Actor Danny Thomas dies at 79

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Comedian Danny Thomas, the son of an illiterate immigrant who became television's most recognized daddy and one of its most prolific producers, died Wednesday after a heart attack at his Beverly Hills home. Thomas was 79 years old.

The star of the long-running comedy series "Make Room for Daddy" died at Cedars Sinai Medical Center about 30 minutes after he was taken there from his Beverly Hills home.

From former presidents to lifelong friends, expressions of sympathy and shock poured in on Wednesday.

"Danny Thomas delighted millions with his tremendous talent and sense of humor," said President Ronald Reagan. "He was a pioneer in wholesome television entertainment and a devoted family man of tremendous generosity."

Comedian Joey Bishop, a close friend for 45 years, said he was stunned.

"I really couldn't stop crying this morning," said Bishop. "I loved him so much. I don't remember Danny ever being sick."

"He died peacefully," said Norman Brokaw, Thomas' longtime agent and newly named chairman and chief executive officer of the William Morris Agency. "It's hard to believe," Brokaw said. "He really wasn't sick."

Funeral services were pending.

Thomas made his last TV appearance Saturday night, playing an aging doctor on "Empty Nest," the successful comedy series co-produced by his son, Tony Thomas.

He also had recently completed a promotional tour, including a guest spot on "The Tonight Show Starring Johnny Carson" for his new book, "Make Room For Daddy."

On television, Thomas is best remembered as Danny Williams, the loud but soft-hearted nightclub entertainer on "Make Room For Daddy," which ran from 1953 to 1971 on ABC and CBS.

The series, for which Thomas won an Emmy in 1954, was reportedly a re-make of his real life. His illustrious career was often heard in the Thomas household when the traveling entertainer returned home and his children scrambled to different beds to "make room for daddy."
time to wake up and smell the blood

Warmth is a wake up call. It awakens sentiments like the one reminding us that we live in the "Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave." In this Land of the Free we’re permitted to worship Zeus or Jehovah, wear cordurvy or plaid, and flip off Saddam or Donald’s or Burger King. It’s America.

The point of the Brave’s benefit was that we didn’t get to here without some spilled blood.

Many died to get to what we have today. And many were killed to get to it. That’s just been part of the game.

The Brave's benefit includes being brave when the powers-they-be say to be brave. And so here we go again. War has begun.

However, we’re entering a new stage in the "game" that must be coped with, because we’ve entered into a new technological age. And it would be unrealistic to dream that only the superpowers will ever have globally destructive nuclear capabilities.

We are changed dramatically from the time of the sword to the gun, how much more dramatically it must change, if not cease to exist, in this new era.

Next time we choose to play the Superman-

man of the world in the name of the American way, it may not be Scud missiles falling clumsily on Tel Aviv, but an entire nuclear unit going off courtyard directly into New York City. If some future Hussein could, he would.

What is even more troubling is the fact that we, in this new technological age, still hire this in body so heavily on a limited resource that comes abundantly from one of the most unstable regions in the world.

It’s becoming more clear that maybe it’s time to develop a new fuel, not a new war.

But we’ve been too busy showing off our guns. Showing them off so impressively, in fact, that a renewed spirit of nationalism is sweeter than ever.

Throughout this new war, many truly patrician people have expressed praise for the skill and bravery of our forces in the Persian Gulf. This can’t be denied. They are brave. They are skilled.

"Support our troops," seems to be the most popular slogan. And they do need our support, and prayers. President Bush has taken a massive popularity leap as he has successfully led a longer, more aggressive America into the unimaginable hell of war behind a kinder, gentler smile.

But if you support the President’s actions, are you also supporting the troops dying for them? And if you support the troops, are you also supporting the thousands of innocent civilians accidentally killed by them? Who’s right? Who’s wrong?

I really couldn’t tell you.

But there is another sentiment that comes to mind, one we were never taught to sing. It is a line—"Nobody’s right, if everybody’s wrong.

Joe Moody
Asst. News Editor
Multimedia technologies enhance higher education

JEFF CABOTAJE
News Writer

Today's trends in technology can enhance education and the development of curriculum, said Bill Hanson, manager of media in communication at Apple Computer.

Multimedia is an integration of technologies, such as text, graphics, animation, sound, and video, utilizing development of curriculum, enhancing higher education and personal productivity.

Corporate marketing, video production, training programs and education areas all make use of multimedia. This technology allows a more efficient and effective access to information and that help faculty members develop curricula and enhance personal productivity.

Furthermore, multimedia users are rewarded with an increased attention, interest, and education areas. According to Hanson, are:

- the evolution from "static to dynamic documents," which would involve the incorporation of sound and video, graphics into a text on the computer to enhance a text on the computer, to a laserwriter is becoming a reality.
- to extend distributed usage of media, establishing a centralized system for use.
- these goals are now being reached with the programs on the present software available now, as well as the future software that is coming out in the market. For example, authoring software with programs such as HyperCard and SuperCard come with most of the computers. Graphics software include VideoQuill, Oasis, and the revolutionary Photoshop which was described as an electronic darkroom. These new "tools" enable the user to manipulate graphics.

Hanson also explained the evolution of sound, combining that with a word processor involves sound.
- electronic output, or "Print to Video."

According to Hanson, another idea is offering another alternative to hard copy output. The idea is to print a video because video is a very ubiquitous technology. So, being able to transfer what you're doing on the computer, if it involves graphics, animation, or sound, combine that with a regular video, and then output it (through a VCR) in the same way you do to a laserwriter is becoming a reality.

- to extend distributed usage of media, establishing a centralized system for use. These goals are now being reached with the programs on the present software available now, as well as the future software that is coming out in the market. For example, authoring software with programs such as HyperCard and SuperCard come with most computers. Graphics software include VideoQuill, Oasis, and the revolutionary Photoshop which was described as an electronic darkroom. These new "tools" enable the user to manipulate graphics.

Hanson also explained the evolution of sound, combining that with a word processor involves sound.
- electronic output, or "Print to Video."

According to Hanson, another idea is offering another alternative to hard copy output. The idea is to print a video because video is a very ubiquitous technology. So, being able to transfer what you're doing on the computer, if it involves graphics, animation, or sound, combine that with a regular video, and then output it (through a VCR) in the same way you do to a laserwriter is becoming a reality.

- to extend distributed usage of media, establishing a centralized system for use. These goals are now being reached with the programs on the present software available now, as well as the future software that is coming out in the market. For example, authoring software with programs such as HyperCard and SuperCard come with most computers. Graphics software include VideoQuill, Oasis, and the revolutionary Photoshop which was described as an electronic darkroom. These new "tools" enable the user to manipulate graphics.

Hanson also explained the evolution of sound, combining that with a word processor involves sound.
- electronic output, or "Print to Video."

According to Hanson, another idea is offering another alternative to hard copy output. The idea is to print a video because video is a very ubiquitous technology. So, being able to transfer what you're doing on the computer, if it involves graphics, animation, or sound, combine that with a regular video, and then output it (through a VCR) in the same way you do to a laserwriter is becoming a reality.
Debate
continued from page 1
able to the University and even to minorities on campus. "We are doing with hiring more minority faculty? We don’t necessarily feel like putting up a building will solve the problem," he said. All of the candidates emphasized the importance of adressing the transition of the University from one dedicated to the education of the undergaduate to one committed primarily to research. As a result of teachers teaching fewer classes, "the class size is out of control," said Ferguson. Notre Dame must recommit itself to the needs of its students.

Blanco/Florenzo cited student/administration relations as a major concern of their ticket. "We’d like to do a Board of Trustees report about how the administration views student voices," said Blanco.

All of the tickets agreed that the corporate-sponsored lecture series instituted this year should be implemented again in coming years. The candidates also discussed the importance of changing HPC and student senate roles in the Notre Dame community. "HPC is the pulse of the student body," said Blanco. Each ticket emphasized the importance of the council as a contact for students at the grassroots level. All of the candidates called for increased power for HPC. Ferguson/James called for a restructuring to provide better representation for students.

The candidates differed about how to change the student senate in order to allow it to better address student needs. Farmer/Griggs called for a faculty member to better student/faculty relations, while Blanco/Florenzo believed that the Senate should do more to serve as a forum for debate of issues. "We’d take cabinet positions," said Farmer, "and put them in constant contact with the administration and with the students. It would stop this tension of ‘I don’t want to talk to the administration.’"

Ferguson/James said that, if elected, they would restructure the Senate and hold elections in the fall, so that students are better represented.

One student in attendance asked the candidates to express their policy concerning a gay and lesbian organization.

Farmer pointed out that, although the University cannot fund a gay and lesbian organization because it is against the beliefs of the Catholic faith, as students we must support the efforts of the group. The Blanco/Florenzo agreed that the University can only support a group that is consistent with the beliefs of the Catholic Church and Notre Dame. Ferguson/James pointed out that one of the highest forms of involvement is to recognize a group. The gay and lesbian group seeks to unify, he said.

All the candidates supported more campus phones, emergency phones, and cable TV. Farmer cited improvements in the dining hall, drainage, and students helping students programs as key needs for students in upcoming years.

Farmer summed up her ticket saying, "We believe in building on your beliefs, we believe in representation, we believe in freedom of speech." Asked how her ticket would succeed, she continued, "Unless you have heart you have no place to go, and Eric and I have a lot of heart."

Blanco emphasized the importance of pushing for Notre Dame to commit to undergraduates rather than research. In addition, he said "we want to see a student representative on the DuLac committee, a review of the honor code, and a review of the disciplinary procedures."

In Washington, Secretary of State James Baker tried to steel Congress for a long and bloody fight. "The military actions now under way necessarily involve many casualties, great hardships and growing fears for the future," Baker said in testimony to the House Foreign Affairs Committee. "Tough times lie ahead."

Baker’s warning was old news to the allied troops massed near Saudi Arabia’s border with Kuwait. They spent a tense but relatively quiet day on the front, still waiting for a ground offensive they know will be difficult and deadly.

Applications still accepted at the Center for Social Concerns

WASHINGTON SEMINAR

THE GULF CRISIS
March 9-16
Spring Break Seminar

CHICAGO
Chicago - Cultural Diversity
March 9-16
Spring Break Seminar

For more information, contact: Dr. Michael Affleck - 239-7943
Center for Social Concerns

Atlanta
March 9-16
The Heart of the South
One week in urban and rural Georgia Contact Br. Bonaventure 239-7353
Stein, of Beverly Hills, Calif., shortly before midnight, when 5 a.m. to buy tickets to the hit University. They had arrived at N.J., two students at New York p.m., were to begin today. box office hours, 10 a.m.-6 Theater's three box office win­ when the Broadway’s three box office win­ p.m., were to begin today. The Observer/Todd Flint

NEW YORK (AP) — Theater­goers lined up from dawn till well past dusk to buy tickets to “Miss Saigon,” the most expen­ sive show in Broadway history with advance sales already at a record $34 million. About 120 people were wait­ ing when the Broadway Theater’s three box office win­ dows opened at 8 a.m. Monday, two hours earlier than usual, and they were still trickling in shortly before midnight, when the windows closed. Regular box office hours, 10 a.m.-6 p.m., were to begin today. First in line were Darren Stein, of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Peter Hack of Montclair, N.J., two students at New York University. They had arrived at 5 a.m. to buy tickets to the hit British musical. “It’s an incredible show,” said Stein, a film major at NYU, “I saw it in London.” By 5 p.m. Monday, the Broadway Theater box office had taken in $461,230, said Fred Nathan, a spokesman for the musical. In comparison, Nathan noted that “Les Miserables” took in $447,275 the first day its tickets went on sale at the same venue. “The Phantom of the Opera” sold a record $920,271 in tick­ ets its opening day here, but in­ dividual “Miss Saigon” tickets have been on sale through phone and mail orders since May 20, 1990, 24 weeks longer than “Phantom” tickets had been available, Nathan said. Top price to see “Miss Saigon” is $100 for 250 prime seats in the front mezzanine. It began preview performances March 25 and the musical officially opens April 11. Orchestra tickets will cost $60, the current top price for musicals such as “The Phantom of the Opera” and “City of Angels,” while other mezzanine tickets will be $60, $45 and $30. About 100 student-priced $15 tickets will be available for March through Thursday evenings. The musical, a variation on “Madame Butterfly,” is set during the Vietnam War and focuses on the fall of Saigon in 1975. It concerns the romance between an American Marine and a Vietnamese bar girl. Producer Cameron Mackintosh attributed the tickets’ high prices to “mathematics.”

Changes in communications

Bill Hanson, manager of media integration at Apple Computers, held a presentation on various new technology being applied to multimedia in higher education. Story page 3.

ALL MARRIED STUDENTS, FACULTY AND STAFF ARE INVITED TO:

TAKE SOME TIME TO ENRICH YOUR MARRIAGE

in a Marriage Enrichment Program from Campus Ministry

Using the ENRICH Inventory, couples look at areas of their marriage: Communication, Resolving Conflict, Finances, Children and Parenting, Families and Friends, Sexuality, Religion and discuss issues of similar and different perspective. This is a two-session program. Each session will be offered twice. In Session I couples take the inventory. In Session II couples receive the results.

Session I will be offered Sunday, February 17, 2:00-3:30 pm and Wednesday, February 20, 7:30-9:00 pm (Childcare is available on Sunday afternoon, please request it when you register.)

Pre-registration is necessary. There is a $10 processing fee per couple. (Fee does not apply to students.)

Call Campus Ministry at 239-5242 to register by February15.

For further information, please call Tracey Sandman or Chris Etzel.

Landmark arms treaty is delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State James Baker, questioning Soviet credibility, called on Wednesday for a delay in ratifying a landmark weapons reduction treaty and accused the Kremlin of turning a "down a path of no benefit" in the Baltic Republics and on other fronts.

In testimony to the House Foreign Affairs Committee, Baker lashed the Soviet leader­ship for expanding the authori­ty of the army and the KGB se­cret police and for the harsh way it was dealing with rebel­ tion in the Baltic Republics. "Perestroika cannot succeed at gunpoint," Baker declared.

Baker, in the past, has tried to muzzle U.S.-Soviet negotia­ tions to cut nuclear and con­ ventional forces from frictions on other fronts.

But he told the committee that he had recommended to President Bush he delay submitting to the Senate for ratification a treaty signed by 22 nations last November to make the most extensive cuts in non-nuclear weapons in history.

Baker questioned the Soviets’ interpretation of the Conventional Forces in Europe accord, particularly their effort to exclude three infantry divi­sions from reduction provisions by reclassifying them as shore defense units.

Naval forces are not subject to restrictions in the pact, signed by the 16 North Atlantic Treaty Organization and six Warsaw Pact nations, and ap­plying across the vast expanse of Europe — from the Atlantic Ocean to the Ural Mountains in the Soviet Union.

The Bush administration also has questioned as understated the cuts on the Soviet forces now in Europe and the shifting of thousands of tanks east of the Ural Mountains before cuts are to take effect.

The treaty would require far deeper reductions in Soviet weapons than in U.S. arsenals. According to some estimates, the Soviets would have to de­

CONSIDER SOMETHING DIFFERENT FOR THIS YEAR!!

STUDENTS volunteer for 8 weeks in soup kitchens, shelters, hospitals, summer camps, social service agencies, etc.

SCHOLARSHIP of $150.00 is awarded to each student

SPONSORED by Notre Dame Alumni Clubs across the country

APPLICATION DEADLINE IS FEBRUARY 7TH

"for more information contact your dorm rep or the Center for Social Concerns

SUMMER PROJECTS
Iraqi civilians killed

Iraq claims 150 lost in recent allied raid

Baghdad, Iraq (AP) — Iraq on Wednesday night claimed an allied raid on the city of Nasarryah killed about 150 civilians, and announced it was severing diplomatic ties with six of its enemies.

It also claimed its artillery killed 40 allied soldiers.

The reported death toll in the southern city included 23 children and was the highest in a single raid. Iraqi officials said many homes were hit.

Baghdad radio, meanwhile, promised an escalation in terrorist attacks against Western targets, and called President Bush a liar for saying the United States was not trying to destroy Iraq.

The Foreign Ministry announced Wednesday night it was cutting diplomatic ties with Saudi Arabia, in addition to Britain, France, Italy and Egypt.

The official Iraqi News Agency said Wednesday night that it has learned from diplomatic sources that Iraq artillery bombardments killed 40 allied soldiers and wounded 38 near Hafir al-Batin in northeastern Saudi Arabia.

Iraqi radio also said there had been 281 raids and missile attacks on residential areas overnight. The spokesman said Iraqi shot down six planes and missiles.

Alien bombs smashed military and industrial targets during the intensive bombardment, and columns of smoke floated over Nasarryah long afterward, said travelers from the city arriving in Baghdad.

The port city of Basra and other southern towns including Faw, Tannuma, Umm, Zubet and al-Khabah were hit "every few minutes," according to Iraq.

Radio Iran said shockwaves from missile attacks on Basra could be felt 50 miles away in the Iranian city Khorramshahr.

The Iranian government newspaper Al-Thawra reported that the Iraqis had died in all air attacks on Iraqi cities.

Baghdad radio said the allies "targeted all the social, economic, and cultural installations, went beyond that to target medical installations, places of worship, and sacred sites, and went even further in their criminality to hit residential areas.

"They want to expel Iraq from the 20th century," the commentary said.

The radio warned that a Jihadi, or Holy War, "mounted by good Muslims against the imperialist interests will escalate each day and will significantly advance the interests of Jihadi and thwart the imperialist scheme."

Iraqi officials said allied bombs and missiles rained down on Baghdad, smashing a bridge, hospital, communications center and homes.

The first resounding explosion of the day echoed through Baghdad shortly after midnight. As on most nights since the war began, residents fled to shelters to ride out the attack that lasted until dawn.

Iraqi defense officials said four cruise missiles hit residential areas of the capital.

Two surface-to-surface rockets hit Al-Jomhouriyah Bridge in downtown Baghdad. It was the second hit on the 33-year-old bridge this week and destroyed it.

Two other rockets landed near a bus station, officials said, destroying two movie theaters and about 200 shops nearby.

Baghdad kills diplomatic ties

Iraqi Foreign Ministry announced it was severing diplomatic ties with six Allies.

Baghdad radio, meanwhile, promised an escalation in terrorist attacks against Western targets, and called President Bush a liar for saying the United States was not trying to destroy Iraq.

The Foreign Ministry announced Wednesday night it was severing diplomatic ties with Saudi Arabia, in addition to Britain, France, Italy and Egypt.

Iraqi radio also said there had been 281 raids and missile attacks on residential areas overnight. The spokesman said Iraqi shot down six planes and missiles.

During the above hours.

Almost Here!

Juniors: Registration packets for JPW will be available at the Sorin Room in LaFortune when?

Monday February 11*6pm-10pm Tuesday February 12*6pm-10pm

All Juniors attending JPW must pick up their packets during the above hours.
OPERATION DESERT STORM

Muslims in America torn by two allegiances

By ANNMARIE ZELL

The gulf crisis has left many Muslims in America in an awkward situation, worrying about their families and friends in the gulf on one hand and their feelings of loyalty toward their new country on the other.

Father David Burrell, professor of philosophy and theology, expressed the dilemma by stating, "They love America but their own people are being fought in the cross-fire of war. Again, they have no love for Saddam Hussein but they do not want their own people bombed.

The Islamic society of Michiana, a group of Muslim families and students who meet in the Notre Dame Community Center in the University Village for meetings, prayer and Korean school, blame both leaders "blinded by arrogance and power" for allowing innocent victims to suffer.

"We are not in support of anyone, however we would like to condemn the killing of innocent people, on both sides, who are not able to defend themselves because their senseless, selfish leaders have lost their conscience and have become ruthless and power hungry," wrote the Islamic society in their newsletter.

The Islamic Society of Michiana questions the justifiability of the war. Thousands of people are dying and no one can say it is for a good cause. Please don't give excuses to justify the war, because there is no justifiable excuse for the killing of human beings. The whole world knows that policies, oppression, and money is the cause for all this misfortune.

According to the Islamic Society the war is contrary to the teachings of both Jesus Christ and Islam. "Our main question is: How do those in power decision makers going to show their faces to God on the day of judgment? Where did all the peaceful religious teachings of both the largest religions go?"

The Islamic Society of Michiana points to the devastating pain people will have to endure because of this war. They ask, "Can anyone feel what the wife of an American pilot, who was the first casualty of the war, feels at this moment. Can anyone anyone feel what it is like to be buried alive in debris, because of the constant bombardment of Baghdad?"

The society laments, however, that "only the ones who go through these tragedies know what it actually feels like, and no one can imagine the pain unless you yourself experience it."

The Islamic society ends the statement by requesting, "Let us convey our true feelings very strongly to our leaders, and let them know that war is not a game. People are making up games that they can move any way they desire. War is a serious step, a step that can scar a person for the rest of their lives."

Burrell said the statement by the Islamic society, "It is a political game, a game of people caught in the middle. Unlike the game of football, we are not breaking Sunday a day of prayer, we should pray for all people."

---

Blood drive held as symbol of unity

By MEREDITH McCULLOUGH

The Gulf Crisis Action Group (GCAG) hopes to act in solidarity with all those suffering in the Persian Gulf by sponsoring a blood drive to be held on Wednesday, February 13 in the Notre Dame Community Center in the University Village.

According to GCAG members, the drive will be a symbolic act expressing our participation in the support for American troops as well as empathy for all victims of the war.

Although the group ultimately desires a cease fire, the blood drive itself is not designed to utilize United States foreign policy. Instead it focuses on a universal concern for the soldiers involved.

Members of the GCAG hope that the blood drive can help to generate unity among students divided by war issues. One member stated, "People who are for the war support the troops and people who are against the war support the troops too—we meet on the fact that we both support the troops."

The group stressed that the purpose of the drive is not to argue whether or not one is for or against the war, but to bring in the victims and stand together in solidarity.

The South Bend Medical Foundation's Central Blood Bank, an affiliate of the American Association of Blood Banks, will oversee and run the blood drive. It is from this bank that the GCAG has learned most of the information concerning blood donations in relation to the war.

It is a national policy among blood banks that donors can not distinguish nor banks designate where donated blood can be used. Because of this the drive is open to anyone to be a donor to know if his or her blood will be sent to the war.

As of now, South Bend's blood bank has not been called upon to send blood to the battle, but the bank emphasizes that it has no way of knowing when or even if such action will take place.

The blood collected at the GCAG drive is therefore merely a symbolic measure. The group believes that although blood will most likely be used, for the war, the drive will still be successful in that "in giving blood we are giving life. The action is a general support for human life."

Due to the size of the staff at the blood bank and the time required to donate blood, the drive will only be able to accommodate 84 people. According to one GCAG member, this is a significant number considering the amount of blood that will most likely be used in the Gulf.

Students may sign up at the Center in the University Village at designated tables in the dining hall. Registration times will be from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. on February 13.

The group is confident it will be successful in its blood drive as the GCAG has learned most of the information concerning blood donations in relation to the war.

---

First gas mask developed in 1914

CLEVELAND (AP) — The gas masks now being used in the Persian Gulf to guard against chemical warfare trace their origins to a "breathing device" patented in 1914 by a self-educated black businessman who also invented the three-light traffic signal.

The irony of the renewed threat of gas warfare first experienced in World War I is not lost on Garrett Morgan's daughter-in-law, Wulla Morgan. "I was just thinking about that when they were saying a store had sold out of these things and were searching for the others all over," Mrs. Morgan said. Her husband, Garrett Jr., and Garrett Morgan's two other sons are dead.

"It's like the man said, they are still using the same thing," a charcoal filter. I said, "Boy, I'm telling you. It's really amazing," she said. "When he was in the Deep South he had to pose as an Indian when he demonstrated the mask," she said. A white friend posed as the owner.

One of his gas masks is on loan from the Detroit Museum of African-American History to a branch of the Smithsonian Institution.

Morgan, who lived in Cleveland, applied for a patent for his "breathing device" on Aug. 19, 1912. He received patent No. 1,113,675 two years later, just five months after the outbreak of World War I and 1 1/2 years before the United States entered the conflict.

By the time Morgan received his patent, Germany and Britain were already mass-producing gas masks, but the patent is proof that he invented it in America's view, said Tom Hollingsworth with the National Inventor Center in Akron.

In either case, Hollingsworth said, "With almost any invention we can find a counterpart in Britain or Germany."

Mrs. Morgan said the gas mask used by Gen. John Pershing's Doughboys was copied from the original Morgan design. "They kind of redid it a little bit to be more comfortable for the men," she said.

---

The mail keeps moving

Airmen at McGuire Air Force Base, N.J. load a "K" loader with pallets of mail addressed to the troops in the Persian Gulf. Airmen at McGuire Air Force Base, N.J. load a "K" loader with pallets of mail addressed to the troops in the Persian Gulf. Airmen at McGuire Air Force Base, N.J. load a "K" loader with pallets of mail addressed to the troops in the Persian Gulf.
The Lord’s promise is that He is in our midst when we gather in prayer. Strengthened by this conviction, we beseech the Risen Christ to fill the world with His peace. We call upon Mary, the first disciple and the Queen of Peace, to intercede for us and for the peoples of our time... (The Challenge of Peace, ¶ 292)

A CALL TO PRAYER
FOR PEACE

This Friday, and every Friday while the war lasts, we invite you to join in a special Mass for Peace which will be celebrated at Sacred Heart Church at 5:15 p.m.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1991 - 5:15 P.M.
Rev. William B. Simmons, C.S.C. Presider and Homilist
Music by the Notre Dame Chancel Choir

The tragedy of war has brought suffering and loss to many homes and families in countries throughout the world.

Let us join our voices to the many pleas of men and women of good will who pray for peace.

Let us also remember in a special way the victims of war in Iraq, Israel, Kuwait, Saudi Arabia and those from our own country.

At Notre Dame, we are particularly aware of the anxiety felt by parents, family members and friends from our faculty, staff and recent graduates who fear for the safety of these loved ones who are involved in this war:

Jed Aldridge
Mark Alvear
Andrew Ankrom
Rick Badger
Kyle Bain
Peter Barlock
Andy Barlow
Brandy Bartalone
Todd Bentley
Joseph Bils
David Blain
Eric Bohdan
Brian Boll
Michael Box
Michael Boyd
Joey Brenner
Chuck Broderick
Frue Browley
Joe Bystedt
John Carey
Pat Carr
Jim Chapple
Danny Clouton
Steve Clear
Michael Coates
John Coniffe
Philip Coghill
Marty Cox
Steve Cox
Brett Crenwelge
Jean Crutcher
Tom Cummings
Jamie Deets
Peter Deperro
Sean Dillon
Barney Dodd
Rev. WJ. Dorwart
Tommy Duke
Tommy Dyke
Peter Van Es
Dianne Fain
Janet Fierst
David Gagon
Brian Gannon
Dooler Gardner
Sean Garrett
Jim Gass
Mark Gatto
Carl Gebo
George N. Gee
John Geth
Beau Giggy
Jim Gillen
Christine Clavin
James Georgel
Steven Gonzales
Paul Goodman
Mary Pat Govekar
Joey Gruber
Chris Hashem
Peter Haynes
Bob Heiske
Bob Honks
Edward Hilar
Patrick Hirl
Mico Holguin
Dennis Hollingshead
Kipper Hull
Allen Hunt
James Jenista
Russ Jenkins
Jeff Johannsen
Bruce Jones
Mike Keigh
Patrick Keelleher
Mike Knot
Giovanni Kotorly
Jeff Kozlovich
Denny Krehbel
John Lanham
Matthew Laven
Paul Lees
Brad Linsley
Simon Lissner
Randy Livingston
John Liedesdale
John Lack
Brain Maher
William Marchant
Pat Markivitch
Javier Martinez
Victor Masserelli
Bob McCarthy
Kelly McGlinley
Scott McIntyre
Matt McReynos
Marty McNicholas
Joel Miller
Jeff Mires
Paul Riderly
Teddy Molina
John Mullane
Thomas Mullin
Kenneth Murphy
Peter Murphy
Pete Majors
Dennis Navarro
Arthur Navarro
Alexander Navarro
Steve Neary
Kevin O'Brien
Michael O'Leary
Odie Van Opdorp
Benjamin Pangelinan
Steve Peelor
Scott Peters
Andrew Peterson
Kevin Poling
Tom Porter
Mark Rakow
Peter Read
Kathleen Regan
Sean Reilly
Jonathan Reinebold
Brian Rixon
Tim Royston
Elizabeth Ruiz
Brad Sanders
Dan Scarnavack
Matt Scarnavack
Michael Schierberl
Brian Schillier
Dan Schneider
Martin Schubert
Terry Schwebert
Joe Schweninger
Marty Sears
Tim Shanahan
Kevin Sheehan
Simon Shimble
James Van Sickland
Mike Sily
Michael Spitz
Brett Steeple
Michael Stefaschik
Danny Stockfel
Greg Stricklin
Anthony Sullivan
Joe Sullivan
Jerome Swanson
Mark Szudlarz
Pat Timon
Kelly Townsend
George Uzuraleza
Jimmy Wagner
Don Warkme
Chuck Webnes
John Winkle
Pete Witty
Frank Zimmerman
Roger Zuidema

Please let us know of additional names missing from this list.
CAMPUS MINISTRY
103 Hesburgh Library
A group of faculty members and students gathered yesterday at the Graduate College for a lecture on how to handle sexual harassment at the workplace.

Fick began by outlining the legal view of sexual harassment, which she said can be defined in one of two ways. In the first type of misconduct, the perpetrator delivers a job-related ultimatum. In the second type, the instigator creates a "hostile environment," she said.

Within the context of harassment by ultimatum, working women are often made to understand either that their acquiescence will procure a raise or promotion, or that their rejection of sexual advances will result in adverse job action, Fick explained.

Less explicit than ultimatums can be the harassment which creates the "hostile environment," usually in the form of "inappropriate comments on how you look or comments of a sexual nature," she noted.

She went on to say that the conventional perception of supervisors and bosses as the most likely instigators of sexual harassment is not necessarily true.

An employer is responsible for making sure the environment is not sexually hostile, she continued, meaning that the employer must act accordingly so that the woman is not continually subject to a situation which may effect her job performance.

Fick cited a recent Florida case in which a judge ruled in favor of women who objected to suggestive pictures that coworkers had hung in the workplace. The judge found that the women were indeed being hampered on the job because they were being regarded not as coworkers, but as sex objects.

An employer is not legally accountable for isolated instances of harassment unless the behavior is deemed "severe and pervasive" enough that it has interfered with an employee's ability to do her job, Fick said.

Therefore, she said, women should be urged to take action of their own because "by sitting there and doing nothing, you are indeed... sending a message," she said.

She said women should make "low-key comments to suggest that sexual remarks have no place in the work environment." Along these lines would be statements such as 'That's inappropriate—don't do it again,' she said.

In the event that such efforts prove to be fruitless, women should not hesitate to report repeat offenders to their employers, according to Fick. She said that there is a specific "mechanism in place" at Notre Dame to facilitate reporting sexual harassment and encouraged women to use this if necessary.

Any harassment deriving from university staff should be reported to the Director of Human Resources. Harassment by faculty members should be brought before the Office of the Provost, and harassment by students should be addressed to the Vice President for Student Affairs, according to Fick.

Furthermore, she said that if the person to whom the woman is taking her complaint happens to be the instigator, the woman should not be deterred. Instead she should seek out the next person on the ladder. Fick added that the university's policy contains a provision for confidentiality.

She said that the university aims not only to stop harassment on an individual level but on a broad level and reminded women that "the university can't legitimately stop something it doesn't know about."
Pray without information and action is ineffective

Dear Editor:

These days, many people are praying for peace. Since the week the war began, members of Pax Christi Notre Dame have been meeting every day to pray for peace; the Gulf Crisis Action Group sponsored a vigil last Friday from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. Father Warner called on us to pray; even President Bush, the man who led America into this war, announced a National Day of Prayer for U.S. troops Feb. 3.

These efforts are commendable, for the underlying causes have spiritual dimensions, but I am afraid to say that I am beginning to smell opium.

Is it enough for Christians and all people committed to conversation to merely pray at a Air Force Base. These grim statistics and U.S. press censorship make us question whether it is enough to kneel down and whisper a prayer to God. For many, it seems the only response. Yet, I think more is required.

If we chanced upon an elephant stepping on a mouse's tail, would we hold a vigil or beg the elephant to get off the mouse's tail? Would we go by elephant-flags and begin waving them? Or would we be so creatively against the gross injustice being committed against the mouse?

Now do we not read me wrong, Saddam Hussein is a husq. The atrocities he has authorized are reprehensible. He is not a mouse. However, if you note the number of sorties we've sent compared to the few Scuds they have launched, the analogy holds: there is heinous injustice being committed in our response.

We may never see official statistics which represent the bloody truth of this useless war. Personally, I have not bought the "surgical strike" myth. I see our actions more as a sledgehammer pounding a fly.

What were the Christians of Europe and the U.S. doing as Hitler was liquidating Jews, Catholics and others he considered less than human? Many were waging war—trying to de- feat the violence with violence. And what were the others doing, those unwilling or unwilling to take up arms? I dare say they were praying: praying for peace. A noble effort, but if by itself—without real information and consequent action—a useless enterprise.

Mother Teresa has said that prayer without action is like a prayer at war and support those over in Saudi Arabia. It may be hard to understand supporting something as ugly as war, but the troops need us.

For the past three months, we have been writing to soldiers over in Saudi Arabia, all of whom we have never met. We have only corresponded with them by letters, pictures, and tapes. From their correspondence, we have learned only a little bit about what is going on in Saudi Arabia and a tremendous amount about these individuals. This impersonal war has become personal to us. We would like to give an excerpt, which has touched us greatly, from one of the letters received from our new friends in Saudi Arabia:

"When do you guys take your finals? Late February? At least it is something to look forward to! Here we've got nothing to look forward to, except returning home and for that there is absolutely no knowing! Things are pretty much the same weather is hot during the day, cool at night, we eat, we exercise, we write, we pray! And of course we get the chance to dream a lot. Dream of what? Dreams of WAR, PEACE and LOVE. We see our fears and face our worries. We take a hard look at ourselves and look at our self worth. We review our lives, our glories and our failures. Some place a wall of strength as a barrier to deflect their fears, this just adds tur- moil. Many young men (18 or 19 years old) come into this medical station with self-inflicted wounds (knife or bullet) trying to escape this war. So afraid that they may die in the upcoming months, they were willing to put a bullet through their own thigh or a knife into their belly. It's frightening to just sit here and think of death. I believe that is why we do act, talk, and behave in a rude, stupid sort of way. It is, in a way, our escape. Just as your letters for me are an escape from here!!

Love, Dennis"

We hope this excerpt has shown the importance of supporting the war and our sol- diers involved in it. They need us. Do not neglect them.

Sara Kubik
Diana Dow
Lisa Tako
Breen-Phillips Hall
Feb. 1, 1991
College athletics' role is currently imbalanced

By Michael Swope

Guest Columnist

Last November, two seats on the popularly elected Board of Trustees at the University of Oklahoma were to be decided at the polls. When Nov. 6, 1990 ballots went in, the electing board had a 5-3 Democratic majority. When that day ended, the board had a 5-3 Republican majority. The burning issue: the conduct of the athletic department and the naming and firing of athletic directors and head football coaches.

When you peruse the newly released 1990 yearbook of the university, you can find mention of only one important athletic issue that may have created any controversy: Oklahoma football. Big-time athletics as a valuable component of a university, which he conceptualizes as essential to the goals of education, has been a topic much debated in recent years. The issue of athletics in the academic community has become a burning issue: the conduct of the athletic department and the naming and firing of athletic directors and head football coaches.

When you peruse the newly released 1990 yearbook of the university, you can find mention of only one important athletic issue that may have created any controversy: Oklahoma football. Big-time athletics as a valuable component of a university, which he conceptualizes as essential to the goals of education, has been a topic much debated in recent years. The issue of athletics in the academic community has become a burning issue: the conduct of the athletic department and the naming and firing of athletic directors and head football coaches.

When you peruse the newly released 1990 yearbook of the university, you can find mention of only one important athletic issue that may have created any controversy: Oklahoma football. Big-time athletics as a valuable component of a university, which he conceptualizes as essential to the goals of education, has been a topic much debated in recent years. The issue of athletics in the academic community has become a burning issue: the conduct of the athletic department and the naming and firing of athletic directors and head football coaches.

When you peruse the newly released 1990 yearbook of the university, you can find mention of only one important athletic issue that may have created any controversy: Oklahoma football. Big-time athletics as a valuable component of a university, which he conceptualizes as essential to the goals of education, has been a topic much debated in recent years. The issue of athletics in the academic community has become a burning issue: the conduct of the athletic department and the naming and firing of athletic directors and head football coaches.

When you peruse the newly released 1990 yearbook of the university, you can find mention of only one important athletic issue that may have created any controversy: Oklahoma football. Big-time athletics as a valuable component of a university, which he conceptualizes as essential to the goals of education, has been a topic much debated in recent years. The issue of athletics in the academic community has become a burning issue: the conduct of the athletic department and the naming and firing of athletic directors and head football coaches.
A major problem exists when dealing with the negative review of a television series. If a reader has enough interest to even begin reading this article, the negative review may possibly destroy this interest. A positive review will entice the reader to continue and to discover the merits of the program in question.

When the reader discovers that a program has been roundly criticized, he or she will most likely not continue. If the program is bad, what else needs to be said?

Marc Johnson
To Be Continued...

"Davis Rules!" is one program that most definitely warrants a bad review, but do not stop reading. This review will use "Davis Rules!" as a basis for a list of rules which will eliminate the need to watch another bad television series.

1) Do not watch television programs that air on ABC on Tuesday evenings at 8:30. This role differs with each program, but it definitely holds true this season. This time slot is currently occupied by "Davis Rules!" a program of less merit than the "Brady Bunch."

2) Do not watch any program starring Jonathan Winters. "Davis Rules!" has Winters placed in a starring role as Gunny Davis, the patriarch of the Davis clan, around whom this series is based. Winters is just not funny, and ABC made a tremendous mistake in ever thinking that he was.

The highlight of Winters' career may have been his appearance on the "Scooby Doo Show." He played this role in drag, and I think it worked.

Gunny Davis' humor is not terribly creative. "Did you hear about the trip this old couple took for their anniversary?" The paper says that they lived in a duplex all their lives and now they're going downstairs." Did anyone laugh at this joke? Winters and Gunny Davis did.

3) Do not watch any series with children characters who are as bland as unbuttoned white toast. Gunny Davis lives with his son (Randall Quaid) and his children. Quaid does an adequate job in his role as a widower and principal of a local grade school, but his sons are totally lacking in personalities. These roles seem to serve the sole purpose of human laugh tracks for Winter and Quaid's really weak human potential.

How many sons does Quaid have? What are their names? Who cares? This show is not interesting enough to make the viewer answer these questions.

4) Do not watch any program which airs after the Super Bowl. "Davis Rules!" played to the post-game audience, but no one actually watched it. This time slot has traditionally been used to plug weak series which have been thrown together to replace programs already axed by the network. "Davis Rules!" fits this characterization in every respect.

5) Do not watch a situation comedy that attempts to develop a serious love story as one of its plots. During one particular episode of "Davis Rules!" plots involving harassment of one of the Davis boys, teachers assisting in busing policies, and Quaid's romantic situation were introduced. The Davis boys are just not full characters, and busing is not an issue with tremendous comic potential. What is left? Quaid's passionate kisses! Busing was contained more comic potential.

6) Finally, do not watch a program with a really stupid title. "Twin Peaks" was the name of the setting in which the action of that particular series occurred. "Thirty Rock" is the approximate age of the characters of that particular series.

Why does Davis rule? Is the family really cool, or are they in control? This article cannot answer these questions, nor the question of the necessity of the "Davis Rules!"

Hopefully, these six rules will assist in future selection of quality time in front of the television, but they cannot realistically be expected to work for every series. For this reason, the reader will occasionally be forced to return to this column for another scathing review of a terrible new television series.

BY ROLANDO DE AGUIAR
Accent Writer

Bob Marley & The Wailers' greatest hits highlighted in new compilation

"Talkin' Blues" features a 1975 interview with Bob Marley (pictured here) and the Wailers with a Jamaican disk jockey, a live 1973 performance on the San Francisco radio station KSAN and a live performance of his hit song "I Shot the Sheriff" taped at London's Lyceum.

Though Bob Marley died nearly ten years ago, his popularity lives on, thanks to releases of Marley compilations such as the classic Legend. A new retrospective of unreleased material puts a novel twist on the Bob Marley & The Wailers collection.

"Talkin' Blues" is the latest step in Tuff Gong Records' efforts to digitally remaster and re-release the entire Marley collection. Taken primarily from a live performance on San Francisco's KSAN in 1973, the album features alternate versions of such Wailers standards as "Get Up Stand Up" and "I Shot The Sheriff," as well as songs such as "Walk the Proud Land," which have never before been released.

Interestingly, one of the best songs on the album was neither written nor sung by Marley. Pollan Walter "Toots" performed both of these duties for "You Can't Blame the Youth," and released the song as a solo effort. This marks the first time the track has appeared on a Wailers album.

"Am-A-Do" is another song on which Marley takes a back seat. The stars of these songs are undoubtedly the I-Threes, Marley's backup vocal group, made up of Itas Marley, Judy Mowatt, and Marcia Griffiths. Their voices give texture to the song, a typical reggae romp.

The music never takes a bad turn, from the mellowness of "Talkin' Blues" to the upbeat, fun mood of "Kinky Reggae."

The most interesting aspect of this collection, however, is not the music, but the voice of Marley, taken from a 1975 interview with Jamaican disc jockey Dermot Hussey. Excerpts from the two-hour interview are included on Talkin' Blues as segues between songs.

Marley's comments, with topics ranging from the formation of the original Wailers to the opportunities lacking in Jamaica, give a unique perspective of the artist's mindset. But be forewarned that it is difficult for the untrained ear to understand Marley, because of his thick Jamaican accent.

To understand Marley, it is better to listen to his music. He protests police treatment of Rastafarians in "Burnin' and Lootin," and sings candidly of his Rasta beliefs in "Rastaman Chant."

Indeed, Marley was a protége singer on par with Bob Dylan, and though he sings of lifestyles alien to many Americans, his following in the U.S. still grows.

Two of the songs which were primarily responsible for the popularization of Marley in the United States are included on this album. "I Shot the Sheriff," the Marley-penned song covered by Eric Clapton, and "Get Up, Stand Up," Marley's anthem of revolution, are both included in previous bootlegging romps.

The performance of "I Shot the Sheriff" featured here is taken from the same series of concerts at London's Lyceum featured on Live! The track on Walkin' Blues is a more emotional rendering of the classic, and is an exclamation point at the end of a great album.
MEN'S TOP 25 RESULTS

1. UNLV (18-0) did not play. Next: vs. Fresno State, Saturday.
2. Arkansas (22-1) did not play. Next: at Houston, Saturday.
3. Indpls Brebeuf (16-1) at Indpls Ritter, Friday.
4. Concord (13-1) vs No. 19 SB Riley, Thursday; vs Oshkosh West, Friday; vs Manitowoc Saturday; vs Manitowoc West, Saturday.
5. Arizona (18-3) did not play. Next: at Southern Utah, Saturday.

NATIONAL HANDBALL

1. Martinsville (17-0) at Center Grove, Friday; at No.5 Southridge, Saturday.
2. South Bend Riley (15-2) vs LaPorte, Friday.
3. South Bend Riley (15-2) vs LaPorte, Friday.
4. South Bend Riley (15-2) vs LaPorte, Friday.
5. Washington Catholic (16-0) vs Woodbridge, Saturday.

WALL STREET JOURNAL

1. Wisconsin (17-3) vs No. 10 Michigan State, Tuesday.
2. Wisconsin (17-3) vs No. 10 Michigan State, Tuesday.
3. Wisconsin (17-3) vs No. 10 Michigan State, Tuesday.
4. Wisconsin (17-3) vs No. 10 Michigan State, Tuesday.
5. Wisconsin (17-3) vs No. 10 Michigan State, Tuesday.

1. Greensboro (17-0) vs No. 10 Georgia State, Friday.
2. Greensboro (17-0) vs No. 10 Georgia State, Friday.
3. Greensboro (17-0) vs No. 10 Georgia State, Friday.
4. Greensboro (17-0) vs No. 10 Georgia State, Friday.
5. Greensboro (17-0) vs No. 10 Georgia State, Friday.

NATIONAL BASEBALL

1. Montgomery, OF, Frankford
2. Leakey, QB, De Soto
3. Butts, WR, Argo
4. Johnson, RB, Raton
5. Smith, DB, Grandview

FOOTBALL

1. Rispin, WR, South Carolina
2. Samuelson, CB, Arizona State
3. Smith, WR, Michigan
4. Johnson, DB, Oklahoma
5. Taylor, QB, Miami

NATIONAL BASKETBALL

1. Bostick, IG, Xavier
2. Page, GW, Lipscomb
3. Thompson, IG, Tennessee
4. Henderson, IG, Memphis
5. Smith, IG, Texas

Seton Hall - Names Scott Wlodychak men's basketball coach.

British Columbia Lions - Signed Giulio Caravetta, quarterback-kicker, and Richard Buchanan, WR, to a two-year contract, and Mike L. Fuller, DL, to a one-year contract.

Dallas Cowboys - Agreed to terms with Brian Orgeron, S, North Carolina State; and B.J. Dickey, TE, Brown.

Denver Broncos - Agreed to terms with Mike L. Fuller, DL, to a one-year contract with Mike L. Fuller, DL, to a one-year contract.

Los Angeles Raiders - Agreed to terms with Doug Crotzer, center, and Mike Mills, DB, to a one-year contract.

Miami Dolphins - Agreed to terms with Bill Luckett, DB, San Jose State; Dan Mullen, WR, Florida State; and Larry Johnson, DB, Kansas State, to one-year contracts.

Philadelphia Eagles - Agreed to terms with Jim Mandich, WR, Wake Forest, and Bill Luckett, DB, San Jose State, to one-year contracts.

Washington Redskins - Agreed to terms with Mark Hatcher, WR, Iowa State, and John Amundson, LS, Colorado State, to one-year contracts.

London Monarchs - Agreed to terms with Bob Frank, WR, University of Akron, and Byran Ferrell, LS, University of Akron, to one-year contracts.

Miami Dolphins - Agreed to terms with Mark Hatcher, WR, Iowa State, and John Amundson, LS, Colorado State, to one-year contracts.

London Monarchs - Agreed to terms with Bob Frank, WR, University of Akron, and Byran Ferrell, LS, University of Akron, to one-year contracts.

National Professional Soccer League

Chicago 33 22 10 72 223 227 16-11-2 10-7-2 6-7-1

At Buffalo, N.Y.

Overtime— 9, St. Louis, Hull 57 (Oates), 4:15.

At Montreal

Overtime— None.

Chicago, Goulet 18 (Larmer, Roenick), 8:22.4, Chicago, Larmer 32 (Gilbert, Roenick), 19:55 (pp).

Olczyk 19 (Osborne), 12:17.6. Toronto, Clark 16 (Bradley). 14:35.

5:45.3, Winnipeg, Steen 11 (Elynuik, Evans), 6:09.4, Toronto, Clark 15 (Bradley), 11:49.5. Winnipeg, Clark 16 (Bradley), 14:35.

All American Catholic College

Randy Gould, k, Haskell
Chris Balmer, k, St. Mary's
Dennis Smith, c, Miami
Bob Fink, c, Arizona State
Rob Conrad, w, Nevada
Harold Wimberly, w, Nevada
Barry Cable, c, California State
Randy Layne, k, Nevada
Mike Magee, c, Nevada
Bill Reynolds, c, Nevada
Paul Spence, c, Nevada
Kent Harper, c, Nevada
Randy Layne, k, Nevada
Mike Magee, c, Nevada
Paul Spence, c, Nevada
Kent Harper, c, Nevada

Indiana 11-0-1-0—23

Chicago 33 22 10 72 223 227 16-11-2 10-7-2 6-7-1

Chicago, Goulet 18 (Larmer, Roenick), 8:22.4, Chicago, Larmer 32 (Gilbert, Roenick), 19:55 (pp).

Olczyk 19 (Osborne), 12:17.6. Toronto, Clark 16 (Bradley). 14:35.

5:45.3, Winnipeg, Steen 11 (Elynuik, Evans), 6:09.4, Toronto, Clark 15 (Bradley), 11:49.5. Winnipeg, Clark 16 (Bradley), 14:35.

At Montreal

Overtime— None.

Chicago, Goulet 18 (Larmer, Roenick), 8:22.4, Chicago, Larmer 32 (Gilbert, Roenick), 19:55 (pp).

Olczyk 19 (Osborne), 12:17.6. Toronto, Clark 16 (Bradley). 14:35.

5:45.3, Winnipeg, Steen 11 (Elynuik, Evans), 6:09.4, Toronto, Clark 15 (Bradley), 11:49.5. Winnipeg, Clark 16 (Bradley), 14:35.

At Montreal

Overtime— None.

Chicago, Goulet 18 (Larmer, Roenick), 8:22.4, Chicago, Larmer 32 (Gilbert, Roenick), 19:55 (pp).

Olczyk 19 (Osborne), 12:17.6. Toronto, Clark 16 (Bradley). 14:35.

5:45.3, Winnipeg, Steen 11 (Elynuik, Evans), 6:09.4, Toronto, Clark 15 (Bradley), 11:49.5. Winnipeg, Clark 16 (Bradley), 14:35.

At Montreal

Overtime— None.

Chicago, Goulet 18 (Larmer, Roenick), 8:22.4, Chicago, Larmer 32 (Gilbert, Roenick), 19:55 (pp).

Olczyk 19 (Osborne), 12:17.6. Toronto, Clark 16 (Bradley). 14:35.

5:45.3, Winnipeg, Steen 11 (Elynuik, Evans), 6:09.4, Toronto, Clark 15 (Bradley), 11:49.5. Winnipeg, Clark 16 (Bradley), 14:35.

At Montreal

Overtime— None.

Chicago, Goulet 18 (Larmer, Roenick), 8:22.4, Chicago, Larmer 32 (Gilbert, Roenick), 19:55 (pp).

Olczyk 19 (Osborne), 12:17.6. Toronto, Clark 16 (Bradley). 14:35.

5:45.3, Winnipeg, Steen 11 (Elynuik, Evans), 6:09.4, Toronto, Clark 15 (Bradley), 11:49.5. Winnipeg, Clark 16 (Bradley), 14:35.
The Saint Mary's basketball team rebounded from last Saturday's loss to upset Chicago at the University of Chicago (12-8) in overtime, 86-79 Tuesday night.

Earlier this season at Saint Mary's Roundball Classic, Chicago defeated the Belles 85-73 in the finals.

Senior guard Mea Tettonborn led all scorers with 19 points, 10 rebounds and nine steals. Guard Claire Brouter and center Tina Klawinski led Chicago with 13 points each.

"I've been waiting for a game like this," Tettonborn explained. "It made it easier for everyone was doing their part."

"This game was tight from beginning to end. The largest margin of the evening was the final score," added Belles coach Mary Wood.

The Belles (9-6) opened the game on a shot by sophomore center Kim Holmes. The team increased their lead to four points, 6-4, with 16:24 on the clock, but Chicago quickly tied the score. Both teams exchanged buckets and the lead several times before Chicago took a 30-35 halftime lead.

"It was just nip and tuck," Wood said. "The score was either tied or sawed by only one or two points."

Chicago jumped ahead in the second half, grabbing a 41-37 lead, but the Belles rallied and took a 49-46 lead.

"This time we used a harassing full-court man-to-man and 2-3 zone to keep the lead until the very end of the game."

"It's probably the best overall performance all year," Wood said, "and we had a patched-up team on the floor."

Led by Tettonborn, the Belles had four players in double figures. Libbing tallied 18 points, 10 rebounds, Clemens racked up 15 points and Anne Hartzler also came off the bench for 12 points and four rebounds.

"It was a real team effort," Libbing said. "We knew at the beginning of overtime that it was ours. There was no way we'd let go of something we worked so hard for."

THE OBSERVER

The Observer Thursday, February 7, 1991

SPORTS BRIEFS

ATTENTION CREW MEMBERS: meeting today at 7:30 p.m. in 118 Nieuwland. $40 dues must be in. The erg race will be discussed and issue sweats will be distributed. For those who have not paid, sweatshirts are $25 and sweats are $19. Bring your checkbooks.

COME SEE THE IRISH WRESTLING TEAM take on No. 5 Nebraska at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the JACC. Gift certificates to Marci's Doll will be given away.

OFF-CAMPUS LACROSSE - Anyone interested in planning call Mike or Pete at 287-2218, no talent necessary.

THE HAPKIDO CLUB meets Tuesday and Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in Room 219 Rockne. Learn self-defense and sparring techniques. Beginners welcome. For more information, call Ron at x3504.

TWO IUH MINIMIZE TEAMS will be in action in two exhibition hockey games between periods one and two of this Friday's Notre Dame vs. Wisconsin-Stevens Point hockey game. The Notre Dame game will begin at 7:30.

STUDENTS INTERESTED in 1991 Bengal Route promotions should attend at meeting at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, Feb. 13 in the Boxer Room at the JACC.

THE ND/SMC WOMEN'S LACROSSE TEAM will have a meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 12 at 7 p.m. at Angola Athletic Facility.

THE NEW YORK RANGERS extended their lead in the Patrick Division over second-place Pittsburgh to four points with a 5-2 victory over the New York Islanders last night.

The Observer Thursday, February 7, 1991

JUNIORS

WELCOME YOUR PARENTS TO JPW IN STYLE WITH ONE OF THESE GIFTS

Rose in Bud Vase $7.00

Fruit Basket $13.50

Flower Basket $13.00

ORDER MONDAY-FRIDAY 4-8pm AT THE JPW OFFICE (3rd FLOOR LAFORTUNE, REYNOLDS ROOM) UNTIL FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 8th.

PICK-UP GIFTS ON WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 13th OR THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 14th.

FOR MORE INFORMATION CALL 239-6028

FLASHAMANIA

RUNNING WILD

IN UTAH

AND AT ND!

HAPPY BIRTHDAY!
Recruits
continued from page 20

touchdowns in his senior year. He also had five returns for touchdowns, prompting the comparisons to Ismail.

Miller is the crown jewel of Notre Dame's Class of '95, one that falls far short of recent Irish classes in the eyes of the nation's recruiting analysts. After finishing No. 1 in the country in recruiting each of the past four years, Notre Dame had to rally to finish in the top 20 this season.
Sun Belt invites in Metro holdovers

By BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP) - "The Sun Belt Conference has invited the four remaining Metro Conference schools to join, according to the athletic director at a Sun Belt school. The Sun Belt "extended a formal invitation to the four Metro schools," Jimmy Feix, athletic director at Western Kentucky, said Wednesday. The four Metro Conference schools are the University of Alabama Tech, Tulane and Southern Mississippi.

He said the invitations were issued on "an individual basis" to each school, "They don't have to come in all at once," Feix said.

But Bill Glenn, athletic director at Louisville, said his school is not interested. "For Louisville the Sun Belt is not something that's a viable option or a preference," he said. He said he did not know if Louisville or any other Metro school had received a formal invitation from the Sun Belt, but added that he would be "surprised if there was any interest."

Because the Sun Belt will be down to four members next season, the conference stands to lose its automatic bid to the NCAA basketball tournament. Under current NCAA guidelines, a conference must have at least six schools with continuous membership for five years to be eligible for an automatic bid. Last week an NCAA special committee said it would propose a waiver to the rule. The committee recommended that a waiver of the "six-five" rule be granted after a one-year waiting period to a conference that previously was eligible for an automatic bid. During the waiting period, the conference would have to have at least six members that had been members of Division I for the last eight years.

Win continued from page 20

of his career-high 24 points in the first five minutes of the second half. "I just hit my shots tonight. Usually I slump coming out in the second half, but I didn't that tonight," said Ellery. The senior forward made all six of his shots in the second half, including three three-pointers.

The second half was a like a scene from a theater of the absurd from La Salle's perspective. "This was probably the worst second half we've had in my five years here," said Morris. "We couldn't get it going. We got a little crazy today." Keith Towler continued his improved play, hitting 7-8 from the floor on his way to 16 points. "I'm getting the ball in a role that's comfortable for me," Towler said. "I've been working on shooting in the low post, and I'm very comfortable there now."

Notre Dame shot 64.7 percent from the field for the game, a statistic that did not please La Salle's Morris. "We just didn't do a good job. We didn't pressure the ball, we didn't stop penetration, there were too many things we've been doing," he said.

Irish coach Digger Phelps credited the attitude of the Irish as being a key to last night's victory. "We have to go out there and get mad enough to say that things like that aren't going to happen," he said.

The Irish have another tough game on the horizon, with the Hoosiers coming to town Saturday, but the win over the Explorers gives Notre Dame confidence going into the game. "It'll be interesting to see what happens Saturday with Syracuse, because we still have 10 games left," Phelps said.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) - The teams are up outside Barnhill Arena, the final indication that Sunday's UNLV-Arkansas showdown is the college basketball event of the season.

But first, the No. 2 Razorbacks (22-1) play at Houston on Thursday night. "The big concern is the fact that Houston is a very good basketball team," Arkansas coach Nolan Richardson said. "The times we've won down there, they were one- or two-point victories. It will not be a cakewalk."

And then there's Sunday's game at Barnhill, where students pitched tents outside the arena on Wednesday to claim a spot in line for admission tickets.

"If you answer the phone in my office, I've never seen anything like it," Richardson said. "I mean, 99.9 percent of the calls are about tickets. People who went to school with me in the first grade, lawyers, coaches. Coaches who I like as friends saying, 'Hey, you've got me to do a favor. Can I have a couple?'

So No. 1 vs. No. 2 is three days away. UNLV (18-8) brings its 29-game winning streak to town, while Arkansas has won 19 in a row after a loss to Arizona.

Everyone knew the Runnin' Rebels would be ready to defend their national title this season, but Arkansas had a question mark or two entering the season.

Last year, the Razorbacks had three sophomore starters. Todd Day was the scorer, Lee Mayberry the catalyst and Oliver Miller the assist man with the soft shooting touch.

But mostfigured Leonis Howard, who made plenty of big plays last year when Arkansas reached the Final Four, would be difficult to replace.

UNLV, Hogs prepare for showdown

UNLV prepared for Arkansas on Wednesday night in the UNLV student center with a TV monitor set up for the game. "It was a screwy play," Sweet said. "I just went to the ball after Brooks made a great pass to throw it back, and I just went to the basket."

Sweet said he didn't mind that he didn't start against the Explorers. He was just happy that his team won. "I would like to think that another rotation would be better for the team," said Sweet. "I'd do everything for the team, and I'm putting my individual score aside to help the team."

Sweet made the two free throws, and when the Irish got the ball back because of the intentional foul, he scored inside to complete the six-point play that put Notre Dame a 77-71 lead.

"It was a screwy play," Sweet said. "I just went to the ball after Brooks made a great pass to throw it back, and I just went to the basket."

Sweet said he didn't mind that he didn't start against the Explorers. He was just happy that his team won. "I would like to think that another rotation would be better for the team," said Sweet. "I'd do everything for the team, and I'm putting my individual score aside to help the team."

In the NCAI tion category, we've managed to replace the most popular item on your wish list in a few possible spaces. We've also exhausted the most popular space on the least possible price. One low price included on the low-budget, points-to-watch on the first two listings, which make it our offer. The NCAI nation is also equipped with a few graphics that we've had since the Sixth or Seventh Kit. The standard computer package of software, including LotusWord, LotusSmart, and DigitalWebPub. So if you have the need to play it and you need to use it to get yours. You can get a free trial subscription in NCAI, and we're ready to make sure you can get one even more computer. The computer information is ready to provide the report, a good product you can get there in less than a year, because we were able to make some changes in our computer. We can get the computer in the package, but we're not able to make any changes in our computer. We can't make the computer easier to use but we can get the computer."

RIGHT NOW, YOU CAN GET TWO BREAKTHROUGHS FOR THE PRICE OF ONE.

Enter seniors Ron Huery and Arlyn Bowers.

Bowers is the shortest player on the team at 5-foot-10. Huery comes off the bench by choice.

Arkansas, while not as flashy as the Runnin' Rebels, has found ways to win.

Day leads the SEC in scoring, average 21.9. He only needs 32 points to move into fifth place on the school's career scoring list.

Mayberry has an assists-to-turnovers ratio of 3.2 with 125 assists and 39 turnovers. He already owns the school career assist record with 443.

Miller leads the SEC in field goal percentage, 69.4, and blocked shots with 81. He needs five more to break the one-season school record he shares with Andrew Lang.

CULTURAL CALENDAR

SATURDAY, FEB. 9, 8 P.M.

BalletMet

John McFall, artistic Director

SAINT MARY'S STUDENTS FREE WITH ID

JAN. 25-26, 28

MOROE HALL GALLERIES-ADMISSION FREE

Marilyn Lysoby, ceramics

Sculptural Alumnae Exhibit

PHONE: 284-4626. For upgraded program information, call the Saint Mary's Campus Events Office: 674-9060, category 1740.

Notre Dame Campus Store

OFFICE OF UNIVERSITY COMPANY - VISA/MasterCard Phone: 332-1477

Friday, February 7, 1991

thanks to the generosity of Graphic Communications of South Bend, Inc. All prices in US Dollars. All sales tax included on all items. We accept Visa, MasterCard, etc., and accept all major credit cards. Please call 239-7477 for more information.

OFFICE OF UNIVERSITY COMMERCE - VISA/MasterCard Phone: 332-1477

Friday, February 7, 1991

thanks to the generosity of Graphic Communications of South Bend, Inc. All prices in US Dollars. All sales tax included on all items. We accept Visa, MasterCard, etc., and accept all major credit cards. Please call 239-7477 for more information.

OFFICE OF UNIVERSITY COMMERCE - VISA/MasterCard Phone: 332-1477

Friday, February 7, 1991

thanks to the generosity of Graphic Communications of South Bend, Inc. All prices in US Dollars. All sales tax included on all items. We accept Visa, MasterCard, etc., and accept all major credit cards. Please call 239-7477 for more information.
Cushwa Center. margaret O'Brien steinfels, eDitor, commonweal public life: "the return of the catholic liberal," koran." father david burrell, hesburgh professor of perspectives on war and peace: the bible and the menu

CALVIN AND HOBBES

Notre Dame
top round of beef
Baked Sole with dressing manciniotti

Saint Mary's
Baked Pork Chops
Spaghetti with meat sauce or marinara sauce
Vegetable stir fry deli bar

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

CROSSWORD

Across
1. Make a decision
2. Checks
3. Table game
4. Mine favorite
5. Like sauce
6. Adjust
7. Actress's intelligence?
8. Item in the sky
9. Bud's partner
10. Part of a O.D.
11. Pitches Seaver served
12. Features
13. Suffering from
14. Thackeray's character's instrument?
15. "That would not suit..." Yeats
16. Finnish author: 1861-1921
17. Actress Shire's rock singer's flourish?
18. Suffix with host
19. Comedienne
20. TV studio apparatus
21. Network letters
22. Persian poet
23. Strange gadget
24. Balderdash
25. Actor's fasterer?
26. Seaweed
27. Male fastener?
28. Catch flies
29. Lion portrayer
30. Assurance
31. Govt. branch
32. Govt. homebuilding org.
33. "The Sweetheart of Sigma Minor"
34. Hammer at an angle
35. Mayor Dinkins' predecessor
36. Word with sun or moon
37. History
38. Checkers
39. Supt. or cpI.
40. Word with moon
41. Assumption
42. Articulate
43. Actress Shire
44. Rock singer's flourish?
45. Type of urn
46. Ma and Pa of films
47. Suffix with host
48. Trouble
49. 'the clouds of'
50. Lover to D.D.
51. Abhor
52. Set of principles
53. Louis or Ali
54. Illustrator
55. Roman
crossword

Down
1. Independent mineral
2. It's sometimes played in water
3. See the sights
4. Protection
5. It's so sometimes
6. Wild or in puzzlement
7. High I.Q. group
8. Salt water
9. Seafood delicacy
10. Inclined
11. Comedian's drinks?
12. District in Asia
13. Polished
21. Hammer at an angle
22. Heter
23. Catch Res.
24. Lion pursuer
25. Musician's beef?
26. Nautical term
27. Seafood delicacy
28. Catch flies
29. Lion portrayer
30. Assurance
32. "The Sweetheart of Sigma Minor"
33. 'the clouds of'
34. History
35. Checkers
36. Supt. or cpI.
37. Assumption
38. Articulate
39. Actress Shire
40. Rock singer's flourish?
41. Type of urn
42. Ma and Pa of films
43. Lover to D.D.
44. Illustrator
45. Roman
crossword

Answers to any three clues in this puzzle are available by touch-tone phone: 1-800-420-5656 (75¢ each minute).

Sub Executive Council Applications for 1991-92
Now available from the Secretary, 2nd Floor LaFortune

Movies

Stripes: February 7
The Adventures of Ford Fairlane: February 8 & 9

Cushing Auditorium
8:00 and 10:30 P.M.

Admission: $2

Spring Break Trip
Panama City, Florida
$50 deposit due by Feb. 8!!

STUDENT UNION BOARD

Thursday, February 7, 1991

The Observer
Irish take control in 2nd half of win over La Salle

Notre Dame shoots over 64 percent, 84-68 victory

By RICH KURZ
Sports Writer

Some days, just about everything in the Irish shot went in, leading some to wonder if Notre Dame had acquired the "smart bomb" technology that guides the U.S. military's missiles against Iraq.

The Explorers directly contrasted the Irish. La Salle hombres had three-point attempts after three-point attempts, only to watch 23 of 32 clank off the rim, while the Irish excelled by scrounging to scoop up the rebounds.

"(Our players) were overconfident," said Explorer coach Bill "Speedy" Morris. "I don't know why, we hadn't had much success here. It's Notre Dame. I don't care who they have wearing those uniforms, it's a tough place to win."

La Salle had the lead for exactly 29 seconds when Randy Woods hit his first shot, a triplica that gave the Explorers a 3-2 lead with just under two minutes gone in the game. From that point on, the game belonged to the Irish.

The Irish ran off 14 points in five minutes, including four points from Elmer Bennett, before La Salle could manage another point.

The Explorers closed the gap to one just 21 seconds before the first half ended on the basis of a 7-2 run that finished with Woods converting the three-point play after being fouled by Bennett.

"I told the kids at halftime that we were fortunate to be one down, we played terrible," Morris said.

The Explorers made only 10 of 35 shots in the opening stanza, for a horrid 28.6 percent. But half of those were three-pointers, and La Salle shot a perfect 11-11 from the charity stripe, nearly offsetting the 58.3 percent field-goal shooting of Notre Dame.

The hot shooting continued, and even improved, for the Irish in the second half, as they shot 70.4 percent in the second period. Kevin Ellery scored 10

Trail Blazers, Celtics surprise NBA followers

By FRANK PASTOR
Associate Sports Editor

The NBA All-Star game is this Sunday in Charlotte, and as the league winds down to its annual three-game break, several things surprise me about the 1999 season.

First, the Portland Trail Blazers, have the best record in the NBA (35-11-9) as of Wednesday. Even I, one of their biggest fans, would have laughed at the notion that the Blazers would be the best team record-wise in the league this season.

Why? Because they had the worst success the team experienced in last year's playoffs that carried into the regular season.

I'm puzzled, however, that Portland would trade for Walter Davis. The Sporting News reported that the Blazers made the trade in part because they didn't want any other Western Conference rivals picking up the North Carolina alum, especially division rivals Phoenix and Los Angeles.

Defense, never one of Davis' strong suits, has keyed Portland's success this season, so it remains to be seen just how well Davis fits in that role.

Just when you thought you were finally rid of them, the Los Angeles Lakers (35-11) run off 16 straight wins and climb right back into contention. So their 2-5 start there may have been just a dream that "Showtime" could be over, couldn't it?

Miller highlights '91 recruiting class

Sports Writer

Even an NCAA gap order failed to keep Notre Dame head coach Lou Holtz from singing the praises of wide receiver Mike Miller at Wednesday's teleconference on national signing day.

Speaking in compliance with an NCAA regulation restricting coaches and administrators from talking about football recruits until they have officially signed a national letter of intent, Holtz first consulted with Sports Information Director John Heisler to confirm Miller's status.

"I'm puzzled, however, that McFarland's success this season, so it remains to be seen just how well Davis fits in that role."

Miller said he's got that same bubbly personality. They tell me he might be faster than Rocket. He's not quite as tall as Rocket, but he's got the same bubbly personality. They tell me he might be faster than Rocket. He's probably more advanced as a receiver than Rocket at this stage.

"But, Holtz cautions, "do not expect him to be another Rocket.""

The 5-7, 185-pound speedster from Willowridge High is the fourth-ranked recruit out of Texas and the fastest player of the '91 recruiting class (4.3 in the 40-

High). He rushed for 635 yards and 10 touchdowns for 35 passes for 640 yards and six

Kevin Ellery scored a career-high 24 points to lead Notre Dame past the La Salle Explorers 84-68 last night at the JACC.

Michigan, Penn St. grab top recruits

Michigan signed highly rated quarterback Craig Randall of Grand Rapids, Mich., and four of SuperPrep's top 20 defensive linemen, including second-rated Trent Zenkewicz of Cleveland.

"Michigan got the best group of running backs, some great people on the offensive line and a couple of outstanding line backers," said Allen Wallace, publisher of SuperPrep magazine.

"Michigan got the best group of defensive linemen, the two top quarterback from the state of Michigan and the best athlete from the Midwest. And Florida State got the best running back, the best defensive back and the best offensive lineman in the country." Wednesday was the first day high school players could sign letters of intent.

Unlike most schools, Penn State doesn't release its list of recruits. But Wallace said the Nittany Lions were expected to sign SuperPrep's second-rated

(AP) — The rich got richer in college football Wednesday as traditional powers Penn State, Michigan and Florida State led the way in signing top high school prospects.

Penn State got the best group of running backs, some great people on the offensive line and a couple of outstanding line backers," said Allen Wallace, publisher of SuperPrep magazine.

"Michigan got the best group of defensive linemen, the two top quarterback from the state of Michigan and the best athlete from the Midwest. And Florida State got the best running back, the best defensive back and the best offensive lineman in the country."

Michigan signed highly rated quarterback Craig Randall of Grand Rapids, Mich., and four of SuperPrep's top 20 defensive linemen, including second-rated Trent Zenkewicz of Cleveland.

"Michigan got the best group of running backs, some great people on the offensive line and a couple of outstanding line backers," said Allen Wallace, publisher of SuperPrep magazine.

"Michigan got the best group of defensive linemen, the two top quarterback from the state of Michigan and the best athlete from the Midwest. And Florida State got the best running back, the best defensive back and the best offensive lineman in the country." Wednesday was the first day high school players could sign letters of intent.

Unlike most schools, Penn State doesn't release its list of recruits. But Wallace said the Nittany Lions were expected to sign SuperPrep's second-rated receptor, Bobby Engram of Camden, S.C., and two running backs ranked in the top 10 — Stephen Pitts of Middletown, N.J., and Andre Carter of Westerville, Ohio.

The Nittany Lions also reportedly got three of the top 10 offensive line prospects — Andre' Johnson of Southampton, N.Y., Marco Rivera of Elmont, N.Y., and Scott Strihm of West Chester, Ohio.

Georgia Tech went unde-

receivers. The Yellow Jackets were out-

state by 24 points, 28-5.

"The Bulldog tradition is hard to beat," Wallace said. "Plus, Georgia Tech can't get some kids because of their tough academic standards."