeter shooters. They shoot lots of three-pointers, but they also have some good post players. They are a solid basketball team."

The Hoosiers return four starters from last year's 12-16 squad. In their five victories, the Hoosiers have outscored their opponents by over 15 points per contest.

Zan Jeffries, a 5-11 senior, leads Indiana in scoring with 19.0 points per game. Kris McGrade, a freshman guard, is quickly making her mark in Bloomington, averaging 14.4 ppg.

Yet the Hoosiers are not an especially good rebounding team. Indiana's opponents are averaging over five more rebounds a game than the Hoosiers. Rebounding will be a key factor tonight.

"We need to rebound well so we can go out on the fast break," said Glass.

While Indiana has not scored the ball well this year — only 42.2 percent — its pressure defense and rebounding have held opponents to only 40.5 percent shooting.

The Irish, meanwhile, are led by senior All-American candidate Karen Robinson. She leads Notre Dame — and the MCC — in scoring (20.7 ppg), as well as averaging five assists and three steals per game. Forward Kristin Davis (11.3 ppg, 7.0 rpg) and Guard Nata辞 Jones (4.7 ppg, 4.3 rpg) also are starting to show that they're capable of winning the game.

The freshmen have been contributing much quicker than expected. Kristin Knapp is the fifth leading Irish scorer (6.3 ppg) and forward Novella (6.0 ppg, 6.0 rpg) are doing an excellent job in the post.

The freshmen have been contributing much quicker than expected. Kristin Knapp is the fifth leading Irish scorer (6.3 ppg) and forward Novella (6.0 ppg, 6.0 rpg) are doing an excellent job in the post.

"In the Stanford game, we played well, considering the personnel and the environment... I thought our players came out and weren't intimidated."

Now the Irish face a 5-0 Hoosier team fresh from a 78-54 win over Kentucky this past weekend.

"Indiana is a very good team," Glass said. "They are very similar to the men's team. They play 95 percent man-to-man, and press in the backcourt. On offense, they run the passing game. They have good perimeter shooters. They shoot lots of three-pointers, but they also have some good post players. They are a solid basketball team."

The Hoosiers return four starters from last year's 12-16 squad. In their five victories, the Hoosiers have outscored their opponents by over 15 points per contest.

Zan Jeffries, a 5-11 senior, leads Indiana in scoring with 19.0 points per game. Kris McGrade, a freshman guard, is quickly making her mark in Bloomington, averaging 14.4 ppg.

Yet the Hoosiers are not an especially good rebounding team. Indiana's opponents are averaging over five more rebounds a game than the Hoosiers. Rebounding will be a key factor tonight.

"We need to rebound well so we can go out on the fast break," said Glass.

While Indiana has not scored the ball well this year — only 42.2 percent — its pressure defense and rebounding have held opponents to only 40.5 percent shooting.

The Irish, meanwhile, are led by senior All-American candidate Karen Robinson. She leads Notre Dame — and the MCC — in scoring (20.7 ppg), as well as averaging five assists and three steals per game. Forward Kristin Davis (11.3 ppg, 7.0 rpg) and Guard Nata辞 Jones (4.7 ppg, 4.3 rpg) also are starting to show that they're capable of winning the game.

The freshmen have been contributing much quicker than expected. Kristin Knapp is the fifth leading Irish scorer (6.3 ppg) and forward Novella (6.0 ppg, 6.0 rpg) are doing an excellent job in the post.

The freshmen have been contributing much quicker than expected. Kristin Knapp is the fifth leading Irish scorer (6.3 ppg) and forward Novella (6.0 ppg, 6.0 rpg) are doing an excellent job in the post.

"In the Stanford game, we played well, considering the personnel and the environment... I thought our players came out and weren't intimidated."

Now the Irish face a 5-0 Hoosier team fresh from a 78-54 win over Kentucky this past weekend.

"Indiana is a very good team," Glass said. "They are very similar to the men's team. They play 95 percent man-to-man, and press in the backcourt. On offense, they run the passing game. They have good perimeter shooters. They shoot lots of three-pointers, but they also have some good post players. They are a solid basketball team."

The Hoosiers return four starters from last year's 12-16 squad. In their five victories, the Hoosiers have outscored their opponents by over 15 points per contest.

Zan Jeffries, a 5-11 senior, leads Indiana in scoring with 19.0 points per game. Kris McGrade, a freshman guard, is quickly making her mark in Bloomington, averaging 14.4 ppg.

Yet the Hoosiers are not an especially good rebounding team. Indiana's opponents are averaging over five more rebounds a game than the Hoosiers. Rebounding will be a key factor tonight.

"We need to rebound well so we can go out on the fast break," said Glass.

While Indiana has not scored the ball well this year — only 42.2 percent — its pressure defense and rebounding have held opponents to only 40.5 percent shooting.

The Irish, meanwhile, are led by senior All-American candidate Karen Robinson. She leads Notre Dame — and the MCC — in scoring (20.7 ppg), as well as averaging five assists and three steals per game. Forward Kristin Davis (11.3 ppg, 7.0 rpg) and Guard Nata辞 Jones (4.7 ppg, 4.3 rpg) also are starting to show that they're capable of winning the game.

The freshmen have been contributing much quicker than expected. Kristin Knapp is the fifth leading Irish scorer (6.3 ppg) and forward Novella (6.0 ppg, 6.0 rpg) are doing an excellent job in the post.

The freshmen have been contributing much quicker than expected. Kristin Knapp is the fifth leading Irish scorer (6.3 ppg) and forward Novella (6.0 ppg, 6.0 rpg) are doing an excellent job in the post.

"In the Stanford game, we played well, considering the personnel and the environment... I thought our players came out and weren't intimidated."

Now the Irish face a 5-0 Hoosier team fresh from a 78-54 win over Kentucky this past weekend.

"Indiana is a very good team," Glass said. "They are very similar to the men's team. They play 95 percent man-to-man, and press in the backcourt. On offense, they run the passing game. They have good perimeter shooters. They shoot lots of three-pointers, but they also have some good post players. They are a solid basketball team."

The Hoosiers return four starters from last year's 12-16 squad. In their five victories, the Hoosiers have outscored their opponents by over 15 points per contest.

Zan Jeffries, a 5-11 senior, leads Indiana in scoring with 19.0 points per game. Kris McGrade, a freshman guard, is quickly making her mark in Bloomington, averaging 14.4 ppg.

Yet the Hoosiers are not an especially good rebounding team. Indiana's opponents are averaging over five more rebounds a game than the Hoosiers. Rebounding will be a key factor tonight.

"We need to rebound well so we can go out on the fast break," said Glass.

While Indiana has not scored the ball well this year — only 42.2 percent — its pressure defense and rebounding have held opponents to only 40.5 percent shooting. ...