Stars and director named for "Rudy"

BY EMILY HAGE
News Writer

"Rudy," the true story of a young Notre Dame football hopeful, will star Sean Astin in the title role and be directed by David Anspaugh from a script by Angelo Pizano, announced Marc Platt, president of TriStar Pictures.

Production began Sunday at Notre Dame and will move to Chicago for three weeks of filming on December 10, said unit publicist Janet Hill.

An average of 15 to 20 students from Notre Dame, Saint Mary's, Holy Cross, and the Indiana University of South Bend are filmed every day as extras and stand-ins, said Hill.

The cooperation from students and the university has been "wonderful," she said. "We wouldn't be here if it weren't for their cooperation."

Starring with Astin are Ned Beatty as Rudy's father, Charles Dutton as a groundskeeper at Notre Dame who befriends Rudy, and Lili Taylor as Rudy's fiancée.

Astin has starred in "Erinmore Manor" and "Toy Soldiers," while Oscar and Emmy nominee Beatty starred in "Superman I" and II and, more recently, in "Hear My Song." Tony Award nominee Dutton stars in the TV series "Rose" and recently starred in "Alien 3." Taylor's starring role in "Mystic Pizza" and "Say Anything." "Rudy" is the true story of how one young man, Rudy Ruettiger, struggles to pursue his lifelong goal; to wear the uniform, if only for one day, of the Notre Dame Football team. This is the first feature since "Knute Rockne, All American" in 1940 to be made with the full cooperation of Notre Dame.

Ara Parseghian, legendary coach at Notre Dame when Ruettiger first came to South Bend in the early 1970s, is serving as a consultant to the film.

Director Anspaugh and screenwriter Pizano previously teamed up for the 1986 film "Hoosiers," which Fried also produced and executive producer "Rudy." It is tentatively scheduled to be released in the fall of 1992.

Hill said that the budget for the film, which cost a size Hollywood budget, with a staff of 80 to 100 people. She is optimistic about the film's success.

"You're working with an amazing cast, our film makers are the top of the line, and the staff is the cream of the crop," said Hill. "We don't expect anything but an excellent movie out of this."
"It's hard to be humble when all your feet and someday soon it's gonna leave the street. They can't make truth shut, you set you free/ so you're on parade when you're on NYC.

You're just some Indiana boy, rushing past Newsweek Editor through the huddle here, huddle there, of just some mad, gone, chilled-down New York City fall afternoon, your eyes blood-red sore from seeing the countless hollow faces of beggar and street prophets pass you by.

Oh well, the best thing is to ignore them, like that liquor-smelling, money-begging bum who said he got you on the way out. You weren't quite sure what he meant exactly, what he asked into the Coronet and ordered the finest slice of pizza and a pitcher of hot water. But you'd never find you in this city anyway, a needle in the haystack of the world, some Indiana boy, rushing through.

The get here, get there, academic, blown-up, stuffed-up, backed-up dining hall lines of just some Notre Dame spring afternoon, trying to ignore the voice of that smug, East-coast-talking, West-coast-gripping, Southern-charming, Midwest-annoying cheese sitting across from you.

"This food sucks! I can't believe they serve us this crap," he proclaims while spitting his sandwich, a pretzel Monte Cristo onto his pasta primavered and glancing at the campus map in front of him at this South Bend's getting some kinda College Football Hall of Fame! Ha! Maybe he'd clean this town up a lil bit."

You're an Indiana boy whose blood all of a sudden starts boiling while his head spins into a fiery, insulated rage. What does that jerk know anyway? This test is pretty dandy, alot of South Bend, alot of people living in 'em, living in alleys and parking lots downtown, parking lots that are being used for some $13 million tourist trap while a homeless woman sits by a barely empty street and desk to install a toilet in that place.

They should build some sorta College Football Hall of Fame here, maybe it'd clean the place up a bit.

• Swindler sentence delayed
• Trenton, N.J. — A 32-year-old man convicted of swindling Princeton University out of $22,000 in scholarship money had his nine-month sentence stayed Monday by an appeals court that ruled it was too harsh. The court also ruled that James Hogue could remain free until it decides his fate. Hogue was convicted of enrolling in Princeton under false pretenses in 1989, claiming he was a 20-year-old named Alex Indres-Santan. He had never gone to college but was self-educated. Authorities said the ruse ended after a Yale student saw Hogue at a track meet and recognized him from a California high school that Hogue had falsely enrolled in a few years before. Hogue was arrested in class in February 1991.

CINCINNATI (AP) — A woman whose remains are believed to be at least 11,600 years old — oldest ever found in the Americas — likely lived in a culture of hunters who processed meat, a geologist who examined the bones said Monday.

No artifacts were found with the remains that could tell how the "Midland woman" and her society lived in what is now Texas, said Curtis McKinney, director of geologic research at the Center for American Archaeology in Kompsville, III.

But his age estimate would place the woman in the time frame of the Clovis culture, which was known to have used spears to hunt game that included mammoths and mastodons, McKinney told the Geological Society of America's annual meeting.

The Clovis culture is known for finely worked spearheads that had a characteristic long-fluted shape with a groove in the middle. Evidence indicates the Clovis culture spread within the Americas about 12,000 to 11,000 years ago.

Archaeologists have found evidence that those people built campfires and apparently cured meat in pits, McKinney said. They also had small settlements.

Scientists believe several other North American archaeological sites may be up to 30,000 years old, but none yielded skeletal remains. The oldest modern human skeletons are estimated to be 35,000 years old and have been discovered in western Europe and the Middle East.

McKinney calculated the age of the woman, whose bones were found in 1953 near Midland, Texas, using a technique called alpha spectrometry, which measures the ratio of uranium-234 and thorium-230 in the bones.

He said his age estimate would make the bones the oldest human skeletal remains ever found in the Americas.

"There are a number dated between 10,000 and 11,000 years old, but this is the only one over 11,000 years," he said.
Planned Parenthood files suit against groups

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A Planned Parenthood chapter filed suit Monday against four groups it says operate bogus abortion clinics as a ruse to talk women out of terminating their pregnancies.

The lawsuit, filed in San Diego Superior Court, accuses the groups of false advertising and other unlawful business practices. It also seeks unspecified monetary damages for a woman who said she visited one of the clinics in September after finding it listed in a telephone directory.

"This is really a consumer fraud issue," said Mark Salo, executive director of Planned Parenthood of San Diego and Riverside counties, which brought the lawsuit.

He said the groups have violated women's privacy and tried to coerce them into choosing adoption over abortion. At least one person was given an improper medical diagnosis, Salo said.

The lawsuit names the Center for Unplanned Pregnancy, San Diego Pregnancy Services Inc., Escondido Pregnancy Services Inc., and Pro-Life Pregnancy Counseling and Educational League of San Diego County, which is also known as the Poway Pregnancy Counseling Center.

Officials of the Center For Unplanned Pregnancy and Escondido Pregnancy Services Inc. declined comment. Telephone messages left at San Diego Pregnancy Services Inc. and the Poway Pregnancy Counseling Center were not returned.

The lawsuit seeks to stop the centers' allegedly false advertising and other unlawful business practices.

Shuttle astronauts take photographs

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Columbia's astronauts fired up a pair of metal-melting furnaces and baked tiny strips of gold, silver and lead Monday after solving a cooling problem with the unit.

The crew of five Americans and one Canadian also photographed the glow from the upper atmosphere as the shuttle sped around the world halfway through its 10-day flight.

"Every mission that we fly into space takes us one step closer to being able to operate in space and live and work here full time," astronaut Charles Veach said during a broadcast interview.

Veach defended the work being done aboard Columbia. Critics have argued a laser-reflecting satellite dispatched by the astronauts Friday could have been launched from an unmanned rocket and that the subsequent shuttle research is not worth the risk to humans or the nearly half-billion-dollar cost.

"It's hard to assign a dollar value to any one mission or a dollar return to any one event that takes place in space," Veach said. "But the cumulative effect of everything we're doing here is revolutionizing human life, and it's that simple."

As of midday Monday, the astronauts had melted 10 metal samples in two small mideck furnaces capable of being heated to 1,380 degrees Fahrenheit. After being baked, the specimens were cooled so they could solidify as quickly as possible.

Each of the 35 samples — in the form of 1/2-long wires — consists of two metals, such as gold and lead or silver and lead. Canadian researchers want to see how well various metals diffuse in weightlessness. Such knowledge could help metalurgists create better alloys on Earth, said Bruce Aikenhead, program manager for the Canadian Space Agency.

Aikenhead said there should be enough time before the flight ends Sunday to process all 35 samples. The experiment began late because of the failure of a fan needed to cool the furnaces.

Veach and Canadian astronaut Steven MacLean solved the cooling problem by hooking a vent hose from the orbiter airlock to the furnaces, bypassing the fan.

The astronauts beamed down videotaped images of a clear Texas coastline and sparkling, aqua pools in the Atlantic Ocean off south Florida. Pilot Michael Baker said there seemed to be less smoke and haze over South America's Amazon basin than he saw during his first space flight a year ago.

On the lighter side, the astronauts received a special greeting from a compatriot of sorts.

"I'm saying hello from Argentina," Michael Bacter said Tuesday.

He said he grew up in Argentina, went to college in the United States and now works for a multinational corporation.

Heart ailment sufferers need information

CHICAGO (AP) — More than a million Americans with the same heart ailment that has afflicted President Bush and Mother Teresa should learn more about it so they can get treatment if warranted, a doctors' group said Monday.

The ailment, atrial fibrillation, is the indirect cause of 75,000 strokes a year, up to half of which could be prevented with drug therapy, the American College of Chest Physicians said.

"Based on what we now know, physicians should more actively pursue the diagnosis and treatment of atrial fibrillation," said Dr. Marvin Dunn, the group's past president.

And anyone who has been diagnosed with the condition but is not receiving drug treatment should receive a physician to learn whether drugs are warranted, he told reporters.

The college has joined the National Stroke Association and the Alliance for Aging Research in mailing 105,000 packets on information treating the disorder to primary care physicians nationwide.

Also, they have opened a toll-free nationwide hotline to answer questions about the ailment and to refer people to physicians.

Atrial fibrillation occurs when the upper chambers of the heart vibrate instead of pump vigorously. That allows blood to stagnate and clot. If the clots break off and travel to the brain, they can clog vessels and cause a stroke. Many doctors consider blood-thinning drugs too risky for most patients, but a review of five major clinical studies found that the benefits far outweigh the risks at low doses for most older patients, the doctors said.

Their statement is published in the October issue of the journal Circulat.

More than a million Americans, most of them elderly, have atrial fibrillation, which increases the risk of stroke sixfold, said James Lannon, executive director of the National Stroke Association.

Stroke is the country's third leading cause of death and the primary cause of adult disability, costing $94 billion annually, he said.

Atrial fibrillation afflicts 5 percent of people over age 60 and as many as 16 percent of men and 12 percent of women over age 70, said Daniel Perry, executive director of the Alliance for Aging Research.

Arrest occurs in Hurricane fraud attempt

MIAMI (AP) — A man who allegedly lied to get a new mobile home from disaster relief officials was arrested Monday after the renter he evicted reported him to authorities.

Victorino Soto, 62, was charged with filing a fraudulent application for federal disaster help. He was released on $10,000 bond pending a hearing Nov. 5.

Soto was the second person arrested on that charge since Hurricane Andrew battered southern Florida on Aug. 24, authorities said.

According to Federal Emergency Management Agency spokesman Marcia Davis, Soto owned a mobile home in Homestead that he rented out until Hurricane Andrew damaged it.

"He evicted the renter and claimed the damaged mobile home was his primary residence," so he would qualify — falsely — for a new FEMA mobile home, Davis said.

"Then the evicted renter drove by and saw the new (mobile home), and he brought it to our attention," she said.

Court documents show that Soto and his wife live in Aguadilla, Puerto Rico.

Quebec vote may end reform

TORONTO (AP) — Canadians voted Monday on constitutional reforms designed to appease cultural and regional grievances, but citizens in a single province could torpedo the package and the polls pointed to trouble in Quebec.

The package originally was put together in an effort to dampen secessionist sentiment in French-speaking Quebec by granting that province special status and rights as a distinct culture. But it grew to include changes demanded by the less populous provinces and by Canada’s aboriginal people.

Many Canadians complained about the complexity of the long reform document signed by Prime Minister Brian Mulroney and premiers of the 10 provinces on Aug. 28.

"It's kind of a confusing vote because I think there are a lot of people who don’t know exactly what they’re going to do," said Derrick Barnett, who stood in the rain waiting to vote at a polling station in Newfoundland.

"I'm still not sure what I'm going to do." The referendum was really a non-binding plebiscite. The constitution can be amended only with approval of the federal Parliament and the legislatures of all 10 provinces.

But Mulroney said that if the package failed in any one province, the deal was dead. It would be "morally unacceptable" for a provincial legislature to pass the reforms after rejection by its voters, he said.

Consequently, the overall national vote in this nation of 27 million people was less important than results from individual provinces. The crucial test was in Quebec, the second most populous province where polls indicated a majority of voters would vote "No.

Polls also said the accord faced defeat in British Columbia and possibly in the central provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan. The vote was too close to call in Ontario, the most populous province.

Mulroney maintained a confident air despite the poll results, predicting a "pleasant surprise" and victory for the "Yes" side. "My confidence is unshakable," he said after voting.

Quebec separatists are hoping to use a "No" vote in the province to rekindle a campaign for independence. That would be sometime down the road, however, as the separatist Parti Quebecois is in opposition and provincial elections are not due until 1994.

The key parts of the agreement signed at Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, recognize Quebec as a "distinct society" with the right to protect its French language and culture. It would guarantee Quebec a fourth of the seats in the House of Commons and a third of the Supreme Court's nine seats permanently.

At the demand of other provinces, the reforms would change the appointed Senate to a directly elected body with each province having six members. The less populated provinces have complained about the political dominance of Ontario and Quebec, which have more than half Canada's people.

The package also would grant aboriginal people the right to govern their own affairs.

The Observer Tuesday, October 27, 1992
Jerusalem (AP) — Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin on Monday accused Syria of abducting Muslim guerrillas who killed five Israeli soldiers with a bomb in southern Lebanon. But he pledged to go on negotiating peace with the Arabs.

Rabin said Syria was allowing Iranian weapons to reach fundamentalist Muslim guerrillas via Damascus and letting them operate in areas of Lebanon under Syrian military control.

He said it was "greatly puzzling" that Syria could "sit with us at negotiations, and on the other hand permit such activities."

Israeli warplanes, helicopter gunships and artillery pounded targets in southern Lebanon during the day and into the night in retaliation for the bombing attack Sunday in an Israeli-occupied buffer zone. It was the deadliest attack against Israel in two years. Israel's military command said its forces hit suspected guerrilla bases of the pro-Iranian Hezbollah, which is trying to force Israelis from Lebanon and also wants to wreck the Middle East peace talks.

Israel's security sources in Lebanon said targets in dozens of villages were hit. Lebanese police said one bomb hit a barracks killed at least one civilian and wounded five.

Rabin had made his comments during a briefing of parliamentarians before delivering a policy statement to Parliament Monday of negotiating in bad faith, but his Israeli counterpart said three hours of discussions produced progress toward a joint statement.

After a three-day recess, the talks resumed in an atmosphere charged by the deaths of five Israeli soldiers in southern Lebanon and Israel's retaliation against suspected guerrilla bases in the region.

Syrian delegation spokesman Mouaffaq Alallaf emerged from the discussion blaming Israeli occupation policies for violence and saying there was "no real attempt" by the Israelis to ensure progress during Monday's talks.

Rabin said Israeli either does not want progress at this time or the Israeli delegation has been instructed not to move forward. Not only was there no progress, "there might be some regression," Alallaf said.

But Israeli delegate Itamar Rabinovich differed sharply in his account of the meeting, expressing surprise on learning of his remarks.

"We agreed on some points, we kept reservations on others," Rabinovich said. "And certainly we didn't have a sense of regression, but a sense of working seriously towards a joint statement."

He sought to dismiss the differing interpretations of the meeting with a joke: "We were not in the same movie."

Arriving for the talks Monday, Alallaf said he was concerned about a statement by Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin that Israel does not plan to pull back fully from the Golan Heights.

"If Israel is not considering withdrawal, that means in other words that Israel is not considering peace," Alallaf said.

"Peace without withdrawal is impossible, and it is a precondition for peace really for Israeli forces (to) withdraw from all occupied territories."

Cold fusion's existence still unknown

TOKYO (AP) — Believers and skeptics alike are at odds over the existence of low-temperature nuclear fusion as an international conference on cold fusion wound up on Monday.

Still, the Japanese government and a major American electrical utility group say they will spend millions for research into what they say is an exciting new phenomenon — but probably not fusion.

At the five-day conference in Nagoya, western Japan, and a follow-up session in Tokyo on Monday, the 300 scientists discussed claims by dozens of researchers that they had generated excess heat in experiments in which special electrodes were used to run electricity through water and produce "heavy" hydrogen.

While some are claiming the heat is caused by nuclear fusion — a notion flatly dismissed by most mainstream scientists — others say the heat must be coming from some other process.

Japan's trade ministry, which is planning to spend up to $25 million on such research over the next four years, has settled on calling it "new hydrogen energy." Michael McKubre, whose research at SRI in Palo Alto, Calif., is funded by the Electric Power Research Institute, is equally cautious about naming the cause of the heat he is observing. EPR has spent $4 million on McKubre's work and plans another $8 million.

From barefoot peasants in the drought-scorched countryside to diplomats in the white-washed villas of tropical Ma­­puto, people are skeptical of the Oct. 4 truce will end the war between the leftist government and right-wing rebels that claimed up to 1 million lives.

"The fighting seems to be going very well," Aldo Ajeilo, the recently arrived United Na­tions special representative, said with a wry smile when asked about peace prospects. "We clearly need to start work­ing on the peace process im­­mediately."
Bush lists his priorities if he wins reelection

DENVER (AP) — President Bush, moving beyond sharp attacks on Bill Clinton's character and trustworthiness, promised Monday that his top priorities in a second term would be creating jobs, increasing exports and providing health care to all Americans.

"The best time to move is when you're re-elected — no more elections ahead, no worry about the future politics. Just get the people's business done and do it fast," said Bush, who watched Congress ignore his request to act within 100 days on an economic renewal plan.

With polls showing the race tightening, Bush switched from negative attacks on Clinton to a more high-minded look at the next four years if he is relected.

His speech, to a convention of hardware dealers, was billed as the most definitive answer yet to a persistent question about Bush: Where does he want to take America; how would a second term differ from the first? It's a question frequently framed as "the vision thing."

"His comments eight days before the election begged the question of why Bush had waited so long to respond."

"My agenda can break the gridlock without breaking the bank. It is ambitious but it is doable," Bush said.

The third priority was his health care program. "The need for action is urgent," Bush said.

Bush has proposed a voucher system to help lower-income Americans purchase health insurance. He would cap damages in malpractice suits and offer incentives for enrollment in lower-cost plans.

Clinton performs well on shopping test

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — From bread to blue jeans, Bill Clinton priced up campaigns' shopping list Monday and got a passing grade from the working mother who said the nation's leader must be "in touch with what the average American family has to go through."

"Gasoline is about $1.20 depending on what kind of gasoline it is. Hamburger meat's a little over $1. A gallon of milk is $1.02. A loaf of bread's about $1 now," Clinton said after he was asked what he thought these items cost.

The Arkansas governor said he knows some doctors who "still do visits for $1, but it's not many," he added when some in his audience reacted skeptically.

Blue jeans, he said in an appearance on CBS's "This Morning" that was televised live, "run anywhere from $18 to $50 depending on what kind you get."

It was a devastatingly simple question of the type that can easily trip up anyone who has spent the past year running for office. Gilbert said the Democratic presidential nominee had done a "pretty good" job of answering her question on the cost of everyday consumer items.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tobacco industry has given more than $77 million in campaign contributions to House and Senate members, consumer groups said Monday in charging that Congress is addicted to "death money" and is putting the expense of public health "out the window." Senators collected $578,390 between Jan. 1, 1991, and June 30, 1992, while House members picked up another $1 million, said the report by Public Citizen's Health Research Group and the Advocate Institute.

The report tracked contributions from tobacco industry political action committees as well as individual executives and lobbyists. The study did not count contributions to challenging or candidates for open seats, who generally give far less PAC money than incumbents.

"This report indicates why Congress has done extraordinarily little to combat the tobacco epidemic," said Dr. Sidney Wolfe, director of the Public Citizen Health Research Group. "Every time a tobacco-related bill is killed by breakers, thousands of Americans die."

"Tobacco money buys influence to oppose federal legislation to increase tobacco taxes, to restrict tobacco advertising and promotion, and to enact other laws to control the use of this deadly substance," the report said.

The report said Sen. Robert Kasten, R-Wis., was the top tobacco money recipient in the Senate with contributions of $59,402, while Majority Leader Richard Gephardt, D-Mo., led in the House with $26,798.

The authors described their report as "an unprecise indication of the extent to which tobacco money pervades Congress."

"Congress is as addicted to tobacco money as a heavy smoker is to the nicotine in his Marlboros," said Cliff Douglas, tobacco policy director for the Advocate Institute.

T-Bill rates steadily increasing

WASHINGTON — Interest rates on short-term Treasury securities rose in Monday's auction to the highest levels since the beginning of the October quarter. The Treasury Department sold $11.88 billion in three-month bills at an average discount rate of 3.3 percent, up from 3.24 percent last week. An additional $13.85 billion was sold in six-month bills at an average discount rate of 3.22 percent, compared to 3.18 percent a week earlier. The rates were the highest since Aug. 31 when three-month bills sold for 3.17 percent and six-month bills for 3.22 percent. According to a separate report, the Federal Reserve said that the average yield for one-year Treasury bills rose to 3.69 percent, up from 3.26 percent the previous week.

Ryan predicts record S&L profits

WASHINGTON — The top regulator of the nation's savings and loan institutions predicted on Monday that the thrift industry would experience record profits this year. Timothy Ryan, director of the Office of Thrift Supervision, said about 2,000 savings and loans with assets of about $900 billion remain in business three years after the beginning of the government's bailout of the industry. The thrift operator reported that previously that net income for the first half of 1992 was more than triple the $885 million earned during the first half of 1991.

Cost control fuels media profit

NEW YORK — Many major publicly-held newspaper publishers and broadcasters reported cost-cutting efforts and strong current earnings gains for the July-September period, featuring a pattern of slow recovery from one of the industry's worst years. Financial improvement was fueled mainly by lower costs rather than by increased revenue growth, which has worried some analysts. Dow Jones & Co., Knight-Ridder Inc., Pulitzer Publishing Co. and MCT Information Services Inc. announced doubling positive profit gains. Among broadcasters, the CBS television network had a small profit of $1.5 million, compared to a loss and General Electric Co. said its broadcasting division that includes NBC had a loss.

Lottery nets best third in sales

INDIANAPOLIS — The Hoosier Lottery, buoyed by large jackpots and improved sales in recent weeks, posted its second best sales figures in two years and third best in history for the third quarter of the fiscal year. Lottery Executive Director Jean Blackwell said that through Saturday the lottery had sold $557.6 million in sales for the quarter, $11 million more than the sales in the second quarter of 1989. That would put this month third on the lottery's all-time sales list behind only October 1989, the lottery's first month, when sales reached $649.4 million and December, 1989, when sales totaled $613.1 million.

American Express cuts 4,800 jobs

NEW YORK — American Express Co. said it will eliminate 4,800 jobs at its card and travel business, a major restructuring that resulted in a $342 million third-quarter charge against earnings. The restructuring and stock buyback announced in late July, Monday to post a third-quarter loss of $205 million. American Express has faced intense pressure from Wall Street analysts to sell off 55-year-old automotive engineer had kept a low profile since he was made GM's chief executive officer in 1958. By the end of the month, the lotteries expects monthly sales to exceed the $51.3 million in sales for November 1989, the lottery's second month in existence. That would put this month third on the lottery's all-time sales list behind only October, 1989, the lottery's first month, when sales reached $649.4 million and December, 1989, when sales totaled $613.1 million.

American Express cuts 4,800 jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Plenty of troubles remain in danger of flowing, but no banking crisis threatens to explode just after the election, senior legislators said Monday.

"A significant number of banks remain in danger of failing greally, and their assets are substantial. However, there should be no au­ thenticated banks reports of problems showing double-digit profit gains. Among broadcasters, the CBS television network had a small profit of $1.5 million, compared to a loss and General Electric Co. said its broadcasting division that includes NBC had a loss.

Continental losing on fare cuts

HOUSTON — Continental Airlines Inc. said it would cut fares to Europe by an average 35 percent for travel this winter, but competitors did not immediately match the discounts. The fare cut Monday comes as the airline industry was trying to push fares higher. The industry has increased fares about $10 to $30 twice in recent months, leading many to believe that widespread fare cutting had ended.

Economy rebounding slowly

WASHINGTON (AP) — The economy is about to mark an important milestone. But that doesn't mean that the economy of the milestone only takes long as long it has taken to get there.

The problem is not that we've had the worst of paltry growth, said Mervin Zandi of Regional Financial Associates in West Chester, Pa. "It's our experience that growth, even with strong potential, is not strong enough to make us feel good about where we are and where we are headed."

The recession, which produced a 2.2 percent decline in the GDP from the third quarter of 1990 through the first quarter of 1991, actually was about average in duration and severity when compared with other post- World War II downturns.

Pre-election trade deal with Europe unlikely

LUXEMBOURG (AP) — France on Monday won backing from Germany to demand further American concessions over farm subsidy cuts, making it unlikely the dispute will be settled before the U.S. presidential election.

At the same time, Britain and the top farm negotiator for the European Community said Monday that the European Union was ready to give up ground to the United States over a global trade accord.

"Bill Clinton in effect is holding the United States to the highest level in two months. The European Community is ready to give up ground to the United States," said French Agriculture Minister Jean-Francois Soulier. His colleague, Ignazio La Russa of Italy, also demanded more U.S. concessions in the farm battle.

Earlier this month, President Bush told the European Commission, the trading executive arm of the European Union, not to count on the United States to give any more. As part of the Uruguay Round trade talks, Washington has demanded extensive cuts in subsidies for the farmers and said France had opposed.

France had appeared to be isolated in its refusal to back down in the world trade talks, sponsored by the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade. But on Monday, Ireland and Denmark appeared hesitant to proceed quickly.

"I don't think we'll have a GATT agreement before the U.S. presidential elections," Danish Farm Minister Laurits Torsena said.

In a related development Monday, the European Community denied its chief executive secretively arranged a deal with Bill Clinton in September to delay a world trade accord until after the presidential election.

France has long been a leader of the European Community's demand that the United States extend its trade concessions to all parts of the world. The French have rejected the U.S. proposal that the negotiations be limited to the industrialized countries.

"I don't think we'll have a GATT agreement before the U.S. presidential elections," Danish Farm Minister Laurits Torsena said.

In a related development Monday, the European Community, a group of 12 EC agriculture ministers, contrasted sharply with the upbeat spirits at the U.S. State Department, which indicated the European Commission negotiates the GATT accord for the member states.

"That's not really the right direction," said Commission spokesman Nico Wegter. "There are good reasons to believe that they are on the right track." The EC's chief trade official, Franz Andriessen, post­poned a trip to Asia to try to help break the deadlock with the United States. "We're still working on the assumption that by Wednesday or Thursday the child might be born," Wegter said.

Stemple resigns under pressure

DETROIT (AP) — Robert Stemple resigned under pressure as General Motors Corp. chairman Monday, embattled 2-year-old company that failed to stop record financial bleeding at the world's largest au­tomaker.

Stemple's departure makes his the shortest of any of the 11 men who have chaired GM, once one of the most profitable and admired companies.

His job failure had looked increasingly bleak in recent weeks, continuing amid anxiety and anxiety among many of GM managers and workers.

GM reports in August a 24% drop in second-quarter profit and 12% sales in the July-September period. The company said it would cut 4,800 jobs in its American Express Co. said it will eliminate 4,800 jobs at its card and travel business, a major restructuring that resulted in a $342 million third-quarter charge against earnings. LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Don't cloud election year with non-issues

Dear Editor:

I am never more offended when an anti-choice individual claims that I am siding against God. I was once called a baby-killer and have seen a prayer book from Operation Rescue that calls for us to repent or be struck down by God.

What upset me most is that here at one of the finest institutions in the country, with its excellent Philosophy Department, so many students refuse an honest debate on the issues, and turn instead to demagoguery.

Who is this side portraying the other as being "radical"? Who is this side being radical, one thinks of a position that only a very few espouse.

However, I think Republican (yes, Republican) found that 71 percent believed in a woman's right to choose.

Granted, a majority does not prove a belief correct (we elected George Bush, after all) but it does suggest that the belief should be open to debate rather than shunts against one's opponents.

This refusal for an honest debate has been shown often during this election season. Bob Schlosser, in his letter to the editor, said that Governor Clinton was not fit to serve as Commander-in-Chief because he used "a narcotic."

I wonder if Bob believes that Clarence Thomas is not fit to be a Supreme Court Justice for the same reason. I doubt it very highly because Thomas agrees with Bob on Bob's pet issue.

Clinton's marijuana use is a non-issue that Republicans use to cloud the truth.

Bob also suggested Clinton's lack of military service makes him ineligible for service. Does he object in the same way to our secretary of defense who avoided the draft in a similar way?

Granted, Governor Clinton may not have been completely open about all of the details pertaining to the issue but I believe that is it wrong to judge someone for avoiding a war that he, along with most of the country, believed was morally wrong.

One who was not facing the hellish situation of Vietnam cannot understand the decisions of those who were.

The Vietnam draft issue is really only being used because Republicans must run away from the record of the worst economic performance since the Great Depression.

If you believe that abortion is the main issue, most Americans disagree with you, ranking it well low on their list.

For those Americans voting for Clinton, many of whom are anti-choice, it is not a sin to be voting for the man whose plans give them hope that America will be great again.

Let's not cloud their vision with non-issues or look down upon them self-righteously as sinners for believing in a place Hope again.

America is ‘looking forward’

Dear Editor:

As you prepare for your futures, many of you are worried about whether there will be jobs for you when you graduate - jobs in which you can apply all you've learned, and through which you can realize the American dream.

I know the feeling. Shortly after I was graduated from college, my feeling that we want to graduate from college, repay your student loans, begin your careers, and start families of your own.

I want all of you to have the opportunity to graduate from college, repay your student loans, build your careers, and start families of your own.

My Agenda for American Renewal will do just that by reinvigorating America's economy and creating jobs and opportunities for all Americans while protecting our environment.

Revitalizing America's economy starts with individuals, families, and communities.

It requires lower taxes on individuals and businesses, enhancing competition, and cutting regulations.

It includes health care for all Americans, child care, job training, housing opportunities, a competitive school system based on community involvement and choice American families.

My Agenda prepares America's youth for the 21st century by promoting national academic standards so schools like Notre Dame have a strong student population from which to draw for your college students, my administration calls for the largest-ever one-year increase in student Pell Grants, and a 50 percent increase in the amounts of individual Pell Grant awards.

In addition, I want to raise the loan limit on guaranteed student loans and make the interest on student loans deductible for federal income tax purposes.

My Agenda calls for continued substantial funding for responsible environmental protection.

The United States has the toughest environmental laws on earth, and it was the Bush Administration that proposed and negotiated the Clean Air Act Amendments of 1990, which I signed as the most protective and market-oriented clean air laws in the world.

My administration also established a moratorium on offshore oil and natural gas drilling; accelerated the phase-out of ozone-harming substances; added more than 1.5 million acres to America's national parks, wildlife refuges, and other public lands; tripled the rate of toxic waste site cleanups since 1989, and collected more fines and penalties and secured more prison sentences for environmental crimes in the last three years than in the previous 20 years combined.

I call upon you all to take up the entrepreneurial challenge and join me in making America the economic, export, education and environmental leader of the 21st century.

Let's win the peace by looking forward, not backward.

My Agenda for American Renewal empowers all Americans to make their own choices and better their lives. No one will be left behind for want of opportunity.

Good luck to you, and may you achieve your goals in life.

The first half-hour of the forum focused largely on this shared frame. Our differences regarding the question of what combination of public policies best encourages the practice of contraceptives with Clinton is a main point of contention. Professor McHenry emphasized laws limiting access to abortion, and so backed George Bush. I stressed that a comprehensive policy approach - in combination with efforts by non-governmental associations like the church - would also assure women with unintended pregnancies adequate aid for their full eighteen years of care that is required for the child that results. If the pregnancy is brought to term.

Given Mr. Bush's record in this regard, I could not endorse him. Neither could I endorse George Bush.

This time, different means more to wound something different. Development from traditional guitar-bass-drums structure and toward something different. This time, different means more.

His new CD, titled 'Journey of a Dreamer' will be released in early November. This People compare my music to Kenny Loggins, Jimmy Buffett, and Richard Marx, but I'd like to think have my own sound," he said.

Klee said he has been in music his whole life, beginning at the age of five when he started his ten years of classical piano training. "I also taught himself to play the guitar by mimicking chord progressions of the People's songs," Klee modeled himself after the music of Beatles as well as Simon and Garfunkel and Cat Stevens because their music was melodically oriented and told something of themselves.

Klee said that during his sophomore year in high school, he joined a rock band and by the end of his senior year the band was one of the biggest rock bands in Buffalo, New York, playing local clubs and CJO dances. Although there were bright prospects for the band, Klee left New York to go to school at Notre Dame.

While at Notre Dame, Klee played at the coffeehouse, then known as "The Nazz." He played his own guitar and sang his own vocals. During his junior year at Notre Dame, he and his brother Doug performed at the first annual Keenan Review. "My brother and I were the first people in the Keenan Review to get a standing ovation in Washington Hall," said Klee. "I'll never forget it."

During his senior year Keenan Review performance, he sang "Dreaming Still," which is currently featured on the "Journey of a Dreamer" album. "It just goes to show how the songs on this CD have been such a part of my life," Klee said.

Klee said he never took a music class. "It is hard to be trained by other people in music because each person has their own certain style," he said. "The students get confined to that style and then there is no originality."

After graduating with a degree in American Studies, Klee went on to work as a restaurant manager. He said he stayed in the business for a while because of the promotions and money, but sooner or later, he knew he had to get back into the music business before he lost all hope of his dream to be a singer. This stage in his life became the inspiration for the song, 'Working Wives Song.'

After the breakup of his first band in 1990, Klee said he decided that he must perform alone. When he was singing with a band, he felt the music was never really his own. He played the lead guitar and piano while the band played the rest of the background.

However, Klee became frustrated with changes the songs underwent in the process of recording. "After the recording session, nine of the original songs had changed so dramatically that they were not the songs I wanted them to be," he said.

Now, with the exception of one song Klee not only sings all vocals on his CD, but he also plays every instrument.

"It took me about ten weeks in the studio to record all the instrumental and vocal parts, and then track them all together," he said. "It is pretty intense because you must keep doing it over and over until it is perfect."

Klee said that he hopes each of his songs evokes some emotion in the listener. In the record jackets, Klee includes a personal statement about each of the songs.

"If you build your soapbox to say something, you must be able to relate to the audience," he said. "When I have an emotional experience, I play it out in my music and I hope that the feelings are universal to all audiences."

Klee is now based in Richmond, Virginia and is hoping with the national release of his new CD, he will be able to reach a larger audience.

He has done numerous TV and radio appearances in Virginia, and has had pieces done on him by the NBC, ABC and CBS affiliates. He plays a club in the Richmond area which attracts a diversity of people. Standing room only, there are usually about 200-300 people a night.

On Thursday we got mostly students from the University of Richmond and VCU. Fridays is a mixture of yuppies and students, and Saturday we get yuppies and people ranging from 40-60 years old.

The 'Journeyman' has been released in singles, and Klee feels they have gotten a tremendous response.

"All the radio stations have received numbers of calls after playing the song," he said. "We played the song on W 93 one Friday morning and they got a great response from the listeners."

They're hot. They're happening. They've been together since you were in kindergarten, freshmen. You know 'em. You love 'em. You've heard their new album 6 googol times already.

Listening to R.E.M.'s 'Automatic for the People' is a mellow exercise. From the first plucked strings of 'Drive,' the album's guitars, assorted strings, and vocals try to pull you to sleep. Even Michael Stipe's vocals - which crossed the fine line between interesting and annoying on the band's last two albums - are back to some semblance of the cryptic, subdued, almost mumbles a little bit. It's very nice to be reminded of the old days.

But niceness and convention surely weren't the band's aims with this, its eighth album. 'Automatic for the People' continues R.E.M.'s complete detachment from traditional guitar-bass-drums structure and toward something different. This time, different means more...

There are no shiny, happy people on this album. 'Automatic for the People' is full of depressed, contemplative people. Though R.E.M. never felt any sort of Reaganesque grindiness give 'Document' a listen, the goody tone of 'Near Wild Heaven' and 'Stand' seems completely absent from 'Automatic for the People.'

And the album owns a title which indicates a bent toward pleasing the mindless radio-listening populace, its contents betray that notion. 'Drive,' the first single, is not really a single. The song sounds nothing like 'Can't Get There From Here' but takes us down rural Georgia roads and reveals the metaphors of such journeys through a completely different sound and mood. R.E.M. still makes roadtrip music for the ages.

'Star Me Kitten' is another kind of song. Exploring sexual desire as R.E.M. has rarely done, the song's original title was eighty-sixed by Warner Brothers, though the entertainment giant fortunately did no such thing to its lyrics, which are largely unidentifiable except for the closing lines.

But with this album, Michael Stipe continues the gradual revelation of his lyrical talent. Early R.E.M. was not about words. 'Wolves, Lower' and 'Sitting Still' had nothing to do with the intricacies of Stipe's poetry. All we needed was a mood and a chorus.

But through the years, Stipe has moved into new lyrical territory. Automatic for the People's 'Everybody Hurts' and 'Sweetness Follows' are full of musical feeling, though their lyrics take R.E.M. to a different level.

As it has shown consistently through its eight albums, R.E.M. can take the usual rock idiom and transform it into something new, yet familiar and comforting. 'Automatic for the People' is all of that and more.

Tough times for traditional college powerhouses

With five weeks left in the college football season, a number of ex-powerhouses seem to be bottoming out, operating in the also-ran area of sport they once dominated. Consider some records.

A year ago, Iowa was 10-1-1, making its 10th bowl game and winning in 11 years, and armed with 35 returning lettermen. Now, the Hawkeyes are 5-5 after a 27-16 loss to Purdue on Saturday. Coach Hayden Fry, who has operated his team like a giant group for second place in the Big Ten and hoping to get to the other six to gain the conference championship, is now at home planning an automatic invitation to the Florida Citrus Bowl.

Clemson's 2-1-2 last season, champions of the Atlantic Coast Conference for the previous two years, and the Tigers also 4-3-1 in 1987 — third best in the country, behind Miami and Florida State.

Arkansas, once a Southwest Conference powerhouse, decided it needed a new league and moved into the SEC. After the first game, the Razorbacks decided they also needed a new coach, dismissing Jack Crowe and replacing him with Joe Lee Yow. They beat Tennessee by one point a couple of weeks ago for the bright spot in a 2-3-1 season.

UCLA, 9-3 last year and ranked No. 18 in the preseason poll, is 3-4 and languishing in the Pac-10 basement with an 0-4 league record. The Bruins also had their 245-game scoring streak ended in a 20-10 loss to Arizona State on Saturday.

ISU, once an SEC heavyweight, is now 1-6 and bending under the burden of a five-game losing streak, the school's longest since 1956. The team has worked up an unprecedented fourth straight losing season, making the current senior class the first in the school's 99-year football history to graduate without ever posting a winning record.

Oklahoma was 8-3 a year ago, averaging 30 points per game and No. 16 in the final AP Poll. Now the Sooners are 0-6 and licking their wounds after losing to — of all people — Kansas, 27-10 on Saturday.

The victory left Kansas ranked No. 18 at 6-1 and Oklahoma, ranked No. 1 in the polls since 1970 and in the first six polls this season, missing in action among the top 25.

"Things are changing," Kansas coach Glen Mason said. In a lot of places, too.

Bills’ heroics prevent O’Brien comeback

The late heroics spoiled a superb comeback by the Jets (1-6). Ken Ditka, the man Jets fans love to hate, guided New York 63 yards on a 77-yard drive for a 28-20 lead, with Brad Baxter scoring from the 1 with 1:50 remaining.

Brown's angle hurt his shoulder early in New York's TD drive when hit by Bruce Smith. O'Brien, a 7-1/2-year starter who lost his job to Nagle this year, came in and took them from their 35 to the score. O'Brien found Rob Moore for 9 yards. Blair Thomas ran for 6 and O'Brien's 45-yard rainbow was dropped in the end zone by Rob Moore, but James Williams was called for interference.

Baxter scored on the next play, leaving more than enough time for the two-time defending AFC champions.

The Bills (5-2) got a 34-yard pass to Don Beebe to the Jets' 49. Beebe also caught a 19-yarder on third down to the 30.

Thomas ran for 18 yards, then Kelly found the versatile running back between two defenders in the end zone.

The Bills broke a two-game slide in which they scored only 13 points with a muddled no-huddle attack. The Jets continued their disastrous year, although they played their best game against their nemesis.

A mini-brawl involving Smalls and Nagle erupted on New York's second possession.

Nagle, scrambling toward the sideline, completed a pass to Ken Whisenhunt and was hit by Smith. Nagle tried to get up, but was called for interference, a penalty.

Young Colts are for real

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Ted Marchibroda doesn't confuse progress with momentum. The homegrown Colts are visibly better than they were last year but not enough for their coach.

"I would like to say that would be the answer, but I think the kind of team we have, I don't know that we haven't done well. I don't allow me to say that," Marchibroda said Monday.

Indianapolis, which won only one game last year, notched its fourth victory on Sunday with a 31-20 surprise of previously unbeaten Miami. The game was a lot closer than the score, though.

The Dolphins, forced into four earlier turnovers by the Colts, still appeared headed for a winning touchdown in the closing seconds before rookie Steve Emmett snatched a pass by Dan Marino and returned it 90 yards for a TD on the final play of the game.

Dolphins express concern about running game

MIAMI (AP) — The Miami Dolphins' record is no longer perfect, and their running game is quite ordinary.

Now 6-1 following a 31-20 loss Sunday to Indianapolis, the Dolphins in their past five games have averaged just 80 yards rushing, a figure even worse than last year, when they were ranked 25th in the NFL.

"We haven't done anything since the first two games," running back Mark Higgins said Monday. "We're not a two-carrier team. Higgins wishes his team would call more running plays.

"It's something we have to try to work with," he said. "We have to get away from it a little early because we have one or two bad plays.

An abundance of weapons — including two newcomers, tight end Keith Jackson and rookie 1,000-yard rusher Bobby Humphrey — suggests Miami should be able to mount a balanced attack.

But despite leading Indianapolis much of the way Sunday, the Dolphins had 46 pass plays and a season-low 20 rushes. That ratio is reminiscent of recent seasons, when the lack of a running threat and failure to make the playoffs went hand in hand.

Miami's offensive line also wants to run more.

"We're scared about that every week," guard Keith Sims said. "We're a better team when we have our balance.

"We didn't run with it as well as we would have liked to Sunday," coach Don Shula said.

LAKE FOREST, Ill. (AP) — In an apparent protest against recent media coverage, Chicago Bears' coach Mike Ditka Monday canceled his weekly press conferences.

Bears' spokesman Bryan Harlan said that Ditka told him he wanted to discontinue the Monday conferences, in which he talks about the previous weekend's game.

Harlan said Ditka planned to keep his Wednesday press conferences, which deal with the upcoming game.

Ditka apparently was still angry over what happened in his press conference last week.

It all stemmed back to his blowup in Minnesota on Oct. 4, when Jim Harbaugh called an audible and Todd Scott intercepted the pass and returned it 35 yards for a touchdown.

Ditka berated Harbaugh on the sidelines as what was a 20-0 lead turned into a 21-20 Vikings victory. In his press conference the following day, Ditka said he didn't regret blowing up at Harbaugh, "because the last thing I told him Saturday night was not to call any audibles because of the noise" in the Metrodome.

The Bears had a bye the following week and Ditka skipped his Oct. 12 press conference.

The Bears defeated Tampa Bay 31-14 Oct. 16. Late in that game, a pass from Harbaugh was intercepted by Darrell Pollard for a long return.

At his press conference Monday, Oct. 19, Ditka was asked about his reaction on that interception in relation to the "audible" interference. That's when he unleashed an obscenity-laced tirade at the media.

There is agreement on the part of everyone recommending in the report called for the completed its work on May 1, 1992. The president, appointed in April, 1991, at the University. It is that and much more. It Cultural Diversity, which will be described for areas in the life of the University. Diversity signifies the University's commitment legislatively and socially devalued for much of those ethnic or racial groups which have been contribute to a sharing of perspectives in the identified or a set of numbers tabulating the made at this time as a result of the work committee, certain commitments can be recommended actions of the Final Report of the efforts of Father Malloy's to an atmosphere of hospitality and dialogue to this nation's history. It is the recognition and the other recommendations concerning campus residences that promote and upholds Endowment will enable the Office of Student Affairs to develop programs that student affairs will look into the grade point average clearance criterion students are manually given room assignments to assure diversity in freshman room assignment process is gathered to working. The directors of overseas programs will be spending the year as a result of the work referred to above. It is important to begin with a restatement of the Task Force's definition of the term "Cultural Diversity". Cultural Diversity, as a stated goal of the University of Notre Dame, means that the University is committed that it will most effectively carry out its mission of Catholic higher education in an atmosphere where the faculty, students, and staff of the institution are drawn from the full range of racial and cultural traditions represented within our society. Cultural Diversity is not simply a thing to be admitted to as a set of numbers speaking the underrepresented ethnic or racial groups present at the University. It is that and much more. It is a way of thinking, seeing and behaving which demonstrates an understanding and respect for all ethnic and cultural traditions. Cultural Diversity signifies the University's commitment on an atmosphere of hospitality and dignity where these various traditions can together contribute to a sharing of perspectives in the pursuit of academic excellence. In the recognition and celebration of the cultural differences within our university community.

Curriculum and Recruitment of a More Culturally Diverse Undergraduate Student Body and Faculty

With regard to curriculum, the provost will ask each department to review in specific course offerings, including the Freshman courses, with regard to their cultural diversity. In this context, the provost will provide follow up in this matter, and keep the other recommendations concerning curriculum in mind. There is agreement on the part of everyone interviewed on the importance of work in building a more diverse student body. Not only will current efforts continue, but there will be a continuing emphasis on providing more adequate levels of funding to meet minority financial need.

Need-based financial aid can be made available to R.O.T.C. students from the office of financial aid to make up the difference between the aid received and total educational cost, where applicable. In the past, funds have been set aside to attract specific faculty hiring goals. To recruit highly diverse faculty, the provost finds sufficient funding acceptable as a concept. The question is the degree to which the provost can place aside enough funds to make a difference at a time when there are significant financial constraints. Within this context, an effort will be made to set aside positions in order to increase the number of minority faculty.

Undergraduate Academic Support Services

In the area of undergraduate academic support services, the provost is aware of the success achieved in the Minority Engineering Program and programs of academic support beyond the Freshman Year of Studies in the College of Engineering. He will study possible ways in which this program might be replicated in other academic areas. To achieve this, the provost will consult with the dean of the Freshman Year of Studies and with the deans of the colleges to see what support can be provided for minority students beyond the freshman year and how the matter of enhanced academic support can be provided under diverse circumstances. The question of the curriculum in engineering is a long-standing one that is not exclusively related to minority students. Efforts will be made to see how people with limited math and science backgrounds can be given more time to fulfill requirements. The directors of overseas programs will be asked to study ways of effectively recruiting minority students for overseas programs.

Undergraduate Support Services: Residence Hall and Student Affairs

Several recommended actions can be implemented immediately by the Office of Student Affairs in the area of residence hall and student affairs. There should be balanced distribution of minority students throughout the campus. The vice president for student affairs will study whether more fine tuning of the current procedure is necessary. Minority students are manually given room assignments to assure diversity in freshman room assignments. A review of the room assignment process will take place every three years to make sure the system is working. A three year grant from the Lilly Endowment will enable the Office of Student Affairs to develop programs that will assist in creating an environment in the residence halls that promotes and upholds cultural diversity values. There is discussion on whether to introduce gender specific programs, which has been expressed as a concern of minority students. In terms of use could be avoided if requests were handled as suggested. The Graduate Program: Recruitment, Financial Aid and Support Services

In the areas of recruitment, financial aid and support services for graduate students, a complete report and thorough strategic initiative for recruiting an undergraduate graduate student at Notre Dame has been prepared by the assistant dean of graduate admissions. Action on the initiative is already underway as of September 17, 1992 with new programs for graduate admissions marketing, the initiation of a national recruitment campaign, programs to involve the Alumni Association and an automated communication program to identify minority students.

University Affirmative Action Committees

Two University committees review affirmative action issues: the Academic Affirmative Action Committee and the Staff Affirmative Action Committee. The provost will meet twice each year with the chair of the Academic Affirmative Action Committee to discuss affirmative action goals developed by the Committee. The director of human resources will assist this committee when asked to do so. However, since reporting formats are different for faculty and staff, securing comparable demographic data should be pursued in a helpful way of assisting the process. Proper accountability are not yet in place with regard to the staff, since concerns at the office level are not yet put down effectively. A report will be prepared for each vice president each year stating the number of minority candidates, the number of minority students, and other matters. These reports can form the basis for an annual discussion of staff affirmative action by responsible officers.

A workshop on cultural diversity will be offered for all staff department heads with Donna Foster of C S Associates. The director of human resources will establish community contacts to promote minority hiring in a more aggressive way. At the present time, the University handles 30,000 employment inquiries each year.

Procedures for Handling Complaints Concerning Cultural Diversity

With regard to the identification of responsibility within the University for cultural diversity issues, there is a discriminatory harassment policy in the Faculty Handbook. The administration of the process will be clarified and made more prominent in future editions. An ombudsperson will be designated in the academic area to assist in the process. The director of human resources will study whether the current procedures for handling complaints should be modified. At present, there are ombudspersons physically located the areas of the library and food service. People cannot be set up as human resources representatives outside the accountability structure.

The University Committee on Cultural Diversity

Finally, Father Malloy has established a University Committee on Cultural Diversity. This committee will attend to cultural diversity matters on a continuing basis. It will give further attention to the recommendations of the Task Force and to matters studied and discussed by the members of that group. The committee will meet on a monthly basis, and will be in contact with the different University constituencies.

The membership of the Committee will include representatives from the offices of the president, the provost, the vice president for student affairs and the vice president for business affairs. There will be one representative from Student Government and at least three additional appointed members. The Committee will be constituted and begin its work during the current academic semester.

Respectfully submitted,

Dr. Roland B. Smith, Jr., Rev. Robert D. Warner, C.S.C.,
Co-Chairs, Task Force on Cultural Diversity

California, where it trounced the University of San Diego (13-9), 15-10, 15-2, 16-14. Fiebelkorn led Notre Dame with 11 kills, while senior captain Alicia Turner added 9 kills and 16 digs.

The tour's path then crossed the Pacific for a weekend doubleheader with perennial powerhouse Hawaii. Notre Dame was untested, however, and drubbed the Rainbow Wahine 16-14, 15-11, 15-9, in the first match. Peters and Martyi Cragin pounded 20 kills apiece, while Fiebelkorn added 19 and setter Janelle Kurhan had 60 assists. The team was efficient throughout the match, rolling up a 383 attack percentage. "We were sold all around," Brown said of her team's performance. "It's contrast to the Cal State-Northridge match, where probably had our best match of the year in this and our hitting percentages, individually and as a team, were outstanding." Hawaii returned the favor in the tour's last match, however, winning 15-10, 15-10, 18-16. Peters led the Irish with 15 kills and 16 digs in a losing effort. Brown was not happy to take the loss, but she was not completely disappointed with her team's effort. "Hawaii definitely played a much better match than they did the first night," the coach said. "We hung tough in the third game. Had we won that one, who knows what would have happened?"

All four of the games scores came in the second half. Forward Courtney Liney took a cross from Ryanne Bumps and headed SNU to a one-point advantage. Minutes later the lead was increased when defender Kellie Fister victimized Irish goalender Michelle Lodoga for the first of her two goals.

Freshman Michelle McCarthy hit on the second of Notre Dame's shots on a breakaway goal after receiving a pass from fellow freshman Rosella Guerero.

Fister scored near the game's end to complete the two-point win.

The game was the first Notre Dame played on turf all season, a facet which could have affected their performance more than the team admitted.

"Playing on turf could have been a factor," commented Jare. "But the main reason we lost was that they came out aggressive and put a lot of pressure on us. All the things we were supposed to do." The next three games showcased Notre Dame doing the things they were supposed to do.

Texas Christian was the first team to fall, dropping a 4-0 decision. Jare's forward Alison Lester and McCarthy knotted two goals apiece and Kim Gold earned the shutout in goal.

LaSalle fell by the same score three days later, and became the fourth Midwestern Collegiate Conference team to bow at the cleats of the Irish. South Bend native Brenda Gorzsi started the scoring on a pass from sweeper Ashley Scharff.

Goals followed from Tiffany Thompson and a pair from freshman Julie Vogal.

Provider College was the third straight win for Notre Dame after a physical game ended in a 2-0 win. McCarthy took a pass from defender Jill Mateic ten minutes before the halfway point giving Notre Dame a one point advantage going into the intermission.

Providence goalkeeper Jennifer Mead was the main reason the final home game for Notre Dame didn't end in a blowout. The junior made several miraculous saves, keeping the Irish at bay for the most of the game. Lodoga also played well earning her 34th career shutout.

The difference in the game was their keeper," said Irish coach Chris Petrossi. "It was a physical game and I think we responded to that. One player who stood out as a force for the Irish was Mateic. Along with her first half assist, the sophomore defender harassed the Friar's attackers and added support on the midfield.

"It was good to see Jill play well," said Petrossi. "She has been struggling a bit lately, but she came out focused and it showed."

The final games of the season at Wright State and Xavier, two must win games if Notre Dame is to see postseason action.

"All we can do is keep winning and hope that we get selected" added Jare. "It's out of our hands."

Irish attack starts slowly but builds momentum behind running attack

At the start of the first quarter, it looked like a game featuring the two most productive offenses in the nation could be a real dog fight, but in the end the Irish broke the game open in the second half and provided a complement in the backfield to Bettis. Brooks was able to take some of the attention away from the powerful fullback who was having a great season, and he has been keying on both the offensive line and the against the Irish.

"I'm probably jumping the gun in searching for ways to space out Notre Dame games. But if ever a half comes along that I can't get the ball back to Bettis, I will put Lou slaming up field on the perimeter. Those thoughts will give me something to reflect on as I wait for my next chance.

Brooks who was not at 100 percent for the game because of a nagging hip injury felt his performance was hurt by the injury. "I never did reach top speed. I was trying to keep it under control all the way. On misdirection, I held it back, but I wasn't able to accelerate," said Brooks.

Nonetheless, Brooks and Bettis both rushed for 113 yards and scored two touchdowns in the second half after only 57 yards in the first half. Although tough in the first half, the Irish defense, especially the secondary, kicked it up a notch in the second half allowing BYU on their first drive in the half, but then stopped the rest of the BYU's drives with interceptions.

Jeff Burris started off the "pick" parade on the Cougars' first series in the fourth quarter. When Hancock under pressure lofted a bad pass, BYU defensive back Byron Rex just missed a touchdown pass and the Cougars offense and were forced to kick a field goal, bringing the score to 7-3.

Brooks added to the schedule and provide some entertainment. I'm sure if Dick Rosenthal pulled some strings he could get the Detroit Lions to come to Notre Dame. The Run-and-Shout offense would be non-stop excitement, and it would be a lock win for the Irish.

When it's right, it's right and it's hot. Saint Mary's soccer team demolished Rockford College, 9-0, in their last home game this season on Sunday.

It was an emotional game for the Belles as the seniors took homefield one last time.

At halftime, forward Megan Dalbasso spoke for the team, in a speech to seniors Mary Burger, Kristen Crowley, Cindy Jordan, April Ebert and Stacy Winget.

"It will be a little lonely next year on the field," said Dalbasso. But for the time being only the Belles enjoyed that advantage all game.

Forward Winget, off an assist from midfielder Molly O'Connell, sliced through the Regents defense, scoring the first of six goals in the first half.

Off a corner kick by O'Connell, midfielder Kristen Crowley leaped into the air and headed the ball past the Regents goalie. Belles fans were out of their seats screaming for more.

Boring football? a little passing might liven things up

As I stood in line for nachos at halftime of Notre Dame's 42-16 victory over BYU, I reflected on the thirty minutes of football which had just taken place.

I searched my mind for visions of dazzling touchdown, great runs, or amazing catches, but to my surprise I could not think of a single. In fact, I couldn't remember anything. Almost the entire first half had been erased from the archives of my brain, and I did not know why.

I guess I already grasped the few visions of football alive in my head. We kicked off and scored first. The band played very loud. That was it. A half-hour of football (two and a half hours of TV time) was unconscious.

I returned to my seat and watched the second half as attentively as I could. I did not attend to any of the four touchdowns, or the trick plays, or the big gains. I simply absorbed the game's overall atmosphere. Having seen the game I can say it was very good. But the first half was beyond boring.

In front of a half-empty stadium and a crowd that was only twothirds, the LaVell Edwards-inspired running game was going nowhere. Drivers stalled repeatedly. The Irish, ranked first in the nation in total offense, gained only 132 yards and put up five times before the half-time gun.

In the first half, BYU dominated. A 21-11 lead was taken over by the Irish to 75 in the first half.

In the second half, Lou Holtz took it upon himself to do things differently. He switched the offense to a pass, and the Irish came back. At the end of the first half, the Irish were down 14-10. But in the second half, the Irish scored 35 points to 0, and won the game by a margin of 45-10. The final score of 45-10 was due to a combination of great running, great catching, and great passing.

The game was a major转折点 for the Irish, who had been struggling on offense in the first half.

The Irish had a strong offensive line and a good running game in the first half. However, in the second half, they switched to a passing game, which proved to be more effective. The Irish quarterback, Brian Hartline, completed 17 of 23 passes for 241 yards and 4 touchdowns.

The Irish defense also played a crucial role in the Irish victory. They held the BYU offense to just 10 points in the second half, allowing the Irish to pull away and win the game.

Overall, it was a great game for the Irish, who improved their record to 7-2 and moved up to number 5 in the polls.

The next game for the Irish will be against the Miami Hurricanes. The game will be held in South Bend on Saturday, November 12th. It should be a great game, and the Irish fans are excited to see their team play again.

What a difference a half makes.

After a sloppy and sluggish start, Notre Dame found inspiration in the locker room and used a second-half offensive explosion and defensive toughening to hammer Brigham Young 42-16.

Cold weather hadn't yet reached Michiana on Saturday, but the Irish still couldn't get the offensive engines turning during the first three quarters. The Irish, ranked first in the nation in total offense, gained only 132 yards and put up five times before the halftime gun.

But in the first half, BYU dominated. A 21-11 lead was taken over by the Irish to 75 in the first half.
