Roemer: Students hope for future

Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s students are the hope for politics in the future, said Congressman Tim Roemer (D-Indiana) last night at the Center for Social Concerns.

His speech was one of three preparatory sessions for the Washinghion Seminar “Poverty and Democracy in America,” a one-credit theology course offered to Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s students.

“I think Notre Dame and Saint Mary’s people are the best equipped people to come to Washington,” said Roemer. “I think the young people have a lot of the answers.”

It is important for students to “make the step across the abyss and say, ‘I am going to solve these problems.’

“It is important for students to articulate, born into good circumstances,” he said. “I think the mission for you is to take risks.”

Roemer also stressed family values. “I think that government should help promote family values,” he said. Roemer cited the Work Force Development Services, which offers training to the unemployed, as a good example of what the government can do for Americans.

“The best family values are not only caring but having programs to help families get through tough times,” he said.

Roemer cited the number of children and families in poverty. “Since no ticket received a majority of votes in last night’s election, the rules of the campaigns will be true. Because we don’t think that it is fair for some to go out of their way to go by the book and for others to not adhere by the rules,” said Roemer.

Roemer also discussed the high cost of college. “We’re losing our middle class. It is important for students to use their talents by going to college freshman class president and vice presidential elections, a runoff election between Juliet Stancato/Jen Woo and Lisa Whisler/Liz Fedesna will be held Thursday. The ticket of Barbara Howells / Jen Farley received 34 percent, Stancato/Woo received 24 percent, and Whisler/Fedesna 34 percent. Two percent abstained. The Observer/Christopher McClay

The decision to subtract 14 votes was made by a portion of the election committee. “We want our class to know that the outcome of the election will be true. We don’t think that it is fair for some to go out of their way to go by the book and for others to not adhere by the rules,” said Roemer.

The undergraduate accounting program in Notre Dame’s College of Business Administration has been ranked sixth in the nation in academic quality by a survey in the industry newsletter Public Accounting Report.

“This year was a gratifying one to have our peers recognize the high quality of our faculty, students and programs,” said department chairman Thomas Frecka.

The University of Illinois is normally ranked among the top 10 accounting programs in the annual survey of accounting faculty and department chairs nationwide.

The University of Illinois ranked first in this year’s survey, followed by the Universities of Texas, Southern California, and Michigan, and Brigham Young University.

After Notre Dame, Northern Illinois University, the University of Pennsylvania, Miami (Ohio) and Ohio State Universities round out the top ten. Frecka said the University’s high ranking helps the students.

“The public accounting firms, in particular, are focusing on fewer and fewer schools when they come out to conduct job interviews with students,” he said. “This survey helps enhance our overall reputation.”

Aiding suicide can be an act of mercy

He's at it again. You may have heard. This time it was just miles away from us in our neighbor to the north, Michigan. Another death to which this man was a contributing factor—this, I think, his fifth. And yet, though his identity is well known, he is a free man—not behind bars as many believe he should be, but rather walking the streets just like you and me. (To those of you reading this from your jail cell, ignore that last remark. And don't worry, you’re not missing much by not being able to vote this fall.)

All of the aforementioned deceased are women, for what that fact is worth. No, this man is not a rapist, nor does he even display any misogynist traits. Quite the opposite, he is an extremely caring, compassionate and understanding individual who puts his own carefully calculated sense of right and wrong ahead of the conventions of the society that damns him. His name is Dr. Death.

Well, that's his nickname. His real name is Dr. Jack Kevorkian, but most people more readily recognize the former title, one that I feel is most fairly calculated sense of right and wrong

Gorbachev declines to testify

MOSCOW—Mikhail Gorbachev asked Russia's Constitutional Court on Monday to excuse him from testifying in a trial on his disbanded Communist Party, saying it would worsen the country's political situation. The former Soviet president expressed his objections in a letter to the court in response to its Sep21 order that he testify, ITAR-Tass and Interfax news agencies reported. The 13-judge panel is considering the legality of Russian President Boris Yeltsin's ban on the former ruling party. Gorbachev, the party chief from 1985 until his resignation in August 1991, was among the former Communist leaders ordered to testify. A aide to the chief judge has said the court could find Gorbachev 100 rubles — about 40 cents — if he refuses to testify. Gorbachev wrote that he respects the court but that his disbanding the party is a free man—not behind

Tiger mauls magician during act

RENO, Nev.—A 250-pound tiger mauled a magician during a casino stage show in what the audience at first thought was part of the act. "But then there were gasps from the audience when they realized he wasn't playing," said Reno Hilton spokesman Brian Lawson. Jonathan Pendragon, 37, was listed in satisfactory condition Sunday after surgery. Lawson said the tiger's head and leg were hanging during a dressing act Saturday night. Pendragon had jumped on the tiger's cage after making the animal reappear, and his leg either slipped in or the tiger pulled it in, Lawson said.

"There are lots of pockets of the disease right now," said Lee Chamberlin, an epidemiologist with the acute-disease division of the Indiana Department of Health. "It once it gets into a community, if appropriate precautions are not taken and really strictly adhered to, it does spread and it spreads quickly within households." There were 195 cases reported in Marion County this year through August, compared with 32 cases for the same period last year.

Each residence hall selected one freshman to represent it on the Frosh Class Council. After submitting petitions signed by fellow freshmen, some members were appointed by hall staff and others were elected by the freshmen in the dorm. The council is brought together under the direction of student affairs, and its main functions are raising money for the freshman class, dealing with pertinent concerns of freshmen, and representing the class in student government, Castelli said. Class trips and activities may be planned at the discretion of the council. Class officers will be elected from the twenty-five members, said Castelli.

Students selected for this year are Lisa Scholts from Welsh; Sara Ford from Pangborn; Missy Deckard from Pasquerilla West; Jim Dowd from Morrissey; Jim Feldmann from Sorin; Ted Donnelly from St. Edwards; Fernando Carreira from Stanford; Amy Newman from Howard; Amy Gardner from Knott; Lonnie Limon from Flanner; and Kristi Kinski from Farley.

Also selected were Lauren Aimonette from Breen-Phillips; Joshua Hodge from Cavanaugh; Ryan Bohr from Zahn; Osho Vo from Lyons; Eric Schullenower from Grace; Stacey Kiehbsa from Pasquerilla East; Michaels Kendall from Lewis; and Vishal Palawa from Koonan.

Results from Dillon, Alumni, Badin, Carroll, and Fisher were unavailable at press time.

The Senate approved resolution

By KENYA JOHNSON
News Writer

Student Senate approved the nomination of former SUB External Relations Commissioner Jean Hazel to SUB Director of relations and passed a resolution concerning drainage problems on the Notre Dame campus at last night’s meeting.

The position of SUB director of relations was formerly held by Ellen Zehren, who was nominated last week for the position of SUB director of programming.

In other business, Jim Penilla, Sophomore class president, and Jason Coyle, Hall Presidents’ Council co-chair said a primary concern of students is the campus drainage system, which is “wholly incapable of effectively dissipating large amounts of water.” The problem of drainage directly confronts students because “faculty and administration don’t see the problems, so they don’t understand the problems,” said Marianne Raczy, SPC co-chair.

The Senate recommended designating a committee to assess the drainage problem and suggested solutions to the Notre Dame Administration.

BOG discusses spending

Members of the Saint Mary’s Board of Governance expressed concern about several aspects of campus life at last night’s meeting.

A central topic of discussion was the distribution of money for student activities and programs. Students questioned the small sum of money designated for actual use by student groups.

Members also expressed frustration regarding the lack of communication between administration and students. According to board members, many changes in campus life have been implemented without student input. “Residence Life has not told or notified students about any of the decisions,” said board member Helen Harrington.

Saint Mary’s College President William Hickey was unable to attend the meeting because of illness.

They're falling into poverty. They're losing hope," said Roemer.

He criticized the space station, which is costing the government a total of $120 billion in the next twenty years, because it has only accomplished one of its eight goals: scientists can study the effects of gravity on bodies in space. "We've got a lot of problems right here on earth and we've got to deal with them," he said.

Roemer fears an America in which citizens cannot make as much money as their parents did. "At least providing an opportunity to have a shot at making it to the finish line. That's what America's all about," said Roemer.

"Americans can do anything they set their hearts and minds to." Roemer received his graduate degree from Notre Dame, his father is the Director of Community Affairs at Notre Dame, and his mother works at the Center for Social Concerns.

Man denies killing opponent's wife

MAITLAND, Fla. (AP)—A legislative candidate Monday denied any involvement in the shooting of his opponent's wife, although police said they found a gun hidden in his apartment and a bullet-riddled blanket in his car.

Police said Eric Kaplan has so far declined to cooperate in their investigation into Sunday's shooting of attorney Judith Starks, wife of Republican state Rep. Robert Starks.

Kaplan's attorney issued a statement saying Kaplan denied "any involvement and knowledge concerning this matter." Kaplan is the Democratic candidate for the suburban Orlando seat.

Mrs. Starks was shot through the calf early Sunday as she sat in bed when five shots were fired from the back yard into their home. Starks, 47, was treated at a hospital.

No arrests were made and authorities were awaiting crime lab results.

"It appears that we're building a very strong case against Kaplan. We hope that the crime lab tests will solidify our case against him," Seminole County Sheriff's spokesman George Proechel said Monday.

Proechel said an eyewitness followed Kaplan's vehicle to Kaplan's apartment complex in Casselberry, where police recovered a five-shot .38-caliber revolver and a handwritten note with Starks' address on it.

In Kaplan's car, deputies found a blanket riddled with five bullet holes, apparently used to muffle the gun, authorities said.

Detectives attempted to question Kaplan late Sunday, Proechel said, "but he isn't cooperating," and has hired a lawyer.

Kaplan, 28, didn't immediately respond to messages left on his telephone answering machine.

The statement issued by attorney James Russ said Kaplan "expresses his sincere concern and sympathy for the family of Robert Starks. The reported attack upon them in their home — particularly if politically related — is indeed a tragedy for them and for the entire central Florida community."

On Monday, Starks spoke with reporters while propped up in bed with pillows and a bandage on her left leg.

"I really believe that God protected me. It gives me even greater confidence in his protection," she said. "For that reason, I'm not fearful for whatever might happen in the future, whatever Bob decides."
Pakistani jet crashes
All 167 aboard are missing

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — A Pakistani jet filled with Europeans — including mountain climbers and missionaries — plowed into a pine-covered hillside Monday, and rescuers searching the burning wreckage reported no survivors among the 167 aboard.

Officials said one American was also on board the Pakistan International Airlines Airbus A300 when it crashed on a landing approach, the second air disaster near the capital in as many months.

The pilot had given no indication anything was wrong before contact was lost with the plane, and the weather was normal, officials said.

Airline sources in Pakistan said the plane may have been flying too low as it approached this city ringed by Himalayan mountains thousands of feet high. The sources, speaking on condition anonymity, said the plane was flying at 7,500 feet when it should have been at 9,000.

The airline has had a poor safety and service record in recent years. A Thai Airbus crashed into a snowy peak near the capital in July, killing all 113 people aboard.

The Pakistani jet, on a flight from Karachi, Pakistan, crashed 14 miles south of KTMandu’s airport, said Nagendra Prasad Ghimire, deputy chief of Kathmandu airport.

Rescue crews that reached the site by helicopter said the plane was on fire. An airman lowered himself on a rope for a closer view, but found no evidence of survivors, Ghimire said.

Army and police personnel cordoned off all approaches to the crash site.

The state-owned Nepal Radio announced that the bodies of victims found by rescue teams would be handed over to relatives at Katmandu airport.

Airl ine officials in Karachi said the passengers also included 12 Dutch citizens, 29 Spaniards, 10 Italians, two Germans, one Belgian, 10 Nepalese, two Bangladeshis, and 12 Pakistanis. Aside from the missionary family, none of the names of those aboard were made public.

A missionary family with three children, were among the passengers, the Pakistani airline reported in London. Most of the other Britons were headed for climbing vacations in the Himalayas, the airline said.

The missionaries were identified by the college where they trained as Andrew Wilkins, 38, and his pregnant wife, Helen, 36. They were traveling with their children, Hannah, 10, Naomi, 8, and Simeon, 6. All Nations Christian College in Ware, England reported.

ROME (AP) — Two alleged drug kingpins who walked out of an ice cream parlor in the heart of Rome were the first rounded up in a vast dragnet that authorities Monday said smashed a worldwide drug and money-laundring operation. "Operation Green Ice" caught some 200 people over the weekend in the United States, Italy, Britain and Costa Rica, Italian authorities told a news conference. Tens of millions of dollars in cocaine, cash, jewels, securities and property were seized.

Achille Serra, a top police official, said the ring sent cocaine from Colombia through the United States and Spain for distribution in Italy and other European countries. George Tervilliger, a deputy U.S. attorney general, called the case "truly a crippling blow to the Colombian cartel."

While officials in Rome reported 34 arrests in Italy but gave no breakdown of the others. Robert Bonner, head of the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration, said seven people arrested account for "most of the key financial operations" for the Cali cocaine cartel in Colombia. Authorities said the operation also struck a deep blow to organized crime groups in Sicily, Naples and Calabria, which have a stronghold on southeastern Italy.

"Never has there been a strike of such importance against the Mafia, Camorra and 'ndrangheta," national police Chief Vincenzo Parisi said, referring to the mobs in those areas.

Perot still refuses to announce if he will campaign

DALLAS (AP) — Ross Perot coyly refused Monday to say if he would rejoin the presidential race but most of his top supporters said overtures from President Bush and Bill Clinton had not quelled their desire for Perot to make a late entry.

On a remarkable day even for this tumultuous political year, Bush and Clinton courted Perot and his backers by sending high-level delegations to lobby for the support of his volunteers and to convince Perot to stay on the sidelines, where he has been since quitting the race in July.

"There is no messianic drive here to have a candidate or to have me as a candidate," Perot told reporters. "If the volunteers ... feel that it's appropriate that I run, certainly I am going to honor their request. Then, I will give it everything I have right now and day." Perot has complained that neither Bush nor Clinton has a credible deficit-reduction plan and has said he would enter the race if his supporters so desired, enabling him to push his own deficit-reduction plan.

The Texas billionaire said he hoped to make his decision Thursday based on word from his supporters, although he said it could slip to Friday. In an evening appearance on CNN's "Larry King Live" he announced a new toll-free telephone number where those not already working for him could register their support.

Near the close of the show, Perot's wife and three of his five children joined him in the studio, all saying they would support him if he decided to run.

The worst case, from the GOP view, is that Perot will not run but will keep praising Clinton's economic policies as closest to his own.

Some Perot insiders were promoting the latter scenario Monday, a day when the Texas billionaire and supporters from all 50 states heard presentations from the camps of both major-party candidates. Democrats are advancing the notion that a Perot candidacy at this time would make it harder for Bush to carry two of his must-win states: Texas and Florida, which together have 57 electoral votes needed for victory. Thus, they argue, a new Perot candidacy would help Clinton the most.

But no one seems able to say for certain how Perot's re-entry might play in tossup states and those where much of Clinton's support reflects an anti-Bush protest vote.

Bush — way down in the polls and near the close of the show, Perot "withdrew" last July 16, Clinton now has more to lose than Bush if Perot returns. In states such as California, Michigan, Colorado and New Mexico, a Perot candidacy could absorb some of the anti-Bush vote that Clinton now enjoys.

"There are only two things that can turn it around for Bush: Perot's re-entry or the debates. The foundation has settled and voters have basically made their choices. For Bush to win, he's got to shake that up," said GOP pollster Frank Luntz, who has done polling for Perot.

If Perot becomes an active candidate — no means a certainty — it also could change the dynamics of presidential debates.

With the Bush campaign so far resisting a debate format favored by Clinton, there is the possibility of a debate between Perot and Clinton. That could resemble the 1980 debate between Republican Ronald Reagan and independent John Anderson. President Carter sat that one out.

Dear Editor:

I am writing to thank Rolando de Aguilar and to express app­preciation for his advocacy of Goodwill, in the Inside Column of Sept. 16, 1992.

I am grateful for his remarks, and for the business of every Notre Dame, Saint Mary's, and Holy Cross College student. You may be interested to know what happens to the money spent at Goodwill Stores. Our mission is rehabilitation of disabled and disadvantaged men and women. In 1991, Goodwill evaluated, trained, and found competitive jobs for 103 persons in Michiana. Goodwill is able to pay our clients and employees from revenues generated through sales of donated clothing, books, toys, shoes, lamps, kitchen wares, usable house­hold appliances, drapes, furnish­ture, and so much more, in our seven area Retail Stores.

We also do contract work with local business and industry, and receive philanthropy for Capital Projects and annual funds. I urge all members of the Notre Dame/Saint Mary's/Holy Cross community to shop at Goodwill, and to donate items no longer wanted to Goodwill. Please do not leave junk by our Collection Center. While it may be convenient, it costs Goodwill about $60,000 annu­ally in hauling fees. This money could be better used to help people.

Every usable item given to Goodwill is turned into money to help our neighbors who are temporarily in need of help. Goodwill is the Ultimate Re­cycler. Because of Goodwill, our clients are able to earn a paycheck with dignity and pay taxes with pride.

That is what Goodwill is all about. To me, that is what America is all about.

Notre Dame must stand for family values

Dear Editor:

While the demographic reali­ties have yet to hit most Notre Dame, they are just around the corner - over 80% of American workers with de­pendent children are single parents or part of dual-earner families. Many students are already thinking about how they are going to combine work and family needs. The American Catholic Bish­ops recognized the need for economic institutions (particularly Catholic ones) to be more supportive of families with child care problems in their pastoral letter on the economy.

I am very encouraged by the recent child care needs assessment sent out to all em­ployees at ND, and see it as a positive first step for Notre Dame. However, the second step will be more difficult - finding a way to provide care that nurtures rather than replaces parents, at a price that low-income staff and students can afford. There are many staff and graduate students with family incomes below $15,000 a year.

The week of Sept. 28-Oct. 2 has been designated "Child Care Awareness Week" to promote discussion and atten­tion to the needs of parents on campus.

Several ideas have been sug­gested to make quality child care also affordable on campus.

One is to use more under­graduate students as classroom aides for course credit or as work/study assignments. Another is to call on the en­tire campus community to mon­etarily support an endow­ment for child care scholarships for needy families, a sort of "United Way" appeal for the Notre Dame family.

Are we united enough, and charitable enough, to really mean it when we say that Notre Dame stands for family values? There will be an open forum on child care issues Wednesday night in the Foster Room of LaFortune Student Center. I encourage all students to come and make their voices heard.

Goodwill is about America

Dear Editor:

I am writing to thank Rolando de Aguilar and to express app­preciation for his advocacy of Goodwill, in the Inside Column of Sept. 16, 1992.

I am grateful for his remarks, and for the business of every Notre Dame, Saint Mary's, and Holy Cross College student. You may be interested to know what happens to the money spent at Goodwill Stores. Our mission is rehabilitation of disabled and disadvantaged men and women. In 1991, Goodwill evaluated, trained, and found competitive jobs for 103 persons in Michiana. Goodwill is able to pay our clients and employees from revenues generated through sales of donated clothing, books, toys, shoes, lamps, kitchen wares, usable house­hold appliances, drapes, furnish­ture, and so much more, in our seven area Retail Stores.

We also do contract work with local business and industry, and receive philanthropy for Capital Projects and annual funds. I urge all members of the Notre Dame/Saint Mary's/Holy Cross community to shop at Goodwill, and to donate items no longer wanted to Goodwill. Please do not leave junk by our Collection Center. While it may be convenient, it costs Goodwill about $60,000 annu­ally in hauling fees. This money could be better used to help people.

Every usable item given to Goodwill is turned into money to help our neighbors who are temporarily in need of help. Goodwill is the Ultimate Re­cycler. Because of Goodwill, our clients are able to earn a paycheck with dignity and pay taxes with pride.

That is what Goodwill is all about. To me, that is what America is all about.

"Comedy caravan" brings Stand-Up Humor to ND/SMC in its act at Shenanigans

By STEVE TANKOVICH
Accent Writer

Earlier this month Carrot Top performed at Washington Hall. Last year, Howie Mandel was able to bring his show to Stepan Center. But when looking for comedy on a weeknight, what is a student to do?

Comedy Caravan, a comedy troop out of Bloomington, Indiana, will be performing at Club Shenanigan's this and every Wednesday evening to meet the comedy needs of Notre Dame, Saint Mary's and the South Bend community.

The show begins at 9:30 and lasts for about two hours. There is a $3 cover charge to get in. Club Shenanigan's (not to be confused with the popular Notre Dame and Saint Mary's musical group) has an open bar so no one under 21 is admitted.

Comedy Caravan is made up of several groups who tour together for 4-6 weeks. The group has a large following on other campuses, particularly Indiana University in Bloomington.

A different group of three comedians will perform every week at Club Shenanigan's. The Comedy Caravan organization consists of many different comedians who perform in groups of three throughout the country.

Various members of the group have appeared on televised comedy specials such as the MTV Half-Hour Comedy Hour and HBO comedy specials.

The club also has other events on the schedule. These include several musical groups from around Michiana and encompass a variety of sounds.

The band Harlot, a rock band from Saginaw, Michigan, will perform this Thursday. On Friday, the mood will change to alternative music, when Blah Blah Blah, a group from Indianapolis will perform. Saturday will feature the music of Elwood Splinter's Blues Band.

Club Shenanigan's is located on Emmons Road in the Georgetown Shopping Center, which is within one mile of campus. An updated recording of the latest events happening at the club is available 24 hrs a day by calling the Club Shenanigan's hotline at 277-1727.

Humor, style, subject of "Husbands and Wives" parallel Allen's real life

BY PETER BEVACQUA
Film Critic

"Husbands and Wives," the 22nd film written and directed by Woody Allen, is a tale of two married couples confronted with change and forced to review and re-evaluate questions about marriage, friendship, fidelity, romance, trust, and love.

Allen's latest film blurs the distinction between fiction and autobiography. The relationship between Gabe Roth (Woody Allen) and his wife, Judy (Mia Farrow), is very similar (to say the least) to the estranged couples' real life perversities which softens the sting of the director's pessimistic and cynical "humor." As he has in many of his previous films, Allen blends his styles of comedy and drama in this film.

It explores with irony and humor themes Allen has been concerned with over the years—contemporary relationships, commitment, change and resistance to change, disruption and regeneration, and the many facets and complexities of the human heart.

One cannot deny that Allen's films serve as a cathartic mirror for the modern societal psyche—a mirror which softens the sting of the director's views with a gentle gloss of wit. Allen's constant search for love and friendship in a world void of morality is a subject the film, if not the man, successfully undertakes. Woody Allen's astute knowledge of people, complimented by a wealth of great acting performances, results in a wonderful film.

Comedy Caravan will perform Wednesdays at Club Shenanigans.

Jackson, Veris to join new teams

(AP)—Keith Jackson and Garin Veris, two of the former holdouts who were given free agency by a federal court, took advantage of their freedom on Monday to change teams.

Jackson, a three-time Pro Bowl selection at tight end for Philadelphia, agreed to a four-year deal with Miami. The Dolphins said he would arrive Tuesday to sign the contract and hold a news conference.

Veris, a former New England defensive end, signed a two-year pact with the San Francisco 49ers.

Jackson, who made $300,000 in 1991 and reportedly was seeking $1.5 million per season, said at halftime of ABC’s “Monday Night Football” that the Philadelphia’s out of the water by a lot. Philadelphia’s bid was not very competitive.

He also said his decision was “just about what I considered a basic freedom.” Veris said, “I just felt they (the Patriots) had a grasp on me and that I couldn’t go anywhere. The court was the only way I could win my free agency.”

MSU’s Perles upbeat despite an 0-3 start

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — His Michigan State team is 0-3, but Coach George Perles refuses to even think about excuses.

“I think we’ve been very consistent on that. We’re always optimistic. We don’t talk about the negatives, we don’t talk about the shortcomings, we talk in positive terms,” Perles said Monday at his weekly media briefing.

“I am the supreme optimist, never will I go to Chicago (for the season media kickoff) and talk about anything negative that would give a player an excuse or give me an excuse not to do well. No sir.

That’s why hopes were fairly high for the Spartans this season, even though they were coming off last year’s 3-8 disaster. The Spartans fell 14-0 Saturday to Boston College, which moved up from No. 25 to No. 22 with the victory.

Perles stuck to his traditional “no excuses” approach in looking back at the loss, the third straight shutout for Boston College.

“Defensively, there was some improvement, not enough to win and that’s what it’s all about, so there’s no use talking about improvement and those kinds of things, winning is the name of the game,” he said.

“We did not do well offensively. The credit belongs to Boston College. They’re a good football team. My prediction is that Boston College will play in a big-time bowl game this year. I think they’re that good of a football team.

“To have three shutouts is unusual in any league, to do that is very exceptional. When you have that kind of success, it really is a great motivator to the defense.”

Perles, still looking on the bright side, said the good news for the young Spartans — six seniors out of 22 starters — is that Big Ten play begins Saturday against Indiana.

“We have done well in the Big Ten. There are very few years that we haven’t ranked in the top half of the Big Ten. We’ve won the championship a couple times. We’ve been in second place and third place,” he said.

“We look forward to playing in the conference. We all go into the conference 0-0. It’s a beautiful thing about being in the conference if you’ve had a slow start. We’ve had a few times when we’ve had a slow start and recovered during the Big Ten season.

“I’ve been 0-4-1 and been to a bowl (the Gator Bowl after the 1988 season).”

Diego Maradona set to return to soccer league

SEVILLE, Spain (AP) — Diego Maradona hoped to put his infamous suspension for drug use behind him ahead of his debut for G. E. Sevillas in an exhibition game against the German club Bayern Munich.

The Spanish first-division team bought the Argentine star’s transfer from Napoli last week for $7.5 million, ending a three-month drama over where he would play after he refused to return to Napoli.

An expected capacity crowd of 70,000 at Sanchez Pizjuan stadium and a worldwide television audience will get the first glimpse of the new Maradona in the match, but it’s likely to be several months before he returns to playing shape.

Mornay Sauce wins Lyons Volleyball Tournament

By KEVIN DOLAN
Sports Writer

Sunday's Lyons Hall Volleyball Tournament was "a learning experience," according to tournament co-chairperson Wendy Holthaus, but it was also a success. Held on South Quad, the tournament featured lots of sun and music and drew 21 teams. The tournament's final match saw Mornay Sauce, led by Aleks Mitrius, defeat the Crunch-Berries in three games, 15-7, 10-15, and 16-14.

Sunday's final was not the first meeting of the two teams. They met in an off-campus volleyball-league match on September 25, and, according to Crunch-Berry Josh Schafer, Mornay Sauce "kicked our butts." But on Sunday, the Crunch-Berries had emotion on their side.

The third game was an emotional-filled game, with both teams playing all-out volleyball. With the score 12-6 in favor of Mornay, the CB's came back to tie, led by Brian Murphy's sheer hustle.

On one point, Murphy ran out of bounds and dove to save an errant set, and the CB's took the point. However, with the score 15-14, CB Hartmann dove out of bounds and put the ball right into Joe Schuller's line of fire, and after the last of Schuller's rocket spikes, Mornay had the title.

After the game, both teams agreed that it couldn't have been a better match. "It was a classic no-win situation," said Janet Marie Smith, the Orioles' vice president for development. "The stadium itself was a draw, but it was wonderful that the team played well.

Irish volleyball still away from home

By DANIEL PIER
Sports Writer

The heat and humidity at this weekend's William and Mary High 10 Classic gave the Notre Dame volleyball team almost as much trouble as did its three opponents. Fortunately for the Irish, it wasn't much. Notre Dame breezed to the tournament championship by defeating Northeastern 15-7, 15-11, 15-11, William and Mary 15-8, 15-11, 16-14, and Georgetown 15-11, 3-15, 15-8, 15-11.

"We showed perseverance," said Notre Dame head coach Debbie Brown. "We played 3 matches in 26 hours under rather difficult conditions. I was very pleased that we hung in there." The tournament victory helped Notre Dame (12-1) hold its 20th spot in the national volleyball Monthly poll. In the newly released NCAA Midwest Regional ranking, the Irish are listed fourth behind Illinois, Nebraska, and Penn State. The regional rankings, since they determine NCAA tournament bids, are even more important than national lists.

On Saturday, Notre Dame rolled over Northeastern, giving Brown an opportunity to play most of her reserves. Molly Stark garnered seven kills and seven digs to lead the offense and defense.

DePaul will face pumped-up Irish soccer

By JASON KELLY
Sports Writer

This time they'll be ready to play. After a lackluster performance against Indiana on Friday, the Notre Dame men's soccer team hopes to regroup today against DePaul in Chicago. Game time has been moved up thirty minutes to 4:30 pm.

"Nobody was pleased with the way we played against Indiana," Irish coach Mike Berticelli said. "But we have to become a better team after a game like that. I can't predict the outcome of the (DePaul) game, but I do know that we will be ready to play."

They will have to be; DePaul is a potent offensive team, and the Irish defense has struggled lately.

"They have a couple of very dangerous players and we will have to shutdown their attack," Berticelli said. "They also have a small field and that will force us to be more aggressive defensively." Offensively, the Irish have been up and down this season. In their three wins, they have totaled 14 goals, but in their three losses, they have managed just one goal.

The quality of competition is certainly a factor in that discrepancy, but in early-season games at UIC, the Irish missed some key scoring opportunities.

Women's soccer falls to fifth-ranked Portland, 2-1

By GEORGE DOHRMANN
Sports Writer

For the second straight game, the Notre Dame women's soccer team lost a game it deserved to win, falling 2-1 to fifth-ranked Portland yesterday at Alumni Field.

"They difference in the game was that they didn't have too many opportunities, but the ones they did score in," said Irish coach Chris Petrucci. "The quality of competition was certainly a factor in that discrepancy, but in early-season games at UIC, the Irish missed some key scoring opportunities."

With a break or two we could easily be 6-1," Berticelli said. "But that's all part of our schedule. Instead, they head into today's game at 3-3-1, focusing on improvement rather than wins and losses.

Six sophomores and two freshmen fill the Irish starting lineup, and most of the key reserves are underclassmen. But they have shown flashes of brilliance against some top teams.

"Other than the Indiana game, I am not disappointed with our performance this season," Berticelli added. "Our younger guys are really just starting to get a feel for game situations. Our goal is to be a better team in October than we were in September and I think we will be."
