Committee assembled to promote ethnic diversity

By THERESA ALEMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — On his first day in the Oval Office, President Clinton said Thursday he will not flinch from military showdowns with Iraq following a fresh clash between U.S. soldiers and Iraqi forces.

A move that was opposed by more of his Cabinet members.

Clinton said he will host a national summit to encourage ethnic diversity.

A year later, bad things still happen

The aging priest was slapping his head bobbing up and down as if caught the drowsiness. Inspired, presumably, by the intense heat in the Basilica. No one could blame him? As hundreds of well-meaning people paid their respects to our family members in the train collision, we found for inches to pay their respect, hundreds more bravely to stand in solidarity outside the giant doors. The room was hot, and no one could legitimately complain. We were there, after all. They weren't. And even the sleep priest would have welcomed sopping temperatures to bring him back.

Why Bad Things Happen to Good People was the title of a book, she thinks. She wonders if it’s out of print by now. She hopes it is.

For a memorial Mass, it was peppered with familiar signs. She hadn’t realized.

A celebration of life, even though the realization of life lost was unshakable.

The sheer irony of the fatal South Shore accident last week draws an icy comparison to the one which occurred the day before. Although the community can thank God that we didn’t lose any one family members in the Vauxsal collision, we would be kidding ourselves if we failed to shiver associated with the team or our community experience. No one can say with any certainty at all that any of it has become a memory or that any of it ever will.

But as with all loss, we can hope. The people who try to say what is too hard to say hope.

Ryden to speak

By KENYA JOHNSON

Vassula Ryden, who according to her testimony has been visited by the Blessed Virgin Mary, on the occasion of the Feast of the Immaculate Conception, said she received messages from an angel who promised to reveal them to Jesus. Ryden claimed to have received these messages through her writing. She said she had written a story for her book "The Message of God," and occasionally the Blessed Virgin Mary, through an angel, communicated with her. Ryden visited St. John's in Wine, a monastery in Washington D.C., and said she would continue to write spiritual messages.

Introduction to her book "The Message of God," Ryden said in the introduction. She said she had written a story that would be interesting to all, and that it was a story of her life. The personal computer industry is in a state of flux, according to Gary Gigot, marketing vice-president for the Microsoft Corporation. Gigot, a 1972 Notre Dame graduate, gave a lecture Thursday on "Microsoft Marketing: An Insider's View of a Dynamic Industry." Gigot listed "great reviews," "demonstrations," "timely promotions," and "learning and adjusting" as the fundamentals to successful software marketing.

Strategies that Gigot mentioned in his presentation included "hit hard, hit fast, hit often," "be creative," and "give large promises in advertisements."

Gigot showed the newest features of Microsoft's software including a function that enables the computer to act as a VCR. He also showed a compact disc that can be used on the computer, and a series of new organizational programs for databases.

"Our biggest asset is our register base of customers," Gigot said. He also described ways to keep a customer coming back, including working with other companies and customers when developing new software. He said Microsoft needed new programs to develop new software, developing an image, and giving customers the tools they need.

"I don't think it will be interesting to all," Gigot said, "but I think it will be interesting to all." He said he had received these messages through his writing. BAGHDAD, Iraq (API) - A cease-fire proclaimed as a "goodwill gesture" to President Clinton broke down Thursday afternoon when U.S.-led forces opened fire on Iraqi sites, killing 18 people in a preliminary strike on a factory producing VCRs. HOW?

Methods of performing abortions include Dilatation and Evacuation, Saline Injection, and on rare occasions Hysterotomy. The most common method, accounting for 95% of abortions annually, is Suction Aspiration, illustrated below.

The woman lies on an examining table with her feet in stirrups. The doctor inserts a closed speculum into the vagina, which is also held open by the cervix, which is usually numbed with a local anesthetic. Occasionally there are medical or psychological reasons to put the women to sleep briefly with a general anesthetic: most abortions, however, can be performed under local anesthesia.

The doctor gradually widens the opening of the cervix by inserting a dilator, and removing a series of smaller tapered rods, or dilators, one at a time, increasing the size of the dilator each time, until the opening is approximately 1 or 2 inches in diameter. The dilator is removed, the cervix is numbed and inserted through the dilated cervix into the uterus. The physician then inserts a sheathed instrument into the uterus, which is graced with a vacuum should not be done. With a vacuum of 20 to 25 mm of mercury, the suction cup is placed into the uterine cavity, aspirating the contents of the uterus.

The fetus is then suctioned out, usually out into a plastic bag, and then thrown into a bucket or container. The cervix is packed with gauze towels, and the vagina is irrigated with saline solution. The uterus is then checked to make sure it has been emptied, and the dilator, or speculum, removed. The patient is then discharged, usually within two or three hours of the abortion.

"I hope the faculty takes a serious response to minorities, to women and to the Catholic identity."

He added, "We need to talk about what is the nature of a Catholic university."

after rush hour Monday morning in Gary. The collision occurred near a narrow trestle where two tracks converge and overlap.

Four crew members — the engineer and conductor from each train — have been suspended with pay while the investigation continues.

An official with the Northern Indiana Commuter Transportation District said earlier that David Biordan, engineer of one of the trains in Monday's collision, had been demoted for a previous crash, in which he was a dispatcher.

Attorney Craig Braje today said Biordan was not demoted, and had asked for a change in jobs two years after the 1985 accident. The transportation agency had suspended "the trestle did not immediately return calls this morning seeking a clarification."

MOGADISHU, Somalia (AP) — Some American troops the United States had hoped to pull out of Somalia by March, a U.S. military spokesman said Thursday.

"More than 1,100 Marines returned home to Camp Pendleton, Calif., earlier this week, most of them from the 3rd Battalion, 9th Marine Regiment, the first withdrawal of U.S. forces since they landed last Dec. 9," said Peck.

Peck said he did not foresee another withdrawal at this time.

"We've got a redeployment plan but we need about five days to start it," said Peck. "And that redeployment plan takes six to eight weeks, maybe longer, depending upon a lot of conditions over which we don't have control, like weather and aircraft availability and shipping in here."

The lawlessness of this nation was demonstrated once again Thursday when a Chinese reporter was seriously wounded and his Somalil driver killed by roving gunmen. American troops fired freely to protect themselves, but U.S. troops usually face restrictions.

In New York, the U.S. Security Council urged the Security Council to begin the preparations for a transfer of power.

The European Parliament, meeting in Strasbourg, France, called on the world body to draw up a "Marshall Plan for Somalia" to rebuild the country.

The United Nations also must name a commander and determine the rules of engagement, including under what conditions U.N. peacekeepers can open fire.

The new president said he was sticking with the Bush administration's policy, which called for increased assistance and in-country forces and measures to prevent violations of "no-fly" zones imposed in Iraq by Gulf War allies.

"We're going to adhere to our policy," Clinton told reporters during a picture-taking ceremony with his staff. "We're going to stay with our policy. It is the American policy and that is what we're going to say.

Clinton thanked the faculty for their input which he considered very useful in future decisions.

"I like to express how happy and pleased I am with the new governance and the work they have done," said O'Meara.

Welsh saw swimming as not only a gift of normalcy but a way to increase confidence. Whatever else is going on, when the gun goes off, the fastest swimmer to the end of the pool still wins the race, said Welsh.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Clinton will move quickly to revoke the ban on homosexuals in the military, despite persistent grumbling from the Pentagon, officials said Thursday.

Rep. Barney Frank, D-Mass., said that Clinton will soon direct Defense Secretary Les Aspin to draw up an executive order formally lifting the ban.

In the interim, the president will order the military to stop asking recruits about their sexual orientation or discharging members of the armed services found to be gay, said Frank, who is gay.

"Immediately, the policy of kicking people out of the military because they're gay will be out,” said Frank, who was consoled by the new administration about the policy.

Aspin was to meet Thursday with the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and the homosexual military ban was on the agenda.

"The boys are going to tell him (Aspin) that it just won't fly,” said a senior military officer.

"From the standpoint of the gay people in the military it makes no difference whatsoever” when the executive order actually is signed, Frank said.

Gore begins first day as VP

WASHINGTON (AP) — Al Gore's first full day as vice president was a mix of hosting, greeting and meeting. He performed his first duty as president Wednesday by swearing in a new senator from Texas.

Gore went to the White House but not to the Oval Office. His first order of business was to attend an informal meeting in the Senate where he represented Tennessee.

Bentsen treasury secretary, where he was asked to his new home state of Tennessee by the Senate majority leader, to take his place in the Senate gallery. Bentsen, a former senator from Texas, allowed ordinary citizens into the gallery normally.

As Gore walked into the gallery, he was asked to sit down and talk to the senator. He performed his first duty as president Wednesday by swearing in a new senator from Texas.

Gore also joined Clinton at a meeting of the Senate Democratic Caucus on Thursday, where the two leaders discussed problems that may have a very strong prejudice against homosexuals and would not want to share living quarters. Bentsen might want to accommodate that for awhile.

The threat of violence against homosexuals is very real, said a senior officer. "If anyone thinks they can eradi- cuate prejudice in society by imposing a policy on one segment of it — the military — they are dead wrong," he said.

Frank and an administration spokesman said it could take months to complete work on the executive order, but the ban will effectively end once Clinton tells Aspin to draft the measure.

"From the standpoint of the gay people in the military it makes no difference whatsoever” when the executive order actually is signed, Frank said.
Exposure to tobacco high in U.S.

ATLANTA (AP) — The first 800 people in a massive federal study of exposure to tobacco smoke had signs of nicotine in their bodies whether they smoked or not, researchers said Thursday.

“We really weren’t expecting that,” said Dr. James Pirkle of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

The CDC is testing 23,000 Americans over age 4 for cotinine, a byproduct of nicotine that is found in blood serum. The researchers found cotinine in all of the first 800 people tested.

The preliminary results came two weeks after an Environmental Protection Agency report that labeled secondhand smoke as a health hazard. The report said secondhand smoke kills about 3,000 nonsmokers a year from lung cancer alone.

Critics have said the EPA failed to document how many people are exposed to secondhand smoke and at what levels.

“What we’re doing will meet the objection head-on,” Pirkle said. “We have a very sensitive method of measuring exposure that separates active from passive smokers, saying it was too early to analyze the numbers or draw conclusions.

The CDC will have more figures when the study, which started in 1988, ends next year. Pirkle said. The agency seldom releases such preliminary figures, but did so Thursday because it wanted Americans to know it was working to answer questions the EPA report raised about smoke exposure, Pirkle said.

Even the early results were surprising, he said.

Discontent continues in Haiti

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — Discontent smoldered among the rank-and-file of Haiti's military a day after an attempted mutiny at a base outside the capital, diplomats said Thursday.

An army statement late Wednesday denied the brief mid-day revolt was over and said one soldier was arrested and four others fled. It called the disturbances "politically motivated" and did not elaborate.

The disturbances were the first report of open insubordination since the army sent President Jean-Bertrand Aristide into exile in September. One diplomat living in Haiti said the brief mutiny reflected continuing unrest among troops and some officers up to the rank of colonel.

He said soldiers and police are concerned that army chief Raoul Cedras will make concessions in negotiations to allow the return of Aristide, the nation's first democratically elected leader.

The diplomat and a prominent businessman close to Prime Minister Marc Bazin also backed reports that soldiers had arrested an army major in suburban Petionville. Clinton administration ruled from 1957 to 1986.

Rumors of a coup coinciding with President Clinton's inauguration had been flying around the capital for weeks ahead of the gunfire Wednesday morning at Camp D'Appelation in suburban Petionville. Clinton said last week he would push for the restoration of democracy in Haiti.

The incident followedmeetings between administration officials and a rank-and-file over a U.N.-mediated effort to restore democracy.

SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herzeg­ovina (AP) — Serb warplanes blasted the eastern town of Srebrenica twice Thursday, a day after Bosnian Serbs agreed to a plan to bring peace to the war-ravaged state, Bosnian television reported.

And in Gornji Vakuf in central Bosnia — where week-long Muslim-Croat clashes appeared to weaken their tenuous alliance against Serbs — Croatia again attacked Muslim positions, the broadcast said.

The Serbs' decision to drop demands for a separate state and consent to the peace plan may have been a tactic to buy time and consolidate their military grip. Fighting has intensified in recent days as each side has tried to strengthen its bargaining position.

On Thursday, Bosnian Serb leader Radovan Karadzic said Serbs cannot accept the proposed division of Bosnia into 10 provinces without holding a referendum.

"We have to be very patient while adopting the maps, and we have to use a democratic way of setting up boundaries between the new provinces," the Bosnian Serb news agency BNA quoted Karadzic as saying.

Meanwhile, Bosnian officials rejected U.N. Secretary-General Boutros Boutros-Ghali's conclusion that a Serb soldier acting alone in the killing of Bosnia's deputy prime minister two weeks ago, Haj Mejlija Turcic, was shot on the road to Sarajevo from the airport, while traveling in a U.N. convoy.

"It was a very well-organized assassination," Bosnian Vice President Ejup Ganic told reporters Thursday at U.N. headquarters.

But in a Bosnian TV interview, Bosnian Foreign Minister Haris Silajdzic said he was not optimistic about the Geneva peace talks, saying he thought the Serbs would not abide by any agreement. So without any doubt, we can see that the aggressor, through the shedding of blood, has achieved his goal," he said.

Fighting in Bosnia broke out in March after Muslims and Croats declared independence from Serb-dominated Yugoslavia. About 18,000 people have been killed, and probably many more, since Serbs took up arms to crush the separatists.

Seventy percent of the republic has been seized by Serbs, who made up one-third of Bosnia's prewar population. Croats occupy most of the remaining territory.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Clinton's first official act in the economy's recovery will be to relax deficit-reduction targets that would have triggered automatic spending cuts, administration officials said Thursday.

White House communications director George Stephanopoulos said that, with U.S. forces in Somalia and Iraq, it makes sense that starting a business is not simply a matter of coming up with a good idea. You have to think beyond where you are at the present, a business must be changing, and if you can't do it for yourself, then you'll never be able to do it for a business.

ND community must live together

Dear Editor:

With respect to Christiane Likely’s letter which appeared in The Observer on Jan. 18, I have few problems with her views, but I do have a problem with the entire Notre Dame community.

In order to avoid offending Ms. Likely and speak from ignorance, I will defer to a man who must surely pass Ms. Likely’s test for “knowing what he is talking about.” The writer was a victim and witness of blatant, vicious, and sad, isolated racism.

He wrote, “I’ve had enough of someone else’s propaganda. I’m for truth, no matter what other people say. I’m a human being first and foremost, and as such I’m for whoever and whatever benefits humanity as a whole.”

The man is John Payton III, and the same Malcolm X who believed that African-Americans should fight against racism. Any means that are necessary.

The fact of the matter is that Malcolm X addressed the problem of racism as a human problem rather than a crusade against all white people should be considered by all those who throw their empty sling-shots and slurs into our papers all too quickly.

Robert L. Payne’s comments may have been offensive to many members of our community and they may have been inappropriate. But must the responses to those comments insensitively divert the indictment of the entire white student body here at Notre Dame as racist?

To say that “the majority of white people here don’t like black people” is necessary. Statements like this basic causes that produce the racial explosions in America today. It is terribly easy to simply hate others for their differences. To keep an open mind and accept everyone for who they are is a much more difficult and courageous path to take.

Malcolm X was killed for taking this path. The least we at Notre Dame can do is listen to him and try to make this a true and welcoming community in which we can not only attend classes, but truly live together.

Who will stop lobbyists’ ‘revolving door’ policy?

Dear Editor:

I am writing in response to Jeffrey Dossen’s Jan. 19 letter titled “Foreign Lobbyists Should Stay at Home.” I agree with Mr. Dossen’s comments.

There is a serious problem in Washington, D.C. High-level government officials act as lobbyists on behalf of their clients at law firms or for foreign interests.

I was appalled when Ron Brown was appointed to be Secretary of Commerce. Mr. Brown, as the Democratic National Chairman, Mr. Brown engaged in numerous lobbying activities. He remained on retainers with his law firm, Patton Boggs and Blum and received fees from the firm when it represented the Abu Dhabi Investment Authority, the owners of the Bank of Credit and Commerce International (BCCI).

His firm also lobbied on behalf of the Japan Aviation Electronics Industry Ltd. Ron Brown solicited government business for his law firm and the company he headed, Capital/PERSICO.

It is amazing that Mr. Brown would be appointed to a position with such a prominent position. Just a few months ago Mr. Clinton protested against influence peddlers. Now he has appointed several to his Cabinet. Mr. Clinton proposed a change in the 1999 Ethics Act. This act forbade former Cabinet and other high-ranking executive officials from lobbying for one year after their tenure. Mr. Clinton alluded to changing the restriction from one to five years.

The appointment of Ron Brown indicates that Mr. Clinton was not serious about his platform. This action caters to the already existing “anything goes attitude” in Washington and in government in the entire nation.

William Greider in his book Who Will Tell the People has called Washington a “lawless society.”

I have had hope that as President, Mr. Clinton would put an end to foreign lobbying. It is detrimental to our country’s economic survival. Mickey Kantor’s law firm has also lobbied on behalf of foreign interests. Can Mickey Kantor as the U.S. Trade Representative and Ron Brown as Commerce Secretary be trusted to promote fair trade policies for the United States? If President Clinton is not going to do it, who will stop the revolving door of foreign lobbyists-turned-government officials?

QUOTE OF THE DAY

“When I examine myself and my methods of thought, I come to the conclusion that the gift of fantasy has meant more to me than my talent for absorbing positive knowledge.”

Albert Einstein
Dear Editor:

For the past four years, I have read countless letters in The Observer about the seemingly easy question: "Does Racism exist on this campus?"

Well, speaking strictly for myself, I'd like to believe that this is an important question. I'd also like to believe that there's no racism on campus!

I think the question: "Does Racism exist on this campus?" is a question that most of us want to know the answer to. I also think it's ridiculous because it always seems to digress into the meaningless question of: "What is racism?"

Yet again, we, African Americans can at times be guilty of wording our thoughts wrong.

"Oh, even with the solemnities of this ridiculous word game, I fear that many people are having an open mind about these articles. These articles about racism are controversial because they talk about words. They are not about love, knowledge, or truth."

"Here at the Basilica, we are members of this community and a strong African American man. I am trying to make you understand the importance of the problems that exist here. In the beginning of this school year, we had an initiation ceremony. Everyone was there and a lot of people were excited, but I'm not sure if the idea of racism was considered."

"Yes. I believe that we need to have more open discussions about racism on this campus. I think that if we don't talk about it, we will never understand the issues that we are facing."

"Well, Robert, here at Notre Dame, we are part of a community that is diverse. I think that it's important for us to understand each other and to respect each other's differences."

"But, it seems like there are still some problems on this campus. I hope that we can work together to solve these issues and to make our campus a better place for everyone."

"OK, enough with the solemnities of this ridiculous word game. I fear that many people are having an open mind about these articles. These articles about racism are controversial because they talk about words. They are not about love, knowledge, or truth."

Definitely invite that hot person to this occasion. It may be a chance to get a peek at the party's "revealing" time for all concerned. For music, play "Rubber Duckie" or "Splish Splash." For music, play "Rubber Duckie" or "Splish Splash." For the 70's and 80's Party. This kind of theme party is becoming more and more popular at Notre Dame and Saint Mary's. Decorate with your favorite memorabilia from your childhood and junior high school days—a "Flashdance" poster or better yet an 8 x 10 photo of The Bee Gees. For the 80's, feather your hair and dress up in leg warmers, loose shirts (with the collar up, of course), pin-striped Lee jeans, jelly shoes, fluorescent sweatsuits, and Dockers. If you're sporting the 70's look, try bell-bottoms, clogs, or something that fits into the disco mode. On the music scene, play Men At Work, The J. Geils Band, the Village People, "Oh, What a Night" by Frankie Valli and the Four Seasons, "Jessie's Girl" by Rick Springfield, and anything from the "Saturday Night Fever" soundtrack.

Partying in 1993

Are you tired of being squished into a room which seems no bigger than two by four feet? Does Old Milwaukee and listening to "Brown Eyed Girl" over and over bore you to tears? Does deciding whether to wear black flats or brown loafers with the new ivory sweater give you a major migraine? Well, suffer no more. Here's a handy-dandy guide for throwing a theme party—complete with recipes, how to decorate, what to wear and what tunes to play.

The "Come As You Are" Party

This is a new one, but it sounds like tons of fun. Usually this party's done off-campus, or with a whole dorm section. The basic concept is that every guest pays around $10 to enter the party. Not only does this cover party supplies, but it also pays for a trip for two to sunny, warm Florida.

This is the way it works: The hosts of the party pre-purchase two airline tickets and make hotel accommodations for two in Florida. Then they invite and charge admittance to enough guests to cover the expenses. After all of the guests have arrived, there is a drawing with all the guests' names. The person whose name is drawn must choose someone from the party as their weekend companion in Florida, and then has to pack and make it to the airport—all in one hour.

Appropriate music selections include "Learning to Fly" by Pink Floyd, "Fly Like an Eagle" by Steve Miller, and "Time For Me to Fly" by REO Speedwagon. Serve small bags of peanuts and it'll be an awesome party. Just make sure that certain somebody else..."
Longfellow and I were raised in Portland, Maine, though in different centuries. As shades of the prison-house were beginning to close on me as a growing boy, I started to discover the poetry attesting that Longfellow had played in the woods where I now played, and had that he had loved the shoreline, with its ancient forts, overlooking the bay, that I loved more than a hundred years later. The discovery was almost a religious experience.

In a way, then, I had a head start on poetry. Longfellow’s Hiawathas was my more than Homeric hero; as the merest lad, I started to fill my head with the incantatory music of Hiawatha’s childhood.

By the shore of Gitchee Gumee/BY the shining Big-Sea-Water/I stood the wigwam of Nokomis, Daughter of the Moon, Nokomis/Dark behind it rose the forest/Rose the black and gloomy pine-trees, Rose the firs with cones upon them:/Bright before it beat the water/Beat the clear and sunny water. — Robert W. Service

Later, I discovered how tempting it was to parody Longfellow’s rhythm and his hypnotic repertory involved in the obvious that somehow gives Hiawatha its charm and aboriginal flavor. Longfellow tells us that Hiawatha had "magic mists mixed of deerskin."

Children at Longfellow’s alma mater Bowdoin College, in Brunswick near Portland, are warned as entering freshmen that their best known alumnus is no longer regarded as a very great poet. But you can say in sense of mediocre poetry that often is easy to read and fun to memorize. That’s why some of Longfellow’s jingles have stayed in my mind since childhood.

I thought of one of them this morning, when Clinton was in-augurated: "Between the dark and the daylight/When the night is beginning to lower/Comes a pause in the day’s occupa­tions/That is known as the Children’s Hour."

The inauguration of a newly-elected President typically has an innocence about it. The new chief of state tends to be still growing boy. ’I started to fill my head with the incantatory music of Hiawatha’s childhood.

"The poet and the President left the sun’s glare hid the words..."

Angeiou described it as highly evocative, though his eyes were almost crossed as he said it; clearly she stirred memories in him with hercatalogues of the nationalities who trusted themselves to the melting pot. The poem will, be endlessly anthologized, be­cause in writing the poem, Miss Angeiou delivered a gift to the ages. What happened with Frost was wonderful and unfor­gettable. He stole everyone’s thunder, as anticipated. According to a newspaper account, "Robert Frost in his natural way woke the hearts of the inaugural crowd yesterday with a poem he recited and an­other he couldn’t read because the sun’s glare hid the words."

But as a teacher and priest, he couldn’t read because the sun’s glare hid the words. "By the shore of Gitchee Gumee/BY the shining Big-Sea-Water/I stood the wigwam of Nokomis, Daughter of the Moon, Nokomis/Dark behind it rose the forest/Rose the black and gloomy pine-trees, Rose the firs with cones upon them:/Bright before it beat the water/Beat the clear and sunny water.

Woes continue for Cincinnati Reds organization

Gravevin, Texas (AP) — The head of baseball’s executive council said Thursday that there won’t be an immediate decision on the fate of Marge Schott, who once ran the Cincinnati Reds.

Schott appeared before the ruling group, after the Cincinnati Reds owner Schott, who assumed control of the team in 1974, has been accused of making slurs against blacks, Jews and Asians. The council also heard from several people on both sides of Schott’s case.

Rosie Schott, the team’s minority owner, will not be an immediate decision following the forced resignation on Jan. 19, 1993.

Selig said the council hadn’t yet decided how it would proceed to a decision following the forced resignation Wednesday to National League President Robert Kheel. Bennett had asked to hear the case Wednesday to National League President Robert Kheel. Bennett had asked to hear the case.

"I had been hoping of working on the possible resolution of the thing," Bennett said after the deadline was set.

"We’ll take that each day as it appears before the ruling," Bennett said. She has confirmed some of this.

In Florida, where Rosie lives, betting on horse racing, greyhound racing and jai-alai is legal. Betting on horse races is also legal in Kentucky.

Dream Team 2 to have more college players

COLOMBIA SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) -- The U.S. team for next year's world basketball championships might be dominated by NBA stars, but officials emphasize the selection process will include college players.

At a meeting with USA Basketball officials in Washington, Olympic Committee president Dr. LeRoy Walker said it was agreed that an equal shot at making the team won't be restricted to NBA players but common sense tells me the best players in the U.S. are in the NBA. It was agreed that the selection of the top pros will be included. "We at the USOC don't select, but it said.

Riddick Bowe prepares for Dokes

Planning for further defenses of title

SCOTTRN, Pa. (AP) —

Although heavyweight champion Riddick Bowe will fight Michael Dokes in his first defense, Dokes is not the only opponent on Bowe's mind.

Before a training session at Caesars Pocono Resorts on Thursday for the Dokes fight Feb. 6 at Madison Square Garden, Bowe talked about Lennox Lewis, George Foreman, Tommy Morrison and Evander Holyfield.

Of those, Holyfield could be a Bowe opponent before the end of the year.

Rock Newman, Bowe's manager, said the champion will follow the Dokes fight with a defense against Ray Mercer in May, possibly a defense against an opponent to be determined in August, and then a rematch against Holyfield in the fall.

Bowe won the undisputed title with a 12-round unanimous decision over Holyfield last Nov. 13 at Las Vegas.

"The WBC wanted recognition from Bowe and awarded the belt to Lewis after Bowe refused to make his first defense against the Briton," Bowe said.

Bowe accused Lewis of not wanting to fight him and said, "I think you guys know who the real champion is.

"You can ask Lewis who he beat for the title and when. He can't tell you.

Bowe refused to make his first defense against Holyfield last Nov. 13 at Las Vegas.

Former champion Evander Holyfield is mentioned in regards to a rematch with Riddick Bowe planned for the fall.

As for the 44-year-old Foreman, who was heavyweight champion in 1973-74 and who wants to fight either Bowe or Lewis, Bowe said: "George is crazy. He can't beat anybody in the top 10.

Morrison, a white heavyweight contender, also was put down by Bowe. still recognized as champion by the IBF and WBA.

"Take away his left hook and he's back in the amateur ranks," Bowe said. "He can't take a punch. He can't beat me on one of my bad days."

Although a possible Bowe opponent before the end of the year is Morrison, a white heavyweight contender, also put down by Bowe. still recognized as champion by the IBF and WBA.

"Take away his left hook and he's back in the amateur ranks," Bowe said. "He can't take a punch. He can't beat me on one of my bad days."

Another possible Bowe opponent mentioned earlier by Eddie Futch, the champion's 81-year-old trainer.

Go against the grain.

Cut down on salt.

Happy Birthday Roxy!

Hurley trying to carry Blue Devils

Krzyzewski wants to change guard's role on team

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Following two losses, Duke's first order of business is to get Bobby Hurley back on his game.

Blue Devils coach Mike Krzyzewski said his senior point guard is struggling right now. Hurley is fighting a shooting slump, was ineffective outside against Virginia. Krzyzewski feels the fans should have acknowledged the team's success after the game with a standing ovation.

"If we don't appreciate past efforts and also appreciate current efforts by teams that oppose us, then we are missing the big picture and the atmosphere which is created for these kids is totally unacceptable," he said. "I won't have that happen as long as I'm coach at Duke.

"I love my team. I am proud of them and they are working hard. We are going to continue to develop and we'll follow our own agenda."

But Krzyzewski was glad his team shed the perception of being perfect. "These kids have to be allowed to make mistakes. They have to be allowed to lose," he said. "In some respect, the kids on this team have not had as good an opportunity to do that as my previous teams."

Much was expected of the two-time defending NCAA champs this season, considering Hurley, Grant Hill and Thomas Hill returned. But a pair of Atlantic Coast Conference losses last week to Georgia Tech and Virginia highlighted the Blue Devils' inside weaknesses and lack of offensive chemistry.

"It's a different mood, a different atmosphere," Krzyzewski said of his squad, now 12-2 and an uncharacteristic two games off the ACC pace. "I have to make sure that not one of them takes too much upon themselves.

"There's a perception that prevails as a result of winning two national championships, but our program did that, not this team. The last two years there has been talk that the only way we can be successful is to be perfect. What a sad, sad state of affairs if that takes place."

New Temple coach names assistants

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ron Dickerson, Temple's new head football coach, Thursday named five assistants.

Bulls break Nets' five-game win streak

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Michael Jordan scored 12 of his 30 points in the first quarter and the Chicago Bulls went on to end the New Jersey Nets five-game winning streak, 107-94 Thursday night.

Chuck Daly's team didn't measure up in losing to the Bulls for the eighth straight time, but they showed flashes of being ready to contend down the road.

Scottie Pippen and B.J. Armstrong, who hit his first five shots after coming off the bench, added 18 points each for Chicago, while Horace Grant had 15 points and 12 rebounds.

Larry Anderson and Derrick Coleman each scored 22 points for New Jersey, with Anderson also handing out a dozen assists and Coleman getting 12 rebounds.

MCC will survive loss of Duquense, Dayton

By MIKE SCRUDATO

The Midwestern Collegiate Conference is still going strong, despite this week’s departure of Duquense and last month’s loss of Dayton.

The only major affect these moves will have on the conference is the loss of its automatic bid to the NCAA Tournament in men’s basketball.

When Dayton jumps to the Great Midwest Conference next season, the MCC will lose the bid because it will no longer have six members that have been in the MCC for five years. But, the conference can apply for an automatic bid for the 1994-95 season.

"With loss of Duquense, the most damage was done from an image standpoint," MCC assistant commissioner Mike Hermann said.

Duquense, which joined the MCC this season, was not pleased with the conference. Also, Dayton’s move affected the school’s decision to return to the Atlantic 10.

"There has been a renewed commitment to make Duquense athletics a factor at the national level, and we believe with the resources available in the Atlantic 10 we will be able to continue, to build upon that commitment," Duquense athletic director Brian Colley stated.

La Salle, which entered the MCC with Duquense, has no plans of following it out.

"We joined the MCC for better competition and for its automatic bids," La Salle athletic director Missy Conboy.

Dayton came in seventh out of seven teams in the overall sports standings last season, while Duquense has struggled this season.

"We joined the MCC for better competition and for its automatic bids," said Notre Dame assistant athletic director Bob Mullen.

The MCC is looking ahead. The seven remaining MCC schools have all committed to playing the 1993-94 season, and the conference’s next move is adding more teams.

Though the possibility of merging with another conference has been discussed, the MCC’s goal is to expand.

The Notre Dame women's and the Irish hockey team are looking to move up in the CCHA rankings.

who recently withdrew from services of the number-one singles player Melissa Harris, who recently withdrew from school for personal reasons.

"I'm very sorry to hear that," remarked the Blue Devil's stunned coach Geoff McDonald.

But we had a team meeting last night and talked about what a very good team Notre Dame is. Harris is a good player, but I don't think it will affect them at all because one of their strengths is consistency.

Coach Louderback concurred. "We're lucky enough to be very deep," also noting that Harris did not play doubles. "I feel confident in others" stepping up and playing at a higher level.

Among those "others," Loud­erback will rely on sophomore Laura Schwab and Lisa Thoien to alternate at the vacated top spot. He listed Schwab as the favorite for Saturday's match.

Lisa Thoien
They'll be facing Duke seniors Julie Exum (ranked number-two in the nation according to ITA), and freshman Faustmann. Louderback is familiar with his sixth position currently being held by the Irish. One of Notre Dame's best efforts this season was its 7-1/2 and 7-0/1/2 In indoor and outdoor NCAA races in the distance events. Herman has his best scorers in this weekend's meet.

The pulling of Irish goalie Greg Louder mid-way through the third period of last Saturday's 4-3 defeat at Kent State left a cloud over the Notre Dame goaltending situation. Schafer labeled goaltending tonight as "to be determined."

The level of success Notre Dame achieves this weekend will depend on the performances of many players, one being assistant captain Curtis Lupick, who has scored a point in eleven consecutive games. With seven goals and fourteen assists over the stretch, he has pulled himself up to second place on the team scoring charts with 28 points, two points behind freshman Jamie Jamison. Louderback and Lupick will head the team lead in league scoring with 25 goals and 25 assists.

Ling, too, is one of the key skaters in this weekend's match. Leading the team-all season in scoring, he has earned ten assists in his last seven games. He is the leading freshman scorer in the CCHA.

Along with individual play, the Irish will also need to improve their special team's play. Their power play has suffered a major drought, falling from second to sixth in the league, and their penalty killing has re­sembled its poorer performances from early this season.

With a 4-1-3 league record (10-15-1 overall), the Irish stand at tenth place in the CCHA; two points behind both UIC and Kent.

The match was the first annual home-away series between the two teams. Still, Louderback is familiar with his territory. "I'll be back at LSU, a long-time rival of the Irish."

The following Duke, the Irish will tangle with UGA (fifth) and Minnesota (seventh).

The Notre Dame men's track team will begin its 1993 indoor track season by traveling to West Lafayette, Ind. for the Purdue Invitational on January 22.

"I'm anxious to get started," says head track coach Joe Pl­ter. The men's team has spent the past four months in preparation for this season.

The men's squad will bring a large contingent of field event athletes with primary emphasis on the high jump, pole vault and shot put events. The high jump will be one of Notre Dame's strongest events entering this season as the Irish boast four 6-10 jumpers, two of whom have cleared the seven-foot plateau including junior captain Todd Hernandez and freshman Tom McRae. The pole vault event will be manned by David Grenough and Chris Graves while a trio of freshmen will try to make a mark in the shot put.

Another strong contingent is the distance runners. They are led by the All-American tandem of John Coyle and Mike McWilliams. The distance squad competed in cross-country during the fall and finished the season with a sixth place finish in the National Championsh­ips. Now the Irish harrier brigade heads indoors as a young team with great potential.

This year's captain is se­ior John Coyle (Howell, N.J.) and Herman. Coyle has earned All-American honors in both cross country ('90) and track ('91), and is poised to earn that honor in the indoor distance events. Herman has his sights set on competing in the NCAAs meet this year after provisionally qualifying for the meet last year with best efforts of 7.1-1/2 and 7-0/1/2 in indoor and outdoor high jump, respec­tively.

The Purdue Invitational, however, will not showcase the Irish top performers.

"This is a warm up meet," says Plter.

The top distance runners and jumpers will compete here. The meet is unseeded and will serve as a competitive preparation for the scored meets to come.

ND hockey hopes to cool UIC, UM

Returning from a disappoint­ing two-loss performance last weekend, the Notre Dame hockey team will try to rejuven­ate itself tonight and tomorrow night with the final two contests of its six-game home­stand.

Facing the University of Illinois (13-1-1) and the University of Michigan Wolverines (10-4-3), the Irish are hoping that this weekend's results will bring back the recent success which they were riding prior to their last two defeats.

UIC, the hockey squad's Friday night opponent, currently owns a 1-1 record in the Central Collegiate Hockey Association and four points ahead of the Irish in league standings.

In their previous two matches Notre Dame lost 3-2 in the Joyce Fieldhouse before tying the Flames, 4-4, at the UIC Pavilion. UIC played the same opponents, the Irish last weekend, falling to league-leaders Michigan. They will be without the services of their number-one goalie, John Hillebrand.

Referencing to the last time Notre Dame and Illinois squared off, Irish head coach Richie Schafer said, "We're a different hockey team than we were last time. We match up fairly well person-to-person."

The Irish will complete their homestand Saturday night against second place Michigan. The Wolverines have defeated the Irish twice this season, 6-1 in the season opener and 5-1 in front of 13,147 fans at the inaugural hockey game of The Palace in Auburn Hills, Michigan.

Holders of a 12-4-2 CCHA record (4-4-3 overall), the Wolverines are only three points behind league-leaders Illinois and Miami. They swept Ohio State last weekend, allowing just one netting in two games.

Schafer listed Michigan's strength as their goal tending, and experience in defense. "Their only weakness is that sometimes they forget how good they are, but they don't even do that often," he said. In order to defeat the Wolverines, said the Irish will need, "outstanding goal tending and the best effort of the season."

NBA. yet they were an integral part of the championship champaign in Chicago. They rolled their victory parade in Barcelona over the summer, coach Phil Jackson and the rest of the Bulls' front office apparently got fat and complacent. They looked their chaps as they were their two talented stars: Michael Jordan and Scottie Pippen parade in Barcelona over the summer, lastly (and unexpectedly another slip of the championship champaign in Chicago. You can look for granted what separated the Bulls of late from the Bulls of the past — a strong, dedicated supporting cast.

They forgot about the overtime plus that was four years ago in the sacred Garden, when Michael Jordan's record 63 points went for naught. This year brought back haunting memories of Jordan and his "Helpless Elves," as he 64 worked enough to defeat even the Orlando Magic.

Last season, everything came easy to the defending champs. They rolled to a 62-19-2 record, finishing as the best-ever 47 in an expanded team and was even mentioned as a sick joke then. This year's 26-11 Bulls' record is equal to the Eastern Conference, and ranks just behind Charles Barkley's Phoenix Suns (25-11) and Seattle (25-11). But only because last year's complete domination, and the bad luck of the Bulls' three-peat, should this year's early-season performance be taken seriously.

One reason for the Bulls' struggles is that they are a target every game on their 76-game schedule. For instance, they have overplayed in play at home. The Explorers hit only eight of 29 shots. The outside shooting of the Explorers will put to the test the defense of the Fighting Irish. The Explorers have scored points against such powerhouses as Notre Dame, as it has provided the Irish with the chance to play for automatic bids in men's soccer, volleyball, women's basketball. The concept of the MCC is sound, and its success has been outstanding as far as records (to the NCAA Tournament) for Olympic sports. Rosenthal said: "We are disappointed to see Duquesne leave and I never understood why Dayton left."

"From Notre Dame's standpoint, we are willing to accept whatever developments," he added.
