Steinfelds picked for 1991 ND commencement

By BETSY PUNSALAN News Writer

Steinfelds, a prominent publishing house, has been awarded the prestigious honor of publishing the Notre Dame University's 146th commencement ceremony. The decision was made after a thorough evaluation of the various candidates, and the university's Administration expressed their confidence in the Steinfelds' ability to provide the students and faculty with a unique and memorable commencement experience.

"We are delighted to have Steinfelds on board for our 1991 commencement," said President Rob Pasin. "Their exceptional reputation as an indispensable voice in the conversations of our Church, and their experience in organizing such large-scale events, make them the ideal choice for this significant event." The university's Administration emphasized the importance of having a reputable publisher to convey the significance of the commencement and ensure a smooth and successful ceremony.

The Steinfelds' editorial team, under the leadership of President Pasin, is anticipated to allocate $81,000 in Student Activities fees specifically for the commencement ceremony. This money will be used to fund the over 120 clubs, organizations, and activities on campus, according to John Hanley, the Editor of Commonweal magazine and a member of the National Pastoral Life editorial staff since 1988. Hanley said, "Steinfield's has not been making money in their pricing structure," but they are free to make money in their pricing.

Hanley also highlighted the important role that the Commonweal magazine, which is also covered by the Steinfelds, will address the University's 146th commencement ceremony. "I'm very pleased with the selection of a woman speaker. Submitting a list of over 50 women as potential speakers to Malloy, Kolman said she did not specify a preference as to which woman to choose. "Our main thrust was that it be a woman," she said. "I think for the last couple of years, the University has gone with people with high name recognition to speak at commencement," according to Hanley.

"It's through the clubs that the Student Activities Fee touches people the most," Hanley said, "and large number of students are involved in the many activities offered on campus. The Student Activities Fee also covers the debts of the businesses (on campus). They've not been making money, although they're not losing as much as they used to. They're not really designed to make money in their pricing structure," according to Hanley.

The remaining 80 percent of the Student Activities Fee is distributed among the Student Government, Student Union Board, class governments, Hall Presidents Council, Student Senate, Judicial Council, and the Club Coordination Council, he said. "The groups cannot use the money to buy alcohol, and any expenditure over $2,000 must receive Senate approval. Other than that, they are free to make money in their pricing structure," according to Hanley.

Madonna employs smut, not substance

Yesterday I was listening to the radio and heard a familiar female voice say: "Waiting Needing Waiting." I grimaced and changed the channel. Never underestimate the power of shock value. It has certainly worked for Madonna.

Being an avid follower of popular music, my interest in the elusive, energetic singer traces back to the days of "Borderline." My interest in the elusive, energetic singer Madonna is somewhat of a legend in her own time. In that she is multi-talented performer. While her latest dye job would be.

Stefanovic: Nobody wants that

Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze urged the Bush administration Tuesday to make a last-ditch diplomatic effort to avert war in the Persian Gulf. "It is also my strong hope that U.S. troops will not see action," Shevardnadze said at a news conference near the end of a two-day meeting here with Secretary of State James Baker. Referring to the high-level talks President Bush has proposed with Iraq, the Soviet foreign minister said: "We put much hope on the coming contacts." But Baker said Baghdad had still not agreed on a date for him to go to Iraq to see President Saddam Hussein. He offered any time between Dec. 20 and Jan. 3, but again rejected any Israeli attempt to delay the visit until just before the Jan. 15 deadline set by the U.N. Security Council for Iraq to pull out or face the prospect of military measures.

Valle's snow is safe

Vail's snow is safe enough to ski on but authorities are not sending a good idea to eat any of the snow from its snowmaking operations, which use water that is partly treated sewage. Water intakes for snowmaking in the Rocky Mountains resort 70 miles west of Boise are less than 100 yards downstream from a sewage plant's outflow into Gore Creek. When the creek runs low, regulators let Vail's snowmaking crews take only the same amount of water from the creek that the sewage plant is pumping in. As a result, state officials say, one-third to one-half of the snowmaking water is from the sewage plant. "Would I eat that snow? Knowing what I know? Probably not," said Jay Skinner, a Colorado Division of Wildlife official who monitors resort snowmaking and its effect on streams. "I know it should be treated OK, but I wouldn't drink what's coming out the effluent pipe, either.

Tribal clash in South Africa kills 37 people

TOKOZA, South Africa (AP) — Factional rivalries erupted in warfare Tuesday in Tokoza, where Zulus and Xhosas slashed and shot 37 people to death and burned scores of homes before black officials held peace talks.

In the afternoon, when the violence had died down, women piled household belongings on their heads and fled in the rain to seek shelter in a nearby township.

Armed men stayed behind, guarding their shacks in the impoverished township and the workers' hostels that have become a flashpoint of factional unrest.

Representatives of the African National Congress and the Inkatha Freedom Party, whose supporters are at the center of the clashes, met later and said they would appeal to their followers to stop fighting.

Past appeals from leaders of the rival groups have made little difference. The death toll in Johannesburg townships has exceeded 1,000 since August, and ANC leader Nelson Mandela and Inkatha leader Man-gosuthu Buthelezi have yet to sit down to talk.

Buthelezi, citing a tight schedule and late notice, rejected an invitation to tour Tokoza on Wednesday with Mandela and other black leaders. He said he instead would visit Tokoza separately with national law and Order Minister Adriamn Vlok and said Mandela declined an invitation to join them.

Faculty Senate discusses libraries' faults

By KATE MANUEL

At Tuesday's meeting of the Faculty Senate, Robert Miller, director of University Libraries, said that, despite weaknesses in current library resources and services, the library has improved over the years and will continue to improve, if it receives input from faculty members and other library users.

"The libraries are basically about delivering information to researchers. Each individual has different needs and we have to try to respond to those needs. Our mission is a complicated one," said Miller.

Limitations to delivering information are posed by the availability of resources, the range of information needs that individuals have, and the format in which research is presented, he said.

"Because library users occasionally need resources that have been checked out by other users, the library also faces problems with confidentiality in its circulation system, he said.

"The library profession at present has a code of ethics - no one under any circumstances has any idea of who has checked out what," he said. "We are trying to be idealistic and realistic in finding a solution to conflicting needs. We'd like to ask each member of the faculty and student body if they'd want their name released."

While most undergraduate areas of study have reasonably good library collections, and the library does have nationally recognized collections of theology, medieval studies, and sports material, the library is especially weak in current journal subscriptions, he said.

He also said that the library staff is committed, but inadequate in size to meet user needs, that the budget leaves no room for flexibility or expansion, and that library technology is reasonable, but not on the cutting edge.

"We have made a lot of progress in the last ten years. We have made progress in our ability to serve, we are doing better at meeting local needs than fifteen years ago," Miller said. "We have grown in our endowments. We have new, and I hope, better copiers. We are getting materials into UNLOC more quickly, and I think we've generally made a lot of progress with UNLOC."

Despite these improvements, Miller said he would like to see improvements in coverage for all undergraduate areas of study and for nationally recognized collections and the provision of facilities for the use of full-text data.

"We also hope to provide facilities that are more conducive to the work of graduate students. We have increased the number of carrels but we hope to provide a place for graduate students to work together," he said.

"We'd also like to extend hours, especially of branch libraries which are grossly inadequate in size, environment, and facilities. We are hoping this will change in the near future," he said.

Miller said that faculty members can help the library improve by sharing criticisms and praises with library personnel, by telling the library what students need for their classes, by responding to surveys, by considering membership in the Friends of the Library of Notre Dame, and by having patience as the library improves.

"I'm not a programming body. As Treasurer, I have no say in how an organization spends its money, as long as it falls within the constraints of the Student Government Constitution. I don't think the groups use the [Student Activities] Fee as effectively as they could to keep the clubs going," Hanley stated. "It's not [these] people's own money, so they're not as cautious on how they spend it."

"I think it's a good thing the Student Government is doing," Pasin said. "It's a hellocious thing," he added, pointing to the Keenan Reuse, St. Ed's Carnival, and Mr. Stanford as evidence of the funds' use.

"Those organizations requesting Student Activities funds must follow a budget procedure before receiving their allocation. Each group must submit a proposal to the Budget Committee, a standing committee of the Student Senate, which meets every April. This group is headed by the Student Body Treasurer and is composed of the Student Body President, Vice President, one class president, one HPC chairperson, the SUB manager, and the Club Coordination Council Chairman.

"Each group submits a budget proposal, and the Budget Committee reviews it and usually sloshes it," Pasin admitted. "It's a hollatious thing," he continued, citing the 20 or more hours the committee spends reviewing the numerous proposals each April.

The Student Senate then reviews the Budget Committee's proposed budget and "has always approved it in the past," said Pasin.

"There's been a very significant and important change in the way clubs receive money," Hanley said, referring to the newly organized Club Coordination Council. This group reviews each club's budget proposal, and then turns its recommendations for all the clubs over to the Budget Committee.

"The Club Coordination Council is a big step towards improving the budgeting process. But it's still a tough process," Hanley said, referring to the Budget Committee's larger review of the individual proposals. "There are a lot of personalities involved. People not only look out for themselves, but they also attack others."

"When [everyone else's budget] is on the firing line, it's 'slash, slash, slash,' but when it comes time for their own budget to be proposed, it's 'we're down to the bare minimum.'" Hanley stressed that the budgeting is "an arbitrary process," and is not simply a continuation from last year's budget.

All of the $410,000 has not yet been allocated this year. A sum of $12,000 has been set aside in a contingency fund for unanticipated expenses, said Hanley.

"According to Hanley, there was a surplus of $40,000 of Student Activities funds left over at the end of last year's Student Government administration."

"All the money left over goes into an outside account that earns interest," said Pasin. This is called the 'carry forward fund' and it is used for capital expenditures."

Pasin cited the new Notre Dame Video Store as one example of a capital expenditure which used the carry forward funds, as well as purchasing vans for the Center for Social Concerns, "which all clubs can use."

Pasin stressed the fact that no Student Activities funds are being used for the Student Government lecture series. This is strictly corporate-sponsored," he explained, noting that the average cost for each lecture speaker is around $8,000 plus travel and lodging expenses.
Car wreck on highway in Tennessee kills 15

CALHOUN, Tenn. (AP) — Two chain reactions crash in dense fog on a highway in southeastern Tennessee killed 15 people Tuesday, injured more than 50 and left the roadway looking like a war zone.

A morning fog covered Interstate 75 over the Hiwassee River, about 40 miles north of Chattanooga, where the 75-vehicle pileup began about 9:30 a.m., said Cecil Whaley, director of the Tennessee Emergency Management Agency.

People involved in the accident, which covered more than a mile of the interstate, described hearing booms in the fog as dozens of tractor-trailers collided with each other and with cars.

Traveling salesmen Ralph Fishel of Holland, Tenn., was headed north when he hit the fog patch. He said he noticed traffic slowing down so he pulled to the roadside.

"After that I started hearing bangs and booms from everywhere. Immediately after that there was a truck on fire from across the road. We stared at each other and realized what happened."

Whaley confirmed 15 dead, but said the number could rise as rescuers searched the burned shells of vehicles. In some cases, only nameplates distinguished the wreckage of a car smashed into the side of a truck.

"This is one of the worst accidents that anyone can remember happening in Tennessee in terms of the number of vehicles and fatalities involved," said Whaley, who followed rescue efforts from his Nashville office.

Names of the victims will not be immediately released because some of the bodies were burned beyond recognition, Whaley said.

Authorities believe an initial accident occurred in the southbound lane, and cars jumping the median or people rubber-necking to see the southbound crash may have caused the second pileup in the northbound lane.

From there, authorities say it was a ghastly chain reaction.

Bill Newman, eastern district regional director of the Tennessee Emergency Medical Agency, says no one is really sure what happened.

"It's just beyond our recollection, Whaley said.

Former hostages raise their fists into the air, celebrating their arrival at Andrews Air Force Base in suburban Washington Monday. More than 150 Americans who had been trapped in Iraq and Kuwait for four months returned on a jetliner which had flown from Germany.

Some U.S. citizens will stay in Iraq

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 600 Americans, including most of them children, will remain in Kuwait and Iraq after this week’s evacuation flights, although the number who are doing so voluntarily is unclear, the State Department said Tuesday.

Spokesman Richard Boucher said some families with one or more Americans are staying because they have roots in Iraq or Kuwait. In other cases, the non-American head of household has been unable to obtain permission from Iraqi authorities to leave.

Just how many there are in each category could not be determined.

The evacuation of Americans appeared all but over Tuesday, as only eight boarded a government-chartered Boeing 707 in Baghdad, a diplomatic official said. When the plane had left Kuwait en route to Baghdad, there were no Americans aboard.

With the exception of three Americans who have had visas批准, Boucher said, all Americans who wish to leave Iraq are currently not being allowed to stay.

On the chance that some Americans appear who have not yet made their presence known to U.S. officials, an additional charter flight is planned for Thursday. White House spokesman Martin Fitzwater said flight is likely to be the last. There are five U.S. diplomats working at the embassy in Kuwait and all will be brought home soon, but it has not yet been decided whether they will be aboard the Thursday flight.

The three other Americans who have been left behind had been among those used by Iraqi authorities as human cannonballs to deter a potential U.S. military strike, Boucher said.

He said that as many as 510 Americans will remain in Kuwait and Iraq permanently. That is more than half the number who were in the two countries when President Saddam Hussein announced last week that all foreign hostages were free to go home.

"As of today, we believe that as many as 310 Americans have chosen to stay in Kuwait," Boucher said. "This includes 60 women, 215 children, and 35 males with dual Kuwaiti-American citizenship.

Tear gas is manufactured under two formulations (CS) and (CN). The most widely available is CS (Paralyzed, Sabre, Cop Stop, Pro-Tector, etc.) and is being touted as the "best" when in fact, it is not. The chief problem with (CS) tear gas is that it takes about 24 seconds to immobilize an attacker— if you are lucky enough to hit the attacker in the eyes. By using CS or CN, you will be out of the fight before you get to the attacker. Curb is the most potent of any tear gas weapon, 10 times more potent than MAC and, a lot less expensive (also small enough to carry while jogging).

It's final--Ivana Trump divorces The Donald

NEW YORK (AP) — A tearful Ivana Trump was divorced Tuesday from her millionaire husband, Donald, whose "cruel and inhuman treatment" was cited for the end of their 12-year marriage.

But the dissolution of the marriage left unresolved exactly who will get what from the troubled Trump empire and whether the couple's marital agreement giving Donald the lion's share will hold.

"I wish Ivana the best. I have no doubt that she will do very well in the years to come," said Trump.

While Mrs. Trump said through her attorney she would have no further comment on the matter, her ex-husband issued a statement of good will.

"There are two parts to any marriage: One, Are we married? And two, Do I owe you any money? Today we've cleared the way for the real issue: division of property," said Trump's lawyer, Jay Goldberg.

Mrs. Trump, assisted by attorney Michael Kennedy, left the courthouse in tears after the divorce was approved by state Judge Phyllis Ganget-Jacob.

"I wish Ivana the best. I have no doubt that she will do very well in the years to come," said Trump.

But whether Mrs. Trump will do it with a reported $25 million pre-nuptial agreement or with much more remains to be seen. The judge said all other money matters such as child support, equitable distribution of property and the validity of any pre- and post-marital agreement will be decided at an April 11 trial, unless they are otherwise resolved.

Dear Editor:

I find going to an abortion debate one of the most vivid reminders these days of human fallibility. Not only can we not agree on the issue, but man, refuse to admit absolute knowledge of some of the facts. As such, when human life truly begins.

Yet there must remain some absolutes in our society. We must, for example, admit we have society at all, believe in such causes as human preservation. The abortion issue, however, finds us imposing human judgments over the very instinct in the interest of convenience and facility.

It was on Nov. 29 that place took place when Mrs. Schiavon, the executive director of the Faculty/Student Committee on Women in the Provost's Office. She kissed the woman, "Choose your own!" She sat with us and begged them to not to take her girls. "These are my baby!" She explained that many people worry a great deal about human life before birth, but fail to care for human life in the rest of society.

The other day as I was digging through my desk I came upon Joe Moody's "translation" of Hotel California by the Eagles. Joe pointed out that the song was a reference to the satanic church. I, being the journalist that I am, decided to ask around for other people's opinions. People had no trouble believing that this song and many others were really evil songs with references to satanism, death and drug use. Some of the other songs with drug references people mentioned were out Metallica or Iron Maiden but Led Zeppelin's "Stairway to Heaven" and Peter, Paul and Mary's "Puff the Magic Dragon." Now I know I am only a freshman (as some people pointed out oh-so-tactfully recently) but I think I have found another song to add to the list. I know my discovery might shock a few people, but after discussing hidden messages with these mental giants, I don't know how I could have ever been so blind. These people are so right.

I had listened to Led Zeppelin and Pink Floyd these satanic death lyrics become glaringly obvious. Granted, Jimmy Page and Roger Waters are not Metallica or Iron Maiden but Led Zeppelin's "Stairway to Heaven" and Peter, Paul and Mary's "Puff the Magic Dragon." Now I know I am only a freshman (as some people pointed out oh-so-tactfully recently) but I think I have found another song to add to the list. I know my discovery might shock a few people, but after discussing hidden messages with these mental giants, I don't know how I could have ever been so blind. These people are so right.

One day as I was digging through my desk I came upon Joe Moody's "translation" of Hotel California by the Eagles. Joe pointed out that the song was a reference to the satanic church. I, being the journalist that I am, decided to ask around for other people's opinions. People had no trouble believing that this song and many others were really evil songs with references to satanism, death and drug use. Some of the other songs with drug references people mentioned were out Metallica or Iron Maiden but Led Zeppelin's "Stairway to Heaven" and Peter, Paul and Mary's "Puff the Magic Dragon." Walsh may coach Tampa...

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Bill Walsh says he plans to wait un­til after the NFL playoffs to de­cide whether to stay in broad­casting or return to football, but he would "like Bay Buccaneers — would be his top choice if he chooses the latter."

"If I pick a team to sign with, Tampa Bay would be at the top of my list," Walsh told the St. Petersburg Times on Monday.

"But there's a lot that would have to occur before we final­ized something." Walsh led the San Francisco 49ers to three Super Bowl titles before retiring after the 1988 season. He has seven games left on his two-year contract with NBC as a football analyst.

Walsh said he has not talked directly with Culverhouse, but that he has had two conversations with San Francisco owner Eddie DeBartolo and 49ers president Carmen Policy about the Bucs coaching vacancy. He said Culverhouse had asked DeBartolo and Policy to present Tampa Bay's position in preliminary discussions.

DeBartolo told the newspaper on Sunday that Walsh "might prefer to be the general man­ager instead of being on the field." The former 49ers coach would not elaborate on what position he would like to hold for the Bucs.

The Cleveland Browns have talked to former San Francisco 49ers coach Bill Walsh about joining the organization, ac­cording to a published report.

The report also said any Browns shakeup would not in­volve the jobs of Browns execu­tive vice president Ernie Accorsi or pro personnel director Mike Lombardi.

The (Cleveland) Plain Dealer quoted unidentified sources as saying the Browns were one of three teams to contact Walsh, now an NBC TV analyst, about a head coaching or front-office position. The other teams are believed to be Tampa Bay and a West Coast team, possibly the Los Angeles Rams, the newspa­per said.

"I'm not going to comment on that," Modell said when asked if Walsh had been contacted. "I'm not going to comment on any names in relation to the coach of the Cleveland Browns."

But Carson was fired as Browns head coach on Nov. 5 after the team went 2-7. He was replaced by Cleveland offensive coordinator Jim Shofner, who is not expected to return as head coach next sea­son but may take a post with the team's front office. Under Shofner, the Browns have de­teriorated to 2-11.

Major improvements of the field—or the outright construction of another stadium, per­haps across from Eck Tennis Pavilion, and re-sodding Jake Kline's surface on the new field—is becoming necessary as the disparity between Irish baseball attendance and other teams' attendance grows.

A Notre Dame Sports Market­ing report revealed that 86 per­cent of the student respondents would be more likely to attend a campus baseball game if the stadium were of a higher qual­ity, similar to the good-time atmosphere at Coveleski, where there is plenty of seating, con­cessions and bathrooms. It is true that a school in the Midwest is not going to be the most ideal place to watch a baseball game. The weather is too unpredictable. But if Notre Dame wants to see the baseball team truly grow and create a corresponding growth in fan attendance, something will be done about the miserable atmo­sphere for watching a baseball game.

If something is done, things might be "shakin' at the Jake" for different reasons.
New study reports higher steroid use

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — A limited study of five NCAA Division I-A schools suggests that more than a quarter of the nation's football players may have used steroids at least once. A professor in Penn State's college of health and human development said Monday his study sets an "upper limit" of actual anabolic steroid use among college athletes, although an NCAA study done last year set a lower limit.

"The mean overall reported rate of use of anabolic steroids across all sports surveyed was 14.7 percent for male athletes and 3.9 percent of female," Professor Charles Yesalis said.

Athletes at five schools that agreed to participate in the study were asked to estimate steroid use among their opponents. Even so, Yesalis said the athletes said a lot about their own programs.

The club's current and incoming board of directors announced last week that if Bloch re-submitted an application it would be acted upon favorably. Bloch, chairman and chief executive of H&R Block Inc., a national tax-preparation firm, said he planned to do so.

Club president L. Handler re-submitted an application it had received Nov. 28 when he learned the club's membership committee rejected an application by Bloch, who is Jewish.

Watson, who grew up playing golf at the 94-year-old private club, resigned Nov. 28 when he learned the club's membership committee rejected an application by Bloch, who is Jewish.

"I knew I had a decent chance against him. I've played him before and he's won some and I've won some," Chang said.

Chang then served an ace but followed it with another double fault to give Cherkasov the set.

"The year is finished at last, and that's one good thing," said Edberg, who won only three points in the last three games. "I missed a lot of easy shots, it's hard to get motivated after such a tough year."

Sampras served 16 aces but struggled with his second serve and his ground strokes.

"I rely on my first serve maybe too much," Sampras said.

"I've lost the first set when he committed two double faults," Chang said.

North Stars lose again, Blackhawks beat Penguins

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Al Macinnis, the NHL's top-scoring defenseman, extended his scoring streak to seven games with a goal and two assists Tuesday night as the Calgary Flames built a 5-1 lead before holding off a third-period rally for a 5-4 victory over the Minnesota North Stars.

Though he allowed four goals, Mike Vernon was often spectacular in stopping 33 shots. He has 14 victories, second in the NHL to Chicago's Ed Belfour, and is 5-1-2 in his last eight games. Robert Reichel scored twice for the Flames, who are unbeaten (4-0-3) in their last seven road games.

Dave Gagner had two goals for Minnesota, which lost for the second time in seven games (4-2-1).

Blackhawks 4, Penguins 1

PITTSBURGH — Troy Murray, Steve Larmer and Mike McNeil scored just over four minutes apart in the third period to give the Chicago Blackhawks a 4-1 win over the Pittsburgh Penguins on Tuesday night.

Chicago has the NHL's best road record at 11-5-1, including a 9-2-1 streak. The Penguins are 1-6-1 in their last eight home games and have scored five goals in their last four games.

The Trojans will look to sophomore forward Ronnie Coleman to do most of the damage inside the paint. Coleman leads the team in rebounding with 10.2 rpg even though he is only 6-6, and is second on the team in scoring with 17.2 ppg.

Raveling, one of the most recognized figures in all of college basketball, Baxeling, whose responsibilities as he averages 5.8 apg.

USC is coached by George Raveling, whose responsibilities include assistant coach.

Penguins goalie Frank Pietrangelo was given a 10-minute misconduct and game misconduct for arguing with referee Kerry Fraser after Larmer's goal at 10:49. Pietrangelo, appearing believing he was interfered with by Mike Hudson, slammed his stick against the goal cage and was given the penalties.

Wendell Young replaced him.

Tom Fitzgerald as a pick to the Irish out of the doldrums of defeat tonight against USC.

Notre Dame, meanwhile, will continue to assume the point guard duties in the 1984 and 1988 Olympics, is in his fifth season at USC.

Notre Dame, meanwhile, will count on the Texas Express backcourt of Daimon Sweet and Elmer Bennett for most of its scoring. Sweet, a 6-5 guard, leads the Irish with 16.4 ppg, while Bennett, who will continue to assume the point guard duties while Tim Singleton is out with a back injury, averages 15.5 ppg and 4.8 apg.

6-9 junior LaPhonso Ellis (14.9 ppg, 10.9 rpg) will be counted on for inside scoring from his forward position, and 6-11 center Keith Tower should help out on the boards. Either Kevin Ellery (11.8 ppg) or Elmer Bennett with the ballhandling chores.

"The way I can help with Tim Singleton out of the lineup is to help out on the bench," Boyer said. "Elmer can't do that all by himself. And if I get the open shot I think I can knock it down and maybe help out with a couple of three-pointers. I'm not going to go coast to coast and dunk in anyone's face, but hopefully I can help out."

Trojans invade ACC to face 2-6 team

By KEN TYSIAC
Associate Sports Editor

The Notre Dame men's basketball team desperately needs a win to pull itself out of the depths of a losing streak that has reached six games.

The Irish (2-6) hope to get a win tonight when USC visits the Joyce ACC at 8 p.m. Although the Trojans have a 4-1 record, their victories have come against teams like Chicago State, San Diego State and Colorado State. In their lone game against a respectable opponent, the Trojans lost 72-59 against Maryland.

Still, USC has beaten the teams it was expected to beat. Notre Dame, on the other hand, has lost six straight. Last Monday, for example, the Irish lost 91-77 to a very beatable Butler squad. Although coach Digger Phelps's squad can explain its losing record by pointing out that Notre Dame's schedule has been a murderer's row featuring Arizona, Duke, Indiana and UCLA, the fact remains that the Irish have to win against the lesser teams even if they do play well against the top programs in the country.

USC is one of the teams on the schedule which Notre Dame must defeat.

"You have to go into every game believing you're going to win," said coach Brooks Boyer says. "Especially with the situation we're in right now, we have to go in there tomorrow and play hard and get the win."

In order to stop USC, the Irish will have to stop 6-5 sophomore guard Harold Miner, who averages 24.0 points per game. Miner, who was recruited heavily by Notre Dame, is currently shooting 60.3 percent from the field and has made 12 of 26 three-pointers on the season.

Tough schedule doesn't bother Curry

By RICH KURZ
Sports Writer

Mike Curry

"Like when it's four-on-four or three-on-three, I can get open a lot easier. That's the most fun part."

Schafer has given Curry the green light, saying, "He's got tremendous speed, and he's starting to use it."

Curry enjoyed a successful high school career, playing for John Marshall High School in Milwaukee, Minn., where he made all-conference and all-state his senior year.

Making the all-state team in Minnesota is no small feat, given so Curry was relatively unprepared for the jump to college hockey.

"The first year he was really overwhelmed," says Schafer. "His second year he made adjustments, and this year he's really coming into his own."

Last year Curry was the sixth-leading scorer on the team, but this year he has become an essential part of the Irish offense.

"He's done reasonably well the past two years," says Schafer, "but he was disappointed with his point production. He's hungry this year, more willing to drive and take checks."

According to Curry, a balanced scoring attack is part of the reason for Notre Dame's success this season.

"The team doesn't depend on me. We have three good scorers in David Bankoske, Lou Zadra, and myself. One has to be hot (for the Irish to win)," he says.

As for his future, Curry has many options. Most hockey players dream of playing professional hockey, but Curry isn't sure he'll take the opportunity if he gets it. With a degree in mechanical engineering from Notre Dame, he has the luxury of taking offers from two different fields.

"I could see myself playing pro hockey in Europe where the rinks are bigger and my speed will be more important, but I have to see how Irish baseball deserves better than Jake Kline

Jake Kline Field, however, doesn't cut it.

Whereas other programs' facilities are some of the best in the nation, Jake Kline Field is one of the worst. And that description does not fit a class act like the Irish baseball program.

The inclusion of three more solid recruits to the Notre Dame baseball team only summons more grum-
